HARVEST FESTIVAL

Festival Offers Full Day Of Fun Saturday

By DEAN BARTLEY
A wide variety of entertainment is expected to lure county residents to the eighth annual Lynn County Harvest Festival Saturday, an event which offers games, contests and other activities all day long on the Tahoka square.

There will be booths, drawings for merchant-donated prizes every hour with Jay Dee House as master of ceremonies for the drawings, a county fair, the featured Harvest Festival Queen contest, a princess contest, drawing for a Dallas Cowboy weekend, and two bands. Rex

Thomas of Acuff will be emcee for the queen contest at 2 p.m. Daron Norwood and the Norwood Family Band will be on stage throughout the day bringing a variety of music.

Tahoka Rotary Club sponsors the street dance in the evening, from 8 p.m. to midnight, and pays for the band; therefore the Rotary Club sausage booth is the only booth open in the evening. The Rotary booth and many others will be open all day on the square, however.

Lots Of Activities
Among scheduled activities are a fair at the old Department Store on the west side of the square, a pet contest, frog jumping, turtle race, slipper kicking, big wheels, bicycle and sack races, arm wrestling, "42" games, a square dance exhibition by the officers of the Lubbock Area Square and Round Dance Federation, a quilt auction and a sidewalk sale by many merchants.

A mechanical bull ride is expected to bring all the "seasoned and drugstore" cowboys to a dual as they attempt to tame the wild beast.

The street dance on the east side of the square will feature the Cecil Caldwell Band of Lubbock which includes seven members. Caldwell is associated with KLLL West Texas Opry, showcase of area talent.

Queen's Contest
Judges for the Queen's Contest will be representatives of the Robert Spence modeling school in Lubbock. Contestants and sponsors are: seniors, Jane Horwood, Martha Arellano and Lola Fay Rogers; juniors, Kelli Huckabey, Nicki Smith and Alicia Gutierrez; sophomores, Sarita Haney, Janet Anderson and Brenda Chapa; freshmen, Emily Rivas and Sharla Miller; OEA, Tami Pepsworth; annual staff, Lena McKibben and DECA, Susie Lara.

The grand prize drawing, with tickets sold by the queen candidates, is a weekend trip for two to the football game between the Dallas Cowboys and the Washington Redskins on Dec. 10-11.

Other prizes to be given away are two round trip air fare tickets to Dallas for two and two bicycles with tickets being sold by the princess candidates. The candidate who sells the most tickets will be Harvest Festival Princess. The contestants from the 7th and 8th grades are: Odette Morin, Jeannie Sandoval, Dene' Valentine, Wendi Jordan, Lendi Jordan, Sophia Ruiz, Liza Ruiz, Jennifer Saldana, Kathy Saldana, Brenda Martinez, and Stephanie Womack.

An "early bird" prize, which is a jam box, will be given away at 11 a.m. by the Harvest Festival Committee.

This year's festival is held in conjunction with homecomings planned Friday night at Tahoka High School and at New Home.

Dogs Snap Losing Streak With Win Over Plains

By DALTON WOOD
It has been a long time between victories, but the Tahoka Bulldogs finally snapped their losing streak last Friday night at Plains, beating the Cowboys 22-19.

Before Friday, the last Bulldog victory was on Nov. 13, 1981, when Tahoka beat Roosevelt 34-14 to get into the playoffs. The Dogs then lost the bi-district game, all 10 games last year and three games this season before turning it around.

Keeping it turned around will be a monstrous task this week, as the talented Post Antelopes come to town, for Tahoka's homecoming. Post, which poured it on Tahoka 79-0 last year, was beaten 14-7 by the state's top-ranked team, Littlefield, last Friday.

Early Lead
It was a jubilant Tahoka following in Plains which saw the Bulldogs take a 15-0 lead and then hang on to overcome three Plains touchdown passes to win Friday. Senior tailback Steve Pierce rushed 29 times for 133 yards and three touchdowns for the

THS Graduate Seeks Cotton Maid Title

Danette Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Phillips, will be among the contestants for the title of South Plains Maid of Cotton. The contest will be held at the Civic Center in Lubbock, Friday, Oct. 7. Danette, 19, is a 1982 graduate of Tahoka High School and is presently a sophomore at Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos where she is a member of the Southwest Texans, a spirit organization.

The winner of the local contest will be awarded a $500 scholarship, an all cotton wardrobe and an expense paid trip to the national contest in Memphis, Tenn.

Entrants must live in a cotton producing area of the South Plains or be enrolled in a college of the area.

In high school, she was a cheerleader, played basketball, and was valedictorian of the 1982 class.

Bulldogs.
Plains got in trouble early when the Bulldog defense got tough on the runners. After Johnny Morin tackled Cowboy QB Tracy Murphree for a loss to the 5-yard line, Plains punted out to the 37. Running by Pierce and personal foul penalty brought Tahoka to a first at the 5, from where Pierce went in for the score. Morin kicked, and it was 7-0.

Paul Zuniga recovered a fumble for Tahoka later in the quarter at the Plains 24. Halfback Jerry Alvarado ran 14 yards to the 13, and QB Trey Teaff passed to Pierce for a first and goal at the 3. Pierce went a yard for the TD with 32 seconds left in the quarter, and then ran for 2 points to make it 15-0.

In the second quarter, a Tahoka punt was partially blocked and went just 8 yards to set up Plains at the Tahoka 20. A few plays later, Murphree passed 10 yards to back Mickey McMinn in the end zone. A pass try was no good, and it was 15-6.

TD Pass
Later in the half a Tahoka fumble gave Plains the ball again at the 27 of Tahoka. Murphree then passed to McMinn 14 yards for a TD and Adam Flores kicked the point to

FIRST BALE AWARD—Joe Tijerina, right, accepts a $100 check from the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce for bringing in Lynn County's first bale last week. C.T. Louder, left, president of the chamber, also gave Tijerina another $100 bonus for bringing the first bale in to Louder Gin. The 495-pound bale is wrapped in the new type of bagging stipulated by federal regulations this season, covering the entire bale for cleaner cotton. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Tijerina Again Has First Bale

For the third year in a row, Joe Tijerina of Tahoka brought in Lynn County's first bale of cotton to be ginned in the county, earning a $100 bonus from the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

Tijerina also received another $100 from Louder Gin, where the bale was ginned at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 23.

Louder Gin also ginned the 495-pound bale free. The bale made 880 pounds of seed, said gin owner C.T. Louder.

Tijerina said the 303 Paymaster cotton was planted May 20. It was hand-gathered last week from three acres inside the city limits of Tahoka, in the southeast part of town, "just a block from the gin," Tijerina said.

The bale was put on display outside First National Bank of Tahoka.

make it 15-13 at halftime.

Pierce escaped on a 45-yard touchdown run early in the third quarter and Morin's conversion put Tahoka in front by 22-13. But with 57 seconds left in the quarter, Murphee passed for a third touchdown, 23 yards to End Nicky Hanna. The extra point kick try was blocked, leaving it at 22-19, Tahoka.

Tahoka threatened once in the fourth, but an interception stopped that drive. Fumbles continued to hurt the Bulldogs, who lost five of them during the evening. And after Tahoka went for a first on fourth and 2 at the Plains 47, and failed to make it, the Cowboys drove deep in Bulldog territory and threatened to win the game after all, getting a first and goal at the 10 very late in the game.

Tahoka's pass defense finally worked, mainly on a hard rush by the line, and on fourth down, Murphee hit his receiver on a screen pass to the left that looked like it might work for the Cowboys. However, Bulldog lineman Scott Isbell made an open field tackle on the receiver for a loss to the 22 and Tahoka took over. After that, Tahoka killed the clock and then celebrated the Dogs' first victory this season.

END OF THE LINE — Trey Teaff (12) and Jerry Alvarado halt a Plains ball-carrier, and coming up just in case are Johnny Morin (33) and Habel DeLeon (64). (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Home Economics In The '80s

BY TAMERA OVERCAST

Home Food Production Up

More and more Americans are growing their own groceries.

"Home food production continues to increase—the growth is really phenomenal," says Tamera Overcast, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, Lynn County.

This increase in home food production has an important bearing on the diets of Americans and supports the Food and Fitness Campaign being launched by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

More than half of the households in America—and in Texas—grew food for their tables last year. A recent survey by the Gallop Poll and Gardens for All, the national association for gardening, indicated that some 53 percent of American households grew some or all of their own produce in 1982 — a record number for the second consecutive year.

"People are growing vegetables and fruit wherever they can find space," notes Tamara. They are using backyards, flowerbeds, patios, and rooftop containers. Community gardens are popular in many locations across the country but really haven't caught on yet in Texas.

Some 2 million acres are devoted to home and community gardening across the U.S.

"Interest in home and community gardens has risen sharply the past few years, triggered by rising food prices and the desire to return to nature," points out Overcast. Although food prices have declined recently, home vegetable production had remained steady because folks have found it to be enjoyable and healthful as well as profitable activity. Also, gardening can be a family affair.

The recent Gallup-Gardens for All survey found that vegetable gardening has become the nation's number one leisure-time activity.

More people would likely take to gardening if they had adequate space. Many, especially those in urban areas, would like to have permanent sites set aside for community vegetable gardens. No doubt community gardens will soon become popular in Texas.

White Leads Tech Defense At Baylor

BRAD WHITE

Brad White, former Tahoka High School stellar athlete and scholar now playing defensive tackle for Texas Tech, played a major role in Tech's 26-11 defeat of Baylor last Saturday in Waco before a crowd of 38,000 and a regional ABC television audience.

A story by Norval Pollard, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal executive sports editor, described White as "the big cog in a defense that ate up the Bears' offense."

The Bears were leading 3-0 when White was credited with sacking QB Cody Carlson for a safety which ignited a Tech comeback which featured fierce defense. With Baylor at their own 16, Carlson dropped back to pass. White, a junior at Tech, streaked through the blockers, got a hand on Carlson's jersey and spun him around at the 2. Two other Tech defenders came in to help, then White finished the sack in the end zone for the safety.

Pollard's story said in part: "White turned in one of his most impressive showings as a Raider in Tech's White of Tahoka, starred in both football and basketball and was salutatorian of the 1980 graduating class. "Goose," as he was called then, now weighs 231 and stands 6-7...maybe even taller, around Tahoka and at Tech, anyway.

Man Dies After Sand Halts Auto

A Hobbs, N.M. resident died of an apparent heart attack late Saturday afternoon after his car got stuck in sand on Petty Road, northwest of Tahoka.

J. Edward Bell, 64, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Ed Hamilton of Tahoka. A companion told sheriff's officers that he was simply taking a different route home from Lubbock, as was his custom each time he visited Lubbock, and the car got stuck in sand at the north end of the section which is scheduled to be paved as a farm-to-market road.

Bell had walked over to some tractors near the road and when he didn't return immediately, his companion went over and found him dead. He had a history of heart problems, it was reported.

Police received one family disturbance call during the week, a call that someone had tried to break into a home on N. 2nd early last Tuesday morning, and a call Sunday that "about 20" persons were parked in front of a building on Main, drinking beer.

In jail during the week were one person each for desertion from the U.S. Navy and assault, plus unlawful carrying of a weapon.

The Homecoming Parade for Wilson students and exes began at the baseball park and proceeded through downtown Wilson led by the high school band. The Volunteer Fire Department trucks carried the Homecoming Queen candidates, Stacy Askew, daughter of Scott and Faith Askew; Pam Benavidez, daughter of Surpy and Jo Benavidez; and Christi Sloan, daughter of C.W. and Linda Sloan and the football boys and coaches. The parade ended at the high school gym for the pep rally where Coach Lewis introduced all football boys. Cheers were led by cheerleaders, Pam, Christi, Stacy, Louise, Tammy and Gloria.

Wilson Athletic Booster Club President Kelly Livingston named winners of floats entered in the parade. First place winner was the ninth grade; second, eighth grade; third, sophomores; fourth, seventh grade. Judges for the floats were Dalton Wood, Ann Davidson, and Kathleen Sanders. During halftime activities the candidates for Homecoming Queen were escorted onto the field where Pam Benavidez was crowned Queen and Keith Spears was crowned Pep Squad Beau by last year's Queen Karla Kimbrell and Beau David Cook. They were escorted by Adam Vaca and Trisha Houchin.

Other queen candidates and their escorts were Stacy Askew and Jimmy Riojas, Christi Sloan and Abram Vaca. Pep Squad Beau candidates and escorts were Bradley Wright and Michelle Patterson; Paul Schwertner and Tammy Riojas.

Winner of the Cowboy tickets was Tom Freitag of Wilson.

4-H Programs - Builds on Past Work

4-H has a proud 75-year heritage that forms the basis of this year's National 4-H Week theme, "4-H: Building on Experience."

National 4-H Week, Oct. 2-8, is a special time for 4-H members and leaders to promote the nation's largest youth organization and to bring some recognition to its contributions, points out Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator. Over the years millions of 4-H'ers have gained valuable leadership experiences and learned practical skills that have improved their quality of life.

Today almost five million youth across the nation between the ages of 9 and 19 are gaining valuable learning experiences through 4-H--187,000 of those are in Texas. The Texas 4-H program reaches boys and girls through more than 2,000 community based clubs and another 900 short-term project groups.

4-H'ers are engaged in some 50 different project areas in which they gain lifelong skills through the program's "learning by doing" concept. These projects had their beginning 75 years ago when special Corn Clubs were organized for boys in Jack County. First focusing on such traditional areas as crop and livestock production and canning and sewing, 4-H projects now deal with a wide range of subjects, including small engines, rocketry and veterinary science--even the use of computers.

The 4-H program is conducted in each state through the Cooperative Extension Service and is backed by the state's land-grant university (Texas A&M University for the Texas program) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Some 22,000 adult and teenage 4-H leaders shoulder much of the responsibility for the 4-H program in Texas, says Henley.

Scientists in Texas, California announce recent breakthrough

Scientists in Texas and California have jointly announced a breakthrough that would double the production of rubber from a wild desert plant and could free the United States from its dependence on rubber from Southeast Asia.

The chemical treatment used in greenhouse experiments on the shrub guayule (pronounced why-oo-lee) increases rubber production by regulating the chemical and physical processes that lead to the formation of rubber in the plant. The researchers said the same technique could be used on other food crops.

The discovery was made by a team of scientists headed by Dr. Chauncey Benedict of Texas A&M University and Dr. Henry Yokoyama of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Pasadena, California. Their findings were reported to the National Science Foundation which funded the research.

"Their discovery brightens prospects for reducing our dependence on foreign materials for rubber production through expanded production of guayule plantations," said Dr. Neville Clarke, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, under whose auspices the research was conducted.

Commissioners Assist Three Needy Children

Lynn County Commissioners Monday voted to contribute $100 each for clothing needed for three children from the county who have been placed in foster homes.

Judy Longoria of the Children's Protective Service Board appeared on behalf of the children, noting that while welfare funds are available for most of the needs of the children, there was not enough money in the county welfare funds to pay for the clothing needed.

All commissioners and Judge J.F. Brandon were present at the meeting, which otherwise featured mostly discussion items. The group did vote to purchase two bulk fuel tanks to hold diesel fuel for use in county equipment. Precincts 1 and 2 will jointly buy an 11,000-gallon tank which will be placed in the Precinct 2 yard. The tank will cost about $3,000, and auxiliary equipment, including a key pump, will cost about that much more.

Precinct 4 also will buy a tank, costing $2,000, which already is in place.

It was estimated that buying the tanks would save the county enough in less than two years to pay for the tanks, through purchase of diesel fuel at a lower rate than the county now pays.

Teachers Oppose Merit Pay Proposal

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles on public education written by Betty Pyle, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. This week's article addresses the merit pay system for teachers.

BY BETTY PYLE
President, Texas Classroom Teachers Association

Most of us have grown up in this country believing that those who work the hardest should be paid the most. Why shouldn't the worker who can produce 20 widgets a day be paid more than the worker who produces only 10?

In the wake of the recent outcry against the inadequacies of our public schools, many people have been promoting the merit pay system--paying those who perform the best the most -- as a cure-all for what ails our schools. After all, if it works in industry why shouldn't it work in our public schools?

Focusing on this single topic -- merit pay for teachers -- could delay meaningful changes in our education system, changes that need priority and need to be addressed. These include teacher pay in general, longer school days and longer school years, classroom discipline and more financial support from federal state, and local governments.

In addition, merit pay raises some important questions, such as how would meritorious teachers be identified and by whom, and is there enough money available from the state or local school district for merit pay?

What Criteria?

Is the number of children taught a reasonable measure for establishing merit? One important point that politicians and others who are promoting merit pay seem to forget is that our children are not widgets -- some assembly line product -- and that our teachers are not factory workers. Neither should be treated as such,

and it is doubtful that many parents would want their children taught on the "assembly line approach" to education.

Can a teacher's merit be judged by student achievement test scores or more students with higher grades? If achievement test scores are used to decide how much teachers are paid, our children's progress in school is being equated with dollars and cents. Surely we do not want to create a system indicating that the progress of an intelligent child is more important than that of a slow child, and therefore the teacher of the brighter child should be paid more than those who teach the less gifted. Who deserves merit pay: the teacher who helps a bright student increase one or two grade levels in achievement tests or the teacher who has helped a slow child finally learn to read and write, even though he still scores only six months better than he did last year and a grade level below where he should be on an achievement test? In addition, using students' test scores to determine teacher pay could backfire. Students who don't like a teacher who is a strong disciplinarian could intentionally score poorly on achievement tests just to get even with the teacher, particularly if the tests don't count toward passing or failing a subject.

In addition, merit pay based on achievement tests and grades could cause parents to fight to get their children enrolled in classes of rated teachers could cause aren't enroll classes to co-educations as Devising a system that able and void would be ex-ficult. Superi too complex nized early which rende uation of per subjective, another question. Who Wou in classes of superior-rated teachers, and it could cause students who aren't enrolled in those classes to consider their educations as second-rate. Devising an evaluation system that is fair, workable and void of favoritism would be extremely difficult. Superior teaching is too complex to be recognized early or easily, which renders an evaluation of performance too subjective, leading to an important question. Who Would Decide?

One of the major obstacles to the merit pay system, in addition to the evaluation process, is determining who is qualified to serve as evaluator. In private industry, the trained evaluator plays a key role in the process, but it is a role that often leads to favoritism and decisions not related to performance. Some school districts in other states that have used the merit pay system have gone back to the straight-pay system, as a result of manipulation by administrators, evaluations being easily influenced by a teacher's subservient behavior and counterproductive competition among teachers. Of particular concern is the problem of counterproductive competition among teachers. Ideally and for the benefit of the education system, teachers should work together. The merit pay system could have teachers pitted against each other for the sake of a pay raise instead of working together for the betterment of all students. Rather than consulting with one another or working together to solve a common problem, teachers could refuse to work with their colleagues so as to make themselves look better in the eyes of their evaluators. Money Problem Today, relatively few of the nation's 15,500 school districts use the merit pay system. A 1979 survey of 2,848 districts found that 115 had some kind of merit pay system and 135 others were considering adopting such a system.

However, 187 school districts that once had merit pay systems have dropped them. The major reason for discontinuing the merit pay system -- lack of money. Lawmakers and others in Texas who advocate widespread use of the merit pay system should not overlook this one vital element, which could be an expense that taxpayers might not want to bear. Claims Pay Too Low More money for good teachers could be vital to an overall effort to improve our public schools, but the overall effort first needs to be thoroughly researched and developed. The real problem with the merit pay system is that it sidesteps the issue of paying every teacher a decent, respectable salary. Teachers' salaries today are too low to justify raising the pay of only a few. Before implementing merit pay programs, state and local officials should first pay our public school teachers a salary that will give the profession the prestige it deserves and will provide all teachers with a wage allowing a reasonable standard of living. Real teaching success cannot be measured by pay, but is the direct result of such intangibles as a sense of accomplishment, of personal worth based on a grasp of the subject matter, and respect for students, fellow teachers, supervisors and the community at large. An issue as complex as merit pay should not be as a panacea for what ails our public schools, and many important questions must be answered before it becomes standard practice in Texas. Sees Alternatives An incentive pay plan may be more easily and equitably administered while accomplishing the desired results. Such a plan could, for example, reward those who are willing to make an extra effort through working longer hours or longer school years, obtaining additional training, assuming more responsibility, etc. NEXT: What Is Quality Education?

Senior Girls Tough In Puff

The senior girls inched by the juniors 22-20 to win the 8th annual Powder Puff game, Sept. 19 at Kelley Field. The event is sponsored by the publication staff to help pay expenses for the 1984 yearbook.

The girls played "9-man flag-football" due to the smaller number of senior players. The seniors had only 12 girls while the juniors were out in full force with 20. Junior coaches were Gilbert Gonzales and Ricky Nieman. Referees were Charlie Mac Holland and Curtis Ferguson.

Early in the game, after just one flag grab by Tami Pebsworth as junior Rosie Montemayor tried to gain the first yardage, junior Kimberly McMillan ran the ball to the 10 yard line before her flags were grabbed by Jane Horwood and Lela Bailey. On the next play, Patricia Payton ran a sweep in for the first TD of the game. McMillan ran in the 2 extra points.

When the seniors took possession of the ball after the kick by Kathy Cook, Lela Bailey tried a long pass to Jane Horwood, although the pass was incomplete, a penalty brought the ball up to the 45 yard line. On the next play, Bailey ran in for the first senior TD. An attempted pass by Tina Stice failed to produce the 2 points, leaving the score 8-6.

As the juniors took over, so did McMillan, as she ran 50 yards for another junior TD. Leslie Valentine grabbed the flag to stop the extra points. The new score, 14-6.

The next successful drive for the seniors began with a run by Stice, a long incomplete pass, followed by an 80-yard run over the goal line by Bailey. Pebsworth evened the score 14-14 as she ran across the 2 extra points.

The juniors scored again as Rosie Montemayor ran in 40 yards for a TD.

The Seniors lost the ball on their next drive when Mistie Cook intercepted a pass; she was finally stopped by Kim Grayson and Lola Rogers.

On the last senior drive of the game, Pamela Patterson stopped Bailey on her first try, but on the second down Bailey ran over for another senior TD with 1:03 left on the clock, tying up the game for a second time. The seniors crept ahead when Bailey ran over the 2 extra points that proved to be the winning margin.

Senior players were: Margaret Amador, Lela Bailey, Shelia Crawford, Deedie Daniell, Jennifer Ehlers, Kim Grayson, Tami Pebsworth, Lola Rogers, Deanna Stanley, Tina Stice and Leslie Valentine.

8th Grade Rounds Up Cowboys

The eighth grade Bulldogs won over Plains Thursday night with a final score of 22-6.

George Morin scored the first TD of the game with 5:09 left in the first quarter. Tony Gonzales ran for the two points.

In the beginning of the fourth quarter, Morin made the second TD and also ran for the two points.

With 1:20 remaining in the fourth quarter, Rusty Jennings scored a third TD for Tahoka but the try for extra points failed.

7th Grade Shoots Down Cowboys

Thursday night the seventh grade Bulldogs won over Plains 24-0.

With 6:25 in the first quarter, Edward Munoz scored a TD and ran the two points.

In the third quarter with 3:57 left Paul Couch scored the TD and Joe Zuniga ran the two points.

Highway Commission Backs AG Exemption

Commissioners for the Texas Dept. of Highways and Public Transportation approved Wednesday a policy maintaining the traditional exemption from width limitations that allows overwide agricultural implements to move short distances on public roads.

The commissioners acted to clarify the meaning of HB 1602, passed in the recent legislative session to comply with federal highway assistance regulations. Some staff members at the Highway Department believed that a technical reading of the legislation could mean the end of the agricultural exemption.

Concerned about the effect of such interpretation on farming operations, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower contacted Gov. White and Highway Commission Chairman Robert C. Lanier of Houston, who pledged their assistance in solving the problem.

Without the clarifying action by the commission, farmers could have been required to purchase permits at a cost of $40 per month in order to move vehicles wider than eight and a half feet on any public road.

Water Treatment Change Seen As No Problem Here

Mayor Mel Leslie said this week that a new method of water treatment will not affect Tahoka residents as much as originally believed.

"The process of chloramine disinfection will replace chlorination at the Lubbock water treatment plant in mid-October," Leslie said.

"Because this new method involves the use of ammonia in the water, there was concern over how it would affect dialysis patients and tropical fish."

The mayor said he has learned that nearly all home dialysis patients in the region are already using equipment that is capable of removing ammonia from the water used in the dialysis process.

"Any home patients trained at a dialysis center other than the Lubbock Dialysis Center should call their center to see if their equipment has an activated charcoal filter," Leslie said.

"As an added precaution, we are contacting local hospitals and clinics to inform them of the new chloramine process."

As for owners of fish aquariums, the small amounts of ammonia being added to the water should have no effect on fish, the mayor said. He quoted a nationally known authority from North Kansas City, Mo., that many cities have much higher contents of ammonia in the water supply, and there has been no danger to fish. "However, people can contact their aquarium supply dealer about material that will remove ammonia, if they want to be on the safe side," the mayor said.

The new method of water disinfection is the result of new guidelines issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

"It has been determined that chlorine combines with organic material found in all lake water and forms a compound called trihalomethanes," Leslie noted. Laboratory tests indicated there is a possibility that trihalomethanes can contribute to certain kinds of cancer.

"Although no such cases have ever been reported, the EPA has said that trihalomethanes shall not exceed 100 parts per billion. By the time water gets to our city from the Lubbock water treatment plant, enough chlorine has been added to put us slightly over the limit. So to keep us in compliance, the new process will be used to prevent the formation of trihalomethanes."

He said this method of disinfecting water has been used by the City of Austin for more than 50 years. During the past two years, 22 Texas cities and 300 cities throughout the nation have converted to chloramine forms of disinfection.

Only about 20 percent of back problems are caused by actual disease of the bones and joints of the back.

"The vast majority of back problems are simply due to poor daily lifestyle habits," says health educator Dr. Mary Ann Shirer. A major cause of back pain is improper body mechanics or poor posture when standing, sitting, bending and lifting and lying down, says Shirer. Improving posture and body alignment in all daily activities—whether sitting at a desk, doing housework, or driving a tractor—will relieve back strain, protect the back from injury and slow down "back wear" from the aging process, notes the specialist.

GO BULLDOGS!

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A NATIONAL news magazine reported the other day that one out of every 354 persons in the United States is a millionaire, a figure which shocked me. Quickly I figured that, based on that average, there should be about nine millionaires in Tahoka, three in O'Donnell, one in New Home, one or two in Wilson and some guy in Grassland ought to have a half million.

Looking around, I couldn't spot anybody I figured was able to write a check for a million bucks without spending the next 25 years in jail. But on reading further in the magazine, I learned that to be a millionaire does not necessarily mean you have a million dollars. What it means is that your "net worth" is a million or more.

Changing Times, or Consumer Reports, or some publication recently put out a formula for figuring your net worth, but so far as I was concerned, by the time you figured it all out, it would have changed anyway. Once in awhile (like every two weeks, when I need to borrow money) the bank will hand me a form on which I am supposed to come up with a financial statement, a bottom-line figure of what I am worth.

I have never been able to come up with anything that makes any sense. They want to know sources and locations of your liabilities and assets, and the only thing I could think of would have been obscene. You take how much money you have in the bank, subtract what you owe, what you intend to owe, add what you never intend to pay, multiply by your stockbroker's waist measurements and by the way if your insurance is worth anything, put that down somewhere.

I told my banker one time that I'd just sign the bottom of the form and he could put in whatever he wanted to; he said banks don't operate that way.

Then I suggested that if he really wanted to know what I'm worth, ask my wife. He said he already did that, and I couldn't have the loan.

Anyway, I don't feel too badly that I'm not one of those millionaires. Those people and their money aren't so much. The story pointed out that it takes $4.1 million now to buy what a million dollars would have bought in 1948.

director, Marvin Grant, stated, "The diaper industry, for example, would do well to remind today's young parents, who grew up in blue jeans, of the natural advantages of cotton for their babies."

Dr. Jay Arena, with a 50-year career in pediatrics, concluded that the cotton diaper is better protection against diaper dermatitis.

EXPORT SALES INCREASE: Sales of U.S. cotton for 1983-84 delivery increased a net 132,700 running bales during the week ended Sept. 15, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The major buyer was South Korea with a net increase of 29,000 bales. Other top buyers were Canada, 24,000; Indonesia, 15,200; and Japan, 15,000.

Export shipments totaled 107,400 bales, with 74 percent going to Asian destinations, according to the National Cotton Council.

Rotary Governor At Tahoka Club

Local Rotarians entertained with a fish supper Wednesday night at the fellowship hall of the Methodist Church.

Following the meal, Dr. Selby met with President Nick Summitt, officers, directors, and committee chairman, at which he heard committee reports and offered helpful advice on club improvement.

day noon club meeting, he had high praise for the 47 year old club. He challenged Rotary members to roll up their sleeves and work for a better club, community, nation and international understanding, to the Four-Way Test in business relations, and the free enterprise system—the American dream.

He was introduced by Dr. Richard White, the Governor's representative over several counties of this area.

Following the fish supper Wednesday, Mrs. Nick Summitt was hostess to the Governor's wife, Carolyn.

Student of the Week is junior Lena McKibben. She has been chosen for this honor because she is very cooperative with her teachers and very easy to get along with.

Sponsors came back from the TASC workshop in Austin with ideas for projects including working on conserving energy and controlling alcohol abuse in schools.

Student Council this year is in charge of many homecoming events. At 10 a.m. the Norwoods will present a concert in the auditorium. Students will be charged 50 cents. Tahoka FFA President Paul Krause and vice president Ty Askew attended a Mesa District FFA meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 21, in New Home. The topic of the meeting was last year's programs of work and modification of the FFA District Banquet.

Tahoka FFA and FHA will have a joint hayride Oct. 3.

The FFA is also sponsoring a Pet Show and possibly a watermelon booth at the Harvest Festival.

After Game Fellowship Slated

Immediately following the homecoming game Friday, there will be a "fifth quarter" fellowship for all junior high and high school youth in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church in Tahoka.

Beside cake and homemade ice cream, the feature length film "Hot Lead and Cold Feet" starring Don Knotts and Karen Valentine will be shown. Due to the length of the film, the fellowship will not be over until approximately 12:30 a.m. All young people are invited to attend.

There are parents who have children who spend money faster than the parents can earn it.

The trouble with many American homes is that they have no "head of the house" and no "wife of the house."

"After school self-care beginning at age nine or ten is not necessarily a bad thing, if children are adequately prepared and ready to function on their own," says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist. Many working parents feel guilty about having a "latch-key" child, yet fail to realize that all children need to learn coping skills at some point. Even the children of full-time homemakers must sometimes stay by themselves while their mothers keep appointments, do errands, or attend adults-only activities, she notes. Both employed parents and full-time homemakers should teach coping skills to their children before allowing them to stay by themselves, says the specialist. These skills include how to use emergency phone numbers, perform first aid for minor home accidents, escape the house or apartment in case of fire, and handle incoming phone calls or strangers coming to the door.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

One day I looked out of our windows and wondered, "Why don't our neighbors wash their dirty windows?" But when I washed our windows, I saw that their windows were clean. Now when I am tempted to criticise others, I ask "Am I looking through my dirty windows?" Our Lord said, "Do not judge, or you too will be judged." Criticism is a bludgeon and a boomerang. If we judge, we will be judged. By whom? Our Father in heaven and our fellows on earth. So only the faultless has a right to look for faults in others. We have enough to correct in our lives without seeking to correct the lives of others. Our Lord said, "Why do you look at the speck of sawdust in your brother's eye and pay no attention to the plank in your own eye?" It is only as the Spirit of Christ dominates us that the spirit of criticism will depart from us.
