STATE LEGION OFFICERS HERE

State Adjutant Bob Whitaker and Wife and Auxiliary President Spoke Tuesday Afternoon

(By J. E. Thompson)

Hon. Bob Whitaker, State Adjutant of the American Legion, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Whitaker and Mrs. F. H. Carpenter, President of the American Legion Auxiliary, of Sour Lake, were in Tahoka Tuesday afternoon at the court house.

Mr. Whitaker is touring the state in interest of the American Legion, and while here he looked over the Legion Hall, and declared that it was one of the most unique and up-to-date Legion Halls that he had visited.

Mr. Whitaker discussed at length the major things that the American Legion had already done and the things that they now have under way for all disabled Ex-service men.

He gave us quite a bit of very valuable information in regard to some things that we were not aware of. Among the most important matters he told us about was the Emergency Benefits that is being given to all Ex-service men by the United States Veterans Bureau. If an Ex-Service man should get injured seriously and should become seriously ill and need the services of an ambulance or hospital attention the United States Veterans Bureau will pay all expenses for this attention and without cost to the Ex-service men.

He also gave us quite a bit of advice in regard to keeping up the spirit of the American Legion, which was enjoyed by all present.

Following Mr. Whitaker's talk, we had the great pleasure of hearing Mrs. F. H. Carpenter discuss the different phases of the purposes and workings of the American Legion Auxiliary.

One of the most important matters she discussed was the great work that is being done by the American Legion Auxiliary in the Child welfare work. She described what had been done and what was being done for Ex-service men's children and their families at Kerrville, where the United States Hospital for disabled Ex-service men is located.

She further told us of how these disabled men made all the poppies that were sold over the state on such days as Memorial day and Fourth of July, etc.

She stated that each man got 1 cent for each of these poppies, so you may understand what it means when you buy a poppy. It helps some disabled Ex-service man and his family.

The address by both Mr. Whitaker and Mrs. Carpenter were enjoyed very much by about twenty Legionnaires and several Legion Auxiliary ladies.

They insisted that everyone that could attend the District Convention of the American Legion at Slaton, next Saturday and Sunday. Let's all be there full of pep.

May Drug Company Goes Into Bankruptcy

The May Drug Store on the west side of the square failed to open last Sunday morning and has been closed since. A notice has been posted on the door indicating that the business is in the hands of the Federal Court under the Bankruptcy Act.

Mr. May came here several months ago from Desdemona and opened a new drug business. Refusing to comply with the practice of other drug stores here, he kept his place open nearly all day each Sunday, but it does not seem that such a policy paid in the long run.

We have no information as to Mr. May's future plans.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED AT REDWINE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Joe Bailey 4-H Club will present a play entitled "A Poor Married Man" at Redwine Friday night of this week. Gaynelle Tate left Tuesday to spend several weeks visiting her grand parents in Comanche county.

WILLIAMS GETS HIGHEST AWARD

Tahoka C. of C. Secretary Wins $200 Scholarship To Executives' School In Illinois

C. C. Williams was the recipient of a high honor last Saturday while in attendance at the annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives Association when he was awarded a $200.00 scholarship to the National Institute of Commercial and Trade Organization Executives held annually at Evanston, Ill., for having written the best paper on chamber of commerce administration. The award was made Mr. Williams at the convention Saturday by M. E. Melton, secretary at Texarkana, chairman of the committee on awards.

The National Institute is a school for executives and is attended by something like four hundred each year. It opens August 4 and continues for two weeks. This will be Mr. Williams' second time to attend, having gone once while he was secretary at Crosbyton.

Winning of first place with his paper is considered quite an honor by Mr. Williams since many chamber of commerce secretaries from all over the state of Texas were competing for the prize.

"Is Sunday What It Should Be Here?"

This coming Sunday morning the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tahoka is to speak on the above subject at the eleven o'clock hour. It is a follow up sermon on "How I Like to Live in Tahoka" preached last Sunday evening in this church.

Mr. Rodger Babson has said: "The three greatest institutions, or the three greatest forces in the World's history, have been the church, Sabbath observance and family prayers."

We really believe the Creator knew what he was doing when he set aside one day out of every seven for rest and worship. Isn't there a better way in which we could handle the situation than the one we have? Isn't it too bad that some men never get to be at home with their families a single day out of the year? Why shouldn't a father go with his family to Sunday School and church on Sunday? What has the church to do with perpetuating this day? Has she any responsibility here?

Sunday School meets promptly at 9:45 a. m. Classes for all ages. Efficient teachers for every department. Let the fathers and mothers come with their children to the Teaching service of the church. Worshipful music furnished by a choir that makes preparation. Bring your friends and loved ones who may be visiting in your home.

Tahoka Adds Lamesa To String of Victims

LAMESA, June 11.—Playing their first game of the season with an out-of-town team, Lamesa's all-stars lost to Tahoka here Sunday afternoon by the score of 9 to 4. McWhorter and Davis hurled for the locals while Wells went the route for the visitors.

Tahoka plays Southland at Southland Sunday.

KIWANIS CLUB HAS BIG TIME

Smith Tell Stories; Nelson, Bovell, and Rev. Pagan Talk; Young Ladies Sing and Read

It was a spicy program which was rendered at the Kiwanis luncheon Wednesday, with C. C. Williams in charge. Truett Smith always has some funny story to tell at the expense of some member and on Wednesday he unloaded on both the Baptist pastor and the county attorney, to the great delight of all others present.

Miss Charlene Maddox and Mrs. Bryan Hull sang in a most charming manner, accompanied by Miss Clarice Holl at the piano. Little Miss Mary Bland Wells gave a musical reading which was much enjoyed.

Brown Bishop was present as a prospective candidate for constable and produced the evidence against his prospective opponent, H. W. Calaway, showing him up in a shady light. H. W. will probably want to explain.

Rev. W. G. Pagan, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was present as a guest and made a most happy talk.

Joe Bovell was called upon to report on the Chamber of Commerce convention which he attended at Abilene and he reported a very interesting time. He said he was greatly impressed with the "team work" they did. "It only shows how much can be accomplished in a very short time with proper team work," Joe observed. He says that one of the events that he participated in was very touching. Nobody doubted the truth of Joe's report, for most of the Kiwanians saw the patient himself.

Clay McCoy Marries Austin Young Lady

J. Clay McCoy, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McCoy, arrived Wednesday with his bride for a few days visit with his parents and family. Clay was married in San Antonio Sunday to Miss Verne McKay of Austin, daughter of John G. McKay, who has long been a clerk in the State Treasury Department. For many years he was district clerk of Bell County and was prominent in county and state politics.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy will leave Sunday for Cisco, where they will reside. Mr. McCoy is a pharmacist in the Elliott Drug Company in that city. He has hosts of friends here who extend best wishes.

TAHOKA COLORED MEN ORGANIZE INSURANCE CO.

The Western Benevolent Association, organized by three Tahoka colored men, has been granted a fifty-year charter by the State of Texas. The organization is a successor to old mutual aid association and serves a similar purpose except that it is broader in scope and can do business anywhere in the state, according to Charles Deo, who is joined by George Bivens and Miguel Sanchez as incorporators.

The Association already has 150 members, most of whom are residents of the South Plains.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PRICE WINS GREAT VICTORY IN CIVIL SUIT

The boys at the court house are still exuberantly discussing the great victory which District Attorney T. L. Price won last Wednesday night when a verdict was rendered in his favor in the most important case (to him) filed during his entire career as a lawyer in this district. The case was styled T. L. Price vs. Mrs. Gladys Wright, according to district clerk Truett Smith. Truett says that in this case Price showed no disposition to ask for a continuance but he did ask for a plea of privilege, which was graciously granted by Mrs. Wright, the respondent. No dilatory tactics were employed, however, except that a change of venue was effected by the parties themselves and the suit removed to Clovis, New Mexico, for final hearing. No jury being necessary, Rev. Nix acted as judge and pronounced judgment, which was to

Rains Make Outlook Bright For A Good Crop This Year

FARMERS NOW NEED SUNSHINE

Excellent Season In Ground; Cotton Acreage Cut And More Feed Planted This Year

More than two inches of rain has fallen in Tahoka since we went to press last week. This rainfall has come in various installments, covering the entire county. The heretofore dry strip across the north portion of the county is now wet. The latest shower to visit Tahoka came Tuesday night, amounting to only .21 of an inch here but it was much heavier east of town. It covered most of the east half of the county and was very heavy in some localities. It was accompanied by some hail, and in a small territory out beyond Edith the hail was very destructive. One or two crops were entirely wiped out and some damage done to others. There are crops where the rainfall was heavy that will have to be replanted but on the whole crop prospects are now most excellent. Most farmers, however, are wanting some sunshine so that they can work their crops out, as the weeds are becoming formidable in places.

More feed has been planted than was planted last year and there has been some reduction in the cotton acreage.

C.-C. Fight Free Convention Amusements

Chambers of commerce in Texas are making a concerted campaign against free entertainment for conventions. C. C. Williams, secretary of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, said today. The campaign is being led by the Texas Commercial Executives Association.

Free banquets, free dances, free luncheons, free shows and other free entertainment are about things of the past, the secretary pointed out. He said that cities which have convention departments and which study convention entertainment scientifically no longer invite conventions which do not pay their own way.

The up-to-date host city will handle registrations, provide clerical help when needed and give a sight-seeing ride over the city, but this is about all of the free things a convention may expect in such a city, he said. The registration fee paid by the delegate to a modern well managed convention covers his banquet, luncheons and other entertainment, it was pointed out.

Cities which have experimented find that only conventions which pay their own way are an asset to a city and most Texas cities are now co-operating in ending the abuse of free entertainment still asked by some county, district and even a few state associations or conventions, the records show.

Improvements Made By Tahoka Golf Club

The Tahoka Golf Course has been making improvements on its course southwest of town recently and now has the grounds in better shape than they have been in several years. Greens have been rebuilt, new bunkers and trap built, and fairways mowed.

The club has also added twelve new members recently. Jack Applewhite is president of the club, and C. N. Woods, secretary-treasurer. A tournament between the local club and Lamesa is being planned for the near future.

NAZARENES TO HOLD REVIVAL

Rev. Lee L. Hamric, Hamlin, Will Conduct Services Here Beginning Next Wednesday

(By Mrs. Sam Bates) Revival services will be conducted at the Nazarene Church, beginning Wednesday, June 18, and closing Sunday, June 29, by Evangelist Lee L. Hamric of Hamlin.

Brother Hamric organized the local church and is well known in Tahoka, and the public will be glad to know he will be with us again soon.

Mr. M. C. Ritchey also well known here will conduct the singing. The noted Grassland quartette will sing. Services at 10 o'clock each morning and 8 o'clock each evening. You are invited to attend all these services.

NAZARENES WILL HAVE GROUP MEET HERE

Group No. 2 of the Abilene district, Nazarene Church, will convene at Tahoka on Friday, June 27, in an all-day session. Basket lunch will be served. There will be good music. Subjects of interest will be discussed. There are ten churches included in this group. Mr. Marvin Wade of Tokio is president. Come and spend the day with us.

M. E. Services For Sunday Announced

Is extreme denominationalism a blessing or a curse to the world? Did the Lord intend that there should be hundreds of different and differing sects, disputing over doctrinal points of difference? Should there be just one big church? And if there were, would it appeal to men more than the different churches of today? Is it probable that people will live good Christian lives outside of churches.

These questions will be discussed next Sunday morning at the Methodist Church, and everybody is welcome to attend and take part in the service. The pastor is intending to deal frankly and without favor to Methodists or others about these interesting questions and especially with the one most often asked: "Why not everybody belong to one big church?" Usually the man who asks that question insists that everybody go to heaven in his particular chariot, or else go to the devil.

Had you ever thought that there are seven churches in a town with a population of less than two thousand people? It is a little startling, isn't it, that people should be so hard to get to heaven that it takes seven churches and seven pastors, with an occasional high-rolling, hell-raiser evangelist and a paid singer to get people to live right? Come to church Sunday morning and let's talk it over in a brotherly spirit. And then have you ever known a

Nazarene Church To Be Dedicated June 29

MOISTURE FOR SEASON 7.85 INS.

Precipitation In May 4.45 Inches; June 2.19; Last Thursday Was Hottest Day

People almost invariably overestimate the amount of rainfall, just as they will overestimate the size of a crowd. Let a crowd of 1,000 people assemble anywhere and most people will estimate the crowd at 2,000. It is the same way with the rainfall. Let a heavy rain come, and most people will estimate the amount to be about double what it really is. Our readers may be surprised to learn that the total rainfall in Tahoka during the months of May and June up to this time, Wednesday afternoon amounts to just 6.66 inches. The rainfall this month to date amounts to 2.19 inches.

There was no rain in January, but the snowfall amounted to .50 to .60 of an inch. There was no precipitation of any kind in February. Snow-fall in March amounted to about 1.30 inches, which is equivalent to .25 to .30 of an inch of rain. In April the rainfall amounted to .29 of an inch. The total precipitation this year, therefore, amounts to approximately 7.85 inches.

We have had government thermometers here only since the latter part of March. The warmest day this year thus far was last Thursday, June 5, when the mercury rose to 93 degrees. There were two days early in April, however, when the temperature was almost as high. On April 7 and again on April 8 the mercury rose to 92.

The mean temperature in April was a bit higher than the mean temperature in May, 67.4 in April and 67.3 in May. The mean maximum temperature in April was 83.2 while the mean minimum temperature was 51.6. The mean maximum temperature in May was 79.58, while the mean minimum temperature was 54.48. By mean maximum temperature is meant the average of the high temperature registered for each of the 30 or 31 days in the month, and by mean minimum temperature the average low temperatures registered for the 30 or 31 days of the month. Government thermometers will show each night what was the highest temperature and the lowest temperature registered during the preceding 24 hours or since the last setting of the thermometers. A record is kept of the highest temperature.

Cowboy Reunion At Stamford June 26-28

STAMFORD, June 11.—One of the features of the Texas Cowboy Reunion to be staged in this city June 26, 27, 28, will be a round up and get-together of the pioneer cattlemen of the state.

A permanent organization of the old-timers will be formed to hold annual meetings in Stamford. Only those who saw actual service in the saddle and on the ranges of the region prior to 1895 will be eligible for membership in the organization.

The program of the three-day affair will include many entertainment features. On each afternoon a western cowboy rodeo will be staged and an old-fashioned ranch dance will be given each evening.

All early-day citizens of West Texas will be given special invitations to attend the affair and the directors of the offering say that people of all ages and classes will find a full program to interest and amuse them.

The rodeo will be held in a natural amphitheatre a mile west of the business district of Stamford. Comfortable seats will be provided for several thousand and the arena and stock pens have been arranged so as to allow presentation of the contests and exhibitions in a quick and efficient manner.

Much interest in the contests is being taken by cowboys on the ranches in West Texas and indications are that there will be at least 100 entrants in the events in which attractive cash prizes will be given the winners.

Love and Thrills
In "Arizona Kid"

Her lover's life hinged on a letter in the stage-coach's mail pouch—if the sheriff should receive it, all was lost. So the girl, risking everything, determined to—but the rest of the story will have to wait until you see "The Arizona Kid," Fox Movietone glamorous tale of the old Southwest, playing at the English Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

The new picture also sets a film record in that it is the first talkie to be made entirely on the scene of the story, with all the interior as well as the outdoor sequences filmed and recorded in and around the gorgeous natural settings of Zion National Park, Utah.

Carol Lombard and Mrs. Jimenez head the strong supporting cast. Alfred Santell, the maker of "Romance of Rio Grande," "The Patent Leather Kid," and many other successes, directed the picture and Ralph Block wrote the original story and dialog.

DRAW H. D. CLUB MET

Just Like An Ostrich

A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes and pimples with toilet creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that constipation is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole constitution. Remove the constipated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and easily, which you can get at

STATE HIGHWAY PROPOSITION
UNDER DISCUSSION
BY LEVELLAND C. OF C.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Judge W. D. Cope brought before it the matter of designating a state highway from here to Lubbock.

This is a proposition that has been under discussion for two or three years. Judge Cope informed the Chamber membership that a new movement was on foot to defeat the wishes of the people of Levelland in that petitions were being circulated throughout the rural districts, sponsored by men who are not citizens of Hockley County, asking that the highway instead of passing through Levelland, go north of the railroad. He further said that the basis for these petitions were in a way deceptive, as it was claimed that the highway would incur exorbitant cost to the people of the county. When the facts, as known by those who have investigated, are that this proposition would not be as costly as the one for the highway to go north of the railroad.

Considering every angle of the proposition, the movement shows that there is a disposition on the part of some who are not citizens of this county to dictate its road building. Why?—Could there be any reason except a selfish motive? Why should anyone, not a citizen of a county, be so altruistic as to go among its citizenship and suggest or dictate how they should conduct their internal affairs?

We remember reading the old proverb: "All Roads Lead to Rome." And every road leading into (not to one side) Rome contributed to its greatness. So it is with every town now, especially county seat towns. How any citizen of a county can subscribe to a proposition for a state highway not to pass thru his county seat town is something we cannot understand. He should be proud of his county seat as his municipal capital—the legislative center of all his local interest. And any movement that would benefit it should meet his approval.—Hockley County (Levelland) Herald.

O'DONNELL GETTING "JUICE" OVER NEW HIGH LINE

The Texas Electric Service Company high line from Big Spring has been completed, and the "cut over" was made Sunday afternoon.

Lamesa and O'Donnell now get their power from the super-stations serving other towns on the high line. The plant at Lamesa has been shut down, but will remain equipped to serve as an emergency generating station should it be necessary at any time due to a break in the high line or due to an extra heavy load.

The "cut over" was made last Sunday afternoon, all four circuits being changed in record time. The longest interruption was for a period of only three minutes.—O'Donnell Index.

Weathers residence out in Northwest Tahoka, which he and Mrs. Price will soon occupy. Tahoka people are glad indeed to have Judge and Mrs. Price locate permanently here.

"Too bad I did not hear of Konjola long ago," says This Happy Man

MR. J. A. KIN

"Too bad I did not hear of Konjola long ago; it could have saved me much suffering. My stomach was the cause of my trouble," said Mr. J. A. Kin, 122 Oriental road, Waco. "Everything I ate caused pain, gas and bloating. My whole system was run down, my vitality was low and I was gradually losing my strength. I had no ambition and was worn out all the time.

"So many medicines had failed me that I had about lost hope. Then came Konjola. After taking four bottles my appetite increased; I found that I could eat anything without a trace of indigestion in any form, and my whole system has taken on new life. I have plenty of ambition to do my work and I will always recommend Konjola as a real medicine."

Konjola is not a "cure-all"—there is no such thing, but when taken for from six to eight weeks will produce amazing results. The countless thousands of endorsements of Konjola have proven that it makes good in even the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Tahoka at Tahoka Drug Company and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

WOMEN SHOW WAY TO POULTRY PROFITS HERE

Longview.—Eggs could drop to 15 cents per dozen, and yet a little profit would be made by Gregg county home demonstration club women who are conducting poultry flock demonstrations. Reports from nine of them for April show that the feed cost per dozen eggs was less than 13 cents, and the average profit per hen 17 cents for the month. There are 756 hens in these combined farm flocks, and they laid an average of 18 eggs apiece in April. The demonstrations are in co-operation with Miss Vida Holt, home demonstration agent, and are for the purpose of showing in a practical way how good stock, feeding and management increase profits.

THEY CAN BY PLAN

Gonzales.—Canning according to the budget food needs of the family for fall and winter months is on the increase among Gonzales county home demonstration club women as a result of the work of the special 4-H pantry demonstrators who are working out practical systems of feeding the family cheaply and healthfully. An example of such a canning budget is that of Mrs. Dono Soefje of the Salem Club. For her family of three she is canning 80 quarts of fruit, 25 quarts of leafy vegetables, 50 quarts of tomatoes, and 61 quarts of other vegetables, 20 quarts of pickles and relishes, 45 quarts of starchy vegetables, 20 quarts of preserves, jams and jellies, and 5 quarts of other foods. Twenty quarts of meat and 15 quarts of brined vegetables. Besides this total of 361 quarts of food. Mrs. Soefje plans to put up 200 pounds of cured meat.

20,212,000 TELEPHONES IN USE IN UNITED STATES

Of the estimated 34,000,000 telephones now in use in the world, 20,212,000 are in the United States, according to statistics compiled as of Dec. 31st last.

That the "saturation" point is still far distant is indicated in the fact that whereas the increase in telephones in 1928 was 818,000 in 1929 there were 870,000 new installations made, a gain of 52,000 over the preceding year.

CO-OP SECRETARY WILL SPEAK IN LAMESA SOON

LAMESA, June 12.—Farmers and merchants of Lynn County are invited to hear C. O. Moser, vice-president and secretary of the American Cotton Co-operative association and representing the Federal Farm board discuss plans of the Farm board as well as possibilities of establishing a unit of the Co-op in Lamesa during his appearance here June 19. He will speak at ten o'clock and at two o'clock, according to Wm. A. Wilson, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, who received a letter from him recently.

Moser is coming to Lamesa at the invitation of several farm leaders in Dawson county and the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. His appearance here is expected to draw an attendance of over 3,000 farmers of the Plains.

Letters to several farmers of the Lower South Plains were being mailed this week by the Chamber of Commerce inviting them to attend the mass meetings.

L. S. Barron and family of Muleshoe spent Wednesday night here as guests of their friends, Prof. and Mrs. Taylor White. Mr. Barron is an abstractor.

CHEAP DRESSES—BUT THEY ARE APPROPRIATE

Wichita Falls.—Making their own dresses for 89 cents is one way the home demonstration club women of Wichita county are taking to meet the farm problem. In a recent contest 69 farm women exhibited home made stylish dresses appraised at $2.89 each by a local merchant, but costing $2 less than that to make. Appropriateness to wearer and suitability to use were the main points in judging, however, with originality, beauty and interest of design, and workmanship, laundering and pressing possibilities also considered.

On road-building and maintenance and administration of the Highway Department of Texas in 1929 spent $34,530,874.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from

Locals

G. H. Nelson and family returned Monday afternoon from a visit with relatives in Northeast Texas. Mr. Nelson states that crop prospects are very poor in that part of the state, due to excessive rainfall. The rains came in such torrents a few weeks ago that many crops and the land on which they were growing were almost completely washed away. Terraces were of little avail in checking the flow of the water, and the devastation was terrific. The best prospects he saw between Lynn and Cass counties were in Fisher county, he reports. He came back more thoroughly sold on West Texas than ever.

Our princely friend, A. M. Tredway, dropped in Saturday morning and renewed his subscription and that of three relatives to whom he is sending the paper. Mr. Tredway carries sunshine around in his soul and radiates it wherever he goes. It is natural that he should delight in spreading sunshine just a bit more by sending the News to relatives. By the way, Mr. Tredway recently returned from an extended visit in Tennessee and he says he never saw a drunk man on the entire trip. He declares that it is a mistake about whiskey sales being common in the mountains of Tennessee.

Bill Howell, who works at the Howell-Smith bottling works, was the victim of a painful accident last Friday when a gas drum fell on his hand, terribly lacerating the flesh, and breaking one of his fingers. He was taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock for treatment of the wounds, which are now healing nicely.

A. M. Roberts returned Friday night from McCamey, where he spent a few days visiting his daughter. He says McCamey is not quite as lively as it was a few months ago but is still a bustling, boom oil town.

O. J. Jackson spent Monday in Hobbs, on business. He says that the new oil town is filled with people looking for work. In fact, there are many men for every job that is available.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Edwards returned Saturday from Tuscola, and were accompanied back home by Mrs. Edward's mother, Mrs. W. B. Nunley, who will visit here several weeks.

Mrs. J. V. Dyer was here from Post Monday accompanied by her two daughters, Mrs. J. P. Manley and Mrs. W. T. Shepherd, and her grand daughter, Miss Lena Manley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McIntyre and Mrs. Wiley Fortenberry and children left Monday morning for Glen Rose, where they expect to spend two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brashear, now of San Angelo, spent last week end here and at Lubbock, visiting friends and relatives and looking after business matters.

Miss Lila Maie Reid came home Saturday from McMurry College, Abilene, where she was a student again the past year.

Mrs. Harlan Cook is visiting her mother and other relatives in Central Texas.

Mrs. F. L. Kelley of Wellington is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Wells.

Sunday school at 10:30 every Sunday morning. It seems as though it is hard for some to get there on time.

Brother Duncan filled his appointment in the afternoon.

Mr. R. E. Key will make an address on the Sunday school work next Sunday June 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Leverett visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davis at Hancock Sunday evening and attended church that night.

Although Friday was another rainy day, the judge and candidates did not fail to come to the pie supper. Judge sold the pies and Home Demonstration quilts that brought the sum of $46.00 in all. Then short talks were made by the candidates. All enjoyed them very much. B. L. Parker, night watchman of O'Donnell was the lucky one and drew the quilt. He paid $1.02 for it. We want to thank everyone that helped us in our work. We now have nearly $70.00 in our Club Treasury.

A letter from Howard Payne College was received and stated that Lucille Townzen would not go to the Academy, as she passed all the high-school examinations and would enter college Thursday morning, June 5th.

H. W. Crews left Saturday for Big Springs to get his daughter and baby, Mrs. Louis Henderson, for a few days visit as they are going to move to Fort Worth in the near future.

FELT OUT OF SORTS

Arkansas Man Tells of the Good He Gets From Taking Black-Draught.

Mena, Ark.—"If there is a better laxative medicine made than Theodor's Black-Draught, I've never found it, and I tried a good many before I began taking Black-Draught about twenty years ago," writes Mr. H. F. Miller, who lives at 211 Eleventh Street, this city.

"I am satisfied with Black-Draught. When I feel all out of sorts, my feet seem to feel heavy, and I feel tired when I haven't worked; and I get a bad, slimy taste in my mouth, I just take two or three doses of Black-Draught and I feel better."

"I have found it good for indigestion, in fact for about everything it is recommended for. We just keep it in the house and use it for biliousness, headache and such complaints. I recommend Black-Draught to others."

This well-known medicine has been in use nearly 100 years, and its popularity is constantly increasing, as growing sales clearly prove. Don't trifle with counterfeits and questionable substitutes when you can so easily obtain the genuine Theodor's Black-Draught by always calling for it by name, "Theodor's." Costs only 1 cent a dose.

CHEVROLET'S New Service Policy wins nationwide approval

On January 1st of this year, the Chevrolet Motor Company announced a new service policy—the most liberal ever offered in connection with a low-priced automobile.

Immediately it was greeted with enthusiasm by Chevrolet buyers everywhere—because its many unusual features materially add to the economy and lasting satisfaction of Chevrolet ownership. Briefly, it provides——for free inspection and adjustment at the 500-mile mark, and free inspections every 1000 miles thereafter.

—for free replacement of any material—including both parts and labor—that may prove defective, within the terms of the standard warranty.—that this replacement will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States—regardless of where the owner may have traveled during the warranty period.

Backing this policy is one of the largest service organizations in the automotive industry—consisting of over 10,000 authorized Chevrolet dealer service stations in the United States alone. Come in! Learn all the other reasons why it's wise to choose a Chevrolet Six!

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News, will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

We have not followed closely everything that has appeared in the papers about Bishop Cannon's political activities in the 1928 campaign. We only know that he refused to smother his conscience and whoop 'em up for Governor Al and John Jacob. We know that he was a potent factor in swinging "Ole Virginny" into the Hoover column. We know that the wet politicians—and the Catholic politicians—have been mad at him ever since. We know that they have been hounding him from that day to this like a pack of timber wolves on the trail of a hunted stag. We know that he volunteered recently to appear before the lobby committee of the Senate to give them some information as to his political activities. We know that some members of this committee—apparently motivated by spleen—proceeded to subject him to about such an examination as might be given a negro chicken thief in a police court. Finally Bishop Cannon got enough of it. On Thursday morning of last week when the committee undertook to resume its razzing, Bishop Cannon declined to be razzed further. There were only two committee members present. One was Senator Walsh, a dry Democrat, but also a Catholic who would naturally have no love for a Methodist Bishop who had fought a Catholic candidate for the Presidency. The other was Senator Blaine, a Wisconsin Republican, and as wet as Milwaukee beer. When these two pious members of the Senate smelling committee were about to resume their police court activities, Bishop Cannon drew a written statement from his pocket and read it, declaring that he believed the "investigation to be a part of the effort for many months of wet and Roman Catholic elements" to prevent a recurrence of such a political revolt as occurred in the South in 1928, or words to that effect. Then he gathered up his crutch and his hat and, in spite of the frantic protestations of the wrathful Walsh and the bellicose Blaine, he bravely walked out, leaving the two gesticulating Senators with the bag to hold, informing them at the same time that he would not appear before the committee again until subpoenaed. We do not know what the final outcome will be but we are persuaded that there are hundreds of thousands of red-blooded Americans who glory in the Bishop's spunk.

There are 254 counties in Texas, ranging in size from 149 square miles (Rockwall) up to 5,935 (Brewster). Georgia, with 169 counties, comes next.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina was defeated. He went down as a martyr to the principle that "it is better to be right than to be regular". He has been a member of the Senate for almost thirty years. He is recognized as one of the most able and influential members of that body. He has done heroic service for the Democratic party and for the South through all these years. But in 1928, he refused to enlist under the banner of the "happy warrior", the genial and powerful Al Smith, who led the attack on the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law. Regardless of consequences to himself politically, Senator Simmons repudiated Smith and voted and worked for the election of Herbert Hoover. In the eyes of many that was an unpardonable sin—a sin that outweighed all the service that Senator Simmons had previously rendered and that he might henceforth render as a member of the Senate. But the circumstances of Senator Simmons' retirement will not in the slightest degree dim his luster as a statesman and a patriot. A brave man has gone down in defeat. Let us hope that his successful antagonist, Bailey by name, will prove to be a worthy successor.

Dan Moody is out of it as a candidate for governor. He notified the state Democratic executive committee Monday that he did not choose to run. We believe that it was a wise decision. Apparently the chances to be nominated and elected again at this time were against him. When he goes out of office next January he will retire to private life for a time, but few believe that his political aspirations have been satisfied. We truly hope that this will not be the end of Moody's political career. Although he has doubtless merited some of the criticism that has been directed at him as governor, we believe that Dan Moody has been clean, honest, and patriotic in the discharge of the duties of every office he has ever held. In addition to these virtues, he is a man of excellent ability, and nobody knows but that at some future time Texas will again call him into her service in some important capacity. May it be so.

Jim Ferguson is dripping wet, politically, but "Ma" announces for governor as a bone-dry. One of the planks in her platform is that she will favor a law barring from office any man who drinks bootleg liquor illegally obtained. "Ma" can't make it too strong for us. We think that any man who will drink bootleg liquor sold in violation of law, while he is under oath to enforce the law, ought to be kicked out of office. Many peace officers in Texas have been enforcing such a rule as to themselves and their deputies for many years already. There are a few, however, so forgetful of their oaths and of their duties as to aid and encourage in the violation of the law which it is their duty to enforce. "Ma" is right in saying that they should be scourged from office. The News is not for "Ma", however. Too much Pa.

Texas has 8,000,000 wild pecan trees with an annual crop of 40,000,000 pounds or 75 per cent of the total produced in the United States. Topping and budding of wild trees would increase the value of the Texas crop to $200,000,000 according to Congressman Buchanan of the Austin district.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

HEAVEN AND PUBLICITY

A Boston man and his wife are both in the advertising business and their 6-year-old daughter hears a good deal of shop talk around home. When she returned from Sunday school recently with a card containing a Bible text, the mother asked her what it was. Little Dorothy shrugged her shoulders and said, "Oh, it's only an ad about heaven."—Haskell Free Press.

The child, being a child, had no intention to be irreverent. Yet she spoke a truth. All hymns, Scriptures, tracts and sermons are advertisements of heaven. Heaven has to be advertised or the people forget it. To advertise is to publish, to make known, and the Bible itself recognizes advertising. The missionary goes among the heathen advertising heaven, by tract, sermon and other teaching. That is what advertising is—telling the merits of a commodity or establishment. If heaven got no advertising it would not draw as it does. This may be said, and is said, not cynically, but sincerely. There was never a greater publicist than Saint Paul. He believed in what he offered. He laid the ground work of a Christian Rome, just as Rome seeded Europe with a new and better religion. John Wesley advertised Methodism in England and America, and our present day radio preachers are advertising through the most modern medium. Advertising is not entirely commercial, although it has been recognized as a powerful influence by all commercialists. The Congressional Record is an advertisement of Congress. Doctors do not believe in advertising (paid) but every medical treatise is an advertisement of the healing science. Lawyers do not advertise largely, but every lawyer's brief is an advertisement of a client. Satan conducts about the only place that does not need advertising. Customers simply drift on pellmell into his establishment.—State Press in Dallas News.

A NEW PLEDGE PROPOSED

W. A. Trenckmann, editor of Das Wochenblatt, Austin, suggests that the pledge of the Democratic ballot read as follows:

"I consider myself a Democrat and I promise to vote against all nominees of the primaries whom I believe unfit for the office they seek, and whose election in my opinion would bring shame upon the party."

Take a look at that pledge. Stroll up one side of it and down the other. Consider its implications. Reflect upon the standard of honor—party honor and personal honor—set up. Estimate the probable result upon the Democratic party and party loyalty. When you have done with your survey can you honestly say that it is not a far better pledge than the vote-for-a-yellow-dog pledge now authorized for the ballot?

The present pledge is on the theory that you belong to the party, but the Trenckmann pledge assumes that the party belongs to you. And, having assumed that, it allots to you personal responsibility for its doings. It is answerable directly to you and you are answerable for it. Unless it is worthy of what you consider best for the State, it is not merely your privilege to chastise it, it becomes your duty to do so, for the good of Texas, for the good of the party and for the good of your own self-respect. That is the Trenckmann idea. Editor Trenckmann has done his thinking well.—Dallas News.

Things seem to some authorities to be shaping up for a republican governor in Texas this year. With several candidates representing the "even tenor" democrats, and Love and Ferguson representing two radical extremes, one of them may wind up as the nominee of the democratic party. With each extreme fighting the other, and perhaps a lot of regular democrats with their conscience in their pockets off on the creek that day in November, 1930, the trick might be turned and give us the first republican governor since reconstruction days.—Terry County Herald.

The pictures of the Palo Duro canyons displayed at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting by Ray V. Davis and Travis Shaw impressed the members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as to the wonderful possibilities of a state park. Resolutions were adopted urging that the 42nd legislature pass the drivers license bill which would insure funds with which to buy and maintain the four state parks. The drivers license is needed for the protection of both car owners and pedestrians. The parks are needed for the benefit of all the people of the state.—Canyon News.

The two largest oil refineries in the world are in Texas—each with daily capacity for handling 125,000 barrels of crude.

STORY OF THREE LITTLE PIGS

EASTLAND—Three little pigs went to market in Eastland county the other day but came back home again because the price was so low. Now they repose in tin cans on pantry shelves. There isn't much moral in this for pigs, but owners may derive some benefit by learning that the pigs were valued at $68.25 canned while the hog buyer rated them at only $40.00.

As reported by the home demonstration agent, John Boyles of Carbon, disgusted with the low hog market, used a steam pressure canner to turn out 75 No. 3 cans of ham and sausage, 15 No. 2 cans of sausage, 6 No. 3 cans of mincemeat, and 5 No. 3 cans of cooked meat from bones. Besides this $7 worth of meat was eaten fresh and 15 gallons of lard obtained. The cost of cans was $4.90.

GROCERY BILL CUT IN HALF

Post.—Grocery bills have been cut in half by canning vegetables from the garden in a steam pressure canner, according to the statement of

Mrs. J. M. Maltaber, home demonstration club woman of Grassbur, in Garza county. Last year she canned 249 quarts of produce and sold $117.84 worth besides what was used on the table in fresh form. On higher education—university and state-supported colleges—Texas spent in 1929 $9,093,243.

EDITORIAL POLICY OF THE NEWS
DRAWS FIRE FROM J. B. WALKER

(By J. B. Walker)
I remember quite well, when I was a mere boy, my father called his seven sons in conference and began to propound many truths and one among the many, he said, "when you boys learn that you can't force every body to see and do as you do, you have learned a great lesson."
That statement has clung closer and closer to me down through the years.

Now, during these many years, I see the same spirit growing stronger and stronger, among the weekly country news papers. They seem to think that their main duty is to mold
the character and direct the thinking
in their respective communities.
They forget the real purpose of a community news paper.

I am sure the readers of the Lynn County News, take great pleasure in reading Editor Hill's editorials, but at times he can become the most inconsistent writer that I have ever read after. I am sure the most of his readers, read this week's editorial, whereby he gives vent to his spleen, as to the prospective Governors of the great State of Texas.

He calls number 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6
and tells about their great political accomplishments, but you noticed when he comes to James Young of Kaufman, he only says, "he is a candidate of the 'regulars, the Wilcox-Pinckney-Boyles crowd.'" He also says, "Young is a good man, a dry, but his chief backers are mostly wets."

Now, let's analyze the above statements. The regulars, what does that mean? Let's see, I have been taught by all politicians, that we have two major parties in the United States to-wit: The Republican party and Democratic party. Every political party that has had an existence of a very long duration has had its regulars and insurgents members. The most notable incident is the Republican party. A few years ago they had a wide split in the G. O. P., and every school boy knows one was called the regulars (or stand pat-ters) and the other faction was called the insurgents and that is not all.
Every school boy that has enough
sense to carry a bucket of coal, knows the regulars are known to hold to the fundamental doctrines held by Hamilton down to the present time but the insurgents have tried for years to disrupt the Republican party, but they always have enough sense, at the right time (except once) to save their party from defeat, by staying in there, and that is more than some Democrats know.

Now, the regulars Ed. Hill refers to, no doubt he means the back bone of the Democratic party. Those that believe in party polity, party loyalty, and in the Democratic principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson, Jeff Davis, John H. Reagan, Jim
Hogg and the immortal Woodrow Wilson.

Now if the Republican party has the two elements, the regulars and the insurgents, it is presumed the Democratic party has the two same elements—but, thank the Lord, the insurgents in the Republican party have enough sense and honor, when the crucial hour comes to stay in the Republican party.

Now Ed. Hill says Jim Young "has the regulars and the Wilcox-Pinckneys-Boyles crowd, but we have not seen any evidence as yet that he is taking things by storm."

This is Ed Hill's language not mine, and if this is true Jim Young forces in Texas is just as impenetrable as the rock of Gibraltar, if the Democratic party has got half the sense of the Republican party.

Now, to his statement again,
"Young is a good man and a 'dry',
but most of his backers are 'wets'."
Who are his backers? Ed. Hill says "the regulars", the Wilcox-Pinckneys and Boyles. Now you people know who the "regulars" are,
Let's see for a moment who is Fred Wilcox, Dave Pinckney and John Boyle are. If my memory serves me right during the last governor's race in Texas, Ed. Hill was proclaiming Moodyism through the columns of The Lynn County News week in and week out, telling his readers what an intelligent giant Moody was and what he would do if he was placed the Chief Executive of the great State of Texas, and at the same time he (Hill) was locked in arms
with Fred Wilcox, Dave Pinckney, and John Boyle. Oh I dearly love you, such fine fellows. John Boyle is a wizard in getting votes in the San Antonio district. That was Ed.
Hill's dream two years ago. Every body knows in Texas, that John Boyle was closer to Dan Moody in that campaign than any man in Texas. But at this hour, John Boyle is a "dripping wet" John Boyle was just as wet two years ago as now.
Ah my friends, it depends largely on whose bridle bull is being gored.

date for Governor, he must come out and denounce Jacob Rascob as the National Chairman of the Democratic party." That statement is just too bad. I make this statement unequivocally, that I would not vote for any candidate who would make the above statement for he is only trying to play a politician. If he or she has enough sense to be Governor of Texas, he or she well knows that there is only one channel to move, to make this change and that will be done at the proper time. That is left entirely with the Democratic party of these United States. I hear the same complaint with the National Chairman of the Republican party.
But who will be found "bolting"
if this candidate fails to express his opinion? Will it be the regulars in the Democratic party? Echo answers a thousand times "no". I admire the loyalty of the insurgents, in the Republican party, in fact, any organization, let it be political or religious or otherwise, must stand steadfastly and fight face to face her battles.

Now, fellow Democrats, the hour is almost here and the old patriots of the Democratic party of this great state are looking down upon you wondering if you are going to allow yourselves to be swept off your feet
by a lot of tommyrot and "iams".
We have the largest per cent of Anglo-Saxon citizenship of any state in the union, then let's rise up as men and women for a man for Governor of this great state who stands for something. Who stands for issues, not isms, that are very vital to the welfare of this great Commonwealth.

EDITOR ANSWERS

Our good friend J. B. Walker has a "piece" in the paper this week spanking the editor. J. B. is the leader of the Jim Young forces in this county. He apparently owns a majority of the stock and the controlling interest in the local Jim Young club.

We didn't play up Jim Young in our gubernatorial editorial last week to suit J. B., and so he seems a bit peevish at the editor—but he isn't.
You've heard one lawyer cuss another like smoke in the court room and then go off and take a drink with him. Well, that is about the same type of affectionate regard that J. B. has for us—only, neither of us drinks. J. B. may vote for Al Smith and hurrah for Rascob and cuss Tom Love and other "Hoover-crats" every chance he gets, but he never takes a drink of that delectable concoction that made Millwaukee famous and that put the real
"kick" in the Al Smith campaign two years ago.

J. B. is not really mad. It is just part of the political game.
His article this week has too many vulnerable points in it for us to undertake to point them all out in one issue of this newspaper. We will content ourself in permitting the readers to discover them for themselves.

There are just one or two matters
that we wish to advert to, however.
Mr. Walker apparently assumes that when we stated that Jim Young was the candidate of the "regulars" we referred to those who voted for the Smith electors in 1928, and draws the inference that this is an admission that Jim Young has a great host of supporters. We do not think that our language is open to any such interpretation; we indicated the particular kind of "regulars" we had reference to. There are thousands—possibly hundreds of thousands—of good men and women in Texas who voted the straight national Democratic ticket in 1928 who are not supporting Jim Young in this campaign. Dan Moody was a regular. Earle B. Mayfield was a regular. Lynch Davidson was a regular. Barry Miller was a regular. Clint Small was a regular.
Ross Sterling was a regular. Pink Parrish was a regular. Jim and Ma Ferguson were regulars. They are not supporting Jim Young. We named the particular bunch of "regulars" that we had reference to—that little coterie of politicians that dominate the state Democratic executive committee and seek to dominate the politics of Texas—the same crowd that our good friend J. B.
had reference to when he publicly stated on the streets recently that Wilcox, Boyles, Pinckney, et al
brought out Jim Young for the express purpose of defeating Tom Love and the Hoovercrats, that they knew they could not defeat him with a
"wet" and so they picked Jim Young,
a "dry". These are the boys we referred to as the "regulars", J. B.
They are not many, and even with their aid and backing Jim Young does not seem to be "taking things
by storm."

There is just one other matter we care to mention. J. B. puts us in the same political bed with John Boyle as a supporter of Dan Moody two years ago and chides us with great glee for this "inconsistency".

J. B. evidently has a short memory.
If John Boyle was in the same bed with Moody and this editor two years ago he slept at the foot and we wouldn't have known he was there if he hadn't done such terrible kicking. It is true that Boyle was a stout Moody supporter in the 1928 campaign, but prohibition was not the issue in that campaign. The issue was so-called "Fergusonism" and "irresponsible government." Be it said to John Boyles' credit he stood with Moody in that fight. So did this editor. So did J. B. Walker.
So did a vast majority of the Democrats of Texas, including many wets.
John Boyle continued to support
Moody as long as he thought he had Moody under his control.

But at the Beaumont convention, held in the Spring, he learned to his dismay and consternation that Moody
would not stand hitched for John's program to put Texas definitely in the Al Smith column. Moody had supported John's program for an uninstructed delegation but when he saw what it had gotten him into he kicked over the traces. At the National convention held in Houston a little later, Moody bucked again. His performances in that contest, were not exactly to our liking, we will admit, because he compromised too much with the wets. But his performances were not to the liking
of John Boyle because he, Moody,
was too dry.

We never heard of John Boyle pulling his hair for, Dan Moody any more after the Beaumont convention.
We do not know whom he voted for in the July primary. If he was for Dan he kept menacingly quiet about it. Our recollection is that he put in most of his time that Summer and Fall trying to put over Texas for Al Smith. If he was "closer to Dan Moody in that campaign (the governor's race) than any man in Texas," as Prof. Walker avers, he must have been giving Dan some terrible jabs in the ribs, for John was trying to get everybody to whoop 'em up for Smith and Dan was sulling in his tent.

What we have said as to Boyle applies largely also to Wilcox and Pinckney and the others. Yes, there was a terrible row in that Moody bed in which J. B. says John Boyle and the editor were sleeping together in 1928, J. B. has a short memory.

By the way, J. B. must have been a bit confused when he wrote his little "piece" for he twice alludes to
"Fred Wilcox" and "Dave Pinckney."
We never heard of these gentlemen before. No doubt he has reference to Dave Wilcox and Steve Pinckney.
It is said that the ox knows his owner and the ass his master's crib, but J. B. seems to have forgotten the names of his commander-in-chief and other superior officers in the little Jim Young regiment.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker
Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System
use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in coun-less ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance.
Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball
or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

T-BAR CLUB REPORT

The T-Bar Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, May 5, for their regular meeting. The house was called to order by the president Mrs. R. E. Townzen. "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour," was sung, led by Mrs. Lindley. Mrs. Townzen then led in prayer.

Following the reading of the minutes a program was given as follows: Diseases of Tomatoes and the symptoms, by Mrs. R. J. Alexander. Disease and Insects that are most harmful to Cabbage, by Mrs. A. E. Leverett. Two kinds of insects and the methods for treatment of each, by Mrs. J. C. McCarley. The program was concluded by a Demonstration on pruning and staking tomatoes by Miss Thelma Greenwade.

There were six members present as follows: Mesdames R. E. Townzen, D. Henderson, J. C. McCarley, Ruth Crews, A. E. Leverett, Joy Linley; three visitors Jamie McCarty John and Louise Edwards from O'Donnell. One new member, Mrs. C. C. Whipp. The next meeting will be at the T-Bar-club room June 19th. All members are urged to be present. Visitors are always welcome.—Reporter.

MY LIVING ROOM AS IT WAS AND AS IT IS

(By Mrs. Acie Bailey)
 At the time for scoring my living room, before beginning to improve it, I not only asked myself but our Home Demonstration Agent as well: "What can I possibly do besides add curtains to this room?" It was new; new paper, new shades, new floor, just stained and all the furniture that there was room for. Frankly I'd not given it enough consideration to think of any possibilities in improvement. "A gateleg table would answer the purpose of that one very nice," suggested Miss Greenwade, indicating my old dining table. Other suggestions from her opened my eyes as to how my room really looked.

We were using this room for a living and dining room combined. The furniture consisted of: one point scarred overstuffed divan and rocker to match; Ta-bed, a large table which can be converted into a bed by opening as in a Dufold; Piano and bench; Home-made Roll Cabinet with sagging door and veneer gone from top; Small end Table, magazine rack, smoking stand, which was usually placed against wall so as to be out of the way; an old home made Dining Table with oval shaped top and wide cracks, where the foot planks of which it was made were put together, this having been covered several years ago with walnut stain as was the roll cabinet.

All pieces of furniture were very badly in need of cleaning and a new coat of varnish.
 The floor was covered with a good grade oil cloth rug, dingied from lack of proper care, one side showing a torn place caused by the piano being rolled over it.

There were no curtains over the windows or door.
 The canaries' cage had no certain place to stay and had to be changed from place to place in search of sunshine and in an effort to avoid drafts of wind.

The pillows on the divan were faded and torn, on the walls were two pictures, a serving tray and a calendar.

A pillow was crammed in the open flue to stop noise of wind blowing through. All available top space on tables and piano was covered with books, photographs, odd vases of faded flowers, music, clocks, games, etc.

The door was without a screen. To sum it all my room resembled a bachelor hall rather than a family living room.

I began my improvements by rearranging the furniture. The piano was moved from a corner to a more central location, where plenty of light was available from either side, and where the artificial light would fall over player's left shoulder direct on music, thus benefiting the individual eyes.

The divan was moved from before a window and placed in a corner near a window, revarnished and made more inviting and restful by the addition of two new pillows at a cost of $1.94. For these I bought one form and some new material combining this with scraps of material and flowers, which had been discarded.

A gateleg table, unfinished, was secured for $5.95 and varnished to match divan. This took the place of the old home-made, off-color dining table. This makes a round table, when opened, 41½ inches in diameter. With one or both leaves folded it makes a very pretty occasional table.

The rocker was given a coat of varnish to match other pieces; placed just to the right of window, with end table holding books on left side and smoking stand and a pillow added for comfort.

The roll cabinet I completely renovated. It was a shackle old piece, yet I needed a receptacle for the player rolls and hated to throw it away as my mother had made it for me several years ago. First I removed all the old veneer from sides and top and also removed the door. This left just the frame box structure 16 inches by about 26 inches standing on legs about four inches high. From one sheet of three ply veneer 24 by 70 inches I cut two pieces to cover sides of frame and to extend above top to exact height of piano. The side pieces which were to extend above top of frame I curved, smoothing to shape with a file after it was sawed. To this part I added a small top piece and two shelves. The scraps from the veneer panel made the shelves and I used the old veneer which had been removed from sides for the back and to recover the top of the base of cabinet.

By removing and tightening hinges the door was easily made to hang right. A wood knob helps to open the door and also adds to the general appearance. This was just an extra knob of which I had three. Upon being finished with a coat of varnish to match the other pieces of furniture it makes a very useful piece of furniture, the top part now being use for a book rack, and inside the bottom compartment is ample space to store our player roll and games.

This newly made "pier cabinet" was placed near the chair. The bird was satisfactorily disposed of by extending his cage from a book near the window where he has plenty of fresh air and sunshine and yet is out of the draft. All these pieces are so arranged that they compose an inviting reading or sewing corner. Window drapes in color to harmonize with paper were made at the cost of $4.32 for material plus 5 cents for thread.

Curtain poles were priced higher than I cared to consider so at a planing mill I rumaged among the kindling and found a pole to meet my needs. After having it smoothed and shaped I found I had just the rods I wanted for the minimum cost of 50c. Brackets to hold these, unfinished, cost 25c a pair. These I painted ivory to match the wood work in room.

To the panels on front of the tables was added two knobs to match the one on "pier cabinet." These These transformed its appearance from a big bulk table to a good sized library table.

A new picture (costing one dollar) of an "English Garden" took the place of one of the old ones and added much color to the room. The tray and calendar were also removed from the walls.

The pillows was taken out of the flue and in its place was fitted a flue stop for 20 cents.

I exchanged some work with my sister so that she could make for me a small hooked rug. This covers the broken place in the old rug and is very pretty within its self.

Dollies and scruffs were freshly laundered and clocks and what-nots were removed from tables and piano and pot plants and cut flowers take their place.

The color scheme followed though not too prominent, was green and gold.

My husband hung the new screen door and we looked in on a different room—all fresh and cozy from the moped and waxed rug to the polished furniture.

I never conceived there could be so much work, planning and pleasure all mixed together for such a little cost as I found in making over our room.

"We Light The Way"

Putnam, Wettest of Wets, Gives Low Down On Other Candidates; Read This! It's Rare and Racy

To the Editor:
Well, here we are, fifteen of us, in as picturesque a race for governor as Texas ever saw. The temptation to an old-time Texas political writer to make a news story out of it, for future historians to ponder, is irresistible.

First off, I want to say that whoever wins, Texas will get an able, honorable governor. In spite of differences of opinion on issues—even on so ornery an issue as prohibition—I shall cheerfully vote for the winner in November, whoever the winner may be. And I don't doubt all of the other 14 candidates feel the same way about it. I haven't asked anything you like that if Frank Putnam, wettest of the wets, by any chance finishes in front, Tom Love, dryest of the dries, will vote for him in November. And that goes, the other way around.

Now let's look over the entries, while they are lining up at the post. On the rail, Dan Moody, young, handsome, ambitious for a third term. If I were Dan's dad, and I'm old enough to be, I'd advise him to drop it and get busy at law practice making a fortune for Mildred and baby Dan.

Second, Mrs. Ferguson, wife of a former governor, herself a former governor and in my opinion a good one, running to vindicate Jim again. Bill Gray and I made Jim Governor in 1914, but it appears he never heard of it, for he never did thank us. Extra dry—wants to make our state prohibition law even harsher than it is now.

Third, Earle B. Mayfield, former state senator, railroad commissioner and United States Senator, with lots of ability and good ideas for Texas, dry in principle but maybe not so dry in practice. Been using radio a lot lately—seems to have struck oil somewhere.

Fourth, State Senator Tom Love, who claims the right to be either democrat or republican, on election days, which ever best satisfies his conscience. A man certainly ought to be guided in everything by his conscience, though there is some argument whether he ought to be allowed to make his conscience the guardian of the democratic party. I have known my conscience to misguide me one time or another. It could hap-

A Great Discovery

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better antiseptics, to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from

THOMAS BROS. DRUG COMPANY

pen, even to as able a man as Tom Love.

Fifth, Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, a bold wet before prohibition came, a bold dry ever since. I expect Barry would turn wet again if by any chance Texas ever discards prohibition as a failure, which I insist it is.

Sixth, former Congressman James Young, a quiet, conservative country lawyer, so dry he says he has always refused to defend citizens accused of violating the liquor laws. Something queer here, Jim, with all his dryness, is being backed by the younger leaders of the wet, Al Smith, John Raskob, democrats in Texas, I'm wondering which crowd Jim will decide to turn down, if and when he as governor has to choose, in the next democratic state convention.

Seventh, State Senator Clint Small favored by the independent oil operators, and as dry as they make them.

Eighth, Ross Sterling of Houston, worth over fifty million dollars, they say, starting from nothing as a boy.

If Ross knew politics as well as he does business, he would promptly resign as the head of the state highway commission, so folks couldn't say he is using that big state money-spending machine to boost himself for governor. He classifies, I suppose, as the Standard Oil candidate. It looks like Standard Oil meant to acquire the State Government as an additional Texas subsidiary. If we have got to have a big business control of our state government, I'm in favor of Standard Oil's man. He's a real man—didn't fix up a committee to "draft" him, but bought his ticket and walked into the show on his own feet, and Standard Oil is the best managed big business outfit in this country. If the state committee would agree next Monday to arrange a prohibition repeal referendum in the July 26th primary, I would be in favor of all the rest of us, wet and dry candidates, with drawing and making Sterling's nomination unanimous. We would learn, then, just how strong-repeal sentiment is in Texas. Texas would get probably the ablest business man in the bunch for governor, and I feel sure, if repeal got a majority, Sterling, regardless of his own dry opinions, would respect the will of the party.

Ninth, State Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock. If he runs as fast as his home town grows, he will finish in the money all right. Dry, of course, since dry's the fashion.

Tenth, Lynch Davidson, with lumber yards all over the state and reputed a multi-millionaire. Tom Love says Lynch has been trying for months past to draft himself into the race. I don't know how true that is, but he has finally been drafted. My impression is that if Lynch runs through, he better wear hip boots or he will get his legs pulled to twice their present length by enterprising newspaper advertising men. The boys have laid off me, knowing I haven't a dollar to spend for advertising.

Eleventh, Paul Loven, the big butter and egg man of New Braunfels, who says he is wet but doesn't tell us just how wet nor what he aims to do about it if elected. Here's hoping Paul and I together poll enough repeal votes to prove that at least a respectable minority of Texas democrats are ready to declare prohibition a failure and to ask for some such state-controlled liquor system as Canada, Denmark and other countries have established after they too found prohibition produced worse social diseases than the one it cured—the old open saloon.

Twelfth, State Senator T. N. Mauritz, an able, high-class public man, who would do credit to Texas as governor. I don't know him personally, but he runs with the dries politically.

Thirteenth, C. C. Moody, the Fort Worth laundry wagon driver, who has proved he has wit, and who would probably make as good a governor as any of the rest of us. He says he wants "to redeem the family name," but doesn't say what he wants to redeem it from. At thirteenth place, he is in an unlooky spot; but, then, thirteen was Woodrow Wilson's lucky number. You never can tell.

Fourteenth, Dr. C. E. Walker of Grapevine. I never had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Walker or of reading his platform, but the fact that he is a physician sufficiently proves he is a gentleman and a scholar, and, in these prescription days, he is probably also a good judge of whiskey, although politically as dry as all the others.

Fifteenth, Frank Putnam of Houston, who honestly believes prohibition is a failure; who wants to reduce drinking fifty per cent, especially among the young, by making it legal, respectable and unromantic. As he sees it, he is the only dry in the race. He thinks the prohibition candidates, defending existing conditions, are "all wet" both ways. He is an advertising man by trade, and entered the race at his own expense to advertise the idea of repeal and reform: of a return to an era of good feeling, united effort for the advancement of Texas, and good times certain to follow. He believes with John Garner that Texas is too big a state to be well governed from one state capitol, and if elected governor he would be glad to help put through Sam Houston's plan to divide Texas into five states, so that each section could get real attention by state government to its vital needs, and Texas as a whole could gain the influence it should have in the national government. Texas has had mighty few leaders in same class with Sam Houston and John Garner.

Pike's Peak Is Car Service Test Scene

Colorado Spring, Colo., June 11.—A concrete example of the tremendous strides made by automotive engineers toward the goal of mechanical perfection in the modern motor car is provided here daily on the Pike's Peak highway.

A few years ago, a car that would scale the Peak was a front-page feature throughout the country, while today, thanks to the automotive engineer, a car's ability to perform ably and satisfactorily in the thin rarefied air and on the long steep ascents of the Peak is taken more or less for granted.

Despite a greatly improved highway up the Peak, the long continuous climb and the light air pressure in the high altitudes, which used to mean a boiling radiator and an engine too hot to make the grade, provides one of the severest tests in America of the mechanical condition of a car.

Even more outstanding than the performance of those tourist automobiles which makes a single trip up the steep incline is the record of a fleet of trucks used to maintain the highway in constant repair. The fleet now in such service includes three Chevrolet sixes which see almost daily use up in the region above the cloud-levels.

Recently the fleet has been used to haul away huge mountains of snow to prepare the highway for the Summer tourist travel. The route was expected to be opened early in June. With the snow cleared away, the fleet will continue in daily service doing maintenance and repair work on the highway.

The Chevrolts used in this work have been in operation for more than a year. That the cars are operating today with the same degree of economy and dependability as a year ago is a fitting tribute to the achievements of those engineers who work quietly behind the scenes in the interest of improved performance at lower cost.

Locals

Many Texas Democrats appear to be dazed and dumb-founded to learn from the Supreme Court that the pledge printed on the party primary ballot in Texas does not bind the voter to support the party nominees at the sacrifice of his conscience, but they may be amazed to learn further that there is only one other state in the Union that has any pledge at all printed on the ballot. That state is Louisiana. Other states do not undertake to compel the voter to stifle his conscience in order to vote the ticket straight.

W. M. Lee and family and Mrs. C. O. Carmack and children returned Tuesday from Stephenville and Valley Mills, where they visited relatives. Mr. Lee states that Rev. H. S. Hatchett of Valley Mills, who was a resident of Tahoka for several years, made many inquiries about numerous friends here and sent his best wishes to the people of Tahoka. Mr. Lee reports crops as very promising in Bosque country. Wheat and oats are better than usual and cotton is fairly good.

After spending several days in the Lubbock Sanitarium, where he was under treatment for blood poisoning, Jack Applewhite was able to come home Tuesday. He will probably not regain the use of his arm for several weeks and will probably lose a thumb entirely, but his many friends are delighted that danger of more serious consequences seems to be past. He is in the store again.

Mr. A. R. McGonagill, who was taken to the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock for treatment last week, is still in a serious condition but physicians say that she is doing as well as could be expected. It is feared, however, that it will be several weeks at best before she will be able to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Krebs of Amarillo came down last week to visit her father and family, Porter Tredway. Mrs. Krebs is still here. Mr. Krebs is now a traveling salesman, representing a cream separator company.

Mrs. L. F. Craft is in Lubbock with her sister, Miss Ruth Evans, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in a sanitarium in Lubbock Tuesday.

Al Lehman, local manager of the Levine Bros. store, and his little son, Jo-Jo, left Saturday night for Austin and Houston. They expect to return about the last of the week.

E. N. Weathers, who is in a hospital in Lubbock having his eyes treated, expects to return home Sunday. His eyesight is said to be much improved.

Judge G. E. Lockhart of Lubbock, candidate for Representative in the legislature, was a business visitor in Tahoka Wednesday.

W. H. Evans of the law firm of Bledsoe, Crenshaw & Dupree of Lubbock was here on professional business Tuesday.

Skip Taylor and Don Bradley attended a meeting of the West Texas Abstractors Association in Lubbock Saturday.

Clay Bennett, who has been attending the University of Arizona at Tucson, is home for the summer.

Mrs. Milt Finch and children are visiting friends and relatives in San Angelo this week.

B. H. Barnett was a business visitor to Sweetwater Tuesday.

Lovington Will Get New Railroad Soon

HOBBS, N. M., June 11.—With half of the steel laid, the 22-mile extension of the Texas and New Mexico from Hobbs to Lovington will be completed between June 15 and 20, but train service will not be started until July 4 into Lovington, company officials announce here.

Construction of Lovington's first railroad depot is under way. The building will be 400 feet long, with a 300 foot passenger-freight depot and a 100 foot platform. It too is to be completed by July 4, Poffenberger and Gotesman, contractors, say.

Grading is completed now into Lovington. A huge cut 12 miles north of Hobbs has been finished. It was necessary to dynamite the rock in the cut.

Track laying is now going ahead at the rate of a mile to a mile and a half a day.

Heaviest construction work was that of the cut which held up the track laying for a week or so.

Wait for Settling
President Lawrence of the company announced the track would be given several weeks time in order to settle before train service is begun. He said he did not want to repeat the experience at Hobbs.

Lovington residents are planning a huge celebration for the formal opening of train service. A county wide celebration is planned with well known men participating and a basket picnic and other entertainment.

The Lee county seat has never had a railroad and the first train is scheduled to arrive on Independence day.

FARMER SHOT BY NEIGHBOR

A. A. Smith, O'Donnell, Gives Self Up After Shooting W. A. Snow While Plowing

O'DONNELL, June 11.—A. A. Smith, farmer, living near the Randall school, 11 miles southeast of this city, was arrested about noon Monday and taken to Lamesa where charges of assault with intent to murder were filed against him in connection with the shooting earlier in the day of W. A. Snow, a neighboring farmer.

Smith was taken in charge by B. L. Parker, night watchman, after he had hailed a passing motorist near his farm and asked him to drive to O'Donnell that he might surrender. He told Parker that he had shot Snow and saw him fall in the field.

Investigation revealed that Snow was painfully though not seriously wounded, his leg being broken between the knee and ankle by one of the bullets from an automatic pistol. Smith said that he fired three times.

Dr. C. E. Collins of this city drove to the farm and dressed the wound stating upon his return that it would not prove serious.

Snow was shot while plowing in his own field, a road 40 feet wide separating the two. According to Smith's statement he waited until Snow had finished a row near the road and then shot. Following the shooting he went to his home, secured a shotgun and hailed a motorist bound for O'Donnell.

The shooting was said to have resulted from trouble between the two families, Smith's son married Snow's daughter about a year ago.

Bond of $1,000 was set yesterday afternoon.

There are of course no more sinners to be converted, no more heathen to be evangelized and no more unchurched communities to be reached with organized Christianity. Is the Kingdom of Almighty God bounded by any denominational lines? Let Christian brotherliness answer.
