

SCOOP SAYS

By J. M. FORBES

At the family reunion held at Roaring Springs, I let fly with the following comment: Well, sir, I said, I see that the water still flows nicely out of the Plains water reservoir, making a nice noise and the scene is sort of pretty, what with those falls and all.

Uncle Alvin: Young feller, that's a mere trickle compared to the roaring stream that came forth when I first began to come to this spot 65 years ago. A stream rushed across the ground we now occupy that would have swum a horse, if the horse wasn't too big.

I got so busy figuring mentally when 65 years ago would be that I forgot to argue the water problem. My! Uncle Alvin was visiting Roaring Springs before 1890; he must be a contemporary with Lillian Russell and Diamond Jim Brady; might have met Geronimo, whose outlaw bands used to camp there. Indians used the spot long before Columbus. I wouldn't be surprised if Roaring Springs dates back to some million years ago and who knows who then enjoyed the falling waters and cool shade there. Cousins of the Piltown man, perhaps?

In 1888 or thereabouts, Uncle Alvin and my wife's mother removed their shoes if any and waded in the cool water that dwindles to a trickle a ways from the springs. Sunday, their grandchildren and great grandchildren came in their shorts, threw away their shoes, and waded in the cool water that dwindles to a trickle a ways from the springs.

Bill Broadhurst, final authority on High Plains underground water, used to tell how they weigh the water that flows out of the Plains underground reservoir at such places as Roaring Springs and Linguish Falls. They can tell you how much escapes that way to sink into the sands of the nearby rivers, naming the number of gallons, but...

Speaking of Water: Had you noticed that Lubbock's city commission has caused a well to be dug on the land under which they own the water rights, about 8 miles east of Muleshoe. This land lies in Bailey and Lamb Counties. Hear tell their 10 inch well will produce 2,000 gallons per minute.

A local driller suggests we go out and snap a picture of said well, to be printed in the paper, to prove to area people that Lubbock actually does mean business when they say they will extract a 48-inch pipe line full of water out of our water bearing sands, here in Bailey County.

I thought to let well enough alone would be well, for us. I don't want to leave Bailey County until I'm ready. This driller got some "Spec" sheets (specifications to you for a bid on the drilling of this well, and some test wells. He didn't fill them out, doesn't want to leave old Bailey County either.

Martin Oliver: Money is getting so scarce that some of the boys are going to have to start digging up those cans. I hear one or two of my friends already have dug up one, maybe two.

This is being written on July 4th, Independence Day. Only think to gripe about is that some of you guys who bought flags from the Rotary Club forgot to display them on the Fourth, a day of all days to show that flag. Don't you ever, as long as you live, neglect to show your country's flag on the Glorious Fourth, if you have a flag and of course if you don't have one the Rotary Club, for a modest expenditure on your part, will supply one. It's unethical, but we might venture to say call Senn Slemmons, Don Taylor, or my writer of this column.

If you don't like what we said here about the Springs, just go talk to Myron or Lee Pool, either of the Hicks brothers, W. T. Andrews, or call Marshall Formby, collect.

And now, with many kind expressions of regard for you and yours, and a hope that next July 4th will find you still free and independent. Scoop reluctantly closes this week's letter.

Paul Summergill Named Director Of School Bands

Summergill has been serving as county band director in New Mexico, teaching at Dora and Causey, and also at Texico. He plans to move here in a short time, and will begin his duties this fall, replacing Norvell Howell, who is now director of bands at Clovis High School. Adjourn Cotton Allotment Hearing In Amarillo Federal Court Tuesday

New Elevator To Be Built Here By Cooperative

Construction is expected to begin within 10 days on a $226,000 concrete grain elevator in Muleshoe, T. R. Smaizwood, president of the Farmers Cooperative Elevator board announced Thursday.

In a surprise move Tuesday, Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley adjourned his court in Amarillo, which was hearing the controversy on the action of area cotton allotment review committees, and declared he would take the case under advisement. The trial was to convene again until July 9, Judge Dooley announced. The trial was one of the Department of Agriculture against 12 West Texas cotton producers, to restrain them from acting as a review committee to make adjustments in county cotton allotments for complaining cotton farmers. The committees met twice and upped the allotments on both trial hearings.

Three witnesses for both sides in the case were heard. Witness for the government included Charlie Hill of the Lamb county ASC office, Ed Brown, Dawson county ASC office manager and H. H. Marshall, representing the USDA. Defense witnesses were Henry Schuster of Muleshoe, Arley Hartzog of Parmer county and W. T. Allbright of Andrews county. Defense witnesses testified that they acted in good faith when they held their review hearings, and thought they had carried out their duties to the best of their abilities as representing the secretary of agriculture.

The USDA attorney, John Lowther, assistant US district attorney, asked the court to issue a preliminary injunction to restrain the committees from holding any more review hearings. Austin Wilson of Houston and Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, attorneys for the defense asked the court to dismiss the case on the grounds that a hearing has been set between the government and the committees and therefore no court action was necessary.

Judge Dooley, after hearing the six witnesses, heard members of the review committee say they would hold no further meetings until the court had handed down a ruling. Lowther refused to withdraw his request for an injunction against the defendants and it was at this point Judge Dooley adjourned court and took the case under advisement.

Defendants in the civil action include Jim Bridges, Lamesa; Tom Hunt, Loop; Florence Wilde, St. Lawrence; W. E. Pig, Midland; G. T. Randolph, Dawson county; Henry Gilbert, Littlefield; T. R. Davis, Castro county; James Dobbs, Bailey county; Neal Smith, Lamb county; Henry Schuster, Muleshoe and Hartzog.

Schedule Given For Garbage Pick Up In City

The City of Muleshoe this week issued a schedule for garbage pickup days within the city. Garbage trucks will pick up garbage in the business district daily but will operate in the residential section twice weekly. In the area bounded by West Third street on the east and West 10th on the west, the Clovis highway on the north and Avenue G on the south, garbage will be picked up on Monday and Wednesday.

Garbage trucks will pick up garbage on Wednesday and Friday in the area north of the Santa Fe tracks, including Lenau Addition. Tuesday and Thursday will be pick up days for the rest of the area within the city limits. The city recently started charging an extra fee monthly for garbage pick up service in order to increase the efficiency as far as operating expenses are concerned.

Research Station To Be Explained At Meeting Set Here On July 10

A meeting of all persons interested in the Texas Research Foundation, which recently chose a site in Lazbuddie community for an agriculture experiment station, are asked to meet in the district courtroom here the evening of July 10.

Clyde Bray, Muleshoe realtor who has been in constant communication with the Foundation directors for several months, said the meeting on the 10th is to explain more fully the operation of the Texas Research Foundation and to begin organization of the finance drive to support the local experiment station.

The Foundation presently has a one million dollar plant at Renner, Texas, near Dallas, where experiments have been carried on for the past 12 years. Work of the Foundation is supported primarily by contributions from firms and individual businessmen. It is estimated that the proposed station in this area would cost about $25,000 annually to operate. One large utility firm in this area already has pledged funds to cover part of the operating cost for a five year period.

In The Good Ol' Summertime

Retail Merchants Association

"Good old summertime" is not only the best period for outdoor recreation like swimming, boating, fishing and golf, but the wise housewife has learned that it is also the best time to pick up shopping bargains.

The reason for this is that many merchants are now beginning to receive their fall stock, and need space for the many new items they are receiving. Therefore, they are offering at bargain prices, not only summer stock, but also winter goods and merchandise.

Now is the best time of the year to buy the things that have been long desired, but which have been put on "sometime in the future" list.

Almost every store has an easy-payment plan that enables a shopper to buy and use now and pay for the merchandise either next month or over a period of time by monthly payments.

The Retail Merchants Association offers the following suggested items and where they might be obtained for the shopper seeking bargains, urging also that the newspaper be watched for "sales" ads:

Department stores — The thrifty housewife does not wait until winter to buy her furs. Most stores have their fur sales during the hottest part of the year. This is also a good time to buy sheets and to check the winter wardrobe and restock on such items as needed.

Men's and Women's Wear Stores — Don't wait until you go on vacation to buy the things you will need to wear at resort down prices. Plan what you will need now and buy locally and the savings you will make may be enough to allow another day or two at your favorite vacation spot. Now, also, is a good time to buy winter clothes and accessories.

Furniture Stores — Have you been needing a new mattress or intending to replace your living room furnishings? Summer is a good time to do your shopping for these and many other items. If you don't find what you need advertised, then visit the furniture store of your choice.

Appliance shops, hardware stores, auto supply shops and service stations — Summer is the best period to buy an electric and power lawn mowers. It is a useful item, especially during the hot days of August, and most merchants prefer not to carry bulky items used in the summer through the winter months. During summer also sales prices are posted on many house appliances like toasters, deep fries and coffee makers.

Now is a good time to buy a deep freeze (found at most appliance, hardware, auto supply, furniture and department stores) and stock up on fresh fruits and vegetables, sometimes unavailable in the winter, that are now on the market at bargain prices

Muleshoe Cadet In Summer Camp At Fort Hood

Forty-five Texas Tech Army ROTC cadets are attending six weeks of comprehensive summer training at Fort Hood, Texas; Fort Gordon, Ga.; and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Officers and enlisted instructors from universities and colleges are directing operations.

Large-scale training programs such as these will give prospective officers the training they are unable to receive during college courses of military science and tactics. This supplemental course must be passed by the ROTC students to qualify for Second Lieutenant commissions in the U. S. Army Reserve or Regular Army and will prepare them for duty with the active Army forces.

The cadets entered the three training camps June 23 and will depart August 3. Among them is Bruce Simmacher, of Muleshoe.

ALL KINDS of paper at The Journal office. We have the office supplies you need.

at your favorite grocery store.

And it is not too early to start thinking about Christmas. Many shoppers do their Christmas gift buying in the summer to take advantage of summer prices and avoid the crowd. This is especially true for merchandise found in jewelry stores.

In sporting goods lines, there is not much demand for winter sports items like footballs, basketballs and other items, so summer is the time when the prices are at their lowest.

If you are planning a July or August vacation, it would be well to visit your neighborhood drug store and check the items you will need like bathing caps, sun lotions, and many personal items. And your local service station will give you the best check as to tires, battery, oil filters, etc.

Memorial Fund At Wayland Set Up By Kin of Bray Youths

Plainview, July 5 (Spl.) — Wayland College received $1100 this week for the A. C. Bray Memorial Loan Fund in memory of the two Bray grandsons, Otto and Bill Bray, who were killed recently near Dallas in an airplane crash.

Donors of the $1100 are Mrs. A. C. Bray and her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Blackburn, of Muleshoe, who with A. Bernice Bray, Dallas, established the A. C. Bray Memorial Loan Fund in 1955 in memory of the late A. C. Bray.

Wayland College was chosen as recipient of this fund because President A. Hope Owen of Wayland College was the Bray family's pastor in Shawnee, Okla., before coming to Plainview.

The A. C. Bray Memorial Loan Fund was established for educational loans to deserving students studying for the ministry and church educational positions.

Otto and Bill Bray were the sons of the late Otto Bray, Sr., who was killed some years ago in an explosion in Chickasha. In adding to the A. C. Bray Loan Fund the family desires to be of assistance to as many young people as possible.

Mr. Shepherd has just been named a member of the nominating committee by Convention President J. Ralph Grant of Lubbock. Other members include Lattimore Ewing, education director of the First Baptist Church, Lubbock; Neil Singleton, Amarillo businessman; the Rev. Nolan Kennedy, pastor of the San Jacinto Baptist Church of Amarillo, and the Rev. Mack Cole, pastor of the First Church, Snyder.

Savings Bonds Safer Than Cash

The slogan "Safer Than Cash" now applied to United States Savings Bonds doesn't begin to tell the full story, according to Jesse M. Osborn, chairman of the County Savings Bonds Committee.

"Not too many people know about the fine service the Treasury offers to bond holders," Mr. Osborn declared. "This service is one of the outstanding features that make the Savings Bond one of the best investments ever offered.

"A good many of us already know that we can get our lost, destroyed or stolen bonds replaced without cost. But this is just the beginning. The Bureau of the Public Debt, which is the branch of the Treasury that handles all bond records and redemptions, leaves no stone unturned to see that the original intent of the purchaser is carried out in the disposition of bonds."

Mr. Osborn called special attention to the provision allowing for bonds to be issued to co-owners. He cited the example of the man who died suddenly without an adequate will. He had several thousand dollars in Series E savings bonds, issued in his own name and that of his wife as co-owner. The estate seemed to be in for a long period of litigation. The widow, who needed funds badly, had been told that the savings bonds must become a part of the estate.

Upon advice of a friend, the widow wrote to the Treasury Department. She was quickly informed that the bonds were her property and could be cashed at her discretion. According to regulations, whenever a bond owner dies, the bond instantly becomes the sole property of the surviving co-owner.

"The Treasury has thousands of such cases in its files," Mr. Osborn said, "proving once again that savings bonds not only make a wonderful nest egg for future security, but are an excellent means of providing for loved ones after death."

WERE IN AMARILLO

House to Keep You Home

Space and lots of it—space for living and loafing, working and playing, indoors and out—makes this three-bedroom ranch house a home a family would hate to leave for almost any reason.

Architect Rudolph A. Matern, who designed the house for Town Journal, kept every member of the family in mind when he planned the seven-room house with its two baths, a lavatory, two-car garage, and full basement.

There's a recreation, or "family" room—unique in most ranch houses—plus a 32-foot expanse of living-dining room divided by a natural stone fireplace wall. Eighteen closets, plus two outside storage areas, add more space. There's an enclosed music center off the living room for built-in hi-fi equipment, a fenced-in play yard for the children, and a ground-level porch running nearly the full rear length of the house.

The master bedroom has a private terrace as well as its own section of porch. It also has a bath, built-in vanity, and four closets.

The kitchen, located at the front of the house, has a breakfast nook, plenty of counter space, built-in dishwasher, two hot plates, and a wall oven. Wide windows over the sink look out on a fenced-in area of lawn with a sunken pool.

Summer comfort for the occupant was a prime consideration of the architect. To achieve this, he planned a pitched roof and specified that the attic floor be thickly insulated with mineral wool. The function of the pitched roof is that it permits louvers to be installed in gable ends for ventilation of the attic space. The combination of thick insulation and the air wash lets relatively little overhead heat penetrate into the living quarters.

Walls are insulated with 3-inch-thick mineral wool batts. Thick insulation here and in the ceiling contributes to comfort regardless of the seasons of the year.

The pitched roof, which sweeps out over the rear porch, is covered with asphalt shingles. The architect recommends white asphalt shingles for maximum heat deflection and for smart, modern appearance.

On the street side, natural stone facing combined with vertical wood siding gives the house a welcoming, friendly appearance. This effect is enhanced by the gable over the bedrooms and roof break over the garage.

Additional information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-05 61st St., Jamaica, 32 L. I. N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 9521.

FARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EJLER

Now is the time for farmers to file for refund of the two cent Federal Road Use Tax on all farm used gasoline purchased between January first and July first. A year from now, when you file again, you will be filing for three cents per gallon. Farm Bureau thought the one cent increase would soon go into effect, when it was working on the law allowing farm exemptions. Forms, which are very simple, for filing on this tax refund are available in the Farm Bureau office and at most banks and the county agent's office.

Since passage of the above mentioned law, oil companies have raised; the tank wagon wagon (farm delivered) gasoline price 1/2 cent per gallon, which means that this much of the benefit farmers were finally able to get goes to the oil companies instead of the farmers, who fought for the exemption. Walter Hammond has wired Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel, asking an investigation for this new act of discrimination against farmers. They have both replied favorably. Whether the desired action can be obtained is not known, since the oil companies can claim the one half cent is a delivery charge, although they have not previously made such a charge. But unless the local consignee gets the money, they will not be able to use that excuse, which we think would be very thin, anyway.

Farm Bureau is also taking action, as directed in county and state resolutions, against proposals for federal aid to public schools. Unless kids are getting dumber, which we don't think they are, even the Glimmer-Aikin deal has been a detriment to the real education of our children. Federal aid would multiply this deficiency no telling how many times. Most people know by now that federal aid means federal control, whether it is admitted by proponents of federal aid laws or not. It's as simple as this: If you pay a man's wages, you are going to tell him what to do, as a condition of your continuing his pay. Federal moguls are certainly no less demanding than the average individual.

In considering the good and bad points of the Soil Bank Farm Program, we should remember this: The fact that few farmers of this area are putting land in the bank does not mean that it is of no use. In less productive areas, it appears that many farmers are going to participate. The end result is reduced production on a nation wide scale. This means that our county can actually profit more from the plan than if there were many participants. A year from now we will know more about the possibilities of the program. Let's hope it works.

Consider This: When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee. —Proverbs 23:1.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The board of supervisors met in regular session June 18 in the Bailey County Farm Bureau office. E. H. Eubanks, chairman, Three Way presided. Other board members present were Virgil Nowell, West Camp, vice-chairman; E. N. McCall, Enochs, secretary and treasurer; Ray Carter, Baileyboro, and Sherman Inman, Progress, members.

The board considered the following district business:

1. Purchase of the district's two new land levelers.
2. The board voted to pay one half the cost to erect a sign on the east side of the district. On one side the sign will read, "Entering Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District", and "Entering Lamb County SCD".

3. L. Duane Bartee, Soil Conservation Service representative presented to the board a review of the several awards and programs carried on throughout the state on soil and water conservation. The board agreed it would be most beneficial to actively participate in as many of the contests and programs as possible.

4. E. N. McCall was selected by the board to be the district's outstanding conservation farmer for 1956. Mr. McCall will be presented the annual plaque of the Lons Club for the outstanding Soil Conservation farmer at a luncheon in August. At the time of presentation, all board members will be present at the Lions meeting.

Mr. McCall was reluctant to accept this honor, feeling that a board member should not be selected; but the nominating committee of L. Duane Bartee, SCS representative; J. K. Adams, county agent; and Charles Thomas, Muleshoe Voc. Ag. teacher, unanimously selected him for the award.

The complete conservation story on "Shorty" will appear in The Journal at a later date.

NEW COOPERATORS

The following new cooperators were approved by the board:

Eddie E. Gilham, Rt. 1, Littlefield.

Gene Hamilton, Lubbock.

John E. Autry, Enochs.

R. A. Vestal, Rt. 1, Sudan.

After adjournment, a lively and informative session was held at a local cafe.

What Others Are Doing

Cowpeas in sorghum have caught on and to date cooperators have planted more than 3500 acres.

Grass seedings on many cooperators farms are showing up good. We will have more information now on the adaptability of the various locally planted grasses. On the whole, grass rotation appears to be well adapted to our local cropping system.

Cooperators' ranges are making good recoveries. Surveys made recently show many ranges in good condition. This can be attributed partially to deferment and proper use, together with prevailing weather conditions. Weather and good range management both affect the amount of forage produced from year to year.

"We have known Soil Conservation Districts at first hand and have seen not only how they have begun to transform the land and the methods of farming from an exploitation to a permanent agriculture, but how they give rural people a new way to work together and with others for their own good and for the benefit of the community."

—P. A. Waring and Clinton S. Golden

HERE'S PROOF

dieldrin treatment kills thrips and fleahoppers... pays off in higher cotton yields

Photograph shows results of test performed at Texas A. & M. (1954). In this test, the dieldrin-treated plants produced almost three times (2.84 times) as many bolls in a three-week period after treatment as did the untreated plants injured by thrips and fleahoppers. Photo courtesy of Texas A. & M.

Results of this test prove without a doubt that treatment with dieldrin really pays. Dieldrin controls thrips, fleahoppers and other sucking insects. Cotton gets a good early start... you get better quality cotton and earlier harvest... less chance of heavy loss due to early frost.

Dieldrin provides long-lasting protection. Days after application dieldrin still has lethal effect. Two to three applications at the recommended dosage—1/10 lb. of actual dieldrin per acre—does the job. Dieldrin dusts are smooth-textured, free-flowing. In a spray, dieldrin forms top creaming emulsions... eliminates nozzle clogging.

Profit from this conclusive test. Use dieldrin early this year. Your insecticide dealer has dieldrin formulations and information on latest methods of application best suited for your use. Don't delay—get dieldrin now!

THE FARMER'S BEST MARKET — LAND

During recent years agriculture has been a notoriously bad business to get into. Crop prices have dropped steadily and net farm income is now the lowest in our national economy.

Yet, in spite of this farm depression, the farmer's chief investment — the farm itself — has risen in cost to about the same extent that prices for commodities have dropped.

There are several reasons for the rapid rise in land prices. The most important has been the need of farmers for additional land to offset lower acreage allotments. Other farmers need more land to take full advantage of increased mechanical equipment and keep income up, despite falling prices, with added production.

Then, too, business and professional men with plenty of money to spend have been investing in land. Some want a farm as a place to retire, and others buy small farms for homes and hobbies — and tax write-offs. Farm land prices in suburban areas have gone up most.

But despite this strong demand and prices up nearly 30% since 1950, farm sales have continued at a very low level. Those who have held onto their land, either because of stubbornness and determination to stay put or else for higher stakes. However, for those who are buying land or for those who are holding out for all-time high prices on that land they have for sale, a word of caution is advised.

Of course, it is sometimes hard to evaluate good land in terms of cash, considering what natural and human resources have gone into "making" a farm. But, practical matters considered, most current land prices are above levels that can be justified by present or prospective earnings.

Farm operating costs are almost certain to go higher. Labor wages are on the upward trend, and so are transportation, machinery and other supplies. The cost-price squeeze shows little or no signs of easing. Refinancing credit is less plentiful, and interest rates are higher.

Also, there is no land shortage in sight, probably not for two generations, and even then per-acre farm output will have increased to such a level as to be more than plentiful for our population.

In short, unless there is a more rapid rise in farm commodity prices than now appears likely, it will take longer to pay out a farm on the present market than at any time in 40 years if the farmer relies solely on the sale of farm products. And that's about all they grow.

Bailey County Farm Bureau News

BY LONNIE M. BASS

Farmers may now file for a refund covering 2c per gallon Federal excise tax on gasoline if used for farm purposes.

To get a refund, a farmer must file a claim with the District Director of Internal Revenue covering the gasoline used during the first six months of the year. After 1956 refunds will be made for a one-year period from July 1 to June 30.

Refunds will be made only on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes. They will not include gasoline used in cars or trucks used on the highways even though on farm business. The recently enacted law also applies to diesel and other motor fuels.

Claims must be filed on Form 2240 which are available at your Bailey County Farm Bureau Office, or county agents, banks, post offices and Internal Revenue Offices.

You are urged to keep your records in good shape in order to file for this refund, and it could mean extra money in your pocket.

States Right Bill Strongly Backed By Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau position was presented to the Senate Judiciary Committee in a letter which said the organization "has long supported the principal that the maintenance of state sovereignty, independence, authority, and responsibility is a key factor in the preservation of basic freedom."

The committee was asked to incorporate the AFBF letter in its hearing record on the states rights bill. Farm Bureau did not appear at the hearing, which was limited to two proponents and two opponents of the measure.

In these days when the international situation and other factors compel expanded federal action in many fields, we believe it particularly important to share up state authority with respect to all those matters which may appropriately be left to state authority. WE BELIEVE THIS IS IN ACCORD WITH PUBLIC OPINION.

Wheat Vote July 20 Will Decide Vital Grower Questions

How wheat farmers vote in the July 20 referendum on wheat marketing quotas will actually affect only two parts of the 1957 wheat program, according to R. G. Shrauner, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Whether or not quotas are approved, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the crop, the chairman declared.

The two points at issue in the vote are whether marketing quotas shall be in effect, with penalties on "excess" wheat from farms (with more than 15 acres of wheat harvested as grain) not in compliance with the acreage allotment; and the level of price support available to those who comply with their farm acreage allotments.

If quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of those who vote in the referendum, the quotas and penalties for excess production will be in effect, and price support on the crop will be available at a level between 75 and 90 percent of parity to those who comply with the farm wheat allotments.

If more than one-third of the voters disapprove the quotas, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for excess production, and the available price support will drop to 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

Whether or not quotas are in effect, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the 1957 wheat crop.

Chairman Shrauner explained that wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments operate only in commercial wheat States, including Texas. Since the quotas affect only those growers in the commercial area who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain on a farm in 1957, these growers are the only ones eligible to vote in the

Some High Wheat Yields Reported As 1956 Harvest Comes To An End

Echos from the 1956 wheat harvest just completed reveal that some phenomenal yields have been obtained, and the average over the area was better than expected.

From Hereford and Dimmitt reports have come to The Journal of better than 70 bushel per acre turnouts. R. G. Peeler, well known farmer of Hereford, told The Journal that on measured ground he had a yield of above 70 bushels per acre.

The Castro County News, Dimmitt, reported one man had a yield of 78 bushels per acre. He is H. D. Robbins, of Frio community. It was said to be an all-time high for Castro county. Robbins reported on a measured field of 18 acres.

Two other farmers of that community reported above 70 bushel per acre yields: Floyd Cole, 73.5 bushels on 55 acres; Jay Boston, 6 acres that yielded 73.5 bushels to the acre.

Here in the Muleshoe country many yields above 40 bushels per acre have been reported. Carl Bamert had 42 bushels per acre; Ben Porter 41. Two other local

July 20 Deadline For Soil Banks Signing In Area

The County ASC office now has copies of the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve agreements available for signature by farmers wishing to participate in the program, according to R. G. Shrauner, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. A short visit to the county office will provide interested farmers with full information on terms and conditions of participation in the Acreage Reserve, which is the first part of the program to get underway this year.

Such a farmer may earn other payments either by underplanting, by crop loss through weather conditions or other natural causes, or by plowing or cutting a portion of the crop to reduce the acreage below the allotment. Certain conditions for eligibility are attached to all the methods of qualifying for the Acreage Reserve. Payments per bushel vary with counties but will be based on county rate times the normal or the appraised yield, according to the method of qualifying.

Payments for underplanting winter wheat, seeded last fall for harvest in 1956, may be made only if the farmer underplanted

High Yield 47 2/3 Bushel

Highest yield right around Muleshoe on large fields reported to The Journal was that of Jesse Osborn and A. E. Redwine, on the Osborn farm northwest of town. On 85 acres, they harvested 47 2/3 bushels to the acre.

Cash price for wheat during the recent harvest has been $1.85 per bushel, support being about $1.87.

One farmer told the Dimmitt paper it takes about 20 bushels to "break even" on irrigated and fertilized wheat. Apparently quite a few Plains farmers have realized a nice per acre money return from wheat this year.

Texas farmers who use this new two-row mounted corn harvester will have more corn in the crib this year. The harvester, now available at the local Ford tractor and implement dealership, uses a new snapping roll principle to snap the ears to the side, dropping them directly onto the corn elevator to reduce field losses by as much as 50 per cent.
