Summer Rain

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Summer has started with rain, instead of heat.

Tuesday morning, Ozona received an inch of rain. Some parts of the county received up to two inches. Flooding was also reported around the county.

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department responded to a tank battery fire north of town Tuesday on U.S. Highway 190. The fire was quickly extinguished. Cause of the fire was lightning.

From June 19-21, Crockett County received steady rainfall as the spring season ended and the summer began.

The Ozona Airport had a three-day total of 2.98 inches and The Ozona Stockman office had 4 inches.

The southern part of Crockett County received the most rain, with some areas hitting five inches or more.

The rain bring Crockett County's year-to-date total to around 10 inches, which is near normal rainfall, according to the National Weather Service in San Angelo.

The biggest rainfall occurred around Langtry where 11.75 inches of rain fell causing the Pecos River to flood at Eagle Nest Canyon. Average yearly rainfall in that area is just over 14 inches.

The river crested at 25 feet around 11 a.m. on June 20.

This desert canyon is the site of several important archaeological sites dating from 4,000 to 10,000 years old.

STAAR test results bring school changes

BY MELISSA PERNER
AND SUSAN WILLIAMS
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

STAAR test results are promoting changes in Ozona Schools.

During the June 18 regular CCCSD School Board meeting, principals in all three campuses presented reports featuring results from the spring's STAAR tests.

At Ozona Elementary, third grade reading was 46 percent, fourth grade 61 and fifth grade 67.

Third grade math was 21 percent, fourth 41 and fifth 70.

This year's fourth grade students went down two percent in reading from last year's scores as third-graders, but up 13 percent in math.

This year's fifth grade went up 13 percent in reading and 43 percent in math.

Fourth grade writing was 77 percent, and fifth grade science was 37 percent.

Principal Janina Savala said the campus is addressing the areas of weakness and have made staff changes.

She also said instead of students changing classes in first through fifth grades, all classes will be self-contained classrooms next year.

Harlin Rhoades has been entertaining audiences with magic, comedy, balloon animals, storytelling, etc., for 20 plus years.

Harlin will be performing his magic at the Crockett County Public Library at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. Thursday, June 26, for the Summer Reading Programs and then at the Civic Center for everyone at 7 p.m. The show is free to the public and everyone is invited to come.

It all got started for Harlin when his wife, Irma, enrolled him into a magic class at the local junior college as a Valentine's Day gift. That's when

Commissioners questioning TxDOT agreement

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Commissioners still have questions about approving an agreement with the Texas Department of Transportation.

During a special called Monday night meeting, the commissioners once again had questions about a Municipal Maintenance Agreement from TxDOT.

The agreement is one the commissioners have spent a year researching and discussing, and have almost voted on in two previous meetings. The county attorney has also reviewed the agreement.

The biggest reason the agreement has not been voted on is because it pertains to municipalities, or cities, which Ozona is not. Ozona is an unincorporated town within Crockett County.

According to the TxDOT website, it is necessary to enter into an agreement with each incorporated city for authority to construct, reconstruct, maintain, control, supervise, and regulate the designated highways within the city's limits and to establish the responsibilities of the department and the city.

The TxDOT website also stated that a Municipal Maintenance Agreement should be executed with every incorporated city within the state that is crossed by a state highway.

"The agreement has been revised multiple times to change the wording in order for it to pertain to a county. I bet you can't show another county that has one of these. We've been a county for a long, long time and we've never had an agreement with TxDOT," said County Judge Fred Deaton.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Animal control officer does outstanding job

Dear Editor,

I would just like to commend and thank our local animal control officer, Joe Jurado, for the outstanding job that he does.

Not only does he routinely patrol the town and outlying areas looking for animals that are out and running loose, but he is diligent in being on the lookout for animals that are being abused in obvious ways, such as no shelter in bad weather. He also goes above and beyond in trying to find homes for the animals that he has to impound, and no one claims.

I personally had to call upon him recently because our little dog Terra had dug out of our yard early one morning, and failed to return home. It was in the late evening when I called and spoke with dispatcher Blake Morrow, in an attempt to find out if maybe Terra had gotten herself in trouble and been arrested. Without hesitation he gave me Joe's cell number, and encouraged me to call him.

I gave him a call and he verified that no, my Terra had not been arrested.

He asked that I send him a picture of her to his phone, and he immediately put out an all points bulletin on her, listing my cell phone number as well as his on the Facebook page.

Over the course of the next few days, I would routinely get a text from him asking "Has Terra come home yet?" Always my answer was "no," and his reply would be "dang it! Well I am still looking for her, just hang in there!"

Although we never found our Terra, I am very appreciative for Joe's efforts. His job entails a lot of things, but helping someone look for their lost pet is more than likely not part of his job description. He does that because he has a good heart.

Five things Obama must do to fix the border crisis

Over the past several months, tens of thousands of unaccompanied minors -- almost all of them from Honduras, Guatemala, El Salvador, or Mexico -- have been detained at our southern border while crossing illegally into the United States. A large percentage have been found in the Rio Grande Valley region of South Texas. Sadly, this ongoing humanitarian crisis is very much a man-made crisis. More specifically, it is a direct result of President Obama's misguided immigration policies.

Two years ago, the president stood in the Rose Garden and announced a unilateral change to U.S. immigration policy regarding children. Between that policy change and his broader refusal to uphold our immigration laws, he created a powerful incentive for children to cross into the United States illegally.

Don't just take my word for it. "There is growing evidence," reports the Washington Post, "that a surge of tens of thousands of Central American minors across the Mexican border into Texas is being driven in large part by the perception they will be allowed to stay under the Obama administration's immigration policies."

Consider the numbers. In fiscal year 2011, roughly 6,560 unaccompanied alien children were apprehended at the U.S.-Mexico border. That figure grew to nearly 25,000 in 2013, a year after the President's Rose Garden Speech, and U.S. officials estimate that it could reach 90,000 in 2014, before surging to 142,000 (or higher) in 2015.

In other words, policies that were supposedly adopted for humanitarian reasons have produced a humanitarian disaster.

Make no mistake: The migration journey from southern Mexico to the Rio Grande is among the most treacherous in the world. In his 2013 book, "The Beast," Salvadoran writer Oscar Martinez documents the horrific violence that is routinely inflicted on migrants by drug traffickers, gang members, and human smugglers. The risks to women are especially harrowing: Experts believe that at least six out of every ten female migrants become victims of sexual assault.

U.S. SENATOR
GUEST COLUMN

JOHN CORNYN

Indeed, migrant women are preyed upon by ruthless Mexican drug cartels such as the Zetas. For example, an official from the mayor's office in Ciudad Hidalgo (a Mexican city along the Guatemalan border) told Martinez that "in Ciudad Hidalgo the Zetas control all trafficking, sending men to recruit women in Central America and sometimes even kidnapping migrant women riding the buses. They sell the women to truck drivers for a night and then throw them away like unwanted scraps."

There is nothing "humane" about encouraging people to travel through cartel-dominated smuggling routes in hopes of reaching the United States. Yet that has been the effect of President Obama's policies.

I therefore call on the president to immediately do five things:

First, he should publicly (and repeatedly) declare that the so-called deferred-action programs he announced in June 2012 will not apply to the children currently arriving at the border.

Second, he should publicly (and repeatedly) discourage people in Central America and elsewhere from sending their children on such a dangerous journey through Mexico.

Third, he should start enforcing all U.S. immigration laws, not simply the ones he finds politically convenient.

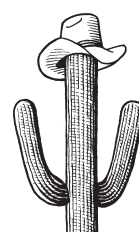

Fourth, he should make sure that Texas and other U.S. border states have the resources they need to handle the migrant influx.

Fifth, he should work with Mexican officials to improve security at their border with Guatemala, which most of these children appear to be crossing.

If the president took all those steps, not only would it help us resolve the current crisis, it would also help prevent a similar crisis from erupting in the future.

Trick Questions

PITTS

On the front page of our local weekly newspaper there was a photo of a cute little 4H girl showing what was obviously a goat at a livestock show. The caption under the photo read, "Here is so and so and her SHEEP!"

It's bad enough that a journalist doesn't know a lamb from a goat but recently a friend of mine asked me, "How many cows are there in the average feedlot?"

"None," I said. "They aren't cows, they are steers and heifers." He looked at me like I was the idiot. Another urban friend argued with me and insisted that "mutton" comes from old roosters that can no longer lay eggs.

How did we get so stupid? I'd be willing to bet that 95% of the urban population couldn't tell you the difference between a Hereford and a heifer. They think Dutch Belted is a wrestler and Porterhouse is a rapping D.J. Kids today are taking French, calculus and other subjects they'll never use in life at the same time they are taking NO classes that might teach them anything about what they eat. And a very high percentage of people do eat!

This is just wrong. I think every student to graduate from high school ought to have to take and pass a test like the this one I came up with.

#1 If you bred a Blonde de Aquitaine female with a Tamworth boar you'd have a) a litter of dumb blondes, b) a hog with lofty intentions, c) a miracle.

#2 What is longer, a) the shelf life of Spam, b) the gestation period of a Jersey, c) the lifetime of a Southdown, d) the line to the restroom at a bad sushi joint.

#3 If you put a mature bull in with some heifers for two years and never got a calf it's probably because a) the bull was a steer, b) the heifers were spayed, c) the bull was gay.

#4 If you walked behind a Jack and jabbed it in the rump with a sharp stick you, a) are dumber than a box of rocks, b) now have two imprints on your chest in the shape of horseshoes, c) are lucky to still be alive.

#5 You reach up to milk a Guernsey and instead of finding a bag with four finger like projectiles you find a sack hanging down with two tangerine sized things in it. Should you, a) go ahead and try to milk the "cow" by pulling on the sack real hard, b) go ahead and hook it up to a milking machine, c) run for your life and climb very rapidly the first good sized tree you come to.

Top officials order surge to secure border

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

"In this current security and humanitarian crisis, the federal government's failure to secure our border is resulting in serious consequences for Texas," Speaker Straus said. "To immediately address these issues, today I join with Gov. Perry and Lt. Gov. Dewhurst to direct the Texas Department of Public Safety to use the appropriate resources to keep our state safe."

The joint directive came less than a week after Attorney General Greg Abbott requested $30 million in federal funds to help secure the border and to assist with the influx of children crossing the Rio Grande into Texas. Detention facilities at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio are being used to house unaccompanied minors who have been apprehended in recent days. "The Department of Public Safety will have the tools and resources it needs to curtail illegal smuggling, horrific human trafficking and cartel imported crime," Abbott said in a June 18 statement in support of state funding for border operations approved by the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker. In other news on June 19, the Corpus Christi Caller-Times published a report that dozens of bodies had been found and were being exhumed in Brooks County, where undocumented people seeking work to the north are known to cross brush country on foot to make their way around a U.S. Border Patrol checkpoint.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE DROPS
Texas Workforce Commission on June 20 announced the addition of 56,400 seasonally adjusted nonfarm jobs in the month of May, and that 383,100 jobs have been added in the past 12 months, making it the largest over-the-year job increase in Texas in nearly 17 years. Also, the agency noted, Texas' seasonally adjusted unemployment rate

FROM THE PULPIT

What is the value of your soul?

I am sure everyone in West Texas and most of the rest of our amazing State are aware that we are in the midst of an economic boom due to the oil business. This is of course a positive in many aspects of life; more jobs and higher wages! On the other hand it also means higher prices for most of the necessities of life. But, there is an even greater negative than having to pay more for bologna.

The Bible poses a question in Matthew 16:26; (Mark 8:36, 37; Luke 9:25) "What good will it be for someone to gain the whole world, yet forfeit their soul? Or what can anyone give in exchange for their soul?" This verse should cause us all to pause a moment and think about the value of our soul! Our soul is the eternal essence of life. When our physical body dies, the soul and spirit live on; either in the presence of God or separated from God! We must all make the choice (I highly recommend choosing Jesus: Romans 10:9-13) in regards to our eternal dwelling place. Unfortunately, many are enticed by the world and its physical pleasures to the point that little, if any attention is paid to the Spiritual side of our being. Thus when death comes our soul is forfeited and our eternal dwelling place is with Satan in Hell. This sounds harsh, but it is important to know the complete truth. For example, if you were traveling down a road in the dark where the bridge was out and someone knew and did not warn you...well you get the point.

The good news is there is an alternative. No one has to forfeit their soul unless they choose to do so. Furthermore, your soul is more valuable than all you could possibly earn in your lifetime...it is worth more than all Bill Gates could earn in his lifetime or one hundred lifetimes! Please do not misunderstand. I am not advocating laziness or unemployment. In fact the Bible teaches in II Thessalonians 3:10 "The one who is unwilling to work shall not eat." So what is the point? We must all seek to balance our life and always put God at the forefront. Realistically, no matter how hard you work you will never "gain the whole world" and what you do gain will be gone in time.

Some are probably thinking that a preacher wouldn't know anything about working; after all, they only work on Sundays and Wednesdays right? Well I was part of the oil boom in the late seventies and the early eighties. I worked long hours and made more money than I had ever seen, yet at the end of it all I had little to show for my time and labor; certainly nothing of eternal value! More importantly my spiritual life was nearly non-existent and I was far from God. I only wish someone would have shared with me that in the end, the only thing that truly matters is where we stand in relation to God!

I understand that you may have weighed the consequences and decided that the worldly gain exceeds the risk. Well, that's certainly your choice, but let me pose one more question: Are you willing to forfeit your children's soul for your worldly gain? While it is true that they will one day choose for themselves, research clearly shows that children brought up in the church have a much higher chance of being in a spiritual relationship with God through Jesus Christ and the numbers increase for children who are accompanied by their parents. So please give some serious thought to what your soul is worth, and even more consideration to what your child's soul is worth. In the end, if you and your child choose Jesus, it will turn out to be your most valuable investment!

JOHN CURRY is the pastor of First Baptist Church in Ozona, Texas.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION

God's finger on the floor

In John 8:1-11 the Bible tells the true story of how the teachers of the Law and the Pharisees brought a woman caught in the act of adultery before Jesus. They said "Teacher, this woman was caught in the act of adultery. In the Law Moses commanded us to stone such women. Now what do you say?" They were using this question as a trap, in order to have a basis for accusing him. But Jesus bent down and started to write on the ground with his finger. John 8:4-6 (NIV).

When all those who had condemned her had gone away Jesus said "Then neither do I condemn you," Jesus declared. "Go now and leave your life of sin." John 8:11b (NIV). These few verses tell us a lot about the heart of God.

The heart of God is one of unconditional love. God's love is not dependent on the severity of the sins we commit, or any other thing we may say or do.

PASTOR DAN SLEDGE

God loves us regardless and with no strings attached. We cannot earn His love or act in any way to obtain it or lose it.

The heart of God is one of unending forgiveness and second chances. Our God is not a condemning or punishing God but One who forgives endlessly and is always ready to give us another chance.

The heart of God is one of perfect grace and mercy. If this woman had gotten what she deserved, she would have been stoned to death. God gives us what we don't deserve, that's grace. Likewise, He does not give us what we do deserve, that's mercy.

DAN SLEDGE is the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Ozona, Texas.

Computer course Tuesdays

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

We prayed for rain and He sent it. Saturday the rain was not welcome at the baseball fields, but at least we didn't have lightning and thunder, so we were thankful for that. All is well that ends well, and the games were all played and everyone had fun. The trees and flowers are really putting on a show all over town. It is amazing what a little rain can do with the grass and plants.

I have had some positive comments on the computer course. If you are not computer literate, you need to come take advantage of this course. We will be presenting the lessons in the main room on the 62-inch TV. It is a nice, comfortable place to learn. The lessons will be 10 a.m. Tuesdays. This is right after Balance Exercise.

Mark this on your calendar and come give it a try. It moves really slow and can be repeated if you don't it the first try. If I have some come, I will continue with the lessons each Tuesday until we finish.

The Balance Exercise is working better in the morning, so we will leave it in the morning at 9 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. I have started a line dancing class on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2 p.m. We have tried it a couple of times and we are having a great time (and getting a little exercise to boot). Some of the dances we will be trying are The Freeze, Achy Breaky, Honky Tonk Stomp, Electric Slide and Slap Leather. The steps are really easy it just takes a little time to learn them. Come on and give it a try. It's not hard.

If you need help with paying for Medicare Part A, B or Medicare Advantage plan costs, call 1-800-252-9240 or dial 2-1-1. The 211 number will get you answers for just about anything you need to know.

If there is something you would like to have started at the center, please let me know and I will try to make it happen.

Don't forget the trade table. We have really had a good time with the trash to treasure table lately. Thank you to the ones that have donated to this table.

Cruz attending Youth Range Workshop

Thomas Cruz has been selected to attend the 2014 Youth Range Workshop at the Texas Tech University Center-Junction on June 22 - 27.

County selection of participants involved in 4-H and FFA programs was based on outstanding projects, leadership and interest in range and natural resource management. Thomas Cruz's local sponsor is SWCD, a strong supporter of range education and leadership development of local youth. He attends Ozona High School and is the son of Ruben and Christy Cruz.

The week long Youth Range Workshop, sponsored by the Texas Section Society for Range Management, is held annually to recognize outstanding Texas youth and to provide them with an opportunity for complimentary training in range and natural resource management, stewardship and leadership.

Youth participants will learn about the principles of ecology, ecosystem level management, Total Resource Management, range and watershed management and gain an understanding of the plant-soil-water relationship. Hands-on activities and lectures conducted by 16 staff members will provide training in plant identification, evaluation of rangeland potential/health, determination of stocking rates and the decision making process relative to livestock production, wildlife habitat and multiple uses of Texas rangelands. Leadership training will feature training on communications skills and conflict resolution as related to ecosystem management. Field trips for hands-on training will be to Mason and Menard County ranches, the Kerr Wildlife Management Area, Texas Tech University Center Lands and the South Llano River State Park.

Range Workshop instructors include Texas Cooperative Extension Specialists, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Scientists, County Extension Agents, teachers from major Texas Universities, ranchers, consultants, land stewardship consultants, personnel from the Natural Resources Conservation Service, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas General Land Office and other members of the Texas Section Society for Range Management involved in the management of rangeland resources and youth education.

This is the 60th consecutive year for this educational program, which has benefited more than 2,000 Texas youth.

BUILDING A HOME

Last week I went to visit a deacon in our Church. He was sitting in his front yard in the shade of some big trees drinking ice tea. He had been painting some trim and was taking a break. I asked him about their home because years ago it was just barren land. They purchased the land and then started working by clearing and then moving in a mobile home, now they have a nice double wide and they have even added on to that. It is a beautiful place with pipe fences, beautiful yard, lots of green grass and many trees. He and his wife have spent years working on their home. It reminded me of something in the Bible. There are two ways to build a home in God's realm. One is to include God in the process or we can leave him out. The house or home without God will not prosper, not financially but in relation to the things of God and it even has a curse on it, (Proverbs 3:33, Jeremiah 22:13). It is compared to a house built on shifting sand that will not endure, (Matthew 7:26 & 27). Not only does it take the husband but it also takes the wife to build a Godly home, (Proverbs 14:1). A family or home that includes God will endure and it will take time to build, (Proverbs 12:7, Matthew 7:24 & 25).

West Texas Project, and posted a photographic time line of the flood on their blog at <http://as-wtproject.wordpress.com>.

Black said the rain began around 4 a.m. at the Skiles' house overlooking Eagle Nest Canyon, and in less than eight hours 11.6 inches of rain fell.

Miguel Zuniga, of Comstock, said the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center was hoping to reopen Tuesday or today.

"Everything flooded inside the center. It's very bad," Zuniga said.

The Pandale area received 8 inches and experienced flooding as well.

Record rainfall of around 5 inches hit the Del Rio area, but 17 inches flooded Ciudad Acuña, Mexico.

Big Lake received 4-5 inches of rain on June 21, and water could be seen in the lake.

No rain chances in the forecast for the rest of week, according to the National Weather Service in San Angelo. Highs are expected to be in the 90s with lows in the 70s and windy.

Press association gives top honors to four Texas lawmakers

CORPUS CHRISTI — Four Texas legislators received the Texas Press Association's top honor for public service June 20 at the newspaper association's summer conference.

Jim Moser, CEO of Moser Community Media and chair of the association's legislative advisory committee, presented the awards to House Speaker Joe Straus, R-San Antonio, Sen. Rodney Ellis, D-Houston, Sen. Kevin Eltife, R-Tyler, and Rep. Todd Hunter, R-Corpus Christi.

"These four legislators have fought tirelessly for years to promote and protect open meetings, open records and government transparency in general," Moser said. "They are both the conscience and the shepherds of the Legislature in matters of government accountability."

It was the second time that Ellis and Hunter received the award.

Straus thanked the association for the honor, saying that newspapers play a crucial role in keeping the public aware of governmental actions.

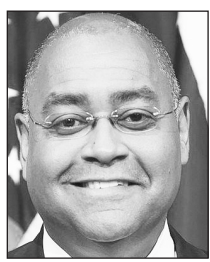

"Transparency in government enables the public to make informed decisions and to hold elected officials accountable. The press plays a critical role by helping citizens understand how public money is spent, why decisions are made and what they can do to influence the process," Straus said.

Eltife, chair of the Senate Administration Committee, agreed.

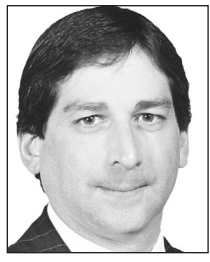

"The media, and newspapers in particular, play a crucial role in ensuring government accountability and encouraging participation in our democracy by informed citizens. Important to this effort is timely and thorough access to information that can be widely disseminated." Hunter, who chairs the powerful House Calendars Committee, said newspapers are key to an informed public. "Transparency is vital to trustworthy government," he said. "Our newspapers have helped educate the public on the importance of transparency in government." Ellis, who was unable to attend the awards ceremony, issued a statement saying that government must be open to be effective. "Transparency and accountability are the cornerstones of good government. Newspapers play a vital role in ensuring that these principles are maintained and the doors to government and access to information remain open to the public," Ellis said. SCHOOL: from page 1

This means students will have one teacher for all core subjects, but students will still attend physical education, music, lunch, library and recess during the day.

There will also be lead teachers in grades first through fifth, and teachers in each grade will meet as a team for planning curriculum.

Consultants from Region XV will be brought in to help with reading, math and English, as well as new teachers.

The campus is holding Jumpstart from Aug. 4-15. Students will rotate through various stations and participate in fun lessons and activities that will help them with study skills, organization and learning new content.

At the middle school, eighth grade students scored 85.1 percent in reading, 91.6 in math, 70.2 in science and 72.3 in social studies. The scores showed improvement from years past, when these students were in sixth and seventh grades.

Principal Tammy McWilliams said these students' scores were equal to the Region XV and state scores.

"It took three years for the scores to get where they are now," she said.

Seventh grade scored 69.2 percent in reading, 69.2 in writing and 50 percent in math. Sixth grade scored 73 percent in reading and 67 percent in math.

McWilliams said all three OMS math teachers and Tonya Poindexter have joined the Teacher Quality Grant Program with Dr. Donna Gee at Angelo State University, where they will attend a two-week seminar in July and three other math symposiums throughout the school year. They will also have home campus visits through the grant in order to learn the new math state curriculum and improve math instruction.

The grade level team leaders and McWilliams are also attending "Teaching with Poverty in Mind" Institute in San Antonio.

In high school, students take end-of-course tests, instead of STAAR.

In Algebra I, students scored 47 percent, Biology 77 percent, U.S. History 91 percent, English I 47 percent and English II 49 percent.

High school testing will change in the 2014-2015 school year. Under House Bill 5, passed by the 2013 State Legislature, students entering high school this fall will take five standardized exams, instead of 15.

The legislation also made changes to the curriculum required for a high school diploma. It did away with standards that required all students to take four years of math, science, English and social studies unless they opted for a "minimum" diploma plan. Now, all high school students will take a foundation curriculum that includes four English credits and three credits each in science, social studies and math. Most will then go on to earn fourth credits in math and science, along with other required coursework, when they select a diploma "endorsement" in one of five areas: science and technology, business and industry, public services, humanities or a multidisciplinary option.

OHS Principal Ronny Clayton said work has begun at his campus for the courses, endorsements and changes that lie ahead with House Bill 5.

NEW HIRES and RESIGNATIONS

After meeting in closed session for 90 minutes, the board accepted the resignations of Jennifer Unterbrink, David Bird, Leticia Bird and Julia Henderson.

The board approved the hiring of Isabel Geary, Nathan Harris, Jessica Luckie, Linda Jones and Laetitia Johnson for OES, Ross Johnson for OHS and Jason Davis for OMS.

SUPERINTENDENT REPORT

In his superintendent's report, Raul Chavarria said the board will soon start having budget meetings. He also discussed the district's fund balance, which is around $3.6 million.

The state recommends that the district have three months of operating funds in its fund balance, which is $3.2 million for CCCSD.

In the past, the lowest the district's fund balance has been was $1.5 million in 2004-2005 and the largest was $9.4 million in 2009-2010.

Chavarria also said the district can reserve part of the fund balance and the state cannot touch it.

TECHNOLOGY

Technology Director Keith Harmsen said his department is in the process of updating all the student and classroom computers in the district, with the exception of the two new labs at OMS.

The computers are being updated to Windows 8.1 and Microsoft Office 2013.

Harmsen said the project should be completed before school starts in the fall.

The next regular board meeting will be July 23 at the Administration Building. The meeting is open to the public.

- The Texas Tribune contributed to this report.

the magic bug bit hard.

Harlin started off by doing small tricks for family and friends until his skills improved. He soon realized his God given gift of entertaining children. He then ventured out to a broader audience. That audience turned out to be the bus ministry at Kelview Heights Baptist Church, Harlin's church. He had a captive audience and used his magic to bribe the children to pay attention and he would show them a trick at the end of class.

Harlin soon learned that magic or illusions, could be used as a tool to teach a huge variety of subjects. He also practiced this newly learned skill on the kids at the bus ministry. All the while Harlin was doing, and still does, birthday parties to help fund his magic habit.

Harlin, with the blessing of his wife Irma, went into the entertainment business full-time in 1992.

One year later Harlin discovered the magic of balloons. Harlin learned how to make balloon animals to compliment his business and now it has become a vital part of the business. Harlin has won awards for his balloon work and has been at Music City Mall in Odessa, Texas for over 15 years.

Groundwater resources presentation July 7

The Crockett Groundwater Conservation District (CGCD) contracted Allan R Standen LLC in March 2014 to build a hydro-stratigraphic model to assist the District in managing the county's groundwater resources.

The project is scheduled to be completed in October. Standen will be presenting the status of this study in a presentation at 2 p.m. Monday, July 7, at the Ozona Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center.

Thousands of oil and/or gas scout tickets, cable tool driller's reports, geophysical logs and water well driller's reports located at the Bureau of Economic Geology Library and the Texas Water Development Board in Austin have been reviewed for this study thus far.

The wells with the best location accuracy combined with the most descriptive geological descriptions and/or best vertical resolution were selected to build oil/gas formation and aquifer surfaces relative to land surface.

Geological top surfaces constructed in this study include from deepest to land surface; the Ellenberger, the San Andres, the Yates, the Salado Salt, the Rustler anhydrite, the Dockum (Santa Rosa), the Trinity Sand (Antlers) and the Edwards Limestone.

The deeper formations were included to better understand the vertical spacing and possible geological structure between hydrocarbon related injection wells and the overlying aquifers. Countywide maps illustrating the depths to the top of these geological surfaces will provide the District, county's residents and local driller's with guidance for future water well drilling.

Upon delivery in October, the study will provide Edwards Limestone Aquifer saturated thickness, and net saturated sand thickness maps of the Trinity Antlers Sand and Dockum (Santa Rosa) Sand.

Historical and present water level surfaces will be constructed to assist the District in the management of its groundwater resources.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the District will be held following this presentation.

For more information, call Slate Williams, general manager of the Crockett County Groundwater District, at 392-5156.

COURT: from page 1

The commissioners and County Road Supervisor Jeffrey Stuart all had questions about the agreement pertaining as to what maintenance the county would provide and what maintenance TxDOT would provide for roads.

Ozona is the only town in the TxDOT San Angelo District that has not adopted an agreement.

"It's my understanding, and the way this was presented to me, is the state is asking for permission to maintain roads in this community," said Matthew Heinze, Ozona's TxDOT Maintenance Supervisor. "What I was told is by law the state cannot maintain the roads within this community without an agreement. We have to have a maintenance agreement."

Stuart said he doesn't see the county coming out on top in the agreement.

"We really don't know what we're getting into. It almost seems like a first step in a series of things to come," said Commissioner Eligio Martinez.

Heinze said he could contact a fellow TxDOT employee who has more expertise in this area to meet with the commissioners. Commissioner Frank Tambunga said he would also like to know if any other county with an unincorporated community had adopted an agreement.

Deaton said he would place the item on the agenda for the July 14 regular meeting.

ROAD STANDARDS

The commissioners also approved road standards for county roads.

The standards were adopted in order for the county to possibly receive funding from the state's County Transportation Infrastructure Fund.

The standards include:

- Minimum right of way - 40 feet
- Maximum right of way - 60 feet
- Minimum road base width - 16 feet
- Maximum road base width - 24 feet
- Any road improved with caliche will have a minimum of four inches of caliche.
- Road base will be 24 feet wide with a minimum of four inches of caliche over the full 24 foot width.
- Crush rock and caliche will be pit run and of good quality as determined by the county officials and staff.
- Compaction will be done with a vibrating packer.
- Caliche will be watered enough to achieve good compaction.
- All existing county roads will follow all previous lines and cannot be moved with commissioners' court approval.

BUDGET WORKSHOP

The commissioners also held their first budget workshop of the year. The workshop consisted of looking through and discussing a preliminary budget of expenses for 2015.

The next regular commissioners' court meeting will be 9 a.m. July 14 at the courthouse annex.

dropped to 5.1 percent in May, down from 5.2 percent in April and employers from all 11 major industries in the state expanded their payrolls in May.

"We continue to work with our workforce and education partners to ensure that Texas workers have the in-demand skills required to bolster this impressive job creation," said Texas Workforce Commission Chair Andres Alcantar.

Gov. Perry lauded the news in a separate news release: "By virtually every measure, the Texas job creation machine is firing on all cylinders," he said.

PANEL TO STUDY INCENTIVES

Texas House Speaker Straus on June 20 announced appointees to his newly created Select Committee on Economic Development Incentives.

"Texas has been very successful in attracting job creators and fostering economic opportunity," Straus explained. "We owe it to taxpayers to take a detailed look at what has worked and what can be improved. Some incentive programs may need re-tooling and others may have outlived their usefulness. I'm confident that this committee can supply the answers that will help the full House prepare to address this issue in next year's session."

Rep. Angie Chen Button, R-Richardson, will serve as chair and Rep. Eddie Rodriguez, D-Austin, as vice chair. Also named to the committee were Reps. Trent Ashby, R-Lufkin; Joe Deshotel, D-Port Arthur; John Kuempel, R-Seguin; Jodie Laubenberg, R-Murphy; J.M. Lozano, R-Kingsville; Borris Miles, D-Houston; Poncho Nevarez, D-Eagle Pass; René Oliveira, D-Brownsville; Mary Ann Perez, D-Pasadena; Drew Springer, R-Muenster; and Jason Vilalbal, R-Dallas.

DISTRACTED DRIVING DISCUSSED

Small business owners, corporate executives and state officials joined the Texas Department of Transportation at Circuit of The Americas raceway in Austin on June 17 to consider solutions for reducing driver distractions that caused more than 95,000 traffic crashes last year in Texas.

Doing any of the following while driving is considered distracted driving: texting, checking e-mail, eating and drinking, grooming, reading, programming a navigation system, adjusting a radio, CD player or other audio device.

"With distracted driving responsible for one in every five crashes in Texas, we want to help business leaders understand what they can do to protect their employees, themselves and other motorists on the road," John Barton, TxDOT deputy executive director said in an agency statement.
