'Millionaire' Coming To Lynn County Soon

Tahoka Chamberettes announced this week that a fund raising campaign will be conducted in Lynn County. An exciting new board game developed by Henco, Incorporated, one of America's leading fund raising companies, is now being created for players in the Lynn County area.

Known as the "Millionaire of Lynn County Game", it appeals to persons age 10 to adult.

Chamberettes will use the money raised from this unusual, exciting fund raising campaign to promote Tahoka and Lynn County.

The "Millionaire of Lynn County Game" is customized for Lynn County. Local businesses are permitted to purchase spaces on the board which then serve as the basis for playing the game. The idea is for players to buy, expand and sell their properties with the winner being the first player to accumulate $1,000,000 in play money and play property. Chamberettes are now selling participating spaces to local businesses prior to making up the game board. It is expected that the finished, ready-to-play "Millionaire of Lynn County Game" will be available for purchase by local residents on, or around, Oct. 10. Those desiring additional information should contact Tahoka Chamberette Juanell Jones, project coordinator, or any other Chamberette.

In addition, each purchaser of the game will be entered in the Chamberette's search for the "millionaire-for-a-day". At the end of October, the winner's name will be drawn and that person will receive the interest on $1,000,000 for one day. Tickets will be available from those selling the games.

The creator of the "Millionaire of Lynn County Game", Henco, Incorporated, is engaged in civic and educational fund raising throughout the United States. The company operated from its headquarters offices in Selmer, Tenn.

'MILLIONAIRE OF LYNN COUNTY' — Who will be the first millionaire? Spaces on a game board, customized for Lynn County are now being offered to local businessmen as plans are being finalized for a fund-raising project by the Tahoka Chamberettes.

New Laws Affecting Schools Discussed

The effect of "school reform" laws passed by the recent special session of the Texas Legislature, including rules restricting how many days a student may miss school for such activities as sports events and stock shows, was discussed at length by Tahoka School board meeting last Thursday evening.

In the busy session, the board also voted to keep the tax rate and school lunchroom prices the same as last year. The tax rate is 86 cents per $100 valuation, with 78 cents of this to be used for maintenance and 8 cents for debt retirement.

A discount schedule for early payment of school taxes was again adopted, since last year's first time program proved successful. In October, taxpayers may get a 3 per cent discount, or 2 per cent in November and 1 per cent in December.

Supt. Dale Summitt reported that the lunchroom fund balance on Aug. 31 should be $38,342. A milk bid from the Borden company was accepted.

Transfer of Laura Cooper to grade 5 and Linda Huffaker to grade 3 was approved, and the board voted to employ Jeanell Edwards as high school secretary and to offer contracts to Julia Scarbrough as social studies teacher, Susie Rhodes as Chapter 1 teacher, and to approve a list of 18 persons as substitute teachers.

A policy prohibiting an employe from being under the supervision of a spouse in the school was adopted.

The matter of teacher salary increases, with major pay increases mandated by the new state law, was postponed until next meeting at 8 p.m. today (Thursday). Summitt commented that with the state sending the district extra money this year to pay for some of the mandated programs, the school should have enough money to do that for this year, but it was noted that the school has no guarantee that such state aid will be coming in subsequent years.

High School Principal John Haines discussed at length the rules which say that after 10 absences of any kind (either excused or unexcused), a student may not miss any more classes to participate in any school-related activity.

ANNUAL EVENT — As usual, the annual Lyntegar meeting and barbecue Tuesday evening at the Tahoka football stadium drew a big crowd.

A reward of $300 has been offered by Lynn County Crime Line, 998-5145, in connection with the case.

Voters Approve Bingo In County

Voters in Lynn County Justice of the Peace Precinct 4 Saturday stayed away from the polls in big numbers, but those who did vote overwhelmingly approved bingo games in that precinct under a recent state law which allows such games to be operated by non-profit groups.

Primary proponent of the legalization of bingo in that precinct was the Catholic Church in O'Donnell and Tahoka, with both churches located in the precinct.

Only 154 persons voted Satur-

County Will Tax Bingo Proceeds

Lynn County commissioners in regular session Monday canvassed the votes of last weekend's bingo election in Justice of the Peace Precinct 4 and affirmed that the results make bingo legal under provisions of state law. The election in the south part of the county went to bingo proponents 102-52.

The county also voted to tax bingo under a state law allowing such county taxation on proceeds of bingo games at a rate of 2 per cent of the net profit. In Lynn County, this likely will be a very small revenue, it was noted.

Low bidder Follis Heating and Air Conditioning of Wilson was awarded the bid on air conditioning for the district courtroom in Tahoka.

Appearing before the commissioners to discuss taxes of banks in the county was Dovie Miller of the Lynn County Tax Appraisal District.

'Cooking For Kids' Program Set Thursday

day, with 102 voting for legalization of bingo, and 52 voting against. There were no absentee votes, according to County Clerk C.W. Roberts. He said there are 1,013 registered voters in the precinct.

Voting was in three boxes. At O'Donnell box 3, the vote was 70-43 for bingo, at Newmoore the count was 17-2 in favor, and the Southwest Tahoka box went for bingo by 15-7.

Bingo games which meet the conditions of the law may be held legally in that precinct within 10 days after the vote is official. On Monday the commissioners court canvassed and approved the vote totals.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

SOME WORTHWHILE quotes from a publication called Bits & Pieces: "The biggest mistake you can make is to believe that you are working for someone else." And this longer comment:

"When you feel you've 'got it made,' watch out! It's the first step toward settling back into a pleasant, convenient rut. People who 'have it made' are only one step from being has-beens.

"One of the tragedies of business is the number of employees, at all levels, who have mentally retired. They're resting on their laurels, just along for the ride. They aren't looking for new challenges, not interested in ways of doing things different or better, no longer much concerned about the competition or the customer.

"Like anyone who coasts, there's only one way for them to go---downhill. Keep alive, keep challenging yourself until the day you quit. When growth stops, decay begins."

AFTER SOME careful thought, I have come up with a few things I have in common with some famous people:

Ronald Reagan: He gets into trouble sometimes for cracking jokes, which really should be taken in the same spirit the wisecracks are made, only famous persons can't get away with it. I usually can.

Ayatolla Khomeini (Khomeinie? Anyway, it's not spelled right, but nobody should have a name like that anyway): As bad as I hate to be in accord with this clown on anything, I do agree with him that rock music is crummy... I think he outlawed it in Iran.

Fred Macmurray, Barbara Mandrell and Barry Goldwater: We all play saxophone.

Dolly Parton: We both have trouble fitting into our clothes.

Howard Hughes: He never carried any money with him, either.

Ernest Hemingway: We both did some writing.

Meat Inspection: The Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 has enhanced sanitary meat slaughtering and processing, but not all packing plants are yet federally inspected. Some 4,000 plants are state inspected, and the inspection is equal to federal levels as required. However, violations still happen, causing further demands for consumer protection, which will likely lead to a mandatory federal meat inspection system nationwide, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. This could lead to tighter federal meat inspection rules as well, which in turn, could reduce beef imports and lead to higher hamburger prices in the U.S.

Silas Wilson

Services for Silas G. Wilson, 86, of Slaton, were held at 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10 at First United Methodist Church of Slaton with the Rev. Steve McElroy, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Englewood Cemetery in Slaton under direction of Englund's Funeral Service. He died at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday in Methodist Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Wilson was born Jan. 6, 1896, in Whitewright and married Izzetta Gillett in July 1918. They moved to Slaton in 1919. She died in May 1975. He married Tillie Krause in April 1977. She died in April 1981. He was a retired farmer and rancher.

Survivors include two daughters, Mary Ann Waldrip of Hereford and Janet Ferguson of Albuquerque, N.M.; a stepdaughter, Evelyn Waldrop of Lubbock; a stepson, Stanley Krause of Tahoka; five grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

BUILDING A STEP FAMILY TAKES TIME--Rearing children is tough, but rearing someone else's children is even tougher. "Today a parent who divorces or becomes widowed is likely to remarry. And the new spouse may have children by a previous marriage too," says home economist Dr. Delores Stegelin. Combining two families in a new marriage may be extra complicated because old and new relationships, attitudes and beliefs are involved, says Stegelin. "Members have not shared past experiences and the new family may have to redefine rights and responsibilities to fit their individual and combined needs," she continues. Time and understanding are the key allies in making a successful transition to a new family, says the home economist. But if problems do occur, deal with them openly and seek professional counseling, step-family organizations or support groups, if necessary, she advises.

CUT SALT SLOWLY

People tend to increase their use of salt because they become accustomed to its taste, says Dr. Dee Graham of Del Monte Corp. Graham suggests gradually eliminating the use of the salt shaker at the table and during cooking to reduce sodium intake. ▲

HISTORIC CLIMB

A team of Seattle mountaineers climbing Mount Everest are the first Americans to retrace the steps of British mountaineer George Mallory, who disappeared on Everest 60 years ago. They are sponsored in part by Del Monte Corp., which means "of the mountain." ▲

Lynn Temple #45 met Aug. 7 with MEC Trutzie Schuknecht in her chair. Plans were completed for the Grand Chief's, Linda Choate, official visit Aug. 21. A salad supper will be served at 6:30 in her honor. Long dresses should be worn.

A bakeless bake sale was voted on for the Grand Chief's project and each member will donate as much as $5. No other monies will be asked for during the rest of her reign. Her project is the updating of the library at the Children's Home.

Homecoming for the Children's Home at Weatherford is set for Sept. 2. Lynn Temple will send $50 for the barbecue dinner which will be catered for the children and staff members.

The Grand Chief will make her official visit to Friendship Temple on Monday, Aug. 20. Lynn Temple is urged to attend.

Twelve ladies were present at the meeting.

Buying a Back-To-School Wardrobe: Recent surveys show that the majority of parents with school age children spend three fourths of their back-to-school budgets on school clothes, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Becky Saunders. Even though school clothes are heavily advertised during August, Saunders recommends waiting until the school year starts to do most of the wardrobe buying. Dressing like others is important to children, and waiting to buy some items give them a chance to know what other kids are wearing, she says.

Millionaire of Lynn County Game Coming To Town!

In just a few weeks, you may sit quietly in your den and watch as your 12-year-old uses a portion of her freshly awarded $30,000 of play money to buy her favorite local business. Maybe your spouse will buy a local gin right before your eyes! You'd better get in the game! The MILLIONAIRE OF LYNN COUNTY game is on its way.

Hailed as a unique fund raiser for the Tahoka Chamberettes, the "monopoly" type game features a board of 32 spaces to be filled with local businesses and industry. The four corner positions will be filled with local medical, legal, banking and advertising firms and personalities.

If you would like your business to be featured on the game board, please call Tahoka Chamberette Juaneil Jones, project coordinator, at 998-4888 during business hours. Select solicitations will be made, but spaces are reserved on a first come, first served basis.

The games which sell to the public for only $12 each will be sold only in the businesses featured on the board. The games are a special, limited edition and will be so marked. You may also reserve a game by calling Mrs. Jones or any Tahoka Chamberette.

The funds raised through ad and game sales will be used to further the Chamberette goals. These goals include restoring the Tahoka Keltner Hotel, promoting community industry, and encouraging interest in local affairs.

You always knew Lynn County was a great place to live. Now with the Chamberettes you can share Lynn County's awakening spirit of positive action.

Cotton Today

Cotton Leadership Class Named: Participants in the 1984-85 Cotton Leadership Program have been revealed by G.C. Cotright Jr., Rolling Fork, Miss., cotton producer, who is chairman of an industrywide National Cotton Council selection committee.

Participants by industry segments are:

- Southeast cotton producer - John W. Hane, 32, Fort Motte, South Carolina
- Mid-South cotton producer - Coleman L. Bailey, 33, Coffeeville, Mississippi
- Southwest cotton producer - David M. Nix, 30, Lamesa
- Western cotton producer - Charles K. Youngker, 39, Buckeye, Ariz.

Cotton ginner - Robert W. Greene, 35, Courtland, Ala.

Cotton warehouseman - Larry G. Lively, 37, Memphis, Tenn.

Cotton merchant - James N. Scott, 35, Dallas

Cottonseed crusher - Jack Sebastian, 37, Lubbock

Cotton cooperative - James Darryl Lindsey, 39, Lubbock

Cotton manufacturer - Thomas Morgan Padgett, 31, Fieldale, Virginia

Aim of the program, funded by a grant to the Cotton Foundation by the Agricultural Chemicals Dept. of DuPont, is to help the participants prepare for leadership roles. They will receive training in the area of government and public affairs, organizational policy development, research and market development, and communications for the next year.

Sessions are scheduled in Washington, D.C.; New York City; Memphis, Tenn.; and various locations across the Cotton Belt for a total of some 30 days.

1984 U.S. Cotton Orientation Program Announced: Invitations have been sent to 33 textile executives from 18 countries to take part in Cotton Council International's annual U.S. cotton orientation program Oct. 14-27. Countries represented purchased 1.3 million bales of U.S. cotton during the 1983-84 marketing year, an increase of 45.5 percent over sales last year. In addition, five textile representatives will accompany the group across the U.S.

The purpose of the trip is to establish personal relations between U.S. producers and their overseas customers. This is a further example of the trend in the European markets for purchases of U.S. cotton, stimulated by the absence of Russia in the European export market.

France, Germany, Italy, and Morocco have been invited to send three representatives each. Belgium, United Kingdom, Finland, Spain, Switzerland, Algeria, and Canada have been invited to send two representatives each. Greece, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Hungary, Yugoslavia, and Israel have been invited to send one representative each.

U.S. Cotton Exports Have A Good Year: Exports of U.S. cotton have had a banner year for the 1983-84 season, according to National Cotton Council economists. Exports this season were 6.45 million running bales, the largest since 1979-80. This approximates 6.77 million 480-lb. net weight bales. Carryover of export commitments into the 1984-85 season is 677 thousand running bales, the largest carryover since 1979-80.

The two largest buyers of U.S. cotton in 1983-84 were Japan (1.74 million running bales) and South Korea (1.17 million running bales). Just these two countries accounted for 45 percent of total exports.

High Interest Rates Hurting Farm Income: The recent rise in interest rates is putting further financial pressure on already hard-pressed Texas farmers and ranchers, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. High real interest rates not only increase costs but also strengthen the dollar against foreign currencies, which discourages exports, encourages imports and stimulates foreign production. A one percent rise in interest rates can add $100 million to the expenses of Texas farmers and ranchers and can reduce net farm income by 10 percent or more.

Brady farmers sent grain storage money

(AUSTIN)--Checks totaling $95,056.81 have been mailed to 39 Brady-area grain farmers in the final settlement of a Texas Department of Agriculture lawsuit against a bankrupt grain elevator. TDA Grain Warehouse Administrator Darrell Ketchum says the suit was filed in early 1983 after TDA inspectors discovered a massive shortage of grain.

The Brady-area farmers earlier shared the cash proceeds from the sale of the remaining grain on a pro rata basis. Ketchum says, "This final pro rata settlement comes from the $82,000 bond required for the warehouse, plus the interest earned on both the bond and monies left undistributed at the time of the sale."

The Farmers-Ranchers Cooperative Association of Brady declared bankruptcy after TDA inspectors discovered more than 19,000 bushels of wheat and nearly 450,000 pounds of grain sorghum missing.

Computer Receipts Can Help With Food Budget

Computerized price scanning systems in grocery stores mean speedier checkouts, and can mean lower grocery bills — if you read the receipts. "Many people throw away the computer generated receipts listing each item, size and price without realizing that they provide an ideal way to keep track of food costs," says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Bonnie L. Piernot. Consumers can use the receipt information to determine how much they spend in certain categories, such as food and non-food items; or meat, vegetables, packaged products, convenience foods and staples. Reviewing the scanner receipt helps identify impulse buying and categories where spending could be cut, says the home economist.

GIRL SCOUTS AT CAMP — On July 22, Rachel Dawes, Maria Wright, Eden Williams and Suzanne Kirby traveled to Camp Tall Pines in Mayhill, N.M., where they stayed for one week of hiking, back packing, horse-riding, singing, sleeping under the stars, and in their tents. The girls backpacked 12 miles. On their return home they visited Carlsbad Caverns.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Fleas attack both man and animals and often become a major problem during the summer months in Texas.

The tiny pests cause annoyance and discomfort and can also spread certain diseases, a major one being bubonic plague.

Adult fleas cause the most problems as they have piercing sucking mouthparts and suck blood, says Stanley Young, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Adult fleas may live from two months to two years. After each blood meal females lay four to eight eggs, which hatch in two to three weeks. They may deposit as many as 500 eggs in their lifetime.

Flea control may be difficult due to the circumstances under which the pests occur. Home infestations are often discovered a short time after a pet has been taken out of the home. Immature fleas have completed development and, with the absence of the normal host, turn to man for their life-sustaining blood meal.

Satisfactory control of fleas for any length of time depends on these factors:

1. Both adult and immature fleas must be eliminated from the home and yard by proper chemical control and sanitation measure, such as replacing infested bedding materials and cleaning carpets and stuffed furniture.

2. Pets must be rid of fleas by using registered chemicals. In the case of rat or mice fleas, these hosts must be eliminated.

3. Reinfestation must be prevented by protecting pets with flea collars or other preventative chemicals during times of likely infestations.

Chemicals registered for indoor flea control include Baygon, DDVP, Dursban, Malathion, Methoprene, Ronnell and SBP-1382. Use a coarse spray on floors and baseboards. Treat one foot up the walls and under the house where possible. Check product labels prior to use.

Chemicals registered for outdoor flea control include Bayton, Cygon, Diazinon, Dursban, Malathion and Sevin. Treat animal's bedding or remove and replace with new material. Good coverage is necessary for good control.

To control fleas on host animals, use Dursban, Lindane, Sevin or Vapona on dogs and Korlan, Lindane, Malathion,

TDA to host Kingsville meeting with Mexican-American Producers

(KINGSVILLE)--The state's first conference on the Future of Mexican-American Farmers and Ranchers in Texas will be sponsored here by the Texas Department of Agriculture on August 24-25. Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says, "Like everyone trying to make a living farming these days, Mexican-American producers are riding on the 'brink of broke'."

"The drought conditions and bad economic times are making it hard for these producers to continue in business. Credit is scarce, commodity prices are low, and an increasing number of Mexican-American farmers and ranchers are facing bankruptcy and liquidation."

"We can work together to make this situation better. This Conference on the Future of Mexican-American Farmers and Ranchers in Texas is an important first step in this regard."

"We want to get producers together to discuss their problems and come up with some strategies for solving them. We are gathering speakers to address the history of Mexican-American producers in Texas, new credit programs to help producers buy land and finance their farms and ranches, innovative marketing approaches—including the role of cooperatives—and TDA programs aimed at improving the profitability of agriculture."

"But the biggest thing we're looking for out of this meeting is producer input. We want to hear the problems and ideas of the hard-working farmers and ranchers who are in the fields every day so we can better design our programs to meet their needs." Assisting the TDA staff in conducting the various workshops and training sessions will be representatives from the Texas Farmers Union, Prairie View A&M University and the Texas A&M Extension Service.

Phosmet and Sevin on cats. Since some of these chemicals have specific restrictions, be sure to read the label prior to use. Some compounds may be harmful to greyhounds and whippets. Do not treat nursing puppies or kittens or animals that are ill.

All conference sessions will be held Saturday, August 25 in the R. J. Kleberg Jr. Agricultural Building on the campus of Texas A&I University. Registration is $6.00, which covers the cost of conference materials and lunch, and begins at 8:30 a.m. The conference is scheduled to run from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The Texas Farmers Union will host a reception Friday evening, August 24, for all conference participants arriving early. That reception is scheduled from 7-8:30 p.m. in the Henrietta Memorial Center, 405 North 6th Street in Kingsville.

Dormitory housing is available from Texas A&I, while both the Holiday Inn and Rodeway Inn in Kingsville are offering special rates to conference participants.

SEMINAR ON COMMODITY OPTIONS FOR COTTON

A seminar on Agricultural Commodity Options for the Southwestern Cotton Industry will be held Sept. 7-8 at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas. The seminar is designed to acquaint cotton growers, merchants and agricultural lenders with agricultural commodity options, in particular with cotton options, notes an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell a particular commodity at a specified price for a specified period of time. It's a type of insurance against sudden price drops.

Thank You

I wish to thank the 1954 Wilson High School graduating class of which my daughter Barbara Montgomery White was a member. At the 30 year class reunion a memorial dedication was held recently honoring her. Most of the class members came to my home and brought a beautiful plant, tied with the school colors. It was a loving and memorable deed and I will never forget it. It was good to see their smiling faces again after so many years. It was a pleasure being equal with few others in my lifetime.

God be with each and every one of you, and I ask His blessings on this wonderfully sweet and loving visit with you, and may His love go with you in each varied place you have chosen for yourselves. I love you and am proud of all of you.

PROPS SALVAGED — The propeller of an ill-fated World War II airplane was salvaged recently from the floor of the Pacific Ocean by Steve Stephens, senior construction foreman with Aminoll Inc., the energy subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc. Covered with sea anemones, the prop is part of a Corsair fighter plane believed to have been ditched during a 1943 training flight. The plane was discovered in 1978 by Stephens while he was performing routine scuba diving work near Aminoll's Platform Emmy, operating 1.3 miles from the Huntington Beach, Calif. shore. A hydraulic hoist was used to lift the 500-pound, 14-foot-diameter propeller from the ocean floor.

Mrs. Grace Heck of Plainview, a member of the Wayland Baptist University Board of Trustees, was named Pioneer Woman of the Plains on May 19th in Plainview and honored at the 56th annual Pioneer Roundup. Her husband, Judge Heck, who passed away in 1978, had also served on Wayland's Board of Trustees.

Grace is serving her second term. Their daughter, Mrs. J.N. (Greta) Marks, lives in Lubbock.

Henry and Grace moved to the Petty Community in 1925, being some of the first settlers to open up the Butler Ranch.

Grace began teaching in the T-Bar Ranch in 1926 for a salary of $125 per month. There were 11 students, but 7 grades. She taught there for two years.

Later John Heck donated five acres of land to build a three-teacher school and move out of the ranch. The new school became the center of the community and was known as the Petty Community.

In 1928 they leased the Sinclair Station in New Home and moved to an apartment in the rear of the station. Grace operated the station while Henry was the ginner at the McDonald-Ely Gin across the road. He later became manager of this gin.

In 1939 they bought the Edwards Gin which became known as the Henry Heck Gin, and owned for 12 years before selling it and moving to Heckville.

Mrs. Clifton Clem entered Methodist Hospital Wednesday, Aug. 8 for ear surgery Thursday.

Jean Ray and the Wendell Morrow family had a surprise awaiting them when they arrived at the Civic Center Thursday night. A nephew of Dub's, David Acree of Oklahoma City was waiting in the lobby to greet them. David travels for an art supply company and was in Lubbock on business. Peggy was modeling in the Skibell's style show. After the show they all enjoyed dinner together, and a nice visit with David. Marjorie Nettles accompanied Jean.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. David Brad Smith on the birth of a son, Trey Carl. He was born at 8:34 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7, 1984 in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He weighed 7 lbs. 9 ozs. and has one brother, 4-year-old Travis.

Grandparents are Mrs. Melba Armes, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Smith. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Marvin Holt, and Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Evans, all of New Home, and Mrs. Mable Smith of Wilson.

Mr. Claude Fewell was dismissed from St. Mary's Hospital Saturday, Aug. 4 and returned to his home in Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Eades and Mary Bess Edwards were in Lubbock Sunday, Aug. 5 for the golden wedding anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Grady, held in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Carlton and Joyce Davies of Amarillo and Kenna Jo Pirtle of Lubbock visited here with us Saturday.

Marlin Maloney, Glenn Kreger and Larry Morgan attended the in-service school in Brownfield last week.

Kerry Clay of Dunn celebrated his third birthday Wednesday night, Aug. 8 with a party in the home of his grandfather, Temp Browning in Post. Others attending were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Clay, and sister Chassity, the Tiny Browning family of Post, and John and Mary Bess Edwards of New Home. Birthday cake and ice cream were served.

Lance Kieth is in Methodist Hospital this Monday to have the pins removed from his left hand. His hand was broken in a football game in September, 1982. Lance will enter Angelo State University in the fall semester.

Lisa and Colt Barnett of Pflugerville came Thursday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tucker.

Larry, Mary and Christie Edwards of Arlington and Sylvia, Frank, Ross and Shelly McDonold of Sweetwater were here Friday and Saturday with their mother, Margaret Edwards and grandmother, Bessie Strain.

SECONDS AND IRREGULARS CAN SAVE CONSUMER MONEY—Careful shopping for seconds and irregulars can save consumers money, if they know how to look for signs of quality, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist. Many manufacturers set standards for their products, says Bonnie L. Piernot. When those standards aren't met, they don't discard the item. Instead, manufacturers label the imperfect product a "second" or an "irregular" and direct stores to sell it below regular retail price, she explains. To get irregulars or seconds that meet their needs, consumers should determine the marks of quality for the product they're buying, advises the home economist. Reading about the product in consumers books or magazines, and comparison shopping in person or by catalog can help consumers discern these quality features.

Harvest-Aid Program For Cotton: Harvest-aid compounds can help farmers get a better grade of cotton and consequently a better price, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. With stripper harvesting, a harvest-aid program can cut ginning costs and improve grades by first dropping the leaves with a defoliant such as DEF or DROPP and then applying arsenic acid, sodium chlorate or paraquat. Apply a defoliant when at least 65 percent of the bolls are open, or use a desiccant when bolls are 75 to 80 percent open. Adding methyl parathion to a tank mix with the defoliant or desiccant will help control late-migrating boll weevils.

Laverne McAllister Named CF Chairman

The Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announces the appointment of Laverne McAllister as Fall Chairman of its 1984 Campaign in New Home.

The Campaign will be held to provide the community with pertinent information about Cystic Fibrosis, the number one genetic killer of children and young adults and to raise desperately needed funds to support research, education and care programs.

CF is difficult to diagnose and, at present, impossible to cure. Each day five babies are born with this tragic disease which will clog and choke their lungs and inhibit their digestive process and their growth. It will eventually take their lives as it takes the lives of three young people each and every day.

For more information about cystic fibrosis and you can help in the fight to find a cure, please contact Laverne McAllister at 924-7291.

Renewable energy sources abundant across Texas

(AUSTIN)—Energy is potentially the largest single new market for Texas agricultural producers, according to State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. Speaking before members of the newly-formed Texas Renewable Energy Industries Association (TREIA), Hightower said businesses already in place in the Lone Star State are turning wind, crop residues, manure and the sun into power for a state that is increasingly power hungry.

"Utility companies are right now planning to build as many as 18 new lignite-fueled power plants in the next 15 to 20 years that would cost Texans $2.5 billion a year. Conservation and renewable energy industries in this state could deliver the same amount of power for a whole lot less money and have dollars left over for food and education," Hightower said.

Hightower said the potential for renewable energy in Texas is virtually limitless. "Already the timber industry produces 50 percent of its own energy from wood waste, and by 1990, between 10 and 14 trillion BTUs of energy may come from mill residues alone. And just 10 percent of our three primary grain crops could produce 125 million gallons of alcohol fuel. Even mesquite and juniper have a use—offering an energy value twice as high as the lignite we're stripping out of good Texas farmland."

"If you harvested just 10 tons per acre of mesquite and brush from our brush-infested rangeland, you could produce 8.1 quadrillion BTUs of energy and restore the range to boot—not to mention putting 10 million acre feet of water to better use."

Hightower pointed out that the membership of the new professional organization for renewable energy shows there is no shortage of entrepreneurial resources in Texas. He pointed to people like John Cozad, who makes ethanol in Edinburg; and Jay Carter of Burkburnett, who makes the electric windmill that is one of the two most sought after systems by California wind farmers.

"We've got a lot of wind in this state—not counting politicians—yet Mike Osborne of Elgin is probably the only wind farmer selling power to the utility company as a business. Then there's Ed

Cox, Jr. He's building a power plant to run on the cattle manure that's so hard to get rid of, and he could sell Austin electricity cheaper than they can make it themselves.

"Our state must look to the future. Our policies must go beyond the vested interests which would keep us tied to non-renewable sources of energy that are more expensive and less reliable than renewable sources. 'When you've got lemons, make lemonade,' goes the old saying. Well, we Texans have an abundance of sunshine, wind, mesquite, manure and all kinds of other God-given resources that are bursting with energy. Let's put them to work for us. This is clean energy, job-creating energy, wealth-producing energy that can be a bigger gusher for the people of Texas than Spindletop produced 83 years ago," Hightower said.

"The key to realizing this enormous potential is for the producers themselves to come together and assert their interests in both the public and private sectors." Hightower told the audience.

He said that the "free" in "free enterprise" has to be treated "as an action verb, not an adjective, and you've got to work together to get your great enterprise free of governmental and financial constraints that have been holding you down."

Also addressing the gathering was renewable energy specialist Amory Lovins, author of numerous books on the subject. Lovins told TREIA members renewables comprise 83 percent of the country's total energy supply.

"Since 1979, the United States has gotten more than a hundred times as much new strategy from savings as from all net expansions of energy supply put together. Even more remarkable of the expansions in the energy supply that we've had in the past five years, we've had more energy from sun, wind, water and wood than from oil, gas, coal and uranium," Lovins said.

The United States can become as efficient as its overseas counterparts, Lovins said, and could cut its energy bills by as much as $200 billion a year, enough to eliminate the federal deficit.

CANNED FOODS COMPARE TO FRESH AND FROZEN

When it comes to nutritional value, fresh and frozen vegetables are good-- but not necessarily better--than canned vegetables, says a nutritionist. A study by the National Food Processors Assn. and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture shows that the levels of nutrients in fresh, frozen or canned vegetables are nearly comparable, reports Mary K. Sweeten. Researchers compared cooked fresh, frozen and canned lima beans, peas, spinach, sweet potatoes, carrots and squash for levels of thirteen minerals, eight vitamins and fiber, she explains. The study shows very little difference in the vitamin A content of any of the products. In the case of peas and spinach, the canned product was even a little higher in vitamin A than the fresh products. Analysis also showed very little difference in minerals and fiber content between fresh, frozen and canned samples, says the nutritionist.

Tahoka Pioneer Museum News

A collection of miscellaneous artifacts from the Lynn County area was given to the Tahoka Pioneer Museum recently by Ken Durham, Longview, Texas.

Among the items of special interest is a bowl-shaped piece of lead, presumed to be from hunters who had made bullets, and then abandoned the residue of lead. A quirt, found in the double lakes area by George C. Wells, was made in the late 1920s, the handle being a large nail; a bullet mold found by N.E. Wood, Sr. on the Alice Fortenberry ranch in the West Point community; a miscellaneous group of arrow points, buffalo teeth and potsherds mounted on a board for display purposes; and an old axe head that was found at the T-Bar Ranch in the early 1950s. Mr. Durham has an extensive collection of Indian artifacts and the items from Lynn County had been collected by him when he was growing up in the area.

The Tahoka Pioneer Museum Board met on Aug. 13 at the Museum, and reports from Winston Wharton, Mabel Gurley and Mel Leslie, regarding various phases of museum improvement were given. A stockade type fence is planned for the small garden area adjacent to the new addition and short lengths of line poles will be used. After adjournment, Mabel Gurley directed the moving of display cases to new locations.

Present at the meeting were Lottie Jo Walker, Mabel Gurley, Bill Craig, Weesie Carroll, Mel Leslie, Kenneth R. Durham, Mary Louder, Madeline Hegi, Winston Wharton, Harold Green and Mildred Abbe. Absent were Auda Norman, Sonny Roberts and Maurice Huffaker.

The House Agriculture and Livestock Committee has unanimously approved the installation of a network of micro-computers by the Texas Department of Agriculture, greatly enhancing direct trade leads for farmers and ranchers in the state. In the picture above, TDA International Marketing Specialist Bob Alger demonstrates how the new Trade and Information Referral System will operate once it is installed at TDA's Austin headquarters and its 12 district offices across the state. Susan DeMarco, TDA Assistant Commissioner for Marketing and Agricultural Development, says, "This information system will vastly improve the ability of the Texas Department of Agriculture to put our farmers and ranchers on the trail of new trade leads--both domestic and international--almost as soon as they break."

On-Farm Demonstration Day Set August 23

An "On-Farm Demonstration Day" has been scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 23 at the Weldon Bailey farm located two miles west and four miles north of Wilson on FM-2192.

Eual Davis, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service indicates, "This is a new concept in field days compared to those we have all attended in the past. We plan to demonstrate several different irrigation water management techniques on the Bailey farm, but unlike other field days, we invite producers to come see all the demonstrations, spend some time at each one in one-on-one discussions, or just come by and visit the demonstration that they are particularly interested in. It's a very informal field day."

New innovative irrigation water management techniques scheduled for demonstration include: a surge irrigation demonstration by Cleon Namken, Soil Conservation Service Engineer; a soil moisture monitoring demonstration by Ken Carver with the High Plains Water District; an explanation of irrigation application efficiency testing using the mini mobile water conservation field laboratory by the SCS field office staff; and a pump plant efficiency testing demonstration performed by Jerry Funck with the Water District.

Soil Conservation Service, Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District, and High Plains Water District personnel will be on hand during the entire day to answer individual questions and provide actual hands-on demonstration of these new management techniques.

rigators are invited to come by at their convenience any time from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for a personalized tour of any and all of the demonstrations arranged for this field day."

of Tahoka, red award in Daytime Non-tailored; and Jason Belew, son of Denny and Mary Belew of Tahoka, blue award in Active Sportswear.

Special Awards received by Lynn County 4-H'ers included Jenifer Fillingim, 2nd overall in Evening and Specialty Wear and she also won the Cotton Award; Jason Belew, 3rd overall in the Active Sportswear Division. These 4-H members were competing against approximately 17-20 4-H'ers in each division.

A Closer Look At The Premium Frozen Dinner: With their gourmet names and fancy packaging, today's "upscale" frozen dinners seem quite different from the ordinary TV dinner on an aluminum tray. But that difference is mostly a matter of cost and type of ingredients rather than nutrition, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist, Dr. Alice Hunt. According to research conducted at Cornell University, calorie count among both premium and TV dinners is relatively uniform, she reports. Most contain 28 to 32 ounces. The weight loss promised on many of the low-calorie meals is mostly a matter of portion control rather than low-calorie cooking, says the nutritionist, since the calorie count per ounce is about the same as other products.

National Farm Group Plots Grassroots Lobbying Effort

The National Farmers Union is establishing legislative action groups in Congressional districts across the country, readying for the debate on the 1985 Farm Bill and other issues affecting rural Americans.

This is according to Mike Moeller, President of the Texas Farmers Union, recently appointed by National Farmers Union President Cy Carpenter to head the National Farmers Union Congressional Legislative Action Committee (CLAC) project.

"There is a pressing need for rural America to be better represented in the political process of this nation, and our CLAC project will help fill that need. Not only will members of the Farmers Union be involved in these local committees, but representatives of rural lenders, senior citizens, electric cooperatives, businessmen and women, and youth; these local committees will truly represent the diversity that is rural America," claims Moeller.

The National Farmers Union has plans to establish a committee of six or seven individuals in each Congressional District in all active Farmers Union states. These committees will be assigned the task of meeting with their respective Congressman (woman) on a regular basis every year, and briefing their U.S. House member on Farmers Union positions concerning not only agriculture, but other economic and social topics.

Members of the CLAC program will be nominated by local Farmers Union officials and selected by the state president, many in time to have input with their Congressional representative on rural America's attitude on the 1985 Farm Bill.

The National Farmers Union is an organization of over 300,000 families across the country who are involved in many different agricultural pursuits, and are bound together in an effort to preserve the family farm and ranch way of life in America.

Jay Dee House is Award Nominee

Jay Dee House of Tahoka has been nominated for an award in the Agricultural Finance category at the Second Annual Agricultural Appreciation Awards Banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 24, at the Holiday Inn-Civic Center in Lubbock. Outstanding agriculturalists from the 23 South Plains counties will be honored.

Nominees for awards in several categories have been named and the winner in each of the categories will be announced at the banquet.

Keynote speaker will be Vern Highley, Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S.D.A., Washington, D.C. Highley was appointed to his position by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block in 1982. He spent several years with Plains Cotton Cooperative Association in Lubbock prior to his appointment in Washington.

The event is sponsored annually by the Agricultural Committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Allen Lash, Chairman. Tickets are on sale at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at $14 each through Aug. 23. Reservations may be made by calling 763-4666.

Free "Texas" Show Set August 19

The cast of "Texas" will present a free variety show called "Texas" Originals on Aug. 19 at 8:00 p.m., at West Texas State University's Branding Iron Theatre in Canyon. There is no admission charge but donations are gladly accepted. Money collected is used solely for scholarships awarded to members of the "Texas" company. Last year 20 students received $100 scholarships.

The entertainment planned for this year's show will include duet acting scenes, dance numbers, singing numbers and original art exhibits done by company members.

"Texas" Originals provides a chance to see gifted young people show-casing their abilities. For further information call 806-655-2181. Gifts can be mailed to P.O. Box 268 (Dept. T.O.), Canyon, Texas 79015.

Holistic Range Management During Drought: Alternatives to improving rangelands are important only when they benefit the entire ranch operation, speakers emphasized at the recent International Ranchers Roundup at San Angelo. Among critical considerations are those concerning the number of animal units a ranch can support, particularly during an extended drought. The bottom line is to meet realistic objectives for the business enterprise in an economic framework which will enable survival. This means using a management system founded on a thorough assessment of range resources. The biggest ingredient for success is a range management plan that the rancher enjoys and believes in.
