Ybarra retiring at 91

Forty years working at the Ozona Methodist Church

BY JEAN REARDON

OZONA UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Inez Ybarra has lovingly cared for the Ozona United Methodist Church as its custodian and grounds keeper for over 40 years.

Pastors and members have come and gone through the years, but E.Z. has always been there.

This summer, at the age of 91, he has decided the time has come to retire.

Although the church members and staff are deeply saddened at no longer having his daily presence and impeccable work, they understand this difficult decision.

With deep gratitude for his devotion to them and their facilities, they have invited his family to join them in honoring him with a hamburger supper on Sunday, July 27, evening.

Both his church family and blood family love and respect him deeply. Thank you, E.Z.

Now the process has begun to fill the positions which E.Z., so capably filled.

Folks interested are asked to contact the church office (392-3060) for more information.

2019: Big Lake — Population 17,262

BY J.L. MANKIN
THE BIG LAKE WILDCAT

The City of Big Lake could reach a population of 17,262 by the end of the decade according to a report produced by the engineering firm Enprotec / Hibbs & Todd, Inc.

The report was presented to the Big Lake City Council last week during a budget workshop.

Engineer John Voller was on hand to explain the study and its impact on Big Lake's immediate and long term future.

"We have three projections for Big Lake depending on exactly where these companies decide to locate their work force within the area," Voller said. "The 17,000 number is what I consider a worst case scenario."

The other two figures have Big Lake at a population of 14,000 or 11,900 by 2019.

Big Lake's population during the 2010 census was 2,936.

"We are basing our calculations on current growth trends, water development board figures, trends in the Eagle Ford shale, and discussions with major oil and gas development companies," Voller said.

"Those numbers show a major increase in the transient population as the drilling phase of this boom continues."

The projection, no matter which scenario you look at, has the drilling phase peaking from 2019 to 2025.

"At that point the field will be built," Voller said. "Big Lake will see the transient population begin to go away and a more stable population will emerge."

All three lines on the projection's graph come to rest at a population of 7,262 by 2026.

"We have solid figures on how many wells will be in production by that time," Voller said. "With that we can calculate how many people it will take to produce the wells."

Voller said that the city of Big Lake will have to begin preparing now for the effects of such a population spike.

"One of our biggest concerns is the city's waste water plant," Voller said. "The city just finished a new expansion to the facility, and it was over 75 percent capacity as soon as it went on line."

The Environmental Protection Agency requires municipalities begin planning expansion of their waste water plant as soon as they hit 75 percent capacity to allow time for permitting and construction.

"They require you to be in the construction phase when you hit 90 percent capacity for your plant," Voller said. "Big Lake is seeing flows of 400,000 gallons per day now. At 461,000 gallons per day it will hit the 90 percent mark."

Voller said that the city should plan on building a waste water plant that can handle 1,000,000 gallons per day within the next one to three years, but also have the ability to efficiently scale it back once the stable population arrives.

"Right now the best plan of action is to prepare for the worst, but hope for the best," Voller said. "We can watch water usage, waste

Texas solar farm employs lamb landscapers

BY JIM MALEWITZ
TEXAS TRIBUNE

SAN ANTONIO — The landscapers at this 45-acre solar farm northeast of downtown do not complain that they are only paid in shrubbery. After about three months on the job, the bleating crew has kept the grounds in sheep-shape.

Since April, the site's operator, OCI Solar Power, has used about 90 Barbados-cross sheep as a low-cost, low-effort solution to controlling the overgrowth that would otherwise impede the company's technicians.

The 4.4-megawatt solar farm where the sheep graze is part of a series of 400-megawatt plants that CPS Energy, San Antonio's municipal utility, plans to add to its portfolio by 2016. On average, a megawatt of solar energy can heat and cool as many as 100 Texas homes on a hot summer day. During average temperatures, it can power many times more.

"The sheep have done a really good job of keeping it nice," Sara Krueger, an OCI Solar spokeswoman, said as she watched seven of them chomp the pasture between two rows of solar panels. "They seem to be moving naturally around the site."

Sheep grazing is not a widespread practice at Texas solar farms, but it has been used elsewhere, particularly in California and parts of Europe. Contracting with a local breeder to bring sheep to a solar installation is cheaper than hiring two-legged grounds keepers, companies say, and easier than trying to maneuver lawn equipment in tight spaces. Sharing the land also helps the local agricultural economy, industry leaders say.

"It was good to see it was actually quite common" outside of Texas, said Charlie Hemmeline, executive director of the recently formed Texas Solar Power Association. "The fact that you've got a solar plant there isn't necessarily restrictive to other uses such as grazing."

Recurrent Energy of San Francisco, which recently signed a deal with Austin's municipal utility to build a 150-megawatt solar farm in West Texas, said it had seen "great success" grazing sheep at four sites in Sacramento.

Sheriff very concerned about drug issue

When I asked the Sheriff what was on his mind this morning, he said he is always very concerned about the drug problem in our county.

He says he is always amazed that some people think that drugs are a recent problem that Crockett County has obtained, but it is not a recent development at all. Sheriff says he remembers when he worked for the sheriff's department in 1985, he can remember drug offenders being arrested and charged for the same substances being abused and distributed today.

Sheriff is hearing more of an outcry from the public due to the drug problem today mostly because of the emphasis he and his deputies are placing on the problem.

Sheriff has some very aggressive deputies that

ON PATROL

believe strongly in trying to eliminate or at least lessen the damage this poison is doing to our children, their parents, neighbors, business owners, friends, and other relatives.

Sheriff and his department are drawing attention to the people that other people recognize as being in the "drug business."

Some of the general public does not understand why some of the offenders are still in town. They do not know that some of these offenders have multiple arrests and outstanding charges against them and are awaiting trial or other court procedures.

It is mistakenly believed that because these people are not in jail that they are not in trouble. Some of these people are in big trouble. Some of these people are in big trouble and are just waiting for adjudication. The law says they have a right to bail while they wait (more on that next time).

The sheriff has five children, 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, and he feels very protective of them. He says he is sure other family members feel the same about their kids and family. He says that he has been entrusted by his office to keep this county a safe place for all the families.

Sheriff Rodriguez said when he took his oath of office and swore to preserve, protect and defend the laws of the United States, the State of Texas, and Crockett County, that he meant every word of that oath.

He said it had so much more meaning for him than just a ceremony; he really meant that statement about commitment. This is a commitment he does not take lightly.

The people that are found to be in possession of drugs and their families are not fond of the Sheriff and his deputies for their aggressive stand on drugs in this town.

He is very serious about making Crockett County a safer place for his family and yours.

JANET PULLEN is the deputy Animal Control Officer for the Crockett County Sheriff's Office. Contact her at (325) 392-2661.

The heartbreak of being a teacher in Texas

On Aug. 15, teachers in the Del Valle Independent School District return to the classroom, but most of us will go back earlier. We love our students, and we cannot wait to prepare for their arrival. As we return to our classrooms, we always notice those who do not: experienced teachers who have left, whose loss is a loss for our students.

TRIB TALK
KATIE PLEMMONS

Coming back means looking at back-to-school sales to purchase supplies. Each year, I spend at least $200 for my ninth-grade English classroom, but elementary teachers and science teachers spend much more. My sister, who teaches pre-kindergarten, goes to Wal-Mart every other week during the school year to buy supplies for her classroom.

Going back to work means going back to a 50- or 60-hour workweek. At Del Valle High School, our contract hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., but we stay until 5:30 p.m. once a week to tutor. We arrive early to prepare our classrooms. We stay late or take work home to update grades, perfect lessons and prepare activities. We stay later for athletic events, fine arts performances and parent meetings. We work at least one day most weekends.

When you work with students every day, you learn that each one is unique. We do not have standardized students, and recognizing the challenges each student deals with requires experience, time and individual attention, which are in short supply in an era of standardized testing and crowded classrooms. Teachers must navigate these challenges while meeting the demands of our school's unique culture.

We are bleeding experienced educators who create a school community, and if we do not stanch the wound, students will suffer.

When teachers leave, students lose role models and academic support. Collaborative planning teams lose educators who know the curriculum, have had success and have built team unity. As a fifth-year teacher, I have been at Del Valle High School longer than 90 percent of my department. My English I team has had 60 percent turnover three years in a row, and student achievement has not yet matched performance prior to that turnover.

Our teachers are leaving because of the demands on our time and salaries that do not compensate us for our time. This year I received a 3 percent cost-of-living increase, but during my first two years on the job, my "raise" was the annual salary step increase, about $10 per paycheck.

Our teachers are leaving because we work second jobs or summer jobs to support our families, losing time needed to reflect, plan and become better educators.

Our teachers are leaving because high-stakes testing robs children of the joy of learning. My students take a STAAR-style test in every subject, tested or not, each six weeks. We write curriculum around the exam. Teachers, especially in low-income schools, are shackled to the demands of the test. Students view education as being about tests, not learning.

Our teachers are leaving because our health care plans are unaffordable. For some, full family care costs more per month than their mortgage. Less costly high-deductible plans require enrollees to meet a $2,500 deductible before anything is covered outside of federal requirements. One of my co-workers worked 20 hours per week at a second job to offset health care costs, only to have a doctor say that second job was endangering his health. My district has tried to address this issue, but the state has not increased its $75 monthly contribution for teacher health care since 2002.

On Aug. 15, I will return for my fifth year in the classroom, but it may be my last. I don't want to leave. I love teaching. I love my students. I love knowing they leave my classroom with new knowledge. But time demands, salary constraints, poor health care, and the heartbreak of hearing that my class is "just about the test" make it hard to teach and have a healthy family life.

As a community, we must work together to change the culture of education so teachers no longer have to consider leaving the students and the work we love.

KATIE PLEMMONS is a ninth-grade English teacher at Del Valle High School in southeast Austin. She is a member of the Del Valle Education Association, a chapter of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Signs Of Overpopulation

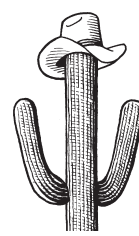

I'm not what you'd call a real people person. I like being alone with myself and enjoy people only in small bunches. I get the heebie-jeebies in a crowd or the big city and, like Owen Wister, author of The Virginian, I like the feeling that "each breath you take tells you no one else has ever used it before you."

Other than my college years and one year on the outskirts of Albuquerque, I've always lived in, or near, a small town. For the past 30 years we've lived next to a sprawling state park on the outskirts of a town called Los Osos, where an onslaught of people has yet to arrive. I get my mail in a neighboring town because 30 years ago no post office boxes were available at our Post Office and some weeks, due to high demand, their allotment of one roll of stamps per week was sold before I got there.

When we first moved here we only had one Mexican restaurant and one grocery store, and it wasn't a chain store. Now two chains have divided the small pie and due to a lack of customers there's plenty of parking, I always have access to my beloved Skinny Cow fudge bars and seldom do I encounter another person in the same aisle.

Judging by the age of folks here, we still seem to be thinning out the herd and the cemetery is still growing faster than the town. But I am concerned because we are staring to see signs of overpopulation.

Just recently the billboard at the Community Center listed two events ON THE

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

SAME DAY, whereas before, they didn't have two events in the same month. Last Thursday both the Food Bank and Weight Watchers met; one meeting was for people who needed food and the other was for people who don't. I don't know if the fact that our little burg is large enough to support a Weight Watchers group is because our town has grown so big, or the people in it have.

I look back fondly at the time when our town was still stuck in the dark ages and we didn't have a geologist, gynecologist, golf pro, Round Table or a Dominoes. And we didn't have a single red light in town, ether of the traffic or companionship variety. We didn't have a street sweeper, police force (still don't) and the Sheriff was always there if needed if we had a crime wave, such as a jaywalker. We didn't have a local dog catcher and none was needed because we all knew which dog belonged where. We still don't have an airport, arts council or museum and neither Mr. Peanut, the Oscar Meyer Wiener Mobile, or a Presidential candidate has ever made a stop here.

Thirty years ago you wouldn't think of staying overnight in our small town unless your car broke down or you were hopelessly lost. Now we have a motel and a couple old houses have been turned into Bed and Breakfasts and, I must admit, they were a welcome addition when the in-laws came to visit.

For years we had no form of local government and it was wonderful. Then a bunch of busybodies decided we needed another layer of government to support and our town became a "community services district". Whatever that is. Our new local leaders bought new pickups, letterhead stationery and some ground for an all new sewer right in the middle of town. Then they declared bankruptcy.

On a positive note, I'm happy to report that in my small town cows still outnumber lawyers, there are more speed bumps than traffic signals, and my wife and I would be the only Pitts in the phone book. If we had one.

I'm reluctant to say how much I love my small town because I don't want big city folks to "discover" our town and relocate or retire here. We already have too many goofy greenies and urbanite idiots. So, let me hasten to add that the few sidewalks we have roll up at eight, we don't have a movie theater, or any other form of entertainment, and the place is overrun by coyotes, skateboarders, mountain lions, soccer moms, old hippies, and bear statues. So, get out while you still can.

Dewhurst appoints Senate Finance chair

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst on July 17 appointed Sen. Jane Nelson, R-Flower Mound, as chair of the powerful, state budget-writing Senate Finance Committee. The two-year state budget totals close to $200 billion.

Nelson, the first woman in the history of the state to chair the committee, called the appointment "a tremendous honor and responsibility" and pledged that under her leadership the committee would "keep the Texas miracle moving full steam ahead." She has served as a member of the committee for seven legislative sessions, including the current session. The committee soon will be at work, as state agency legislative appropriation requests pour in.

Dewhurst, who presides over the Texas Senate, also named additional members of the committee: Sens. Brian Birdwell, R-Granbury; Kelly Hancock, R-North Richland Hills; Robert Nichols, R-Jacksonville; and Sen. Charles Schwertner, R-Georgetown. Those senators replace Sens. Tommy Williams, R-The Woodlands, who resigned to take a position with Texas A&M; Bob Deuell, R-Greenville, who was defeated in the March Republican primary elections; Robert Duncan, R-Lubbock, who resigned to become chancellor of Texas Tech University; and Glenn Hegar, R-Katy, who is running for state comptroller.

Dewhurst also appointed Nelson and three senators to another powerful panel, the Legislative Budget Board. The three are Sens. Kevin Eltife, R-Tyler; Craig Estes, R-Wichita Falls; and Juan "Chuy" Hinojosa, D-McAllen. The board is a body of five members of the Senate and five members of the House of Representatives. The body sets the constitutional spending limit and develops the draft appropriations bill.

Dewhurst's term of office ends Dec. 31. Sen. Dan Patrick, R-Houston, and Sen. Leticia Van de Putte, D-San Antonio, are vying to be the state's next lieutenant governor. Whoever wins will have the power to appoint all Senate committees.

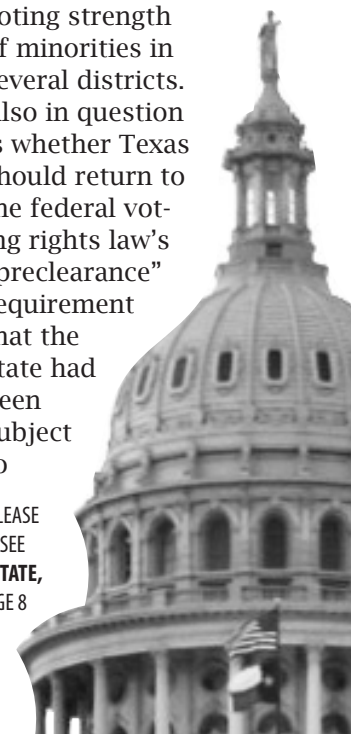

ELECTION LAW CASE IS HEARD

A state House redistricting plan passed by the 2011 Texas Legislature was challenged in a San Antonio U.S. district court last week.

The lawsuit, brought by minority voting rights plaintiffs and joined by the U.S.

Department of Justice, alleges the Texas Legislature intentionally diluted the voting strength of minorities in several districts. Also in question is whether Texas should return to the federal voting rights law's "preclearance" requirement that the state had been subject to

Sales Tax Holiday is Aug. 8-10

Texas Comptroller Susan Combs reminds shoppers they can save money on certain items priced under $100 during the state's annual sales tax holiday.

This year, the sales tax holiday is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8-10.

The law exempts most clothing, footwear, school supplies and backpacks priced under $100 from sales tax, which could save shoppers about $8 on every $100 they spend during the weekend.

"Families gearing up for the new school year will not pay any sales tax for many back-to-school items ranging from pens to blue jeans," Combs said. "When the back-to-school list is long and the money is short, it can be difficult for Texas families. We hope this tax break will help ease that burden."

Lists of apparel and school supplies that may be purchased tax free can be found on the Comptroller's website at www.TexasTaxHoliday.org.

This year, shoppers will save an estimated $82.7 million in state and local sales taxes during the Sales Tax Holiday.

The tax holiday weekend has been an annual event since 1999.

For more information, visit www.TexasTaxHoliday.org.

Sales Tax training July 24

Experts from the State Comptroller's Office will conduct a Sales Tax Training from 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. July 24 at the Crockett County Public Library.

Topics to be covered include basics of sales tax, what is and isn't taxable, responsibilities as a taxpayer, how to complete a sales tax return and more.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION

A Special Creation

A friend of mine in Tyler, Texas quoted Mark Twain on Facebook the other day, in which Mark Twain stated that man was an animal. I commented on his post and stated that Mark Twain was wrong and that man was a special creation of God and not an animal.

When God created the plant and vegetable life He gave to them an "environmental consciousness." The plants and trees of this world are aware of their surroundings. They can discern certain things such as the soil in which they are planted, the changing of the seasons and the temperature of the air surrounding them.

When God created the animal world He not only gave to them an environmental consciousness but also gave to them a "self consciousness."

PASTOR DAN SLEDGE

The animal kingdom is aware of the need to provide shelter, food and protection for themselves and the need to nurture, care and protect their young. This kind of ability He did not give to the plant life.

When God created mankind He not only gave us an environmental and a self-consciousness but God Himself breathed into man a special consciousness that the plant and animal kingdom do not have. He gave to us a "God consciousness."

We and we alone are keenly aware of the presence and person of a sovereign and supreme Being that is ultimately in control of this universe. This ability He did not give to the animals. Mankind is not only aware of the presence of God but is also aware that we must provide a sacrifice to appease the anger of this sovereign deity. Do not misunderstand!! God is not angry with you but He is angry with the sin that alienates us from Himself and the love and grace of God.

Jesus became that blood sacrifice so that when God the Father looks upon us we are justified in His sight. "The Lord God formed the man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living being." Genesis 2:7 (NIV).

Blessings, Dr. Dan

DAN SLEDGE is the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Ozona, Texas.

FREE AT LAST

Over the years I have visited and worked with the youth in prison. I have talked to, prayed with and tried to help them with their relationship with God. While talking to them I became aware of a few things they are very concerned about. One was their families and another was how much time or what requirements they must complete before they are free. Each one of them has broken the law at least once and some of them many times. For some their accounts (debt to society) with the judicial system would be fulfilled or paid very soon for others it will be a long time. I tried to share with them about God and man's relationship to Him. The Bible says we all are in debt to God or we have disobeyed and broken His laws, (Romans 3:10-12 & 23). God loves us but his anger or wrath (punishment) is against us because of our disobedience or sin (Romans 6:23). Our sin debt can't be paid by keeping the law (Romans 3:20) because we all have broken the law at one time or another. The only way we can have peace with God is through the life of Christ and His death, which provided His sinless atoning blood (Romans 3:24, 4:7&8, 5:6-10). Has our sin debt to God been settled and are we in good standing (at peace) with Him? Why not get free today?

Texas moving to one registration sticker

Drivers will soon have one inspection sticker on their windshield instead of two.

The Texas Department of Motor Vehicles will no longer issue inspection stickers. Instead after passing the state inspection you will receive one sticker with your registration.

The new law won't go into effect until March 1, 2015. Once the law goes into effect, drivers will not be able to get a new registration sticker without first passing state inspections.

This is what House Bill 2305, which the Legislature approved in last year's session, will soon require:

"HB 2305 discontinues the vehicle inspection sticker and requires the registration sticker to serve as proof of both inspection and registration," Texas Department of Motor Vehicles Director Whitney Brewster told the Senate Transportation Committee on June 23.

"Once fully implemented, the vehicle will have to pass the required inspection no more than 90 days prior to the registration sticker expiring in order for the registration to be renewed," Brewster said. The process, called "Two Steps, One Sticker," is projected to save the state $2.1 million a year, mainly on reduced paperwork and the cost of issuing the stickers.

"The agency is working with DPS and TCEQ to ensure there is a smooth transition for our customers," Brewster said in reference to the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality.

"This is a big impact on costumers, and we certainly want to work out all of the issues to minimize the impact on those customers," she told the panel.

Anticipating some confusion or misunderstanding of the new law when the switch goes into effect, there will be a grace period of several months during the transition.

In addition, the DMV posted on its website how the process will work.

The protocol for inspections will remain the same, but instead of car shops physically writing out the sticker, they will enter the inspection information on the state database and give drivers a paper receipt.

When drivers go to the DMV, their information will be in the system and will be able to receive their new registration sticker. The DMV does advise people to bring their receipt with them, if for some reason their information isn't found on the computer.

The DMV advises drivers to be aware of the expiration date on their inspection stickers.

If inspection stickers expire before March 1, 2015 drivers should renew it like they normally would; then next time around they will receive one sticker.

For other drivers, beginning March 1, 2015, people will have 90 days to get their vehicles inspected prior to the date of expiration on their registration.

The state will save around $2 million dollars not having to print stickers and it will also cut down on the fraudulent inspection stickers.

"The bill would require $5.50 of each passenger car or light truck inspection fee and $10 of each commercial vehicle inspection fee to be remitted to the state at the time of the inspection," the Legislative Budget Board said in part of its fiscal analysis of the measure.

In addition, "local entities could see negative fiscal impact due to the potential loss of revenue from fees collected for the Low Income Repair Assistance, Retrofit, and Accelerated Vehicle Retirement programs," the board's analysis reads. "Additionally, county courts would see a decrease in fees associated with charges relating to inspection certificates."

Tambunga chosen as Hometown Hero

Every week, KLST-TV in San Angelo chooses a man or woman who embodies a Good Samaritan, is a leader in our community, and is a good example for our young people.

This week's Hometown Hero is Frank Tambunga. After serving 22 years in the Marines, some of which he was active duty in the Desert Storm, he retired as a Gunnery Staff Sergeant. Now, he is an active veteran in the Ozona community and even a Crockett County Commissioner for Precinct One.

Tambunga and his wife,

Irma, have been married for 28-years and they have four children, Manuel, Michelle, Roman, and Noah.

Frank Tambunga, thanks for being our Hometown Hero.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

We are still having the computer courses on Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. I do wish more of you would come take advantage of these courses. Modern technology is here to stay and we are getting further and further behind in our knowledge of how it works. You may say you do not want to learn about computers but it would make it a lot easier on you if you did. Not only for keeping up with your finances or reading and keeping up with what is going on in the world, etc. It will help you have something to talk to the younger set about.

You may have noticed the article in the paper about 'Answers on Aging July 24 at Senior Center'. This will be put on by the Concho Valley Transit District. They are working to offer information and awareness to the citizens of Crockett County. They are holding an Outreach service on Thursday, July 24, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. here at the center. They will be teaching us about the services they offer through the Area Agency on Aging. There will be a lot of information regarding each program. Kelsey Atkinson will be the outreach Coordinator for this valuable information. She is easy to talk to and is full of useful information. Come meet her and find out how to take advantage of the programs offered.

We have been trying the new exercise tape on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. It was a real workout, but everyone can quit when it gets to be too much. It is exciting because it has modern music in the background. You should come out and try it.

The Balance Exercise is working better in the morning - so we will leave it in the morning at 9 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

If there is something you would like to have started at the center, please let me know and I will make it try to happen. Don't forget the trade table. We have really had a good time with the trash to treasure table lately. Thank you to the ones that have donated this table.

Exercise is 9 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Bridge is Monday afternoons at 1:30 p.m. Balance exercise is Tuesday and Thursday at 9 a.m. Quilting is Thursday mornings at 9:30 a.m. Mexican Train is 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Prayer Group is Wednesday at 3:00 p.m. Come on out - the coffee is on.

water flows and how many meters are in the city to decide exactly which population path Big Lake will be taking."

Voller said if the population takes the lower route the city may be able to save money by building a smaller waste water expansion.

"No matter what you will have to build the plant to accommodate the peak caused by the transient population," Voller said. "It is just something you can't get around."

Voller presented the council with an estimate of what it will cost to bring the city's waste water capacity to 1,000,000 gallons per day. "You are looking at between $5 million and $7 million to complete the project," Voller said. "This one won't be like the last expansion. You will have to do much more than add a basin. Most of the major hardware will have to be doubled up on."

Voller said that the city should also plan on preparing an ACR analysis on the water system to evaluate the effect of impending population growth, evaluate the remaining useful life of the existing landfill cell, prepare a drainage system study to the current drainage bottlenecks and identify conceptual improvement alternatives, and complete a computer hydraulic modeling and/or camera inspection of the waste water collection system.

"In the right type of location, there are many benefits that sheep grazing can have," said Cate Powers, a Recurrent spokeswoman.

First Solar, an Arizona-based company that is building a 22-megawatt plant in Pecos County in West Texas, said it had experimented with sheep grazing but had not done a cost-benefit analysis.

At the San Antonio plant, which is home to thousands of solar panels, OCI Solar describes its grazing as an experiment that has worked well. The meandering sheep appear to have done their job; patches of grass reach no higher than a foot despite recent heavy rains. The sheep have not chewed on cables or jumped on panels, which goats — their equally hungry cousins — are more apt to do. The lone mishap thus far, Krueger said, came when one wily sheep sneaked through a gap in a locked gate. OCI staff members teamed up with a police officer and a local resident to corral the animal within 30 minutes.

The sheep receive fresh water on site and can take refuge from the Texas sun beneath the solar panels, which extend several feet off the ground.

OCI Solar recently unleashed additions to its grazing operation: two herding dogs, both Great Pyrenees mixes, intended to ward off coyotes. On a recent afternoon that topped 90 degrees, one of the high-energy pups spent half an hour bounding alongside a reporter and his hosts, showing more interest in getting belly rubs and finding shade beneath the solar panels than protecting sheep.

The company plans to keep the flock of sheep on site for 10 months, at which point a Texas breeder will sell the sheep and bring in a new team. The company is also considering adding sheep at its much larger, 41-megawatt plant in hopes that the animals could cover all 500 acres.

TEXAS COMMISSION ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF APPLICATION AND INTENT TO OBTAIN WATER QUALITY PERMIT AMENDMENT

PERMIT NO. WQ0014240001

APPLICATION. Circle Bar Truck Corral, Inc., P.O. Box 1498, Ozona, Texas 76943, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) to amend Texas Land Application Permit (TLAP) No. WQ0014240001 to authorize a new lined facultative lagoon system including lined evaporation ponds with no irrigation. The domestic wastewater treatment facility and disposal area are located approximately 6.5 miles east of the City of Ozona at the intersection of Interstate Highway 10 and Taylor Box Road in Crockett County, Texas 76943. TCEQ received this application on March 25, 2014. The permit application is available for viewing and copying at Crockett County Courthouse Annex, County Clerk's Office, 909 Avenue D, Ozona, Texas. This link to an electronic map of the site or facility's general location is provided as a public courtesy and not part of the application or notice. For exact location, refer to application.

<http://www.tceq.texas.gov/assets/public/hb610/index.html?lat=30.699444&lng=-101.083888&zoom=13&type=r>

ADDITIONAL NOTICE. TCEQ's Executive Director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. After technical review of the application is complete, the Executive Director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of the Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the county-wide mailing list and to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the deadline for submitting public comments.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting on this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ will hold a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments, and the Executive Director's decision on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision and for requesting a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name, address, phone number; applicant's name and proposed permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the proposed facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; and, the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group or association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility or activity; explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are relevant to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission will only grant a contested case hearing on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on issues that were raised in timely filed comments that were not subsequently withdrawn.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number; and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION. All written public comments and requests must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TCEQ, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087. If you need more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call TCEQ Public Education Program, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040. Si desea información en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040. General information about TCEQ can be found at our web site at www.tceq.texas.gov.

Lancaster Hill highway closed July 29-30

The Texas Department of Transportation will close U.S. Highway 290 at Lancaster Hill from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. July 29-30 for core drilling of the road surface.

Engineers will be doing this work to determine the integrity of the soil in the subgrade areas where the rock wall failed, said Karen A. Threlkeld, TxDOT Public Information Officer.

During evening hours and until all repair work is completed, U.S. Highway 290 will remain one lane/shoulder to oncoming traffic on Lancaster Hill.

"Once the drill sampling results are known, we will have a better idea as the best way to repair the damaged areas. As you know, part of the retaining wall was damaged with the heavy rain the area experienced over the Memorial Day weekend," Threlkeld said.

For more information, call the San Angelo TxDOT office at 947-9205.

since the law was passed in 1965 — until 2013 — when federal preclearance of election laws passed by covered entities such as Texas was struck down in a 5-4 decision by the U.S. Supreme Court in Shelby County (Alabama) v. Holder.

Later this summer, the court will hear other cases over the Texas Legislature's 2013 House redistricting plan and 2011 and 2013 congressional redistricting plans. A decision by the three-judge court panel is to be rendered after all of the cases have been heard.

TEXAS ADDS JOBS IN JUNE

Texas Workforce Commission on July 18 announced the state economy added 19,100 seasonally adjusted total non-farm jobs in June for a total of 371,000 jobs added since June 2013.

Texas' seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in June was 5.1 percent. In June 2013 the rate was 6.4 percent. Nationally, the unemployment rate for June 2014 was 6.1 percent, an improvement of 1.4 percent over the previous year, as calculated by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

RANGER REACHES HIGH RANK

Texas Department of Public Safety on July 17 announced the promotion of Texas Ranger Wende Wakeman to the rank of lieutenant, making her the highest-ranking woman in Texas Ranger history, according to an agency news release.

The promotion is effective Aug. 1. Wakeman joined the DPS as a highway patrol trooper in 1998. She became a DPS narcotics sergeant in 2003 and moved to the Texas Rangers in 2008.

COUNCIL REJECTS PROPOSED BAN

Denton City Council, at its July 15-16 meeting, voted down a citizen-driven proposed ordinance to ban hydraulic fracturing by the oil and gas industry within city limits. A citizen petition, however, gained enough signatures to put the proposal on the November election ballot.

COURT OKS ADMISSIONS POLICY

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, in a 2-1 decision on July 15, ruled the University of Texas' method of achieving racial diversity in selecting incoming freshmen did not violate the constitutional rights of a white student who did not gain admission to the institution in 2008 and sued.

Heard by the U.S. Supreme Court in 2012, the case was remanded to the Fifth Circuit for "strict scrutiny," that is, to determine if the university's policies were necessary and effective toward enrolling a "critical mass" of minority students.
