GENE PERRY accepts the Outstanding Conservation Award from John Earl Smith, Region II Director of the Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Perrys Honored As Outstanding Region II Conservation Ranchers

Gene Perry was honored as the Outstanding Resident Conservation Rancher for Region II of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts at an annual banquet held in San Angelo May 9. Region II comprises 51 counties ranging from Blanco County to El Paso County and from Andrews County to Maverick County. Gene and Betty Perry were nominated by the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District.

Gene and Betty Perry have two separate ranching operations in Crockett County. Both ranches consist of a total of 8,759 acres. He is a past director of the Crockett SWCD. He had served the ranchers of the district for 14 years.

Perry's main goal in his operation is to make it profitable and to sustain and improve the range resources on the ranches. Proper grazing management is the key to the success of the ranches. Extensive crossfencing (64,956 feet) livestock pipelines (25,000 feet), five water storage facilities, 12 troughs and two wells are some of the conservation practices he has completed to initiate his grazing systems.

He has implemented a three pasture, one herd grazing system on his west ranch and a 13 pasture short duration grazing system on the east ranch. These systems in combination with flexible stocking have enabled him to improve range condition and trend. Vegetative cover has doubled on the ranch since the implementation of these systems. Proper grazing use is a must in his operation. Even during the harshest years, Perry has been able to obtain proper grazing use on both ranches.

To intensify and expedite range improvement and increase moisture conservation, a selective brush control program was implemented. Cedar and mesquite have been treedozed or grubbed on 6,000 acres of ranches. Mesquite and pricklypear have been aerially treated with herbicides on 7,500 acres. Follow-up treatment is carried out on all acreage treated.

The Perrys have developed a unique wildlife management program on the ranches. A large percentage of the deer harvested on the ranch are taken by various organizations and groups. Hunts for the West Texas Boys' Ranch, High Sky Girls' Home, 4-H Field and Stream, hearing impaired and father/son are held annually. A hunter safety camp is also held to familiarize individuals on safety procedures involved in hunting.

There are various other events hosted annually on the ranch. The sixth grade conservation field day is held on the ranch to educate youth on the conservation of natural resources. He also hosts the Crockett County Classic Sheep Dog Trial with national and international participation, as well as other tours and functions.

To accommodate some of these functions, the Perrys have constructed a bunk house, kitchen and classroom area for stayovers and education purposes. They are firm believers in the education of youth.

Perry has participated in various organizations including: Crockett County School Board, Crockett County Water Board, Crockett County Appraisal Board, served as director for the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers, Mohair Council of America, Texas Game Warden Association, Texas Hereford Association, National Cattle Raisers' Association and the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association.

"The Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District would like to congratulate Gene and Betty Perry for their conservation efforts and for being selected as this year's outstanding conservation ranchers for Region II in Texas," said Vaden Aldridge, district conservationist.

The Golden Trowel award is presented to a limited number of Masons in Texas who exemplify the ideals of brotherhood, service and citizenship in their communities. The recipient is recommended by a vote of his lodge and then approved by the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Hillman has served as secretary of the Ozona lodge six years, teaches Sunday School, is involved in the senior citizens' Meals on Wheels program, AARP and other community programs.

Westmoreland Receives Good Rating At State

Clay Westmoreland received a Division III or "good" rating on a tenor saxophone solo at the UIL Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest. The contest was held May 27 on the campus of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Westmoreland performed "Adagio and Allegro" from Sonata No. 1 by George F. Handel from memory.

He qualified for the state contest by receiving a Division I or "superior" rating on a Class I saxophone solo at the region contest held at Angelo State University in February. Participants at the regional level of competition are required to play one piece from a specific list of acceptable solos. This list is divided into three levels or classes with Class I being the most difficult.

Accompanying Clay on the piano was Mrs. Sara Hignight.

School Trustee Run-off Election June 13

The run-off election for school trustee of District 1 will be held June 13 at the courthouse from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The election is the result of a tie during the May regular election between incumbent Elliott Barrera and Jessie Reina-Zuniga.

Early voting by personal appearance ends June 9. Those wishing to vote early may do so at the school administration building between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. through Friday.

New Senior Citizens' Building Proposed

Several Ozona citizens have been working quietly for two years toward obtaining a new senior citizens' building for Ozona. Oscar Kost, J. B.

Miller, Troy Williams, Dick Kirby and Janet Hill are carrying forward the dream which began with rental of a building several years ago for preparation of food for the Meals on Wheels program.

A sign placed last week on county property east of Crockett County National Bank proclaims the corner to be the future home of Crockett County Senior Citizens and Helping Hands. The county agreed some months back to allow use of the location for this purpose.

Tentative plans call for a 100'x60' building. A large central meeting room of approximately 35'x80' with a stage, a kitchen for continued use by the Meals on Wheels program, an office and three other rooms. These smaller rooms could be used for an exercise room, a crafts room and game room.

Accounts were established at both banks two years ago to accept donations for the project. Grant funding is also being pursued as a means of financing the project.

OZONA SENIOR CITIZENS AND THE HELPING HANDS organization are working toward having a new building. This probable location is east of Crockett County National Bank.

World Championship Goat Roping This Month

The World Championship Goat Roping will be held June 22, 23 and 24 in Ozona at the fairgrounds arena. Scheduled along with the roping will be the first Crockett County Cook-off to be held June 24 in the rodeo park.

Top prizes will be given, and the time to enter is now. Call Gary Smith at 392-5844 or Maida Sims at 392-5511 for information.

During the cook-off, the Knights of Columbus will have washer pitching and volleyball contests. More information on these events will be published later.

Booth space is available for anyone wanting to have one. Cost will be $50.00 for a small table and $100.00 for a large table. No food booths will be accepted. Contact Maida Sims for more information at 392-5511.

Highlight of the evening of June 24 will be the drawing for the winner of the 1995 maroon Chevrolet extended cab pickup. The truck is a 3/4 ton, 350 V8, 5 speed transmission with a full-size bed, AM/FM cassette with vinyl interior.

The best feature on this truck is the $5.00 price on tickets. Tickets can be purchased at most local merchants' or from any member of the roping association.

Look for the truck on display around town until the roping.

Interim Administrator In Place At Hospital/Care Center

Ann Fagan-Cook, RN, BSN, LNFA and owner of High Plains Health Consultants, arrived in Ozona this week as interim administrator of the hospital and care center.

The care center has been without the state required licensed administrator since the resignation of Gerry Phillips March 12.

Most of her consulting experience involves being a trouble shooter, says Mrs. Fagan-Cook. Taking a facility and bringing it into compliance, managing a hospital or care center until it gets back on an even keel are jobs she has done in numerous states.

Her High Plains Health Consultants firm, based out of Shamrock near Amarillo, also works with a firm out of Colorado, serving states west of the Mississippi.

"I'm here in an interim position to assist in finding the right manager," said Mrs. Fagan-Cook. "I will not make the final choice, but I will assist in getting the appropriate people to interview."

Mrs. Fagan-Cook had been in Sonora since March, assisting the medical facility there. She emphasized that she is not in Ozona for only a few days or weeks, but can stay until an administrator is found.

"As best I can tell, deficiencies are corrected except weekend R.N. coverages and we are advertising." She will notify the Department of Human Services that deficiencies found during the March inspection have been corrected, and a follow-up inspection will result.

If the board desires to move ahead, Mrs. Fagan-Cook said she would help with the process of converting hospital rooms to care center. She anticipates that the state's follow-up inspection could include a room conversion inspection as well.

Work here will include staff training programs. "You have a different perception of things when you have your own business," said Mrs. Fagan-Cook. "You can teach people how to manage without the owners' personal quirks."

"Ozona has a beautiful facility - both sides," she said of the hospital/care center.

Her more than 25 years' progressive experience in the health care industry has developed a thorough knowledge and application of facility operations, fiscal responsibilities and in-depth knowledge of state and federal rules and rule-making procedures. She has eight year' experience working on state-wide committees involved with rule-making and numerous years' experience lobbying in Washington for health care reform.

She is a trustee for the state through the Texas Department of Human Services and can go into a facility as management while the state is determining whether or not a facility is to remain open.

The interim administrator earned her bachelor of science in nursing at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Galveston and an associate of science, long-term care at McLennan Community College in Waco. She is licensed as a nursing home administrator and registered nurse in several states and eligible for licensure in all states.

Her honors include being a member of the quality assurance survey team of the Wyoming State Hospital in Evanston, WY. She has served seven years as a member of the board of directors of the Texas Health Care Association of Region I in the Texas Panhandle. Mrs. Fagan-Cook was named to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, the National Nursing Honor Society, and Phi Theta Kappa.

She and her husband own a ranch near Shamrock.

Are You An Employee Or An Independent Contractor

Are you working for someone who doesn't withhold Social Security taxes from your salary? And does that person not withhold the taxes because he or she says you are an independent contractor, not an employee?

The Social Security Administration knows that some employers don't withhold Social Security taxes from their workers' salaries. This often happens with household workers, beauticians and barbers, and other service occupations. The employer may mistakenly think the workers are actually independent contractors and responsible for their own taxes. Or, in some cases, employers pay their employees in cash so they can reduce business expenses by not making the matching contribution of Social Security taxes. While the employee may like being paid in cash, he/she should ask for a pay stub or voucher from the employer which shows that Social Security taxes have been withheld. Nonpayment of these taxes by the employer could deprive the worker of valuable Social Security protection.

Because Social Security benefits are based on how long you work and the amount of wages reported for you by your employer, it's important that your earnings are reported accurately and your Social Security taxes are paid. You never know when you may need Social Security. Each day that you work and don't have Social Security coverage, you are robbing yourself and your family of a valuable resource. If your wages aren't reported and you become disabled, you and your family could miss out on monthly Social Security disability benefits. If you die, your family could lose monthly survivors benefits.

There are rules for determining whether a person should be considered an employee or an independent contractor. For example, an employee is hired, can be fired, receives employee benefits such as vacation time and sick leave, takes instructions from his or her employer, and is provided with tools and working materials. The employer sets your hours, determines your place of work and pays you by the hour, week or month. What this means is that the employer controls or has the right to control how, when, and where the work is done.

An independent contractor, on the other hand, usually operates under the terms of an agreement or contract and doesn't receive employee benefits such as vacation time and sick leave. The contractor usually provides his or her own tools and work equipment, may set his or her working hours, have an opportunity to realize a profit or suffer a loss, and cannot be fired as long as he/she produces a result that measures up to contract specifications. If you need more information about the rules for determining whether a worker is an employee or an independent contractor, we suggest you contact your local Social Security office.

Regardless of whether you are an employee or an independent contractor, the Social Security Administration suggests that you check your earnings' record at least every three years to make sure your earnings have been reported accurately. Just call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, and ask to have a Request for a Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement form sent to you. You can expect to receive your statement about four weeks after your completed request form is received.

Leave Young Animals Alone

Many Texans are concerned about wildlife and will do what they can to protect them. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department annually is inundated with calls from concerned citizens who want game wardens or biologists to come get a fawn or baby bird they've found, then get upset when they're told the young animal more than likely is okay and should be left alone.

This is not a new problem. Each spring brings the birth of deer fawns and other wildlife, and the urge by many Texans to take these animals home for fear they have been abandoned by their mothers.

In addition to it being illegal to handle most wildlife except during legal game seasons, newborn wild animals are almost never abandoned and should be left alone.

"Every year during late spring and early summer, fawns are found by people in rural and suburban areas and, thinking the fawns have been abandoned by their mothers, the well-intentioned individuals take the fawns home with them to try to bottle feed and raise," said David Rideout, TPWD biologist from College Station. "They often end up calling the local game warden, park ranger or biologist wanting to find out what to do."

The fawn should be left where it is found, "no matter how cute and appealing it may be," he said. "It is perfectly normal for the doe to leave her young fawn in grassy, weedy areas while she's off feeding. The doe returns occasionally to check on the fawn and allow it to nurse. Because of the fawn's natural instinct to lie still at this early age, people are able to walk right up to fawns."

David Palmer, TPWD law enforcement field operations director in Austin, said it is a violation of the law to handle wildlife species. It also is illegal to possess wildlife unless it is legally taken during a legal, open season. Anyone violating this law could be charged with a Class C Parks and Wildlife Code misdemeanor and would be subject to a fine of up to $500.

"Handling fawns is a very bad problem statewide," Palmer said. "Anywhere you've got deer you'll have this problem."

Rideout said all wildlife should be left in their natural environment. Trying to treat them as pets inevitably results in unfavorable consequences for the animal and sometimes for people associated with wildlife that loses its fear of humans.

"It is illegal to keep wild animals in confinement, except under special permitting procedures," he said. "It is best for all concerned to leave them in the wild."

Parents' Role In Children's Sports

HOUSTON - Youth sports take commitment from child and parent, but knowing when to sit back and cheer may be a parent's hardest job.

The outcome of sports for the child will be better if parents emphasize fair play, having fun and challenging oneself. Children often learn these values by observing parents at work and play, said Dr. Fran Pirozzolo, a neuropsychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Pirozzolo says parental involvement should not cross into coaching. Once a child joins a team, instruction should be left to the coaches.

"Differing instructions from parents and coaches can really put a child in conflict," he said.

He also encourages parents to ask children how parents should behave at games.

"Children are embarrassed when parents yell instructions when they step up to the plate. A simple 'you can do it' is best," said Pirozzolo, a Houston Astros psychologist.

AARP Chapter 4774 The Senior Side

By Betty Bullard

Monday, May 15, we had our social evening, but not in the park as planned. Weather conditions did not permit our eating in the park. I was told it is very hard to keep potato chips on your plate in a high wind. Thank goodness someone had the foresight to reserve space at the community center just in case. Thank goodness also we are not so inflexible as to let a little unpredictability throw us for a loop and spoil our fun.

We had a grand time. Levis and Lace, our local square dance club, came and danced for us. Some of the dancers were seniors, some no older than 10 or 11, some were parents with their children. Isn't that a great way to spend time with your family? Maria De La Rosa told me the children learn the dances a lot faster than the older generation.

What a rewarding experience it was to watch junior and senior dancers participate with mutual respect and affability. The dancers were Carol Adcock (instructor), Ouis and Myra Nester, Danny and Debbie Fleming and their three sons, Billy, Shannon and Dan Jr., Kimberly Nowell, Bobby Ogle, Maria De La Rosa, Sue Spoons, Betty Allen and Aline King. Maria and Raul De La Rosa are AARP members, owners and operators of De La Rosa Plumbing. They have been married for 39 years and have four children, Raul Jr., Ruth, Rita and Rene. Raul Jr. and wife Sally have two children, Raul the third, and Leah. Raul Jr. works for Commonwealth Edison as a nuclear site supervisor. Ruth is married to David Craig. They have one son, John David. Ruth works in Weatherford for the Parker County Attorney. Rita Rodriguez has four children, Chris, twins Jessica and Sarah, and Emily. Rita works as a teacher's aide in Odessa. Rene is in the air force stationed in Charleston, SC. He and wife Tondra have one child, Christen Marie.

Maria and Raul have been square dancing for six years, staying young by staying active.

A heartfelt thanks to all the dancers who took the time to come out and dance for us. If I have missed some of your names, it was not intentional.

AARP issues all seniors a standing invitation to come join us. It's the fun thing to do.

Trouble, Hope And Praise

By Dennis J. Prutow

Trouble often brings depression. We pity ourselves. We ask, "Why me, Lord?" Kids are especially prone to pity parties. So are adults. Psalm 43.5 gives us a solution. "Why are you in despair, O my soul? And why are you disturbed within me? Hope in God, for I shall again praise Him, the help of my countenance, and my God."

First, being disturbed, getting down and being troubled are real experiences. We should never put down people who go through such times of depression.

Second, we should recognize God is the answer to our troubles and depression. We should not look at ourselves and engage in self pity. Instead, we should hope in God.

Third, the hope mentioned in the Psalm is not some vague euphoric feeling about the future. We have this nebulous hope when we hope tomorrow will go well. Rather, the hope mentioned here is a gift of the Holy Spirit. It is a solid foundation upon which to build our present lives.

Fourth, since hope is a gift from God, it must be used. It must be exercised. We exercise hope when we turn to God and offer Him praise and thanksgiving.

Finally and fifth, guess what? Praise and thanksgiving put a glow on our faces. Inner hope is turned to outward joy. We move from the pits to the pinnacle.

This listening team scored 27.5 points for Ozona.

The UIL science competition was new for the fifth grade this year. Although Ozona learned of this competition only a week before the meet, four students took the science test and did very well. Kyle Richardson placed sixth and earned points for Ozona. Other students on this team were Jordan Webster, Victoria Castro and Leslie Flores (alternate).

Ozona Intermediate School and Ms. Sewell are proud of these outstanding students.

From The Library

1994-95 has been a good year in the libraries of Ozona Public Schools. Lots of hard work on the part of the librarians and library aides combined with administrative and teacher support are helping to build school libraries we can all be proud of.

At the high school a new CD-ROM multimedia encyclopedia and a CD-ROM magazines program were added to the existing 20-computer network. This was the second year that an automated on-line public access catalog (OPAC) was available for students to use.

High school students and teachers used computers in the library computer network for word processing, for research, and to locate books for assignments and leisure reading.

In March and April, 1995, a new TVRO (television receive-only) satellite system was installed in the Ozona High School Library. Sherry and Donnie York, Chesta Schneider, and Annette Badillo received training in operation of the new satellite system from Van Glynn, a consultant in charge of satellite installation from Abilene, Texas. Assistant superintendent Ted Cotton applied for the satellite system through a grant process from the Texas Education Agency. This satellite system allows the high school to receive educational broadcasts of T-Star, the Texas Education Agency's satellite system, as well as television programs from literally around world.

Because of installation of the new satellite system the current magazine collection in the high school library had to be relocated. This need for relocation led to the much needed reference room refurbishment project.

With only a few finishing touches remaining, the reference room has a whole new look. New carpet and coordinating tile flooring have made the area more attractive and comfortable. A new six-station study carrel unit now houses microfiche readers. One end of the room is devoted to leisure reading with a couch and several chairs arranged near current magazines, newspapers, catalogs, and new car materials.

The new look will be enhanced by two wall display units and a bulletin board area constructed by Ozona High School woodshop teacher Jim White. New upholstered chairs are now placed in the computer area of the library's main room. Student response to the more comfortable and attractive areas has been very positive.

Special displays in the high school library this year have included student art by students in Mrs. Kristi Ellis' art classes and handcrafted wood items and furniture by students in Mr. White's woodshop.

These displays have convinced us (even though we already suspected it) that we have some very talented young people at Ozona High School!

Next year Mrs. York hopes to continue exhibiting student work and to add more academic exhibits. "With our new display areas, we expect to really 'show off' the talents of our students," says Mrs. York.

Some projects made by high school students could not be displayed this year because of lack of a suitable display area. These included posters made by students in Mrs. Franco's Spanish classes. These posters were based on readings students did on novels, short stories, and biographies from a list of Hispanic heritage books in the library. Coach Schneider's world geography classes also made some very good posters of states involved in a "cross country trip" across the United States.

Just wait until next year. Who knows what creative endeavors will be taking place.

Plans for next school year at the high school library include setting up two new stand-alone computers with CD-ROM capability and Windows.

One computer will be placed in the reference room and will be used with existing non-networked CD-ROM programs including the 1995 Encarta Encyclopedia and Microsoft Bookshelf which includes a dictionary, a thesaurus, The Columbia Dictionary of Quotations, The Concise Columbia Encyclopedia, Hammond Intermediate World Atlas, and The World Almanac and Book of Facts all on one disk. The library already has CD-ROMs of the Encyclopedia of Mammals from National Geographic, Food/Analyst, and A Line in the Sand (U.S. Marine Corps in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm). Other CD-ROMs will be purchased in the future.

A second stand-alone computer with CD-ROM capability will be placed in the career room. This computer will be used for career and college selection programs, college test prep programs, and a CD-ROM version of the Occupational Outlook Handbook. Since several of the basic career references are becoming available on CD-ROM, Mrs. York and Mr. McWilliams will be looking at possibly purchasing these resources on CD-ROM in the future.

According to high school librarian Sherry York, "I want the students and teachers at Ozona High School to have a library that they can be proud of. Each better use of the library's resources by our high school students. I think this is a trend we will see continue in the future!"

The words to the national hymn, America, were written by the Reverend Samuel Francis Smith in 1831 for a children's Fourth of July picnic in Boston.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Spending: More per prisoner than pupil

State expenditures for a prisoner in Texas averages almost 10 times more than for a school child. In 1994, expenditures by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's prison division averaged $30,732 per prisoner, while spending by the Texas Education Agency averaged $3,129 per student. * Texas has the largest prison system of any state in the U.S. and ranks 35th among the states in spending per school child.

Average annual state expenditures per prisoner vs. school child

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

Capital Punishment:
The Income Tax

Every April, Americans are reminded that there are two forms of government in their country — the short form and the long form. And whether we file the long form or the short form, few of us are truly happy with the federal income tax system.

There are two proposals for tax reform currently before the 104th Congress: the consumption tax and the flat tax. I am going to discuss the flat tax in this column and will outline the consumption tax proposal later.

The flat tax plan proposed by U.S. Rep. Dick Armey of Texas would allow every taxpayer in the country to file on a form the size of a postcard.

Rep. Armey proposes that all income be taxed at a single rate — 20 percent for the first three years and 17 percent thereafter. Not only would this simplify the tax process enormously, but it would eliminate some of the most egregious features of the current system: the Swiss cheese-like arrangement of loopholes which benefit some at the expense of others, the double and often triple taxation of certain kinds of income, and the high overall rate of federal taxation.

No one is happy with the present system's intricate set of loopholes. A flat tax would eliminate loopholes entirely. The philosophy behind this idea is one of elemental fairness: Everyone should be treated the same, rather than the government making arbitrary decisions about who must surrender more of what they earn, and who has to surrender less.

Most advocates of this plan want to retain only one real deduction in addition to the personal allowance: the allowance given parents for their children. Under Rep. Armey's proposal, the individual deduction would be $13,000, or $26,000 per couple.

In exchange for that, all other deductions would be erased, including the home mortgage interest deduction and the charitable contribution deduction. The current double taxation of savings and investment income would be abolished. Right now, some people pay federal tax on their salaries and still manage to save something for a rainy day. But their wealth is taxed again when it earns interest. If they invest their savings in a business, the business's income is taxed, and then they are taxed once again on the income they derive from it.

The result of this system is that Americans save less than citizens in any other industrialized democracy. Less investment funds are available to create new business, and new jobs. Under the flat tax plan, income would be taxed only once, at its source.

The flat tax proposal would reduce the current high rate of taxation. As a result, the government would have less money to spend. If that rate were set at 17 percent, for instance, federal revenue would shrink by about $40 billion a year from what is currently collected. So any flat tax proposal, to be realistic, would have to contain caps on government spending as well.

I still have not made up my mind if this is the best way to improve our federal income tax system, but I think the flat tax is an interesting idea in principle. This and other tax reform proposals deserve to be thoroughly debated before Congress enacts them. The American people deserve to know exactly what they'll be getting in exchange for the present system.

But right now the reward for energy, enterprise and thrift in America is — higher taxes. This has to change.

ABC's Of Skin Protection

HOUSTON - This summer, parents should teach their children the ABC's of skin protection: Away, Block and Cover.

"Protection from the sun's rays should begin early; people get 80 percent of lifetime exposure by age 18," said Dr. John Wolf, a dermatologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Wolf suggests teaching children these ABC's of skin protection:

*Away. Stay out of the sun from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. when the rays are most intense.

*Block. Use a sunblock with a 15 or more sun protection factor, covering the shoulders, lips, nose and ears.

*Cover. Ask children to wear T-shirts and baseball-type caps, play in the shade and wear sunglasses.

Wolf reminds parents that dark-skinned children also need protection from the sun.

Beef Short Course Aug. 14-16 At Texas A&M

Lower cattle prices could spell long-term trouble for beef producers, so planners of the popular Beef Cattle Short Course at Texas A&M University this year have tailored their presentations to provide some help.

The theme of the course, scheduled for Aug. 14-16, is "Survival 2000: Tough Decisions for Tough Times." "Beef producers need information that will help them survive in a bad market and thrive in a good one," said Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and organizer of the event.

The short course will provide management training to help producers make good decisions during predicted tough market conditions. Even though agricultural economists and industry leaders warn of difficult times for cattle producers in the next few years, producers who can increase efficiency and lower their production costs can obtain sustainability and profit, he said.

Texas A&M University faculty and staff, beef producers and industry leaders have planned a program that will help producers adapt to the marketing conditions that most of them will face.

"Without question, experts agree that lower prices for cattle will be a substantial problem," Boleman said. "Producers will have to operate more efficiently while keeping costs down."

Speakers from across the nation will discuss how beef producers will have to manage their operations in order to survive to the year 2000. They will discuss what producers have to do to keep consumer demand for beef high while maintaining stability and profitability.

Registration begins Monday morning, Aug. 14, and will continue throughout the day. This is a slight variation from years past to allow more training time for producers.

Last year's participants wanted to have more basic, intermediate and advanced training in beef cattle production break-out seminars, so the planning committee arranged to provide concurrent training seminars in beef cattle reproduction, nutrition and health from 1 until 3 p.m. on Monday. These seminars will include question and answer sessions.

The general session begins on Tuesday, Aug. 15, and speakers will concentrate on the theme of survival.

The third day will continue discussions about survival management. Producers will headline this part of the

Some Children Eligible For Social Security Benefits

Social Security benefits for children are one of the least known features of the Social Security protection available to all workers. For children under 18, however, it is the most important safety net available to them when a parent dies, becomes disabled or retires.

More than 3.7 million children are currently receiving benefits totalling more than a billion dollars monthly. Social Security benefits can be paid to a retired, disabled or deceased workers' biological child, adopted child, stepchild and, under certain conditions, grandchild.

Children may receive Social Security benefits from a parent who has died, retired, or become disabled if they are under age 18, or 19 if a full-time high school student, or at any age if disabled before age 22. The child must be unmarried and have earnings from work of less than annual earnings limit ($8160 for 1995).

The amount of the benefit payable to a child may be as high as 75 percent of the deceased worker's benefit for survivors and 50 percent for children of retired or disabled workers. The amount of the benefit is subject to a family maximum payable to the dependents of the worker.

Divorce has no effect on the Social Security benefit rights of children.

Scott And White Announces New Gene Cancer Therapy Study

TEMPLE - Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Clinic has been selected as the only site in Texas and one of only two in the United States to study gene therapy of cancer by introducing a manufactured gene substance directly into cancer masses. This is a Phase I trial of Interleukin-2 for cancer patients with solid tumors or lymphoma by direct gene transfer. The long-term goal of the project is to determine if this process will produce immunity to cancer.

"We are pleased to be working in conjunction with the Arizona Cancer Institute on this study. The purpose is to find if this treatment will cause the cells of an immune system to attack and kill a tumor," said Dr. John Rinehart, director of the Division of Hematology/Oncology at Scott and White and principal investigator for the study. "Patients eligible for this trial must have metastatic cancer and a tumor that is no longer responding to conventional treatment with surgery, radiation or approved drugs. Therefore, we have the opportunity to immediately impact patients in the Southwest United States through this experimental treatment which tries to stimulate the immune system to reject the tumor."

Only 25 patients will be enrolled in the study nationwide. A gene (i.e. DNA or genetic message) for a substance that stimulates cancer killing cells (IL-2) is injected directly into the tumor. If the tumor cells then produce

IL-2, cancer killing cells (T-Lymphocytes) will be attracted to the tumor and activated to kill the tumor cells.

The treatment is given every week for a total of six treatments. Throughout the course, blood samples, CT scan and tumor biopsies are conducted. All current methods of anticancer treatment have potential side effects; however, in a study similar to this one, no serious side effects were noted.

Scott and White Clinic, with 440 physicians and non-physician scientists, and Scott and White Memorial Hospital, a 460-bed healthcare institution, form one of the largest multispecialty group practices in the United States. The main facility in Temple and the 14 regional clinics throughout Central Texas serve nearly one million patients annually. Scott and White is affiliated with the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine, Temple Campus.

Would-be Teachers Can Earn Certification At ACU Through Intern Program

Abilene Christian University offers college graduates the opportunity to earn elementary and secondary teaching certification while working as an intern in an area school district through the post-baccalaureate internship program.

Participants in the program must have a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution, an undergraduate grade point average of 2.5 or higher, a minimum of 24 semester hours in a subject taught in K-12 schools, passing scores on all sections of the TASP, an interview with committee of education faculty and three recommendations.

Those seeking secondary certification must enroll in summer courses, then be hired as a teaching intern by a school district in the Abilene area. They must enroll in a night class in the fall and the spring and pass the ExCET examination. Secondary interns will have earned 15 undergraduate hours and 9 graduate hours, which may be applied toward a master's degree.

Elementary certification requires the participant take classes during the summers before and after the first year of teaching. They also must be hired as a teacher and enroll in night classes for the fall and spring semester. Elementary interns will have earned 18 undergraduate hours and 18 graduate hours, which may be applied toward a master's degree.

For more information on the post-baccalaureate internship program, call 915-674-2112 or write Abilene Christian University, Dept. of Education, ACU Station, Box 8228, Abilene, TX 79699-8228.

This is your last chance to get a grip on the Texas Lottery's Three Across Texas. But although the game officially ends on June 1, 1995, you have until November 28, 1995 to scratch off any remaining tickets and claim any prizes.

All you have to do to win is match three like dollar amounts in a row to cash in up to $5,000. Prizes up to $599 can be claimed wherever you see the Texas Lottery sign. Prizes starting from $600, including the $5,000 top prize, must be claimed at any of the 24 Texas Lottery claim centers, or by using a claim form available at any Texas Lottery retailer.

If you have any questions, please call the Texas Lottery Customer Service line at 1-800-37-LOTTO. They have a handle on everything.

Overall odds of winning 1 in 402. Must be 18 years or older to play. © 1995 Texas Lottery
