BY DALTON

MY SUBSCRIPTION expired some time ago, but Newsweek keeps sending me their magazine, along with letters and cards saying they know I don't really want to stop taking it, and would I please send them some money.

I don't want it any more, but at least it sometimes gives me something to disagree with. In fairness, Newsweek sometimes has some informative articles and some well-written pieces. But overall, it is simply a liberal magazine determined to discredit the administration whenever possible and to present the views of liberals, women's libbers and homosexuals in the most favorable light.

There was an interesting article about flying featherweight aircraft in the latest edition I got (free). People everywhere, it said, are flying these things which appear to have been designed by the Wright Bros. (Danny and Bill, not Orville and Wilbur).

These planes don't look like they are strong enough or safe enough to be flying around in, but reportedly there were 30,000 of them, all weighing about 250 pounds each, in the air last year. They're powered by little two-cycle engines and you don't have to be a pilot to go up in one. You just have to be nuts... or maybe daring is a better word.

I don't believe I have ever seen one; if I did, I thought it was a bird.

HOW'S THIS FOR A West Texas wind story? The wind blew down our swimming pool. Okay, so it was one of those little above-ground jobs, and the reason it blew down and got bent all up was mainly because we had removed the water last year. Anyway, we sort of got it back together again after several months of planning and four hours of working. (We never did like to jump right into a job without giving it serious consideration from all angles).

First Baptist Marks 80th Anniversary

July 5 marked 80 years of service and ministry for First Baptist Church of Tahoka. The congregation celebrated the event Sunday, July 10, with many former members and church staff present for the day.

With the auditorium filled almost to capacity, the morning worship hour saw many long time members of the congregation taking part in the service. Carroll Rhodes, minister of music for the congregation, led in both congregational singing and in presenting several special singing groups. The pastor, Dr. George E. Ray Jr., presented a message remembering the past and challenging the congregation for the future.

Fellowship and good food were features of the dinner hour, with more than 200 persons sharing the anniversary meal. Many out of town guests were present for the time of remembrance and refreshed friendships.

The afternoon service featured spontaneous remembrance time by any in the congregation who wanted to share. Rev. Don Cass, former pastor, spoke of the congregation and Morris Johnson, former minister of music sang and shared recollections. Hugh Jack Norwood, his wife (Margaret Miller) and family were present and members of the family presented special music. Dr. Doyle Holmes, Director of Missions for Lubbock Baptist Assn. was present and brought greetings to the congregation.

The anniversary celebration gave opportunity also for recognition of worthy service by members and church alike.

Crude Oil Stolen From Tank

More rural area thefts and burglaries, including theft of 40 barrels of oil from a site near Gordon, were reported in the county during the last week. There also was a case of forgery and two traffic accidents were investigated in the city during the week.

Western Reserve Oil Co. of Midland reported the oil, valued at $1200, was stolen from a storage battery tank about a mile northeast of Gordon, possibly on Friday. Apparently the thieves drove a tanker up to the site and pumped out the crude oil.

Roy Lynn Kahlich of New Lynn Gin reported the gin office burglarized and two calculators valued at a total of $550 stolen. The calculators were recovered as officers Thursday arrested Joe Ybarra, 18, of Wilson, who pleaded guilty of the burglary. He was assessed a fine of $1,000 by District Judge George Hansard and also given a five-year probated prison term.

3-Wheeler Stolen
Harold Nettles of New Home reported a Heald 3-wheel motorcycle and trailer were stolen from a location about four miles northeast of New Home recently.

Johnny Brandon of Tahoka reported a couch and vanity stolen from a farm house about 16 miles southwest of Tahoka during the last week, and Danny Brewer of O'Donnell told officers a submersible pump had been stolen from a farm five miles northeast of O'Donnell.

A suspect was named and was being sought in the theft of a 1973 Oldsmobile by Byron Henderson of Wilson. The car was taken Sunday from the Henderson home at the intersection of FM 211 and FM 212. It had not been found by Wednesday morning.

C-C Directors Discuss Plans

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce directors met at noon Tuesday in the Pioneer Museum, to discuss current and future activities of the chamber. A meal was served by Tahoka Chamberettes.

It was agreed to renew the monthly "Spotlight on Business" feature which has appeared in the Lynn County News. A chamber committee selects a business or individual to be featured and the newspaper staff then does the writing and photography.

Chairman John Krey reported on possible speakers for next year's banquet and the group discussed the alternatives, with a decision to be made by next month's meeting.

Other committee reports also were heard, and the directors voted to increase the amount paid the Chamberettes per plate at the meals.

Sue Hagood was appointed to serve on the board of directors.

Charlie Louder presided in the absence of President Tom Marrier.

Cable TV Sale Okayed

Sale of Beta Communications franchise to operate a cable television system in Tahoka to a company based in Detroit, Mich., was approved Monday night by Tahoka City Council.

Jim Strange, one of Beta's owners, who has been operating the franchise here, appeared with Steve Blossom, a representative of the company which will take over the franchise in about a month. Strange said he would continue to run the operation here for the new company, Signet Cablevision, which has been acquiring other small-town systems in West Texas. The firm also operates 12 systems in Michigan, four in North Carolina and three in Virginia.

Blossom said that customers would notice that the billing would be a bit different, but that present employees here would remain and that bills still could be paid locally. He also said no immediate changes in programming are planned, and that the system generally would be about the same as it presently is.

Plans for development of a seven-acre portion of the new 20-acre cemetery land east of the present cemetery were presented by representatives of the Cemetery Assn., who told the council members that much more money will be needed to get the new cemetery ready for use. The representatives, Edward Bartley, Nadine Dunlap and Robert Edwards, also warned that the present cemetery has only a limited number of spaces remaining, and that work toward getting the new part ready needs to be done as soon as possible.

Council members were shown scale drawings indicating the seven-acre section, at the center of the 20-acre plot, is tentatively divided into 933 lots which can accommodate four graves each. These, with 80 more gravesites in a "Babyland" section, would provide spaces for about 380 burials in the center section of the cemetery addition.

Councilmen authorized borrowing of $15,000 to keep the general fund going in the city operations. Applications for housing assistance under the Community Development Block Grant Program also were approved. Present were Mayor Mel Leslie, city manager Carl Reynolds, and councilmen Jim Solomon, W.O. Wharton, Dalton Wood and Richard White. Member Tom Cooper was absent.

Museum Board Rejects Depot

Tahoka Pioneer Museum board in its monthly meeting Monday noon rejected Santa Fe railroad's offer of the local depot building to be moved to museum lots some time in the future.

The board decided that cost of moving and refinishing the rapidly deteriorating structure and remodeling the WOW building to make room for it would be too much. Mayor Mel Leslie reported that Santa Fe could not give a time for release of the building to the museum.

Instead, a committee composed of Winston Wharton, Bill Craig, Mrs. Macky Turner and Frank Hill was appointed to study alternative plans for enlarging the over-crowded present building on the lots on the north.

New officers, Harold Green, president; Mrs. Mabel Gurley, vice president and Mrs. Clint Walker, secretary-treasurer, were in charge of the meeting.

Dues of annual members, $10 per couple, are now due, and may be mailed to the museum or to Mrs. Auda Norman, membership chairman. Mrs. Mildred Abbe presented a plan of special membership cards for the 40-add life members who have paid in $100 for this category of membership.

Membership dues and donations are the principal support of the museum.

The board voted to accept donation offer of three show cases H.B. Howell of Odessa has proposed to donate.

With the coming of summer, many tourists are stopping to visit the museum exhibits.

Two persons were in jail during the week for public intoxication, and one each for burglary, criminal mischief and forgery.

Tahoka police investigated two accidents during the past week. Last Thursday, a two car accident occurred at the intersection of Lockwood and Ave. N that involved a 1980 GMC pickup driven by Andrew Benjamin Bush of Tahoka and a 1973 Ford two-door driven by Maria Ester Rodriguez, also of Tahoka. injuries were reported. On Monday, at the intersection of Lockwood and Ave. R, another incident involved a 1979 Chevrolet pickup driven by Garland L. Pennington of Tahoka and a 1977 Ford two-door driven by Antonia Meza Gutierrez of Tahoka. Damage was estimated at more than $250. No injuries were reported.

A lot of Americans think hypertension has easily identifiable symptoms. The fact is, however, hypertension (also called high blood pressure), usually has no symptoms and can go unrecognized for years before congestive heart disease, kidney failure, or stroke is the result. Because of this many people are unaware they have the disease. According to the American Heart Association, only 18 million of the 35 million Americans who have definite high blood pressure know it. This is a major reason regular check-ups are so important.

Doctors now have several new drugs to control high blood pressure. One in particular makes it easier for many people to remember to take their high blood pressure medication. Called Tenormin, it's from Stuart Pharmaceuticals and it can provide 24-hour blood pressure control with a single tablet daily, simplifying prescribing and enhancing compliance. One tablet per day reduces blood pressure smoothly and predictably with no tolerance reported even after long-term use.

Many people are concerned about the health of the American people and are writing to their legislators about H.R. 2574 and S. 640. They are writing to the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

The Texas State Securities and Exchange Commission and the Better Business Bureau of the South Plains today released their Investor Alert for July warning the public about possible dangers involved in gold and silver investments. The Alert describes recent problems in "deferred delivery" sales of gold and silver and lists twelve steps investors can take to protect themselves in this often confusing market.

The current Alert came after a National Association of Security Administrators Assn./BBB survey showed problems across the United States and Canada with investors dealing in precious metals through unregulated dealers using unscrupulous and sometimes fraudulent tactics.

BBB President Alan Bligh noted that consumers looking for profitable ways to invest their money should take extra care in checking out offers before accepting them. "While changing times often create new opportunities for investment," he said, "that also create new possibilities for those who would defraud investors. This Better Business Bureau has seen this happen in the precious metals business with attendant consumer confusion and harm to legitimate sellers. What we are trying to do is give prospective investors the information they need to avoid dealing with unreliable operators."

Kenneth Hooper, with the Lubbock State Securities and Exchange Office warned South Plains consumers about purchasing gold, silver, or any precious metals over the telephone from companies whose reputations are unknown. "Gold and silver bullion dealers are largely unregulated in this country by Securities Commission or the federal government. The public is generally on its own in this area. Only after a fraud is discovered can Texas and federal agencies move. Consequently, it is important that the public be forewarned to protect itself against unscrupulous gold and silver bullion dealers."

Social Security... OUT WEST

By Bill West

PIK And Social Security
Many farmers in the South Plains area are apparently confused as to how the 1983 Payment-In-Kind (PIK) program relates to Social Security.

Under the PIK program, a farmer agrees to set aside part or all of his land previously used to produce a crop in exchange for receiving surplus Federal commodities of the same crop at the usual harvest time. Commodities involved are wheat, corn, grain, sorghum, rice and upland cotton.

In general, payments under the PIK program are treated the same as other income. Since the PIK payments are in the form of certificates of ownership, they are not includable in gross income for 1983 until they are converted to cash for purposes of Federal Income Tax and the Social Security self-employment tax.

How the PIK payments affect receipt of Social Security benefits depends on when the farmer became entitled to those benefits.

If the farmer started getting Social Security benefits before 1983, PIK income can be excluded from gross income for purposes of the annual earnings test because it is income not attributable to significant services performed after the year in which benefits began. In this case, PIK income would have no effect on the receipt of Social Security benefits.

However, if the farmer starts getting Social Security benefits in 1983, PIK income is included in the farmer's net earnings for purposes of the annual earnings test. But in this first year of retirement, a self-employed person can receive a benefit for any month he or she does not perform substantial services in self-employment regardless of total income for the year. Generally, a farmer is not considered to be engaging in substantial services if he or she works 45 hours or less a month in the farming operation.

More information about how income under the PIK Program affects Social Security benefits can be obtained in the Lubbock Social Security Office, located at 1611-10th Street, Lubbock, Tex. Phone number is 743-7381

IT'S A FACT!

Oil field technology is being utilized to move coal faster and more safely from the underground mine face to the surface.

The first-of-its-kind system--developed by engineers of Conoco Inc.--transports a slurry of coarse coal and water through a pipeline snaking its way through mine tunnels.

Centrifugal pumps push the slurry up an 850-foot vertical pipe to the surface at a rate of up to 14 tons a minute. The slurry is then pumped overland 2.4 miles through a 12-inch pipe to a preparation plant where the coal is separated from the water and loaded into railroad cars. The water is recycled to the mine for another trip.

The system, which took more than a decade to perfect, is improving productivity at Conoco's Loveridge mine in West Virginia.

The average $2.75 home sewers must pay for a pattern isn't the result of inflation alone. "Home sewers are paying for far more sophisticated products than they used to," explains Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist. One reason costs have risen is that pattern companies now purchase the right to originals from well-known designers, rather than using only company designers to create ideas for garments.

Convection ovens "a la counter-top" are the latest entry into the counter-top cooking field, and, like most all appliances, they have their "pros" and "cons".

These new models are promoted as fast-working, energy efficient and easy-to-clean.

Some save both time and energy, while others do not save energy, and most will need a good scrubbing now and then.

Fan Circulates Heat

Convection cooking is not new and it isn't complicated. Restaurant and bakery industries have used convection ovens for years. No matter what the style, all work on one simple principle: a fan continuously circulates heated air around food in the oven cavity.

Time-Saver Cooking

Fans are their "secret of success", too, when it comes to time-saver cooking. Any food placed in any oven to bake starts out surrounded by an insulative blanket of cool air. A convection oven fan wipes away that cool blanket and subjects food to heat immediately hence, less cooking time necessary. In fact, convection ovens save one-fourth to one-half on cooking time.

For energy savings, consider a gas convection oven-it saves time and energy. Electric ovens save time, but they use more energy than a conventional type oven.

Range-industry advertisers cannot make claims based on direct comparisons between portable and standard-size convection ovens, since the portable units are excluded from tests regulated by the Federal Trade Commission and the Dept. of Energy. From appearances, it would seem that electric convection ovens should save energy, since they do eliminate preheating, they require a lower temperature for cooking food and cooking time is shorter.

However, it's total kilowatt-hour (KWH) energy use that counts here. How long the heating element is on affects the KWH use.

In a non-insulated counter-top electric convection oven, the heating element may remain on throughout the cooking process to maintain the oven temperature.

Insulation does not affect baking time (because the heating element will make up any heat loss), but it does affect KWH consumption, since the heating element may have to stay on the entire cooking time to keep an accurate steady oven temperature.

Easy Cleaning?

Some manufacturers claim easy cleaning of their ovens, even those that already have a continuous clean feature.

However, a residue does build up on all of these and its removal requires hand scrubbing.

Clean Clothes

It doesn't take long for parents to discover no diaper is really leak-proof. Even if you use disposable diapers, a baby's outer clothes and bedding can get wet and soiled.

Fortunately, there is a way you can be sure your little one's clothes are maximally clean.

Baby clothes and cloth diapers can get a cleaning boost when soaked and washed with borax. It helps get rid of odors, reduce staining and make diapers more absorbent.

Flush out really soiled diapers and begin soaking them as soon as possible, using half a cup of borax for each diaper pail of warm water. Follow soaking with a hot water wash, adding half a cup of a product such as 20 Mule Team Borax along with the recommended amount of soap or detergent.

You can wash baby's linens, bibs, slips and cotton crib liners in hot water with regular agitation, adding half a cup of borax and soap or detergent for added assurance of cleanliness.

Safety Tips

Sharing The Road

The rules of the road were written with all types of motor vehicles in mind. Whether you're driving an 18-wheel truck or a two-wheeled motorcycle, it is important to respect the rules of the road. Here, from the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, are some tips for motorcyclists on how to share the road safely with others.

- Avoid riding the gap or slot between lanes of traffic since a maneuver by another vehicle may suddenly block your path.

By Harry A. Jacobs, Jr.
Chairman
Prudential-Bache Securities

The development of the world markets, as with any market, rests on one basic economic need. Simply put, it begins with individuals in one country who want to buy the goods made by individuals in another country. As we as a nation get richer, we can afford to buy more.

The result is faster growth for everyone. This economic principle, developed by the British economist, David Ricardo, in the last century, is known as comparative advantage. According to this theory, countries will export that which they make cheapest and best. The same comparative advantage principle applies to capital movements between countries.

Theory is one thing. However, liberalizing trade and the flow of capital in democratic countries where interest groups speak loudly and powerfully is surely quite another.

Whatever new controversies may arise, there is little doubt that the clock cannot be turned back on world trade without severe repercussions.

The development of world finance, however, has been far less visible.

Still, while many may have doubted it was possible, the world's financial markets, managed by international banks and brokerage houses, have been remarkably resilient, efficient and successful.

- Always leave room when passing parked cars. A door that is opened suddenly may become a hazard in your path.

- Avoid crowding other vehicles and demanding contested space.

- Refrain from riding on the shoulder to avoid traffic slow ups.

Remember you are sharing the road with many other highway users. Courtesy is important if you want others to safely share the road with you.

Responding to the citizens' complaints, Redman filed an application with the Public Utilities Commission, which must grant permission if the line is to be built, to intervene on behalf of the farmers in Matagorda, Austin, Waller, Grimes, Walker and Wharton Counties to assure a fair resolution of the matter.

Proposing to build the power line are Houston Lighting and Power, Central Power and Light, and Southwestern Electric Power Company.

and rainfall will react adversely with the unusually strong direct current carried by the line. The effect of such a reaction on both the safety and the health of area citizens is not completely understood, the residents say.

They also complain that construction of the line would permanently claim over 1500 acres of farmland, and a similar amount of ranchland. Support towers for the power line, which would stand over 12 stories tall, would interfere with aerial application of pesticides and fertilizers, effectively taking more land out of production, the farmers say.

Nuclear Power Line Draws TDA Concern

AUSTIN—Concerned that producing agricultural land is becoming typecast as the best location for hazardous or undesirable development, Texas Department of Agriculture attorneys have agreed to help Gulf Coast farmers who are attempting to prevent an experimental power line from crossing their land.

At issue is a 400 kilovolt, direct current power line that three utility companies want to build between the South

Texas Nuclear Project in Matagorda County and a power station in Huntsville. Farmers claim the area is unsuitable for the experimental line which, according to TDA attorney Patrick Redman, would be among the first high-voltage, direct current lines in the United States. Most lines carry standard alternating current.

New Texas Legislation Discussed At Rotary

Morris Wilkes, aide to State Sen. John Montford, spoke at Rotary last Thursday noon, pinning the Senator who was attending the special called session of the Legislature in Austin.

He discussed several important issues before the called session and some action of the body in the 140-day regular session.

A major item of the called session was passage of the brucellosis regulation sponsors hopes will meet standards set to be the recent Federal ruling to control the disease among the state's cattle. The Federal quarantine regulation, which as it stands, would have had a major detrimental effect on all Texas cattle production. The new Texas law will limit marketing and shipment only to cattle carrying the disease.

Also passed were several other measures, among them laws reinstating extension of several agency regulations such as Texas Unemployment Commission which the solons did not get to in the regular session.

Wilkes also explained the failure to pass Sen. Montford's Texas Water Plan legislation. The plan passed the Senate by a 34 to 0 vote in the Senate, but Representative Craddock of Midland killed the proposal in the House by refusing to bring it out to his committee. Obviously, Wilkes said, it would have passed the House since it had been approved by House members from every section of the state.

He pointed out, that 72 percent of all water in Texas is used by agriculture, 15.8 percent by domestic users, and 12.2 percent by industry. Also passed, however, was stronger laws against driving while intoxicated by setting up mandatory sentences for violators.

The teacher pay increase is being delayed pending a study by a state-wide committee, and Gov. White says he may call another special session following a report from this committee.

Jim Payne introduced the speaker.

Rotary President Joe Hays announced the annual ladies night and installment session for new officers will be held at an evening meal this Thursday at 8 p.m. on the back lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green. Nick Summitt will be installed as the new club president along with other officers and directors.

Marine Jahan, America's number one stand-in, gave a starring performance of her own recently at New York City's famed Plaza Hotel, where the only place she was "standing-in" was in 9 West shoes.

Marine Jahan—the real dancing sensation behind

"Flashdance."

Jahan, who doubled for "Flashdance" star, Jennifer Beals, but was conspicuously absent from the movie's credits, made up for it with four solos which she choreographed around different styles of shoes. 9 West is a division of Fisher Camuto Corporation, one of the nation's five largest manufacturers and distributors of women's shoes.

The pattern industry is trying to appeal to home sewers who are more interested in making simple and fast than in making designer fashions, says Dr. Ann Vanderpoortten, a clothing specialist. Some companies have introduced reduced lines of patterns that can simply be displayed on a fabric store rack. The patterns have fewer pattern pieces, only one view to consult, and instructions that allow for a graded fit. These patterns are also less expensive, averaging about $1.19 each, says Vanderpoorten. The variety offered by designer styles, standard patterns and simplified versions now give home sewers more choice for their money, adds the specialist.

SUMMER'S PEACHES--Don't let the peach season slip by without putting some of the sweet, juicy fruit up for winter. And while you work in the kitchen, set a few peaches aside for a Peach 'N' Honey Shake, a recipe tested by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

PEACH 'N' HONEY SHAKE

- 1 C. crushed fresh peaches
- 1/4 C. honey
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 1/2 C. milk
- 1 pt. peach ice cream
- Nutmeg or mint leaves

Combine peaches and honey in blender. Add vanilla, milk and ice cream. Blend until smooth. Serve in tall, chilled glasses. Garnish with mint or nutmeg. Serves 4.

Thieves Hit Two Grain Warehouses

AUSTIN--"When the grain harvests are going good, it is prime time for hit-and-run grain thieves to rip off farmers and grain elevators," said Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. "Unfortunately, we've already had a couple of reminders."

Two break-ins at grain warehouses in two weeks have been investigated and verified by the Texas Department of Agriculture, he said.

In the San Angelo area thieves loaded several trucks with grain and made an escape, according to Darrell Ketchum, supervisor of TDA's grain warehouse program. In a heist foiled in the Amarillo area, the thieves got away, but a silent burglar alarm alerted police to the break-in in time to seize the thieves' trucks. Ketchum said the vehicles' titles proved to be false and the license plates were stolen, indicating that professional thieves are at work. "Farmers are harvesting their grain sorghum right now in the Valley, and with their wheat in the field, farmers are particularly susceptible to theft. As the harvest moves north toward the High Plains, the thieves can follow the harvest, making quick strikes," Ketchum explained.

The best precaution for both farmers and elevator operators Ketchum advised, "is to learn about the people you deal with. Get certified checks for sales and ask for identification and record vehicle make, model and license number. Make the buyer pay before taking the first load."

"We really publicized these commonsense business practices several years ago," said Ketchum, "and we went for two years in Texas without any thefts reported. The two burglaries already this year indicate that we again need to be more vigilant."

Grocer Fined Over Deceptive Meat Weights

AUSTIN--A Wichita Falls grocery store owner has pled guilty to selling underweight packages of meat and was fined $3,000, the largest such fine ever assessed.

Texas Department of Agriculture investigators, who are charged with ensuring the accuracy of grocery-store scales, discovered the underweight packages of meat at Wichita Food Mart, Inc. during a surprise check in May.

The market, according to TDA general counsel Sam Biscoe, was apparently using a variation of the "thumb on the scale" trick. A small steel bearing and a roll of price stickers found on top of meat scales were confiscated as evidence in the case.

The meat was re-weighed, Biscoe said, showing that consumers were paying anywhere from a few pennies too much for hamburger to 60 and 70 cents too much for choice cuts of meat.

Biscoe said the store owners were warned once that their meat weights were not accurate. "When we did a second surprise check, we found that the conduct we had been promised--that is, compliance with the law--had not happened," Biscoe said. "So we felt that since we couldn't counsel with them, it was necessary for us to take some legal action."

The TDA inspector had found 58 of 60 packages of meat to be in error in favor of the store at the second inspection, prompting Biscoe to pursue Class A misdemeanor charges through the Wichita county attorney's office.

"This store apparently didn't think we were serious about this," Biscoe said of the incident. "They guessed wrong."

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Texas summers are usually hot and dry, and that means homeowners must give careful attention to watering their yards and gardens.

Stanley Young, county agent, offers some tips on getting the most from irrigation water so as to keep plants and lawns healthy while keeping water costs down.

1. Practice slow, deep watering to allow roots to penetrate deeper so that plants become more stress-resistant.

2. Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems work well on trees and shrubs. It's more efficient to water at night or early in the morning because evaporation is less. However, night-time watering can promote more disease problems.

3. Too much water can be as detrimental or even worse than not enough. The rate at which water is applied should be no more rapid than the rate at which the soil can absorb it. Never fertilize landscape plants when soil is dry. It's best to water the area one day, apply fertilizer the next day, and then water again. Fertilizer will do no good unless it is dissolved and moved down into the soil.

4. Shrubs and trees near foundations, under eaves or on southern and western exposures need frequent watering because they often get less benefit from rainfall and have to deal with heat reflected from walls.

5. Plants on mounds or slopes suffer from drought stress more easily than those on level areas, so these require more frequent watering.

6. Use an organic mulch of pine bark, chopped straw, hay or similar material to reduce irrigation needs.

7. Treat water as a valuable resource. Use it to water plants when needed but do not waste water. Although considered a renewable resource, good water supplies are becoming scarce in Texas.

Vaccinate Horses For Sleeping Sickness, Tetanus

Though sleeping sickness is no longer a major problem in the horse industry, it still exists and all equines should receive a protective vaccine each year.

A highly effective combination vaccine is available for horses. It protects against Eastern, Western, Venezuelan types of sleeping sickness as well as tetanus.

Losing horses to sleeping sickness is unnecessary. Last year cases of the disease were reported in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, and Alabama, probably due to an unusually high mosquito population during the summer months.

Equine encephalitis (sleeping sickness) is carried naturally by several species of birds. When mosquitoes bite an infected bird, the disease can then be transmitted by the mosquitoes to other animals.

Early signs of the disease include fever, loss of appetite and depression. The animal is usually restless, may walk aimlessly in circles and be sensitive to sound and touch.

One common symptom is a horse that stands with his head hung low like he's sleeping. He doesn't fully chew hay or forage, and as the disease progresses, the tongue may actually hang out of the mouth.

Once a horse is infected, treatment is generally unsuccessful. That's why proper immunization each year is so important.

The disease can also be transmitted to humans and some other animals. The virus has been found in dogs, goats, pigs, and domestic birds.

All equines should be vaccinated each spring before mosquitoes become prevalent. This should give them the protection needed for another year.

Consult your veterinarian regarding available vaccines to combat sleeping sickness.

May or June beetles are emerging from the soil and starting to swarm late in the evening. Females are laying eggs and white grub worms that hatch will soon be feeding on roots of bermudagrass and St. Augustine grass in home lawns. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken.

Treatment time varies with the particular area of the state and ranges from early July in South Texas to mid-August in the Panhandle: Homeowners in Lynn County will need to treat between July 15 and Aug. 1. Timing of application is critical for adequate control.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to depth of 4 inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod.

Diazinon, Dursban or Dylux provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than the liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil.

Apply diazinon sprays at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.

The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where grubs are feeding.

Further information is provided in the publication, "White Grubs in Texas Turfgrass," available at the county Extension office.

Family Land Heritage Program Set

State Representative Steve Carriker, D-Roby, pointing to the importance of recognizing and remembering the pioneer farm and ranch families in Texas, invited long-time farming families to participate in the Texas Dept. of Agriculture's 1983 Family Land Heritage Program.

Registration for the program, which recognizes families who have had land in agricultural production for 100 years or more, is now open and will extend through Aug. 16, Rep. Carriker said.

Those who wish to apply may obtain an application from their County Judge, County Historical Commission chairman, the nearest TDA district office or by writing to: Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Dept. of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, TX 78711.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Congress Moves Against Plant-For-PIK: Four separate legislative measures aimed at reversing USDA's decision to require cotton producers to use 1983 crop cotton for payment-in-kind program are now moving in Congress.

Cotton industry leaders led by the National Cotton Council testified at House hearings in support of a bill requiring the Secretary of Agriculture to re-open the cotton bid program. Witnesses pointed out that the USDA decision would result in losses and litigation for various industry segments.

Testifying were John S. (Duke) Barr III, the Council's Producer Steering Committee chairman; Jack Francis, Arizona Cotton Growers; Sam Leake, Louisiana Cotton Producers; Chip Morgan, Delta Council; Herman Riddle, American Cotton Shippers Assn.; Tom Smith, Calcot; Jack Stone, Western Cotton Growers; Tommy Willis, AAM; and

Charles Wofford, Cotton and Grain Producers of the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Supporting testimony also was submitted by the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, Sen. Pete Wilson (R-Calif.), and Rep. Bill Thomas (R-Calif.).

Similar bills are pending in the Senate, and a floor amendment requiring the Secretary to fulfill original commitments to cotton producers under the PIK program was added to the agricultural appropriations measure.

Cotton Funding Cuts Restored: Proposed cuts in the pink bollworm and High Plains boll weevil programs were fully restored in the agricultural appropriations bill that passed the Senate this week. The measure also includes a $1 million appropriation for the federal government's share of second-year costs of the boll weevil eradication program in the Carolinas.

Research Needs Stressed

The National Cotton Council is concerned about the continued drop in federal funding for cotton and agricultural research.

In a statement submitted to a House Agriculture subcommittee, the Council noted the public's return from crop and livestock research ranges from 18 to 110 percent. Consumers enjoy a 35 percent return from every dollar spent on cotton research.

"Adding to our concern is the Agricultural Research Service six-year plan released in February. It signals further sharp reductions in several important research areas. For example, the all-important category of cotton insect, disease, nematode, and weed control

Crop Insect Clinic Set

A Crop Insect Clinic will be held Thursday, July with the first session held in the meeting room of Lyntegar Electric Co-op in Tahoka beginning at 9:30 a.m. The second session will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Community Center in O'Donnell.

Dr. Jim Leser and Dr. Pat Morrison, Area Entomologists will cover insect identification, scouting and control in cotton and grain sorghum. The same topics will be covered in both sessions.

Most topaz is white or blue. The famed golden variety is actually very rare.

could be cut nearly in half," the Council said. "What is needed is a strong, sustained, and diverse research program across the board -- one that is attuned to present problems and geared to the future, so that American agriculture can continue to meet the nation's food and fiber requirements," the Council explained.

Theme Selected: "Progress Through Technology" is the theme for the 1984 Beltwide Cotton Production Mechanization Conference, according to the National Cotton Council.

The conference, set for Jan. 11-12 in Atlanta, will be preceded by a series of technical conferences on Jan. 9-10. All sessions will be at the Westin Peachtree Plaza.
