Dorothy Simpson, Ralph Cooper Wed In Drasco, Texas On September 8

The vows were exchanged in Drasco Methodist Church with Rev. Durwood Deavers of San Antonio officiating, before an arch decorated with greenery and white wedding bells. On each side of the arch, candelabra held white tapers and were flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon sheer over white satin. ## Cup of Tea Apparently Suits Americans to T

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

TODAY, more and more women are making hot tea their mealtime beverage.

The reasons vary, according to spot interviews with homemakers across the country. Some say tea as a mealtime beverage has gained in popularity in their homes since they've learned to make it the way their husbands like it best—strong and full-bodied.

Others say they serve tea with meals because it's light and refreshing—just right after a heavy meal.

Whatever the reason, we have it on sound authority that tea consumption has increased 24 per cent since 1949 in the United States. Our own belief is that one of the basic reasons for the increased popularity of tea at mealtime is the fact that more women are making tea according to the experts' Four Golden Rules: (1) always use a tea pot, (2) use fresh bubbling, boiling water, (3) use 1 teaspoonful tea or 1 tea bag per cup and (4) brew 3-5 minutes.

When planning your meal tonight, you might try this mild chicken curry, a most delightful main dish that goes so well with a good pot of tea.

THE ECONOMIC PRESSURE ON FARMS

The story of the cost-price squeeze on the nation's farmers has gradually slipped from the front pages of the newspapers. It has been an economic reality so long that it just isn't news anymore.

But it is still with the farmers, just the same. Somehow, the charts and graphs of rising prices and falling farm prices just doesn't have the same dramatic impact—except to those who are suffering from its effects.

Eliminating the cold charts for a moment, here's what it means to its victims:

Five years ago, it took 951 bushels of wheat at $2.06 a bushel to buy a 20-29 tractor at $1,960. Today it takes 1,130 bushels at the prevailing price of $1.91 to buy that same tractor at the current cost of $2,160. This represents 179 more bushels of wheat the farmer must raise to get the tractor.

Here are a few more startling examples:

CORN: In 1952, 147 bushels at $1.73 bought a 2 bottom plow at $255. Today it takes 214 bushels at $1.22 for the same plow at $262, or 67 more bushels.

RYE: 1952, 866 bushels at $1.72 for a combine at $1,490. Today, 1,528 bushels at $1.04 for the combine at $1,590, or 622 more bushels.

MILK: 1952, 447 cwt. at $4.38 for a two-ton truck at $1,960. Today, 744 cwt. at $3.84 for the truck at $2,860, or an increase of 297 cwt., amounting to 2,650 more gallons.

MILK COWS: 1952, seven head at $254 to buy that $1,960 two-ton truck. Today, 17 head at $163 for that truck now costing $2,860, or 10 more head.

EGGS: 1952, 390 dozen at $0.338 for a wringer-type electric washer at $132. Today, 592 dozen at $0.249 for same washer now costing $140, an increase of 172 dozen.

These few figures bring home the fact that the farmer must produce a great deal more at a reduced price to buy commodities which have increased in cost.

It shows better than any chart how inflation combines with steadily falling farm prices to put a strangling squeeze on our farmers.

TEXAS MESQUITE — CURSE OR CURE?

One of the most astounding developments to come of agricultural research in recent years has been the discovery that common Texas mesquite wood can be made useful as an edible roughage for cattle.

During the past two decades, Texas farmers and ranchers have been fighting a common enemy in the die-hard mesquite which has spread in abundant growth from the Rio Grande Valley, northward.

In an effort to reclaim the countless acres of grassland all but lost to dense undergrowth of mesquite brush, a number of eradication measures have been applied, varying from oil treatment to mechanical uprooting.

Then, just a few years ago, someone got the idea of grinding some tender mesquite into meal and analyzing the product chemically to determine its food value. The analysis showed that mesquite meal had a higher protein, fiber and calcium content than cottonseed hulls. Another essential nutrient not present in many dry roughages, Vitamin A, was also found in the mesquite meal. Fat and carbohydrate content was slightly lower than in usual roughages.

In sequential feeding tests at the Spur, Texas, Agricultural Experiment Station, the mesquite meal was mixed with other concentrates plus the important addition of molasses which served to give the feed moisture, sweetness, and a more desirable odor. In every instance, cattle fed on mesquite meal not only suffered no ill effects but gained weight in similar ratio to cattle fed on other roughages.

This does not mean that all other meals and roughages should be thrown out in favor of mesquite, but it does mean that mesquite may prove to be a dependable source of rough feed during time of drought when feeds are scarce and high in price.

In the trial feeding periods, it was found that branches and stems with slick bark provided better feed than larger, dryer tree parts. Also, freshly-ground wood proved more palatable than dry wood and fresh supplies were ground weekly.

In order to prepare mesquite meal as a cattle roughage a wood chipping machine costing about $1,200 delivered in Texas, a heavy duty hammer mill, and a molasses mixer are needed.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

The District II Farm Bureau policy development meeting and Queen Contest will be held in the Lubbock Hotel next Thursday, September 19, beginning at 10:00 in the morning. The Queen contest will be at the O. L. Slaton elementary school auditorium at seven or after, in the city of Lubbock. Miss Wilma Norton will compete there.

The farm-to-market road situation will no doubt receive a great deal of attention at the meeting. Since we have several hundred miles of these roads in use it is too easy for us to become complacent. There are those, who have quite a bit of legislative power and influence who intend to put a stop to such construction. Farm Bureau will be fighting for continuation of the program, and speeding it up, if possible. You all know how important it is to you.

Parmer County's Ninth Annual Farm Bureau Convention will be held on Monday night, October 7, in the Hub community building out there. J. Garland Smith, or Cotton John, as he is generally known, will be the speaker of the evening. All members will receive personal invitations, and everyone will be cordially welcomed to attend this, another meeting that will have more to do with the future of farming in this country than any other we know of.

The Safety Department of Texas Farm Bureau has a very interesting and impressive automobile safety program for presentation to high schools. It is a demonstration made with the Farm Bureau Safety Station Wagon, in which there is student, faculty and safety department participation. We hope it will be available to some of our county schools in the next few months. Demand for the program far exceed the abil-

Cotton Insect Report

Cotton insect control operations increased to a marked degree during the past week. While insect infestations have continued heavier in the southern and western part of the area, populations have been sufficient to require control in many fields in most localities. Although leafworms continued to pose the major problem, bollworm activity increased in many fields.

Leafworms were reported in medium-to-heavy infestations in most localities. Where insecticidal applications were delayed, heavy ragging of leaves often occurred. Since the insect is still very active, fields not recently treated should be checked frequently for the appearance of damaging infestations.

Bollworm infestations have increased in many fields in most localities. Since many of the worms have been found under dry blooms which failed to shed from the bolls, or inside small bolls, control will be more difficult than where only one plant terminal infestations occur. Such infestations cannot be controlled with one application of insecticides. Treatments should be made at five-day intervals until control is secured.

Cabbage looper populations have increased in many fields, while disease has held the worms in check in other plantings. Where a good bollworm control program is being used, the loopers should not pose any serious problem.

Aphid infestations increased on cotton in many fields. Populations were generally heaviest where earlier applications of insecticide mixture had been used. Presence of heavy populations, cupped leaves, and excessive honeydew indicate a need for control.

ity of the department to present it at this time.

TFB would like to determine who is Texas' safest tractor operator. Here in the office are entry forms for anyone considering himself a participant in such a contest. There will be a county, district and state winner. If you wish to enter, come in and prepare your form before September 22. Age is no factor in this one.

C. C. Graef's Recount Memories Of Recent Journey To Europe

by Mrs. Clyde Monk

Mrs. C. C. Graef says she is unable to put into words the wonderful trip she and Mr. Graef recently made to Europe. We did however get some of the high spots that we think are very interesting.

When they reached England she says they were impressed by the beautiful flowers every where they looked. While in London they visited Buckingham Palace and Big Ben, and to Mrs. Graef's way of thinking Europe could be called the land of statues as she had no idea there were so many anywhere.

The numerous parks and fountains are just as pretty as the pictures we have always seen of them, they say. In Oxford, England alone there are 34 colleges but only five of these are for women, and Mrs. Graef says the inside of their buildings are very dreary looking.

In Stratford-on-Avon they saw the theatre that is a memorial to Shakespeare, visited the home of Shakespeare and the church where he was buried. Saw the home of Ann Hathaway, several castles, manors, many paintings, portraits and coats of armor. They also visited Westminster Abbey, Tower of London and cast their eyes on the Crown Jewels. Mrs. Graef says there are 540 in one lone crown.

From England to Paris, where they visited the Notre Dame Cathedral, Arch of Triumph and government buildings. Paris has the many famous side walk cafes. In Germany the grass was so pretty and green, crops were good with wheat, oats and barley in the shock and plenty of fresh vegetables.

In Denmark they took a long boat ride to Norway, which turned out to be a rough trip with Mrs. Graef spending most of her time leaning over the rail. Norway, Denmark and Sweden more hilly and mountainous than the other places and in Sweden practically every house was painted red trimmed in white.

In Belgium they visited a concentration camp and this experience will long live in their memory. Holland was very interesting to them with their canals and boats and where they still wear wooden shoes and use bikes for travel, and were very friendly people.

In Amsterdam they visited the largest diamond factory in the world and were shown the steps all the way from the diamond in the rough before it is cut on down to the finished product. This is the place where the diamonds are cut for the English Crown.

They took a ferry boat ride to Dover and spent the night under the "White Cliffs of Dover". Every where they found the people very nice and friendly. Mrs. Graef says that in Oslo, Norway is found the largest oil painting in the world which depicts the life of their country.

Their already nice trip had a finishing touch put to it when they arrived back in New York where they had the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. She was at the airport to meet her son, Elliott. Mr. Graef shook hands with her, talked briefly with her and says she was very gracious. They say they didn't realize how cool the weather was until they stepped off the plane at Kansas City and were met there by the extreme heat.

TREATS FOR FOOTBALL TEAM

The Muleshoe varsity football squad were guests of Roy Dyer at the Corral Dive-In Monday evening for hamburgers and malts.

Roy promised the team a treat if they won their first game, which they did, defeating Clovis Saturday night at Portales.

Mrs. Blevins died at an Enid hospital after a lengthy illness. Among her survivors is her brother Steve Sullivan of Muleshoe. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan attended services.

Fertilizer Experiments on Grain Sorghum To Be Shown At Halfway

Three fertilizer experiments on grain sorghums at the High Plains Station at Halfway in Hale county may offer pointers to regional farmers on how to increase their per-acre net profit on the crop.

"The experiments will be among the major stops during the Station's first annual Field Day on Wednesday, September 18", Dr. Thomas C. Longnecker, head of the station, said Tuesday. "Of all the crops grown on the High Plains, grain sorghums probably offer the greatest opportunity for an increase in yield through the practical use of fertilizer."

He said the fertilizer program on grain sorghums was an effort to find the answers to a number of questions; such as, what kind of fertilizer to use; when to use it; where to place it and how much to use.

"One experiment has been set up to determine whether phosphate is necessary to increase the yield of grain sorghums and whether the phosphate is required in combination with nitro-Dr. Longnecker added.

"This test, which was set up in the spring of 1957, called for applications of nitrogen and phosphate at planting time, singly and in all possible combinations at the per-acre rates of zero, 40, 80, and 120 pounds", he continued.

"The second experiment involved the application at planting time of zero, 40, 80, 120 and 160 pounds of nitrogen to the acre, with zero and 80 pounds of phosphate to the acre. The fertilizers were applied singly and in all possible combinations."

In addition, 40 and 80 pounds of nitrogen were applied to the acre as a side-dressing after the first irrigation. "But in no plot did the total nitrogen application exceed 240 pounds an acre", Dr. Longnecker added.

He explained that the second experiment was designed to determine how high nitrogen applications could go and still show an increase in net profit for the farmer.

"The third experiment is concerned with spacing", he said. "Many farmers have become interested in closer spacing as a possible factor in increasing per-acre yields."

This last test, accordingly, is one in which grain sorghums in one and two row beds can be compared at four rates of seeding and three fertilizer levels.

"The rates of seeding were 5 1/2, 7, 8 1/2 and 10 pounds to the acre", Dr. Longnecker said. "And the three fertility levels were zero, 100 pounds of nitrogen an acre at planting time, and the same amount of nitrogen at planting plus an additional 100 pounds as a side dressing just after the first irrigation."

He thought that planting and fertilizing rates should be included in the investigation of thicker spacing of grain sorghums in order to determine the most effective combination for closer spacing of rows.

Great Plains Conservation Program Activated; Detail Plan Is Outlined

Activation of the Great Plains Conservation Program, authorized by Public Law 1021 enacted by Congress last year, was announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A Congressional appropriation of $10 million for the first year's operations became available August 2.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson issued regulations and operating procedures for the program, and designated 221 counties in 10 Great Plains States as eligible to receive program assistance.

Purpose of the program, the Secretary said, is to assist farmers and ranchers in carrying out conservation plans through long-term cost-sharing contracts that will help to minimize climatic hazards and protect their lands from erosion and deterioration by natural causes.

The program is a new tool to help speed up objectives of the overall Great Plains Program recommended to Congress in a message by President Eisenhower January 11, 1956.

The new program, Secretary Benson emphasized, supplements existing programs and activities and does not replace any of them. It establishes no new agency. Administrative responsibility has been assigned to USDA's Soil Conservation Service. The program will be carried out the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Everett and two children, Jan 9, and David 21 have moved here from Bovina. He is the principal of Junior high school. They are Baptists.

VISIT IN ODESSA

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore and Nell were visiting Saturday and Sunday with the A. P. Reeves family in Odessa, and with Mrs. Reeves, who is in the Odessa hospital.

in cooperation with local and State governments, the Great Plains Agricultural Council, soil conservation districts, and farm organizations.

Assistance is limited to farmers and ranchers in counties in the 10 Great Plains States designated by the Secretary of Agriculture as susceptible to serious wind erosion. Great Plains States are Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

Plans of Operations Required
To participate in the program a farmer or rancher must have a workable plan of conservation operations that incorporates needed land use changes, needed cropping and grazing systems, and needed soil and water conservation practices in proper combinations. The plan also includes a time schedule for doing the planned jobs.

The plan must be technically sound, and acceptable to the Secretary of Agriculture. USDA soil and water conservation technicians will help a farmer or rancher make his plan, on request. Soil and range site maps and other information will be provided.

Cost-Sharing
The amount of cost-sharing depends on the cost of doing the needed work and the rates established at State and county levels. The maximum cost-share rate will not exceed 80 percent of the average estimated cost of installing each eligible practice.

A farmer or rancher may receive a cost-share payment when he has carried out a practice of an identifiable unit of his plan.

There is no limitation on the amount of cost shares an individual may earn under the program except a limitation of $2,500 for cost shares for improving dams or ponds for irrigation.

Practices eligible for cost-sharing include: Establishing permanent plant cover, field or contour stripcropping, contour cultivation, improving range cover, trees or shrubs for windbreaks or shelterbelts, establishing waterways, building terrace systems, chiseling or pitting range land, improving dams or ponds for irrigation, constructing wells for livestock, installing pipe, fencing and controlling brush.

Farmers will continue to operate at least through 1958 without major changes in present farm laws and programs.

Before recessing until next January, Congress decided to keep general farm legislation unchanged for another year, and instructed Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson not to make important program changes.

The understanding is that Congress will place new general farm legislation at the top of the list of problems to be taken up in January, but that whatever changes are made will be dated to become effective in 1959.

It will be difficult to avoid another farm legislation stalemate next year. This Congress has made it emphatically clear that it does not intend to follow Benson's recommendations, and President Eisenhower has indicated he will veto any bill not approved by his Agriculture Secretary.

Benson and the splintered Farm Bloc in Congress did not get along well in the first session of the 85th Congress and there is little prospect that relations will be better in the second session.

Congress will be back January 7 and all indications are that Benson will still be here, and that he intends to be around for another couple of years after that.

There are wide, and sometimes sharp, differences of opinion on how well present farm laws and programs are working. Benson claims all that needs to be done is to give him unlimited authority to set price support rates. He asks lower supports, he says.

Both farm prices and income apparently will average out for this year at very little different from 1956, but at something like 25% under 1955, the first year of Benson-Eisenhower farm program management.

Congress would have liked to make changes this year in the farm laws, but violent bickering broke out early in the session over a corn bill and the result was the smallest output of new farm legislation in more than 30 years.

Out of the more than 500 farm bills introduced, only five managed to squeak through, and none of those was of much general importance. The bills themselves reflected the wide and varied thinking on what ought to be done.

Congress considered and debated farm issues exhaustively. The log of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees show that more than 700 hours were spent in hearing over 500 witnesses testify on farm bills.

A dozen or more farm bills were reported out by the Committees, but failed to reach a vote in either the Senate or House, or both. All of those will be ready for floor debate when Congress returns.

The biggest stumbling block to new farm legislation this year was not only differences between Benson and Congress, but even sharper differences between the farm organizations and other "spokesmen" for farmers. The farm groups are farther apart than in many years.

It is apparent, too, that Congress much prefers that the farm groups take the lead in proposing new legislation. That way the congressmen can escape the responsibility for failure if things go wrong. But when the farm groups start fighting each other, Congress gets out of the way.

Sandhills Philosopher Alarmed Over...

Proposal To Find Out How Many Farmers Really Necessary

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably is unduly alarmed about the matter he's discussing this week, but if it wasn't that it'd be something else.

I've always felt that while nobody in Washington can solve the farm problem, it didn't hurt to have them try, it's nice to have them talking about it, it's comfortable to know you're not forgotten, but now I've changed my mind. You can run this thing into the ground.

For instance, I was reading in a newspaper last night when somebody had used to stuff around a set of teacups my wife got through the mail from some of her kinfolks — only three of em were cracked, probably before they were packed anyway — where a committee in Washington is planning on making a survey to determine how many farmers this country needs. They've got the idea there may be entirely too many of us and if so maybe a good many ought to quit and move to town and try something else.

In the future, I will appreciate Washington letting the farm problem slide awhile. Get your mind off us farmers and give some heavy thought to juvenile delinquents, guided missiles, the Russians, or something else.

I can see some expert, totaling up the number of acres this country has, the amount of food it needs, and the number of farmers needed to produce it, and coming out with the announcement we're going to have a farmer allotment for 1958.

I can see the official-looking letter turning up in the mailbox now: "Based on your five-year history of production, it has been found you are unnecessary and your name has been removed from the list of farmers in this country. Severe penalties for violating this order will be enforced."

You can see what this would do to me, and I think if I tried right hard I could name a few others in this vicinity.

Furthermore, if they found out this country has more farmers than it needs, what's to keep them from finding out it's got more filling stations than it needs? Or more grocery stores? Or more automobile dealers? Or more Congressmen? Or more newspapers? Or more women?

It may be true that 20 per cent of the farmers could quit and move to town and the country would still be well-fed and well-clothed and Sec. Benson would still have a surplus to worry about, but I have a notion you could shut down 20 per cent of the filling stations and nobody'd have to go without gas, or even wait in line. Yet they're still putting em up in cities, every time they find a vacant corner lot. And it's possible, with a fifth less Congressmen, we still might get just as many laws turned out.

Let's drop this whole thing.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bible Comment:

Sing God's Praise Across the World For Days of Peace

SINGING is the essence of praise. And where praise is real it is always bursting forth into new songs—although the old and beautiful songs are never discarded, but grow richer as time goes by.

In the 96th Psalm, the composer asks his listeners to compose a "new song" to Jehovah. His song—in which he wishes us to accompany him—is an old one, but ever new. It is a song with a world-wide note. Its emphasis is salvation which comes from the Lord. Its atmosphere is not the narrow one of a single soul or tribe or people, not even of a chosen race.

"Declare His glory among the nations," says the psalmist. "His marvelous works among all the peoples." Would God that we could do that today. Would that we could declare the glory of God among nations organized for violence and hatred. The psalmist says that God reigns and that He will judge the people with equity. From a study of history, we cannot doubt the truth of that.

Judgment—that is the thing we should be emphasizing today. It is judgment that has brought war upon our world. When men are greedy and selfish and violent and when these are allowed by peaceful men to dominate things, how in a world of law can there be anything but strife and trouble?

If there were no consequences of evil, we might indeed doubt the reality of righteousness and the persistence and sureness of God's judgments.

So let us take confidence, even in dark days like these, in the assurance of the psalmist that the Lord "will judge the world with righteousness, and the people with His truth."

Babson Discusses

long before "FALLOUT" will be the most discussed subject facing business, real estate, and investments. Newspapers now give daily forecasts for weather, tides and winds. Before long they also will give a local daily air analysis, together with a forecast of the analysis for the next few days.

WHAT WILL BE IMPORTANT?

All business and investments must be adjusted either to "Fallout" or to "Peace". Furthermore, it will be the fear of Fallout or the fear of peace which will bring about unemployment and a business collapse. The propaganda about "clean bombs" by those persons now profiting from the defense industries is the bunk. "Clean bombs" can be built; but Russia will never agree to their exclusive use. The Fallout is Russia's best bet.

Every reader of this column should ask himself how either the fear of Fallout or the fear of peace and disarmament will affect his community, his family, and his business or investments. The London Conference on Disarmament is discussing the possibility of both intensified Fallout and Disarmament. Every Congressman is trying to determine how his constituents would be affected by either. Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission is working hard studying Fallout.

IMPORTANT ILLUSTRATIONS

There could be a total change in the rising population trend. Most schools and colleges will have plenty of room for students. Families may fear to have more children for fear of having seriously deformed offspring. The birth rate could radically decline.

Real estate, commodity, and stock markets could be totally upset because of the fear of Fallout or unemployment. Certain cities would be much more subject to Fallout than others. As people now seek Florida or California for climate, they may avoid these states for fear of Fallout. Remember, this Fallout is polluting the air you breathe right now as you read this column.

WHAT ABOUT AGRICULTURE?

Studies are now being made by the Atomic Energy Commission as to the effect of Fallout on Agriculture and Fisheries. Unofficial reports are that ordinary fission or fission tests would not be harmful. If, however, Russia should float too much Strontium 90 over the United States, it could become very serious. This would especially apply to all leafy vegetables and perhaps to corn and wheat.

Certainly, we would no longer be allowed to drink cows' milk in its present form. Strontium 90 would have to be eliminated from canned-milk products. And this would need to be done for all canned fruit and most other canned products. The ocean seems to be especially "allergic" to this dangerous poison. Thus, the fish might be impregnated. Livestock which feed on grass could surely be seriously affected.

AUTOMOBILES AND OTHER INDUSTRIES

Industries other than food would also suffer. Manufacturing and retailing need not be directly affected. Of course, all stores and factories would need to be screened, as well as all homes. Automobiles would have to be screened, while all pedestrians might have to wear masks. Certainly, Russia could drastically upset our way of life.

All of this could either hasten war with Russia or else result in some form of disarmament. This is probably why President Eisenhower insists that no reduction be made in defense appropriations or foreign aid. This means that our present prosperity is on a "reeter board" or "saw horse", so to speak. Certainly we will hear much more about Fallout, which could become more important than missiles.

RUSSIA IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Although Russia could make these tests from Western Siberia and pick days when winds would drift the Fallout toward the U. S. A., yet the air of the entire world, including Russia, would be polluted. Therefore, these "tests", like poison gas, might not be used; but we do not know. In fact, there is a bare possibility that fear of these "tests" could bring about disarmament. Of course, if Russia should go too far, the U. S. and the rest of the world might declare war upon Russia. Then what?

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read Luke 24:13-21.

Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. (Luke 24:15.)

When Hugh Price Hughes was head of a London Mission, he received from an unbeliever a challenge to debate the truth of the Christian faith.

In accepting the challenge, Mr. Hughes made this statement, "I will bring with me to the debate one hundred men and women who have been saved from lives of sin by the gospel of Christ. They will give their evidence, and you will be allowed to cross-examine them. They will be men and women reclaimed for Christ from the vices of drink and intemperance. They will be persons walking in newness of life, and witnesses of what God's redeeming love can do for the lost and the least. I will ask you to bring with you one hundred men and women who have been similarly helped by the gospel of infidelity which you preach."

A throng came to hear the debate. Mr. Hughes marched in with his hundred. The challenger and his witnesses never came. The minister and his friends made the meeting one of joyous Christian witness.

PRAYER

O living Christ, Thou hast appeared unto Thy disciples in many ways through the centuries, Help us to have sensitive hearts to recognize the ways in which Thou dost draw near to us. Help us to walk with Thee. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Christ is with me in worship and work.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

The rewards of active gratitude to God will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James version of the Bible will include the following (I Timothy 6:17): "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (79:31-32): "Giving does not impoverish us in the service of our Maker, neither does withholding enrich us."

The Golden Text is from Hosea (12:6): "Turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgement, and wait on thy God continually."

Deep Tillage Gives Only Temporary In Controlling Wind Erosion

Unless it's done properly, deep tillage may make soil more vulnerable to the relentless gales of the Great Plains. But when drouth strips the land of its protective cover, heavy clods of soil turned up to the surface can help to reduce wind erosion.

Deep tillage is most effective and practical on land where a deep 12 to 24 inches deep covers a layer of clay, says Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist. Turning the clay up can help because a rough surface gives the best resistance to wind erosion. Therefore, the more cloddy the soil, the greater will be the surface stability.

Speed of tillage proved to be one of the most important factors in obtaining maximum surface roughness, notes the specialist. Tests in Kansas indicate that trials should be made at the beginning of any deep tillage operation to see what speed will produce the greatest cloddiness under whatever local condition exist.

Spacing, too, is important. Barton points out that chiseling at 27-inch spacings gave 50 percent more roughness and resulted in 75 percent less erosion than chiseling at 54-inch spacings. But it took five horsepower more tractor power to pull narrow chisels spaced at 27 inches than for those at 54 inches. Where wide spacing is necessary, duckfoot shovels would be better under some soil conditions to bring up enough clods.

 Depth of tillage had less effect than other controllable factors in the Kansas tests. The most effective depth depended upon speed, spacing of tool heads and other things. As a general rule, deeper tillage produced greater surface roughness, but increased roughness was not enough in most cases to justify the extra horsepower required.

FALL CLOTHING
 The time of the year and the cool days turn our thoughts to fall clothing. Let's keep in mind that right trim tids "style flare". The right kind and amount adds interest and individuality to a costume. Too much can be distracting and confusing. The secret of effectiveness in trimming lies in discriminating use. Self-covered buttons and belts, or those that blend with the garment, can be used without danger of a spotty or overdecorated effect. Self trim of this type becomes part of the design of the garment and gives more leeway in choosing other accessories.

If you plan for contrasting trim, study your figure carefully to determine where to place the emphasis. In other words, "accentuate the positive". Make certain the trim is appropriate to the garment and the occasion for which it will be worn.
 Shop for ideas that are different. Study garments that are displayed in exclusive shops and adapt ideas to your own purse and personality.
 When in doubt, leave that extra off. It's better to use too little than too much.

Zinc Poisoning of Food
 Galvanized containers should NEVER be used for food. The galvanized metal contains zinc that will contaminate food. A galvanized water bucket may hold a lot of milk and may be cheaper than a regulation milk pail, but, at the same time, be a vicious villain. The milk coming in contact with metal for only a few minutes will add zinc poison to the milk. I was quite disturbed when I learned that a homemaker in the county used a galvanized tub in which she processed pickles. I'm still disturbed about it.

 Please write this note in your memory and retain it: Food should NEVER come in contact with galvanized metal.
A Name For This Column
 As yet this column comes to you under the title of H. D. Agent's Column. In the near future it should have another name. I have asked the home demonstration members to send in suggestions for a name for the column. While at the Muleshoe Home Demonstration Club meeting Tuesday I heard several suggestions that sound interesting. If any of you, who are not members of the clubs, have suggestions that would like to submit, will you please phone or send them to the home demonstration agent's office. All suggestions will be taken to the County Home Demonstration Council meeting next Monday, September 16, and the council will make a selection from the titles submitted. Your suggestion will be appreciated.

Burns Feet

Gary Merriott, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Merriott received painful burns on both his feet on the Labor Day holiday. It was a hot day and while his mother was outside doing some work, Gary, who is two years old stood on the cellar door which was made of sheet iron and his feet were badly burned before his mother could get to the rescue. He was unable to be on his feet for several days.

Larry Sisk from Resida, Calif., is visiting with his grandmother, Mrs. Lora Brown this week.

"Runs like a top, NOW - AMALIE L. P. G.!"

Can't tell any difference - whether it's a fresh refill, or time to drain. Same power. Hate to throw away my drains, and don't drain near as often, either. Butane or propane (Liquid Petroleum Gas) burns HOT. That common-grade oil I used to use sure did thicken up - almost like gear-grease. Sure is different, with AMALIE L. P. G. Oil!

Because AMALIE L. P. G. Oil is ENGINEERED to the job. First, it's 100% pure Pennsylvania crude - nothing on earth equals it. Second, refined by an EXCLUSIVE process that HOLDS its great lubricating power, and its viscosity, or flowing quality. Third, additives developed by our great laboratories - to make sure grit, dust, etc., stay in suspension - so they filter out. There's just no other oil like AMALIE L. P. G. DISC HARROWS WILL NOT GOUGE IN ON THE TURNS!

MM model 11A disc harrow turns in as small a radius as any row-crop tractor. Tension springs hold the gangs in a level position so that the harrow penetrates at a uniform depth over its full width. With this construction the harrow is flexible for good work on uneven ground, and one side or the other does not dig in on turns.

Ease of angling is another outstanding feature. A touch on MM's new hydraulic control, called Uni-Matic Power, makes adjustment of disc angle on the go a simple matter. If your old harrow needs replacing, drop in to see us. We think MM harrows offer you the most in good performance, economy, and dependability.

Hogs Offer Good Means Marketing Of Farm Grains

The Texas farmer has never taken full advantage of the opportunity that hogs offer in increasing his farm income. The hog furnishes one of the best means of marketing farm grain.

The average production of corn and grain sorghum for the 10-year period, 1945-1954, was 126 million bushels. If only half of this Texas grain were fed to hogs, Texas could produce over four million hogs per year, and Texas farmers would get more money for the grain fed to hogs than for the grain sold for cash.

This method of selling grain may be even more valuable this year. The late growing season and plentiful supply of rain has caused a large crop of grain to be planted. This may cause a lower price. But hogs can help to raise that price.

But getting the most from this grain fed to hogs often challenges the best of a farmer's managerial ability. His management will most likely determine the price he gets for the grain.

A bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, "Swine Investigations in Texas 1888-1957", is designed to help farmers get the best performance from their hogs. It is a summary of the research studies and experiments from 1888 thru 1950 on feeding, methods of feeding and the effect of feeds on the quality of the carcass or on reproduction in swine. Texas feeds and mill feeds, pasture crops, minerals, vitamins, health and sanitation and antibiotics are also discussed.

This bulletin can be very helpful to any farmer who wishes to take advantage of the opportunity that hogs provide to get the most money for his grain crop. It is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-866.
