by dalton

HERE IT IS the end of August already and I didn't do very many of the things I was going to do this summer. I simply don't understand where all the time went to.

First, there was the fence I was going to build around our tiny rent house. Our son lives in it, and we were going to fix it so we could give him one of our dogs. I was going to try to give him both of them. I like those dumb dogs, but they are a pain to keep fed, and besides, they mess up the yard by digging holes all over it and making trails where the grass won't grow, plus the usual way dogs have of messing up yards.

Anyway, I didn't get the fence built. I also didn't build a deck out back of the house as I had planned. I didn't fix the back gate. I didn't paint the storehouse. I didn't get any concrete poured where we have too much grass out front. There just didn't seem to be time enough this summer to do any of those things, and before we even knew it, the summer was gone.

I did manage to play in four tennis tournaments, take a two-week vacation, go swimming several times, ride a motorcycle quite a bit and join musical groups out of town for several programs. It was a tough summer, folks. After I got all those important things done, there was no time for any secondary projects. Except that I did replace the burned-out bulb in the yard light.

Next summer I need to get some of those other things done. My wife says if I don't, I'm going to be in more trouble than Sonny Keesee.

LYNN COUNTY commissioners and judge and other officials are always talking about how broke the county is and how they're watching every penny to be able to live within their budgets, and what happens?

Well, the county grew a watermelon on the courthouse lawn. It just grew there, and the caretaker took care of it until it got ripe. Last Friday they took it into the courthouse. Did they ask for bids on it and put the money into the county operating fund? Naw, they ate it. Several county employees took part in this shameful disposal of county property.

Next year if a watermelon grows on the courthouse lawn, we ought to form a taxpayers committee to guard it when it starts getting ripe. Sort of a Watch on the Rind.

Mrs. Downey was presented a corsage and asked to present the two scholarships given in Joe's name this year. Donations for the Joe Downey Memorial Scholarship may be sent to Tahoka Public Schools, Box 1230, Tahoka, Tx. 79373.

JOE DOWNEY

An article in the Odessa American July 26 featured the home canning work of 94-year-old H.B. Howell, a retired farmer who grew up in Tahoka where, he told American writer Kathy Porter, his earlier days of canning were just assisting his mother and sisters.

Back then, he said, canning "was a matter of self-survival" because there were no neighborhood grocery stores with shelves full of canned vegetables and fruits.

Today, he cans for the fun of it. "I have the time and the fruit and I like to do it." He says there is no comparison between home canned foods and store-bought.

Howell was born in Comanche County and reared in Tahoka, moving away several years ago.

Going Gets Bumpy On FM Road Plan In County

BY DALTON WOOD

A proposal by the Texas Highway Dept. to pave an 8 mile section of county road connecting FM 1317 and U.S. 380 west of Tahoka drew a crowd of 30 county residents to Lynn County Commissioners Court meeting Monday. The visitors all wanted the county to try to get the state to put the new paving somewhere else, where they said it would serve more people.

A few weeks ago, the state notified the county that some extra road construction funds had become available for use in this district, and that the state would, if it had enough money, do some farm-to-market road paving in the county. Although the state did not specifically say the road running north and south, called the Petty road, was the state's first priority, state highway officials did leave that impression.

Top Priority

County commissioners at that time approved that section of road in county Pct. 4 as the number one priority. At least two different groups of county residents, also from Pct. 4, appeared before commissioners Monday to try to get the top priority label shifted to other areas, with most favoring a 6-mile section of road running east and west 2 miles north and parallel to FM 211.

Spokesman for the group living on what later was labelled "the two-mile road" was Harlan Dean, who pointed out that 13 families live on that 6-mile section of road, that five of those miles are a mail route, and that school buses sometimes can't make the route because of bad weather and road conditions.

James Wuensche was spokesman for another group of 10 families living on a 4-mile stretch of unpaved north-south road about a mile and a half east of and parallel to U.S. 87, connecting FM 2192 and FM 211.

Explain Position

In both instances, commissioners listened attentively to the spokesmen and others who spoke out and explained their own position on designating the priority of the paving. Pct. 4 Commissioner E.R. Blakney told the group that the State Highway Dept. officials had indicated to the county commissioners that the State Highway Commission would not consider paving any road as close as two miles to another parallel road already paved.

"We told the engineer we would like for the two-mile road to be our first priority," Blakney said. "But he told us the highway commission in Austin (which has final say) would not consider it."

Dean and the others said they were told by THD District Engineer C.W. Nall in Lubbock in a meeting last week that he (Nall) would present their request to the state if the county commissioners made it their first priority.

"Another 6-mile stretch of road, called the "three-mile road" parallel to 211 and also to the two-mile road, apparently is favored by the state as the next road to be paved in the county sometime in the future. The county had therefore made this section of road a second priority, with some indication that it might be paved if paving the Petty road appeared too costly for the state to handle with available funds.

Nobody There

Wuensche pointed out, "there is nobody living on the Petty road," and Dean expressed the view of others in saying that "it's not that we're opposed to the paving where it has been suggested, but we feel that tax money should be spent where it will benefit the most people."

Commissioners and Judge Melvin Burks agreed with that as being a logical statement, but said the state has certain criteria about where it will put farm-to-market roads, and the two-mile road and the Wilson area road don't meet that criteria. They also said there is a danger that if the county tries to change priorities, the state could decide not to do any paving at all in Lynn County.

Bulldogs Go To Haskell For Workout

The Tahoka Bulldogs scrimmage Olney at Haskell this Friday night in a final tuneup against "outsiders" before opening the 1981 football season at Stanton Sept. 4.

Coach A.D. Shaver gave local fans a look at the Bulldog hopefuls in action in a scrimmage here against Morton Friday night, and although the Dog outscored Morton 6-2, Shaver was not too pleased with the team's performance.

"They looked pretty ragged for the most part," he said. Tahoka did score several times on passes. Morton scored twice on the goal line plays.

A better idea of what to expect should come against Olney, which returns seven starters, Shaver said. The scrimmage will begin at 5:30 p.m. in Haskell with the younger players, with the varsity scrimmage to follow.

Harvest Festival Helpers To Meet

Every citizen interested in helping with the annual Harvest Festival is invited to attend a meeting of the festival planning committee at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) in the Lyntegar Meeting room.

Plans for the annual event scheduled Oct. 3 are in motion, and once again there will be special features including a queen contest, a fair with baked goods and handmade items, booths all day and a special merchants promotion also is being planned.

Girls from New Home, Wilson and O'Donnell as well as Tahoka are encouraged to enter the Harvest Festival Queen Contest. Part of the funds raised from ticket sales by the girls in the contest will be used to pay for a special promotion planned this year—a trip to a Dallas Cowboys football game will be a prize offered in conjunction with the festival. "We especially invite participation of area towns in this festival," said a spokesman. "It is a county-wide event."

Officers Seeking Intruder In Home

A woman who lives northwest of O'Donnell frightened away an intruder by telling him she had a gun early Thursday morning after she awakened about 2:30 a.m. and discovered a man standing by her bed.

Mrs. Willie Mae Childress said the man did not speak, but when she told him she had a gun, he left. She then found the phone out of order and it later was discovered that phone lines had been cut outside the house.

Lynn County sheriff's office was investigating the report and had some leads to check out this week.

In jail during the week were two on traffic violation warrants and one on a theft by check warrant.

Tahoka Police Dept. answered a couple of family disturbance calls and a disturbance call for loud music. Also an 11 year-old girl was reported to have been bit by a neighbor's dog. She was taken to the hospital for observation and was treated and released. Louis Byrd Tuesday reported a torch had been stolen from a pickup belonging to AMS Blacksmith on N. 5th. Police also investigated a call involving some kids riding bicycles through fire in an alley and playing with fire.

Three tickets were issued for speeding or acceleration, one for impeding traffic, one for running a stop sign, one for illegal parking, one for expired license plates, and one for defective head and tail lights.

Police also investigated a report that someone had stolen some red gravel from a grave at the cemetery. It was found that the gravel had dissolved and melted away because of the rainfall.

New Home VFD Plans Barbecue

New Home Volunteer Fire Dept. will have its annual fund-raising barbecue at 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 5 in the FFA Show Barn at New Home.

The community-wide event will include entertainment by local talent. Price will be $4 per plate.

Look At Spending

With spending by various county departments being watched closely, commissioners called in Sheriff Stanley Krause to discuss the trend of spending in the sheriff's department, particularly in the area of travel, where expenses have been higher than the figure budgeted for the year.

With about $11,000 budgeted for travel for the entire year, and with four months left, more than $10,000 already has been spent. Krause explained that some other areas of the department budget will have surpluses that can help take care of the travel expense. He noted that cost of fuel has increased greatly this year.

He also said that the increased expenses go along with "about a 31 per cent increase in crime over the state," and said Lynn County crime is up by about the same ratio. He told the group that spending per month by his department has been cut back by about $1,000 in each of the last three months over the previous five months of the year, and that this trend, if continued, should prevent any total overspending by the department.

Krause also pointed out that the department is having to pay more for taking care of prisoners. The jail population is up from 1.9 per day last year to 3.1 this year.

Commissioners assured the sheriff that they don't want to cut any services offered by the department, and commended Krause for doing a good job. "It's just that we want to know the situation in any county department where there may be a budget problem," said one commissioner.

After County Tax Assessor George McCracken told the commissioners that taxes owed the county now delinquent total more than $100,000, the group voted to join with other taxing units (schools, and cities) in filing suits to collect delinquent taxes, on both real and personal property. Of the total $103,000 now delinquent, some for years past, McCracken said about $22,000 was personal property taxes not paid last year.

Commissioners indicated that legal action could lead to tax sales of property. Judge Burks said "It's not fair to those who pay their taxes to let others get away without paying them."

A resolution opposing any rate increase by Energas was passed, and the group also voted to allow Cliff Lambert, justice of the peace at O'Donnell, to move his office to his home.

All commissioners were present.

Automation Takes Dramatic Turn

The automated production line, pioneered in the U.S. and now a recognized part of industry world-wide, is undergoing some revolutionary changes, thanks to new industrial developments. That could mean better products and lower prices for consumers.

High precision pre-programmed robots can move with the sensitivity of a human hand while performing hundreds of assembly steps.

One of these industrial robots is the result of research and development of the Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. Ltd.

The robot, known as "Pana-Robo AW-1000" is making his appearance as a welder, painter, and assembler in auto, electronic, mechanical and other industries doing monotonous or dangerous jobs for workers.

The "Pana-Robo", a multi-joint fellow, has built-in micro computer. Programmed for a total of 600 steps, he can perform varieties of motions to meet the requirements for multiple product production in an assembly line.

Another industrial marvel is the CO₂ gas laser machine which allows precision cutting without actually touching the processing material.

The compact, high energy laser unit can machine any type of material as varied as metal, wood, rubber, cloth, plastics, ceramics and glass since the beam is not affected by electrical and magnetic properties of such substances. Hence, high-speed cutting, drilling, welding, heat treating, engraving and sealing all are possible.

These industrial work-horses, providing better products for consumers while freeing workers from monotonous or dangerous jobs, are truly an industrial revolution.

IDEAS HELPFUL INFORMATION

BUYING A NEW HOME

Many experts say the time to start finding a way to keep housing costs from going through the roof is before the walls are up. They recommend those walls be made of brick to save money on heating, cooling, insulation and maintenance—and, if you want to make money when the time comes to sell your home.

Brick walls reduce heat loss in winter and heat gain in summer. That means savings on fuel and insulation materials.

According to the Brick Institute of America, long term savings on brick homes can be considerable. A recent survey in Atlanta, Georgia, showed the cost to repaint or restain wood siding runs an average $712.25 every four years. The upkeep for brick, on the other hand, is virtually zero. Insurance costs for brick homes run from 10 to 15 percent less than wood because brick is fireproof and prevents flames from spreading to adjacent structures. Brick veneer is 16% more efficient than wood siding for reducing heat loss and an amazing 108% more efficient in controlling heat gain, representing important savings in heating and cooling bills.

Brick, it seems, can help keep homeowners from going broke.

And unlike most building materials, brick doesn't get older, it gets better. Real estate appraisal handbooks show that brick homes have costs for brick homes run a two to five percent higher resale value after 20 years than wood because brick is fireproof and prevents other materials.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—The 67th Texas Legislature responded to the need for proper disposal laws regarding low-level radioactive waste by passing three bills addressing these needs during its regular session.

Legislation sets more stringent guidelines for the storage, processing and ultimate disposal of low-level radioactive wastes in Texas. The agency with jurisdiction over disposal activities, the Texas Department of Health, is given a legislative directive to adopt stronger rules and regulations based on specific siting criteria to assure all proper environmental safeguards are considered before a license is granted for the disposal of radioactive wastes.

Legislation increases the membership of the Radiation Advisory Board by adding representatives from the nuclear industry, the general public, and the medical sector. Wastes from uranium mining activities called uranium mill tailings, are regulated under the legislation through the Health Department.

An act creating the Texas Low-Level Waste Disposal Authority also gives jurisdiction over site selection, preparation, construction, operation, maintenance, decommissioning, closing and financing of disposal sites. The intent of the bill is to provide for disposal in Texas of low-level radioactive waste generated in Texas, assuring the timely access to disposal facilities to generators of low-level waste, such as hospitals, research laboratories, nuclear power plants, and industry.

Other legislation that effects energy provides that during the planning phase of the proposed construction of a new state building, the State Purchasing and General Services Commission shall determine the economic feasibility of incorporating solar energy devices for space heating, cooling water, heating, and interior lighting into the building's design and proposed energy system.

This Legislature has also transferred the authority to issue a permit to manufacture industrial alcohol from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission to the Railroad Commission.

Paprika is one of the most concentrated sources of Vitamin C.

July Prices Up For Main Crops

AUSTIN—Average prices received by farmers and ranchers in Texas were higher for most major crop commodities in July, but meat and poultry prices were lower. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service statistics for the June 15-July 15 period show that along with better average prices for crops, interest rates, taxes, and farm wages were higher. Brown said.

The corn average was up a few cents from June to $3.52 per bushel, sorghum up a nickel to $5.14, and wheat down a penny to $3.63 from June prices. Soybeans sold a few cents higher at $6.31 per bushel.

Upland cotton increased slightly to 64.5 cents per pound, but cottonseed dropped $2 to $117 per ton.

The large hay crop this year brought on lower prices, from $73.50 last year to $68 per ton in July. June 1981 prices had an average of $76.50.

Beef prices continued the slide... from $65.50 per hundredweight in June to $50.30 in July. Hog prices moved up to $48, and lambs remained the same at $64.50 per hundred. Eggs moved up in price to 72.6 cents per dozen, but broilers slipped to 29.5 cents per pound. Mohair was 40 cents higher at $4.50; wool stayed at $1.40 per pound.

Family Land Program Deadline Extended

The deadline for filing applications for the Family Land Heritage Program has been extended to August 31. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

The program honors those who have maintained continuous agricultural production on the same land for at least 100 years. For information write the Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Thirteen of fifteen authorized Texas cotton interest organizations caucused in Dallas August 18 and selected a total of 21 State cotton producers, 14 of them from the High Plains, to fill positions or serve as alternates in three national cotton industry groups.

The High Plains was represented at the caucus by Gary Ivey of Ralls, current President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

Three members and three alternates were named to succeed themselves as directors to Cotton Incorporated (CI), the national cotton producers' fiber company which conducts research and market development programs under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act of 1966.

Renamed to the CI board as directors and alternates, respectively, were Donnell Echols of Lamesa and Don Marble of South Plains; J.D. Smith of Sudan and Gerald Caswell of Brownfield; L.C. Unfred, Tahoka, and Cliff Hoelscher of St. Lawrence.

Four members and four alternates were nominated for two openings on the Cotton Board, the administrative body responsible for collection of producer assessments, refunds, project approval and general oversight of the CI program. The Secretary of Agriculture is required by law to appoint two of the four "pairs" submitted by interest organizations.

Dan Davis and PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, both of Lubbock, were nominated as first choices for member and alternate, respectively, to fill one Cotton Board position. S.M. True of Plainview and Reed Lang of Rio Honda were nominated as second choices for member and alternate in that same position. Mike Burkholder of Pecos and Jack Young of Stamford were nominated as first choices for member and alternate, respectively, and B.H. DeBusk of Anson and Jim Bob Curry of Hale Center were submitted as second choices for member and alternate in the other open position.

Three producer delegates and three alternates were elected to the National Cotton Council (NCC), the industry's seven-segment research, promotion and service organization.

Named NCC delegates and alternates, respectively, were PCG Board Chairman Joe D. Unfred of New Home and Ben Simmons of Idalou; Myrl Mitchell of Lenora and Bert Williams of Farwell, and Wilbert Braden of St. Lawrence and Rusty Andrews of Brownfield.

In addition to PCG, eight other regional cotton producer organizations and the Texas Farm Bureau took part in the naming of producer delegates to the National Cotton Council. All of these, plus American Cotton Growers, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas Cotton Growers Cooperative, Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers and Cotton Pool, Inc. are certified by the Secretary of Agriculture as interest organizations for the nomination of Cotton Board members and the selection of CI board members.

Cotton Pool, Inc. and Texas Cotton Growers Cooperative were the two groups not represented at the caucus.

NEWSWORTHY TRENDS

If you're light-skinned, a redhead or a blonde, you may get more than a tan from overexposure to the sun.

Over a period of many years, too much exposure to the sun may cause a condition called solar keratoses. Left untreated, it can develop into skin cancer, the most common form of cancer among people.

Although particularly prevalent in the sunbelt states, this condition can develop no matter where you are. It often affects people whose jobs require them to work long hours in the sun—farmers and fishermen, for example.

The symptoms include red, scaly patches, usually on the hands and face. Any one with such symptoms should see a doctor. Only a doctor can properly diagnose and treat solar keratoses. Doctors have a prescription drug cream and solution, developed by Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., that is often prescribed with good results for people who have solar keratoses.

If you must stay in the sun, protect your skin properly!

If you think you have solar keratoses, or any other skin problem, it's a good idea to see your doctor.

Short Tells Of Stronger Penalties

According to State Sen. E.L. Short, "If stronger penalties serve as deterrents, then farmers, ranchers, and general property owners won a big battle with the recent passage of legislation in the 67th State Legislative Session.

Short also stated that weekend hunters should also be extremely careful and be aware of the new legislation which carries increased penalties for trespassing on private property.

The legislation, which redefines criminal trespassing, raises the punishment of trespassing from a Class C Misdemeanor to a Class B Misdemeanor. A Class C Misdemeanor is punishable by a $200 fine, with no jail sentence, while a Class B conviction carries a $1000 fine, with up to 180 day jail sentence, or both.

Short said that under the new legislation, trespassers could be subject to prosecution if they fail to recognize signs posted by property owners on the property or at the entrance. Short stated further, "This could well mean the existence of an electric fence, or any enclosure designed for the containment of livestock."

Short concluded by stating, "If a person carries a gun or any deadly weapon on or about his person during any illegal entry, his punishment, upon conviction, would be raised from a Class B Misdemeanor to a Class A Misdemeanor. And a Class A Misdemeanor is punishable to a maximum of $2,000, or a year in jail, or both."

General George A. Custer ranked last in his West Point graduating class of 1861.

Scoggin, who will serve next year as assistant scoutmaster to the troop, was required to earn 21 merit badges in areas including camping skills, communications skills and first aid to win the Eagle award.

Scoutmaster for Troop 576 is John Logan.

OLDER DOGS MAKE TERRIFIC PETS

You can't teach an old dog new tricks—or can you?

Pet experts say that older dogs can make ideal pets for youngsters, senior citizens and working people. And, like pups, they can be more than eager to please and love their owners.

Mature pets also can offer many added bonuses:

- They are housebroken.
- They already have learned good obedience habits.

- They are full-grown, thereby giving a family a better idea of how much space they will need.
- They can better adjust to the needs and personalities of different family members.

Because they're often more relaxed, older pets can make gentle companions. That's because they are apt to sleep, rather than play, while their owner is away.

Banvel herbicide can beat any bindweed it tangles with.

When it comes to controlling bindweed and tough perennial weeds, nothing offers the advantages of Banvel® herbicide.

Every year, perennial weed problems such as bindweed, blueweed, lakeweed and silverleaf nightshade become more of a problem—proof that past control measures have not been doing their job. Turn to Banvel herbicide to stop spreading perennial weed problems.

An application of Banvel herbicide after harvest kills tough perennial weeds before they can go into winter remission. Banvel tackles bindweed and other perennial weeds on stubble... fallow or other cropland.

You can apply Banvel this season—and still return land to production on schedule. (See the Banvel label for application rates and instructions.)

Bindweed, blueweed, lakeweed and silverleaf nightshade need not take over your fields. Check its proven results... check its reasonable cost... And you'll ask for Banvel herbicide.

INSUR-MATION
By PAT GREEN
Lynn County Farm Bureau

For the first time we've moved from one state to another, and are a little concerned, among other things, about insurance. What differences in coverage can we expect? For the most part, the differences you'll run into from one state to another are not those of coverage, but of wording, and the forms various insurance policies will take. All 50 states have their own rules and regulations concerning insurance. It is possible to be confronted by fifty apparently different policies. However, the same type policy will do, basically, the same thing, offering similar coverages and benefits as those in your home state. The best move is to consult a local insurance agent, let him examine your current policies, and explain to you the similarities and differences.

4-H GARDENS PRODUCE
BONIFUL HARVEST

Growing vegetables involves more than just planting seeds and watching plants grow. Aside from routine chores like weeding, watering and fighting bugs, there are other matters to deal with, including thinning, transplanting and deciding what to do with all the goodies once they start ripening.

4-H members in gardening, entomology and food preservation projects conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service combine study with actual hands-on experiences, points out Brent Drennan, county Extension 4-H program leader.

Good planning precedes planting in the garden and is essential to achieving overall satisfying results.

The national 4-H gardening program, supported by the Ortho Consumer Products Division Chemical Co., encourages members to submit soil samples for analysis, learn insect and weed control methods, mulch and irrigation techniques, seedbed preparation and seed selection and planting.

The national 4-H entomology program, supported by Moby Chemical Corp., Agricultural Chemicals Division, teaches 4-H members to recognize garden pests and learn methods of eradicating insects that are harmful to fruits and vegetables.

Be sure to use insect and disease controls as directed by state and federal agencies.

A bountiful garden offers several alternatives for use of crops. Aside from enjoying fresh vegetables, members in the national 4-H food preservation program, sponsored by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Co., lengthen enjoyment of their crops through canning, freezing and drying.

Program guidelines are these:

- Preserve only what you can use within a single year. While the food will remain safe to eat after that, quality may deteriorate.
- Use only fresh-picked produce in prime condition—neither too green nor too ripe.
- Label and date each container, taking care to use the oldest items first.

4-H members in gardening and food preservation programs enjoy first-hand the special fresh, out-of-the-garden flavor of their home-grown fruits and vegetables. Further, they can save money, earn money by selling their crops at roadside stands, and help meet special dietary needs and family preferences all year long.

Medals of honor are awarded to four members in each program from each county.

COTTON TODAY

USDA PROPOSES .60 USER FEE:

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has proposed that the user fee for cotton classing services under Smith-Doxey be set at .60 per bale, beginning Oct. 1. Authority for user fees is contained in the omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1981 signed by President Ronald Reagan recently. The proposal to set the fee at .60 rather than the earlier anticipated higher level of $1. followed discussions with key Administration officials by Rep. William Thomas (R-Calif.) and others over the continued concern that a higher initial fee would adversely affect the classing system. In announcing the proposal, USDA also indicated that the user fee may be adjusted up or down based on experience gained in operating the program. Classing facilities will maintain separate accounts for each participating producer, and periodic billings will be scheduled as closely as possible with the monthly statement cycle.

EPA APPROVES COTTON GROWTH TERMINATOR

In the food preservation program, one member will earn an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago. In the gardening and entomology programs, one 4-H'er from each state earns a $75 U.S. Savings Bond, and 18 sectional winners in gardening and 16 in entomology are eligible also for trips to Congress. During Congress, national winners in each program are recognized and receive $1,000 scholarships.

More information on these and other 4-H programs is available at the county Extension office, says Drennan.

TESTS: EPA has approved a petition for an experimental use permit and temporary tolerance for testing two chemicals for pink bollworm management. They would be used in combination to terminate cotton fruiting near harvest time. Such chemicals also may have some potential in management of other cotton insect pests. Development and submission of the petition followed a recommendation by the National Cotton Council's Pink Bollworm Action Committee chaired by Jack G. Stone, a Stratford, Calif., grower. Velsicol Chemical Corp., EM Laboratories, USDA, and the University of California operated in the joint effort leading to the approval of experimental use on a limited number of farms.

RISE IN WORLD COTTON USE SEEN: The U.S. Department of Agriculture has forecast that world cotton consumption will hit a record 67.5 million bales in the 1981-82 season. This would be an increase of 1.6 million bales over the 1980-81 season. Asian cotton consumption is seen at 44.2 million bales, with Chinese consumption at a record 15.8 million. In Western Europe, consumption is estimated at 5.4 million. The Department forecast U.S. cotton consumption at 6.2 million bales, up 400,000 from 1980-81.

U.S. Farmers
Best In World
Gunter Says

"No country in the world can touch the United States in agricultural production," stated Bill Gunter, Lubbock District Leader of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Gunter reviewed the progress of agricultural education from the Civil War days when few farmers had more than a sixth grade education. For 100 years American farmers planted the same cotton. Agricultural engineering, equipment and other farming ideas were borrowed from Europe.

Then, in 1864, Senator Moral and President Lincoln were responsible for the act making possible Land Grant Colleges, where agriculture would be taught, and military training given.

Experiment stations were set up to develop better crops, seeds, and livestock. Such an experiment station was opened at Lubbock in 1914.

The Smith-Lever Act of 1914, initiated the Extension Service, county farm and home demonstration agents to work with farmers in bringing to them new ideas.

American production of grain, fiber, and meats today enables our nation to help maintain the very important balance of payments in world trade, the speaker said.

Bill Gunter, reared at O'Donnell, was a 4-H club boy there, later graduated from Texas A&M, received a masters degree in agriculture from Texas Tech, joined the Extension Service, and

Field Day
Planned Sept. 8

Tahoka cotton and grain sorghum, dominant crops of the South Plains will share the spotlight with grapes during the 72nd annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, Lynn County Agent Stanley M. Young reports.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center just north of the Lubbock International Airport is host this year, Young said.

The center in Lubbock is on FM #294 just east of I-27 at the Shallowater exit. Tours will begin at 1 p.m. and end at 5 p.m., on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Five major displays are planned on the tours of the research plots and facilities of the center. Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist at the center and field day chairman, said they will show research being conducted on grapes, cotton and grain sorghum; the development of drought resistant cottons and sorghums; weed control; bollworm research and the ongoing cotton improvement program.

Grassland

The Grassland community will have a reunion Sunday, Oct. 25 at the Grassland Community Center. Southern Seas will be catering the noon meal for a charge of $5.41 per plate.

If you plan to attend please remit $5.41 for each plate by Sept. 15 to C.W. Roberts, Box 937, Tahoka, Tex. 79373.

All residents and former residents of Grassland community are invited to attend.

DPS Ready

Traffic Crush

The Labor Day holiday will be the last holiday of the summer. While the drivers of Texas are making their road plans, the Texas Department of Public Safety is preparing for "Operation Motorcade."

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, stated, "Operation Motorcade will be in effect from 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 4 until 11:59 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 7. During that time all available D.P.S. Troopers will be on duty. These troopers have been instructed to be on the alert and direct the enforcement efforts toward those violators causing the most accidents—speeders and those who drive while drinking."

Active participation by the public has permitted the Social Security Administration to uncover many areas of fraud against the government.

Many citizens who commit, or attempt to commit fraud do not look at the Social Security Administration as having capability for taking persons accused of fraud to Federal Court.

However, in the last six months - January through June of 1981 - no fewer than 358 cases have been referred to SSA's fraud investigators in Dallas. Sixty additional cases are pending prospective decisions in U.S. Attorney's offices throughout the Dallas Region.

Since Jan. 1, 1981, forty-six cases have been referred to U.S. Attorneys for prosecution, fifteen others have resulted in criminal conviction.

Recovery of more than one half million dollars has been accomplished by court actions, refunded agreements, and administrative withholding.

The government is actively seeking out those who would take advantage of program funds to which they are not entitled. Because of the voluntary assistance of citizens in reporting potential fraud to the government, our job of discovering and investigating is much easier.

Sherry Etheredge Says.....

School is here! Here are some ideas for school lunches. If you would like a copy of leaflets: "Food Safety for the Family - Keep Food Hot, Cold, Clean" and "Safe Brown Bag Lunches", call the Extension office at 998-4650 and leave your name and address and the information will be sent to you.

When kids come home from school with cramps, diarrhea, vomiting, fever, the tendency is to dismiss it as just "a bug that's going around." Or when you miss a couple of days work with the same symptoms, you figure you merely "caught something somewhere." But the bug you caught - or that caught you - may well have been food poisoning. And you might have sent the bug to school or work in that innocent brown bag lunch.

Q. What is the real key to packing a safe "Brown bag" lunch?
A. Very simply; good sensible sanitation, personal hygiene, and sound food care. Following a few simple, easy precautions now will save you and your family a lot of grief later. First, cook food thoroughly. If it's meant to be hot, keep it hot. If it's meant to be cold, keep it cold. Bacteria thrive at temperatures between 60 degrees and 125 degrees F (15 and 52 C). Food should not be held in this temperature zone for more than two or three hours, counting preparation time. Second, keep utensils and countertops used in preparing lunches clean. Wash them thoroughly with soap and hot water. The same goes for your hands. If you have cuts or sores, use rubber gloves. Also, wash vacuum bottles and rinse them in boiling water after each use. In short, keep hot foods hot, cold foods cold, and everything clean. Use tongs or a fork to place meat, poultry or cheese in the sandwich, not your fingers. Fingers spread bacteria.

Q. How can I keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold?
A. The familiar vacuum bottle is a good way to keep certain kinds of food hot or cold. There are several other ways to keep food cold until you're ready to eat. Ideally, you should put your lunch in the refrigerator - if you have one. If not, put a cold device into the lunch bag: a commercial gel, a plastic margarine tub filled with water and frozen, a plastic bag filled with ice cubes, or a can of cold beverage.

Or you might try freezing certain types of sandwiches though you may experience some loss in quality. Frozen sandwiches thaw in time for lunch and also help keep the rest of the lunch cool until then. One other thing to remember... letting your lunch sit in a warm place (such as on top of a radiator or in the sun) lets bacteria grow at will. The longer it sits, the greater the potential for problems.

Q. What kinds of meat and poultry products are best for "brown bag" lunches?
A. Dry meats, such as beef jerky and pepperoni, are safe. Canned meats and poultry products, opened and eaten immediately, are a good bet (if the can is sealed and not bulged or severely dented.) Fully cooked meats - such as franks, corned beef, salami, and bologna - usually keep very well. In fact, almost any meat or poultry can be used if it's cooked and handled properly.

Q. Are special precautions needed with fruits and vegetables?
A. Just be sure they're clean and well scrubbed.

Q. Should I use a lunchbox instead of paper bag?
A. That's a good idea. Lunchboxes, especially insulated ones, hold the cold much better than paper bags. Plus, a box is easy to keep clean and sanitary. If you do use the familiar "brown bags," however, buy them specifically for lunches and use them once. Don't use bags in which you bring home leftover lunches, groceries, or other items because of possible insect infestation or contamination from food leakage.

Q. How would I know if I have food poisoning?
A. You wouldn't, without thorough medical tests. But if you have a severe headache, diarrhea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and fever after eating, there's a pretty good chance the culprit is food poisoning. Because their symptoms are similar, "flu" and food poisoning are often mistaken for each other. Food poisoning is rarely fatal but may affect infants and elderly persons severely. If you get sick, ask your doctor about the possibility of food poisoning. The important thing to remember is - why take chances? You can prevent food poisoning.

Here is a good idea for lunches or snacks:

LOWER SONORAN EXHIBIT--Visitors to Living Desert State Park in Carlsbad, N.M., will explore the park's new Lower Sonoran exhibit.

New Aviary Popular With Carlsbad Visitors

Carlsbad, N.M.--Visitors to the Sonoran desert walk-through aviary at Living Desert State Park here are enjoying the experience of walking among the birds, says Park Manager Dean Ricer.

The new aviary is less than a year old and Ricer says the facility is already "very popular with visitors."

The $16,000 aviary features plants and birds native to the warm Sonoran desert, located in southern Arizona and northern Mexico.

Living Desert State Park itself opened in 1971 and contains exhibits of over 1,000 cacti and perhaps the most complete collection of southwestern desert and mountain animals in the nation.

allowing visitors to see such cacti as Saguaro, organ pipe and barrel, jojoba plants, Washington palms and acacia and palo verde trees.

The entire park has large interpretive signs for both plant and animal exhibits. They are written in English and Spanish.

Visitors to the park leave the entry building and wind their way along paved paths bordered with rare and common cacti to animal exhibits containing American bison, antelope, bear, otter, and prairie dogs, to name a few.

In another building, visitors see something that gives most people goosebumps: it's a collection of reptiles including several varieties of rattlesnakes, lizards and Gila monsters.

feet the highest point in Texas, is located in the park. McKittrick Canyon contains a rushing stream and is home to both broad-leaved and conifer trees, cactus and succulents.

Carlsbad itself is known for its hospitality and its modern hotels, motels and restaurants.
