CLINIC REPORT

WHEN SHOULD I CONSULT THE CHIROPRACTOR?

This question was asked the other day and I ad libbed, "when other methods have failed", but this is only partly correct. Actually, most people think of Chiropractic when they have stiff necks or a sore back because they know Chiropractors work on the spine. Yet this too is only partly correct.

There is a human tendency to think the cause is where we hurt, one of our greatest errors. We fail to realize that sick organs are usually affected by a faulty nerve supply or by other sick organs.

To illustrate, all our organs are connected with the brain by nerve lines through which the organs are regulated by the brain. These nerve lines pass through the spine enroute between brain and organ. When one or more spinal bones (vertebrae) become displaced, pinching these nerve lines the organs at the end of the pinched nerve lines starts giving trouble. Here are cases wherein the pain is at the malfunctioning organ, but the cause is in the spine. There may or may not be pain in the spine.

All this time, patients never suspect their spines since pain is elsewhere. They may remain sick, become a slave to pills, potions or diet. These patients instead have their spines checked for pinched nerves so that the real cause of their trouble can be corrected.

So, when should you consult a Chiropractor? It is best not to wait until all other methods have failed (damage is usually great in these cases) or until you get a stiff neck or sore back. Instead a Chiropractic Analysis should be included every time you are sick, regardless of the name given your condition.

Case History

RUPTURED DISCS

Case History: A man, age 44, was referred to our clinic with conditions medically diagnosed as ruptured disc and arthritis. He suffered excruciating pain in lower back and down right leg, whether sitting or standing. Entrance complaints also included nervousness, back and shoulder pains, nervous indigestion, black out spells. This man had not been able to work for some time.

After a spinal analysis to locate and had not returned, and all other symptoms were greatly reduced or gone. When your personal opinion is based on fair investigation and not upon conditioned emotions, you become a satisfied patient. It will pay you to investigate now.

DAILY HEADACHES VANISH WHEN CAUSE CORRECTED

Case History: "I get headaches every time I lie down or get hungry", said this 28 year old housewife and mother of one child. She complained of weak spells that came suddenly, and indigestion, heartburn, stomach pains, and low blood pressure.

She came to our clinic for an examination to locate the cause of her trouble. Our spinal X-rays and spinal analysis located nerve interferences in her central nervous system.

At our first comparative check up, she stated the headaches had vanished at the very beginning and had not returned, and all other symptoms were greatly reduced or gone.

When your personal opinion is based on fair investigation and not upon conditioned emotions, you become a satisfied patient. It will pay you to investigate now.

SMALL ACREAGE CAN PAY HIGH IN PROPORTION TO INVESTMENT

For a long time now, farmers and bankers have been aware that the law of diminishing returns, and rising income taxes have brought pressure to bear on the farmer where it hurts the most, in his pocketbook.

No longer is it true that the farmer with the most acreage is the farmer with the most money.

High income taxes on large gross earnings take a mighty big share of what a farmer has on hand before he visits his banker. Depreciation of machinery and the necessity of purchasing new heavy machinery, take another healthy slice of whatever is left. And operating expenses, like the cost of steel, do not appear to lessen as the years go by.

Huge investments in high priced land require high production, and in order to maintain high production, a fine degree of mechanization is necessary. Machinery is expensive and cannot be expected to last long if it is used vigorously.

And so the picture darkens for the big farmer. He grosses a lot of money, but by the time Uncle Sam, the banker, and the tenant get through with him the percentage of his net in relation to his capital investment seems depressingly small.

It need not be so, according to several agricultural observers who are well informed.

A farmer with a small acreage, which he farms efficiently may make more money in proportion to his investment than a larger acreage operator.

A case in point is the 40 acre farm of Tom Morgan located five miles northwest of Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan do all the own work except for hiring some chapping done, and realize more than a comfortable living from their efforts.

Tom bought the place in 1949, and paid it out in 1951. He has an eight inch well with a 30

HP electric motor for irrigation, and seldom does he use more than his minimum amount of electricity.

With 15 acres of cotton allotment planted in Georgia Empire, Tom has 16 acres of new combine hegar and four acres of new hybrid grain sorghums in an experiment cooperating with the County Agent, Mrs. Morgan has a vegetable and flower garden, and 16 cherry trees.

Due to family commitments, Mrs. Morgan has been unable to can or freeze very much this summer, but even if she had, there would be a problem of storage space, with all the vegetables and fruit canned in previous summers.

The cherry trees yielded more than 100 gallons of pie cherries this summer, some of which were frozen, and the rest sold.

Tom's cotton is heavily fruited and outsiders estimate he will make from 1 1/2 to possibly two bales per acre, barring hail or other misfortune.

He ginned 19 bales last year, and the year before that he realized $5700 from his cotton crop.

Morgan owns and operates a small Ford tractor with implements, and does all his own field work, with the exception of occasional listing done for him by a neighbor.

He planted his cotton May 3 and his feed on May 12. The land was pre-irrigated, but no fertilizer has been applied on any of the 40 acres.

By rotating his row crops with alfalfa, Tom feels he has kept up the fertility of his land without the use of commercial fertilizers.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have their granddaughters, Donna, and Kay Baker living with them, and it is obvious that all enjoy the arrangement. Donna is 10 and Kay is nine.

Morgan feels that because he has no large investment in his crops, even if he had a crop failure, he would still be able to make a living from his farm. He has no large depreciation schedule on his meagre machinery; his labor cost is practically nil, and his overall investment is peanuts compared to the really big farmers.

And yet, based on what he has in it, a good crop year would yield Tom Morgan a whale of a lot more money than if he were involved in large scale, high mechanized farming of several sections of land.

There may be a moral in this story for others.

4-H Management Camp Announced Near Junction

Something different in summer camping is offered to the boys who are to attend the annual Range Management Camp at the Texas A & M College Adjunct near Junction.

The purposes of the camp are to recognize the work of outstanding 4-H and FFA members in range management; to further develop their leadership abilities and give them advanced training in practical range and ranch management. The camp is sponsored by the Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management.

A. H. Walker and G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialists, are in charge of the camp which will be held this year from Aug. 13-18. They say the 30 boys who have been selected by local persons back in the counties to attend the camp are the most outstanding in the state in some phase of range management demonstration work.

Generally only one 4-H boy from a county or FFA chapter may attend. Most of the boys attend the camp on a scholarship provided by local banks, chambers of commerce, soil conservation purposes and to meet emergency needs.

County Farmers Home Administration Committeemen must approve each loan applicant's eligibility and certify the value of farms to be purchased or improved. It also makes recommendations on loan approvals and servicing actions.

ervation districts or interested individuals. The boys this year will come as far north as Amarillo, south to Hebronville, Houston on the southeast, Decatur on the northeast and Sterling City on the west.

During the week in camp they will study the relationship of plants, animals and wildlife to the soil and will make field trips to nearby ranches, to the Kerr Wildlife Refuge area and Sonora Experiment Station.

All will not be work and study for plenty of time in the daily schedule has been set aside for swimming, boating, fishing, baseball, movies and other activities. Personnel from the sponsoring group and from the state 4-H and FFA offices will supervise all activities.

Walker and Hoffman offer this suggestion to boys who may be interested in attending the camp. They say now is the time to ask the local county agent or vocational agriculture teacher how a scholarship may be obtained for the 1957 camp.

FARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND ELLER

Farm Bureau activities will be speeded up from now until the end of the year. With the queen contest next Thursday night will begin the series of public meetings from which your directors and committees obtain your ideas for local, state and national farm improvement legislation and other action. In the near future, the resolutions committee will meet to assimilate suggestions already picked up from farmers through the year. These will be formulated into suggested resolutions which every qualified voter in your county Farm Bureau will be urged to discuss, pro and con at an open forum meeting. Suggested resolutions will be made, and then late in October, members will vote on the final draft of such resolutions. There will also be an opportunity for the person who prefers, to make his resolution on the floor, for consideration of the membership. This process is what makes Farm Bureau the true voice of agriculture. We would like to urge you now, to watch the agricultural section of county newspapers for announcements of such meetings that may affect future years of your farming operations.

A banquet meeting in the Bovina Cafe last Tuesday night, attended by directors, committee members and their wives, was one at which ways and means of getting all farmers to say what they think was discussed. Millard Shivers, State Organization Director, was the speaker.

Since you have been consistently asked to attend any or all directors meetings, which are held regularly on the first Monday night of each month, in the Friona Office, we are sure your directors will not be accused of pushing their ideas with your backing as a member, unless they believe you approve.

It seems that our local officials are always in demand for other jobs of service to the citizens. We congratulate our president, Gilbert Kaltwasser, upon his appointment and approval as a member of the FFA Committee. We can assure you that he will be an active and conscientious worker at that, too.

We were pleased to have a visitor last week, Charles Reeve, with whom we started and finished school in Friona. Mrs. Pauline Lovens, office secretary of Deaf Smith County also visited our office one afternoon the past week to compare filing methods with Mrs. Rickerd.

CONSIDER THIS: They that forsake the law praise the wicked; but they that keep the law contend with them. Prov. 28:4.

The Extension Service has set up a bindweed demonstration for Monday, August 13, 1956 at 2:30 p.m. The demonstration will be held 5 miles west of Muleshoe on the Clovis highway at the M. L. Shipp farm. Doherty Weed Killer from Plainview will apply Carmax W to the test lot. All farmers and other interested parties are urged to attend this demonstration as bindweed is one of the most serious problems facing Bailey County farmers today.

Meetings have been held in 4 counties besides Bailey County in connection with establishment of a sub-station of the Texas Research Foundation. Very good response has been shown in the other counties. Each county has workers out to accept pledges to support the Field Station. If you are called upon to make a pledge please give all you can, because the future of agriculture on the High Plains will depend upon what action we take now, in the development and savings of our soil.

THE FREEDOM PLEDGE

(Theme of the 1956 Farm Bureau Citizenship Program)

I am an American. A free American.

Free to speak—without fear
Free to worship God in my own way
Free to stand for what I think right
Free to oppose what I believe wrong
Free to choose those who govern my country.

Bailey Farmers Borrow $565,414 From FHA in 1956

Farmers and ranchers in Texas obtained loans totaling $51,416,000 through the Farmers Home Administration during the year ending June 30, Walter T.

McKay, the agency's State Director at Dallas announced this week. A total of 18,348 families were served by the agency during this period.

There were 141 farm families in Bailey County who obtained loans totaling $565,414. Cecil P. Henson, FHA County Supervisor at Muleshoe reports.

Credit was advanced to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, equipment, livestock and other farm operating items needed to place farms on an efficient operating basis and to buy improve family-type farms. Funds were advanced also for soil and water conservation purposes and to meet emergency needs.

County Farmers Home Administration Committeemen must approve each loan applicant's eligibility and certify the value of farms to be purchased or improved. It also makes recommendations on loan approvals and servicing actions.

Sand Hills Philosopher . . . Finally Finds The Type Of Work He's Cut Out For

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm will get nowhere with his idea this week, but it's doubtful if he wants to get anywhere.

Dear editor:
I was sitting out here on my farm yesterday afternoon watching the skies and wondering if it was going to rain when a puff of dry wind landed a newspaper right at my feet and since I'd noticed a red ant crawling on my shoe and needed to bend over to knock it off anyway I went ahead and bent over and while I was I picked up the paper and leaned back against the tree trunk and the first thing my eyes encountered was an article on rain-making.
I know a lot has been written about rain-making, some cities have hired rain-makers and while it's hard to say whether they stirred up any rain, there's no doubt about it they stirred up a lot of letters to the papers.
But this article was by a man who wasn't proposing we hire a rain-maker for a few isolated spots, but for huge sections of the country. As he viewed it, an attempt should be made to make more rain fall over wide areas of the United States where it's dry.

Now this sounds like a good proposal to me and won't cost nearly as much as foreign aid with very little difference in the results. In fact, all it lacks really is one thing; a man who has discovered the trick of making it rain for sure. I know in every dry spot in the country candidates invariably include in their platform a mention of the need to do something about the drought situation, but it's sort of like being opposed to higher taxes, all candidates are but taxes in any direction but up during my lifetime.
But what I started out to say was if they can't find this man, I'll substitute. I'll admit I can't make it rain, any more than Dulles can make Egypt behave, but I'm perfectly willing to take credit for any rain that falls, if there's pay in it for me. And if I go into this type of work, I'd want to go in on a big scale. No small, isolated spots for me, I'd like to undertake to make it rain somewhere in the United States at least once a week, every week in the year. Any week it didn't rain somewhere, my services wouldn't cost the government a cent. I'm all set up for this type of work and will appreciate your help in landing this job for me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Today's Meditation

READ MATTHEW 10:38-42
Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take his cross and follow me. (Matthew 16:24)

One of the most beautiful words in any language is sacrifice. We associate it with the rich, sweet, and beautiful self-giving experiences of life.
I recall such an experience during the depression days. My mother, a devoted Christian, had a very limited income. It was her wish to subscribe for a splendid religious periodical for my brothers and me. Out of her limited income she expected to pay for those subscriptions. When I discovered it, I chided her and refused to allow her to pay for them. I shall never forget the pained expression on her face. Tears flowed down her cheeks as she said, "But I want to; it gives me great joy."
The true Christian does not look upon such sacrifice as self-opportunity, a joy. This is the kind of sacrifice that God blesses. It enables His church to grow and to prosper. For those who would be true followers of Christ, the thread of sacrifice must run through all of life.

PRAYER
O God, forgive us wherein we have thought more of ourselves than of Thee and of others. Forgive us for accepting the lesser values. Grant us strength of mind and soul to find meaning in every sacrifice we make as Christians. In Christ's name we pray Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
God will help me to do more than is required.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How Christ Jesus healed sickness and discord of every kind will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.
The Master's reply to the messengers of John the Baptist will be included in the Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul" (Luke 7:22): "Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached."
Among the correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (210:11-16): "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation."

Babson Discusses BUSINESS PILLS

Babson Park, Mass., August 9. I have continually stressed in this column that the continuation of present prosperity depends upon the confidence of present prosperity depends upon the confidence of consumers, or customers of your local stores. So long as retail sales remain high, all is well, and business will continue employed; but when you begin to restrict buying, then retailers buy less from manufacturers. The manufacturers then begin to lay off their workmen and retail sales are further reduced, — the "vicious circle". Hence, the business cycle — so called — turns downward until we have a depression.

GOOD WAGES AND ADVERTISING
Retail sales and employment have been kept up by extensive local and national advertising. The latter has been greatly aided by photography, color printing, radio, and now TV. Unless something unexpected happens to shake conditions, retail sales will be further stimulated by air conditioning and self-service. Some day a little oxygen will be fed into air-conditioning systems, which will be a great blessing to all.

I, however, wish to refer this week to "pills" which are being used so unnecessarily by wage-workers, many of whom leave home without a real breakfast. The "coffee break" is the most apparent development in this line. The milk and sugar are real food; but the coffee is only a temporary stimulant lasting at most one half hour. Those working on continuous-line production — often use dexedrine pills. These tend to keep one awake and supply "pep". They don't work with all people who really need better meals and more sleep.

ASTOUNDING STATISTICS
But consider the following statistics on pills which are being used today — not by sick people — but those who are employed in factories, retail stores and offices. The following figures have been supplied by Dr. Henry Van Zile Hyde of the U. S. Public Health Service at Washington. He says: Each year we dose ourselves with about 400 tons of barbiturates (a nerve drug), 34 tons of amphetamine a "pep-up" drug, and 7,000 tons of aspirin made into 19 billion five-grain tablets; In addition, there are billions of laxative pills sold.

Much of this tonnage is consumed by tired mothers preparatory to shopping at a supermarket or some other retail store. The final step may be to give pills, free, to customers as they enter the store! Such pills would keep them longer on their aching feet and give them courage to buy more goods. All of these stimulants are in addition to the highballs and doses of whiskey or

WHAT ALL THIS MEANS
The taking of such pills — like buying on installment — may not be harmful if properly controlled. It, however, is dangerous for wage-workers, consumers, or retailers to depend too much upon such artificial stimulants. Not only does their use serve only temporarily, but it is a dangerous and unnatural way to get free from pain, fatigue, and other troubles. Those depending upon such should go to a physician for a "check-up", and learn how to eliminate the cause of their troubles.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD FOOD
Surely the prosperity of the nation as well as our own well-being could be benefited by the regular eating of more good foods. Coffee will not take the place of oatmeal; ice cream sodas will not serve for healthy lunches; while hurried dinners or suppers may keep you alive, but not prosperous. We cannot get on with scant and hurried meals any more than a furnace can provide power without sufficient coal or oil.

Although girls' beautiful complexions are out of my field, yet I am told "on authority" that money spent on cosmetics would give far more rosy cheeks if spent on more good food, fresh air, pure-drinking water — with more sleep. Let me further remind readers of the old question: "How does the word 'diet' read when we leave the 't' off?"

A WORD TO INVESTORS
Although I am an optimist on oils, chemicals, and certain other groups of stocks, yet I have continually kept in mind that some "unexpected event" may at any time happen. I wrote a column on this subject a few weeks ago. The recent sudden taking over of the Suez Canal by the new Egyptian Government is an illustration of what I had in mind. Even in these good days this sudden event caused several billion dollars to be knocked off the value of oil stocks and other internationally owned securities within a few hours.

We are now living in a small world. Whatever our religion, color, or nationality, we are brothers together economically. Every investor in the world has lost money by his act of the Egyptian Government. These investors are asking themselves: If this can be done to one of the oldest and most conservative investments, Suez Canal stock, why could it not be done to many other "blue chips"? However, all "unexpected events" are not bearish. Some are very bullish, such as the recent sudden adjournment of Congress until next January.

Contrary to the wit who once remarked that we are not getting all of the government we are paying for," we actually have been getting considerably more than we have been paying for. In the past 25 years, Washington has spent almost $300 billion more than it has collected in taxes. That's the public debt.

THIS WEEK — In Washington

Clinton Davidson
The 84th Congress has gone, leaving behind it more than 4,000 new Federal laws, including the appropriation of more than $65 billion for running the Federal Government another 12 months. It might take you as long as six months, working 8 hours a day, just to read all of those laws. And if you stacked the $65 billion into one pile of $10 bills it would take you nearly 400 years just to count the 6 1/2 billion of them.
