County Sadly Eyes End To Revenue Sharing Plan

Lynn County commissioners Monday approved annual payments to several projects, including five paid by revenue sharing and noted that these payments may be the last ones to be made with revenue sharing money.

The payments were made this  year from money left over from federal revenue sharing, a program which for several years has helped city and county governments pay for capital items. From the beginning of the program cities and counites were cautioned not to count on the funds for regular budget items, and the program apparently had ended, meaning there probably will be no revenue sharing funds from now

On Monday the commissioners approved annual payments to all fire departments in the county, $4500 to Tahoka, $1,875 to O'Donnell, $1,125 each to Wilson and New Home. Also okayed were payments to Grassland Community Center ($750), Senior Citizens transportation ($1500), the Soil and Water Conservation District ($1500) and the O'Donnell Ambulance fund ($1875).

All of the above were paid from revenue sharing funds, which means, commissioners noted, that next year there will be no money from the county for these operations unless other sources of money are found.

Revenue sharing money also is used to support the ambulance bid of Continental Electric Co. of Lubbock, totaling $19,600 for a jail lighting project was approved. This project, said Judge Brandon, is necessary to bring the jail up to the Texas Jail Standards in the area of lighting. Nine members of a salary grievance committee were named and members of the county historical committee were appointed. Historical committee members are Johnny Wells, Thalia Burks, K.R. Durham, Winston Wharton, Elvin

Ray Moore, Mrs. Joe D. Unfred, Vickie Summitt, Graham Hensley, Dalton Wood and Dean Bartley.

A schedule of holidays for county workers in 1987 was approved, and the group agreed to seek bids for the county depository, with the bids to be opened at the Feb. 9 meeting.

Sheriff Clifford Laws presented a monthly report showing 56 inmates in the county jail duirng December, with an average of 4.4 inmates per day.

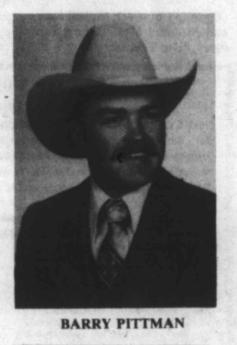

Pittman Named New Tahoka City Manager

Barry Pittman, 32-year-old former ranch manager who has lived in the Tahoka area since 1980, was named city manager for the City of Tahoka last Friday.

One of 20 applicants for the job, Pittman is a 1979 graduate of Texas Christian University Ranch Management program and a graduate of Springlake-Earth High School in 1973.

He and his wife, Retha, have been married for 11 years and they have two children. The Pittmans are members of First Baptist Church of Tahoka and formerly taught the high school Training Union class.

Pittman was ranch manager of T-Bar Ranch from December 1980 to February 1986. Prior to that he was with Neb-Tex Cattle and P&M Farms in Muleshoe, and also has worked for Vann-Roach Cattle Co. in Fort Worth and for Springlake Cattle Co. and for the Lindamood Ranch in Crowley, Tex. "We (the mayor and councilmen) feel the city is fortunate to get a person of Barry's caliber in this job and we believe he has a positive future in the position. We also want to say that we had three other really high-quality local applicants, making the final decision difficult," said Mayor Solomon.

REVEALED: That's the seven years. headline I might put on this column if this column had headlines. The reason is, I decided that with the new year underway, it might be a good time to go through the top drawer of my desk and throw curious item, a piece of foam away the things in there that are just taking up space.

I knew what most of the things were, but I found some unusual things which I had either forgot about or was unconscious when I put them there in the first place. Among those items which I had forgot about:

A checkbook on a bank account which was closed out in 1980.

Directories of Texas Newspapers, the 1986, 85, 84 and 83 editions. The 1986 one is the only one I need, so I threw away the 83 edition.

A container for contact lenses.

Two diet pills.

A 1978 photograph of myself. Very depressing.

Ten months of bank statements. The two months of last year not there probably are the ones which I will someday need to show IRS.

Various pills, medicines and eye drops, called artificial tears. I use those when someone comes in complaining about their bill.

Two hundred thirty-four miscellaneous receipts for

TOP-DRAWER SECRETS things paid for during the last

Charles Stenholm's address (When you really get upset, and your wife won't stand still for any browbeating, write your congressman).

Finally, and the most rubber, about 1x2 inches and a half inch thick. I have no idea why I put it in there, but probably I realized that someday I surely would need one of those.

A FRIEND in Michigan sent me a sort of Care package the other day. He had read what I wrote around Christmas about how no homemade candy or other goodies were produced around our house this year, and no doubt moved to tears by the episode, sent me some cookies, some shaped like the State of Michigan and some like either a Christmas tree or an arrowhead, I couldn't tell which.

He also sent along a jar of coffee and some old clothes. The old clothes were mine and my wife's which we had left up there last summer. It was a surprise to open a package and find my worn-out socks and unmentionables all washed up and neatly folded around the cookies.

Anyway, thanks, Dick and Joyce. We'll send you a package if we can think of something appropriate.

project, said that the group will bring books and video tapes designed to aid the farmer in obtaining a loan in this year of meager FmHA direct loan funds.

Magness said the direct loan funds for the State of Texas have dropped frm $332 million in 1985 to $206 million in 1986, with only $90 million in original funding planned for 1987.

The guaranteed loan fund authority is increasing about as fast as the direct loan authority is dropping, he added.

Payments were also approved to the 7th Judicial District ($338.50), Lubbock Youth Center (a facility used for juveniles from Lynn County; $1201.50) and the county tax appraisal district ($7,180.88). These items all were budgeted, not paid from revenue sharing.

Burglars Strike Again In County

O'Donnell and in Tahoka were investigated by officers during the past week, and Crime Line, 998-5145, is offering $500 rewards in each of four burglaries. Biggest loss was suffered by the Marlo Rudd family, whose residence 2.5 miles north of New Home on FM 1730 was burglarized in daylight hours, between 8:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. last Friday. The burglars took many items, including guns, jewelry, microwave, Pansonic VHS VCR, clothing and other articles totaling an estimated $5748 in value. Another resident in the same general area had reported a car and occupants whose actions aroused suspicion.

Sheriff Clifford Laws urged residents of rural areas to keep a close watch for vehicles which apparently don't belong in those areas. "If residents will call when they spot a vehicle they don't recognize, we'll check it out." he said. "If it's okay, there's no harm done, but this kind of information could lead us to catching a burglar or perhaps preventing one."

The Catholic church rectory in O'Donnell has been burglarized several times in the last two months, with the latest occurring Jan. 4. Among items stolen were a cordless phone, cash on two occasions, 300 feet of copper wire and a 5-inch television set.

Van Green of Lubbock reported a residence on his ranch five miles north of West Point had been burglarized between Jan. 4 and Jan. 8. Taken were a coffee table. Sears stereo and a toaster, Officers pursued the suspect on a dirt road for approximately 2.5 miles north of the city where the rider then turned and rode into a cotton field and was apprehended by police. The man was charged for evading arrest and was issued citations for no driver's license, operating an unregistered vehicle, no liability insurance and running three stop signs.

Donna Willis of Tahoka reported to police on Wednesday, Jan. 7, that a suitcase containing children's clothes had been stolen from the back of her 1984 Chevrolet pickup while parked at Tubb Elementary. The property was later recovered and returned to the owner.

Shorty Williams of 1628 North 3rd reported to police on Wednesday, Jan. 7, that a Homelite 3000 electric generator valued at $500 had been stolen from his residence.

Also during the past week police officers arrested a 21 vear-old female resident of Tahoka on warrants outstanding from an assault case that occurred earlier in the summer. Police also arrested one man for public intoxication and issued two tickets for impeding traffic and no driver's license.

In jail during the week were one person each for assault, theft by check, no drivers license or insurance proof, revocation of probation, DPS traffic warrant, driving while intoxicated, traffic and public intoxication.

Bullock Sees Decline In State Tax Receipts

Texas will have an estimated oil. $35.1 billion to finance the state's 1988-89 budget, down slightly from the past two years.

"Whether this means there will be a deficit--or what size it might be--rests squarely with the Legislature because they set the level of spending," Bullock said, "but even if they hold the line as suggested by the LBB, we're noted. looking at a $5.8 billion shortfall."

"Neither state finances nor the Texas economy are as vibrant as budget, but will only account for they have been in the past and the a total of 10.3 percent in the next state's economy will expand two years. modestly in the next two years Bullock's estimate also cautioned that there will be less money available for general spending because of the state's heavy reliance on dedicated funds and the $1 billion deficit being carried over from the current budget. "The final story will be determined by how the Legislature mixes and matches income with costs," he said.

Texas A&M publication suggests ways to winter-proof your home

COLLEGE STATION — With Jack Frost nipping at your nose, the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources at Texas A&M University says it's not too late to complete a winter checklist for keeping the house warm and saving on utility bills.

The list suggests checking windows, doors and other obvious places where air leaks begin, but also obscure places such as wall outlets, switch plates and attic doors that let cold air in.

To save money, lower thermostat settings to at least 68 degrees during the day and even lower at night before going to bed for substantially lower heating bills. Homeowners are also advised to check their heating equipment for efficiency and safety or arrange for a maintenance check by a heating and cooling contractor or repair service.

Homeowners with a fireplace should make sure to clean excess creosote out of the chimney and lower the thermostat to 50-55 degrees when the fireplace is in use. Heated air from the rest of the house will be lost, but the furnace won't use nearly as much fuel.

In addition, the center suggests changing heating filters at least once a month for efficiency and to provide proper attic ventilation to keep insulation dry. Blocking or closing off turbine ventilators with plastic bags or other devices is not a good practice since it hinders attic ventilation and moisture control.

The bulk of the money to operate government will come from tax collections, which are expected to total about $20 billion.

Tax receipts are expected to be about three percent less than currently being collected and the drop is the first biennial decline in some 30 years.

Sales tax collections, which account for more than half of all collections, will increase by only 2.5 percent above the current level because of modest economic growth and the 1987 temporary tax rates expire on Aug. 31, 1987. Oil taxes are expected to fall nearly 20 percent over current levels because of low prices and declining production. The forecasting revenue to Texas government show the state's population is likely to grow only 2.3 percent in the next two years, compared to 3.1 percent in 1986-87 and more than 4.4. percent in the 1984-85 period.

CLEAN MICROWAVE OVEN FOR EFFICIENT USE--

Compared to cleaning a conventional oven, cleaning a microwave is easy--so easy that many people don't do it often enough. According to a home economist, infrequent cleaning can impair the efficiency of a microwave oven. "Microwaves are absorbed by food, whether that food is on the walls of the oven or in a dish," says Dr. Susan Quiring, "so a build-up of food particles on the oven surface can slow down the cooking process." She says that food soils around the door or the frame may also interfere with the door seal or even prevent the oven from starting properly. Ideally, the microwave should be cleaned after each use with a paper towel or sponge dipped in a mild detergent and warm water solution.

SOIL FERTILITY DECISIONS--Making a major decision on fertilizer usage without the benefit. of a soil test is unwise, says a soil fertility specialist. Not to fertilize when the need is there may result in yield levels which will not generate enough income to cover basic production costs. On the other hand, direct savings can result when a soil test indicates that the soil contains adequate, or near adequate, levels of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium or other nutrients to attain a desired yield goal.

CHEESE IN LOW FAT DIET-From a nutritional standpoint, cheese is a winner--high in calcium and a good source of protein. Unfortunately, it's also high in fat. "A typical 11/2 ounce serving, equal to two slices of American cheese, contains nearly the same amount of fat as 31/2 pats of butter, and most of it is saturated," says Dr. Alice Hunt. a nutritionist. Between 65 and 75 percent of the calories in cheese come from fat. But dieters don't necessarily have to give up natural cheese. If you are watching your fat intake, eat small servings of cheese, eat it on days when you're eating otherwise low-fat menu or save it for special-occasion meals," she advises. "When you use cheese in cooking, pack it loosely when measuring and don't add extra for good measure."

Texas A&M graduates more school teachers than other Texas universities'

COLLEGE STATION — More school teachers are now graduating from Texas A&M University than any other university in the state.

According to figures recently released by the State Board of Education, Texas A&M has surpassed all other higher education institutions in the number of graduates certified to be public school teachers. From 1980 to 1985 the number of new teachers graduating from Texas A&M increased from 402 to 500. During the same period most colleges in Texas and elsewhere in the country experienced a decline in teacher education enrollments, said Dr. Dean Corrigan, dean of education.

Texas A&M's College of Education which also graduates more math and science teachers than any university in the nation, continues to grow in the number of teachers being educated, reported Corrigan.

"Our enrollments have continued to go up because we have developed innovative programs which challenge outstanding students," said Corrigan. Teacher education candidates at Texas A&M must meet higher grade point averages and take pre-tests in English and mathematics prior to entry.

"The educational level of a society can rise no higher than the qualifications of its teachers... the quality of today's teachers will determine the intellectual future of Texas and the nation," Corrigan said.

He maintains teachers need better incentives such as higher pay.

"More importantly, they need better conditions in the work place and they need to be treated as professionals not only by the administrators and school boards in their school districts, but by students and parents as well," he said. "Treat teachers like professionals and they will act like professionals. Self-esteem, not just salary, is the key to attracting and keeping outstanding teacher-scholars," Corrigan said.

Agricultural Chemical Meeting Set Friday

The annual Agricultural Chemcials breakfast meeting will be held on Friday Jan. 16, beginning at 7 a.m. in the Paris Cafeteria, Tahoka.

Dr. James Supak, area cotton specialist, will discuss herbicide usage and weed control in row crop production. He will review the current chemicals that are available as well as discuss any new ones that are being developed. Also, the subject of cotton seed quality will be reviewed in light of the current poor quality seed that was produced by the crop of 86. Dr. Michael Hickey, area soil chemist, will be present to discuss soil testing and crop fertility. This is most critical since soil fertility is the major factor that the declining yields in cotton production is attributed to.

Results of demonstrations of Johnsongrass control in cotton will also be covered.

This meeting is being sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Lynn County Extension Program Council. The committee feels topics that will be covered in this meeting will help the ag producer better plan his operation for the upcoming year and hopefully the economic outcome will change.

Every interested person is invited to attend,

A Visit With Your County Agent By Stanley Young

The annual ag chemical breakfast will be held Friday, Jan. 16, beginning at 7 a.m. in the Paris Cafeteria. I hope you are planning to attend since the topics to be discussed can help you in your farming plans for '87.

Computers are becoming a more common sight around the homes in Lynn County. The Extension service recently placed a portable computer in the office. The public is invited to come in the office and make use of its services.

Currently we have some decision aid software which includes the 1987 farm program and a host of other programs. If you have a computer at your residence and are interested in learning how to run different types of software programs, please contact your office to have your name placed on our mailing list concerning computer usage. If we have enough persons interested in learning Lotus 1-2-3 Dr. Jackie Smith has agreed to come down and teach lessons on it. The phone number of the Extension office is 998-4650.

Stock show season is underway, the O'Donnell show was held this past weekend. The youth exhibited numerous head of fine stock. Our congratulations goes out to the winners. Other area shows will be held this weekend at New Home and Tahoka. I hope you will take time out of your schedule to attend these shows and see what the youth have been working with these past months. I know they will appreciate your attendance and support of their 4-H or FFA programs.

One last item: now is the time to start planning your lawn for the summer. Control of annual ryegrass is possible if you put out weed control herbicides now. These chemicals will prevent the annual grasses and weeds from germinating and coming up. The chemicals can be secured at your local farm stores or garden supply outlets.

The volt, a unit of electrical measurement, is named for Count Volta, inventor of the electric battery.

WINDBREAK TREES — Protect your home and farm from dust storms and harsh winter winds. Plant an evergreen windbreak tree. Field and homestead windbreaks can save up to 30 percent on home heating and cooling costs, reduce erosion and damage to crops, provide shelter for livestock, supply food and cover for wildlife, screen unsightly areas, and prevent wind damage to homes. Deadline for ordering windbreak trees is Feb. 20, 1987. Call or come by the SCS Office for more information.

Cotton Today

Bright Cotton Outlook Seen: Speaking at the National Cotton Council's Beltwide Cotton Conference in Dallas Jan. 8, Memphis merchant William Dunavant Jr., predicted the U.S. cotton carryover at the end of the 1987-88 season would be down to 3.4. million bales.

"This is as low as it can fall without jeopardizing supply and quality distribution for our domestic and foreign customers," he said.

Dunavant estimated next session's domestic consumption would reach 6.8 million bales and exports about 6 million for an offtake of 12.8 million. He forecast U.S. production would escalate from about 9.6 million bales in 1986 to 11.3 million next season because some Far West cotton will not be in the farm program and average yields will be up across the Cotton Belt. World production was projected at 73.8 million bales next season compared with this year's 68.7 million and consumption at 77.7 million versus this year's 77.3 million. The resulting world carryover would be 33.4 million bales, without adjusting for China's true carryover. Although China supposedly had an 18-million-bale carryover in August, 1986, Dunavant said he believes its spinnable cotton will only be in the range of 7.5-8 million bales. If so, this would make the world carryover of spinnable cotton actually 26.9 million bales instead of the 37.4 million now relfected in world cotton statistics, the merchant said. Awards Presented: Scientists and educators making outstanding contributions to cotton were recognized with special awards presented at recent Beltwide Cotton Conferences in Dallas. The Mobay Cotton Research Recognition Award was presented to Dr. Lambert H. Wilkes, Texas A&M agricultural engineering professor, for his module design that allows more efficient handling and storage of cotton in the field. The award, made through the Cotton Foundation, meant a $15,000 check for Lambert and $10,000 to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station.

agricultural engineer Gene Siegler. Team members will share. a $10,000 award, and $5000 will be presented to the Georgia Cooperative Extension Service in Tifton as support money for the group's activities.

A $500 Cotton Genetics Award, sponsored by commercial cotton breeders, was won by Raymond Shepherd of USDA's Crop Science Research lab in Starkville, Miss., for his work in developing cotton with root-knot resistance.

ATMI President To Address Cotton Council: Dewey L. Trogdon, president of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, and Larry D. Brady, chairman of the National Agricultural Chemicals Association, will be among speakers at the National Cotton Council's annual meeting Jan. 25-27 in San Diego.

Trogdon, who is also president and chief executive officer of Cone Mills Corp., Greensboro, N.C., is scheduled to address the Council's general session Tuesday morning, Jan. 27. He will share the platform with Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng.

Brady, vice president of FMC Corporation's Agricultural Chemicals Group, Philadelphia, will speak at the general session Monday afternoon, Jan. 26. Other Monday speakers include House Budget Committee chairman William Gray (D-Pa.) Rep. William Thomas (R-Calif.) and Council President Lloyd Cline, Lamesa, Tx., who will give the keynote address.

Introducing the new Smith Corona typewriter with Spell-Right."

Incredible is the word for the new Smith Corona electronic typewriter with Spell-Right II dictionary. Because that's just one of the 50,000 words you won't spell wrong. Inside this sleek exterior is a complete correction system that catches your typing boo boos before you do. Better still, before anyone else does.

Sure it's advanced. But it's easy to use. While you type, your spelling is constantly proofread by a built-in dictionary memory. It beeps the instant you misspell or even mistype a word.

The Find feature locates your error anywhere on the line. And if you've made several mistakes, it finds them, too. There's more technology at a touch: Full Line Memory Correction, Automatic Relocate, Auto Return, Auto Centering and Automatic Underline.

You get Dual Pitch, Programmable Margins and Tabs and electronic end-ofpage warning.

And with optional Messenger module your typewriter becomes a 10 cps letter-quality printer when you hook it up to a computer.

Best of all, you get this letter-perfect portable at a perfectly affordable price. Which makes the Smith Corona with Spell-Right one really good buy.

Johnston said the one-time payment is available to many low-income households. Applications for energy assistance were mailed to households that received food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or Supplemental Security Income in December. Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

Dear Mr. Wood,

This letter is in response to a letter to the editor dated 12-24-86 by Wayne Huffaker. In his letter Wayne refers to "that new agency we will be dealing with" ..."I am speaking of the Soil Conservation Service.

We can appreciate Wayne's concerns, especially since he is not accustomed to using the many services available through the Soil Conservation Service. As a matter of history the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District was approved in 1941. That same year we signed an agreement with USDA in Washington permitting them to send SCS people to work with the district and local landowners in Lynn County. They have been doing that now for 46 years. Through the years SCS personnel have written and administered nearly 400 Great Plains contracts with land owners and operators in Lynn County. SCS has an excellent track record in this area. Each year SCS personnel work with hundreds of landowners and operators on a variety of projects.

Wayne mentioned the Conservation Compliance part of the 1985 Farm Bill. This aspect of the bill is scheduled to start Jan. 1, 1990. The law will require the carrying out of an approved conservation program on the land. That is all that is required under the Great Plains contract and the LTA. So if you are among the 400 who have carried out a GP contract or an LTA in the past, be assured that you won't have any trouble working with SCS under the new proto help Lynn County farmers comply with the new law. They have had good working relations with Lynn County farmers for 46 years. Our promise to Wayne and all other farmers is that this will not change. As Wayne stated, "don't blame SCS for the new law." As a farmer, if you will come to SCS with a positive attitude you will be met with a positive attitude.

We agree that the ASCS personnel are a great group of dedicated people and deserve your sincere appreciation. Be assured that the SCS people are just as dedicated and hard working.

> Sincerely Lynn County SWC Board of Directors T.B. Mason W.R. Steen Lit H. Moore

Dear Sir:

On Dec. 20, 1986, at approximately 9:30 a.m. I was driving from Brownfield to Richardson via highway 380. I was driving a two-tone blue, 1985 Chevy Astro Van, license plate number 891 JXA. I had my luggage strapped to the top of the van and also a cardboard box containing family pictures and keepsakes my mother had left me. When I stopped in Aspermont, Texas for gas at approximately 11:30 a.m. I discovered that the box had come loose and had been lost somewhere between Brownfield and Aspermont.

By means of this letter I am hoping you will run a story about this in your newspaper so that maybe if someone picked up the box or has information about the gram. SCS responsibility will be box they will know how to get in contact with me. The reason this box is so important to me is because my mother, Joan Meil of Brownfield, Texas, passed away on Monday, Dec. 15, 1986, and everything of value in the box was pictures and keepsakes she had left me. There is nothing of value in the box to anyone but me. I contacted the Sheriff's office in Brownfield, Tahoka, Post, Aspermont and Jayton, but they have not come up with anything as of yet. The box is a brown cardboard box with a lid, approximately 12" by 18" by 6" it has the word "Avon" printed on it several places and was securely taped with gray duct tape. It may or not have had my mother-inlaw's name on it on a mailing label (Ima Smith, 513 Yucca Lane, Brownfield, Texas 79316) on the outside.

I would really appreciate any help you can give me in locating this box as it has great sentimental value for me. My mother's married name was Mrs. D.W. Meil, 711 Yucca Lane, Brownfield, Texas 79316.

If the box is found please contact JoDee Smith, 2111 Linda Lane, Richardson, Texas 75081 or call 214-235-1116.

Sincerely, JoDee Smith

Fatalities Drop

Aug. 30, 1986, Texas residents and visitors traveled more miles by automobile than ever before. They buckled up at the rate of 65 percent in the front seats of cars and light trucks. Fatalities in those seating positions were cut by an estimated eight percent. George Gustafson, president of the Texas Safety Assn. stated, "We've known for years that safety belts save lives, when they are used correctly. We felt that a safety belt use law, firmly enforced and backed by a strong public education effort, would have a positive effect on the death rate. The figures indicate that this is

TEXAS WINE INDUSTRY--Without doubt, the Texas wine industry is for real, says a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Today Texas boasts about 3,000 acres of grapes and 150 commercial growers. There are 17 wineries in production and several new ones are on line for 1987. Currently, Texas is producing $20 million worth of wine annually, and this figure should continue to grow. More importantly, Texas winneries are producting top quality wines, as recent competitions have shown.

HPUWCD Is Measuring Water Depth In County

On Jan. 5, personnel at the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 began measuring the depth to water in more than 950 waterlevel observation wells scattered throughout the Water District's service area. The measurements will record what effect 1986 pumpage had on the water level of the Ogallala aquifier within the Water District's 15-county service area.

Keith Whitworth will measure wells in Lynn County and hopes to complete the measurements by the middle of February.
