The safest place in a lightning storm is your LOK-RIB Building

You enjoy peace of mind in stormy weather when you own a LOK-RIB Steel Building. It's all steel—it won't burn—and if lightning strikes, the easily grounded steel panels dissipate the charge. The extra strength of LOK-RIB's exclusive V-rib design gives you that same safe feeling when winds are high. The factory-engineered, mass-produced LOK-RIB Steel Building goes up easier and faster. There are no high framing costs. Every part is pre-punched and matched to fit. Four widths—24, 32, 40, and 48 feet. Call us for an estimate today.

Man Made Fibers, Production Abroad Problems To Be Faced

College Station, Jan. 20 — The cotton supply in the United States during the current season, August 1, 1959 to July 1, 1960, is estimated at 23.7 million bales, about 3.4 million over that of 1958-59. One reason for the increase in supply, said John McHant, took five million acres of cotton land out of production in 1958. The Choice B support program also increased the supply in that it added about one million acres to 1959 allotments.

Of the 15 million bale disappearance expected during 1959-60, exports are expected to be about 5.6 million bales, double that of last season. One reason for this increase in exports is a decline in foreign free world production. The economist said even though the foreign production decline is estimated to be only two percent of 1958-59 production, such a decline alone could mean an increase in U. S. exports of about 14 percent over last year.

strates what can happen in the long run if U. S. prices are maintained at relatively low levels. Other reasons for the export increase are an increase in cotton consumption and relatively low cotton stocks in the foreign free world.

Domestic consumption of cotton during 1959-60 is expected to be about 9 million bales compared to 8.7 million a year earlier due to a higher level of economic activity and the replenishment of the low level stock of textiles. The economist pointed out that the lower cotton prices may have also stimulated consumption to some extent. However, the effect of prices on cotton consumption is usually a long-term factor.

He noted also that the minimum prices stipulated by the current price support program should help the future competitive position of cotton. Research and promotion, however, will have to continue their part in the future, along with lower prices at domestic mills for cotton. McHanev added that competition from man-made fibers continues strong and could be stronger if cotton prices were higher.

BETTER PENETRATION IN ALL SOILS

The new MM Disc Harrows have an exceptional combination of light weight and strength . . . light enough so you can work in soft ground without too much reduction in angle and sacrifice of quality work; strong enough so you can add as much weight as needed to give you good penetration in hard soils. The new MM deep pan weight boxes enable you to use soil from the field you are working in for needed weight.

The harrow is designed so that all discs penetrate at a uniform depth and follow the contour of the ground. Disc bearings never require lubrication, and the disc gang assembly is designed to protect the bearings against wear and to assure long-life trouble-free performance.

Let us tell you all about these outstanding new harrows.

Most Taxpayers Use Form 1040A

"Treasury records show that one out of every four taxpayers use the simplified income tax Form 1040A", says Howard O. Nichols, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue Service, Lubbock. Revenue's midget (size of an average bank check) tax form may be used by individuals with total income of less than $10,000, consisting of wages reported on Form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding. Husband and wife may file a joint 1040A return for '59, if their combined income doesn't exceed the stated limits.

NOTICE!

TO PARENTS of School Age Children

The school census is being taken during the month of January this year. All children who are six years old on or before Sept. 1, 1960, but will not be 18 or older on or before that same date should be counted in this census. It is very important that all children six to 18 years be counted in this census. The child should be counted even though he may not be in school and even though he or she may be married.

If you, as a parent, have not received and filled out a school census blank on or before January 21 you are being overlooked and should do one of the following:

1. Phone Supt. Jerry Kirk at No. 3890 or the School Tax Office No. 5100 and ask for a census blank.
2. Call in person at the School Tax Office and get a census blank and fill it out.

Remember, if your child will be six years old next Sept. 1st, he should be counted in the census now, even though he is not in school now. If he is six but not 18 or older on next Sept. 1 he should be counted now. All children from six to 18 should be counted. The six years old who start next September to school are the ones most often overlooked in the census. Failure to count them costs the school and taxpayers extra money. Please help us not to overlook anyone.

Please read the census blank carefully, fill it out completely, and return it by your child next day to the teacher. Thank you.

DON'T WAIT 'TILL FEB. 1st To Turn Your Blanks In — As That Will Be Too Late

The meeting was called to order by the president, Johnny West, and the roll call and minutes were read by Sheryl Stevens, secretary. The Pleasant Valley 4-H Club would like to take this means of thanking the Home Demonstration Club for the 4-H banners and song books they gave us. It was asked of the reporter that the names of those participating in Christmas affairs be written up so they would get credit in 4-H records. This will be done at the end of this report.

Battle Border

Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

Will Wilson says that people driving west from El Paso on U. S. Highway 80 cross into New Mexico and 500 yards later are confused to find themselves back in Texas.

PART XII

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of twelve articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today.)

One stormy chapter in the history of our Texas boundaries was written with the unsolicited help of Oklahoma's blustery, colorful Governor William J. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

Murray, governor of the Sooner state from 1931-35, figured prominently in the "Bridge War" of 1931 between Texas and Oklahoma.

"The Bridge War grew out of the difference of opinion between Alfalfa Bill and Texas officials concerning the opening of three 'free bridges' spanning the Red River," Attorney General Will Wilson explains.

Built as a joint effort of Texas and Oklahoma they were intended to provide highway travelers with toll-free passage over the river.

In the spring of 1931 three of the new bridges were nearing completion—the Ringgold-Terrel bridge near Wichita Falls; another crossing the river north of Gainesville; and a third span between Denison and Durant, Okla.

By mid-summer the bridges were still not in use and Alfalfa Bill, long a champion of free bridges, grew impatient with the continued delay.

In spite of the fact that half of each bridge lay within the Texas borders, the Oklahoma governor ordered the bridges open. He was also conspicuously unimpressed with the fact that the Gainesville bridge was still under construction on the Texas side while the Denison free bridge had been ordered by the Federal Court in Houston not to open until settlement of certain legal disputes between the owners of the nearby toll bridge and the Texas Highway Commission.

Traffic, swelled by thousands of curious sightseers, began to flow across the bridges. Crossing the Gainesville bridge a large truck found the Texas side impassable, couldn't back off the bridge and so remained suspended over the Red River until morning.

The Ringgold-Terrel free bridge operated without incident.

At Denison, however, Alfalfa Bill's action defied both the State of Texas and the federal judiciary. Governor Ross S. Sterling promptly ordered the bridge closed. Texas Rangers rushed to the scene, ordered barriers rebuilt of heavy logs and beams to be guarded indefinitely.

Alfalfa Bill responded by throwing up a barrier across the Oklahoma side and ordered highway workers to plow up 200 feet of the road opposite declared the bridge under martial law.

The Texas legislature passed an urgent resolution exhorting representative Sam Rayburn to press for passage of Federal legislation aimed at breaking the deadlock. Meanwhile Gov. Murray moved troops to the Denison bridge and appeared in person from time to time to review his men, wearing a campaign hat and packing an old pistol.

After a few tense days, an uneasy truce was effected. By fall a flurry of legal actions were underway. The toll bridge company obtained an injunction against further interference with the operation of their bridge.

The Bridge War was brought to a final end when the toll bridge company's suit against the State of Texas was won by the state, represented by the late James V. Allred, then Attorney General.

So Texas had fought over practically all of her boundaries—with Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Old Mexico. But the most persistent and aggressive of the land biters had been the federal government.

Attorney General Will Wilson's present case with the Federal government is one more battle in a century old war to maintain Texas territory. "Will there be more? Probably so. Of one thing you can be certain, Texas will fight. By now, she knows how," Wilson emphasized.

Miss Williams

The all-expense Chicago trip she was awarded by the Simplicity Pattern Co. for rating tops in the Texas 4-H dress revue seemed a part of Annie Lou Williams' birthday celebration. The brown-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy N. Williams, of Raymondville, turned 18 Nov. 28.

The 38th National 4-H Club Congress she attended was held Nov. 23-Dec. 3. Here she also modeled her prize winning dress of blue wool. It featured a bateau neckline and belted tabs that criss-cross slightly above the waist in front.

The nine-year 4-H'er has held almost every office in the Community 4-H Club as well as several county, district and state posts, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Miss Williams is a senior honor student at Raymondville High school, where she is president of the student council.

Chevrolet has added a new 2-door coupe to its line and shipments to dealers are now under way. The new model of the rear-engine split front seat and a new roof design which impact car has the same basic dimensions as features a large sloping rear window.

Tops in Texas

Miss Blackmon

Achievement in a 4-H home economics project, produced 1959 state honors for Jorja Hue Blackmon, 19, of Shallowater.

The Texas winner, she attended the 38th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as the guest of Montgomery Ward.

A sophomore majoring in home economics at Texas Technological College, she won seven blue ribbons in dress revue during her 10-year 4-H career.

Miss Blackmon is Lubbock county council secretary and a junior leader. The Cooperative Extension Service judged her 4-H records.

4-H Winners In '59 Projects

Two 1959 project winning boys from Texas, both 17, attended the 38th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

They were G. C. Dean Jr., of Bishop, dairy project winner whose Chicago trip was provided by the Oliver Corporation, and Herky Killingsworth of Paducah, the state's best on 4-H entomology projects, who went to Chicago as guest of Hercules Powder Company.

Both have completed their 4-H work under direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

In eight years of club work Dean has earned nine trophies and 100 ribbons, including a number of grand and reserve championships.

Young Dean has fulfilled a dream of becoming president of the Bishop 4-H Club. He is a senior at Bishop High school.

Through his 4-H study young Killingsworth has become the Lone Star state's outstanding 4-H entomologist for 1959. He has done valuable work along this line for the Texas A & M College system. For two years he was a member of the winning Cottle county entomology team, placing fourth this year at the State Round-Up.

A junior at Paducah High school, Killingsworth has organized and is junior leader of an entomology club for younger girls and boys.

vests, I have waited upon its seasons, and always have I reaped what I have sown. While I delved I did not lose sight of the sky overhead. While I gathered its bread and meat for my body, I did not neglect to gather its bread and meat for my soul. I have climbed its mountains, roamed its forests, sailed its waters, crossed its deserts, felt the sting of its frosts, the oppression of its heats, the drench of its rains, the fury of its winds, and always have beauty and joy waited upon my goings and comings.

We may perhaps learn to deprive large masses of their gravity, and give them absolute levity, for the sake of easy transport. Agriculture may diminish its labour and double its produce; all diseases may by sure means be prevented or cured, not excepting even that of Old Age, and our lives lengthened at pleasure even beyond the antediluvian standard.

—Benjamin Franklin, 1780.

How prophetic, Dr. Franklin. We have done these things and exceeded your imaginations by far, everything excepting to deprive objects of their gravity, and our space people are working on that feverishly. But it staggers this little writer to realize Franklin thought of it more than 200 years before our scientists began to talk of it.
