VOTERS REPEAL LIQUOR LAWS

Five of Seven Proposed Amendments Are Adopted; Also Vote Old Age Pension

Five of the seven proposed constitutional amendments submitted to a vote of the people in the election held last Saturday were adopted.

While complete election returns have not yet been published, yet the latest available figures show that repeal of prohibition carried by about 55,000 votes, incomplete returns giving 259,218 votes for repeal and 203,869 votes against.

The old age pension amendment carried by a vote of 366,173 for and 91,967 against.

Commitment of the Insane carried by a vote of 210,302 to 177,669. The Suspended Sentence Amendment was adopted by a vote of 210,302 to 177,669.

Abolition of the fee system was approved by a vote of 241,537 to 153,779.

The proposal to authorize the submission of constitutional amendments at special as well as regular sessions of the legislature was rejected by a vote of 185,298 for, and 197,052 against.

The Text Book amendment was defeated by a vote of 202,799 for and 232,939 against.

Complete returns will doubtless increase the size of these figures considerably.

The repeal of prohibition was due chiefly to the overwhelming wet vote in the cities. To this was added the large wet majorities in many south Texas counties.

Incomplete returns show that the counties of Bexar, Harris, Galveston, Dallas, Tarrant and El Paso, containing the six largest cities of Texas, gave a wet majority of 57,982. Bexar and Harris counties alone gave a wet majority of 41,257, nearly as much as the wet majority in the state.

A majority of the counties of Texas voted dry. A vast majority of West Texas counties registered in the dry column. In all that vast territory lying west of Fort Worth and north of the Texas & Pacific railway, there were only a few scattering counties that voted wet. Most South Plains counties gave heavy dry majorities.

The vote in Lynn county was: 452 for repeal, 814 against, a dry majority of 362. Only one box in the county voted wet, Newmoore. South Tahoka voted dry by a majority of only 3, but North Tahoka rolled up a dry majority of 66, almost 2 to 1. O'Donnell gave a dry majority of 58 and New Home a dry majority of 56, while Grassland carried (Cont'd on last page)

Baby Climbs Windmill Tower

W. M. Lee is the grand-daddy of an acrobat.

Last Friday when Jess Gurley finally decided to answer the continued calls from his little 22-months old son, Ronnie Mack, Mr. Lee says, the youngster was found running around the platform of the windmill, 36 feet above the ground. Jess was dumb-founded for a moment—and Ronnie Mack continued to dance around the narrow ledge. "Jumpy Jess?" the boy asked his daddy. Recovering his speech, Jess told the baby to hold on the tower while he climbed up to rescue him. Ronnie Mack was just deciding to climb to the more precarious position at the tip-top of the tower on steps put up by Mr. Lee to reach the pitman rod, when Jess got to the top.

The youngster had seen larger children climb the tower earlier in the day. But, in imitating them, no one can explain just how the little fellow managed to climb from one step to the other, with the steps one-and-one-half feet apart, without falling.

Ronnie Mack had a big time, but Jess is reported to be shaky in the knees yet.

CLUB MEMBERS HEAR BARRETT

High School Athletic Program Outlined; Club Votes To Build Bleachers

Following a musical program given under the direction of Mr. Kary Mathis at the luncheon club last Tuesday, Supt. W. G. Barrett in a brief address laid before the club the necessity for bleachers to be provided on the athletic field at the high school building.

Mr. Barrett stressed the belief that the school could and should be made the very best advertisement possible for the town. He believed that a lot of pep should be infused into both the faculty and the pupils, and while he did not desire to make athletics the most important feature of the school he felt that a winning football team could inspire a lot of enthusiasm. But, he pointed out, the school has no athletic equipment on the grounds. Many women will not attend a football game because they are compelled to stand throughout the game. He called upon the club to sponsor a movement to supply the funds with which to build bleachers. Not all bleachers needed can be built the (Cont'd on last page)

Three Graduate From Texas Tech

Mrs. Lucile Bludworth, teacher of English and Spanish in the Tahoka High School, received her Master of Arts degree at the Texas Technological College Wednesday night. She received her B. A. degree from this institution several years ago.

A. L. Faubion, superintendent of schools at Wilson the past eight or nine years, was also awarded a Master of Arts degree.

Mrs. Iola Nowlin Woods of Tahoka received her B. A. degree.

New Manager At Jones Dry Goods

G. W. Simmons of Abilene was checked in as the new manager of the Jones Dry Goods here on Wednesday of last week. His family are to arrive today. They will occupy the Ben King residence.

R. A. Hoover, who resigned his position with the Company, has not announced his plans but we understand that he is to remain in Tahoka.

ANOTHER SPIDER CAUGHT
Black Widows seem to be becoming altogether too numerous in Lynn county. Mrs. Edie Peters brought one to the News office Saturday which she and Betty Ruth and Leta Frances Wyatt had captured. Several of these spiders had been caught in Tahoka before. Fortunately nobody in this county has been bitten by one of them yet. The bite is said to be very poisonous and a number of deaths resulting from the bite have been reported over the state.

Nelson Attending Terry County Court

District Attorney G. H. Nelson has been in Brownfield this week assisting the grand jury in its investigations, district court having convened there Monday morning.

Mr. Nelson states that the Terry county criminal docket promises to be somewhat heavier this term of court than it has been heretofore.

Canning Plant Opens Friday

The public canning plant is to open here Friday, according to Miss Colysta Fitzgerald, case worker for Lynn county under the new Texas Relief Commission set-up.

Before bringing in vegetables to the plant, however, patrons should get in contact with the supervisor at the canning plant and make arrangements, Miss Fitzgerald stated. By no means should any one bring in vegetables without having first made proper arrangements.

New Home Youths Raise Fine Calves

Willard Bennett, 18, and his younger brother of New Home, who are members of the Lynn County Club Boys, have three fine white face calves that they expect to exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair next month.

Photographs of these animals exhibited here Saturday show them to be fine specimens. They will probably have a number of competitors from Lynn county, however, since there are a number of boys in the county who are preparing to make entries.

POST COUPLE MARRIED HERE

Leonard Morris and Miss Fay Chaney of Post were married by B. F. (Uncle Ben) Rogers, J. P., at his office here Thursday afternoon.

Miss Myrtle Stander of Lamesa is visiting Miss Mary Ellen Conway.

Good Cotton Crop Seen For Lynn County; Rains Improve Prospect

Showers have fallen somewhere in the county almost every day this week. In some small localities the downpour has been copious. Some communities have not yet received as much rain as is needed but in large sections no more rain is desired just at this time. The rainfall in Tahoka since Sunday has amounted to .72 of an inch.

The cotton yield per acre will doubtless vary greatly in different communities. Nobody can make a good guess, possibly, as to what the crop in the county will be but a good average crops now seems assured. Many believe that the yield will exceed 40,000 bales. While many farms will not produce over a quarter of bale per acre, and some not even that much, yet there is a vast acreage that promises from a third to a half bale per acre. Some farms

SMITH EXPLAINS PARK'S STATUS

Also Tells Of Work Prospect On No. 9 And Prospects For Highway 84

Speaking before the luncheon club last Tuesday, Judge W. E. (Happy) Smith stated that the County has an option on 560 acres of land at Tahoka Lake to be used as a state park site. However, he stated that it was his belief that the State would never do anything about it. He thought that the Federal Government might some time furnish the funds, with which to improve the property as a park, if the County buys the land, but expressed the belief that the County would have to furnish the funds for its upkeep. He stated that it was the intention of the commissioners court not to proceed further with the matter unless some plan could be suggested to them by which the funds for its upkeep might be provided. No suggestion was forthcoming. (Contin'd on last page)

Pershing Alexander Gets Arm Broken

Pershing Alexander, 12, son of Mrs. Minnie Alexander, sustained a fracture of the arm just above the elbow early Tuesday night while wrestling with his older brother, Jack.

After receiving first aid treatment here he was taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock for surgical attention. It is hoped that the broken member may heal without serious permanent injury.

Davis Food Store Installing Market

Buster Bibb, manager and buyer of the Austin Food Store markets at Lubbock, has resigned his position and is installing a market in the Davis Food Store here.

The market will open some time next week, with Mr. Bibb in charge.

SHERIFF FINDS RUN-AWAY BOY

10-Year Old Youngster Cause Of Search Of T-Bar Ranch Wednesday Night

Maurice Wilburn, 10, disappeared from the home of his parents who reside on the W. M. Harris farm three miles west of Tahoka Wednesday afternoon. Unable to find the boy as night approached, the family became alarmed and called for help. An alarm was sounded here and soon a hundred people or more gathered at the Wilburn residence to assist in the search. Neighboring fields and pastures were scoured but no trace of the boy was found, the family fearing that he had become ill or hurt or that some dire misfortune had befallen him.

Sheriff B. L. Parker finally learned, however, that the boy had been seen in Tahoka Wednesday afternoon. Following clues, he headed east Thursday morning and found the lad on the highway near the line of Lynn and Garza counties, where he expected to catch a ride east. The boy had spent the night at a farm house a short distance from the place where he was found.

Teacher Elected For School Band

The two remaining teachers needed to complete the faculty of the Tahoka public schools were elected this week.

Crawford D. Babb of Abilene was elected Tuesday as head of the Science Department and director of the high school band. Mr. Babb is an honor graduate of the Abilene high school, where he had four years in band work, and an honor graduate of McMurry College, where he likewise had four years in the band. In college he majored in Science.

On Wednesday afternoon Otis Scruggs of Victoria was elected as a teacher at the Central Ward. Mr. Scruggs holds a B. S. degree from the Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos and has done some graduate work in the University of Texas. He taught last year at Westhoff in De Witt county.

William Lumsden Is Injured Again

Injured the second time in seven weeks in motorcycle accidents, William Lumsden, 18, of Wilson is in Lubbock Sanitarium with head lacerations, including re-injury of the right jaw, and bruises over the body as result of overturning of his motorcycle on a dirt road between Snyder and Stamford Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

Leroy Crews, 1404 Avenue O, who was riding with Lumsden, received bruises and a wrenched right shoulder. He returned to work this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lumsden went to Stamford to bring their son and Crews back to Lubbock, where young Lumsden entered the sanitarium Saturday evening.

The couple was en route to Dallas. The machine overturned when it struck sand, Crews said.

On July 6, the day after Lumsden received his motorcycle, he suffered a skull fracture, fracture of the right jaw, severed tendon in the right hand and other injuries when forced into a service station driveway at Tahoka to avoid collision with an automobile, his machine striking an object and careening into a telephone pole. — Lubbock Journal (Monday)

Lee Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wood, underwent a kidney operation in the National Military Hospital at Los Angeles Tuesday of last week. He is reported to be getting along fine, and was able to write home folks on the fourth day. Mr. and Mrs. Wood have been living in California for several years, but both were practically reared here.

TWO TEACHERS ARE ELECTED

Increased Enrollment Is Expected In Tahoka Schools This Year

By W. G. BARRETT, Superintendent of Schools

The public schools of Tahoka Independent School District will open Thursday, September 5th, 9:00 a. m., with appropriate exercises for the town schools in the High School auditorium. District Attorney G. H. Nelson will be the principal speaker for the occasion. Suitable exercises for the South Ward school will be held in that building with Principal A. R. Bostick in charge.

The faculty consisting of twenty-two members has just been completed. Members retained from last year are: High School—J. T. Carter principal; Mrs. Lenora M. Tunnell, Mrs. Lucile Bludworth, Prentice Walker, and Mrs. S. H. Assiter, teacher of Seventh Grade. Central Ward—W. Kary Mathis, principal, Miss Lowell Douthit, Miss Linnie Tippitt, Mrs. Deck Dunagan, Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. W. O. Henderson, Mrs. A. E. Swan, Mrs. L. F. Craft and Miss Anna Ray Bishop. South Ward—A. R. Bostick, principal, and Miss Mabel Maggard.

New teachers to the system are: Central Ward: Otis Scruggs, High School—Bill Stubbs, Vocational Agriculture; Mrs. Thelma Greenwade Sherrod, Home Economics; Crawford D. Babb, Science and High School band, and W. G. Barrett, Superintendent.

Between fifty and sixty new pupils are expected to enter Tahoka Schools from neighboring districts. About thirty high school pupils are expected from New Lynn, Magnolia and Edith districts. Three Lakes district will send all high school and grade children here. Two new school buses will be used for transportation.

New text books and supplies have already been received. Work is being rushed to have the buildings ready for the opening. Most of the first two days will be used for registration of pupils and arranging programs.

We are indeed glad to welcome pupils from other districts to Tahoka Schools. They will find kind, efficient and understanding teachers ready to direct them. Expenses will be cut to a minimum. This school does not charge any fees; yet it offers a broad and well (Cont'd on last page)

WPA Meeting Is Held In Tahoka

On last Friday, R. H. McNew, the WPA administrator of this district at Big Spring, and the district field engineer, Mr. Boston, of the same place met with the county judges and members of the commissioners courts of Lynn, Garza, and Terry counties in the courthouse to discuss relief labor and highway matters with these officials.

Besides Judge W. E. Smith' and some of the members of the Lynn county commissioners court, Judge R. A. Simms and Commissioners Henson, Lyons, and Cook of Terry county, and Judge Ira Weakley and Commissioner Oscar Graham of Garza county were present.

Since these counties had each filed applications for projects involving the use of relief labor, such as the building of lateral roads, and since the state highway commission had also filed with the WPA applications for relief labor to be used in the construction of highways in these counties, the WPA officials requested the county officials to agree to give precedence to the state highway commission in the matter of using this relief labor. This request was readily granted by the officials of all these counties, since none of the proposed local projects are ready for action nor can they be for several months yet.

In this county, this relief labor is to be used in the paving of highway No. 9 north of Tahoka, as we understand it.

Mussolini Won't Give Up His Ethiopian Adventure

MUSSOLINI is determined to conquer Ethiopia, and all Europe is trembling. It does evidently feel that his personal prestige is at stake, and to him that means the continuation of the Fascist regime. Anthony Eden and Pierre Laval offered Italy what would amount to a mandate over Halle Selassie's realm, but that was not enough, so the tri-power conference in Paris was declared adjourned.

Baron Aloisi... The friendship between France and Italy must be ruptured. Great Britain will insist on action by the League of Nations council when it meets September 4. There is no reason to believe that the council will do more than it did in the case of Japan's seizure of Manchuria, but it seemingly will be forced to denounce Italy's action, and that would be enough to induce Mussolini to withdraw his country from the league. If and when Italy defies the league, that pretentious body, previously defied successfully by Japan and Germany, will amount to little. No wonder the statesmen of Europe are jittery.

One high French official was quoted as saying that Europe "faces a crisis like that of 1914," and he admitted that "France must resign herself to losing Italy's friendship." Others in Paris declared that France is now solidly with England.

After Baron Pompl Aloisi had submitted the Anglo-French proposition to Mussolini and had received the duke's reply, he told Eden and Laval that his master would be satisfied with nothing less than "annexation of Ethiopia in whole or in part." Laval was furious and directly accused Mussolini of breaking a personal promise made to him when he visited Rome. Eden abruptly brought the conference to a close.

In Addis Ababa the high priests of Ethiopia conducted a solemn service, in the presence of the emperor, praying for liberty and for deliverance from war with Italy. The head of the church said: "God will confound our enemies, will break their hearts and shatter their staves in their hands." And in every church in the threatened country the natives gathered and repeated these prayers. But in Italy Benito Mussolini was telling his fighting men, as they departed for Africa, to disregard everything but their duty to make war. Said he:

"We are going forward until we achieve a Fascist empire. I know you will do your duty with iron discipline and will not hesitate to make sacrifices until all our goals have been accomplished."

Will Rogers and Wiley Post Brought Home for Burial

WILEY ROGERS and Wiley Post, crushed to death in Alaska when their plane fell not far from Point Barrow, were brought back to the states for burial by Joe Crosson, their intimate friend, in an airplane. And all their countrymen stood figuratively with bared and bowed heads as the broken bodies were laid to rest. None was too great and none too lowly to pay tribute in words and action to those two fine Americans, one a beloved comedian, humorist and philosopher; the other a leader among the world's aviators. They died as they had lived, adventuring gallantly, and the world is the poorer for their passing.

Push President's Program Through to Passage

SENATOR ROBINSON and other Democratic leaders in congress went into a battle with President Roosevelt on the legislative situation and the possibilities of an adjournment within a week or ten days. They emerged with the knowledge that the Chief Executive still insisted on the passage of his "must" list of bills. These measures were said to be:

The utilities bill, the tax measure, the Gulf coal stabilization bill, the ban against damage suits against the government because of its gold policy, alcohol control, Tennessee Valley Authority act amendments, a bill to impose NRA labor standards on firms which contract with the government, rivers and harbors legislation, the third deficiency bill, the oil regulation measure to ratify state compacts made at Dallas, railroad reorganization legislation.

Compromises on both the utilities bill and the tax measure were being worked out. The former, it was reported, would direct the federal power commission to decide which companies should be eliminated, but would leave wide avenues through which the companies could carry to the court their fight against dissolution.

About two weeks ago, it is revealed, the Roper council, composed of some 40 business leaders, sent to the president a report urging strongly that the tax bill be deferred until the January session of congress, so that there might be time for the formulation of a carefully considered tax program. The council included a defense of holding companies, asserting they have played an important part in the country's growth and "should not be ruthlessly destroyed." This document was pigeon-holed at the White House, which was highly displeasing to the members of the council though they should by this time be used to that treatment of their work.

Victor Over New Dealer Takes His Seat in House

WHEN Charles S. Risk, the Rhode Island lawyer who defeated the New Deal candidate for congress recently, entered the house on the arm of Representative Bertrand H. Suth, Republican leader, and was escorted to the speaker's rostrum to take the oath, he was vociferously greeted by the Republicans as a hero whose victory they thought presaged great things for the party next year. Mr. Risk took his seat on his thirty-eighth birthday.

Republicans Make Awkward Demands in Lobby Probe

MINORITY members of the senate and house committees that are investigating the doing of lobbyists started out the week with the determination to find out why Marvin H. Macintyre, secretary to the President; Lawrence W. Robert, Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury, and Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth, publisher and friend of the Roosevelt family, were all found in the apartment at the Shoreham hotel of Bernard B. Robinson of Chicago, chief lobbyist of the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Mr. Robinson himself also was there, and it was said when the door was opened at the knock of the sergeant at arms of the senate a "scene of revelry" was disclosed. For a day or two the news of this affair was not sent out from Washington by the news associations, reportedly because of the efforts of Mr. Carter to have it suppressed entirely. This, too, some of the investigators went explained.

Republican members of the house committee also said they would insist on the interrogation of Undersecretary of the Interior Charles West and Emil Hurja, executive director of the Democratic national committee. West is reputedly the President's lobbyist and Hurja acts in a similar capacity for Postmaster General Farley, and both of them were involved with Tom Corcoran in the utilities "death sentence" lobbying that started the whole inquiry.

Sen. Robinson... He said that the change was decided upon after the government's August 1 survey of crop conditions indicated that total wheat production this year would amount to only 608,000,000 bushels as compared with domestic requirements of 635,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Acreage Reduction Put at 5 Per Cent in 1936

SECRETARY of Agriculture Wallace has changed his mind about the reduction of wheat acreage for 1936. Instead of asking the farmers for a cut of 15 per cent, as was announced recently, the figure is now placed at 5 per cent. Wallace told reporters that the change was decided upon after the government's August 1 survey of crop conditions indicated that total wheat production this year would amount to only 608,000,000 bushels as compared with domestic requirements of 635,000,000 bushels.

The step was taken, he asserted, to assure ample supplies for domestic consumers. He said that it was expected to place the country in a "strengthened position" in the export market. He added the change in policy will not result in any marked reduction in benefit payment to farmers. He did not say what the exact reductions in the payments would amount to.

FDIC Reveals Great Losses Written Off by Banks

FROM THE Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation comes a report showing that in 1934 the banks of the country wrote off their books a total of $1,131,000,000 in losses accumulated during the depression. The FDIC added that this was made possible because the banks received $50,000,000 net in new capital, which was supplied largely by the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Despite these losses, the FDIC figures disclosed, the banks' assets rose from $40,619,000,000 to $47,870,000,000 during 1934, and that deposits increased from $31,800,000,000 to "about $39,000,000,000." A belief that deposit insurance is not a cure-all was expressed by Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the FDIC, in his report to congress. He said insurance is "not a complete remedy for the ills of the banking system" nor for unstable business conditions. He added that a chief controlling factor with regard to these conditions will be "general economic conditions and monetary and credit developments."

Lobby Probers Quarrel Over Witness Hopson

RIVALRY in the matter of publicity, the house and senate committees on the activities of lobbyists got into a tangle that certainly didn't enhance their dignity. Howard C. Hopson, the long sought head of the Associated Gas and Electric Utilities system, permitted the eulogistic of the house committee to find him, and Senator Hugo Black flew into a rage and had his committee threaten Hopson with contempt proceedings unless he appeared before it. Chairman O'Connor of the house body was angered by this and declared: "Hopson is in my custody. I've got him. Nobody else has got him. Nobody else is going to get him."

The elusive, chunky millionaire magnate told the house committee about his various companies and related the saga of his travels while he was being sought. But he politely refused to answer questions concerning the sources and amount of his income. He testified that he "believed" the Associated Gas system had spent "eight or nine hundred thousand dollars" in opposition to the Wheeler-Rayburn utility control bill.

"That's just a small fraction of the $300,000,000 equity in our companies which would be destroyed if the bill becomes law and remains law," he declared. Late in the day Hopson calmly walked into Black's committee room and asked: "Is some one here looking for me?" Black and his committee then questioned the utilities man for an hour or two and got mighty little out of him except smooth sarcasm that made the chairman quite furious.

Schacht Scolds Nazis for the Persecution of Jews

DR. HJALMAR SCHACHT, economic dictator of Germany, is a brave man. Once more he has dared to speak out strongly in reprobation of the Nazi persecution of the Jews in the reich, and of those who are attacking Christian churches. He declared such individuals were doing great injury to Germany's economic condition and retarding her recovery, and this is especially his interest as he is president of the Reichsbank as well as minister of economics. His strictures were applied to Julius Streicher, chief Jew-halter, and Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, though he mentioned no names.

"There are certain contemporaries of whom one can think only with the prayer in mind, 'O Lord, preserve us from our friends,'" Schacht asserted scathingly. "These are the people who at nights heroically smear paint on shop windows, who brand every German who buys from a Jewish shop a traitor, who call all former Free Masons scoundrels, and who are unable to distinguish between religion and the abuse of the pulpit.

"Their aims are worthy. Secret societies have no right to exist in the third reich. Pastors and priests must minister to the soul and not dabble in politics. Jews must resign themselves to a realization that their influence is broken in Germany once and for all.

"But all these problems must be solved under the guidance of the state and cannot be settled through sporadic actions which seriously disturb business.

"It is absolutely essential for the offices responsible for German recovery that the world keep faith in Germany as the state in which law is respected. According to point four of the Nazi program, Jews cannot be citizens. Point five of the program provides that special legislation be prepared for them. This legislation is being worked out. Until it is published, existing laws must be respected.

"The same attitude applies to the church problem, which is of definitely greater importance to Germany than the Jewish question."

Just before this speech was delivered, Streicher had ordered his henchmen to arrest on the spot all Jews seen in public with German girls, and directed the vendors of his newspaper to investigate in their areas and report all "Aryan" domestic servants who are working for Jews. This information he promised to publish, with names and addresses.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

A Rogers Highway Our Policy? Here It Is Why Go to Town? To Discourage Vice

From Tulsa, Okla., in which state Will Rogers was born, J. D. Underwood telegraphs suggesting as "the highest tribute and a lasting memorial to Will Rogers," that Highway 66, which runs from Rogers' new home in California to his old home at Claremore, Okla., be extended on to New York, and the whole road named "Will Rogers Highway."

If every American highway with friends of Will Rogers living on both sides from one end to the other were named for him, there would be many "Will Rogers" highways.

Thus run the headlines: "ITALY BARS ALL PEACE TALK." "BRITAIN WEIGHS SANCTIONS. WANTS TO KNOW OUR POLICY." If she wants to know the policy of 90 out of a 100 ordinary Americans, and 100 per cent of all common sense Americans, it would be this: To mind-our-own-business; let European nations, alternately murdering each other and robbing inferior nations, attend to their business, in their way.

Our policy now, with Italy swallowing Ethiopia, should be exactly what it was when our British friends were busy swallowing the lands of the Boers, absorbing that country with its valuable gold and diamond mines. We did nothing then. Why should we invent a special policy for Mussolini now?

France and England "fear Mussolini may involve three continents in the Ethiopian war." Has Europe heard of the New England farmer who said: "I'm on my way to town to get drunk, and Lord, how I dread it." He need not have gone to town. European nations need not be dragged into a tricontinental war if they don't want to be dragged.

A very old poker player of the New York Press club, when he "raised the pot," remarked usually: "The only way to discourage vice is to make it expensive." That idea seems to be working in Germany. Doctor Schacht, head of the great German bank, leading financier of the Reich, warns Germany that Nazi individuals indulging themselves in the pleasure of treating defenseless Jews brutally, are endangering Germany's prosperity. Such wanton brutality constitutes a great menace to German trade everywhere, according to Doctor Schacht, who notes:

Republicans report greatly increased demand for the nomination of Senator Borah, since the announcement that, if nominated, he will run. This will be mournful news for some Republican corporation best minds, for whether they have to be "lashed with scorpions," or with something else, would make little difference to some of them who consider Senator Borah distinctly in the "scorpion" class.

An old gentleman of eighty-one strolled into a New York police station, remarking: "I have just walked from Kansas City and shall walk back again tonight." He was removed to a psychiatric ward. If he had substituted the verb "died" for "walk," the police would not have disturbed him, for he could have done it very easily and flown back again at night. If 25 years ago he had said, "I just flew in from Kansas City," he would have been sent to the dangerous ward. So there is progress.

At Sverdlovsk, Russian government engineers, digging sewers under the city, find gold ore that indicates a rich gold field underlying the town. The government owns practically all the city, and can easily take the rest, and a further increase in Russia's gold production, already more than three times as great as that of the United States, may be expected.

Those that believe in the wickedness of Russia may ask: "Why does Providence allow such wicked people to find so much gold?" One answer is, "The quickest way to make them stop their wickedness is to make them rich, and gold would do that." Gold might not change the existing government of Russia. But another generation will see another kind of government, and ownership of such a lump of gold, as we possess, might make that next Russian government consider Lenin and Stalin "old fashioned."

Physicians at St. Vincent's hospital in New York report the extraordinary case of a baby, that lived for 27 days, appearing almost normal but possessing no brain. Disgruntled "set minds" will tell you there are "babies" in Washington, some of them full-fledged professors, that have lived longer than 27 days "without any brains."

NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—A plainly worded and simple announcement forthcoming the other day from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, presented one of the sharpest reverses in policy yet promulgated under the New Deal. Dozens of experiments have been tried out since President Roosevelt came into office and almost as many have run their course and have been abandoned. Many of them were tried out with high enthusiasm but the enthusiasm died long before the recently thrust agencies themselves went out of existence. Such was not the case, however, in the instance to which I refer because the simple announcement by the AAA resulted in the addition of 5,200,000 acres to the wheat planting area of the United States for the 1936 crop.

Not alone did this announcement represent a change in administration agricultural policy. If one is to believe the undercurrent of information available around Washington, one cannot escape the conclusion that the increase in wheat acreage to be authorized represented something of an answer to the protests, even boycotts, that have been evidenced in many sections of the country against an increased cost of living.

It is unnecessary to repeat here how hundreds of women have boycotted meat markets in Detroit and how one delegation after another in other sections of the nation have written or telegraphed to the Department of Agriculture or to their representatives and senators in congress in complaint against the high and ever increasing food prices.

Of course, boycotts and riots and demonstrations are rather silly. They just don't get anywhere successfully. About the only result one ever sees flowing from that sort of activity is a lot of publicity.

So, when Secretary Wallace and Agricultural Adjustment Administrator Davis agreed to raise the wheat acreage from 85 to 95 per cent of the available acreage for the next crop, the consensus was that the administration felt it might have gone too far in its crop reduction program. Probably all restrictions will be lifted on hogs very soon because hog prices have sailed higher than a kite and the shortage of available live stock for packing has come to be almost appalling. Certainly, the city dwellers who constitute a big element in the market for pork products regard the shortage as appalling and they are not to be appeased by any promises from Washington.

Secretary Wallace was rather angered at published newspaper accounts from various cities to the effect that the AAA program was responsible for the high prices. He insisted that the drought of last year was responsible and that the destruction of several hundred thousand sows and several million pigs had not affected the market situation at the present time.

But Mr. Wallace's statements did not go over so well. In the first instance the bulk of the city dwellers simply will not believe that the drought had resulted in killing off a sufficient number of hogs and cattle to cause the current high prices. In the second place, wisecracks around Washington who have a habit of blurring out their thoughts without regard to feelings of others, promptly inquired what good had come from the AAA corn-hog control program if the drought alone was responsible for the price increase. These same individuals were mean enough to inquire also why some experts in the Department of Agriculture had released statements to the press to the effect that meat prices, especially pork, will continue to skyrocket until the summer of 1936. They pointed out that a great shortage in supplies existed and that it was to be expected the upward trend would continue until a new crop of hogs of packing size is marketed next year.

Then, we here in Washington heard suggestions from men whose job it is to understand market conditions in which imports of pork products were predicted for the forthcoming winter. Now, importation of any commodity does not take place unless the domestic supply is short of the requirements. Thus, crop control program or no crop control program, drought effects or no drought effects, it is possible that this, one of the greatest hog producing nations in the world, may witness substantial imports of a food item for which it has always been noted as a producer.

As regards the reversal of form in the wheat control program, Mr. Wallace said in his announcement that the increase had been authorized "primarily to assure domestic consumers of continued ample wheat supplies." He said that the wheat carried over this year was about 152,000,000 bushels and that on the basis of present estimates of production for next year it seemed advisable "to use the flexibility of the Agricultural Adjustment Act at this time to provide for somewhat larger production to assure adequate supplies of all types of milling wheat."

Will Plant More Wheat

In theory, of course, the AAA control plan should permit production of sufficient wheat next year to take up the slack of left over requirements and should have the effect of maintaining American stocks at about normal. But, in practice, a different result is threatened. This nation always has exported a considerable amount of wheat. It has, therefore, had some influence in the world market and to that extent has influenced the domestic price. It happens, however, that the world wheat crop ahead of us is likely to be smaller than usual. If the United States had the wheat, it is pointed out variously, there could be a considerable return to the farmers from the export market. As it stands, possibilities of taking advantage of that situation just do not exist.

Without further reference to the practical operation of this theory, some experts have mentioned to me the fact that the 1936 American crop may not be as good as in times past. Then, not only will the American farmers be unable to take advantage of a foreign market, but they will not obtain the maximum return possible for their domestic sales because of their own shortage.

In answer to this, AAA officials point out they can use the flexibility of the Agricultural Adjustment Act as a benefit to the farmers. Their view of the situation is that the American wheat industry will be in a strong position, due to the shortage of world wheat, and can again exert its influence.

The divergent opinions of those who favor crop control and those who think the theory will not work have created many arguments even among officials. There are those who think only of the farmer's position and there are those who think only of the plight in which the city dwellers find themselves when prices are high. The whole thing, when simmered down, is simply another way of stating the age-old problem in which we find on the one hand those who produce the food and on the other those who eat it. Adoption of the principle of crop control has not solved that problem nor does it hold any prospect of solving it. It seems to me as a matter of cold judgment that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is not any more fair with the people as a whole than are those who promote boycotts, or seek to tear down gains made by agriculture. The department officials have given out statements carrying only their side of the case. Those who attack higher prices have made only their side of the argument. Neither has added much to the sum total of human knowledge or human comfort.

Federal Pay Roll

The New Deal plans for giving employment may not have been so effective outside of Washington, but no one can question the result in so far as the federal pay roll is concerned. Late figures reveal that since President Roosevelt came into office more than 150,000 persons have been added to the federal list of employees. The total of workers on federal pay rolls in the executive branch of the government at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, was 717,712, whereas the total was 568,086 at the end of March, 1933—the end of the first month after Mr. Roosevelt took office. It has always been the claim of political parties that "to the victor belong the spoils." It is true under the Roosevelt administration to a remarkable degree. This is shown by the fact that the civil service list of employees in the federal government has gained very few while those appointed to jobs without the necessity of passing a civil service examination account for the bulk of the new workers.

Much of the New Deal legislation has carried specific provisions that employees in the particular agency created by the bill in question could be appointed without "regard to the civil service law." That is, the simple expedient used to provide spoils for the victor.

But these new thousands are not at all secure in their jobs as distinguished from basic reason why a great many persons seek federal appointment through civil service examinations. An employee who has passed an examination and has received an appointment is supposed to be fairly secure in his job and as long as he does the work assigned to him there is scant possibility of him being ousted. This is not true of the political appointees. If and when there is a change of administration and a political party of opposite faith takes the reins, the workers who came in by reason of political plums have little chance of staying on the job. Consequently, one frequently hears around Washington now discussion as to what will happen to all of these new workers if New Deal agencies blow up or Mr. Roosevelt should fall or re-election.

SYNOPSIS Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his marital troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affair ends in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin will Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "middle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, also was over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment from which, by McNamara's orders, she is removed to the chief's home. From one of the men in the boat on which the girl escaped, McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Gatlin. He also discovers that she is heiress to $750,000. Fearful of McNamara, in his official capacity Nance flees. Lanny finds her in her apartment, sound asleep. Several days later her partially restored memory leads her to tell Lanny of her wealthy father, Theodore Gatlin, and of her girlhood in France.

"Quit that," Lanny commanded in her most ferocious manner. "If I hadn't found you lovable I wouldn't have you in my house this minute. I'd turn you over to Flynn and Angelotti. By the way," she continued, "how did you get that sock on the beeper?" "Father took me to a baseball game and a long drive flew into the bleachers and struck me on the nose. Lanny, you mustn't use slang. It isn't polite." "I wrap myself around a highball when I'm tired or want to be sociable, and I smoke cigarettes," Lanny protested. "I suppose a perfect lady wouldn't do those things, either?" "A perfect lady may fust without marring her perfection, old fust-budget. That's a matter of personal liberty, and only becomes distressing when carried to excess. But there's no excuse for a highly intelligent and cultured woman to employ the language of the streets." "I have my human moments," Lanny excused herself meekly. "I'll set the table in the dining room. Won't you order some flowers? And Lanny—I'll do something for you some day." "For instance?" "Well, have you ever been to Europe?" "Certainly not." "Then I'll take you." "I accept the nomination. In return I'll do something else for you. I'll have that nose of yours split open, the shattered bone of the bridge scraped out and a cute little piece of pliable cartilage whittled off one of your spare ribs, and grafted in to your funny nose to form a new bridge. Then the doctor will sew your nose together again ever it."

"What's the difference between having a nose like a Tokinese and a makeshift with a big scar on it, I'd like to know?" "Oh, there won't be any scar, dearie. The surgeon will cut a strip of epidermis off your forehead and without detaching it from your forehead, bring the flap down, drag it over your new scarred nose and graft it there. It will grow and cover the scar, and when everything's lovely that skin connection with your forehead will be severed and the ragged edges trimmed and presently nature will do the rest. Six months after the operation I'll defy anybody but an expert to discover you've got a custom-made nose." The girl's eyes shone. "Is it true, Lanny, is it true? It's so hard to believe in miracles." "Science pulls 'em off daily, my dear." Nance changed the subject. "Here, here, we're gabbling like a pair of geese. The linen, woman, where's the linen? Off with your hat and coat. While you're getting it I'll run upstairs and get your mules." "After dinner I must do some more pumping," thought Lanny. "The information will be invaluable to Stephen. Strange case! Total amnesia at other times, only partial amnesia at others. Dreadful mixture." When Dan McNamara came home about midnight from the regular weekly meeting of the police commission, he found his ex-convict guest up and waiting for him. "I had two burglars here tonight, about ten o'clock, Chief," he announced. The chief sat down and loaded his pipe. "I was expecting them, my boy. Did they ask you any questions?" "No. They just searched the house. I don't think they touched anything except the lipstick on the bureau over there," he said.

"Did they take the lipstick?" Dan asked. "They didn't take it, they looked at it," McNamara sighed. The case was getting a little thick for him when it became complicated with lipstick. He went to the telephone and got Stephen Burt out of bed. "Did a certain party, while a guest at my house, ask you to bring out a lipstick when you called in the course of your professional duties, Doctor?" "Oh, yes." "Thanks. Goodnight." McNamara hung up and went to the room lately occupied by Nance Belden. On the bureau he found a lipstick. "Vanity is always the undoing of a crook," he sighed and went to bed, greatly troubled in his mind at what was, to him, indubitable knowledge that Flynn and Angelotti, even though they had failed to find their quarry, must be convinced, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that he had harbored an escaped convict in his home.

He passed a sleepless night, but he did some solid thinking, so there was no lost time. He had hoped, by providing this stick convict as an excuse for Doctor Burt's nightly visits, to throw Flynn and Angelotti off the scent—now the scent was hotter than ever. "Now, what will they do? They're morally certain she went to Lanny's house the night she escaped and that Lanny got her out of there in the nick of time and took her here. Now that she's escaped them here they may suspect she'd doubled back to Lanny's house. Murderation! However, those two dicks will never bother her without fortifying themselves with a search warrant. They'd be too afraid of me. But with a search warrant and the girl to show for their pains they'll have no fear. I couldn't open my mouth—if they bring the girl into headquarters I'll have to give them a cheer and congratulate them." He decided Flynn and Angelotti would sleep on their evidence and the suspicion it had aroused, comparing notes in the morning and decide upon a course of action. They would have to adduce some nominal evidence to support their suspicion before the district attorney would consent to issue the search warrant, for a search warrant is not issued lightly. In the morning they would induce some stool pigeon to tell the district attorney that he had seen Nance Belden's face at the window of Lanny's home. Possibly they might induce the patrolman on that beat to stretch the truth a little.

"Science Pulls 'Em Off Daily, My Dear."

"I can't get Nance out of Lanny's house tonight and I can't get her out in daylight tomorrow, but I must get her out tomorrow night," he decided. "But how?" He was at his office at eight next morning. At eight-thirty he looked into the detectives' room and saw Flynn and Angelotti in profound conference. Half an hour later he stepped out of a taxi two blocks from Lanny's house, and when the cab had disappeared, he made his way to the house and was admitted by Lanny.

"Nance has got to make a clean getaway," he assured her earnestly. "Because tonight Flynn and his pal may come with a search warrant. The district attorney will probably call me up before he issues it and I'll have to tell him to go ahead and issue it, in order to allay suspicion. Now, here are half a dozen harmless hand grenades that burst on impact. Three of them are tear gas bombs and three are stink bombs." "Now, I'll tell you exactly how they'll make the pinch. They'll not come during the day, because they'll know you aren't at home and that Nance wouldn't answer that bell anyhow. But tonight, one of them will ring the front doorbell and above the search warrant under your nose and step inside. The other will, in the meantime, have gone around to your back door to prevent the girl's escape in that direction. There's a cement floor around your kitchen door, is there not?" "Yes. Well, when the doorbell rings, you answer it. That will be Nance's tip to peek out the second story window and lob three bombs down on the cement beside whoever she sees standing there. They explode with a sound like a gunshot and diffuse their gas almost instantly over a considerable area. Now, whichever one goes to the back door will never be expecting a citizen to shower this sort of bomb down on him, because they are not accessible to citizens; so he will think they're electric light bulbs tossed down to scare him away. By the way, have Nance toss one electric light bulb down first and then follow with two tear bombs—here, I'll make a mark with my pencil on the tear bombs. Before he realizes what has happened he'll be weeping like Niobe and unable to see anything in the darkness. "But bear this in mind, Lanny. He'll not desert his post. He'll hug the back door and be ready to grab her when she comes. He'll stick it out. That's the time Nance must drop a stink bomb beside him." "Meanwhile the man in front will hear the explosions. If the one in back cries out, the one in front will figure he has been shot and will run to the back door to help him. As he opens the back door his pal will grab him. You must follow at his heels and shut and bolt the door instantly, or you'll get yours, too. There will be a momentary struggle between Flynn and Angelotti in the dark because the front door man will think he has the scoundrel that hurled the bombs; and by the time they discover each other's identity, the front door man will be as sightless and ill as the back door man. "Nance, a word to you now." "My name is Penelope Gatlin, Dan." "My error, Penelope, the instant you drop those first two bombs, shut down the window. And, remember, all the lights in the rear of the house and particularly in the kitchen must be turned off. When the front door man is struggling with his pal and Lanny has closed the door, her scream will be just loud enough to pay the rest of your eyes on the scoundrel. You must be dressed for the street and have some money in your pocket, got any?" "No." "Here's two hundred."

"I'll send you my check. Thanks." And she took the money. "Immediately after tossing the last of the bombs, close the window and beat it downstairs and out the front door. I'll leave a coupe, with a motor running, parked at the curb across the street. Can you drive?" "I can drive, Dan." "Very well, then. Climb into the car and beat it." "Lead it where?" "Los Angeles, San Diego, anywhere. Keep on going, and when you get there, send me a wire to the central station merely giving your address. Then lay low until somebody comes after you. Keep off the street. Lanny, you must disguise her nose. Clasp a wadding of cotton and a neat dressing over it to hide the dish in it. Any lady is liable to have an injury to her nose and wear a dressing on it. Now, is everything understood?" Nance nodded, and Lanny's silence gave consent. "You'll probably get a whiff of what's good for Flynn and Angelotti," McNamara advised Lanny, "but you'll get over it. When you lob over the last of your rotten eggs, Penelope, do not breathe, and close your eyes tightly until you have closed the window again. Then—out of the house like a shot. This plan of mine is fool-proof if followed absolutely, but it's your San Quentin again if it isn't, my brave lassie, and all the chiefs of police in town cannot help you then."

CHAPTER VIII "Thank you, sir," said Nance politely and with quiet dignity. "You are most kind to take this trouble for a stranger, and I shall never forget it." And she held out her hand. McNamara looked in puzzlement at Lanny. "What's happened to her?" he demanded. "I'll explain to you some time. You're a brilliant chief of police and you've figured everything out to a girl's eyelash for Penelope, but what's going to happen to me?" "The concoction of the plan I've just outlined has given me brain fog, Lanny. It's cost me a night's sleep. I don't know what's going to happen to you and I don't care much. You're a smart woman, and if you can't figure a way out of your end of the mess don't call on me for help." "I wish I could relish that complaint," Lanny retorted dryly. "However, if you think I'm not going to laugh myself sick over this you're a poor judge of women. Good-by, you old crook, and God bless you. Kiss him, Penelope."

A becoming modesty caused the girl to hesitate just a little, then she came to the chief and implanted a most lady-like kiss on his blue jaw. "You're very kind, Mr. McNamara," she assured him again. "Cripes," he muttered and went off. Dan McNamara's estimate of the ability of Detective Sergeants Flynn and Angelotti did them no injustice; indeed, they proved even smarter than their chief credited them with being. Angelotti's adventure with Dan McNamara they passed over as an unavoidable accident; Angelotti was certain McNamara had not recognized him. He felt certain McNamara had no suspicion that his house was under surveillance, although Flynn had mental reservations on that point, for the Irish are a psychic race.

After watching Doctor Burt enter and leave the chief's house on Thursday night, when they knew the chief would not be home until midnight, they decided to investigate. The unlocked cellar door gave them pause; Flynn whispered that he was always suspicious of things that came too easy. They crept upstairs and found Dan McNamara's ex-convict guest reading in bed. "Both detectives recognized him, so while Angelotti guarded him Flynn made a hurried but thorough search of the premises. They were not in the house more than five minutes. TO BE CONTINUED.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, © Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for September 1 PAUL THE APOSTLE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 20:22-35; Philippians 4:4-14. GOLDEN TEXT—In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye ought to help the weak—Acts 19:35. PRIMARY TOPIC—A Happy Worker for Jesus. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul a Good Soldier for Jesus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Find Happiness in Work. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Church and the Soldier.

The explanatory title given by the lesson committee, "Paul (A Worker With Hand and Brain)," is unsatisfactory. His pursuit of a trade was incidental, as well as working with his brain. He was in deed and in truth the apostle of Jesus Christ and his entire person was dominated by his passion to serve his Lord. I. His Birth (Acts 22:3; cf. Phil. 3:17). He was born in Tarsus of pure Hebrew stock. He could with lawful pride boast of a good ancestry. II. His Home Training (Phil. 3:5). His parents were pious people and carefully reared him according to Jewish standards. Most religious leaders spring out of such homes, as for example, Moses, Samuel, and Timothy. Stern principles of integrity were inculcated in him, thus giving him strength of character to impress the world.

III. His Education (Acts 22:3). 1. His patriotism. He was brought up to love his nation. He proudly affirmed, "I am a Jew." Paul was a nationalist of the true type. 2. A love for the Bible. The Scriptures were to him the very Word of God. What was found written therein was the final word for him. Loss of love for the Bible and implicit faith therein is a tragedy.

3. Zealous for God. He says, "I was zealous toward God." The word "zealous" literally means "to hulk." It means that his life was inflamed with passion for God. 4. He was conscientious. His supreme aim was to have a conscience void of offense. Conformity to the dictates of conscience is demanded. It is the law of life for every man, but because of the blight of sin the conscience needs to be taught by the Word of God. 5. He had a trade. Every Jewish boy, regardless of his father's wealth, was taught a trade. It was a saying among them that he who failed to teach his son a trade taught him to steal.

IV. His Conversion (Acts 22:6-10). 1. On the way to Damascus (v. 6). He was filled with hatred of Christ and was on his way to Damascus with authority to bring to Jerusalem to be punished such Christians, men and women, as might be found. 2. A light from heaven (vv. 6-9). As this light burned through the sky he fell to the ground. Accompanying the light was a voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" In response to his inquiry as to who was speaking, the Lord declared that it was Jesus of Nazareth whom he was persecuting. 3. An honest inquiry (v. 10). This is shown by his declaration of his willingness to do what the Lord willed. The Lord, therefore, instructed him to go to Damascus where fuller light would be given to him.

V. Paul's Philosophy of Life (Phil. 4:13). What men do and say expresses their philosophy of life. In order to induce right living, there must be created right thinking, for truly, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." 1. Unceasing Joy in the Lord (v. 4). The one who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour and who knows that in the providence of God all things work together for good to them who love God, cannot help but persistently rejoice in spite of personal circumstances. 2. He careful for nothing (v. 6). The word "careful" means "concern which leads to distraction." This does not mean that such a one will be hazardous in his living or fail in the exercise of common sense. He will not be disposed to depend upon himself, but cast himself upon his Lord for everything. 6. Think on right things (v. 8). The one who thinks on truth will be true; the one who thinks on honesty will be honest; the one who thinks on love will have love flowing from his person. Things honorable and of good reputation among the people will not be neglected. 4. All sufficiency is in Christ (vv. 10-13). The one who is thus in harmony with his Lord will be content in whatever circumstances he may be placed.

Health "The first wealth is health. Sickness is poor-spirited, and cannot serve anyone; it must husband its resources to live. But health, or fullness, answers its own ends, and has to spare—runs over, and inundates the neighborhoods and creeks of other men's necessities."—Emerson. Need of Self-Control But take my word for it. This is the time to see the world in its Sunday clothes, and without money and without price.—Exchange.

Paper Clothes Prophesied as 1980 Mode by Designer

What will women wear in 1980? Miss Elizabeth Hawes, dress designer, recently traced the current revolution in style trend, which began during the World war, and made the following predictions: Paper underclothing and paper sports costumes for men and women will have been generally accepted by that time. Mass production of clothes will have been developed to such an extent every woman can be sure of finding a perfect fit in any dress she chooses. The public will have become clothes conscious to the extent it, rather than the manufacturers, will dictate fashions and materials. Miss Hawes also pointed out that important transitions in style take place at intervals of approximately every seven years. She mentioned that corsets were worn in 1914, were out of use in 1921, and came back in style in 1928 when a definite trend to feminine creations was under way. "The chic figure of 1925 required dieting," she said, "but the figure of 1925 requires only a proper amount of exercise."

OUR NEW LIQUOR PROBLEM

By a decisive majority, the people of Texas have junked state prohibition. The heavy wet vote in the cities and in the foreign-speaking communities in South Texas and along the Rio Grande decided the issue. However, many thousands of our people who are really hostile to liquor voted for repeal under the belief, or at least the hope, that regulation might prove more effective than prohibition. This was especially true in the cities, where little effort has been made to enforce the state dry law since the repeal of national prohibition and for some time prior thereto. It is also true of a vast majority of our young people outside the cities, most of whom had never seen a saloon and had no real knowledge of the evils of the liquor traffic as it was carried on under the old saloon regime.

But there is no use to try to explain why the state went wet. The fact that it did has brought new problems to the people of Texas. All right-thinking citizens should now join in an unselfish and patriotic effort to solve these problems in the interest of good morals, sobriety, and respect for law.

During the campaign the wets promised strict regulation of the liquor traffic if the repeal amendment should be adopted. It is now up to them and to us to make good. It is to be hoped that the leading wets and dries can now unite upon a program that will minimize the evils of the legalized liquor traffic.

The very practical question arises: How can we best regulate the liquor traffic and minimize its evils?

The amendment adopted outlaws the "open saloon", whatever the legislature may define that to be. So, the saloon as it existed in pre-Volstead days is, theoretically at least, not to be permitted.

What then? Are we to have a "new deal" in saloons—simply a new model of the old machine? Are we to have de facto saloons run under the guise of cafes, coffee shops, restaurants, drug stores, confectionery stores, or what-not? In our opinion that would be a worse condition than existed under the old-time saloon regime, as rotten as that was. It would put liquor everywhere. It would lend an air of respectability to the liquor business—a merit which it does not possess, an advantage to which it is not entitled. It would encourage the drinking of liquor by all classes of people, boys and girls, men and women, good and bad, all alike.

In the old days, not many of the most moral and highly respectable men and no respectable woman would be caught in a saloon. The taking of a drink of any kind in a saloon by a woman would have placed a stigma upon her that she could not have lived down in a long time in her community. But if legal liquor is to be placed in our coffee shops and cafes, our drug stores and confectioneries, our hotels and public parks, few young people, boys or girls, will feel any sting of disgrace or any sense of shame or guilt at taking a drink in public or at tarrying at the table or the bar till wine inflame them.

We do not want to see the iniquitous liquor business linked up with every respectable line of business in our community or our state nor to see it placed on a level with them.

Where then should the sale of liquor be permitted? If the "open saloon" is to be banned and if the sale of liquor is not to be permitted in eating establishments, drug stores, etc., then where may it be sold?

Our conviction is that its sale should be confined to liquor stores—or saloons if you prefer to call them that—in which liquor is to be sold only in unbroken packages and not to be drunk on the premises where sold. Such stores should be limited to the sale of liquors, wine, beer, and tobaccos, and the proprietors should be required to give bond binding them to conform to all the regulations imposed by law upon such places of business and they should also be subject to criminal prosecution for any violations of such law.

As a second alternative to the promiscuous sale of liquor in hotels, eating houses, and drug stores, we would favor the state dispensary system.

Local option laws should be reenacted and the manufacture, sale, and traffic in intoxicating liquors should be strictly prohibited in any county voting dry. We believe that even local prohibition is better than any kind of regulation.

The State administrator of the Works Progress Administration is sending out S. O. S. calls to the officials of Texas counties, municipalities, and school districts to prepare and file applications for relief labor to be used on projects for permanent improvements. In this county, applications have been filed for the improvement of certain lateral roads, but here as elsewhere members of the commissioners court are doubting the feasibility of completing these projects with relief labor on the terms prescribed by the WPA.

The same is true as to boards of school trustees and members of city councils. We do not have the space nor all the required information to set out here all the difficulties which these local officials encounter but it is enough to say that some of them are very serious. It is for this reason perhaps that Texas projects filed up till August 17 amounted to only three and a half million dollars whereas the WPA administrator was hoping for twenty millions by the end of this month. In fact, the chances seem to be that the WPA program in Texas will prove to be a huge failure. If the fifty million dollars allocated to Texas by the Federal Government had been placed with the state highway department, there would have been very little delay and little or no waste or extravagance in expending it. Somebody at Washington has made an inglorious bust in handling this fund. As it is being handled little relief labor is going to be employed and little good to the state as a whole is to be accomplished, whereas, if it had been placed with the state highway commission much idle labor could have been employed and much permanent highway improvement could have been made.

NOTHING TO REPORT ON NO. 84 There is nothing to report on Highway 84 this week as concerns the Texas portion of it except that the survey east of Tahoka has been completed, and location of caliche beds is being developed.

We don't have any special knowledge on it, but are expecting orders to commence a survey west from Brownfield within the next few weeks. This is just a guess however and is not to be taken too seriously. We are also guessing that the highway department will complete the second course of caliche on highway 51, upon which work ceased as soon as the old relief agencies were discontinued. On U. S. Highway 380 in New Mexico, which is Texas' 84, the New Mexico Highway Department has set aside a very considerable amount of money for further improvement and work is expected to commence on it within a very short time. Present plans include 23 miles of new construction, commencing 17 miles east of Roswell and running to a connection with a section that was shortened two or three years ago. As soon as this is done, the portion from the one mile point to Caprock will be hard-surfaced. Next year the New Mexico Department plans to route directly east of Roswell to the 17 mile point, which would call for a new bridge across the Pecos at a point about two miles north of the present bridge. Side roads are expected to be constructed to the Bottomless Lake State Park, which is now being constructed. And by the way, if you have not seen those lakes, take time to visit them on your next trip out that way. They are worth the time and trouble.—Brownfield Herald.

Now that the old age pension amendment was adopted by an overwhelming majority, one of the tasks before the legislature is to enact a pension law and to provide for the funds with which to pay the pensions. Already it is being suggested that a sales tax is the only solution to the problem. A sales tax is regarded by business men as a nuisance tax, since it devolves upon them much additional work and trouble. Furthermore, a general sales tax is a tax upon the poor of proportion to their ability to pay. For these reasons we have never favored a general sales tax. However, just at this time we do not see how else the vast sums of money necessary to pay pensions to the aged are to be raised. We may yet be compelled to resort to the sales tax; if so, it should be laid heaviest on those articles which are generally regarded as luxuries.

"Just when you get the town built, then you have to die," were the words of a college professor in advising young men to go to an old town which was completely established, rather than be the bulwark of a new town. Those who have fought the battles of a new town will appreciate these words. Just when everything is going smoothly in this town building process, along comes something to dump the apple cart, and everything has to be started again. Yes, but it is a lot of fun. —Canyon News.

TRIBUTE TO WEEKLIES WAS ONE OF WILL ROGERS' BEST

Chicago.—Some of the late Will Rogers' philosophic and humorous paragraphs will go down in literary history as masterpieces. And perhaps one of the finest of these is his tribute to the "home town paper," one of his last writings.

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even chili," said Will, "but leave me my newspaper. Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came last night unexpectedly, and bloodshed ensued' or 'Jesse Bushyhead, our local M. D., is having one of the best years of his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well,' the county seat was packed yesterday with prominent people from out of town, attempting to renew their notes and 'election ain't far off and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'

"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news to you, especially when you know the people."

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

I was greeted with a fine audience last Lord's day after being absent some five or six Sundays. The work and attendance held up well in our absence. It was decided while I was away that I was to labor here another year which we appreciated. It was also decided to hold a meeting this Fall. Brother J. B. Nelson of Dallas was selected to do the preaching. It is to begin Friday night, September 27.

As a preparatory work leading up to the meeting, I have decided to hold two mission meetings, one at Edith and the other at South Ward. The meeting at Edith will begin Friday night, September 6, the Lord willing.

Services here next Lord's day as usual. I will fill the pulpit both morning and evening.

You will always find a welcome at the friendly church. — R. P. Drennon.

INSPIRING OPPORTUNITIES

Lubbock, Texas, Aug. 13, 1935.—Many young people are now finding inspiring opportunities in banks, wholesale houses, with various government recovery agencies, and other big employers as a result of a few pleasant months spent in Draughon's Business College of this city, according to the Employment Report just released. In one PWA office alone a number of graduates have accepted excellent positions, with attractive beginning salaries, during the past few days; and hundreds of other office workers will be needed by this and other government agencies as projects develop.

With business and crop conditions the most promising in many years, young people with the foresight to prepare will find the opportunities of a life-time awaiting them through the far-reaching Draughon placement facilities.

Those who are interested in business careers are invited to write for Catalog C showing training and time required, low cost, methods of placing graduates, a long list of recent placements, and starting date of classes. A post-card will do. 52-21p.

Oil Company Will Furnish Book Covers

All of the 5,500 school book covers which will be required by Tahoka school children are being furnished by the Phillips Petroleum Company, according to an announcement made jointly by Mr. H. B. McCord, the local Phillips agent, and Mr. W. G. Barrett, Superintendent of Schools.

State law requires that all text books be covered adequately and the proper covering of the books ordinarily presents quite a problem both to the schools and to the individual pupils, according to the Superintendent. With the Phillips Petroleum Company furnishing all the school book covers needed in this locality, free of charge, that problem is solved.

The need for these school book covers has caused the Phillips Petroleum Company to furnish covers similar to the ones they are furnishing to our schools, to school children in these other Texas towns and cities: Abernathy, Amarillo, Bovina, Canadian, Childress, Channing, Chillicothe, Crowell, Dalhart, Dumas, Estelline, Floydada, Pollett, Gruver, Hale Center, Levelland, Littlefield, Lubbock, McLean, Matador, Memphis, Perryton, Petersburg, Quanah, Quitaque, Shamrock, Station, Spearman, Stratford, Sudan, Texhoma, Okla., Tulla, Turkey, Ralls, Vernon, Wellington, and Whiteflat.

Direct Relief Is To Cease Soon

(By H. P. Drought, State Administrator, Works Progress Administration)

San Antonio, Aug. 25.—Texans today face the challenge of President Roosevelt and of 147,387 of our destitute citizens.

"The federal government must and will quit this business of direct relief," President Roosevelt declared.

"We are tired of living on the dole. All that we ask is a chance to earn a livelihood." Certainly, that would be the sentiment of the vast number of Texans now being given relief allotments in lieu of work were their numbers polled today.

Works Progress Administration has been organized and has started operation in Texas for the essential purpose of giving jobs to every employable man and woman now registered on the relief rolls of the state. We have been allocated more than $50,000,000 to expend toward wrecking the dole in every county and city in Texas.

That vital task has been placed squarely before WPA by the national administration. Our responsibility is yours in the counties and towns of Texas. We have the money to spend, you have the needed work projects and yours are the men and women who must have work.

Your task, and it is one which must be performed at once, is to decide how money may be spent to provide jobs for the largest possible number of unemployed in your district. The double incentive of providing work for the jobless and of securing needed public improvements of permanent benefit to your community is offered by WPA.

Necessity for speed in suggesting projects is justified by advice from Washington authorities that not nearly enough proposals have been presented at national headquarters. Thus admonished, every state will be striving to gain precedence for its program. Texas has presented a mere three and one half millions in works proposals for federal improvements at the end of the week of August 17. We are anxious to have twenty million dollars in projects in the hands of federal examiners by the end of this month.

Our state is particularly adapted, due to physical advantages, to such ambitious projects as lateral farm-to-market roads. Too, elasticity of project requirements makes it easy to find many types of needed improvements to which WPA energies may be devoted. With proper cooperation from our political subdivisions, any of which may participate in the program, this state can forge far ahead on the federal allotment schedule.

This opportunity for states, counties, and cities to get permanent, lasting improvements at a minor fraction of the cost may not arrive again. No county in Texas is so "broke" that its paper would not be accepted by practically any materials dealer in the state. Construction material costs may easily be spread over a period of years, so that the burden would not be too heavy.

W. P. A.'s expenditure in your community is limited, in most instances, only by the number of unemployed your project will put to work. We are restricted only by the necessity of receiving the equivalent of one year's work for one person for each $600 spent.

Twenty district WPA offices have been set up in strategic locations over the State of Texas. Counties have been urged to set up planning boards for the study of project potentialities. It is the duty of every civic-minded person and organization in the state to present ideas to these groups. They are anxious to serve their sections, they are interested in surveying any proposals submitted, and they are dependent upon the people of their districts for help in choosing the types of projects best fitted to the needs of the locality.

In line with federal policy, we must pursue a first-come, first-served course in approving projects. We must earnestly urge, therefore, that sponsors exercise all possible haste in submitting their projects. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that those sponsors who delay submitting proposals in the hope of getting a higher per man-year grant will be doomed to disappointment and will be jeopardizing the chances of their own unemployed to get jobs.

Drastic curtailment of FERA allotments scheduled for November 1 will place the burden of caring for your own needy upon the counties and cities. Utilize the facilities of WPA and you will have jobs awaiting those persons when their relief grants are discontinued. Procrastinate and you will hazard your own chances for reaping the benefits of worthwhile public improvements and you will be ignoring the plea of your destitute neighbors who await an opportunity to remove themselves from the morale-shattering influence of the dole.

Deen Nowlin has gone to Kansas this week on business.

Sector Of No. 9 Is Completed

Paving of a five-mile sector of highway No. 9 through Tahoka was completed Wednesday, and this is now one of the smoothest and best little pieces of road to be found in West Texas.

The pavement begins just beyond the southern limits of the city and extends to a point almost four miles north of town.

This is a triple asphalt surface and was laid by Haden & Austin, contractors.

It is understood that other sectors on this highway between Tahoka and Lubbock will be paved soon, and it is hoped that the entire stretch may be completed before cold weather.

R. E. WILKISON FILES SUIT AGAINST PRODUCE DEALERS

Lamesa, Aug. 25.—R. E. Wilkison, alleging violation of the anti-trust laws, has filed suit for $45,000 in damages from Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and Lubbock Poultry and Egg company in district court here.

Wilkison asked for $20,000 actual damages and $25,000 in exemplary damages. Carl Rountree is attorney for the plaintiff.

The suit alleged the defendants agreed on prices to be paid for eggs, poultry, and cream, resulting in lower prices to farmers for their products.

SPIDERS ARE NOT INSECTS

Although it is a common practice to refer to spiders as insects they do not belong to the true insect family at all but are air-breathing animals of the Arachnida group. There are various ways in which the two groups differ but the most noticeable is that insects have six legs while the spiders have eight; also, most insects have wings and spiders have none.

Mrs. Ernest Tibbetts of Silverton, who recently visited her sister here, Mrs. Roy Leale, became ill and was brought back to the Lubbock Sanitarium for treatment almost immediately after returning to her home. She is reported to be improving.

Jim Wetsel returned Tuesday from a trip to Sherman, and Denison, Texas, and Durant and Antlers, Oklahoma. He has a farm near the latter city. Jim says crops are fine all the way from here to Antlers with the exception of a few spots.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson Jr., of Cisco, who are here visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Garland Pennington, are the parents of a new baby, a nine-pound boy, born Wednesday morning. They have named her Veta Grace.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gurley and little son, Ronnie Mack, are on a vacation trip to New Mexico.

Drilling Slowly On Test Oil Well

On account of the extreme hardness of the formation, drilling in the Wanete-Hart oil well ten miles southwest of Tahoka is now proceeding slowly. A depth of 4330 feet had been reached at a late hour Wednesday afternoon.

The bit is still in hard lime and anhydrite.

AMARILLO TRI-STATE FAIR WILL BE VERY BIG EVENT

Amarillo, Aug. 29.—From both an educational and entertainment standpoint, the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, September 14-21, will be "tops".

This year the fair holds undisputed rank as the largest exposition in Texas and to entertain the crowds the management has arranged for many attractions, including a three-ring circus.

With this circus, formerly known as Bailey Brothers but now owned by Harley Sadler, well known for his amusement enterprises, is Jack Hoxie, western screen star.

Hoxie, who had the leading role in such pictures as "Outlaw Justice" and "Trouble Busters," will appear in person at each circus performance.

Jack Hoxie, one of the favorite of western fans, also was starred in "Law and Lawless," "Via Pony Express" and "Gun Law."

While giving performances daily at the exposition grounds, the circus will stage a mile long parade every other day—Sept. 16, 18 and 20.

Other entertainment features will be Beckman and Garey shows, largest of midway attractions; daily horse races and a variety of other amusements.

Exhibitions from every section of the vast territory and many from distant states already have made entries.

Officials of the fair association predict there will not be only more and better exhibits, but also larger crowds at the 1935 exposition.

Many cities served by the exposition already are making plans for huge motor caravans and special trains to the fair.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. LYNN COUNTY WOMEN LIVE IN CO-OPERATIVE HOME

Canyon, August 23.—Three young women from Lynn county have lived in Randall Co-operative Home for girls on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College.

They are Mrs. Viva Wootley, the former Mrs. Viva Humphreys, Pays Brown, and Jewell McIver, all of Tahoka.

Begun in the fall of 1933, Randall Hall was designed to give the daughters of West Texas a chance to attend college in spite of drouth and depression. It has done that as far as its capacity allows. 106 girls have worked, studied and lived together in Randall Hall each term during the two long seasons and two summer sessions of its existence.

Miss Miltia Hill, organizer of the co-operative home, allotted the 37 different household tasks among the girls, giving each girl one hour of work to do a day. This work, plus fourteen dollars in money from each girl per month solves the financial problem of carrying on the home.

AIR CONDITIONING

Almost everyone has had the experience on a hot summer day of going into a movie theater that has had a sign announcing, "70° COOL INSIDE." For the first few moments we have a grateful sense of comfort. The air seems delightful after the sizzling blasts from the street. Then gradually it dawns on us that we are cold. If we have a wrap, we put it on. But most of us don't carry wraps when the temperature is near the hundred mark. Moreover, we have discarded every article of clothing that our sense of public decency will permit us to discard. We debate whether we should go out and get warm, but we remember the unbearable heat of the heat. Eventually, though, we leave, and as we reach the sidewalk, the hot air makes us gasp for breath. We feel suffocated; we become cold, clammy. We may even have a strong feeling of nausea. A few of us may collapse entirely.

Obviously, this is over-refrigeration.

The purpose of air-conditioning is to make us comfortable, and if we are uncomfortable when we go from the outside hot air into the inside cooled air, and acutely uncomfortable, almost to the point of sickness, when we go from the inside cooled air into the outside hot air again, then something is wrong.

The skin is the largest organ of the body. If it were spread out on the floor, it would be the size of a rug seven or eight feet square. When the outer air is cooler than the body, the skin tries to prevent heat loss by reducing the amount of warm blood flowing through this body covering layer. While it is impossible for the body to prevent loss of heat by this mechanism, still excessive dissipation of heat is avoided. But the skin loses heat and acts as a radiator in spite of all that the body can do. During cold weather we lose two-thirds of the heat value of food through our skins. Sixty-five cents of every dollar we spend for food is used to heat the air in which we live. On the other hand, in the summer the skin acts like a refrigerator. We secrete water into the outside skin and the evaporation of this water cools us.

When you go from the street to an artificially cooled room during a warm summer day, your skin has to change in a moment's time from a refrigerator to a radiator. On the street your skin is working to keep your inside organs from getting too hot, for when the temperature of the air is above normal body temperature, the skin works hard to keep the body from being heated up to the air temperature.

The only health problem in artificially cooled theaters, restaurants, office buildings and homes is the difference in temperature and comfort between the outside and the inside air. There are several separate points to be considered. The sense of comfort is a combination of three factors; namely, temperature, humidity and air movement. When the air is saturated with moisture, it feels hotter than air of the same temperature with lower humidity.

Some recent work tends to show that there should not be more than 10 degrees difference in temperature of the air inside artificially cooled rooms as compared to the outside air. But there should be 40 per cent less moisture in the air in the refrigerated rooms. There should be some air movement, but not a draft or wind, sufficient to keep still air pockets forming around people sitting in these rooms. The greatest factor, however, according to these investigators, is in the humidity of the air.

Some restaurants and theaters maintain a 20 to 30 degree Fahrenheit difference in temperature between inside and outside air. Upon entering such a room—maintained at, say 70° F.—from a street temperature of 100° to 105° F., one feels a sense of coolness and well-being. Then adjustment of the body to the temperature takes place, and this sense of well-being disappears. Return to the street after an hour's sojourn is like stepping from northern Canada to southern Louisiana in one step. The skin tries to make this rapid adjustment as best it can. This is sometimes hard to do quickly.

The internal temperature rises in spite of all the skin's valiant attempt to change itself instantaneously from a radiator to a refrigerator. That is why dizziness, nausea and even collapse may accompany this rapid change from a November to a July day.

We do not know enough about air-conditioning of rooms in the summer time to make rules as yet. We have had many years of experience with heating rooms during the winter time. We need research and study upon the question of summer air-conditioning of offices, homes, theaters, restaurants and such places. The necessary equipment is expensive and special rooms must be constructed. The differences in temperature, humidity and wind movements must be examined. Normal healthy people of various ages and sex must serve as subjects. The tendency to over-refrigerate at this time. The right and healthy temperature should be a scientific formula.

New Autumn Woolens Are Striking

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WOOLENS to "suit" the smart woman this fall are not fascinating we are not going to be able to resist them and you wouldn't if you could after once glimpsing them. From every inch of their wool and their warp the woolens brought out this season radiate a beauty of coloring, of texture, of novelty in patterning and weave which is simply taking the world of fashion by storm.

Seeing that the American mills and the mills abroad are giving us the most amazing, the most beautiful woolens fancy can picture, it is to rejoice that the English habit of wearing sporty or tailored costumes for all daytime occasions in contrast to formal fashions for evening has spread to America. Now that the smart thing to do this fall is to go very colorfully and handsomely tailored in the daytime, it is safe to predict that dresses, suits, sweater costumes together with three-piece ensembles made of stunning woolens will predominate by a large majority in the wardrobe of every fashion-wise woman.

One of the most dramatic gestures which has to do with this sweeping vogue for grand woolens is the costume which goes fifty-fifty gorgeous cloth and high-colored suede. That is to say, a skirt of rich woolen is topped with a jacket or sweater of suede or leather which carries the key color of the plaid or striped material. To climax the scheme of design, the newest thing is the blouse which is knitted of the identical yarn in which the wool material is woven. Thus a perfect color harmony is achieved.

Another thing likable about the new woolens is that they are so delightfully soft and caressing to the touch, and give ear to this bit of good news—they are so woven in combination of yarns, they do not wrinkle.

Just to mention a few of the smartest and newest of new woolens—there are kemp tweeds, bright nubbled tweeds of unusual treatment, sawtooth checks, broken plaids, mari tweeds, chevron stripes, ribbed diagonals, ombre plaids and others too numerous to cite. The colorings of the versatile woolens brought out this season are a triump both in art and of science. A complete wardrobe may be planned to include several colors, none of which conflict because the most vivid plaids and gay hues are given dusky overtones which blend into one grand symphony via misty interweavings of grayish or brownish yarns. The attractive Seton Cotterill collection of London which was recently shown in America by the Chicago wholesale market council stressed particularly this feature of color blend in smart woolens. The trio of high-style woolen fashions here pictured were displayed in this exhibit.

See illustrated to the left in the group a perfect travel costume. The Scotch plaid in black and white, of which it is made, has a heavy nub yarn interwoven to give highlights of canary yellow.

A new chevron-stripe wool in tones of amber, rustique and brown makes the suit with tuxedo topcoat (centered in the illustration.) Note the smart cross-scarf of the jacket. Semi-fitted lines and woolen buttons give a new smart air, also the front fullness of the skirt.

The new skirts are marvelously built. They are most deceptive. They look as innocently pleated and paneled as you please, while in reality they are concealing silts which allow for perfect freedom of action. Such a skirt is the one to the right in the picture. "Swagger collegienne" describes this ombre plaid suit in rich tones of dubonnet red and ivory. It has a snug collar and stock scarf and is worn with matching sweater.

COAT OF PIGSKIN

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Have you heard about the too-chic-for-words new polo coats which are made of fine pigskin? Just study this picture and see how smart they are down to the slightest detail. You can get them either in natural or rich dark dyes. The model illustrated has all the latest "touches," such as big, roomy bellows pockets, the new sash belt which ties so casually, strap-band sleeves which are adjustable about the wrist, deep-set yoke and an intricate seaming which gives the garment exquisite finesse. The hat is of pigskin to match the coat. The paisley print scarf is up to the moment in style.

LUXURIOUS METALS TOUCH UP FABRICS

Inspired by Oriental and period influences fabric manufacturers have outdone themselves in producing beautiful and luxurious metals on every type of silk ground.

In addition to being important for afternoon and evening gowns, the new metals are widely used for millinery—notably turbans—scarfs to be worn with wool as well as silk suits, blouses, waistcoats, bags, vanity and cigarette cases, in superb evening sandals and evening jackets that have a decidedly new look.

Metals with solid burnished faces in silver, gold—and newest of all—copper are shown in the market and considered especially good for jackets and accessories.

Silk crepes with double borders in metallized broche show distinct traces of Persian, Hindu and Japanese influence in their rich colorings and delicate patterns.

Sheer silk gauzes, completely metallized, form one of the newest and loveliest of the metals.

Pink Rates Coolest Shade and Looks Most Expensive

Pink, fashion's favorite color this summer, is the coolest-looking and, incidentally, the most expensive appearing shade you possibly can wear. There are pink linen and shantung suits for town and country, handsome pink sweaters to wear with white skirts when you week-end out of town and glamorous evening gowns in various tones of this lovely shade. One particularly nice evening gown is fashioned from double layers of pink chiffon and is worn under a billowing wrap of matching material.

Paris Loves Blue
Blue is a favorite color of Paris this year. Smart women seen at the races are many of them gowned in navy with white relief; also navy and white prints. Pale, misty blue crepe frocks are worn with darker blue hats, bags and shoes.

Different Ways of Making Rugs

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

The making of rag rugs has interested needleworkers for hundreds of years. One very good reason for this is that rugs are practical and wanted in every home. The larger the rug the harder the work; the weight increases as the work progresses. Making a rug of motifs and then assembling takes the hard labor out of rug making and the work becomes interesting. Work these motifs in spare time at home or elsewhere and, when all are finished, assemble.

Folder No. 532 contains a lot of information about making the hexagon motif in various sizes in hexagon shaped rugs and in various color combinations. Hexagon motifs are crocheted in any size and color scheme according to your own idea. Amount of material and all the stitches are given and other hints of value to rug makers. A new kind of chart for selecting your colors gives you an opportunity to see what your rug looks like before you go ahead with the work. Sea Returns Land

Where a fishing village near Tell charry, India, was abandoned by the sea nearly 40 years ago, a great stretch of land has reappeared with the coming of this year's monsoon.

HATS IN ELEVATORS

Men of Sydney, Australia, are nothing, if not polite. They, for instance never fail to remove their hats in an elevator, when ladies are present.

That is why a storm of controversy has been aroused by neat little notices just pasted in the elevators of the Bank of New South Wales, asking men to keep their hats on.

Bank officials say the removal of hats—congests business. Men hold them carefully against their manly chests, or lower down to protect them from being crushed. The result is that in an elevator built to carry 20 people, only 16 can get in.

Most of the obviously married men customers of the bank are now keeping their hats on, but the younger men lift theirs.

LUNCHEON CLUB MEMBERS HEAR SUPT. W. G. BARRETT

 first year, he said, but a good start can be made. About fifty feet, of bleachers with five tiers of seats can be built for about $125.00, according to estimates furnished him.

Following his talk, Alvin Hicks, president of the school board was called upon for an expression. He stated that he thought the bleachers were very much needed but explained that the school board did not have the money to expend in this way. The funds would have to be raised by private subscription.

Mr. Barrett had also stated that he was willing to contribute in a substantial way to this project, and following these talks W. O. Henderson announced that the West Texas Gin Company would head the list with a contribution or would at least match any other contribution.

President J. K. Applewhite appointed Truett Smith, Judge W. E. (Happy) Smith, and Dr. K. R. Durham as a committee to canvass the town for funds and to cooperate with the school in every way possible with respect to athletic activities.

Coach Prentice Walker also requested that business men use every means possible to supply work for boys living in the country who desire to attend school here.

Upon invitation by the Chair, Judge W. E. Smith made a brief statement respecting the proposed state park and the state highway situation, an account of which may be found elsewhere in this paper.

The program of music consisted of two vocal selections, "Home on the Range," and "Old Faithful," by H. A. Maassen Jr. and Greta Joyce Applewhite, with Marjorie Wells at the piano, and a reading, "On the Farm," by Myrna Dean Gagnat.

Miss Wilma Ward and Miss Auda Mae Aycox were selected to provide the program for next Tuesday.

SMITH EXPLAINS STATUS OF PARK AND HIGHWAY

 coming. Further elaborating his statement, Judge Smith has stated to the News that application for the establishment of a park and for grant of the funds had been made to the state park board at Austin, the only proper authority to which he could make application. He knew of no authority or department in Washington to which application should be made by local authorities. That would be a matter for the state park board to look after, he explained.

As to the highway situation, Judge Smith stated that when he and the members of the commissioners court recently appeared before the state highway commission in behalf of highway No. 84, they were told to go to the Emperor of Japan or some other distinguished personage with their request, that the commission could do nothing for them. Judge Smith added, however, that they had not given up hope and that they were planning to go before the commission again at an early date. He was sure No. 84 would be paved some time within the next few years.

As to highway No. 9, Judge Smith stated that it was hoped and believed that Federal funds would be supplied with which to complete the paving from Tahoka to the Lubbock county line by November. As to the sector extending from Tahoka to O'Donnell, he had been assured that the highway commission had already set apart the funds with which to pave it.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT WILL START NEXT THURSDAY

 balanced curriculum not surpassed by many schools in the State. Two courses are offered high school pupils, one a vocational course without a foreign language which will permit a child to enter college conditionally and the college entrance course requiring two years of Spanish (10th and 11th Grades) which will give admission to any college without condition. Pupils expecting to enter college after graduation are urged to include the two years of Spanish.

A general faculty meeting will be held at the High School Building Wednesday, September 4th at 9 A. M. to get acquainted and discuss school plans for the year.

The public is invited to attend the opening exercises and to visit the schools during the year. The school belongs to you. We are your servants. With your cooperation we expect to make Tahoka Schools as good as the best in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams and little son Charles Jr. of Seguin were here Thursday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Nelson.

VOTERS OF TEXAS REPEAL STATE LIQUOR LAWS

 off the banner by voting dry 50 to 6. There was much apathy in the election in this entire section of the state. In Lynn county, little more than half the adult population had qualified to vote, many falling to pay their poll taxes. Little more than two-thirds the qualified voters took the trouble to go to the polls. So much less than two-thirds of a normal vote was cast in the county. Such was the case in most other counties in this section of the state.

The liquor interests have no reason to feel very secure in Texas even though they did win a decisive victory in the election last Saturday.

SHIRLEY, IT'S GOOD TO KNOW YOU'RE BACK TO CHEER US

Glorious Shirley Temple, whose natural art is second to none, and who has, in the words of Irvin S. Cobb, "made more people happy and made more children laugh than any child your age in the history of the world," is here again.

Her new Fox Film picture, "Our Little Girl," starts its engagement at the English Theatre Sunday for a three days run. It is called her greatest!

This is said to be Shirley's most touching picture. She plunges into an emotional adventure that stings in the heart as she bravely meets a bewildered crisis while those who are nearest and dearest to her grope in the shadows of misunderstanding.

Shirley's brave smile revives a waning love, when she pleads for her mother to return, and runs away from home to reunite her parents.

In addition to acting, the child wonder sings. This powerful story again brings to the screen beloved Shirley Temple. Again she is said to prove herself a dramatic star second to none. And at no time does she stop being a real child deal to the hearts of millions. Shirley plays almost every scene in this picture.

"Our Little Girl" is said to have appeal for young and old. For the young in heart as well as in years, there is a thrilling circus sequence. Producer Edward Butcher spared no expense in bringing a complete circus, big tent, wild animals, elephants, and all. "Poodles" Hanneford, world-famed clown and rider, has an exciting act, clowning, riding, falling, thrilling. Other circus celebrities seen here are "the Clark-onians" in a swinging act and the clowns Hambone, Dumbell, Smiling Sambo.

A fitting cast has been assembled around the screen sensation. Rosemary Ames plays the mother, and Joel McCrea the father. Others are Lyle Talbot as "the other man", Erin O'Brien-Moore, Jack Donohue, Poodles Hanneford, Gus Van, Margaret Armstrong, Rita Owin, Leonard Carey, J. Farrell Macdonald and Jack Baxley.

The direction is by John Robertson.

Will Clement and his son Herman of Stanton and the former's niece, Miss Lillian Breeding of Oplin, visited I. I. Gattis and family here Wednesday. Mr. Clement and Mr. Gattis are brothers-in-law.

STATED MEETINGS of Tahoka Lodge No. 1041 the first Tuesday night in each month at 8:30. Members urged to attend. Visitors welcome. M. O. Canaday, W. M. W. S. Anglin, Sec.
