Tech Trap and Skeet places at ACUI Championships

Texas Tech University students competed at the 47th Annual ACUI Collegiate Clay Target Championships on March 24-29, 2015 hosted by the National Shooting Complex in San Antonio. Thirteen Texas Tech students competed in the event along with 62 other schools from across the nation. This recently formed club, Tech Trap and Skeet, came in 11th place overall, sixth in American Skeet, ninth in International Skeet and sixth in Modified Trap. Sierra Stokes competed for Texas Tech University, shooting seven different events for a total of 625 targets. Sierra qualified to participate in the Invitational International Shoot out which kicked off this shoot. She was invited to participate in this event because she placed first at the Midwest International Conference Shoot in October. Only 12 shooters from the Nation were invited. Sierra Stokes and Bradley Laxson, both of TTU, shot in the International (Olympic) Bunker Trap portion, with Bradley placing fourth. Courtney Freeman (TTU) shot in the International (Olympic) Skeet portion and won 2nd place. The other six events counted towards the high overall awards. Sierra shot a 30 of 50 in 5-Stand, 76 of 100 in Sporting Clays, 62 of 100 International Skeet, 89 of 100 in Modified Trap for 3rd place, 95 of 100 in American Skeet, and a 97 of 100 in American Trap. Sierra's final score was 449 and earned her the seventh place spot in the Nation at her first Collegiate National Shoot. Of the top 10 shooters, six of the girls were from Texas, shooting for Texas A&M, Schreiner University, Tarleton State University, and Texas Tech University. Tech Trap and Skeet plans to grow their program and continue to strive for success in the team competition as well as the individual competition of the ACUI Shooting Sports events. Sierra will be taking over as president of Tech Trap and Skeet after the current spring semester.

April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month

During the month of April, The Children's Advocacy Center (CAC) and other programs across the nation will be raising awareness for Child Abuse Prevention. Child abuse and neglect is a problem of epidemic proportion but it is preventable. In 2014, there were 583 confirmed cases of child abuse and neglect in Tom Green County. In Texas:
 • 182 children will be victims of abuse today
 • 7 children are maltreated every hour
 • Only 1 in 10 children tell someone about their abuse
 • 90 percent of the time, children are abused by someone they know
 Child abuse prevention is a community responsibility and the CAC has activities planned for the month of April to engage the community to stand up to child abuse. Join the movement against child abuse and help the CAC end the cycle of abuse.
 • Pinwheel Ceremony - Tuesday, April 14, at on the Tom Green County Courthouse steps. Be present, wear blue and stand up for the 583 children that suffered abuse and neglect in 2014. Those in attendance will experience the powerful emotion of standing up for children. After a group photograph on the Courthouse steps, Judge Stephen Floyd will address the crowd and share inspiring words about child abuse prevention.

 • "Go Blue Friday" - Every Friday during April, show your support by wearing blue! Blue is the national color for child abuse awareness. Email pictures of your office "going blue" to leann@cactomgreen.org. Pictures will be posted on Facebook and Twitter.
 • Picnic in the Park - Sunday, April 19, from 2-4 p.m. at Kirby Park in San Angelo. This is a free event sponsored by CAC to promote healthy and nurturing families with games, music, food and fun.
 Awareness and education are paramount to preventing child abuse. If you suspect abuse, call the Child Abuse Hotline 1-800-252-5400 or call 911 if you believe the child is in immediate danger. The Children's Advocacy Center of Tom Green County, Inc. strives to prevent child abuse and neglect and secure for each child a safe and nurturing home through four programs: Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA), Hope House, Family Enrichment Services and Child Fatality Review Team. For more information, please contact Leann Hubert at (325) 653-4673 or http://www.cactomgreen.org

Dottie has been employed, in a part-time capacity, with San Antonio Spurs Sports and Entertainment through their affiliate and part-owner, Aramark Sports and Entertainment, since 2002. Dottie is employed in the premium services department. In addition to Spurs games, other events held at the AT&T Center include WNBA San Antonio Stars, American League Hockey San Antonio Rampage, concerts, rodeo, WWE, and many other sports and entertainment events.

Because Dottie has worked in this arena, since 2002, she has actually witnessed four NBA championships; however, this is the first time, ever, that the Spurs have also included part-time staff in the awarding of championship rings.

An Employee Ring Ceremony was held in the AT&T Center, on Saturday, Dec. 13, 2014. The face of the ring features the Spurs logo and a championship trophy. The left side of the ring showcases the word "family" (as in Spurs Family) along with the NBA logo and the winning year 2014. The right side of

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

I hope all of you had a wonderful Easter holiday. We spent the weekend at the lake in Del Rio and had a great time. If you missed an egg or two hidden behind the couch or under the bed, you will find it by the smell pretty soon.

That has happened at our house a few times in the past. The Easter Bunny hides the eggs the first time and the kids hide them again and again all day. It is fun for all. I hope you all let the little ones know what the reason for this holiday was.

This week's movie will be "Dead Poets Society" starring Robin Williams. "One of the most magnificent motion pictures I've seen" said Gene Shalit on The Today Show. Come on out and enjoy yourself with popcorn puffs and drinks at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Remember that this building is for all citizens of Ozona that are 50 and over. Also remember that you can come to the center at night if you let me know when you want to.

WITHDRAWAL

I decided enough is enough. I went on a diet or should say I am trying to modify the way I eat. I tried to eat lightly the first day and no problem. But that night the hunger pains hit and it was as if my body was saying feed me, feed me. I resisted but not without a battle. The next day was even worse. I started dreaming about food and oh how I wanted to give in and pig out. Yes, I had a slight headache but I knew that if I gave in I would never be victorious. My struggle with my eating habits reminded me of a problem that Christians face. We are told to bring our appetites and desires under control (Ephesians 4:17-19). We are told to live in a way that pleases God (2 Corinthians 5:15). It will or may be contrary to what feels or seems fun and natural to us (Ephesians 2:1-3, 1 Peter 4:3-5). It may be hard but it is not impossible. With the help of God we can overcome anything, (John 10:10). It is a two-step process. First, if Christ is not in our life invite Him in. Second ask Him to help you with your problems (Philippians 4:13, 1 John 4:4, Mark 11:24). Any one that can calm giant storms ought to be able to help us (Luke 4:35-39).

Gallego seeking rematch with U.S. Rep. Hurd

BY ABBY LIVINGSTON
TEXAS TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON — As expected, former U.S. Rep. Pete Gallego will seek to win back the congressional seat he lost to current U.S. Rep. Will Hurd.

Hurd, R-San Antonio, ousted Gallego, D-Alpine, by a 2-point margin in 2014. The race for the 23rd Congressional District is likely to be Texas' most exciting federal race in the fall of 2016, thanks to a lack of competitive House races.

"I'm confident in my strengths," Gallego said in a Thursday morning interview with The Tribune. "I'm prepared to jump any hurdle."

National Democrats began recruiting Gallego for the rematch immediately after he lost to Hurd in November. Gallego represented CD-23 for one term after serving for 22 years in the Texas House.

"I don't view that election in any way a reflection on me, and my performance as a member of Congress," Gallego said of the 2014 election.

Instead, Gallego pointed to poor Democratic turnout in the midterm election, and noted that Hurd did not break the 50 percent threshold.

Josh Robinson, a consultant to Hurd, said Thursday that Hurd's focus is on his district. "Will is going to continue to do what he's been doing," Robinson said. "He's enjoying being in Congress, traveling the district and talking to the district's constituents."

Texas' CD-23 is one of the largest geographic House districts in the country, encompassing much of the southwestern part of the state. Over the last 10 years, it switched hands four times in that time span, with Democrats having had success in presidential elections and Republicans having the upper hand in most midterm votes.

Hurd, for his part, started his congressional career with a realistic outlook on the competitive nature of the district.

"Re-election has already started," Hurd told The Texas Tribune on his first day in the U.S. House in January. "I said this from the beginning, I came up here to do my job. And in two years, the residents get to judge me and grade my paper."

National Republicans will be expected to fight hard to hold onto the seat. Hurd is one of only a handful of African-American Republicans in Congress, and the national GOP has made a concerted effort in recent years to reach out to minorities.

Hurd has raised over $500,000 in his first quarter in Congress, according to an aide.

"Will Hurd has raised more in one quarter than career politician Pete Gallego was able to raise in the first two quarters when he was in Congress, which is a sign the district is behind Will Hurd," Robinson said.

That half-million payroll reflects a significant improvement in fundraising for Hurd, and signals how much easier it is for a sitting officeholder to raise money. By comparison, Hurd raised $116,000 in his first quarter as a candidate in the 2014 cycle.

But Democrats are equally serious about the seat. Their U.S. House campaign arm considers Texas' 23rd District a top pick-up opportunity in the fall of 2016. Democrats call Gallego a top recruit and have been raring for this fight since the beginning of the year.

Gallego argued Hurd's voting record did not reflect the competitive nature of the district, and criticized the Republican freshman for having "abandoned his post on the Small Business Committee."

"I'm confident in my strengths," Gallego said in a Thursday interview after his announcement. "I'm prepared to jump any hurdle."

He also argued that he was a better fit for the district because of what he described as his bipartisan approach, and noted that Hurd was unable to break the 50 percent threshold in 2014.

Robinson, the Hurd consultant, brushed off the anouncement: "Will is going to continue to do what he's been doing. ... He's enjoying being in Congress, traveling the district and talking to the district's constituents."

"But in last three months," Robinson added, "he's been able to do more than the congressmen who've represented it in the last decade, passing a balanced budget, providing seniors better access to health care and working to pass the Keystone pipeline, which will promote energy development in Texas' 23rd."

Gallego also said he is not worried about whether a Democratic primary challenger might emerge.

"You never know," he said. "I'm ready for whatever candidate that comes along, whether it's a Republican candidate or a Democrat."

Any successful candidate must be able to travel extensively and raise enough money to advertise in the San Antonio and El Paso television markets.

"It's not an easy decision," Gallego said. "It was made much easier by the fact that my wife and son are going to make this a team effort."

"We're all in."

House passes conservative budget

BY REGAN ELLMER
CHIEF OF STAFF

Earlier this week after almost continuous 18 hours of debate, the Texas House of Representatives passed House Bill 1 and took an important step toward finalizing a budget that will be balanced and fiscally responsible for the next two years.

The Texas House budget dramatically reforms state government through increased transparency, and addresses the needs of our growing state while staying below two different constitutional spending caps.

HB 1 invests significant resources in public schools, boosts formula funding for higher education, invests additional general revenue in transportation, and promotes border security and public safety.

Additionally, HB1 accomplishes this by limiting overall spending growth to less than what is necessary to account for population and inflation increases.

State Rep. Andrew Murr, R-Junction, said, "Approving a state budget is one of the important constitutional obligations of our state legislature every two years. Passing HB 1 with a vote of 141-5 demonstrates that this budget was thoroughly vetted with input from all state representatives. I look forward to working with members of the Senate to finalize this conservative budget."

Following this week's vote, HB 1 now heads to the Texas Senate. When the Senate passes their proposed budget, which is expected to contain changes from the House version, HB 1 will head to a conference committee composed of several members from each chamber to hammer out specific differences. Following the conference committee's work, the final budget will be submitted to both the House and Senate for final approval for before being sent to the Governor.

Just prior to the final deadline for new legislation to be filed in the 84th Legislative Session, Representative Murr filed two more bills which, if passed, will enhance private property rights in District 53 and across the state.

House Bill 2892 will give property owners a seat at the table along with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, the General Land Office and other state agencies when it comes to determining if a watercourse is considered "navigable." The distinction is critical since a navigable waterway belongs to the people of Texas, while a non-navigable waterway is considered private property.

Under current law, many creeks, springs and draws, dry or not, that run through private property are not classified, so if a dispute occurs between a land owner and member of the public who wishes to cross through the property, or even camp overnight on the creek bed, a local law enforcement official is left to determine if the waterway is navigable or not. Many landowners have an expectation of privacy, either through owning their property for generations or purchasing it recently.

The second bill, House Bill 3057, is aimed at protecting private property from a different kind of threat -- predatory animals. Under this legislation, $500,000 per year that is already collected by the existing sporting goods sales tax would be dedicated to hunting and trapping animals which pose a threat to people and property, such as coyotes, mountain lions and feral hogs, or those which do irreparable harm to the land, such as prairie dogs, rats and other rodents.

The funds would be distributed through a grant program administered by the Texas A&M Agrilife Extension Service in conjunction with Texas Parks & Wildlife. Eligible grant applicants would include local governments and qualified non-profit entities.

Murr has authored 16 total pieces of legislation during his first term in the legislature and has joint or co-authored 15 bills to date. For a list of all of Representative Murr's bills, or to read the specific text of legislation, please visit <http://www.capitol.state.tx.us/>.

Foreign persons must report U.S. Agricultural Land Holdings

BY JED HRUSKA
USDA - FSA

The Executive Director for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) in Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County, Jed Hruska, reminds foreign persons with an interest in agricultural lands in the United States that they are required to report their holdings and any transactions to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

"Any foreign person who acquires, transfers or holds any interest, other than a security interest, including leaseholds of 10 years or more, in agricultural land in the United States is required by law to report the transaction no later than 90 days after the date of the transaction," said Hruska.

Foreign investors must file Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act (AFIDA) reports with the FSA county office that maintains reports for the county where the land is located.

"Failure to file a report, filing a late report or filing an inaccurate report can result in a penalty with fines up to 25 percent of the fair market value of the agricultural land," said Hruska.

For AFIDA purposes, agricultural land is defined as any land used for farming, ranching or timber production, if the tracts total 10 acres or more.

Disclosure reports are also required when there are changes in land use. For example, reports are required when land use changes from nonagricultural to agricultural or from agricultural to nonagricultural. Foreign investors must also file a report when there is a change in the status of ownership such as the owner changes from foreign to non-foreign, from non-foreign to foreign or from foreign to foreign.

Data gained from these disclosures is used to prepare an annual report to the President and Congress concerning the effect of such holdings upon family farms and rural communities in the United States.

For more information regarding AFIDA and FSA programs, call the Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County FSA office at (325) 884-3753 or visit the USDA website at <http://www.usda.gov>.

ASU launching war stories project

BY LAUREL SCOTT
ANGELO STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of History at Angelo State University, supported by a three-year grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, invites West Texas residents to participate in a new historical preservation project, "War Stories: West Texans from World War I to the Present."

The project's goal is to collect and preserve the stories and experiences of armed forces personnel and their families with a West Texas connection, past or present.

The result will be a digital archive to serve as a research resource for future generations and a memorial to those Americans who helped shape the course of the 20th and early 21st centuries.

The digital archive, which will be at ASU's Dr. Ralph R. Chase West Texas Collection, will include photographs, letters and other memorabilia, as well as oral and video interviews from military members, veterans and their families.

Dr. Christine Lamberson and Dr. Kanisorn Wongsrichanalai, directors of the project and faculty in the History Department, are beginning to collect materials from community members.

Those interested in contributing to the project should complete an online form at www.angelo.edu/war-stories-submission-form.

For more information on the War Stories project, call the Department of History at (325) 942-2324 or e-mail warstories@angelo.edu.

services available to them.

Chamber Executive Director, Shanon Biggerstaff, recognized and thanked seven businesses who sponsored the evening events. Chamber Ambassadors were introduced and acknowledged for their volunteer service to the Chamber, and members bowed their head in silence in memory of Ambassador Dale Beebee.

Sally Oglesby, Chamber Committee Chair, updated guests on the status of Crockett County Interpretive Trail located across the parking lot of the Visitor Center.

"The purpose of the project is to educate residents, travelers and all visitors to the site, about the importance of water conservation and the daily use of native plants in our lives. The trail includes signage, a wildlife viewing area, and over 231 plants to date," Sally said.

Sally thanked those Chamber members and the community for their purchase of a rock sign or memorial bench, all of which have been set in the trail.

"We invite our membership and the community to come out and visit Ozona's newest attraction. It may not look like much from a far, but time and time again, those that actually walked the trail have told us, once you get inside the trail, it's like the outside world disappears," Sally said.

Guests were informed that there is still an opportunity to purchase a rock sign if you want to participate in the project.

"You can purchase a rock in memory of, in honor of, or just in support of the trail," Sally said.

"As you all know, each month the Chamber recognizes a Business of the Month," said Executive Director, Shanon Biggerstaff. "At the end of the year, you, the membership, select of those twelve recipients, the Business of the Year."

Shanon introduced all 12 recipients.

"Each and every recipient provides a valuable service to our community; there is not one candidate that is not deserving. In fact, this was such a tough choice for you, the membership, that as we were receiving the ballots, at one point we had two-way ties between four of these candidates. That speaks volumes about each of you.

However, as the ballots continued to roll in, one business in the end captured the majority vote of the membership. It is my privilege to announce that the membership of the Chamber of Commerce has selected the Crockett County Deerfest Association as the 2014 Business of the Year," Shanon said.

"This concludes the business portion of our program, and again we would like to thank all of you for coming out this evening, and for your support," said Paige Tambunga.

Paige thanked again the businesses that sponsored the event, the caterer, Allen Williams and staff at the Civic Center for hosting the event, and the One Act Play for providing the entertainment and decorations for the banquet.

Crockett Soil & Water Conservation District recognizes April as National 9-1-1 Education Month

On April 1, Crockett Soil & Water Conservation District (SWCD) began a month-long campaign to help Americans of all ages recognize the importance of 9-1-1 and the role they play in ensuring effective and efficient emergency response in times of crisis.

Groups including the United States Congress and the National Emergency Number Association (NENA), a leading public safety association, have also recognized April as National 9-1-1 Education Month, and are encouraging the media, the 9-1-1 community, the wireless industry, and public information providers to engage in 9-1-1 awareness and education activities this month.

"For 40 years, 9-1-1 has served as the vital link between the American public and emergency services," said NENA CEO, Brian Fontes. "Public education and awareness initiatives throughout the years have contributed in large measure to the incredible and ongoing success of the emergency communications system as a whole. It is our hope that all groups interested in promoting and enhancing the safety and welfare of the public will help deliver critical 9-1-1 messages this month."

As consumers utilize new communications technologies and devices, 9-1-1 education takes on an increased importance for everyone, but especially for children, teens, and parents. It is important to know if you do call 9-1-1, do not hang up. If you happen to call by accident, stay on the line until you can tell the call taker that you called by accident &

MAKING 9-1-1 WORK FOR YOU!
THINGS KIDS NEED TO KNOW

In an emergency, the best thing that you can do is tell your parents, a teacher, or another adult you trust right away. But if no one is around you may have to call someone else for help. Here is what you need to know about where to find help and how you can make sure it gets to you FAST:

- Know what 9-1-1 is. 9-1-1 is the phone number you can call from any phone when you need help or you see someone who needs help right away.
- Know when to call 9-1-1. You should only call when someone or something is hurt or in danger and you need a police officer, a firefighter, or a doctor.
- Know what happens when you call 9-1-1. After you dial, the person who picks up on the other end will be someone who works at a 9-1-1 center and whose job it is to help you. They may ask you to do things to help or ask you questions. It is important that you follow their directions as best you can. They will send someone to wherever you are and stay on the phone with you until everyone is safe.
- Never hang up. Even if you called 9-1-1 by accident, or if you think the problem has gone away, it is important that you stay on the phone until the call taker tells you it is alright to hang up. It is the call taker's job to make sure that you are OK and that help has gotten to whoever needs it. In situations where you aren't able to talk or have to leave, keep the phone off the hook so that the 9-1-1 operator can hear what is going on in the room. Most times, they will be able to use the computers at the 9-1-1 center to find your address.
- Memorize important stuff about you and your family. Being able to tell the 9-1-1 operator things like your address, your parents' names, and your phone number will get help to you faster.
- Know where you are. If you aren't at home and don't know the address where you are look around and try to find a street sign or a building with a name on it so that the 9-1-1 operator knows your exact location.
- Try not to be scared. When you call 9-1-1, you become the eyes and ears for the call taker. Help will get to you much faster if you stay calm and can tell the call taker everything that is happening and can answer all the call taker's questions.

This saves the call taker from having to call you back & confirm there is no emergency or possibly sending police with lights & sirens to check your address for an emergency.

Is a person hurt or in danger? Are you reporting a fire? Do you need the police or ambulance? These are all things that could happen so teach your children how to call 9-1-1.

It is very important to post your address clearly and prominently at your entrance & on your home.

Use a reflective sign that can be seen clearly during the day & at night. Be sure you post your 9-1-1 address. This can be obtained through your local 9-1-1 coordinator.

San Antonio man dies in accident west of Ozona

A San Antonio man, traveling with his family, was killed last week in a vehicle accident west of Ozona on I-10.

Luis Bayona, 46, was pronounced dead at the scene by Crockett County Justice of the Peace Evelyn Lozano, according to a report from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Tammy Bayona, 40, Luis Octavio Bayona, 19, Samantha Marie Bayona, 22, and Nathan Bayona, 15, were all transported to Shannon Medical Center with non-incapacitating injuries, the report stated.

Luis Bayona was driving a 2007 Chevrolet Tahoe when the back right tire of the vehicle blew out causing Bayona to lose control of the vehicle, the report stated.

The vehicle overturned in the center median.

The accident occurred around 9 p.m. on March 30 at the 354 mile-marker.

It was investigated by DPS Trooper Thomas Siarski and assisted by Dustin Henderson and Sgt. Bryan Bennie.

Crockett County EMS, the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department and the Crockett County Sheriff's Office also responded.

Senseless deaths on the rise due to distracted driving

AUSTIN — With more people dying senselessly on Texas roads due to distracted driving, the Texas Department of Transportation kicks off its annual "Talk, Text, Crash" campaign to urge drivers to give their full attention to the road.

"Nearly 1 in 5 traffic crashes in Texas is caused by a distracted driver," said TxDOT Deputy Executive Director John Barton. "Last year, 468 people were killed because someone took their attention off the road."

Distracted driving-related crashes in Texas are highest among 16- to 24-year-olds. In 2014, there were 100,825 crashes in Texas involving distracted driving — up 6 percent from the previous year.

According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, drivers using a mobile phone are four times more likely to cause serious injury in a crash. Text messaging is particularly dangerous. New research conducted last year by the Texas A&M Transportation Institute showed it takes a driver double the amount of time to react when they are distracted by text messaging.

While mobile phone use is the most recognizable driving distraction, any type of behavior that draws a motorist's attention away from driving is dangerous. TxDOT urges drivers to refrain from:

- Texting
- Checking email
- Eating and drinking
- Grooming
- Reading
- Programming a navigation system
- Adjusting music or other audio device

If a distraction absolutely requires immediate attention, TxDOT reminds drivers to pull over to a safe location and come to a complete stop before diverting their attention.

For more information, contact TxDOT Media Relations at MediaRelations@txdot.gov or (512) 463-8700.

SB 538 by Senate Health and Human Services Committee Chair Charles Schwertner, R-Georgetown, was crafted in light of the state's Ebola response last year. Among its attributes, the bill clarifies the chain of command during a disease emergency and requires protective equipment for healthcare workers or first responders to be stockpiled and ready. This response regimen would apply when or if the governor declares a state of infectious disease emergency.

DISTRACTED DRIVING TAKES TOLL

April is National Distracted Driving Awareness Month, and Texas Department of Transportation has kicked off its annual "Talk, Text, Crash" campaign to urge drivers to give their full attention to the road.

"Nearly 1 in 5 traffic crashes in Texas is caused by a distracted driver. Last year, 468 people were killed because someone took their attention off the road. How important is a fleeting distraction when it could end in the death of someone, perhaps even one of your loved ones?" TxDOT Deputy Executive Director John Barton asks in a campaign news release.

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC AWARENESS NOTICE: Anadarko E&P US Onshore LLC owns and operates pipelines around the town of Ozona, Texas. These natural gas pipelines are located throughout Crockett County. The Anadarko Gathering Company pipeline's are owned and operated by Anadarko E&P US Onshore LLC and are located around the Ozona, Texas area. This public notice is presented to make you aware of the pipelines and know how to recognize and respond to a pipeline emergency. HOW DO YOU KNOW WHERE A PIPELINE IS LOCATED? Since pipelines are buried underground, line markers are used to show their approximate location at numerous points along their routes. These markers list the commodity transported, the name of the operator and telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times. Although helpful, markers are limited in the information they provide. They are placed near the pipeline, but not necessarily on top of them, and a pipeline may not follow a straight line between adjacent markers. Also, they provide no information on the depth or number of pipelines in the area. Therefore it is very important that you PLACE A PHONE CALL TO THE NUMBER ON THE MARKER, OR DIG TESS BEFORE DIGGING IN THE AREA OF THE PIPELINE. HOW CAN YOU RECOGNIZE A PIPELINE LEAK? If you know or suspect that a pipeline is leaking or is damaged, LEAVE THE AREA IMMEDIATELY. Your personal safety should be your first concern. Also: 1. Avoid driving into vapor clouds; 2. Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids; 3. Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat, which could cause liquids or vapor arising from them to ignite and burn and 4. IMMEDIATELY notify the pipeline operator. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If the pipeline operator is not known, call your local fire, police, sheriff's department or the state police. Advise them of the location and nature of the emergency. PLEASE CONTACT THE FOLLOWING COMPANY NUMBERS IF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION IS REQUIRED: Anadarko E&P US Onshore LLC Texas office (325) 392-1500; 24 HR. Emergency pipeline number (325) 226-8375. WHEN YOU PLAN TO DIG OR BLAST NEAR OUR PIPELINES, CALL DIG TESS AT 1-800-344-8377 AT LEAST 48 HOURS PRIOR TO EXCAVATION WORK. Please be safe and help us maintain a good pipeline safety record by: 1. Contacting DIG-TESS if you plan to excavate near our pipelines and 2. Contacting the company if you observe any activity such as drilling, excavating, blasting, deep plowing, ditching, movement of heavy equipment, etc. in the vicinity of our pipeline. PLEASE CALL US IN CASE OF EMERGENCY AT: (325) 226-8375 Anadarko E&P US Onshore LLC. 1p12
