Fourth of July events

Judson Cole Band performing at street dance

The Knights of Columbus Fourth of July Celebration will be on Friday, July 4.

This year's events will feature a street dance with the Judson Cole Band performing.

The Judson Cole Band formed in 2012 in San Angelo. The band quickly became a staple at the historic Blaine's Pub, host to many Texas music legends through the years.

The group has most recently been busy supporting their upcoming album with performances including Crudefest, Texas Thunder Fest, and many others throughout west Texas along with artist such as Randy Rogers Band, Wade Bowen, The Band Perry, Lee Brice, and Stoney LaRue.

The band is known for their Texas Country sound and features Ozona's Rylee Ramos on drums.

The group's latest single, "Call Me Back Home," is available for purchase on iTunes and is making its way up the charts.

For more information, visit judsoncoleband.com.

Independence Day events will begin with the Crockett County Veterans fund-raiser, the G.I. Joe Stars-n-Stripes 5k Run/Walk at 8 a.m. starting in front of the Courthouse. Anyone can participate. There is a $10 donation for a T-shirt.

At 3 p.m., at the town square, there will be the county-wide Fourth of July Festival.

Local businesses closed for holiday

Several local businesses will be closed Friday, July 4. The Ozona Stockman will be closed. Deadline is noon Monday, July 7, for the July 9 edition. Crockett County Offices, CCCSD Administration Offices, the Crockett County Public Library, the Civic Center, the Senior Center, Helping Hands, the Family Health Center of Ozona, local banks and the U.S. Post Office will be closed Friday, July 4, but will resume regular business hours Monday, July 7. The Family Health Center will have 24-hour emergency care available. Entrance is in the back of the building. Many county offices and the library will close at noon Thursday, July 3.

Independence Day Safety

There are many ways to celebrate the Fourth of July, and while sitting by the campfire, grilling a favorite dish, or using fireworks are common activities - they could spark a wildfire.

According to Texas A&M Forest Service Prevention Specialist Jan Amen, 90 percent of wildfires are started by humans, so it is imperative to be mindful of the risk of starting a fire - even with recent rainfall.

"In Texas there are currently no areas of concern over the holiday but it's still important locally to be careful with the use of fireworks," Texas A&M Service Predictive Services Department Head Tom Spencer said. "It's still possible to start a fire."

Due to the recent rains in May and June the potential for wildfire has decreased across much of the state. However, TFS encourages everyone to use caution and stay safe this Independence Day.

Fireworks safety tips:

- Before you celebrate, always check with local government officials to ensure fireworks and outdoor burning are allowed in your county. Be sure to comply with all restrictions. Crockett County has a ban on aerial fireworks, such as missiles with fins or rockets.
- Read and follow all warnings and instruction labels on fireworks.
- Use fireworks only under close adult supervision and in safe areas

Groundwater resources presentation Monday

The Crockett Groundwater Conservation District (CGCD) contracted Allan R Standen LLC in March 2014 to build a hydro-stratigraphic model to assist the District in managing the county's groundwater resources.

The project is scheduled to be completed in October. Standen will be presenting the status of this study in a presentation at 2 p.m. Monday, July 7, at the Ozona Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center.

Thousands of oil and/or gas scout tickets, cable tool driller's reports, geophysical logs and water well driller's reports located at the Bureau of Economic Geology Library and the Texas Water Development Board in Austin have been reviewed for this study thus far.

The wells with the best location accuracy combined with the most descriptive geological descriptions and/

Sheriff's office aware of drug problem

Sheriff and I were talking this morning about the drug problem in Ozona. He said he and all his deputies are working very diligently at trying to put the drug dealers out of business. Some citizens think it should be easy to shut down a dealer once he is identified as being suspicious. But the sheriff says it is not that easy. Simple hearsay is not sufficient to make a search of a person's property or vehicle. Suspicious activity may seem fairly obvious but is also not enough for an official search. The sheriff says he and his

ON PATROL

officers are aware of the suspicious persons and areas and watch them very closely. They will do everything legally possible to apprehend these people. Sheriff says that, thanks to the County Commissioners, his department has some really efficient camera systems in the squad cars. They have been able to make cases on suspects by using the recordings these cameras make during the traffic stops. It is not as difficult to make good cases when you have good equipment. It is very counterproductive to make cases that do not hold up in the system. It is very important to stay diligent and consistent, but also to follow the law precisely to make sure the charges withstand the process. Drug activity is always a volatile subject. There is always so much to do, but only so much that can be legally done. Sheriff Rodriguez wants to make sure that anyone that wants to report any drug activity or has any information that might be helpful to the deputies in their pursuits please feel free to come to the office and visit with him or Chief Jose Gutierrez. You can also report information to any of the deputies. Anything you can help with would be appreciated and can be kept confidential.

Public's right to know is a worthy legislative agenda

Editor's note: The following editorial is being reprinted with permission from the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Two weeks ago the Texas Press Association convention in Corpus Christi served as a reminder to elected officials that We the People own the government. The reminder didn't take the negative tone of a warning or a threat, but of positive reinforcement in recognizing four of those elected officials who defended the people's right to a free flow of their information.

The honorees are state Sens. Rodney Ellis, D-Houston, and Kevin P. Eltife, R-Tyler; state Rep. Todd Hunter, R-Corpus Christi; and House Speaker Joe Straus, R-San Antonio. Eltife and Straus have been reliable allies and enablers of open government and information access-friendly laws. Ellis and Hunter are initiators of these laws.

Specific victories include the landmark shield law protecting a news reporter's right to protect the confidentiality of news sources; the opportunity for news media to correct mistakes and be protected from punitive damages; and protection for whistle-blowers against meritless retaliatory lawsuits.

Defending the people's right to know shouldn't put these four lawmakers at odds with their colleagues in the Legislature, or with local government officials in their home districts. But, unfortunately, often it does. And it's likely to happen again in the next regular session in 2015.

The Texas Press Association has identified four legislative priorities for the 2015 session. We acknowledge openly and proudly that this agenda furthers our self-interest as both a news medium and a for-profit business — no shame in any of that. It also furthers the people's best interest.

First on this in-no-particular-order list is protection of the requirement that governmental bodies publish public notices in their local newspapers.

They continually seek to have publication on their websites count as fulfillment of the public notice requirement. By all means, they should post notices on their websites. But to count it as official public notice would be tantamount to hiding the information in plain sight. Try to imagine empty-nesters perusing a school district website regularly, on the off-chance of a notice of a public hearing on a bond issue. Working parents of schoolkids also are unlikely to do it.

Second on the legislative priority list is legal clarification of journalists' freedom to report ongoing investigations and third-party allegations without threat of defamation lawsuits. The Texas Supreme Court injudiciously undermined this tradition in a 2013 ruling. The press association cited the Lance Armstrong case as an anecdotal example — what if news media couldn't have reported the long-standing allegations of his use of performance enhancers safely until after they had been proven. The court ruling could have a chilling effect not only on dissemination of news but on witness testimony. It's a recipe for aiding and abetting wrongdoing.

Third, the Texas attorney general should have jurisdiction to initiate enforcement of open government laws where district attorneys have been reticent to do so. Currently the attorney general needs an invitation from a local DA. Local DAs have been loath to prosecute their fellow home-district public officials. With apologies to our own District Attorney Mark Skurka, try to picture him prosecuting the county judge or Corpus Christi ISD board president for an open meetings transgression. It would be a lot less awkward for the attorney general.

Fourth and not least on the list is to establish a clear custodial responsibility by a government body for public records transmitted on public officials' private devices. Requests shouldn't be shunted off to AT&T or Google. The loophole enables public officials to use their private devices to dodge public disclosure.

One final observation in praise of our local state representative: On the homepage of the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas is a video of Hunter accepting an award.

His face and voice are linked to defense of the First Amendment and the Texas open meetings and public information laws.

Round Mounds of Sound

IT'S THE PITTS
LEE PITTS

Many of the great cattle auctioneers and ring men of yesteryear were "fully figured" men. Most of the road agents today seem to be in better shape but a lot of the men I traveled with were well marbled big men with booming voices and little chance of ever becoming thoroughbred jockeys. One of the greatest was a man the ring men affectionately called behind his back the "Round Mound of Sound." I won't tell you his real name because I liked him too much, but I will say this: he blew a button off his shirt once and it darn near killed the clerk. It was later found imbedded in a wall.

Being a purebred livestock auctioneer or ring man has never been a wise choice from a health standpoint. Because a fellow needed his energy for a long grueling day, theirs would start with a buffet breakfast in a chain motel with croissants, bagels with cream cheese, a self-cooked waffle and three glasses of sweet tea. One Texas ring man friend of mine started each day off with a big can of caffeinated cola. I suppose today he's drinking 5 Hour Energy instead.

After breakfast you'd travel to the sale site and eat a free donut, or three, while looking at the cattle. Because purebred breeders are so competitive, they all try to provide the best lunch which always included a big chunk of barbecued beef, some beans, salad, and a scrumptious dessert. Then, after working a six hour sale without a break, you'd drive four hours to get to a pre-sale party where another breeder would serve a big meal which included beans, salad, a scrumptious dessert and a healthy heaping of barbecued beef. In 40 years on the road I never saw chicken or a vegetarian entree served at a bull sale. It would have been occupational suicide.

The next day the cycle would be repeated. Keep that up for 30 years and it's no wonder some of my friends developed love handles, muffin tops, beer bellies, man boobs, pot bellies and sagging underarms. Some auctioneers had more backfat than a Duroc, could barely squeeze behind the microphone on the auction block. When they backed up they went "beep, beep, beep."

Many purebred auctioneers also owned an auction market which has to be one of the most stressful jobs there is. That's why many developed ulcers, type 2 diabetes, clogged arteries and had to buy group insurance just for themselves. Dunlap Disease was rampant and easy to spot because their bellies done-lapped their belts. Some also had the much dreaded Furniture Syndrome where their chests fell into their drawers.

There were exceptions: Skinner Hardy, one of the greats, kept himself lean by running every morning, until a man-killing dog chased him out of Ontario, Oregon.

Look in the back seat of a road agent's car and you'd find empty KFC cartons, fast food sacks, French fry wrappers, the obligatory charity chocolate bar or a box of Girl Scout cookies. That's because we were always in a hurry and had to eat on the run. I think my buddy Butch invented the drive-through concept. He had one of the earliest cell phones and I'll never forget the time he called up ahead to Baker, Oregon, placed an order for a pepperoni pizza, which we grabbed as we flew through town.

We often traveled in bunches and when we had the time, we all had our favorite places to stop for gastronomic delights, such as the berry cobbler and ice cream at Famoso, breakfasts at Momma's, chicken fried steak in San Angelo and alligator chili anywhere in the South. We'd ask for a table for four and food for 12.

This explains why an elevator full of ring men and auctioneers at John Ascuaga's Nugget once failed to budge and why when we get our annual boot polishing at Denver or Houston we have to take the shoeshine man's word for it that they look good.

When auctioneers and ring men begrudgingly get off the road, many finally start "watching" their weight. How convenient then that it's right out front and so easy to see.

Detention facilities swell with children

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Streams of unaccompanied Central American children continued to make their way north, crossing the United States border into Texas where federal custody awaits.

Gov. Rick Perry, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst and House Speaker Joe Straus earlier this month jointly announced authorization for the Texas Department of Public Safety to spend $1.3 million a week to fund security operations on the border. Two state lawmakers representing border districts commented on the situation last week.

Rep. Sergio Muñoz Jr., D-Mission, welcomed the surge of state troopers, but said, "We still need to find solutions to other strains on the system, such as processing, sheltering, and medical screening of thousands of new immigrants," and added, "I believe anything we can do to draw resources and funding from our federal and state governments to help our local agencies recoup their costs is well worth the effort."

Rep. Eddie Lucio III, D-Brownsville, met with Gov. Perry and state senator and gubernatorial candidate Wendy R. Davis to discuss issues related to the population influx. "We have to keep in mind these are not grown adults, they are kids. It is our moral duty to help however we can and find solutions to this situation," Lucio said in a news release and pointed out, "according to the United Nations high commissioner for refugees, in 2013 over 21,000 unaccompanied and separated minors were detained by Customs Border Patrol and by the year 2015 over 60,000 minors are expected to arrive. Many of these children, average age of 14, are fleeing from Guatemala, El Salvador and Honduras due to various reasons ranging from gang violence to deprivation."

Without Congressional action on immigration policy reform, over the past months and years, many politicians have voiced a desire for action on the border. In a June 23 letter, Sen. Davis called on the governor to: (1) declare a state of emergency to secure essential resources, supplies, emergency services and facilities to meet the demand; (2) call an immediate emergency special session of the Texas Legislature, in the absence of federal action; (3) request additional immigration judges immediately; and (4) send the state/local bill to the federal government.

Gov. Perry announced on June 26 that he would provide testimony "about how the growing border crisis is impacting Texas" at a hearing of the U.S. House Homeland Security Committee scheduled for July 3 at McAllen, in Hidalgo County.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott, the Republican candidate governor, on June 27 traveled to Hidalgo County. He announced his participation in a border security away from structures, dry grass and brush.

- Keep a hose, bucket of water and wet towels nearby in case of a malfunction or fire.
- Dispose of used fireworks in a bucket of water.
- Never ignite fireworks in a container, especially a glass or metal container.

Holiday activities can also be harmful to pets.

"Fireworks can frighten dogs and cause them to escape and become injured," said Dr. James Barr, assistant professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences. "Make sure your pet is supervised during the day and nighttime hours as well." The best idea is to keep dogs, particularly those with noise phobias, away from the commotion if at all possible.

Another factor that can cause anxiety and stress in dogs is being around large crowds of unfamiliar people. If you know ahead of time that your dogs do not do well with large groups, it is better to leave them at home or board them for the day. If you do decide to bring them to the festivities, it is recommended to have a safe, calm area where the dogs can relax. "Being outdoors in the hot humid environment may cause those pets not used to the heat to have problems with heat," said Barr. "Allow the pets to be in a shaded area and have plenty of fresh water available at all times."

Additionally, it is imperative that you closely supervise the pet throughout the day and night so that they aren't tempted to indulge in the human food. Fourth of July celebrations bring with them many tasty human treats that might be toxic to animals, and with the large crowds of people, that can be easily and unnoticeably accessed by our pets.

"Accidental ingestion of rich foods and bones are common on July 4," said Barr. "Be careful about what your pets have access to and make sure to keep a close eye on them to avoid sickness."

Another good rule of thumb is if you are going to be in a place where unvaccinated dogs might be, such as soccer fields, baseball fields, or parks, you want to make sure your dogs are up-to-date on their vaccinations. It isn't smart to take an unvaccinated puppy, or a dog that hasn't completed the whole vaccine series, to a place with potential transmittable diseases or threats.

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) will increase DWI patrols through July 7.

DPS troopers will focus DWI patrols in high-risk locations at times when alcohol-related crashes are most frequent.

"As we prepare to celebrate the Fourth of July, DPS urges Texans to do their part to help keep our roadways safe during the holiday," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "Individuals should always designate a sober driver or find other means of transportation if they plan to drink alcohol. During the holiday, DPS troopers will be performing increased patrols aimed at protecting all travelers and removing dangerous drivers from the road."

The increased patrols that target impaired driving are funded through a grant from the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT). During the 2013 July 4 enforcement effort, DPS troopers made 1,124 DWI arrests, and 173 of those arrests were the direct result of the increased patrols. During this period, DPS enforcement also resulted in 720 fugitive arrests, 602 felony arrests, more than 15,700 speeding citations and more than 2,400 seat belt/child safety seat citations.

According to state statistics, approximately every 20 minutes in Texas, someone is hurt or killed in an alcohol-related crash. For some alternative transportation options, visit www.SoberRides.org.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION

P.U.S.H. - Pray Until Something Happens

In Luke 18:1-8 Jesus tells the parable of the importunate widow. Webster's definition of importunate is: making repeated or annoying requests or demands or troublesomely urgent; overly persistent in request or demand. Jesus gave us this parable to teach us to pray and not quit.

Jesus usually begins a parable by saying something like "The kingdom of heaven is like" and then He gives us the parable. In these verses He describes a wicked, unjust and insensitive judge and then proceeds to tell us that God is not like him.

In the NIV translation, Jesus used the word "quickly" to describe how God answers prayer. However, the word "quickly" is a relative term.

PASTOR DAN SLEDGE

If someone were injured I might say "Call 911 quickly!" However, if a couple gets married within six months of their first date then we might say, "They sure did get married quickly."

A more accurate term for how God answers prayer is the word "suddenly." Your prayers may seem to go unanswered for months or even years, and then boom, one day God gives the answer.

I like the story of the English preacher George Mueller. He wrote these words about praying. "The great point is never to give up until the answer comes. I have been praying for 63 years and 8 months for one man's conversion. He is not saved yet, but he will be. How can it be otherwise?"

"I am praying." George Mueller died and the man was still not saved. But as they lowered Mueller's casket into the ground, the man for whom he had been praying repented of his sins and trusted Jesus as his Savior. That was the result of persistent praying.

Remember, God's delays are not His denials.

Medicare clinic Monday

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

I did not get to have the computer course on June 24 because of the rain.

It was a great day but not a good day to get out and come to the center. I will try it again right after the Fourth of July holiday.

If you are not computer literate, you need to come take advantage of this course. We will be presenting the lessons in them main room on the 62-inch TV. It is a nice comfortable place to learn. The lessons will start on Tuesday, July 8, at 10 a.m. This will be right after the Balance Exercise. Mark this on your calendar and come give it a try. It moves really slow and can be repeated if you don't get it the first try. If I have some people come, I will continue with the lessons each Tuesday until we finish.

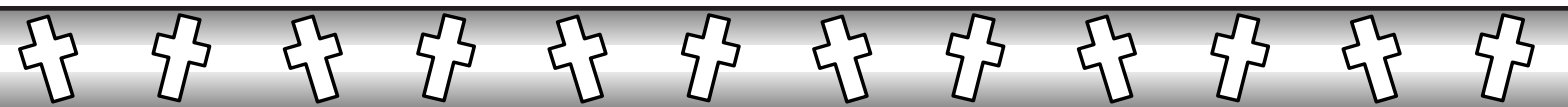

Amanda with Area Agency on Aging will be here on Monday, July 7, for the Medicare Application Clinic. She will be here at 10 a.m. and will be leaving at 3:30 p.m. I was really pleased to hear from the Area Agency on Aging and they are willing to make trips to Ozona again. I know there are a lot of questions that need to be answered and these girls have the answers.

The Balance Exercise is working better in the morning- so we will leave it in the morning at 9 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The weather kind of messed up the attendance on the line dancing group as well so I am hoping we can get it started again. We will try again on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2 p.m. The times that we did have some show they seemed to have a good time - and a little exercise to boot. Some of the dances we will be trying are The Freeze, Achy Breaky, Honky Tonk Stomp, Electric Slide, and Slap Leather. The steps are really easy, it just takes a little time to learn them. Come on - give it a try. It's not hard.

If there is something you would like to have started at the center, please let me know and I will try to make it happen. Don't forget the trade table. We have really had a good time with the trash to treasure table lately. Thank you to the ones that have donated this table.

Exercise is 9 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Bridge is Monday afternoons at 1:30 p.m. Balance exercise is Tuesday and Thursday at 9 a.m. Line Dancing is Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. Quilting is Thursday mornings at 9:30 a.m. Mexican Train is 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Prayer Group is Wednesday at 3 p.m. Come on out - the coffee is on.

LET'S CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

It can be a great time for families and friends to get together and enjoy the great freedoms this country provides. We are very blessed to live in the land of the free because of the brave, because many have given their lives for that freedom. The Declaration of Independence became official on July 4, 1776 and the pledge of allegiance was written to express what we stand for and says, "I Pledge Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America And to the republic for Which it Stands One Nation Under God, Indivisible, With Liberty And Justice For All". We are planning a family get together just as many others will do on the 4th but so many places in our world are not having the freedoms we have. As matter of fact they are running for their lives or being killed. Thousands are in refugee camps or trying to get to safety. It could happen here! We need to pray for those countries and their people but we also need to pray for our country. It was founded with God in mind and maybe we should pray and ask Him to protect our land and thank Him for it. Also another freedom available to us is the forgiveness of sins. This was provided by Jesus Christ when He died on the cross, (John 3:16&17, 1 Corinthians 15:3&4).
See you in Church next Sunday. Oh, yes enjoy the Holiday.

OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS VISIT SAN FRANCISCO

BY KATRECE HALE
OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL

Recently, Ozona Middle School students returned from a four-day/three-night trip to San Francisco, California. Upon arrival to the bay area, the group toured the city including sights such as the Golden Gate Bridge, Union Square, and a shopping spree through Chinatown where they bought handmade fortune cookies. Members spent time at Pier 39, a waterfront area known for its inviting shops, sunbathing sea lions, and seafood restaurants. Favorite dining spots for the group were "Bubba Gumps," a spin-off from the movie "Forest Gump" and the Hard Rock Café.

On the second day, the group journeyed to the Muir Woods, named for John Muir, founder of the Sierra Club. There they enjoyed a hike through the majestic coastal redwood forest. They also visited the California Marine Mammal Center where injured and malnourished animals, such as sea lions, seals, and otters, are rehabilitated until they can be released back into their natural habitat. The afternoon was completed with a rather breezy walk across the Golden Gate Bridge.

Day three began with a ferry ride to the rocky island of Alcatraz where the group donned headsets for an audio tour of the grounds and buildings. Alcatraz served as the nation's most notorious federal prison for up to 30 years. The afternoon was filled with a walk up and then down the dramatic Lombard Street, nicknamed the "crookedest street in America" because of its eight sharp switchback turns. Students also visited the California Academy of Sciences where they viewed a planetarium show entitled "Dark Matter." The group walked through a simulated rainforest and had the opportunity to touch sea stars and anemone. That night they joined a crowd of 41,000 local fans for a San Francisco Giants baseball game against the New York Mets. Students especially enjoyed the Ghirardelli hot chocolate at the game.

On the last day, the group traveled to nearby San Jose, where members toured the Winchester Mystery House, a 166-room Victorian estate which was once the home of the heir to the Winchester rifle fortune. This bizarre house is filled with such strange things as doors which open into walls and stairs which lead directly into the ceiling.

Students traveling with the group included Chantz Elliott, Roman Esparza, Marc Flores, Mariah Galindo, Brenna Hale, David Landin, Murray Logan, Jordan Martin, Caleb Martinez, Lexi Montgomery, Toni Parker, Jesse Ramos, and Ryan Ramos. Group leader for the trip was Katreece Hale. Adult chaperones included Gina Hochreiter, Peggy Logan, Tracey Predry, and Lucy Vasquez.

CROCKETT COUNTY 4-H NEWS

Judging teams win big at Sonora

BY ANN STAPPER
CROCKETT COUNTY 4-H

The Crockett County 4-H judging teams finished off their year at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show on June 18-19.

For some of the judges this was the 10th contest they had competed in since the beginning of February and they again represented their county well.

The Sonora Wool and Mohair Show strives for a well-rounded individual, not just someone who can excel in one event. Judges compete in Livestock, Range, Wool and Mohair.

Taylor Babb and Sydney Flores competed in the Junior Division. Sydney placed second in Livestock, third in Range, third in Wool and was first in all contests combined.

In the Senior Division Kinsey Chandler, Thomas Cruz, Timothy Maldonado, and Lanna Stapper competed.

As a team they placed second in Livestock, fourth in Mohair and first in Range and brought home the coveted traveling silver bowl for the E.B. Keng award, which goes to the highest scoring Range team.

This is the third year out of the past four that Crockett County has gotten to engrave its name on the bowl.

Individually, Kinsey placed first in Livestock, third in Range, second in Wool and third in Mohair, and she received first in all contests com-combined. Lanna was first in Range and third in all contests combined.

Any student from third grade on up who would like to join the 4-H judging teams and their winning traditions should contact the Agrilife Extension office.

Practices start in February and run through the middle of June. Scholarships are given to high point individuals in three of the contests.

THIS BEAUTIFUL QUILT is the prize for a drawing to benefit the Crockett County Health and Wellness Center during a June 28 social fund-raiser at the Civic Center. Tickets are $1 to enter the drawing and available from any health and wellness center board member. The quilt was made by the Senior Center Quilting Ladies.

Geological top surfaces constructed in this study include from deepest to land surface; the Ellenberger, the San Andres, the Yates, the Salado Salt, the Rustler anhydrite, the Dockum (Santa Rosa), the Trinity Sand (Antlers) and the Edwards Limestone.

The deeper formations were included to better understand the vertical spacing and possible geological structure between hydrocarbon related injection wells and the overlying aquifers. Countywide maps illustrating the depths to the top of these geological surfaces will provide the District, county's residents and local driller's with guidance for future water well drilling.

Upon delivery in October, the study will provide Edwards Limestone Aquifer saturated thickness, and net saturated sand thickness maps of the Trinity Antlers Sand and Dockum (Santa Rosa) Sand.

Historical and present water level surfaces will be constructed to assist the District in the management of its groundwater resources.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the District will be held following this presentation.

For more information, call Slate Williams, general manager of the Crockett County Groundwater District, at 392-5156.

briefing with U.S. Customs & Border Protection officers, and his tour of a detention facility where he said people who illegally crossed into Texas are being housed.

Last week U.S. Rep. Nancy Pelosi, D-California, was in Brownsville where she visited a federal detention facility. On June 26, Pelosi wrote to House Speaker John Boehner, asking for a bipartisan solution to "the humanitarian crisis at the southern border." President Obama on June 28 announced he would ask Congress to approve $2 billion in emergency aid to help Texas and other states address the crisis.

COURT RULES IN EPA CASE

The U.S. Supreme Court on June 23 ruled in Utility Air Regulatory Group v. Environmental Protection Agency et al., a case brought by a group of states including Texas. The federal agency's methods of regulatory oversight over how states meet greenhouse gas emissions guidelines through permitting processes were ruled out of bounds.

Texas Attorney General Abbott reacted, writing, "Today the U.S. Supreme Court delivered a stern rebuke to the President" who he said had used "unelected bureaucracies to override the will of the people."
