School board gets first look at budget

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

A drop in oil and gas revenues means CCCCSO will be sending less money to the state.

At a June 30 budget workshop, Superintendent Raul Chavarria presented the 2016-2017 preliminary budget to the CCCCSO School Board.

Preliminary numbers show the district is facing a $1 billion drop in tax valuations due to decline in oil and gas.

In situations like this, the state kicks in more revenue for the district and lowers the amount that the district has to send to the state, Chavarria said.

CCCSO is a Chapter 41 "property wealth" school district and is required to send part of its budget to the state each year.

For 2016-2017, CCCCSO is looking to only have to send $6.6 million. That is the lowest amount in the past two years. In 2014-2015 the district had to send $14.5 million. In 2015-2016 it was $12.6 million.

"It works in our favor. When valuations go down by so much, we don't have to send that much to the state," Chavarria said. "That is encouraging, but we do have less revenue to work with."

Chavarria said by the next budget workshop the district should have harder numbers.

The board then met in executive/closed session for an hour and a half to discuss personnel and real property. No action was taken when the board reconvened in open session.

The next budget workshop is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 11, at the Administration Building. The meeting is open to the public.

Board members Ryan Bean, Dwight Childress and Grizz Medina were absent from the meeting.

San Angelo men burned in accident

Two men were burned in an accident last week that occurred at the Stripes Store on Avenue E.

Ben Milfelt and Kyle Breznak, both of San Angelo, were taken by Crockett County EMS Ambulance to Shannon Medical Center.

The accident occurred on June 29. Milfelt was working on the fuel tanks in the parking lot when a fire broke out. Breznak then pulled Milfelt out of the fire.

Stripes employees assisted in helping Milfelt and Breznak until emergency personnel arrived.

According to Milfelt's sister, Alissa Milfelt Worley, he was critically burned and was transported from San Angelo to Brooke Army Medical Center

Chauvinism back in the day

Strange, isn't it, how issues lodged far back in the recesses of our memory seemed critically important at the time, but considered in the here and now, fail to warrant yawns?

On the front end of my career, students streaking on college campuses caused uproars as well as countless furrowed brows on college administrators. We now look back on it as a short-lived fad. School leaders these days instead face life and death issues of various hues, and sometimes wonder if they give right answers when asked directions to restrooms.

Chauvinism has dropped to a lower rung on the ladder of concerns. Back when, we men often were called chauvinists—usually with good reason. When women folk were really steamed, they added “pigs” to the “male chauvinist” label. And about all we did in response was “oink.”

The topic came to mind recently when I was attempting to “go with the flow” on a busy Metroplex freeway. In front of me was a tow truck, and the sports allegiance of the owner was clear. The truck was painted in silver and blue—the very shades Jerry Jones uses throughout his sports empire where everything shouts “Dallas Cowboys.”

In fact, the trucker perhaps is able to avoid infringement issues by changing but one letter in his company's name. He calls it “The Dallas Towboys.”

The name suggests, of course, that his drivers are male. Maybe he has a fleet of trucks, with an equal number bearing the name of “Dallas Towgirls,” but I doubt it.

Another truck—an 18-wheeler carrying precious cargo—had a warning message on the tail end.

It was meant to be sobering to anyone who might consider forcing it to the road side for examination of contents.

The sign read: “Two trips each month, a marksman ‘at the ready’ rides inside the cargo bay with an arsenal of automatic weapons. You guess which trips.”

We old-timers, with teeth growing long enough to overlap, are able to see “signs” of generation gaps widening in day-to-day banter. Grandchildren regularly send us messages warranting exclamation points emphasizing the chasm between their world and ours. I've been hearing lately that we of a certain age often are linked to the expression about “drawing lines in the sand.” Many of us—“dizzied” by technology whizzing past at warp speed—apply the expression to the use of cell phones. I admit to having drawn such a line several years ago upon surrendering to multiple naggings about getting a flip phone. “I'll go not one step further no matter how many bells and whistles they add to cell phones,” I bragged.

And I will never cave in to texting. I'm making good on that promise, well, half-way. I do read most texts, but if I respond, it'll be orally.

I digress. Recently, Addison, our youngest granddaughter who is nine, accompanied me to the grocery store. Upon arrival, I handed her my flip phone. “Call your mom to see if she needs us to pick up anything,” I suggested. Immediately, she handed it back to me gingerly, as if it might be radioactive.

“I don't know how to use an old phone like yours,” she declared. At first, I felt a slight tingle of triumph. Obviously, I knew how to use something she didn't!

Reality set in quickly, however, when I “did the math.”

She was probably in diapers the last time “antique phones” like mine were in general use.

On the way home, I noticed a grimy-looking tanker truck. It was hauling sewage. A sign on the back read, “Keep Back. We Ain't Haulin' Whipped Cream.”

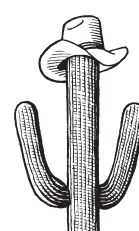

Then, Addison asked, “What's sewage?”

Stumbling, I waxed rhetorical. “Wanna play Monopoly when we get home?”

She did. And she won. And that's okay.

Huh?

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

In the May 30 edition of the Auction Exchange there was an ad celebrating the Midwest Auctioneer Roundup contest in Shipshewana, Indiana. There were pictures of the winners, contestants and one precious little three or four year old girl with her hands covering her ears.

My sentiments exactly! I've spent my adult life around auctions and I loved every minute, but I'm paying the price now. As a youngster I could hear a bug walking across the kitchen floor but I'm losing my hearing now and I know why. It was having my head right next to speakers for 43 years. I knew it would happen but what could I do? Auctions put food on our table.

My wife noticed it before I did. She'd say something and I'd reply, “Not today, maybe next week.”

And then she'd yell, “I asked you if you fed the dog.”

So now my standard reply to everything she says is, Huh?

I suppose I need a hearing aid but I hear good ones can cost a couple grand and I'd rather be deaf than to spend that much money on something I can easily do without. Every time my wife says I need a hearing aid I reply, “When someone says something to me that's worth two thousand dollars then I'll get one. Until then I'll just use this antique ear trumpet I inherited from my great-grandpa.” (For you youngsters, an ear trumpet is a device with a big round end that people talk into and at the other end is a narrow tube the hard-of-hearing person puts in his ear. I find mine works quite well.)

Maxine, of Hallmark Card fame, spoke for me when she said, “Never wear a hearing aid because if you do people expect you to listen to them.”

I've worked with a lot of different auctioneers in my life and I've noticed that the younger they are the higher they turn up the volume. I would just remind beginning auctioneers that the clock that ticks the loudest doesn't always keep the best time.

Purebred auctioneers are notorious for turning up the volume, much more so than market auctioneers. I worked with one in particular who was so noisy he sounded like a Duroc trying to pass a gall stone. Or a pen full of calves the day after seeing their momma's for the last time. I could have made a living following him around selling ear plugs to those on the seats.

Speaking of ear plugs, you'd think an auctioneer would catch on to the subtle signs that he's too loud such as folks plugging their ears with cotton, light bulbs breaking overhead, folks covering their ears like that little girl in Indiana, and cattle trying to jump on the auction block to shut the loud mouth up. I recall one auction I tried to give a subtle hint by wearing a Scotch cap with the ear muffs pulled down tight over my ears like they wear in the Dakotas in winter. But when I wore it was the middle of summer in Scottsdale. The auctioneer still didn't get it.

Working ring you are more sensitive because people in the crowd complain and beg you to turn down the volume, but I learned right away you don't mess with an auctioneer's amplifier.

The volume is really noticeable to auction newbies. In all the years of flying on commercial airplanes I rarely talked to a fellow passenger. I went so far as to put on the cheap headset they give you like I was listening to music so I wouldn't have to talk, even though it wasn't plugged in. But one time I met a nice businessman who asked where I was headed. I told him I was going to Reno for a video cattle auction because I was the announcer. He was going to stay in the same hotel so I invited him to drop by for a free lunch and to watch the auction. Much to my surprise he did. I took a rare break to welcome him and explain how it all worked. After one lot I explained that we had just sold four loads of cattle to a buyer participating in the auction all the way back in Nebraska.

He replied, “And I bet he heard every word.”

Supreme Court strikes down major changes to abortion law

AUSTIN — The U.S. Supreme Court on June 27 struck down parts of the state abortion law that Texas lawmakers revised and passed in 2013.

The law's provision that physicians providing abortions must have admitting privileges to a nearby hospital and the provision that abortion facilities must meet minimum standards for ambulatory surgical centers are in violation of the Constitution, the court said in a 5-3 ruling.

Justice Stephen Breyer, author of the court's majority opinion, wrote, “We conclude that neither of these provisions offers medical benefits sufficient to justify the burdens upon access that each imposes.”

Furthermore, wrote Breyer, the admitting-privileges requirement imposes an “undue burden” on a woman's right to choose, and evidence provided by the State of Texas did not show how the new law advanced the state's legitimate interest in protecting women's health.

In her concurring opinion, Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg wrote that the Texas law inevitably would reduce the number of clinics and doctors allowed to provide abortion services.

“Texas argues that HB 2's restrictions are constitutional because they protect the health of women who experience complications from abortions. In truth, complications from an abortion are both rare and rarely dangerous,” Ginsburg wrote.

Justice Clarence Thomas, in his dissenting opinion, wrote: “This suit is possible only because the Court has allowed abortion clinics and physicians to invoke a putative constitutional right that does not belong to them — a

Soon after the high court's ruling was published, Gov. Greg Abbott said, “The decision erodes states' lawmaking authority to safeguard the health and safety of women and subjects more innocent life to being lost. Texas' goal is to protect innocent life, while ensuring the highest health and safety standards for women.”

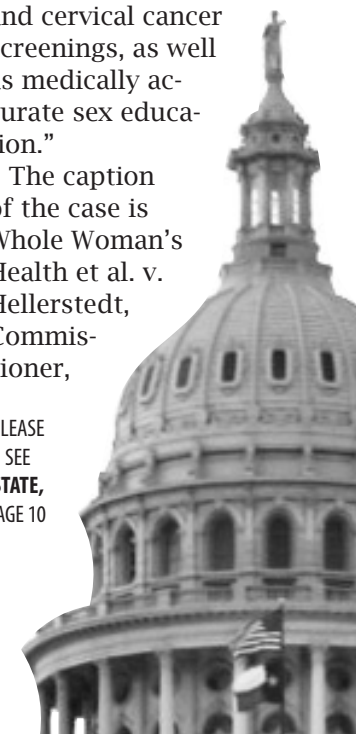

Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton said, “It's exceedingly unfortunate that the court has taken the ability to protect women's health out of the hands of Texas citizens and their duly elected representatives.”

State Sen. Kirk Watson, D-Austin, however, said: “For too long, the women of this state have been collateral damage in a political battle. I'm hopeful we can now get to work on policies that truly do protect women's health, such as improved access to birth control and breast and cervical cancer screenings, as well as medically accurate sex education.”

Devil's Sinkhole bat tours begin

The Devil's Sinkhole State Natural Area has begun its regular evening bat tour schedule for 2016.

The Devil's Sinkhole cave is a National Natural Landmark and home to Texas's fourth biggest bat colony. Every evening during bat season, a mass swarm of bats arises from the huge cave in a tornadic spiral, one of the most amazing animal swarms anywhere on Earth.

Tours are given Wednesdays through Sundays and are available by reservation. All Devil's Sinkhole tours, including the bat tours, begin at the Rocksprings Visitors Center on the Rocksprings town square.

To arrange a tour, call (830)683-2287 or e-mail devilsinkhole@swtexas.net. Start times for the evening bat tour vary according to bat behavior throughout the season, which runs from now until Oct. 31. During August, September, and October, morning bat return tours are also held, also by reservation.

Bat flight conditions are exceptional right now due to the sufficient rains of late, and bat tourists continue to be very pleased with the amazing evening bat swarm.

A special star-gazing event is planned at the state natural area for July 30 with the help of the National Park Service. The Devil's Sinkhole State Natural Area is ideally dark for star-gazing, an activity that will be available more regularly at the DSSNA soon.

Rocksprings is an easy and delightful hour's drive from Del Rio, Brackettville, Uvalde, Leakey, Kerrville, Fredericksburg, Junction, and Sonora. The wildflowers along the various highways that lead into Rocksprings are heavily festooned with wildflowers right now.

The Devil's Sinkhole Society, the nonprofit Texas Parks friends group that operates the Devil's Sinkhole tours, also provides day tours, nature walks, and birding tours. Volunteers at the Rocksprings Visitors Center can connect guests to the numerous nearby attractions such as Kickapoo Cavern State Park, too.

I believe I'll stay the keto way

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

JIM FISH

A ketogenic diet is a high fat, moderate protein, low carbohydrate way of eating that compels the body to burn ketones (beta hydroxybuterate) rather than glucose, which is converted from carbohydrate. Since carbohydrates are more quickly processed into glucose than fatty acids into ketones, the body will store the fatty acids (triglycerides) in the body's fat cells for later nutritional and energy requirements.

If carbohydrate is consumed regularly in the amounts as specified by the Standard American Diet (SAD), fatty acids remain stored until glucose is diminished and are processed into ketones to take over the body's energy and nutritional demands. This condition is often referred to as "burning fat", as opposed to "burning sugar".

Contrary to what many believe, consuming carbohydrate is not essential to brain function. The liver systematically converts protein and fatty acids to glucose on demand. As a matter of fact, one can thrive quite well without ever eating a single carbohydrate... no so, without fat and protein. Both are required for survival.

According to Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia, "...if there is very little carbohydrate in the diet, the liver converts fat into fatty acids and ketone bodies. The ketone bodies pass into the brain and replace glucose as an energy source. An elevated level of ketone bodies in the blood, a state known as ketosis..."

In the therapeutic ketogenic diet for pediatric epilepsy during the 1920's, just enough protein was provided to maintain age and size appropriate muscle mass, along with very minimal carbohydrate and a dietary fat-to-protein ratio of 4:1. "The ketone bodies pass into the brain and replace glucose as an energy source. An elevated level of ketone bodies in the blood, a state known as ketosis, leads to a reduction in the frequency of epileptic seizures," says Wikipedia.

Despite incredible advances in our health care system today, chronic diseases such as heart disease, cancer, type-2 diabetes and obesity grow at an accelerated rate throughout the world. The growth of these and more mix-matched diseases have not been slowed by pharmacology, genetic therapy, or surgery.

Healthy Treatment News claims, "It should be obvious that the real solution for treating cancer and disease is not found in a man-made pill but rather is found in regulating the metabolic functions within our bodies.

"Western cultures today enjoy a diet rich in the delicacies that our ancestors did not consume on a regular basis such as grain, sugar, and starch. Research continues to show that sugar is the main source of fuel which feeds cancer and contributes to an inflammatory environment. Sugar essentially increases the risk for cancer and disease."

Cancer cells damage the energy producing mitochondria and lack the ability to create energy from the ketones produced by fatty acids. It is for this reason; cancer cells thrive in an oxygen-depleted environment and feed on glucose and amino acids. Therefore, limiting glucose and the amino acid glutamine is crucial to retard the growth of, and may even destroy cancer.

Some markers of Cardio Vascular Disease (CVD) have been debated, like overall cholesterol numbers, but some are firmly established by hard scientific evidence, like triglyceride levels and HDL cholesterol.

Yes, high triglyceride and low HDL levels contribute to CVD. Triglycerides are fat molecules but eating dietary fat, as in a keto diet, actually lowers your triglycerides and raises your HDL. Eating excessive carbohydrates happens to lead to high triglycerides.

A ketogenic way of eating has many beneficial effects on hormone control, especially those relating to blood glucose, like insulin, and those relating to appetite, like ghrelin. This is especially important for overweight people, who typically lack hormone control.

Also, the lower appetite associated with the ketogenic diet leads to less consumption, in most cases, and straightforward weight loss. If you are seeking weight loss, Keto may be a great option.

In addition to the above, there are many other potential benefits associated with various versions of the ketogenic way of eating; among which are mental clarity, better sleep, and a stronger immune system.

Like Hippocrates once said, "Let medicine be thy food, and food be thy medicine."

Here's to your health.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

Blood pressure checks today

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

I hope all of you had a good time at the Fourth of July celebration over the long weekend. I was not here but was told that everything was fun. We took the bus and left town for the weekend. I hated to miss the fun times here but really needed to get away for a day or two. A fun fact to ponder - the flood of 1954 was on June 26-27 and the hard rains last week were on the 26-27 of June. And they say history doesn't repeat itself. Ya think? Have a great week.

Derenda with Aculade will be here today, July 6, at 3 p.m. to take blood pressure. Some of you are missing the other tests that have been coming in earlier and leave at 2:30 p.m. Maybe you can make it at 3 p.m. and take advantage of this free service.

We had a good time at Bingo last Thursday afternoon. We kinda had a little Fourth of July celebration and played the blackout bingo for a prize.

I hope you will join us next Thursday and join in on the fun. There is a better pot to win when everybody is here. The July Bingo Senior Social will be on July 18 at 6:30 p.m. We will be serving hot dogs, chips and fruit kabobs. It will be fun for a late Fourth of July celebration.

Intrepid Healthcare Services will be in town on Wednesday, July 20, and will be checking blood pressure and screening blood sugar at Ozona Senior Apartments from 11:15 a.m.-noon and Crockett County Senior Center from 1:30-2:30 p.m. Intrepid will be coming every third week of each month to provide these services. Mark these dates on your calendar and take advantage of these free screenings.

Exercise - 9 a.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday

Bridge - 1:30 p.m. on Mondays

Balance exercise - Tuesday and Thursday at 9 a.m.

Sit Down Exercise - Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. with the Wesley Nurse.

Mexican Train - 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday

Bingo - on Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Come on out, the coffee is on.

HOW TO REALLY BE REFRESHED

A trip I went on years ago in the middle of the summer and very hot. We had to travel in crowded vans each day and the air conditioning didn't work. The accommodations weren't exactly five star because sometimes we had water for bathing and sometimes we didn't. Twenty-two of us were on a mission trip to a foreign country. During the day we used an outdoor outhouse. If you have never had the privilege of using an outdoor outhouse you have missed something in life. The one we had to use looked like it was about to fall down. When I finally got home the first thing I did was go into my bathroom and take a long hot shower. It felt so good and refreshing. When I got out of the shower I felt like a new person. That shower reminded me of something we face in life. It is such a great blessing, opportunity and privilege to have our sins forgiven. A person who has not or does not take baths, wanting to ride in a crowded hot van with people who are real clean and sweet smelling has a problem. (1 John 1:7-10 and Acts 3:19) tells how we can get cleansed. Jesus Christ is the source of all cleansing, (2 Corinthians 7:1). We must be willing to come to Him for spiritual healing, (Proverbs 3:7 & 8, Matthew 8:2). See you in Church next Sunday.

CARE CENTER CHATTER

Residents celebrate Father's Day

BY MARY WILLIAMSON
ASSISTANT ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR

Residents are always ready for some good outdoor cooking. What a good way to celebrate Father's Day with some ribs and sausage by Ray Lara, while dietary prepared side dishes and fresh lemonade. The staff joined the celebration with other side dishes and desserts.

We continued the celebration with party trays in honor of our fathers and June birthdays.

FOURTH OF JULY

Wondering why the Fourth of July decorations were up early this year? The facility participated in a contest with Hospice of San Angelo and won second place. The display was seen at the Fourth of July Parade.

ACTIVITIES

Residents have continued attending and participating in activities, which consist of bingo, exercise, karaoke, art lessons, Bible study, crafts and church services.

Susan Williams, the new county librarian, will do story hour with the residents starting in July.

Everyone is welcome to our volunteers program. For more information, call Activities Director Marta De La Garza at (325) 392-3096.

With Gratitude and Appreciation to all who assisted with and attended the Quinceanera of Rosalyn Zuniga. It was such a special day!

Card of Thanks

During this time of sorrow, we realize how much our friends mean to us. Thank you to everyone who has supported us with prayers, hugs, kind words, food and floral gifts. Your many acts of kindness and sympathy continue to be a great comfort to us and will always be remembered.

Ozona Students visit New York City

BY KATRECE HALE
OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL

Twenty-one Ozona Middle School students and sponsors recently returned from a four-day/three-night trip to New York City, NY. Upon arrival to the city, the group visited the 9/11 Museum, Freedom Tower, and the memorial fountains built in the "footprints" of the trade center towers at the Ground Zero site for a sobering reminder of the World Trade Center tragedy. This was followed by dinner in Little Italy and shopping in Chinatown.

The second day began early with a Luke Bryan concert at the Today Show. Following breakfast, the group enjoyed seeing the city from the "Top of the Rock," the observation decks atop Rockefeller Center, offering picturesque views of the Manhattan skyline. The local guide took the members on a walking tour through popular areas of Central Park including Strawberry Fields and Bethesda Terrace. A shopping excursion along 5th Avenue included popular stores such as Tiffany's, Trump Tower, and H & M. Niketown was a particular favorite of the boys where numerous purchases were made. A tour of Radio City Music Hall gave participants an opportunity to pose for a picture with an actual "Rockette." That evening the group attended the Broadway performance of the ever-popular musical "Lion King" at the Minskoff Theatre.

The third day began with a ferry ride to Liberty Island where the group could walk around the statue for pictures. Then a stop at Ellis Island educated students about the experience immigrants had entering the United States at this immigration station from 1892-1924. Forty percent of American families can trace their lineage through the Port of New York. A stroll through the Wall Street Financial District led the group by Battery Park, the New York Stock Exchange, Trinity Church, and Federal Hall. Maintenance work on the subway system slowed the afternoon tour, so members opted to return to Central Park to go row boating on the lake. Being Saturday, members were able to observe the local culture in the park including very talented acrobatic street performers, several weddings, a concert, and a "promposal." Following dinner at the Hard Rock Café, the group attended a performance of the musical "Aladdin" at the New Amsterdam Theatre.

On the fourth morning, members completed their shopping experience in Times Square. Then a bus tour took the group through the cultural neighborhood of Harlem, where they stopped at Grant's Tomb and St. Paul's Cathedral of the Divine. The group enjoyed lunch at a local pizzeria before departing the city.

Group sponsor for the tour was Katrece Hale and the additional chaperone was John Esparza. Students included Jade Borrego, Matthew Delgado, Michael Esparza, Jaden Fay, Matthew Galindo, Bryce Gray, Brenna Hale, Jason Lopez, Skylar Luna, Lexi Montgomery, Ashley Moran, Emilio Porras, Zachary Talamantez, Jaron Villarreal, and Raynee Ybarra. Additional adults traveling with the group included Lisa Broughten, Melanie Lozano, Sandy Montgomery, and Chelsea Tinney.

OHS Summer Band schedule

Summer band will start on Aug. 1 and will go through Aug. 18. Please remember that the time and effort we put in these first weeks will help to establish a foundation for the remainder of the marching season. It is important that we begin rehearsals at the designated times. Please arrive early enough to find your place before rehearsal/practice begins. If you are early it means you are on time. If you are on time then you are late.

Fourth of July Fun

JOE HERNANDEZ | THE OZONA STOCKMAN

BY FRANK TAMBUNGA
FOURTH OF JULY COORDINATOR

GI JOE 5K

We had good support for our annual 5K GI Joe Run. We had 45 participants of various age and another five assisting with the event.

The course was the "Swampy Highway 163 Route." Every participant completed the course by either running or walking and all made it to the finish line in 56 minutes or less.

A special walk was made by Erik Duenes he walked the entire 5K in his Fireman Suit.

All of our elected officials from the county and district were our sponsors for the event. It made a special event knowing that we had the support of all of our officials. Special thank you to the Ozona Bank for donating the water bottles, the sheriff's department for providing the support in controlling the traffic and to Michael Mitchell, Michell Mendoza, Irma Tambunga for assisting with the event.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

The Fourth of July Festival at the park turned out to be big success even though we had a low turnout on Saturday and Monday afternoon. We had over 10 different types of food and game booths along with some good music by DJ TKO "Johnny Tambunga" throughout the afternoon. Cico and Frankie Moran chaired the washer pitching contest. We had more participants for our Children and Pet Parade. We had several participating in the Patriotic Parade with different types of Parade Floats displaying our colors. The Knights handed out Coke Floats during the afternoon and they also had some secret judges that had a hard time making their decision for winners. We appreciate all the businesses and individuals that participated in our parade.

I would like to thank everyone that assisted me with the Fourth of July celebration especially my brother Knights. I would also like to say Thank you to the County Sheriff Robert Rodriguez and his department, fire department and the county road department. Please keep this in mind the county does not contribute funds to the Fireworks Show, but they do provide support in whatever is needed to make sure everyone enjoys the show. A special thanks to all the business and individuals that donated and helped sponsor our Fireworks Show, without their donations it would not be possible to purchase enough fireworks for our Fireworks Show. This year we had Eligio Martinez and KYXX 94.3 FM provide Patriotic Music during the Fireworks Show. Thank you, Eligio.

Also I thank Gandy's Dairy for donated the ice cream. During these holidays we have hard time finding entertainment but, we did find one willing to help out. I would like to say thank you to DJ Sonidos Juanes. They played for our street dance and played during the day on the Fourth of July.

A special thank you to my beautiful side kick my lovely wife Irma Tambunga and my family for all that they do in all events we have.

Planning all these events for our celebration takes several to put together. If I failed to mention anyone I apologize it was not intentional.

Patriotic Parade winners are: First Place Ozona Bank, Second Place Emilio Tambunga and Family, Third Place the Untouchable Ford Bronco driven by a beautiful driver Irma supported by Yolanda Tambunga.

FSA County Committee nomination period

BY JED HRUSKA
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Jed Hruska, has announced that the nomination period for local FSA county committees began June 15.

"County Committees are unique to FSA and allow producers to have a voice on federal farm program implementation at the local level," said Hruska.

To be eligible to serve on a FSA county committee, a person must participate or cooperate in an FSA administered program, be eligible to vote in a county committee election and reside in the local administrative area (LAA) where they are nominated.

This year, nominations and elections will be held in LAA 1, which includes all of Irion County and LAA #3, which includes the southern portion of Reagan County and southern and western portions of Upton County.

Farmers and livestock producers may nominate themselves or others. Organizations representing minorities and women also may nominate candidates. To become a candidate, an eligible individual must sign an FSA-669A nomination form. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. The 2016 nomination forms must be postmarked or received in the Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County FSA Office by close of business on Aug. 1.

Elected county committee members serve a three-year term and are responsible for making decisions on FSA disaster, conservation, commodity and price support programs, as well as other important federal farm program issues. County committees consist of three to 11 members.

"It is important that county committees are comprised of members who fairly represent the diverse demographics of production agriculture for their community," said Hruska. "All producers, including women, minority and beginning farmers and ranchers are encouraged to participate in the nomination and election process."

FSA will mail election ballots to eligible voters beginning Nov. 7. Ballots must be returned to the Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County FSA office via mail or in person by Dec. 5. Newly-elected committee members and alternates will take office on Jan. 1, 2017.

For more information about county committees, call the Reagan-Upton-Irion-Crockett County FSA office at (325) 884-3753 extension 2 or visit www.fsa.usda.gov/elections.

HEGAR: BETTER ROADS NEEDED

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar said poor roads cost Texans money and sometimes their lives.
"Yet," he added, "transportation infrastructure spending positively affects local and state economies by connecting businesses, customers, goods and services more efficiently, which in turn enhances business expansion and road safety."
A study by the Office of the Comptroller indicates that $25 million in road spending in urban areas can add as much as $43 billion to the state economy over time.
"In addition to immediate employment in construction and related industries, road projects yield long-term benefits by improving our productivity and economic competitiveness," Hegar said.
