TAHOKA IN 1910—This was downtown Tahoka in 1910, somewhat different from the way it appears now in the week of the 50th annual Pioneer Reunion. The photo is from the collection at the Pioneer Museum. The Santa Fe railroad arrived in Tahoka on June 13, 1919, and that year the county's cotton production of 1,070 bales led the entire Plains. Residence lots were selling well in 1910.

Superintendent Hunt Goes On

Tahoka school board this week continued to look at prospects for superintendent and had narrowed the list down with hopes of making a choice within the next few days.

Some of the possibilities were discussed by the school board in its regular June meeting last Thursday, at which time it was noted that no decision has been made on a new high school principal, either, since it was felt that the new superintendent should have some part in that decision.

Jim Coulston, superintendent for the last seven years, has resigned and moved to Ruidoso, N.M. High School Principal Tom Cooper had been reassigned as Tubb Elementary principal.

At Thursday's meeting, the board dealt with mostly routine matters. Betty Green was named delegate and Joe Hays alternate to the meeting of Texas Assn. of School Boards in San Antonio in September. Both were absent from Thursday's meeting, with all other members present.

Resignations were accepted from Paulette Brownfield, counselor; Thalia Burks, teacher of history, civics and career education; Sue Shaver, secretary; band director Mike McGhee and math teacher Jo Beth Horney.

Mrs. Burks and Mrs. Shaver are retiring, and McGhee is leaving the teaching profession.

Expenditure of about $2,000 over the budget for needed repairs to school buildings was approved.

Cooper and North Elementary Principal Clifton Gardner were named to represent the school at a legislative session in Austin June 19 regarding a bill on appointing or electing state school board members.

Business manager Loretta Tekell reported that tax collections were at 91.1 per cent as of May 31. Delinquent school taxes will have an extra 15 per cent added on July 1.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A WOMAN CAME up to me Sunday and told me how much she enjoyed my column last week. I modestly thanked her and we both went on our ways, with me trying to remember what it was I wrote about.

After a few minutes, I realized that I didn't write a column last week at all. Apparently she had read the Woodbox, by Terry Wood, which sometimes is substituted for the Woodwork, by Dalton Wood. Anyway, it's all in the family, so I'll accept compliments for things he writes (however, all the complaints will be passed on to the proper person.).

MILLIONS of people now own those little automatic-focus and automatic exposure cameras, most of them with tiny flash attachments which are activated when their little electronic eyes tell them there's not enough natural light on the subject in front of the lens.

These work very well for most pictures and are simple to operate. But I am continually amazed at how dumb some folks are about taking pictures at night or taking pictures of subjects far away in dim light. On buses in Europe, I've seen folks stand up in the aisles and pop flashes at the Eiffel Tower or some other subject through the bus window (which would reflect most of the flash back into the lens), with the camera pointed at the subject a half mile away.

Recently at an outdoor performance of "The Shepherd of the Hills" at night in Branson, Mo., folks all over the amphitheater were shooting flashes off like crazy, aiming their cameras at the play cast down on the field 100 yards away.

If those little flashes reached the people down there, they are powerful little critters, because most flashes are good only up to about 15 feet or so.

Anyway, someone is getting to sell a lot of film.

ISSUES OF '85 FARM BILL--Texas and U.S. farmers face three basic issues or concerns as they decide their stand on the 1985 farm bill, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. These are: Do Farmers want to rely on government payments or market rewards for income? To what extent are farmers committed to the export market? Do farmers want to maintain the middle-sized family farm? Government support means production controls and high loan rates don't support an export market. Programs that will keep the middle-sized family farmer in business are strict payment limitations, limited government loans to family farmers, mandatory production controls, marketing quotas, elimination of the cash-tax accounting system and progressive taxation by farm size.

CONVENIENCE FOOD QUALITY--When comparing convenience foods versus homemade ones, remember that most home-prepared entrees contain a higher proportion of meat, poultry, fish and cheese, says Bonnie Piernot. The convenience counterpart usually has more starchy ingredients such as sauces, pasta, bread coating and topping. While it's difficult to define quality, the product label is your best guide to what's in the convenience package, says the home economist. The ingredients are listed in order of quantity. For example if gravy is listed first, your money buys more gravy than meat. Labels can also help in defining nutrients and ingredients, but if you're concerned with controlling fats, sugar and salt, you will not always be able to determine the amount from the label, cautions Piernot.

The female pigeon cannot lay eggs if she is alone. If no other pigeon is available, her own reflection in a mirror will suffice.

PLANNING FOR FALL LANDSCAPES--This is the time of the year to plan for a brilliantly colored fall landscape, says a landscape horticulturist. Four popular plants well-known for their fall color are the chrysanthemum, candle tree, copper plant and Joseph's coat. Mums offer a variety of colors, candle trees boast showy yellow flowers, copper plants are known for their rich bronze foliage, and Joseph's coat is famous for its colors of red, orange, green and yellow. Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:
It is with a great deal of pride that I write to you, and through your newspaper, offer our sincere appreciation to the citizens of your community for supporting a very successful Bike-A-Thon for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

St. Jude, the largest childhood cancer research hospital in the country, is dedicated to one cause; to eliminate childhood cancer and other catastrophic diseases from the face of the earth. Please be assured that the funds raised in your community will be used to support those research programs which show promise of finding cures for those horrible diseases that threaten the lives of children.

There are many people to thank namely; the chairman, helper, the riders, donors, merchants, the media and other volunteers.

We want you to know that progress is being made and that someday, hopefully soon, we will be able to close the doors to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital because the goal of eliminating cancer will have been reached.

Thank all of you for bringing life and hope to children everywhere.

Sincerely,
Clifford Damstrom
Southwest Regional Director

PROGRAM FOR PUREBRED BEEF BREEDERS—A special symposium for purebred beef breeders at Texas A&M University, Aug. 15-16, will help breeders identify genetically superior purebred cattle, thus improving not only individual breeds by the entire beef industry. The symposium is being planned by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System and major Texas breed associations. Key officials in the purebred beef cattle industry, including breeders, ranchers and scientists, will be on hand to discuss the nuts and bolts of the purebred industry, such as requirements of the commercial beef producer and beef merchandising.

KEEP MOBILE HOME COOL—Having a cooler mobile home is mostly a matter of keeping the sun off it, says Dr. Jane Berry, housing specialist. "Ideally, the home should be positioned so the long sides face north and south, then less of the home is exposed to the hot afternoon sun in the west," she says. Some homes also can be placed so large shade trees block out some sun. Trees or other kinds of overhead protection can cut energy costs by one-half, reports Berry. To shade the sides of the home, install arbors and trellises for vining plants. These plants will be most effective on east-and-west facing walls where the summer sun is intense, says the specialist.

Miss White's recent roles at Tech include Lucy in "The Women", Gypsy in "Strider," and the Prisoner in "Man of La Mancha." She was also active in productions at South Plains College.

OPEN DATES ON FOOD PACKAGES—Perishable foods with less than 30 days of shelf life, such as milk and baked goods, frequently carry a "sell-by" date, says Bonnie L. Piernot. "Some consumers believe the food is no good if it's still in the store on the sell-by date," she says. "Actually, the food will be wholesome if used right away, but consumers should buy before the package date if they want to allow for home storage—even in the refrigerator." The open sell-by dates on perishable foods are easy for consumers to understand, but are not required on all foods, she notes.

Parental Q&A

Q. Is it true girls don't have to worry about physical fitness?

A. Far from it. They need and have every right to be fit. They should have the same opportunities and encouragement as boys.

Q. When should my child start swimming lessons?

A. Most coaches agree that children from seven to eight are usually ready for lessons and the regular training programs that are required for swimming as well as tennis, gymnastics, dancing, figure skating and the like.

Q. What is the single most important thing I can do for my child's fitness?

A. Nothing is more important than setting a good example. Parents who enjoy regular exercise and eat wisely tend to raise healthy, lively children. Youth fitness means adult health.

CAR CARE CORNER

Who's Hard On Cars?

The best buy in a used car is the one owned by the little old lady who ran only three miles to and from the store. Right? Maybe not, says Car Care Council. She may qualify as a severe service driver and not even know it. Before buying that car, take a good look at her maintenance records.

Many of the driving habits that we think of as "typical" can be hard on a car. Examples: short trips (ten miles or less) and stop-and-go driving such as in city traffic, or on a delivery route in unusually hot or cold weather. Regularly towing a trailer or otherwise hauling heavy loads also is considered severe service. People who do fall into these categories should be careful to observe owner's manual maintenance recommendations. Especially important is checking of vital fluids such as engine oil, transmission fluid, anti-freeze/coolant, brake fluid and power steering fluid. The Council emphasizes that when transmission fluid has turned dirty brown and smells burned, do not delay changing fluid and filter. It could help avoid major repairs. An informative brochure, "Keep An Eye On Your Car's Filters," is available for a quarter and a stamped, self-addressed #10 envelope. Write: Filters, Department M, Car Care Council, 600 Renaissance Center, Detroit, MI 48243.

Bank Course Is Completed

Linda Tyler, assistant-cashier-loans at First National Bank of Tahoka, recently completed the intermediate program of the 1984 Texas Tech School of Banking.

The school is described by director Tim Koch as "a rigorous one-week series 25 seminars that involves active participation by each attendee."

Surplus Cheese Distribution Scheduled

Surplus Government cheese will be distributed to those families which have qualified and are authorized to receive cheese at the First United Methodist Church.

Distribution is set for Monday, June 25, from 9 a.m. until noon. Those families who have not qualified but would like to apply may do so at this time. However, this distribution point is only for those families that live north of U.S. Hwy. 380 and west of Ave. J.

Families that do not pick up their allotment of cheese at this time will have to wait until next month's allotment is distributed.

Phone Rate Increase Approved

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has approved a slight increase in charges for intrastate long-distance calls within the regional calling areas called local access and transports areas (LATA) established by the federal judge overseeing the divestiture of AT&T and the Bell operating companies.

The new charges, effective June 1, do not apply to intrastate calls made between the regional calling areas which are carried by the long-distance carriers rather than the local telephone companies.

The new rates apply to customers of all local telephone companies, including General Telephone, since the local companies are joint providers of long-distance service within each of the regional calling areas.

The first lighthouse in America was erected by the Province of Massachusetts in 1716 on Little Brewster Island.

Museum Open Saturday

The Tahoka Pioneer Museum will participate in the Rodeo and Old Settler's Reunion parade and will be open Saturday, June 23, from 10 a.m. to, at least, parade time. Bill Craig will make every effort to complete the background of the mural of Tahoka Lakes for the festive weekend. Winston Wharton also reported that new concrete will be poured at the entry way of the museum as much of the area was broken and is dangerous to walk on.

In the regular board meeting held June 11, Mabel Gurley was appointed to prepare a tentative plan of action for displaying museum artifacts, with chronological presentation in mind to explain the history of the county.

Two new acquisitions from Dr. Ann West, former resident of Lynn County, are a doll and a case of surgical instruments. The doll, about 17 inches tall, was originally purchased from A. Schoenhut of Philadelphia, Pa. and cost $3.50. This was in 1912, and many young ladies helped Dr. Ann play with her doll during the ensuing years. The original costume for the doll has been lost, but research produced a picture of the same doll with proper clothing of the time. The museum staff re-produced a complete outfit for this little "pouty" doll, with authenticity of style in mind.

The case of surgical instruments had been used by a great uncle of Dr. West's, who had practiced in Rochelle, Texas, about 1912. Dr. G. M. Coston, who had two brothers, also in the medical profession. Dr. West was the first woman to receive a degree in medicine from the newly opened Texas Technological School.

She went on to complete her medical training at Baylor, graduating in 1930, and interned at Baylor, receiving $25 plus board and laundry, per month, for the first year. Dr. West practiced in Wilson for about four years before moving to Dallas.

Dot Roberts, wife of board member James F. Roberts, was a guest at the meeting. The board adjourned and a work session to move some of the larger items into the new annex followed.

Board members present for the meeting were Harold Green, Lottie Jo Walker, Madeline Hegi, Mabel Gurley, James F. Roberts, Maurice Huffaker, Mel Leslie, K.R. Durham, Auda Norman, Winston Wharton, Bill Craig and Mildred Abbe. Absent were Weesie Carroll and Mary Louder.

MANAGING DROUGHT-PLAGUED WILDLIFE

Drought planning principles for wildlife actually boil down to range management principles, notes a wildlife specialist. Proper harvesting of wildlife during hunting seasons is an important part of wildlife management and will be especially critical this fall if drought conditions persist. Ranchers can provide supplemental feed for livestock although this can be expensive. Unless rains come soon, deer will have little forage on which to fatten for the fall hunting season, and game bird production will be down sharply.

TOMATO-POTATO BAKE

- 2 lg. scrubbed potatoes
- 3 lg. tomatoes, thickly sliced
- 2 lg. onions, sliced thin
- 2 T. butter or margarine
- 3/4 C. grated Romano cheese
- 2 tsp. paprika
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Boil or steam potatoes in their jackets until firm; slice.

High-quality buttons are perhaps the quickest tip-off about the quality of clothes. Good buttons are bone, leather, pearl or metal.

In a well-greased baking dish, place layers of potatoes, tomatoes, and onions, dotting each layer with butter and a sprinkling of cheese. End with potatoes, again dotting with butter and sprinkling with the rest of the cheese, paprika, and salt. Bake for 1 hour, until the onions are well-cooked, the tomatoes have released their juice, and the potatoes have absorbed it. Serves 4.

TOMATO CORNBREAD

- 1 9x9-in. pan of cooked cornbread, finely crumbled
 - 3 chopped tomatoes
 - 1 chopped bell pepper
 - 1 chopped onion
 - 10 slices cooked and crumbled bacon
 - 1 C. mayonnaise
- Combine first five ingredients. Blend in mayonnaise. Chill until serving time. Serves 6-8.

The loganberry is a cross between the raspberry and blackberry, and named for Judge Logan of California who was the first to cultivate it.

You're Invited To Visit The New Rogers-Kidwell Firm In Lubbock!

A new family merger is born with the beginnings of Dove, REALTORS. T. DEAN ROGERS, ARCHITECT, and KAREN KIDWELL, BROKER, and PAT MCMAHAN CONSTRUCTION have united to design, build and sell homes in the larger Lubbock area. Carrying on in the tradition of their parents, Karen Kidwell and Dean Rogers have stepped out in faith to build another family business. A friend from their church, Pat McMahan has joined the business to offer a complete package for the homeowner and Lubbock.

Dean and Karen hosted an Open House for the family to view the new office and the art exhibition that will decorate the office this summer. The ART OF MAISI SIROIS will be on exhibit this summer and will be for sale at Dove, REALTORS. Tahoka and Lynn County friends are cordially invited to visit the office, to say "Hello", view the paintings, and meet the staff. Tuesdays in July are Open House Days at 8212 Ithica (82nd and Indiana) in Lubbock. The office is complete with desks for Euella, Esta Mae and W.T. — Got to keep the family working!

Elm Leaf Beetles Active Now

Elm leaf beetle larvae are now actively feeding on leaves of elm trees. This insect is a serious pest of elm trees in West Texas. Feeding from this insect skeletonizes the surface of leaves and premature defoliation of elm trees can occur.

Damage from this pest was severe in 1983. Treating with an insecticide now will help minimize damage to elm trees this year.

The overwintering adult beetles are emerging from houses, sheds and other protected areas where they spent the winter and are now laying eggs on elm trees. The beetles are oval and about one-fourth inch long. They are yellowish to olive-green in coloration with a black stripe along each side of the wing covers.

The female beetles lay eggs on the underside of leaves which hatch into small worms in a few days. These worms are nearly black in coloration and feed on the underside of leaves. They skeletonize the leaves, leaving the veins intact.

To protect the foliage of elm trees from feeding damage, trees may be sprayed with Sevin or Orthene. Mix and apply sprays according to manufacturer's directions on the label of the chemical container. Thorough coverage of the trees with the insecticide spray is necessary to obtain satisfactory control of this insect.

To secure additional height and better coverage of the tree, a hose-on sprayer may be tied to a fishing pole or other sturdy object and raised up in the air to spray the tree. Caution should al-

FROM THE CEA'S DESK BY GREG HENLEY

4-H An American Invention

An American invention, the 4-H program of the Cooperative Extension Service, originated near the beginning of the 20th century as a result of a vital need to improve life in rural areas.

Introducing improved methods of farming and homemaking, 4-H taught youth to "learn-by-doing". Designed for both boys and girls, the first ways be exercised when applying insecticides.

4-H "projects" included home canning of tomatoes as well as raising corn and hogs, points out Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The school and the home have a close affiliation in this early 4-H program, and adults in the family often were persuaded to adopt new practices as a result of successes experienced by 4-H youth.

In 1914 the Smith-Lever Act established the Cooperative Extension Service, an organizational entity of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the land-grant college system. Created by this act and subsequent legislation to conduct educational programs of an "informal, non-resident, problem-oriented nature," the Cooperative Extension Service provided the professional staff and support needed to direct the growth of the early 4-H program.

Today's 4-H program involves youth as the primary audience and adults and teens as volunteer leaders, says Henley.

No single Cooperative Extension Service program is more widely known or recognized than 4-H. The technique of organizing boys and girls into clubs through which Extension programs could help youth learn practical knowledge and skills in agriculture, home economics and related areas was one of the early innovations in education--and it succeeded admirably.

4-H projects, strictly rural in the early days, have now been diversified to appeal to boys and girls in urban areas as well. They stimulate adults to apply new knowledge and often lead to a closer sense of partnership between parents and their children.

4-H clubs give identity to learning activities, enhance personal development through project work, establish a formal vehicle for involvement of adults, and develop an esprit de corps of great significance. Many clubs today join together in constructive community projects.

In addition to clubs, 4-H uses many other means of meeting the needs of today's youth. Learning opportunities are provided through informal groups, camps, educational television, 4-H programs in schools, family programs and special events.

Through international programs, exchange opportunities and overseas activities also have evolved, and many nations have developed a youth program similar to 4-H.

When tea was first introduced in the American colonies, many housewives served the tea leaves with sugar or syrup after throwing away the water in which they had been boiled.

CONVENIENCE NOT ALWAYS COSTLY--Does it pay to scratch convenience foods from your shopping list and prepare them at home? Not always says home economist Bonnie L. Piernot. Studies by the U.S. Department of Agriculture reveal that 60 percent of 228 selected convenience products cost more per serving than the homemade version. But one-fourth less cost less, and the rest cost about the same, says Piernot, a specialist. The studies compared the cost of convenience foods to their homemade counterparts including the cost for fuel to cook them and preparation time, figured at minimum wage. To save money, the average consumer will have to shop carefully for convenience foods, says Piernot. "Generally, the more ingredients involved and the more preparation necessary, the slimmer are the chances that one of these items will be cheaper than one prepared at home, she advises.

WHOLE GRAIN BREAD CLAIMS--Health-conscious consumers often reach for breads that claim to have "natural whole grain goodness."

However, the nutrition labels on these breads often reveal that they contain some whole wheat and whole rye flour, but unenriched, bleached wheat flour is the primary ingredient, says nutritionist Mary K. Sweeten. The protein content of these breads may be boosted with wheat gluten, soy flour and whey molasses is often added to sweeten the molasses or caramel coloring helps achieve a darker "whole grain" appearance. "These breads are not necessarily inferior to whole wheat breads," says Sweeten, "but the shopper should not be misled by claims or appearances." Whole wheat bread must contain only whole wheat flour.

James Buchanan was the only U.S. president never to marry. During his term in office, his niece Harriet played the role of First Lady.

In both 1983 and 1984 the U.S. Department of Agriculture was required by law to set the U. S. upland cotton loan rate for the base quality, Strict Low Middling 1-1/16th inch, cotton at the statutory minimum of 55 cents per pound.

But the situation is almost certain to be different for 1985.

The 1981 Farm Act requires that the base loan level for each year's crop be set at the lower of a "spot market calculation" or a "Northern European calculation." However if the Northern European calculation is below the spot market calculation, the Secretary of Agriculture has the authority to set the loan at the level indicated by the spot market figures or anywhere between the two. This assumes of course that exercising such authority will result in a loan at or above the prescribed 55-cent minimum.

The "spot market calculation" is described by law as 85 percent of the average price quoted in U. S. spot markets for the base quality during the median three years of the five-year period ending July 31 of the year in which the loan is announced. The loan level for 1985 must be announced by November 1 of this year.

The "Northern European calculation" equals 90 percent of an adjusted 15-week average of price quotations for 1-3/32nds inch cotton, CIF Northern Europe. Neither of the two calculations can be completed this year until later. The 15-week period to be used for European quotations doesn't begin until July 1, and the 5-year spot market figures won't be complete until after August 1.

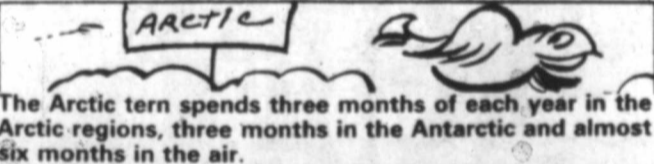

There is however a good indication of how the latter calculation will look when finalized. Through March of this year, according to USDA, the weighted average of quotations for the median three of the past five years comes to 67.32 cents per pound. That figure times 85 percent, as required, equals 57.2 cents per pound.

So unless the numbers change, the Secretary will have authority to set the loan level for the base quality in 1985 at 57.2 cents, over two cents per pound above the statutory minimum. Moreover, should the adjusted Northern European quotes average above the spot market figure, as well may happen, the spot market figure becomes the minimum for the 1985 loan.

USDA in the June 6 Federal Register calls for comments on the 1985 loan level, what kind of and size acreage reduction program should be announced, if any, the target price and other 1985 program details.

Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., began its deliberations on the 25-county cotton producer group's comments at a meeting of the Executive Committee June 14. PCG's program recommendations will be finalized by the full Board on July 11.

To be considered, comment must be submitted by August 6 to Dr. Howard C. Williams, Director, Analysis Division, USDA-ASCS, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

The Arctic tern spends three months of each year in the Arctic regions, three months in the Antarctic and almost six months in the air.
