Access discussed for Chandlerdale West

"We got a lot of good direction," said Judge Jeffrey Sutton of the commissioners' meeting last week to consider options for access to the Chandlerdale West subdivision. Court members met Wednesday morning with Paul Chevalier of Sonora, area engineer for TXDot, and John DeWitt, engineer from the San Angelo TXDot office, to discuss the possibility of a bridge or other passage into the area. "The engineers said we couldn't put a low water crossing (at the Hwy. 163 entry to Chandlerdale West) in because of the fear of backed up water," Sutton said. First step to correcting water problems in Johnson Draw which sometimes make ingress and egress to Chandlerdale West impossible, is to obtain a hydrology report, commissioners were told. This could take up to two months. Once this is accomplished, engineers will meet with the court again. The possibility exists that state money and matching local money could be combined to help build a bridge or provide other access, Sutton said. Preliminary discussion centered around development of access to the area off of I-10 west of Ozona rather than bridging Johnson Draw off Hwy. 163. Once the hydrology report is completed, a design and state approval for the project are necessary. "I feel sure there are grants out there to match that (state funds)," Sutton said. Completion of the project could take up to two years, he believes.

A collection of old photographs from the estate of W. E. Newton has been made available to The Ozona Stockman for publication. The pictures, all with Crockett County subjects, had been handed down to a great-nephew. Upon his death, his widow carried out her husband's wishes of returning the photographs to Crockett County.

Theis and Antone Theis. An account of the life of W. E. Newton in A History of Crockett County relates that he was born in Sedalia, MO, in 1876. He came to Texas in 1891. He attended public schools in San Angelo and then moved to Crockett County on his father's ranch. He was later employed by Carmichael Permer and Co. in Ozona for five years. He operated the W. E. Newton and Co. firm in San Angelo as a furniture dealer and provided the area with an undertaking department. The business later became known as the Robert Massie Funeral Co. He married Blanche Sidney Walker of Moscow, TX, in San Angelo in 1899.

and High Lonesome. In 1919, Massie and Newton divided their Crockett County interests, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton bought a ranch known as the Hightower Ranch in Irion County. Newton was interested in oil development, and was secretary of the Central Oil Co. He was a member of the Masons, Modem Woodman of America, Woodman of the World and member of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Newton was the daughter of a pioneer physician and surgeon in Trinity and Temple. She taught piano lessons in San Angelo and Ozona, and was a worker in her church and community.

During his early years, 1903-1905, Newton drove a mail coach from San Angelo to Ozona. He changed teams four times during the trip - in Knickerbocker, Sherwood, Monument

CVCOG, local counties applying for empowerment zone designation

The Concho Valley Economic Development District, a subsidiary of the Concho Valley Council of Governments, is working with local officials in Crockett, Reagan and Sutton Counties in hopes that the U. S. Department of Agriculture will designate the three county area as a rural Empowerment Zone. This designation gives selected areas priority for federal grants and programs. Designation also results in a grant of approximately $40 million over a 10 year period to assist in infrastructure improvements and other matters of public health, safety and economic development.

not as lucrative as the Empowerment Zone designation, being named a Champion Community will still provide tremendous benefits for the area. Reagan County Economic Development Director Donna Kidd attended the White House Community Empowerment Conference in Washington in July. She is optimistic that the grant will provide a vital boost to her county's economy. "This program will provide funds needed to enhance our communities without putting extra burdens on our local taxpayers."

Bob Weaver, executive director for the Concho Valley Council of Governments, is also enthusiastic about the grant. He commented, "The Concho Valley Council of Governments is pleased to do this on behalf of our members. The COG's purpose is to expand the capacity of local officials to participate in programs like this."

A strategic plan for each of these areas is required as a part of the application. The plan is a blueprint of where these communities are today and where they want to be in 10, 20 and 50 years. The strategic plan will outline specific steps for moving from the present to the future. A public meeting was held in Sonora on Aug. 18 to help develop the plan and to receive comments. Surveys were also mailed to citizens to gain their input.

Outward migration from a community or poverty are criteria for eligibility for the Empowerment Zone designation. Crockett County fits in the outward migration category, said Judge Jeffrey Sutton who attended the meeting in Sonora. There are only three counties in the state applying based on migration of jobs, Sutton said. Areas that apply but are not successful in being designated as Empowerment Zones may be designated as Champion Communities. Although

The final application for this program must be received at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development office in Washington by Oct. 9. Designees are expected to be announced in December.

Needs established during the formulation of Crockett County's strategic plan include: housing, develop-

Library receives grant

The Friends of the Library have been notified of a building fund grant from the Permian Basin Area Foundation of Midland. The $2,500.00 grant is a one-for-one matching grant to fund new furniture needs and disability access in the remodeling and addition for the library building. The matching funds must be new donations received by the Friends from January 1998 through June 1998. The Friends have set these matching funds as a top priority for their 1998 Building Expansion Campaign. Friends Vice-President Dean Allen and Librarian Louise Laddoux

Tammy Perner--Cook-of-the-Week

"I have been asked many times about how I've lost so much weight," said Cook of the Week Tammy Perner. "It is a personal battle with no quick fixes. I will say be firm but forgiving with yourself and start small."

"Make changes that will last a lifetime," advises Tammy, "and don't do anything short term you can live with. It takes time to change the way you look at food, and that is really where you must start. Best of luck to you and your endeavors. It is very hard to over come," she says.

Another word of advice from Tammy is to always use fresh ingredients when you can to make the food healthier and more satisfying.

Tammy Perner came to Ozona in the fifth grade. She is the daughter of Nancy Davee and the late Bobby Davee. Her life revolves around her little daughter, Katie, who is almost three, and her job at South Texas Lumber Company.

Tammy says she likes to think of herself as an artist and enjoys sketching. Like most young women, she also likes going dancing and watching movies. She is a seamstress with a focus on the construction and sale of children's clothes under the label Playwear.

The first of three main dish recipes Tammy shares is good with chicken or turkey and can be prepared ahead of time.

Chicken and Broccoli Quiche

- 2 c. cooked chopped chicken
- 2 c. chopped broccoli
- 1 c. shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 c. chopped onion
- 1 1/2 c. skim milk
- 1 c. fat free cottage cheese
- 3/4 c. pancake mix
- 3 eggs
- 1/4 c. Parmesan cheese
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper

Preheat oven to 350. Spray pan. Combine meat, broccoli, cheddar cheese and onion. Spoon into baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients in bowl and mix well. Pour into the pan over meat mixture. Bake 50 minutes. Let stand about 5 minutes before cutting and serving.

"Some recipes are gifts of friendship, and others were passed on from my mother," said Tammy. "Others still are ones I've taken from boxes or books and adapted to my own kitchen. I like to try new things and try to introduce different foods to my daughter. Especially those that contain veggies.

"This, too, can be prepared ahead of time and at my house is often made out of leftovers. (Don't tell!)"

Calzone

- 2 sheets of frozen puff pastry, thawed
- Filling: Use what you like and substitute 'till this is your family's favorite, too!
- 1/2 c. thinly sliced carrots
- 1/2 c. thinly sliced potatoes
- 1/2 c. of Italian green beans
- 1/2 c. of peas
- 1 tomato
- 2 T olive oil
- 2 T tomato paste
- 1 egg, beaten
- Garlic to taste
- Pepper or other favorite
- 1 c. of some sort of meat (we like pork roast, cubed)
- 1/4 red onion
- All veggies and meats should be cooked; however, if you use garden veggies that have not cooked, then

First Place session begins Wednesday

By Audrey Glynn

You did hear the tale of the husband and wife who were moving along the line in a cafeteria, making their choices to enjoy for lunch?

The wife, a member of First Place, chose a salad with lite dressing, grilled chicken breast and a baked apple for dessert. The husband smilingly was asking for chicken fried steak, french fries, fried okra - when the wife turned to him, frowned, and mentioned that he really should be choosing items that were baked. When they arrived at their table and unloaded their trays, he said to her that she should be proud of him because he did choose a baked item. Sure enough, he had - it was a nice slice of baked cherry pie! Baked, yes, but loaded with sugar and fat - he just couldn't win!

Come join our First Place group this afternoon at 5 p.m. and learn how to enjoy "baked" foods. First Place is not a diet, but a proven common sense nutrition plan, one you can live with from now on. This plan has the approval of the American Dietetic Association, among others.

Exercise of your choice at least three times a week, consuming eight glasses of water a day, doing a 10-week study featuring a 15-20 minute Bible study five days a week in your home and learning one memory verse a week - these are some of the commitments one will want to keep to be serious about living an abundant life and putting Christ in "First Place".

Materials included in the one-time fee include a notebook for the Bible studies, a recipe book and a prayer journal.

Placards will be up around First Baptist Church to point you to the meeting place, and at the first session, we will be sharing a light meal with recipes from the First Place Cookbook. You will also hear testimonies from continuing members of the helpful benefits of this program. I'll be there, won't you?

If for some reason, you are not able to come tonight, you can come next week and still be a part. After next week, though, membership will be closed until the next 13-week session.

Social Security questions and answers

Question: How often should I check my Social Security earnings record? Is there much of a chance that an error may occur?

Answer: You should check your Social Security earnings record at least once every three years. Errors in your earnings record are more likely to occur if you change jobs frequently or have more than one employer. To check your Social Security earnings record, contact your local Social Security office or call our toll-free number: 1-800-772-1213 and ask for the "Request for Personal Earnings And Benefit Estimate Statement (form 7004). The form asks a few identifying questions (name, address, date of birth, etc.). About a month after you send in the form, you'll receive a statement that shows your earnings as reported to Social Security by your employer(s). Check our records against your own files. If you find an error, contact Social Security right away with proof of your actual earnings (such as a W-2 form).

Question: What does Part B of Medicare cover?

Answer: Part B of Medicare covers doctor's services including surgical services, diagnostic tests and X-rays that are part of your treatment, medical supplies furnished in a doctor's office, services of the office nurse, and drugs that are administered to you that you cannot administer to yourself.

Question: How do I file a Medicare claim?

Answer: Service providers -- doctors, hospitals, medical labs, etc., are required to submit Medicare claims. You should notify your Medicare carrier if your doctor or other provider refuses to submit a Part B claim for you. The phone numbers and addresses of carriers are listed in The Medicare Handbook.

Care Center Chatter

This week it has been very exciting at the care center. One of our residents had a big celebration for her birthday at the civic center, so some of the residents joined her for the delicious cake and punch at 2 p.m., and our birthday girl was Monie Brewer. - Happy Birthday.

Then on Friday night there was a lot of excitement going on because of the football game. And again, some of our residents like Jessie McCary, Laura McMullan and Moriana Perez got to go see the Lions play. They really enjoyed the cheerleaders and the Ozona Lion Band.

Monday morning everybody played bingo, and top winners were Juana Hernandez and Annie Cooke and Mori Perez. All the residents really enjoyed the hot popcorn and the new machine donated to us by T&C.

Our Country Store keeps residents entertained so much they can always find something they like, especially now with all this nice jewelry that was donated to us by Westerman drug. Again, we want to thank all our volunteers, and we are in need of more volunteers. If you have a free minute, come down. Volunteers are always welcomed. We need two ladies right now to come in and help for Thursday morning on beauty shop day only one hour every week. If anyone is interested, please come and talk to Lupe or Chris.

Warming up keeps injured shoulder from freezing

If you have stopped moving your shoulder because of a recent injury, you may be making it worse.

"When people hurt a shoulder, they often begin to limit motion within the area so that it doesn't hurt," says Dr. Timothy Schacherer, assistant professor of orthopaedic surgery at UT Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. "That shrinks the range of motion of the shoulder until it can't be moved at all." When the joint isn't used, it becomes extremely stiff and painful to move. The condition often is called "frozen shoulder." Schacherer says see a physician for proper diagnosis and treatment of all shoulder injuries.

Regular stretching exercises—specifically, raising your arms more than 90 degrees from your side—will help you avoid a shoulder injury.

Minimally invasive surgery can treat reflux disease

Chronic heartburn can be treated with minimally invasive surgery. Surgeons at Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital in Houston are using this technique on patients with severe gastroesophageal reflux disease, the most common stomach disorder in the United States.

Reflux disease is caused by a weakened valve-like muscle at the base of the esophagus that allows stomach acid to flow into the esophagus, creating heartburn.

Surgeons can wrap part of the stomach around the lower esophagus to create a new "high-pressure zone," said Dr. Patrick Reardon, a surgeon at Baylor and Methodist. This tight squeeze on the end of the esophagus keeps food and acid out.

When the surgery is done with miniature tools through five tiny holes in the abdomen, patients are spared the scarring and pain associated with traditional surgery, and they can usually return to work within a few days and resume all activities after just one week.

Spiritual Focus

By Dennis J. Prutow

Focus is important if you want to accomplish a task. Athletes must stay focused to win a game. Students must concentrate on their studies to progress in their chosen field. Workers doing potentially dangerous tasks must not be distracted.

Focus and concentration are also important in Christianity. Jesus put it this way. "If your hand or your foot causes you to stumble, cut it off and throw it from you; it is better for you to enter life crippled or lame, than to have two hands or two feet and be cast into the eternal fire. (Matthew 18:8). Psalm 119:113 adds, "I hate those who are double-minded, but I love Your law."

A double-minded person has no sure foundation in life. Such a person "is like the surf of the sea, driven and tossed by the wind" (James 1:6). The double-minded person is "unstable in all his ways" (James 1:7). The answer? Focus on the life God desires you to live. Love His Law.

Elijah asks, "How long will you hesitate between two opinions?" (1 Kings 18:21). Christ exclaims, "I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot; I wish that you were cold or hot" (Revelations 3:15). The solution? "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double-minded" (James 4:8).

attended a publicity meeting in Midland on Thursday, Jan. 8, to receive the grant as the Permian Basin Area Foundation announced its 1997 Fall Grants to nine area non-profit entities. Ms. Joanie Holt, chairman of the Foundation Grants Committee, spoke of the grant awards by saying, "The Permian Basin Area Foundation Grants Committee and Board of Governors are pleased to announce their fall grant awards to several area non-profit organizations impacting the lives of Permian Basin residents. These grant awards are made in the areas of human service needs, education, arts and culture and mental health."

The Friends of the Library joined the American Airpower Heritage Museum Inc., the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the Centers for Children and Families, the High Sky Children's Ranch, the Hillcrest School, the MISD Storytelling Festival, the Presidential Museum and the Southwest Texas Prison Ministry and Family Outreach in receiving grants ranging from $1,500.00 to $5,500.00.

Ms. Holt continued by saying, "These grants are made possible by the gifts of very generous people who have entrusted the Permian Basin Area Foundation to examine and research the needs and challenges of our area. We are grateful to these donors whose kind acts make possible the unrestricted grantmaking necessary to make life better. And, because of their dedication and compassion to meet these needs, we are also thankful for these nine organizations who provide services and opportunities."

Jack Swallow, executive director, explained the purpose and philosophy of the Permian Basin Area Foundation's component unrestricted funds, which made the above grants possible, as including the following: PBAF General Endowment Fund, Allen K. Trobaugh Memorial Fund, M. Elizabeth Locker Fund, Mr. and Mrs. Deane H. Stoltz Fund, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lacy Permanent Fund, B. J. Pevehouse Memorial Fund and Richard S. Anderson Memorial Fund.

The Permian Basin Area Foundation is a public foundation, created to serve as a flexible and responsive philanthropic vehicle to meet the emerging and changing needs of our regions. It receives its endowed gifts from individuals, families, businesses and other foundations, utilizing the income from the endowments for its grantmaking purposes.

The services of the Foundation are available to all citizens, whether of modest or substantial means. The wishes of generous donors have resulted in the creation of many types of funds within the Foundation - unrestricted, special fields of interest, scholarships, designated, and donor-advised funds. During the year ended Dec. 31, 1996, total assets of the Foundation grew by 40%, to almost $7 million. The Foundation presented $373,000.00 in grant and distribution awards, while experiencing over $1.8 million in gifts and contributions into permanent holdings.

Beware of phone solicitors using DPS name

Although some law enforcement associations may claim to be raising money on behalf of the Texas Department of Public Safety, they are not affiliated with the agency. The DPS does not benefit from funds the groups and their professional telemarketers raise.

"Over the years, we have gotten numerous questions and complaints from Texas citizens regarding telephone solicitations by law enforcement associations," said Col. Dudley M. Thomas, director of DPS. "The DPS does not solicit financial contributions from private citizens. We receive our funding from the Texas Legislature."

Some organizations solicit funds using names similar to those of the DPS, including "Texas Rangers," "State Troopers," "Texas Highway Patrol" or "Department of Public Safety." While some DPS officers may be members of these organizations on their own time, these associations are not affiliated with the DPS, Thomas said. They raise money to fund their own programs, some of which may benefit officers and families.

The 75th Texas Legislature enacted a law that requires these organizations to clarify that they are not part of the DPS and prohibits them from implying that the money they raise will go to the DPS. In addition, solicitors cannot use names, symbols or statements that are similar to those used by the Texas Department of Public Safety or the Texas Rangers to confuse or mislead someone who is being asked to give money.

DPS has created an informational brochure about law enforcement solicitation for Texas citizens and has established a recorded information line on this topic (512-424-5588).

Grape Creek notches first victory at expense of Lions

Last Friday the Ozona Lions hosted the Grape Creek Eagles in what was the initial varsity contest for the visitors. Fielding only juniors and sophomores, the Eagles put together a team that was able to keep most of the Lions' offensive talent bottled up throughout the evening while mounting enough offense of their own to grab a 20-8 win, ensuring for posterity that the school owns a victory in their first outing.

With time slipping away late in the third period, Kenny Vargas tallied Ozona's first touchdown of the season, taking the pigskin across from the 13-yard line. Quarterback Ross Crawford connected with Tim Maldonado for the 2-point extra point attempt to draw the Lions to within 6 points of being even with the Eagles.

But the struggling Ozona offense had been stymied all night by an onslaught from the Eagles' defense. Their defensive line and linebackers repeatedly broke through Ozona's line, keeping Crawford on the run. Crawford finished the night with decent passing numbers but was -33 in the rushing category, an indication that he was severely harassed in the backfield. Crawford completed 9 of 17 passes for 164 yards and was intercepted twice.

In spite of the final score, the Lions were in the contest most of the evening. The first half came within 24 seconds of being a scoreless tie when Eagle Randy Childress slipped in from 5 yards out and the PAT was good for a 7-0 lead. In the middle of the third period, Josh Timms connected with John Schkade on his only pass completion of the night for a 37 yard score, and the Eagles appeared to be running away with the game. Minutes later Vargas put Ozona on the board, and the Lions were in good shape to come back.

However, the Eagle defense kept up the pressure, and the offense put together one more scoring drive to make the final score 20-8.

In the rushing department, Kenny Vargas had 58 yards and Miguel Rios added 22 more. Vargas also led in receiving yardage with 3 catches for 95 yards. Tim Maldonado had 2 receptions for 19 yards. Rios had one 28-yard catch, Mark Childress had one for 10 yards, and Seth Webster one for 8 yards.

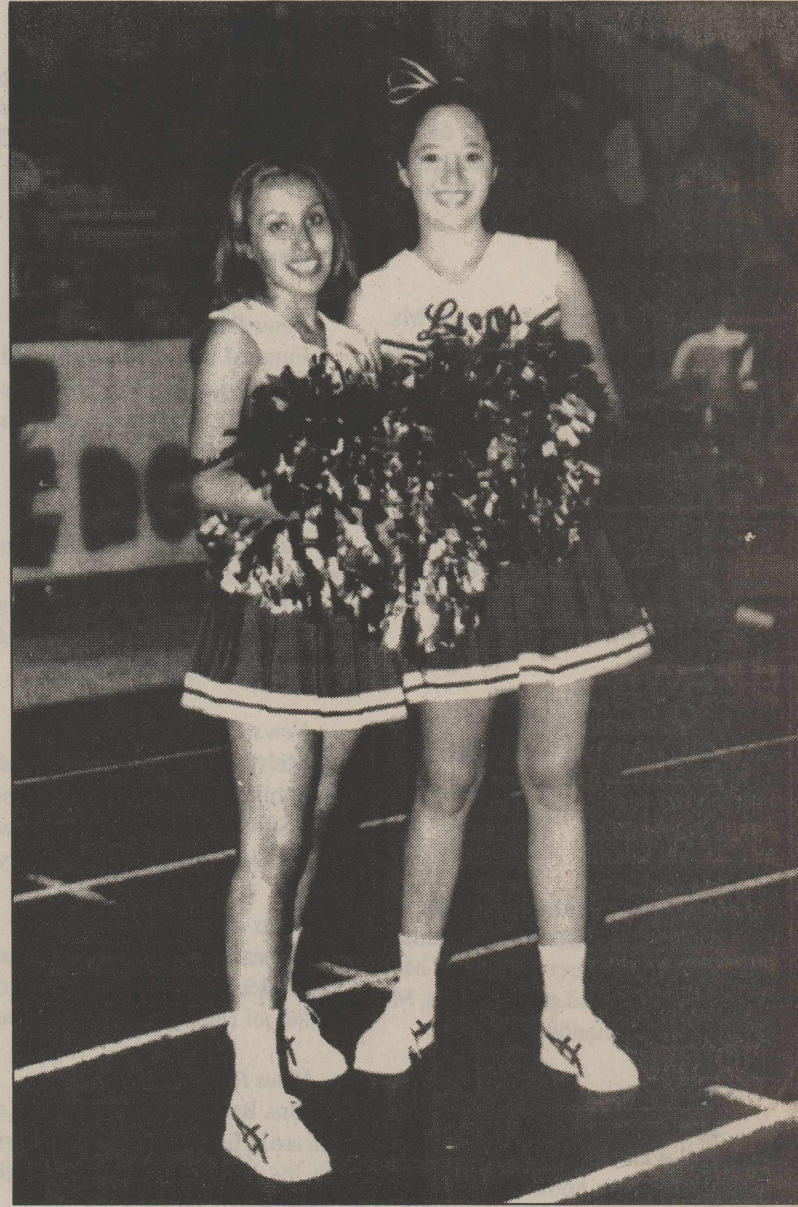

Perhaps one of the biggest factors determining the outcome of the game was in the tackling statistics. The leaders for the Lions had most of their tackles in the first half, indicating that Grape Creek found a way to thread the Ozona defense in the second half. Tim Maldonado was the only consistent tackler, with 7 in the first half and 6 in the second for a total of 13. Miguel Rios picked up 9 in the first half and none in the second. Mark Childress brought down the Eagles 6 times in the first half and only 3 in the second. Clay Richardson chalked up 6 tackles while Steven Martinez and Robert Quiroz had 5 each. Ross Crawford had 4 stops.

JV Lions rip Grape Creek

David Screws,
STOCKMAN SPORTSWRITER

Last Thursday in Grape Creek, the Junior Varsity Lions took a long time to get their offense rolling, but when they began to click, it spelled destruction for the Grape Creek Eagles. The Lions traveled home relishing the sweet taste of a 34-6 victory to open the new football season.

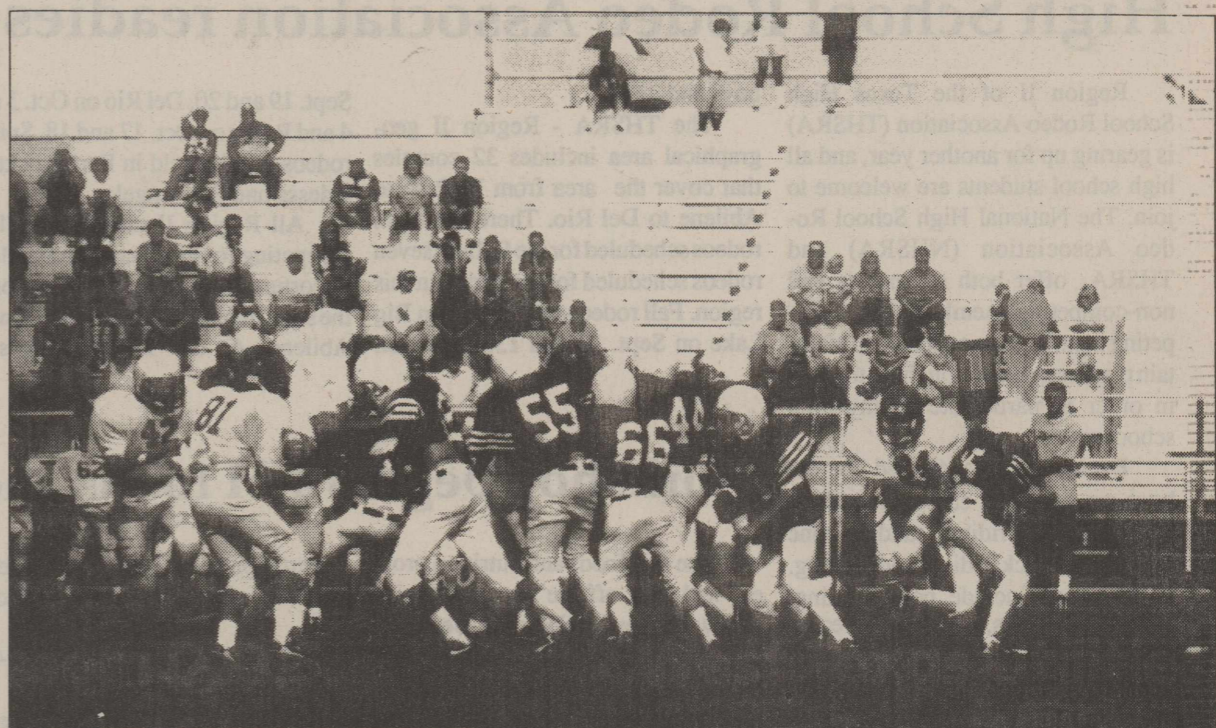

The Eagles took the lead early in the second quarter when they broke through the Lions' defense for 66 yards. Kyle Richardson negated the extra point by intercepting a pass in the end zone. Grape Creek's lead was short-lived, however, as Leon Garcia fielded the succeeding kickoff and raced 76 yards to knot the score at 6-6. The PA failed, leaving the score tied at the half.

With Stephen Tarr guiding the offense the Lions worked the ball into scoring position late in the third period before Garcia carried over from 5 yards out. Tarr kept on the option to make the 2-point conversion, and the Lions were on top for good.

The sky fell on the Eagles in the final stanza as the Lions put together three more scoring drives, putting the contest out of reach. In the middle of the quarter, Tarr nailed Jimmy Lopez for a 48 yard passing score, but the extra point attempt failed.

Less than a minute later, Leon Garcia once again cranked up his speedy legs, racing 40 yards for the score. Luis Cruz then set up another Garcia touchdown when he rambled 49 yards to the 3-yard line. After Garcia scored, Kyle Richardson found Abel Rodriguez for the 2-pointer, capping the scoring for the afternoon.

The Lions' offense amassed 297 yards on the ground, much of that from the skilled running of Leon Garcia. Stephen Tarr completed 6 passes for a total of 73 yards, with one touchdown and no interceptions.

Eighth Cubs smash Grape Creek

David Screws,
STOCKMAN SPORTSWRITER

In their season opener last Thursday in Lion Stadium, the Ozona Middle School Eighth Cubs roughed up the Grape Creek Eagles to take a solid 30-8 victory. The Cubs had an impressive running attack mixed in with timely passing, taking an early lead they would never relinquish.

On their opening possession, the Cubs marched the ball 65 yards, culminating the drive with a 6 yard touchdown run from Quay Oglesby. The extra point failed.

The Eagles threatened to come back, and moved the ball to near midfield before Mark Gandar shut them down with the first of two interceptions he would have in the game. Early in the second period, Robert Ogle took the ball from Jarrett Vickers on what appeared to be an end around.

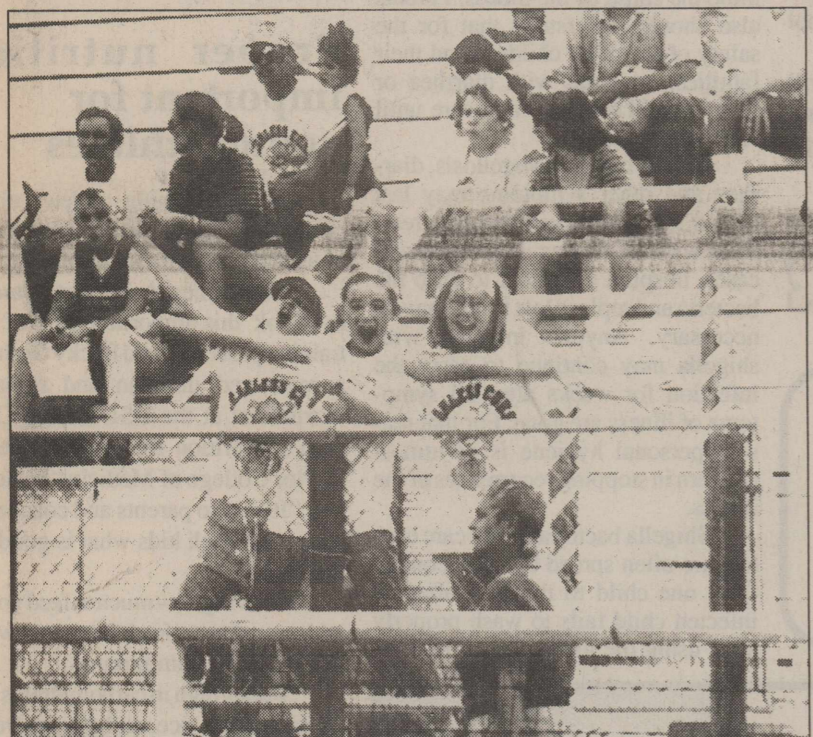

Ogle pulled up short and threw to Lalo Garza for a scoring play that covered 51 yards. Vickers then found G. L. Bunger for the 2 points, giving the Cubs a 14-0 lead.

The Eagles closed the gap to 14-8 with a late score in the second period, but Lalo Garza, on the opening kickoff of the second half, fielded the ball at his own 21 yard line and raced left untouched down the sideline for a touchdown. Vickers pitched left to Chase Clark for the 2 point conversion.

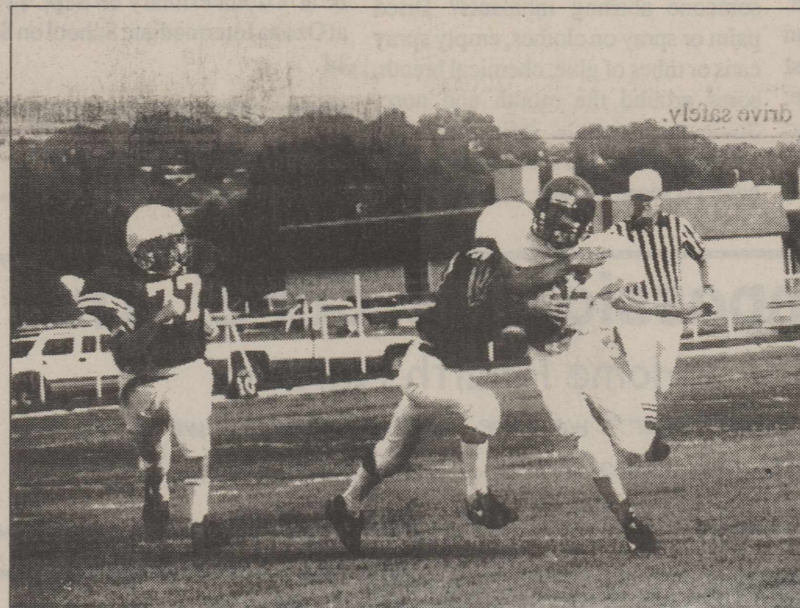

Early in the fourth period, Gandar picked off his second Eagle pass, setting up the Cubs' final touchdown drive. After the Cubs picked up a couple of first downs, Ricky Perez turned the corner around left end and raced for the end zone. Vickers pitched to Clark again, this time to the right, for the final 2 points of the evening.

Seventh Cubs thump Eagles

David Screws,
STOCKMAN SPORTSWRITER

The Grape Creek Eagles 7th Graders jumped on top of the Ozona Middle School Cubs quickly in last Thursday's game in Lion Stadium, taking an 8-0 lead on their first possession. Before the Cubs could get untracked, the Eagles scored again, but the long run was nullified by a penalty, and the Cubs' defense held.

The Cubs' winning touchdown was set up by Ryan Wiley on the ensuing kickoff. A Grape Creek receiver attempted to field the football near the sideline, but Wiley was bearing down on the ball at full speed. Before the Eagle could get the ball off the ground, Wiley slid under him and snatched it from his grasp.

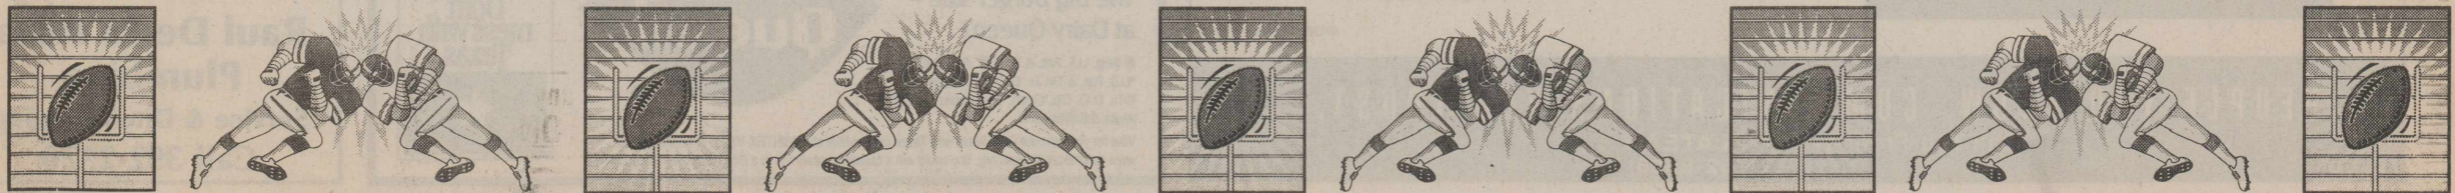

After a pair of plays moved the Cubs only a few yards, Arron Garza found Ryan Wiley for a 38-yard scoring strike that put the Cubs ahead to stay. Garza rolled off to his right for the 2-point conversion, giving the young Cubs a 16-8 victory in their first competition on the gridiron.

Children's hand washing helps control diseases at day care centers

Sporadic outbreaks of shigellosis, a diarrheal illness which often occurs among young children, is caused by shigella bacteria.

Unless strict hygiene, especially hand washing, is enforced in settings such as day care centers, the Texas Department of Health warns, one child's infection can spread throughout a group to become a persistent problem. Day care personnel must always be alert to signs of these common infections, and should be aware that if one child has shigellosis, the probability is high that others also may be exposed.

Shigellosis, an infection by any of four main strains of shigella bacteria, causes severe, watery or bloody diarrhea, sometimes accompanied by sudden fever, headaches and other effects of toxicity. Day care children with such symptoms should be isolated from contact with other children, and their parents should be contacted immediately.

Parents should be advised that shigellosis and other diarrheal illnesses can be serious and even fatal if left untreated and that the child should be promptly taken to a doctor to determine the cause of the illness. Parents also should understand that for the safety of the other children and their families, no child with diarrhea or fever should return to day care until fully recovered.

In mild cases of shigellosis, diarrhea and other symptoms may last only a few days, even without treatment with antibiotics. In more severe cases, hospital treatment to curb the bacteria and replace lost fluids may be necessary. Anyone infected with shigella may continue to carry the infection for weeks after all symptoms of illness are gone. For that reason, personal hygiene is of utmost concern in stopping recurrences of the illness.

Shigella bacteria in day care centers are often spread by hand contact from one child to the next after an infected child fails to wash properly after using the toilet. Day care rules about hand washing should be strictly enforced at all times. Older children can be taught to wash with soap and water after using the toilet, while infants' and toddlers' hands can be washed for them after toilet use or diaper changes.

Hand washing also helps to reduce the spread of other diseases, including hepatitis. Day care personnel should also frequently wash their hands during the day, especially after handling diapers or bathing infants. Even handling toys which may have been handled by an infected child can spread shigella among staff members as well as the other children whom they touch.

According to the TDH, fatalities from shigellosis are rare in the U.S., because hospital care is usually available for severe cases. Of about 2,500 cases of shigellosis reported to TDH in a typical year, about 1,000 occur among children and infants 4 years of age or younger.

However, in some parts of the world with poorer medical resources and inadequate sanitation, shigellosis is a major contributor to child and infant deaths from dehydration.

Proper nutrition important for young athletes

Teaching young athletes about good nutrition should be as important as teaching them the skills of the game.

"Sometimes coaches and parents overlook this important part of the training process," said Becky Gorham, a registered dietitian and research nutritionist at the USDA/ARS Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "It's up to parents and coaches to learn and teach kids what is good for the body."

Knowing how much to feed young athletes, what to feed them, and when to feed them is important.

"Foods high in carbohydrates like fruits, breads, rice, and starchy vegetables like corn will provide athletes with the energy their muscles need," said Gorham. "Young athletes should also be encouraged to eat at least four servings a day of calcium-rich foods like milk, cheese, and yogurts. These foods will help them build strong bones."

One of the most essential of all nutrients for athletes is water.

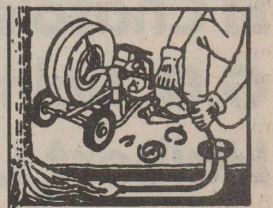

"Children should drink three to six ounces of water every 15 minutes of practice to avoid dehydration," said Gorham. "Children need to be taught and reminded during workouts to drink water even when they are not thirsty because thirst is not an accurate measure of hydration."

Contrary to popular belief, vitamin supplements will not provide a direct source of energy for young athletes. If the child is following the guidelines from the USDA Food Guide Pyramid, vitamins are not necessary.

Inhalents - a danger in all homes

By Dale Metz
Alcohol & Drug Abuse Council for the Concho Valley

What is the drug of choice for our youngest children today? Alcohol, marijuana, heroin, cocaine? No, how about everyday items such as canned whipped cream, correction fluid, spray paint or gasoline.

Inhalants have become the drug of choice for our youngest children. Cheap and readily available in any home, inhalants are destroying young lives at an alarming rate. Seven million children between the ages of 5 and 17 have abused inhalants. Inhalant abuse seems to peak around the age of 13, but more shocking is the fact that children as young as five have used inhalants.

What type of substances can be abused? Take a look around your home and you'll find dozens of substances that have the potential to be abused. There are over 1000 products that can be abused. They range from the most notorious and obvious, such as glue, gasoline and spray paints, to the not so obvious, vegetable cooking spray, room deodorizers and spray desert toppings. Yes, something as innocent as a can of good tasting whipped cream can kill if abused.

Some of the deadly chemicals found in household items are butane, tetrachlorethylene, toluene, nitrous oxide and acetone. These chemicals cause damage to the body as soon as they are inhaled. Starting with damage to membranes in the mouth, nose and throat. Once in the body they circulate, through the major organs, doing damage as they go, especially to the brain. Inhalants reduce the flow of oxygen to the brain, killing brain cells. Damage to the brain is permanent and irreversible. Inhalants cause permanent damage to the nervous system, kidneys, lungs and other systems. Death from inhalant abuse can come after many uses or the first use. When mixed with other depressants such as alcohol, or tranquilizers, the effect is often coma or death.

What are some indicators of someone abusing inhalants? Dried paint or spray on clothes, empty spray cans or tubes of glue, chemical breath, sores around the mouth and nose. Someone under the influence of an inhalant will appear spacey, be clumsy, have no sense of time or space. They will be fatigued, have blood shot eyes and have a run down condition. Any combination of these should be cause for concern.

How do we fight inhalant abuse? Educate yourself and your children. Keep the lines of communication open between you and your children. Teach your children to practice refusal skills and most importantly, be observant of your child's behaviors.

If you or someone you know is having a problem with inhalant abuse or any chemical dependency issue, the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Council for the Concho Valley can be of assistance. Please call 1-800-880-9641 to make an appointment. All calls, consultations and screenings are confidential. All services are provided at no charge. The Council also provides presentations to civic and school groups at no charge.

Someone from the Council will be at Ozona Primary on Sept. 11 and at Ozona Intermediate School on Sept. 14.

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx[®] and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 PGC

Illegal aliens liberated from semi-truck

Reprinted from the Aug. 27, 1998 Sanderson Eagle

During the early morning hours Monday, Aug. 24, 1998, Border Patrol Agents manning the check point near Sierra Blanca encountered a semi-truck trailer combination eastbound on Interstate 10. The Agents heard pounding and cries for help as the truck came through the check-point, and a closer examination of the truck revealed a total of 113 illegal migrants concealed in the cab and trailer of the rig.

One man inside the trailer began beating the sides of the trailer and calling for help when the little girls standing next to him began to pass out.

Others in the group suffered near asphyxiation and dehydration from the ordeal, and were treated at the site by Border Patrol Agent EMTs. It is estimated that another 30 minutes in the cramped confinement would have been disastrous for many members of the group.

Several of the people stated they had been in the trailer for at least 10 hours.

Of the 113 people, 39 were women and children; the youngest child was a 3-month-old baby. Seventeen of the females and children were concealed in the cab of the truck. The other 96 individuals were cramped in the trailer which had no ventilation.

The aliens were destined for various places, including Dallas, Houston and Atlanta, GA.

Other than treatment for exhaustion and dehydration, there were no serious injuries reported by the Agents at the checkpoint.

Chief Patrol Agent Simon Garza said "Despite warnings issued and a nation-wide safety initiative being conducted by the INS, smugglers still continue to put peoples' lives at risk in attempts to transport their human cargo across the country.

The INS will continue to enforce its national campaign for illegal immigrants not to place their lives in danger with unscrupulous smugglers who jeopardize the lives of their human cargo.

The driver and co-driver of the semi-truck were arrested and charged with alien smuggling. They were Ronald Eugene Jones, 42, of Charlotte, NC, and Kenneth McCoy Harris, 25, of Emory.

This investigation continues and is being conducted by the United States Border Patrol and the United States Attorney's Office, Western District of Texas.

Annual Texas Wildlife Expo Oct. 3-4

The seventh annual Texas Wildlife Expo, to be held Oct. 3-4 in Austin, will feature expanded versions of several popular activities to accommodate the growing number of Expo visitors. Crowd favorites such as the climbing wall, the kayaking and canoeing "Wet Zone" and a new activity introduced last year - mountain bike rides, have been enhanced to offer more opportunities for visitors.

The 1998 Texas Wildlife Expo is free to the public, with on-site parking available at no charge. The event is scheduled to take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 3-4 at TPW headquarters, located at 4200 Smith School Road in southeast Austin. This year's event celebrates the 75th anniversary of Texas State Parks.

On the 35-acre site, visitors can catch fish, shoot at sporting clays, view birds of prey in flight, learn about wildlife and much more. Activities, demonstrations and workshops take place throughout the day. Expo encompasses a wide variety of activities and sports, focusing on fun, hands-on learning experiences which acquaint visitors with Texas' outdoor recreational opportunities while educating them about their responsibilities as users of the outdoors.

"This is an event for families where parents and children will find activities to enjoy together," said Andrew Sansom, TPW executive director. "Expo is designed to provide access, especially for young people, to the great variety of outdoor opportunities. And, as we celebrate the 75th anniversary of Texas State Parks, Expo visitors will have the unique opportunity to learn about all 123 state parks, the cultural and natural jewels to be enjoyed and preserved for future generations."

New to Expo this year are: a water trail demonstrating issues surrounding this vital resource; Beyond Texas Borders, highlighting national and international wildlife management programs; and a new birding area for devotees and newcomers to this growing pastime combining previous Expo birding activities with new activities such as the Junior Audubon Birdathon.

Expanded activities this year include: a children's climbing tower that will be added to the two three-story climbing towers; an additional "Wet Zone" to nearly double the capacity for kayaking and canoeing; more mountain bikes and volunteers for the children's mountain bike trail rides; and expanded archery activities.

"We invite everyone to come to Wildlife Expo, especially those who haven't had much previous experience with the outdoors," said Mickey Burleson, TPW commissioner and chair of the 1998 Texas Wildlife Expo. "The activities and demonstrations at Expo are for everyone from beginners to the experienced. Every activity, from fishing to rock climbing and even camping, will have training and information for those who are interested but have not had the chance to learn how to get started."

In addition to the variety of hands-on activities, more than 200 exhibitors representing all facets of the outdoor recreation industry as well as conservation groups will have booths at this year's event.

Expo is a free, family-oriented event produced by Texas Parks and Wildlife in partnership with private industry and conservation groups. Last year, more than 40,000 visitors attended Expo.

Expo features interactive attractions, demonstrations, exhibits and workshops - many designed especially for children and young people - about hunting, fishing, wildlife management and conservation, birding, mountain biking, rock climbing, camping, state parks, Texas' cultural heritage, kayaking, canoeing and boating safety, habitat preservation, freshwater and marine life, game calling and more.

For more information about Texas Wildlife Expo, call 512-389-4472 or the TPW toll-free information line at 1-800-792-1112. Another source of Expo information is TPW's website at www.tpwd.state.tx.us. This site will be expanded and updated throughout the summer.

WEEKLY REPORT
 Congressman
Henry Bonilla
 23rd District, Texas

Late last year, the Environmental Protection Agency was all up in arms about the plight of the Devil's River Minnow. Federal bureaucrats all but yelled "Save the Minnows" as they worked feverishly to get the fish added to the Endangered Species list. Granted, the number of Devil's River Minnows was low according to numbers in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service obtained years ago. But more recent research shows that there are plenty of the fish in other West Texas and Mexican waterways. One reason for the lower number of the minnows actually in the Devil's River was that small mouth bass in that same river found the minnows to be quite a tasty meal.

So, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service was gearing up to add the Devil's River Minnow to the list of endangered species. We all know what would have happened next. The federal government would send its bureaucrats down to West Texas to save the minnows the only way they know how - by stepping on the rights of private property owners in Texas. Ranchers living along the Devil's River would have been restricted in how they could use their own land. Texans know best how to form a plan that protects wildlife along the Devil's River and throughout Texas. If Washington wants to help then it shouldn't barge in, ignoring the rights of Texas landowners. That point was made clear in a letter to Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt regarding the plight of the Devil's River Minnow. Texas ranchers worked diligently with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to come up with a conservation plan for the Devil's River Minnow. Their efforts proved successful.

Researchers recognized an increasing number of Devil's River Minnows in creeks adjacent to the Devil's River. Landowners near the Devil's River continue to work to increase the minnow population. Some of the minnows were taken from the creeks for captive breeding. The increasing number of Devil's River Minnows is good news on many fronts. It's good news for the Devil's River Minnows - a growing, healthy population. It's good news for the small mouth bass - more tasty treats. And best of all, it's good news for West Texans - they've shown the federal government they can handle the situation themselves, using common sense, not red tape. Americans don't need federal bureaucrats stomping on their property rights in botched attempts to accomplish what we can do ourselves. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service should take note of the success of West Texans. The federal government can learn a lot from these folks.

Rural landowners need increased trespass protections

By Rep. Bob Turner

Private property owners throughout the rural 73rd House District share a common problem with trespass enforcement. Not only have I heard many complaints about prosecuting trespassers, as a farmer/rancher I have experienced these problems firsthand. Trespassers pose a serious problem for rural and agricultural landowners. If it's not destroying crops, it's leaving trash or camping with dangerous fires. These people are on private land, and are unwelcome.

I have been approached by county officials and private property owners who are frustrated with the difficulty and expense of prosecuting trespassers. Since the offense of trespassing is a Class B Misdemeanor, the case must be tried in the county court and the defendant must be present. The county must often invest much time and money into such cases, sometimes bringing the accused trespassers, often a tourist or traveler, from a distant location and assigning him or her a court-appointed attorney. Because of the time and costs associated with these cases, many end up being dismissed.

Working together with county officials and private property owners, we have developed legislation I intend to file next session. The bill is simple and straightforward. It would make trespassing on "agricultural land" a Class C misdemeanor offense that is punishable by a fine up to $500. If necessary, this offense could then be tried in a justice of the peace court. The real result of this change would allow a county to fine a trespasser without requiring a trial, similar to receiving a traffic ticket. Rural law enforcement officials feel this would help them deter trespassers on agricultural lands and increase enforcement.

Common sense ideas like this will help rural landowners protect their property. I am looking forward to pushing this legislation in the coming legislative session that starts in January. If you have an issue that you think the Legislature should address, please don't hesitate to call my office. Working together we can tackle issues facing rural Texas.

Disaster loans available from SBA

Businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in some Texas counties can now apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration. These loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster. Drought which occurred May 1, 1997, through April 29, 1998, and continuing caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse economic effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for this loan program but may be eligible for disaster assistance through other Federal agencies. In addition, nurseries harmed by the drought can also apply.

Businesses in the following counties are eligible to apply: Brewster, Crockett, Pecos, Terrell and Val Verde. To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call the SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired. The deadline for filing an application is March 10, 1999.

Due to the weather, many producers experienced crop losses and were not able to purchase goods and services at normal levels. Businesses that are dependent upon these producers may have experienced decreased sales, reduced gross profit margins, increased accounts receivable or difficulty in moving inventories at normal levels. To the extent these problems have caused the business difficulty in meeting its normal obligations, these loans may be of assistance. The loan can help a business meet installments on long-term debt, accounts payable and overhead expenses that would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Refinancing of long-term debt, however, is not eligible under this program.

The loan is designed for those businesses with substantial disaster-related needs and is intended to supplement monies the business owner can provide from other sources.

Loans may be approved for up to $1,500,000 for actual disaster-related financial needs of the business. Interest rates are four percent (4%) and terms may extend to 30 years, depending upon the repayment ability of the individual applicant. To qualify, businesses must be small by SBA's size standard. Businesses which can meet their financial needs through other sources are not eligible.

Deadline near to certify acres with Farm Service Agency

Crockett County ranchers have until Sept. 15 to certify their pasture acres at the Farm Service Agency located at 201 11th Street. Producers are also reminded that if they have land in another county they must file in that county. To get everyone certified by the 15th, the Crockett County office will be open on Monday, Sept. 14, and Tuesday, Sept. 15. Producers need to bring the following: deeds, tax records or leases to show the number of acres you operate and head counts. Producers will also need to estimate the miles of caliche roads, the number of acres houses and pens take up and the number of acres oil or gas locations use.

If you have any questions about the Non-Insured Disaster Assistance Program, please call the office at 915-392-3702 or the Big Lake office at 915-884-3753.

Pesticide training class Sept. 16

Producers wishing to obtain a new TDA Private Pesticide Applicators license may do so by participating in a training and testing on Wednesday, Sept. 16, at the Crockett County Extension Office. This is a training for those who do not already have a license. There will be no continuing education units offered for those who need to renew their licenses.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m., with training scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Testing for the license will begin at 1 p.m. TDA will administer the test. The license fee is $50.00. For more information, contact CEA Miles Dabovich at 392-2721.

If you plan to attend, contact the Extension Office by Sept. 15.
