Kerrville man killed in vehicle accident

A Kerrville man was killed in a one vehicle accident last week on Interstate-10.

Joe Leslie Kious, 69, of Kerrville, was pronounced dead at the scene by Crockett County Justice of the Peace Evelyn Lozano, according to a report from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Kious was driving at 2008 Ford F-150 near the 349 mile marker when the vehicle went off the right side of the roadway, the report stated.

Kious then overcorrected to the left into the center median, overcorrected again to the right causing the vehicle to overturn numerous times, the report stated.

The accident occurred at 11:26 a.m. Dec. 5.

No passengers were in the vehicle.

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, Crockett County EMS and the Crockett Sheriff's Office all responded.

It was investigated by DPS Trooper Whitney Gardner, of Sonora.

County, fire department discuss equipment policy

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

A policy for using county road equipment was discussed Monday between the commissioners and the fire department.

At their regular meeting, the commissioners met with members of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department to set a policy on the fire department using county road equipment.

Currently, the fire department's water tanker is out for repairs. On recent fire calls, the fire department has requested to use the county's water tanker.

"Our truck is still getting worked on. When we sent it in we were told we would have a county tanker available," said Jordan De La Rosa, firefighter.

If the tanker is not available then local companies, Texas Energy and Nabors, have responded to provide water for the department.

"Do you know how much Texas Energy and Nabors have saved the county? How about when the fire department gets a call, we call and explain the situation and give a heads up that we might need the water truck," said Steve Kenley, fire marshal.

Road Department Supervisor Jeffrey Stuart said he had no problem with a heads up call. He also said every recent request he has received about the water tanker has been through Commissioner Frank Tambunga and not the fire department, and that the tanker has been sent except for one time when the tanker was being used for road work.

"That's going to happen. It takes two to two and half hours to get that truck ready," Stuart said.

Station Attendant Georgia Morrow said she has been in contact with Tambunga every time and that the water tanker has not been available.

"That has been every time. It's documented on our records," Morrow said. Commissioner Eligio Martinez

Commissioners approves resolution supporting public notices

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

The Crockett County Commissioners' Court passed a resolution Monday supporting public notices in newspapers.

Ozona Stockman Editor and Publisher Melissa Perner presented the resolution that stated "the purpose of public notices is to make citizens aware of governmental actions and intent," and "eliminating print notice would effectively disenfranchise these citizens from civic involvement."

The resolution also stated that the commissioners oppose any legislation that would remove public notices from being printed in newspapers.

The resolution stems from House Bill 139, which has been filed by State Rep. Jonathan Stickland, R-Bedford.

The bill would require public notices to be posted on the state comptroller's website and would make newspaper publication of the full notice optional in most cases. Instead of having the full notice printed in the paper, a governmental entity could simply run a small blurb in the paper to give readers the website address for the notice. For election notices, however, a full-fledged newspaper notice would still be required.

Commissioner Pleas Childress said he is facing a similar battle with the soil and water conservation district. He said not everyone has access to computers and the Internet.

Perner said many newspapers, including The Ozona Stockman, already publish public notices on their websites. The Texas Press Association also has a statewide database for public notices.

"I want to thank the Crockett County Commissioners for approving this resolution and showing that they support transparency in government by supporting public notices in newspapers," Perner said. "The purpose of public notices is to make citizens aware of governmental actions and intent. There is no more effective way to notify large numbers of people than with newspapers, which publish the notices both in print and online."

The Ozona Stockman is a member of the Texas Press Association and Perner is a member of the association's Legislative Advisory Committee. The committee and association are working to fight the bill.

"I encourage everyone to write, call or e-mail your state representative and state senator and let them know how this bill will hinder government transparency by placing these notices on a website and taking them out of newspapers," Perner said.

Handling the busy holiday business season

To many small business owners, this is a crazy time of year. You are pushing projects across the finish line. Completing performance reviews with employees. Finalizing plans and budgets for next year. Oh, and the holidays are coming to bring even more chaos onto your over-scheduled calendar. Some companies are not running what is called a "lifestyle business." They are running businesses that are being milked by owners, partners or a few leaders in order to take lots of cash and cool perks for the few.

Most small business owners are committed to growing their businesses. They want to create jobs for lots of people. They are working on leaving a legacy of significance and pouring everything they have into making their business a success. The big mistake successful small business owners must avoid is working so hard there is little time or energy to enjoy what they have achieved. This risk is amplified during the holidays when the pressure of business can be greater than at any other time of the year. There are opportunities outside of business hours that are more plentiful than ever and time seems to be in shorter supply than usual. Let's look at ways in which to make your holiday season a little less stressful and more enjoyable.

Make a personal plan. Try and allot two hours of quiet time to think critically about what you want to be celebrating during the holidays: business, family and personal. Think about the three or four most important business priorities you want to accomplish in the last days of the year. Your team should know these priorities are critical factors for the company. Estimate the number of hours you will invest into these priorities. Consider how much time you expect to allocate to entertaining customers during this time of year. Will you have to be away shopping or spending time away from the business? Delegate all you can to your employees. Hopefully you have employed good people, given them the tools they need to succeed, been very clear about your expectations and are now willing to let go. Until you begin turning loose certain activities and trusting key employees to develop their own solutions within boundaries you have set for them, your ability to have more time to work on growing your company will increase.

Embrace the season. Businesses have been working diligently all year to position themselves to achieve year-end objectives. The holidays are busy, but this is the time to focus on the final push to close out the year. It is also a great time for personal reflection and to get ready to re-energize yourself. Take time to enjoy special occasions, traditions and celebrations.

Keeping public notices in newspapers

The Ozona Stockman would like to applaud the Crockett County Commissioners' Court for recognizing the need for keeping public notices in newspapers.

At Monday's regular meeting, the commissioners approved a resolution that stated the purpose of public notices is to make citizens aware of governmental actions and intent. The resolution also stated that eliminating print notice would effectively disenfranchise citizens from civic involvement, and that the commissioners oppose any legislation that would remove public notices from being printed in newspapers.

This is a step forward in keeping public notices visible to the public.

Once again, a bill has been filed in the State Legislature that will take out the requirement of having these notices published in newspapers.

House Bill 139, filed by Jonathan Stickland, R-Bedford, states would require public notices to be posted on the state comptroller's website and would make newspaper publication of the full notice optional in most cases. Instead of having the full notice printed in the paper, a governmental entity could simply run a small blurb in the paper to give readers the website address for the notice.

We do not support this bill because it threatens to take away governmental transparency. The public is not going to look for their local tax notice, construction bid notice or school notice on a state website.

They will read the notice if it is in the local newspaper.

Newspapers, including The Ozona Stockman charge money for this service and if local governments didn't have to place these advertisements they would save monies — taxpayer monies. That's what politicians would have you believe. But it's a complicated issue.

When it comes to printed public notice, that price is miniscule. In fact, it's less than one percent of a local government or school district's budget.

Why is the important to you, the reader? Because public notices state information, plans and projects from government and businesses. This includes notices about local tax rates, water rates, school programs, construction projects, public meetings and oilfield fluid injections.

WHAT'S ON OUR MINDS EDITORIAL

The internet is a great tool, but there is much that needs to be considered when discussing the placement of public notices on the web. A public notice on the page of a newspaper can be documented for posterity. There is absolute proof that the notice appeared and documentation as to when and where it appeared.

The bill states that the comptroller's office will have to establish a new website, update it on a regular basis and provide an archive. None of these will come without taxpayer dollars being spent on services that newspapers already provide.

The Texas Press Association already has an established website that collects all the public notices in the state (www.txheadlines.com/index.php/public\_notices/). Newspapers already provide customer service in helping officials and businesses in getting these notices published.

Also, not everyone has access to the Internet.

Thirty-one percent of Texas adults don't have broadband — high-speed internet — at home, according to Connected Texas, a non-profit commissioned by the state to create maps of broadband coverage.

The newspaper industry is currently working to fight bills like this. We also ask the public to contact their state representative and state senator and tell them they want public notices to have a newspaper publication requirement.

Newspapers still fill a valuable role as the vertebrae of Texas communities. When you open up a newspaper, you can have confidence that if something important in your community has occurred, it will be in the paper.

Even in the age of the Internet, newspapers are still relied on as valuable community resources.

Christmas Greetings

I'm one of those people who said I'd never forgo the sending of traditional cards and instead send one of those form Christmas letters that we all get bragging about the exploits of the sender's family. But have you seen the cost of a box of Hallmark Christmas cards lately?

Couple that with the embarrassing problem of taking someone off your Christmas card list that you've mailed to for 30 years with no reply, only to receive a Christmas card from them the day before Christmas, which doesn't allow you anytime to reciprocate in kind, well, I decided this year to have my wife write and send an e mail Christmas letter to everyone this year.

In having my wife write our first ever arrogant Christmas letter she discovered that it took too much effort. So we wrote an arrogant form Christmas letter that anyone can adapt for their own use. In the spirit of Christmas giving, I offer it to you.

Dear (a) Friends; (b) Relatives; (c) Business Associates; (d) People We Want To Make Jealous;

Well, another year has passed and that means it's time to send out our arrogant annual Christmas letter to (a) wish everyone a merry Christmas; (b) make our friends feel inferior. The (a) cattle; (b) corn; (c) cotton; (d) futures market; was at an all time (a) high; (b) low; this year and so our entire family will be spending this holiday season (a) on an around-the-world cruise; (b) serving dinner to the poor and homeless; (c) eating Christmas dinner with the poor and homeless.

To maintain the appearance of our garish and opulent lifestyle this Christmas (a) my husband leased and gave to me a fully loaded Cadillac Escalade; (b) we got a second mortgage on the house despite a credit score in the low two hundreds; (c) I got another job in town (my third.). For vacation we spent (a) two weeks in Tuscany; (b) one week at the county fair drinking beer and watching hog races; (c) a week picking up trash along the county roads as part of a guilty plea agreement in which my worthless husband was given two weeks of community service.

Our entire family this year was humbled and honored (a) as Citizens of the Year; (b) to appear on the Judge Judy Show; (c) to finally emerge from bankruptcy protection. And as a concerned family of environmentalists this year (a) we installed solar panels, new insulation and wind machines; (b) we test drove a Prius; (c) my husband vowed to either walk or ride a horse everywhere he goes as a result of his third DUI. In addition to his strong commitment to the farming and ranching community he (a) serves as chairman of the local United Way; (b) organized the local Tea Party; (c) hosts weekly poker games; (d) organizes the betting pool for local high school football games. I continue to serve (a) as dessert chairman for the Daughters of the American Revolution; (b) weekends in the local slammer.

Our oldest son Steve this year was active once again in (a) FFA; (b) Weight Watchers; (c) Juvenile Hall; and he finally (a) graduated from Harvard; (b) flunked out of alternative high school; (c) got his ankle bracelet removed. Our oldest daughter Hyacinth was (a) Homecoming Queen; (b) an alternate member of the drill team; (c) knocked up by the Homecoming King. Our youngest son Josh this year got (a) his Drivers License; (b) ringworm from his steer that didn't make weight; (c) his first tattoo and tongue stud; (d) probation.

Finally we know you're all dying to hear about our wonder dog, Potlicker. This year he (a) won a statewide sheepdog trial; (b) lost a paternity fight with a Shih tzu bitch; (c) got shot by the neighbor for killing his chickens.

That's all for now. (a) Merry Christmas; (b) Happy Hanukah; (c) Eat your hearts out.

Perry directs state agencies to screen employees

AUSTIN — Gov. Rick Perry on Dec. 3 ordered state agencies to check the employment eligibility of current and prospective employees by using E-Verify, an Internet-based system that allows employers to determine the eligibility of their employees to work in the United States.

Perry also urged Congress to pass legislation "to provide the resources necessary to secure our southern border." Perry's announcements come in the wake of President Obama's executive action on immigration on Nov. 20. At the time, in a national broadcast, Obama said he would take various actions because of the protracted unwillingness of Congress to pass an immigration reform bill that addresses the legal status of millions of undocumented workers employed in Texas and other states by American business owners. A White House news release lists three elements of the president's executive actions:

1. Cracking down on illegal immigration at the border to increase the chances that anyone attempting to cross illegally will be caught and sent back; continuing the surge of resources that effectively reduced the number of unaccompanied children crossing the border illegally last summer; and centralizing border security command-and-control.

2. Deporting felons, not families to focus on the deportation of people who threaten national security and public safety; and directing immigration enforcement to place anyone suspected of terrorism, violent criminals, gang members and recent border crossers at the top of the deportation priority list.

3. Accountability through criminal background checks and taxes, to hold accountable those undocumented immigrants who have lived in the United States for more than five years and are parents of U.S. citizens or Lawful Permanent Residents.

Meanwhile, Perry said, "It's clear now more than ever that Congress must finally pass a bill that dedicates the necessary resources to securing our border, once and for all. Without border security, immigration reform is a fruitless exercise."

STATES CHALLENGE PRESIDENT

Texas was joined by 16 other states on Dec. 3 in filing a court challenge to President Obama's executive actions on immigration that he announced last month.

Texas Attorney General and governor-elect Greg Abbott, who filed the lawsuit in the U.S. District Court Southern District of Texas, wrote that the U.S. Constitution's Take Care Clause "limits the President's power and ensures that he will faithfully execute Congress's laws — not rewrite them under the guise of 'prosecutorial discretion.'"

Also claimed is that the Department of Homeland Security's directive

WORDS OF INSPIRATION

Hyssop for the soul

Most Bible students agree that Psalm 51 is the Psalmist David's plea of confession, forgiveness and repentance. After David committed sins of adultery and murder, it seems he did so with no apparent guilt, shame or remorse. One year passed and David was confronted by the prophet Nathan for what he had done. Being deeply convicted of his transgressions he confessed and sincerely repented of his wrongs. I have counted 15 other Psalms where David laments over the sins of his past. David was clearly devastated by the conviction that cut him to the heart.

In Psalm 51:7 David writes, "Cleanse me with hyssop, and I will be clean; wash me, and I will be whiter than snow." Hyssop is still used today in herbal pharmaceuticals. It is antiseptic in nature and promotes the healing of external and internal tissues. Hyssop is used here as a metaphor by the psalmist who appeals for God's redemptive, cleansing action in his life.

It has been said that "Confession is good for the soul." True words of wisdom. I know you have not committed the same sins of King David but we are all sinners by nature. "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23.

As disciples of Christ, we all need to regularly practice confession and repentance in our lives. It brings cleansing, forgiveness and restoration. It is truly hyssop for the soul! Have a blessed week, Pastor Dan

A NEW YEAR

Life has many twists and turns and we never know what is coming around the next curve. Sometimes it is joy and other times it is grief. Looking at the problems there is much unrest in the world, wars and rumors of wars, much suffering and persecution, world economic turmoil, even in our own country. Then there is the weather with record breaking storms and a lot of country in a severe drought. Many have lost loved ones last year, others no jobs, serious health issues, loss of homes and businesses to mention a few things. On the other hand there are new births, marriages, new jobs, homes, cars and other countless good things. One thing we must remember God is in control and is very much aware of what is going on. In the book of Ecclesiastes chapter 3:1-8 it says there is a time for everything good and bad. It is a good book to read during the Holiday season. It teaches us to fear, honor and reverence God, (Ecclesiastes 3:12-14, 12:1-7). As we look to the upcoming Holiday season we do not know what is in store for us, but one thing we can put our trust and hope in God. Remember, He provided a way our sins could be forgiven and that was through Jesus Christ, (John 3:16, Hebrews 9:25-28). May God bless you and your family in this Holiday season. See you in Church next Sunday. Brother J

2014 27TH ANNUAL DEERFEST THANK YOU

The Crockett County DeerFest Association would like to extend a big THANK YOU to all of those who helped make our 27th annual event a huge success. Many people do not realize all the planning and hard work that it takes to put on an event. We have many volunteers and organizations that go above and beyond the call of duty the night of DeerFest and the weeks before to make the event run smoothly. Your efforts do not go unnoticed. We had an amazing response from the Ozona community and our visiting deer hunters donating deer to the event. Crockett County employees are also a huge part of the success of the event and do a wonderful job. Thank you to Jeffrey and Ruben and the Crockett County Road Department employees for everything you did for us.

Please keep in mind that the Crockett County DeerFest Association is a non-profit community organization and has given over half a million dollars back to the community. Look around Ozona or visit with your neighbor and you can see the many ways in which DeerFest gives back and will continue to assist with and promote endeavors that benefit our community. DeerFest donates 10 percent of all admission tickets to the West Texas Rehab Center. DeerFest sold over 120,000 tickets this year and had over 2,000 people in attendance.

Let's not forget those who donated deer for the meal. The Crockett County DeerFest Association would like to thank the following deer donors. Without their generous donations, the meal would not have been possible. Thanks to Kyle Davis and 4M Ranch, Wilborn Ranch, Giles Madray, Pleas Childress, Martin Childress, Allen Ranch, Larry Walker, Hoover Ranch, Carlon Stapper, Matt Mecke, Larry Glosson, Double T Ranch, Todd Jones and Wilkins Ranch.

THANK YOU TO EVERYONE WHO HELPED PUT DEERFEST TOGETHER! Thanks to the Crockett County Care Center employees, Project Graduation, Ozona YMCA Football, OLPH Youth Group, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, Crockett County EMS, Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, FFA, Crockett County 4-H, Helping Hands, Community Center, Ozona Little League, Knights of Columbus, Crockett County Youth and Civic Center, Senior Center Board, Ozona Women's Forum, Crockett County Wellness Center, Relay for Life, Toys for Tots, West Texas Rehab, Crockett County Library, Blessings in a Backback, Coz 4 Oz and Seaborn Challenge Academy. DeerFest makes donations to all of these local groups for their help in putting this event on every year. Check presentations to the organizations is tentatively set for Thursday, Jan. 19, 2015 at 6:30 p.m. at the Fair Park Convention Center.

We would also like to extend a HUGE THANK YOU to those involved with cooking and meat preparation, it was great!!! Thanks to Pleas Childress and Martin Childress for the firewood that the dinner was cooked on.

Thank You to C. Jason Spence for doing a great job as Master of Ceremonies.

Thank you to Frank Reavis, your family and your wonderful team. They put together over 1,300 pounds of sausage for the event.

Thank you to Pete Maldonado and Roland De Hoyos for your continued support and coordination with the cooking.

Thank you to Mike Glover for the light tower which enables our wonderful cooks to stay up all night tending the BBQ pits.

Thank you to the Ozona Stockman for photographing the event and printing posters and tickets.

Thank you to Triple C Hardware for the Red Ryder BB gun donations for the kids. This is a big part of the event for the young folks in the crowd. The DeerFest added a X-Box One with a Duck Dynasty game as a grand prize for the kids.

Thank you to Travis Turner and All About Signs for donating the Jeep Wrap.

A big thank you to Triple C Hardware & Lumber and Wool Growers for selling High Roller books.

THANK YOU to WOOL GROWERS for the YETI COOLERS for the DEERFEST YETI SALE.

Thank you to Cole and Russell Crenwelge for doing all you do. For handling the guns, background checks, selling tons of tickets and providing hundreds of man hours, your efforts are appreciated!!

questioned Morrow's statement by what he heard on the scanner in a recent fire call, saying she called for Tambunga before anyone was at the fire to see if the water truck was needed.

"To some people a little fire is a big fire. I don't just act off of what Georgia wants to do. We do have protocols," Morrow said.

County Judge Fred Deaton said the county tanker may not be full, especially in winter, or it may be out on a road job, but that the county would get it out there as soon as they could.

"Our road people are not firefighters. We're using our road department as emergency services, which it's not. Our time lag is going to be a little longer," Deaton said. "When your tanker is working 95 percent of the issues are solved. When the tanker is down you have a problem. That tanker is not a fire truck, it's a water truck. Drive it slowly; take it easy with that truck. I know that's a crummy truck. We all know that, but it plays a very vital mission in your role in the fire department."

The issue of using equipment at night was also discussed. Stuart said his concern was keeping his employees safe, especially in rough terrain. "We're in oilfield country, and at night, we've got gas lines. To go out in the country with a tractor, even in the daytime you've got to be careful. I'm not going to put my guys in danger. If there's a fire threatening a house we will get everyone we can to protect that house. Scenarios change. I just don't want to get anybody hurt," Stuart said.

Kenley said the fire departments called for a county maintainer during a recent grass fire because they needed the road widen, and it was late in the day.

"We had the wind shift on us. We thought if we got the road widen it would give us more space. We don't run the truck much in the pasture at night," Kenley said.

Fire Chief Brian Morrow said a lot of it depends on the fire, the situation and the time of day.

"Jeffrey (Stuart) can make that call. A lot of it is communication," Brian Morrow said.

Brian Morrow said the department has recently received a grant for equipment.

The commissioners also approved to advertise for bids for remodeling the fire station.

EMS WEEKEND SHIFTS

Crockett County EMS is going to try hiring part-time, certified workers on the weekend.

EMS Director Eddie Martin and Care Center, Emergency Services Board President John L. Henderson presented the plans to the commissioners.

Martin said they would hire one person for a 24-hour shift on Saturday and then another person for a 24-hour shift on Sunday.

Earlier this year, the EMS doubled the amount of pay a person is paid per run.

Henderson said that has worked out well, but that people have been pulled away by other communities who have full or part-time employment.

Martin said six people are working in other area communities that offer full-time paid shifts.

"We've come up with this plan to help. I think we can get some of our local people that are going across the county line to do this," Henderson said.

Martinez said he believes the county is headed toward having a full-time EMS.

"I really think that's where we're headed. How fast we're going to get there, I don't know," Martinez said.

Henderson said the board is not ready to jump into a full-time service.

"This plan gives us a little guarantee that at least one person is over there," Henderson said.

OTHER AGENDA ITEMS APPROVED:

• Joe Tobar's bid of $10 per plate for the County Employee Appreciation Banquet.

• Fireworks for the New Year's holiday with the exception of no rockets with sticks and missiles with fins.

• Convene on the second Monday of each month for regular commissioners' court meetings.

• Resolution to add optional workers on compensation coverage.

• No changes to the 2015 retirement percent.

• 2014 Crockett County road reports.

• Award bid to Lopez Construction for a new road barn.

• Commissioner Randy Branch was absent from the meeting.

The commissioners will hold a special called meeting at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at the courthouse annex. Their next regular meeting will be 9 a.m. Jan. 12 at the courthouse annex. Both meetings are open to the public.
