

Parents Seek Court Order To Reverse Forfeit

PLANE CRASHES ON HIGHWAY--This spray plane crashed Saturday morning on U.S. 87 at the south edge of Tahoka as pilot Don Mark Wuensche, 25, of Wilson, tried to land on the highway in high winds after the plane ran out of fuel. The plane hit a concrete embankment near the south overpass and skidded about 100 yards. Wuensche was treated for minor injuries and released at Lynn County Hospital. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Parents of Tahoka Bulldog football players this week hired an attorney to bring suit against the district executive committee of the University Interscholastic League and to seek a restraining order reversing the committee's ruling that Tahoka must forfeit all football games played before last week.

The committee had ruled a player from Tahoka and one from Slaton ineligible because of the way in which the state UIL committee has interpreted a rule applying to special education students. With both schools having to forfeit all games, including two district contests each, neither has a chance to win district unless the ruling is reversed.

More than 100 persons met with the Tahoka school board in the school cafeteria Monday night to hear a complete explanation of what brought about the decision. After the school board meeting was adjourned, the group present engaged the firm of Huffaker and Green to bring action in district court.

Parents of Tahoka Bulldog football players this week hired an attorney to bring suit against the district executive committee of the University Interscholastic League and to seek a restraining order reversing the committee's ruling that Tahoka must forfeit all football games played before last week.

Principle Jim Marcus said he had received a letter from the UIL regarding the student's status and had answered it with the notation that he was a fulltime vocational student and therefore was eligible. He later received a phone call from Dr. Bill Farney, director of athletics for UIL, who said that another UIL rule took precedence over the one specifically written for vocational students. The rule to which Farney referred says every student must take more than one subject in the previous semester.

After Coulston reported he had just returned from Austin and had been told there was no appeal within the UIL framework, attorney Calloway Huffaker spoke to the group, saying he had been contacted by several parents and also members of the school board and asked to check into the legal possibilities of the situation.

Huffaker first said that the school board would not be in a good legal position to sue the UIL because the school is part of the UIL, having joined in and agreeing thereby to abide by its rules and interpretations. In effect, he said, they would be suing themselves. He said, however, that parents of the youth involved and parents of other members of the football team could possibly bring action, against the district committee and against the Tahoka school board, to try to keep them from implementing the penalty until the question of eligibility is determined by the courts.

The attorney told the group about what the legal fees would be, and after the Slaton group present said they would split the cost if Slaton could be included in the legal action, the money was raised.

Team Grateful

team present expressed appreciation of the support of the team evidenced at the meeting.

Huffaker indicated that a restraining order possibly could be issued--or denied--as early as Friday, and fans and players left the meeting with the knowledge that there is at least a chance that the team still can represent district in the playoffs.

Slaton and Tahoka play each other Friday night, with the loser to have much less of a chance to represent district even if the results of earlier games should stand. If no games are forfeited, Slaton is now 2-0-1 in district and Tahoka is 3-0. Tahoka's last game is against Roosevelt and Slaton still must face Post.

Veterans Day 1981 will be observed on Wednesday, Nov. 11, and the Veterans Administration is urging all Americans to commemorate the day by participating in their local community's observance.

Dogs Dump Cooper, Face Slaton Next

By DALTON WOOD

The Tahoka Bulldogs finally overcame the Cooper Pirates 27-6 here last Friday night for the first official win of the year for the Dogs, who had to forfeit the seven previous games because of an ineligible player.

This week the Dogs will go to Slaton, which also had to forfeit the first seven games.

Last year Slaton knocked Tahoka out of the playoff picture with a last-second touchdown bomb after the Bulldogs apparently had it won.

Slaton has a potent passing attack led by Quarterback Kelly Cook, son of the Tigers' coach, Ed Cook. Last week Slaton beat Roosevelt 21-0.

Tahoka actually has won seven out of eight games this season, having lost only to Dalhart 14-13.

Friday night Cooper, which had lost 37-0 to Slaton, but won the game on a forfeit, showed a stronger than usual defensive team and that, coupled with Tahoka's understandable lack of enthusiasm after last week's UIL ruling, made a game of it for three quarters. The score was in fact tied 6-6 at the end of three.

The first quarter was scoreless, with Garland Gaddy recovering a fumble for Cooper and Roddy Williams getting one for Tahoka. In the second quarter Tahoka put together an 80-yard drive to score, featuring runs of 23 yards by halfback Danny Thompson, 11 by James Wells and 15 by fullback Johnny Alvarado. Thompson made the TD from the three and after a pass for points failed, Tahoka led 6-0.

In the third Cooper made a short drive to knot the game as quarterback Shawn Sampley burst 9 yards through the middle with 3:22 left in the third. The snap was bobbled on the point try.

Tahoka drove 64 yards after the kickoff to go ahead for good early in the fourth as Willie Ray Mitchell ran a yard for a TD. On the point try, the Pirates' Glenn Bukemper burst through to stop a run before it got started.

On the Bulldogs' next possession, Thompson capped a drive by running 23 yards for a touchdown, and Alvarado ran for two points to make it 20-6. The Dogs added a final score on a 1-yard dive by Thompson after a 35-yard pass interference penalty gave Tahoka the ball at the Cooper 4.

Junior quarterback Tony Garcia, starting his first game, completed 3 of 8 passes for 36 yards. Senior QB Mark Hudin suffered a broken leg in the Freshman game.

Thompson gained 134 yards in 20 carries. Alvarado had 82 yards in 14 tries. Wells 60 yards in only 6 carries and Mitchell 46 in 10 attempts. On defense, linebacker Jeff Jennings, Wells and lineman Bob Mimms, who also recovered a fumble, did good work. Wells intercepted a pass.

For Cooper, Bukemper, Gaddy and tackle Todd Kitten did well on defense. The Pirates now are 1-2 in district and 2-6 for the year.

THS Band Students Win High Ratings

Last Saturday, the THS Drum Line and Color Guard traveled to Big Spring for the annual South West Auxiliary Championships.

Areas of competition were twirling, drum major, drum lines, flag lines, rifle lines, color guards, solos, duets, and ensembles.

Those receiving first divisions were Kimberly McMillian, flag, and Jennifer Ehlers, twirling. Jennifer was one of 15 out of 53 that received a 1. Those receiving second divisions were Tracy Draper, flag; Dusty Cook, flag; Denise Ehlers, flag; Delia Torres, flag; Ronald Webster, flag; and Jerry Cazares, rifle. Ronald Webster received a third division in drum major competition.

A bell ensemble consisting of Katy Hays, Dawn Pierce and Ronald Webster received a first division and was named outstanding percussion ensemble of the show. They received a very large plaque.

The order of placing for line competitions was as follows: rifle line, 8th of 9; flag line, 12th of 16; drum line 9th of 10, and color guard 5th of 5.

WOODWORK
by dalton

TAHOKA HIGH SCHOOL Supt. Jim Coulston stopped me the other night and said "Did you hear? We won a big percussion plaque last weekend."

"A what?" I asked. And he said it again: "Percussion."

I thought a percussion was what you get when you fall on your head, but he seemed to think it was something great, so I didn't say that. Then I remembered that a percussionist is somebody who beats something with a stick (my wife qualifies since our dog chewed up the rose bushes).

Anyway, the plaque was won by a group of Tahoka High School band students in competition with some folks from schools a lot larger than THS, including some Class AAAAA band Students. The winners of the trophy from Tahoka didn't win on drums either. They make music on bells, instruments which are made out of little pieces of wood that go ding and bong very nicely when struck in the right places at the right times.

The fact that the THS band director, Milton Fox, is himself a percussionist surely helped the students to learn how to do it better than anybody else around. The three young persons who won the trophy are to be congratulated along with two who earned Division I ratings in twirling and flags, and also the entire band which is doing so well this year.

Our unbeatable beaters are not perfect, however. They drove off and left the plaque at Big Spring.

COTTON FARMERS mostly like what they are doing, says a report just released by Cotton Inc., which surveyed a bunch of farmers. Maybe they do, but you'd never know it by talking to some of them. The report also said that farmers pray more regularly than the general public, which figures, and that a higher percentage of farmers than the general public has college educations.

KNOTHOLES in the Woodwork: Stamps are like foreign cars. They're getting smaller and more expensive all the time... In spite of the high cost of postage, we still get lots of mail. Readers Digest sends me six new numbers every two or three weeks, without mentioning what they did with the six numbers I mailed back the last time. They send you so much junk that if I ever do win anything, the check will probably be in one of the envelopes I threw away....Next Wednesday is Veterans Day, and about the only meaning it will have around here may be that the bank and postoffice will be closed. Veterans Day started Nov. 11, 1918, and anybody who can remember that day probably needs a holiday.

City Hears Request To Block Off Streets

The City Council of Tahoka Monday night heard a request from Taylor Tractor to close access to certain streets in the city. Also discussed were the possible sale of city land for industrial development, and the subject of collection of delinquent taxes.

Sammy Sims and Monte Dodson of Taylor Tractor proposed to councilmen to close access to the street directly south and S. 1st along the U.S. 87 bypass. Fencing off the areas would reduce the possibility of thefts and vandalism, according to Dodson and also for safety reasons. Keys would be provided to utility companies to sliding gates for access. The council said they would take the request under consideration. According to Mayor Mel Leslie, the only way a street can be closed to the public is in the public interest, so everyone

Post, Slaton No Longer In District

New football district alignments for next year were announced this week and nearby rivals Post and Slaton no longer will be in District 4-AAA, having been moved to District 3 with Floydada, Idalou and others.

Replacing Post and Slaton in 4-AAA will be Denver City and Seminole, who will join Roosevelt, Frenship, Cooper and Tahoka.

In addition to the five district games at the end of the season, Tahoka will continue to play Post and Slaton in non-conference games, dropping Dalhart and Balingier. The Dogs will open with Stanton, then will play in order, Slaton, Coahoma, Plains and Post before district.

agreed that a legal opinion from the City Attorney would be necessary to pursue the matter.

Also discussed was the possible sale of city land for industrial development. A large national assembly line manufacturing plant is reportedly planning to find a new site location in a West Texas city with a population of under 5,000. The only communication has been through SPAG. The name of the company is unknown; however 10 acres of land would be needed for the operation and access to city roads for an 80,000 sq. ft. plant. It was believed that an industry of this size would create 100 new jobs.

It was brought to the Council's attention that a large number of delinquent taxes have not been paid in Tahoka. A discussion was made to consider the idea of publishing the names of those persons in the Lynn County News who are delinquent in paying their taxes. Taxes become delinquent after July 1 of each year.

RAFB Fire Chief Speaks, Will Return

Chief Bob J. Hitch, fire chief of Reese Air Force Base, was guest speaker Monday night at a meeting of Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept., telling firemen about proper procedures related to removing pilots at plane crash sites.

Hitch explained that care must be taken in removing a pilot from a crashed jet plane because of the ejection seat mechanism which could hurl the pilot out if accidentally activated.

The chief will speak again at 7 p.m. Nov. 16 at the Lyntegar building, with Lyntegar and Peka-Lambro personnel and the general public especially invited. Farmers and others who work outside in areas where planes might crash are urged to attend.

Loss Heavy In Burglaries

Two more burglaries in rural areas of the county were investigated by Lynn County sheriff's office during the last week, with the biggest loss being $1,050 worth of tools from a workshop near the Lakeview community.

Kenneth Timmons, Rt. 4, Tahoka, is owner of the workshop two miles south and one west of Lakeview. Taken sometime over the weekend were tools including saws, wrenches, router and a grinder.

The home of Herbert Huff, five miles east and one north of Tahoka, was burglarized after a lock was pried off the door, officers were told Sunday. Missing were a Zenith black and white TV set and a small radio, total value of both about $180.

In county jail during the week were one person for forgery and one for public intoxication.

Cotton Farmers Mostly Like Their Jobs, Study Shows

BRIDGE WINNERS

Last week's T-Bar Tuesday Bridge winners were: Mrs. Clint Walker and Mrs. Margie Maddox, first; Mrs. H.B. McCord Jr. and Mrs. Auda Norman, second; and Mrs. Bill Barham and Mrs. Alta Thomas, third.

THURSDAY DUPLICATE

A Swiss team game was played with Mabel Gurley, Mac Edwards, Alta Thomas and Mildred LeMond winning. Next Thursday will be regular play at 1 p.m.

The first comprehensive, scientific study of the contemporary American cotton producer, just released by Cotton Incorporated, documents the transformation of farming into a progressive, sophisticated business enterprise and describes the impact this has had on life and work patterns of today's farmers.

Farmers have adapted to technological advances far better than their industrial counterparts in business and industry while still maintaining their enthusiasm for the private enterprise system and traditional values. Today, nearly a third of those surveyed consider themselves primarily businessmen or managers rather than farmers.

The success of the agricultural community in the face of difficult economic times and accelerated change is mirrored in the 600% increase in productivity among individual cotton farm workers since 1967, and the high level of job satisfaction expressed by the farming population.

The report finds farmers today particularly innovative and growth-oriented. In the past decade, 48% of those surveyed increased the acreage they own, 51% increased the acreage they rent, and 58% increased their investment in farm machinery.

Phone Interviews

Although a number of the study observations have been isolated previously by social scientists and journalists, this survey, "The Cotton Incorporated Report On Changes in American Agriculture: A Case Study of Cotton Producers", is the first to explore scientifically who the people on America's farms are, what they are doing to prosper and how they differ from the rest of the nation. It is based on telephone interviews with a sample of 461 cotton and 100 non-cotton farmers coast to coast. The similarity in responses from both groups indicate the findings have major implications for farmers as a whole.

"These findings are critical to predicting future trends in the American agricultural community," says John Crothers Pollock, Ph.D., president of Research & Forecasts, Inc., the New York City firm that conducted the study. "Moreover, according to the trends documented, the future vitality of America's industrial economy may lie in the hands of our nation's farmers who reside on the leading edge of agricultural technology and management practices."

While the ranks of the farmers continue to dwindle, the fruits of agriculture remain a mainstay in the economy and a massive positive influence towards reducing U.S. balance of payment deficits. To manage their finances and survive in a one-world marketplace, farmers have had to become what Pollock terms "aggressive information activists rather than passive information receivers."

Not only are farmers paying attention to all forms of information banks, they are utilizing them. At least eight out of ten farmers turn to such nontraditional sources as university extension services and research programs, agribusiness literature and professional consultants for assistance in their farm management efforts. Over a third (35%) frequently follow wire service reports from the commodities exchanges, and a quarter (26%) frequently read "The Wall Street Journal".

The study contradicts the popular misconception of farmers as "hayseeds," revealing that they have strikingly higher levels of education than the general public. Forty-five percent (45%) of the surveyed farmers attended college, compared with 30-2 of other Americans. Eight out of ten believe that an extensive technical background is necessary for those going into farming today.

Staunch Optimism

Despite the complex risks of modern agriculture, the farmers queried still retain a positive attitude toward their occupation. Ninety-five percent say that if given a free choice they would continue in their present work compared with only 60% of the general public asked the same question in a previous survey.

Even with their improved professionalism and resourcefulness, an overwhelming 91% of those polled believe "a farmer faces more risks than people in other occupations."

And indeed, beyond the perennial problems of uncertain weather and drought there is the growing pressure from the high cost of money. With only a slim profit margin to rely on, farmers must borrow heavily to expand production. For most this means incurring continuous substantial debt.

The struggle for increased efficiency and higher yields to counter soaring costs has led to many casualties. In 1959, there were over a half-million cotton farm owners, ten years later there were roughly 200,000; in 1981, there are approximately 50,000.

Though their profession is less secure than most, farmers are significantly more likely than the public to agree that America offers an opportunity for financial security to all those who are willing to work hard (93% vs. 78%).

The report asserts that farmers have been able to retain a positive perspective in spite of financial stress because "few occupations provide such a high degree of integration of lifestyle and work values, and few so thoroughly de-emphasize the financial rewards of work." Asked what they like about farming, 70% of cotton producers reply, "you're your own boss;" 55% respond, "being with the land, outdoors;" about a third cite "close family" and "moral lifestyle;" while "building equity" is mentioned by only a quarter of the farmers.

Electricity.

Knowing what it's worth is worth knowing.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth and to know their value. How would you rate yourself on knowing the value of the electricity you use? Take this simple exercise.

1. How much was your electric bill last month? $ _____
2. Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day. $ _____
3. How many people are in your family? _____
4. Divide Number 3 into Number 2. This was the cost of your electricity per day per family member. $ _____

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

PRUSSIC ACID POISONING IN LIVESTOCK

Frost will be hitting Lynn County before long, and this could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forages.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazing after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

As far as prussic acid poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

To prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock, Young outlines these steps:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing. This may require a week or more of good sunlight.
2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on plants that may contain prussic acid. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.

3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.
4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.
5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. Local veterinarians will be happy to submit samples for you.

The overall key to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.

CROP AND LIVESTOCK REPORTS FROM FARMERS AND RANCHERS NEEDED

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will begin interviewing Texas farmers and ranches in mid-November on 1981 final acreage, yield, and crop production and end-of-the-year poultry and livestock inventories for Texas and individual counties.

The confidential interviews will be conducted through the mail or phone or in person by field enumerators. Data collection will end in early January.

High Plains Cotton Prices Are Weak

High Plains cotton growers sold their earliest 1981 ginnings in a fairly weak market during the week ended Oct. 29. Mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 31 and 32, mike 35-49 brought about 50 cents per pound, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director at USDA's Marketing Ser-

4-H'ERS, LEADERS MUST MANAGE TIME

Time management is essential to all busy 4-H'ers and 4-H leaders.

To be satisfied with the way you use your time, you must control it, points out Brent Drennan county 4-H program leader.

Here are some tips to help 4-H'ers and adult leaders make better use of their time:

*Decide which things you feel you must do daily and make a list.

*Don't plan every hour of every day. Leave some time for interruptions and unexpected events that will surely occur.

*Put the most important things first on your daily list. Don't feel guilty if you don't get everything done by the end of the day.

*Consider what other demands will require your time.

*Be prepared to give up some activities to achieve your goals.

*Consider the day productive and successful if the top priority jobs have been done each day. Don't demand too much of yourself.

*Count the things you did get done. Try to see positive accomplishment, even in the interruptions.

*Remember to plan for fun and relaxation. If you're not enjoying your time, you may need to take more time to see how you're spending your days.

Ask yourself if this is what you really want to do with your life.

A close look at how you're using your time can be a real "eye-opener". If you find that you never have time to do things you feel are important and that you would enjoy, time management can get you started.

COTTON TODAY

TEXAN NAMED CHAIRMAN: Gary Ivey, cotton producer of Ralls, and president of Plains Cotton Growers, will preside over a special session of the 1982 Beltwide Cotton Conferences in Las Vegas January 4.

He will be chairman of "New Developments from Agricultural Chemical and Equipment Industries," the lead-off session of four days of conferences. The conferences are sponsored by the National Cotton Council and The Cotton Foundation in cooperation with USDA, land-grant universities, and other farm and industrial organizations.

EXPORT SALES INCREASE: Net new cotton sales for the 1981-82 marketing year totaled 182,000 running bales during the week ended Oct. 22.

This brought the season's total commitments to 3,997,300 bales. The week's top buyers were Indonesia, 29,900 bales; Taiwan, 28,000; and South Korea, 14,400.

PINK BOLLWORM BATTLE VOTED: The National Cotton Council's Pink Bollworm Action Committee has recommended a concentrated effort against the pest through area-wide management trials in the southern desert valleys of Arizona and California and in northwest Mexico.

The committee also: (1) recommended that plans for trials include some mechanism to obtain a high level of producer participation; (2) endorsed a one-year moratorium on stub cotton until a four-year study on the subject has been evaluated; and (3) recommended continuation of the regulatory and sterile insect release program in the San Joaquin Valley.

vices Office in Lubbock.

Earliest ginnings have been from fields treated with harvest-aid chemicals in an effort to beat the seasonally heavy traffic. Most growers are expected to delay harvest until after freezing temperatures provide a natural kill, Bennett said.

USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock graded 6,400 samples during the week ended Oct. 22. This brought this season's total to 6,900 and compares with 117,000 graded by the same time last year.

About 50 percent were grade 52 and 29 percent were grade 42. Below grades accounted for 18 percent. About 46 percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Staples were 35 percent staple 31, 35 percent staple 32 and 14 percent staple 33. Staples averaged 31.7 thirty seconds of an inch during the week.

Micronaire was 33 percent 35-49, 16 percent 33-34, 30 percent 30-32, 16 percent 27-29, and 4 percent 24-26 for an average of 33.

ON SWCD BOARD: Norman Ledbetter of O'Donnell was recently re-elected to the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors. Norman represents zone 3 of the district which is the South East part of Lynn County. The purpose of the Lynn County SWCD, with headquarters in Tahoka, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners. As one of five individuals serving on the district board of directors, Norman will serve as chairman of the board for the next year.

Early Cancer Detection Center Open At Lubbock

The Early Cancer Detection Screening Center in Lubbock a pioneering facility dedicated to reducing the impact of cancer by early detection of malignancies and abnormal cell growths, is urging South Plains residents to use the facility's services. The Center will serve Lubbock and the surrounding areas as a focal point for early cancer screening. The screening procedure entails physical examinations by qualified physicians, obtaining an extensive personal and family history and laboratory tests which include a Pap smear and tests for occult blood. The composite results of the procedures will then be computer analyzed and individually focused patient risk factor profiles will be developed. The profiles will aid the client's physician in providing preventative health care on a very individualized basis.

A copy of the client's history, a history that we believe to be one of the most exhaustive available, will be immediately forwarded to the client's personal physician. The obtaining of the history takes between 30 and 40 minutes and promises to be of great value to the physician.

In addition, the center will strive to counsel the client in the techniques of self-examination for cancer detection; lifestyle changes that may reduce risk factors for cancer and improved health habits.

The Center is located at 2402 52nd St., Suite 10, Phone 793-2214.

Green Named To Baylor Council

Tahoka attorney Harold Green has been named to the Baylor University Development Council. Green was installed recently during the council's fall meeting on the Baylor campus.

Green, a native of New Jersey, received his bachelor of arts degree from Baylor in 1949. He later received his doctor of jurisprudence degree from the Baylor School of Law.

Green is an attorney with the Tahoka firm of Huffaker and Green and is a member of the United Methodist Church.

He served in the U.S. Air Corps as a cadet from Feb. 1943 to Nov. 1945.

Green and his wife, Bettye Jane, have two children, Richard Harold and Laura Beth. Mrs. Green received a bachelor of music degree from Baylor.

UIL Expulsion Is Explained

High School Principal Jim Marcus and Superintendent Jim Coulston last Thursday explained in detail at Rotary reason for Tahoka and Slaton being ruled ineligible by the Texas University Interscholastic League.

Tahoka's case involved one "special education" student and a conflict between Federal regulations and the UIL rules. This student, although having passing grades this year, in the spring semester of last year did not pass all required three and a half credits in "two separate subject fields." Although deeply regretting the mixup and interpretation of the rules, both school men had high praise for all-powerful Interscholastic League - as "the greatest organization of its kind in the nation".

Rev. Lloyd Hamilton gave the charge to two new Rotary members, David Martin, ginncr, and Tom Marrier, operator of the new furniture store.

Nick Summitt was in charge of the program.
