Bulldogs Beat Seagraves On Field Goal, 17-14

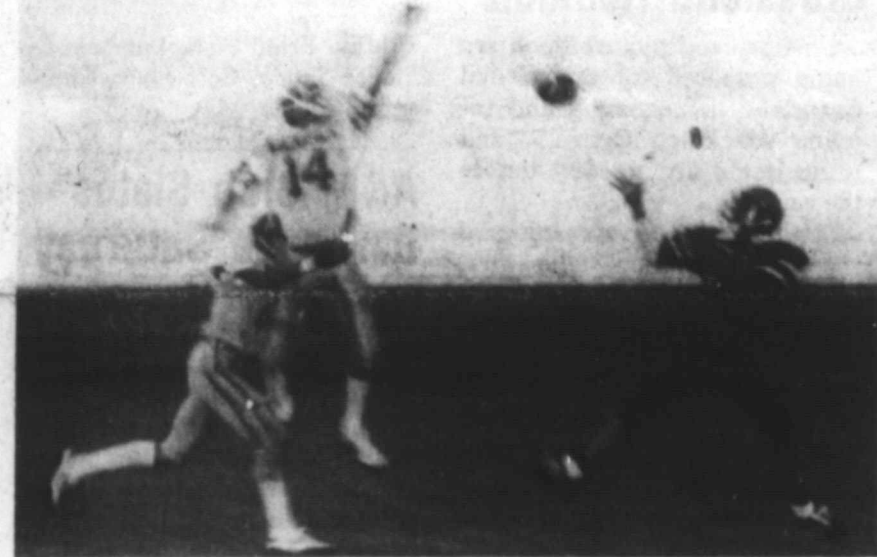

BY DALTON WOOD
Rusty Jennings' field goal and Percy Rogers' two touchdowns and his game-saving tackle on the last play gave the Tahoka Bulldogs a 17-14 district-opening victory at Seagraves last Friday.
It was the first win of the year for Tahoka and put the Dogs in a four-way tie for first place in district standings, as Coach Ted Wiley's team this week prepares for a homecoming game here against Morton.
The Indians were beaten 20-6 last week by Spur, which like New Deal in 4-AA has not lost a game all season. Shallowater was the other district winner, beating Ralls 47-0.
Friday night's win over Seagraves was sweet and fairly rare for the Bulldogs, as Tahoka had lost six games in a row to Seagraves since beating them 30-22 in 1965.

Early in the second quarter Friday Rogers broke free and raced down the right sideline 42 yards to score, and after George Morin kicked the point, it was 7-0, Tahoka. But Seagraves came back to score on a 1-yard plunge by Curtis Wilson after Tahoka turned the ball over on a fumble at the Bulldog 13, and the halftime score was 7-7.
The Eagles went in front in the third quarter with a 42-yard scoring pass from QB Glen Allen Phillips to Bryan Legan, and a kick made it 14-7.
In the fourth, however, Seagraves muffed a punt and Bulldog End Kurt Bryan fell on it at the Eagles 3. Rogers ran 3 yards to score with 8:50 left and Morin kicked to tie the score again at 14.

With just 33 seconds left in the game, Jennings kicked a 28-yard field goal. He had never attempted a field goal in a game, but Morin was injured, so Coach Wiley told Jennings to kick it. The kick was a line drive which just barely cleared the crossbar to give Tahoka the lead.
It wasn't over, however. Seagraves, after the kickoff, made one first down running, then threw a couple of incomplete passes. Then, with just 3 seconds left for a final play, a desperation pass appeared to be intercepted by Tahoka defender Jim Patterson, but the ball skipped off his fingers to be caught by Wilson of Seagraves, who headed for what looked to be a long touchdown run on the final play. But he was overhauled by Rogers and knocked out of bounds at the Tahoka 5, after going about 60 yards and with time already expired.
Tahoka's wishbone attack ground out 248 yards rushing and 57 yards passing, and two Bulldog backs gained more than 100 yards. Jennings had 104 yards in 14 carries and Rogers gained 101 in 11 carries. The two backs averaged 7.4 and 9.2 yards per carry, respectively.
Thomas Glisson caught two passes for the 57 yards. Tahoka lost only one fumble in the game, and picked up two Eagle miscues.
Linebacker Bobby Gonzales was the defensive leader for the Bulldogs against Seagraves, getting two unassisted and 12 assists on tackles. Defensive tackle Joseph House assisted on 12 tackles and recovered a fumble. Linebacker Shannon Clift was in on 13 tackles and leads the team in that category for the year so far, being in on 55 tackles.
End Ronnie Dunn had two unassisted tackles and five assists and a quarterback sack. Defensive back Mike Ramirez also was singled out by coaches for some good hits, including two unassisted tackles and four assists.
Tackle Gary Daniell still is out with an injury and the status of Morin for the Morton game is questionable.

County Harvest Festival To Offer Fun, Food, Prizes

A wide variety of entertainment is expected to lure county residents to the 12th annual Lynn County Harvest Festival Saturday, an event which offers free games, contests and other activities all day long on the Tahoka square.
Drawings will be held on the hour for prizes donated by county merchants, and food and crafts booths will draw much interest. The Harvest Festival Princess contest will be held at 1:30 p.m., followed by the Queen contest at 2:00. The drawings for the Puerto Vallarta, Mexico trip, Texas Tech weekend, and two bicycles will be held during the afternoon, with the lucky winners drawn from ticket sales conducted by the queen and princess contestants.
Merchant drawings will begin at 11 a.m. and will be conducted hourly from the stage in the center of the courthouse lawn. The arts and crafts fair will be open from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the old Anthony's building on the west side of the square.
Rex Thomas and Band will entertain with country and western music during the day, and will play for the street dance from 8 p.m. until midnight. The dance is sponsored by Tahoka Rotary Club, who will open their sausage booth during that time.
Other scheduled activities will include a baby crawl contest (new this year), pet and stuffed animal contest, frog and turtle races, stick horse races, roller roping, men's hairy leg contest, and children's games throughout the day. School art will be on display at the Arts and Crafts Fair, and Flowers, Sweet Shop, and Perry's.

Judges for the Harvest Festival Queen contest, sponsored by Tahoka Chamberettes, will be representatives of the Robert Spence Modeling School in Lubbock. The winner will receive a $100 scholarship from Chamberettes. Queen contestants are Kathy Davis, J.J. Wiseman, Lendi Jordan, Autumn Martin, Denise Brazil, Candice Bailey, Melissa Ramirez, Kim Ingle, Connie Parker, Mary Roberts, Rochelle Reid, Marie Garcia and Lacye Jolly.
The Harvest Festival Princess will be determined by the number of tickets sold by princess contestants. The girl who sells the most tickets will be crowned Princess at ceremonies set at 1:30 p.m. Princess contestants are Amy Chandler, Michelle Quisenberry, Susan Draper, Jill Jaquess, Miranda Martin, Marisa Martin, Darla Willis, Kathy Greer and Kellie Greer.

Tahoka Rotary Club, seeking donations from the general public on its project to help stamp out polio everywhere, will have free brochures on the "Polio Plus" program available at the Rotary sausage booth. "We hope that many of those who buy sausages will allow us to put their change into the Polio Plus donation canister which will be at the booth," said local campaign chairman Dalton Wood.
A list of booths and schedule of activities can be found elsewhere in this paper.
Several merchants plan to offer special savings with "Saturday Only Specials" or sidewalk sales during the festival. They are Jennings of Tahoka, Tahoka Daisy, Genny's, Parker Pharmacy, The Cake Palace, Balloons and TEXAS, says U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, needs a Super Collider, and he wants everyone to vote for Amendment No. 19 on the ballot Nov. 3.

Back when Lubbock was hoping to get the Super Collider located somewhere in this area, I kept wondering what a super collider is, having visions of some guy drinking beer and driving a souped-up pickup in heavy traffic.

What it is, says Congressman Frost, who represents some area of Texas (only I couldn't find out where), is a device which pushes subatomic particles to high velocities and drives them into each other. This, he says, will allow scientists to learn some things about subatomic structures for possible advances in medicine, electronics "and other areas."
That's pretty vague, but when someone is telling me about subatomic particles, they can be as vague as they want to, because they already lost me.

Anyway, this amendment will allow the state to issue $500 million in general obligation bonds. However, no bonds would be issued if Texas doesn't get the "Superconducting Super Collider," which is the full name for the facility. The money from the bond issue would be used to purchase land and provide roads and utilities to the super collider site if Texas gets it.

Frost may represent the Amarillo area, since they are still in the running for the SSC. I still can't place him, but the name is familiar. Maybe I thaw him on TV.

I HAVE DECIDED that Sister Sophia must be at least 135 years old. Or, what is more likely, there are any number of Sister Sophias. Anyway, I noticed a clipping of something or other on my desk and on the back side was a part of an ad for Sister Sophia, "Spiritual Healer, Reader & Advisor," who will tell you your past, present and future and will help you, regardless of what problem you may have. I remember reading the same thing about Sister Sophia 27 years ago when I lived in Lubbock, and someone told me at that time that someone by that name had been doing readings for years.

It reminds me of the story of how the Lone Ranger broke the fortune teller's hand: He crossed her palm with Silver.

Draper - McLaren Wedding Vows Repeated

First United Methodist Church of Tahoka was the setting for the wedding of Andra Kay Draper and Gary R. McLaren Saturday, Sept. 26, at 4 p.m. The Rev. Sam Estes of Lubbock performed the double-ring ceremony before a fan candleabra decorated with votive cups and springer fern. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Draper of Tahoka and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McLaren of Lubbock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown styled in white silk organza, lavishly trimmed in Chantilly lace. The Queen Anne neckline featured stand-up ruffles of soft-silk organza. The bodice was styled with an empire waistline and was overlaid with appliques of Chantilly lace, trimmed in seed pearls. The back of the dress featured 12 rows of Chantilly lace and ruffled organza which formed a cascade which swept into a full chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was gathered to a circlet of silk flowers, pearl peps and clusters. She wore the traditional blue garter and penny in her shoe for luck. She also wore a necklace given to her by her late paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Draper, which contained a diamond from her own wedding band. She also wore her maternal grandmother's wedding band. She carried a cascading bouquet of silk roses, gypsophilia and stephanotis accented with clusters of seed pearls and lace. Attending the couple as honor attendants were Mrs. Elaine Blair of Lubbock, sister of the bride and Steve Bloyd also of Lubbock. Denise White of Arlington was maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Rajeania Pittman of Borger, Tanya Tyler of Lubbock and Brenda Cannon of Hale Center. They wore drop waist waltz-length teal taffeta dresses with full puffed sleeves. They carried nosegay bouquets of peach and white roses and primroses.

Groomsmen were Darrell Adams of Waco, Mitch McCraw of Lubbock, Doug James of Canyon and Mike Williams of Goldwithe.

Ushers were Eddie Joe Blair of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the bride, and Brad White of Houston. The gentlemen of the wedding party wore black tuxedos.

Nieces of the groom, Michelle and Melissa McGrew of Plano were candlelighters. Celest Turner of Lubbock was flower girl. The girls wore dresses similar to the bridesmaids in peach colors. Cody McGrew, of Plano, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Jill Remy of Lubbock, accompanied by Gary White of Idalou, sang "In This Very Room", "Sunrise, Sunset," and the Lord's Prayer." Martha Brent and Brady Raindl, cousins of the bride, passed out rice bags.

Special guests included the bride's grandparents and the groom's sister and family, Mrs. Gary McGrew of Plano.

The bridal party of Andra Draper was honored at a bridesmaid luncheon Sept. 19, in the home of the bride's parents. Special guests were Ann McLaren, mother of the groom. Others attending were Elaine Blair, Denise White, Brenda Cannon, Rajeania Pittman, Donna Raindl and Mary Louder.

Phebe K. Warner Club News

The Phebe K. Warner Club met on Sept. 22 in the home of Mrs. Edna White with Rebecca Ingle serving as co-hostess. Mrs. White presided over the meeting with 21 members present. Six new members were welcomed into the club; Mrs. Rhonda Reid, Mrs. Barbara Foster, Mrs. Jay Banerjee, Mrs. Loretta Tekell, Mrs. Mern Lewis and Mrs. Jann Gardner.

Mrs. Madeline Hegi introduced the program presented in conjunction with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs' own project entitled "Stop Elder Abuse". The program was presented by Mike Downing of Lubbock who is with the Adult Protective Services division of the Texas Department of Human Resources. He was accompanied by Mrs. Maxine Looney, the divisions' caseworker for this area. Downing stated that an estimated 110,000 elderly and disabled Texans will be abused, neglected, and exploited by a relative or caregiver this year. In 1983 a law was passed requiring any person who believes such a situation exists to report the circumstances to the department. A person may do this confidentially, and even anonymously, if he prefers. The law provides that the person making such a report is immune from civil or criminal liability, unless he is acting in bad faith or with malicious purpose. The toll-free 24-hour Adult Abuse Hotline number is 1-800-252-5400. Once a report is made, the law requires the department to initiate a prompt and thorough investigation of any suspected need for protective services within 24 hours of the report. In 1985, 49 percent of the cases investigated were situations of self-neglect, 20 percent were situations of caretaker neglect, 18 percent were abuse cases, and 13 percent were instances of financial exploitation.

Downing said that the greatest problem in aiding Adult Protective Services victims is a lack of resources such as emergency shelter, medical and psychological services, and supervised residential care for those suffering from Alzheimer's disease and other related disorders. He encouraged club members to get involved individually and collectively to help with this problem. "The best way to begin is to familiarize yourselves with the elderly and disabled of your community, learn about their needs, and help to meet those needs," stated Downing. Anyone wishing to volunteer service or resources for the neglected and abused of Lynn County is invited to call Mrs. Looney at 762-8922.

In its business meeting, the club voted to contribute $25 to the Girlstown, U.S.A Educational Fund. The club will have a drinks booth at the Harvest Festival on Oct. 3. Volunteers will serve as hostesses for the Fair that day.

The 1987-88 Scholarship recipients of the Lady Dobbins Stewart Scholarship are Jacqui Lockaby, sophomore at Texas Tech majoring in Ag Communications; and Marissa Roberts, freshman at Rick's College in Idaho majoring in Business Administration. The scholarship recipients of the Maurice Bray Scholarship are Joe Dell Patterson, junior at Texas Tech majoring in Family Relations; Doug Lawson, sophomore at Ranger Junior College majoring in Business Finance; and Timmy Jolly, freshman at South Plains College majoring in Commercial Art.

Armed Robbery, New Burglaries Reported

A new round of burglaries and thefts in Lynn County, and an armed robbery in O'Donnell headed a list of incidents investigated by officers in the county during the last week.

Shortly after midnight Thursday, two men wearing stockings over their faces, with one carrying a rifle and the other a knife, entered Allsup's in O'Donnell, threatened clerk Mary Garza and escaped with a little more than $200 in cash.

The clerk said the men ordered her to put the money from the cash register into sacks, then fled the scene. A white van seen leaving the general area was later found abandoned east of O'Donnell where a 1980 GMC pickup owned by Pat Hensley was stolen from a farm hand's home.

Investigation into the holdup was continuing this week, and Sheriff Clifford Laws said two suspects in the case were in custody in Amarillo Wednesday. Also, the stolen pickup was believed to have been located in Lubbock.

Five burglaries were reported in the county during the week and Crime Line 998-5145, has offered $500 rewards in each case. The Ernest Perez residence on FM 179 in the Lakeview community was entered and missing items included an RCA video cassette recorder and a turntable, total value $530.

A Montgomery Ward freezer was stolen from a storage barn owned by John Mann of Lubbock 19.5 miles northwest of Tahoka Thursday night.

A barn owned by Bobby Joe Smith of Lubbock was burglarized sometime last week, about 6 miles northwest of New Home. Missing were a sledge hammer, cutting torch and hoses and gauges and a pair of vise grip pliers, total value $250.

During the day Tuesday, the residence of Gaylon Tekell 11 miles northwest of Tahoka was burglarized, and a Toshiba VCR, tapes and assorted jewelry in a box were stolen. The home of Ruth Mathis 3.5 miles northeast of Tahoka was entered between 4:30 and 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, and stolen items totaled $4200 in value. Included were a 19-inch Sylvania color TV, satellite receiver, Sharp microwave oven, .22 pistol and a makeup kit.

C.T. Louder reported theft of a gasoline-operated pump from a water tank on a trailer at his farm 2 miles northeast of Tahoka over the weekend.

Jimmy Williams reported 7.5 gallons of Roundup herbicide stolen from his pickup parked at a residence on FM 213 two miles east of FM 2956 Thursday night.

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated a collision Monday at N. 2nd and Ave. P involving a 1985 Buick driven by Mrs. Mabel McGinty and a 1983 Pontiac driven by Lana Tekell, both of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

No new developments were reported in the investigation into the recent discovery of cocaine in a junior high restroom at Tahoka High School. However, school officials pointed out last week that since the original finding, drug-sniffing dogs had been brought back to the school twice and a thorough search turned up no new drugs.

In jail during the week were one person for public intoxication and displaying an expired vehicle registration and one for speeding and violation of promise to appear.

Rev. Kerry Hurst To Speak At Methodist Revival Here

Rev. Kerry Hurst, pastor of Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Lubbock, will lead Revival services at the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka, Oct. 11-14. Services will begin at 7 p.m. Sunday, following a covered dish dinner at the church at 6 p.m. Mark and Twila Gibbens-Rickman, co-pastors, invite all members of the community to participate in the four-day revival.

Monday through Wednesday, a breakfast devotional will be held from 7 to 8 a.m., Bible studies will begin at 10:30 a.m., fellowship lunch at noon, and evening worship will begin at 7 p.m.

Tahoka youth, chancel and bell choirs will play special music during the services, in addition to the musical leadership of Derrell and Sandy Patterson, who are presently serving at First United Methodist Church in Littlefield. Men will be serving the breakfast each morning, and invite everyone to come for singing and a devotional, then leave in time for work or school, or stay and have an extra cup of coffee. A lunch of soup and sandwiches will be provided at the church, free of charge, each day in the Fellowship Hall. The community is invited to attend all the scheduled events of the revival. A nursery will be provided during worship services.

"Periodically we need to take time to look at our heart and determine who resides on its throne. Revival means, 'reviva', renewal of life, bringing of fresh life," says Rev. Hurst. He is married to the former Kim Turner, daughter of Kenneth and Mackey Turner of Tahoka, and they have three children, Kurt, 9; Kassi, 7; and Kelcee, 5. He attended Texas Tech University, McMurry College, and Asbury Theological Seminary, and is the 1987 recipient of the Northwest Texas Conference Evangelism Award.

Degree from Asbury Theological Seminary after attending McMurry College where he majored in Religion and minored in Music. He was choir director and associate minister at Harrodsburg UMC while in seminary. Mrs. Patterson received her B.A. in Biblical Literature from Taylor University in Indiana, and her Masters in New Testament from Asbury Theological Seminary. STAR LONE STAR FARMER — Jody Woodard received a plaque honoring him as Star Lone Star Farmer of Area II at the State FFA Convention in Ft. Worth recently.

Stanley Young To Be Lubbock County Agent

Longtime Lynn County Extension Agent Stanley Young has been named to fill Lubbock County's vacant position of county agricultural agent.

The appointment was announced this week by Lubbock County Judge Rod Shaw and Bob Robinson, district director with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Young, Lynn County extension agent for the past 10 years, will assume his new duties Nov. 1.

Young first joined the Extension Service in 1974 as an assistant agricultural agent in Lubbock County. He served here three years until taking the post in Lynn County. In returning to Lubbock, Young fills the vacancy left by the promotion of Randy Upshaw to district director for the North Central Extension District, Dallas.

"We are extremely fortunate and pleased to have an agent of the proven quality of Young and who is most familiar with the agriculture of Lubbock County and the South Plains," Robinson said. "He has a track record of providing outstanding agricultural programs and leadership of 4-H youth programs during the past 13 years."

Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon echoed Robinson's assessment of Young's service and said "we hate to lose Stanley, but we do wish him the best in his new assignment. It will be difficult to find a suitable replacement... Stanley has been very cooperative and capable during his years of service in the county."

Young was born and reared in the Claytonville community of Swisher County. He is the son of L.D. Young, now of Tullia, and the late Mrs. Young. He was graduated from Kress High School.

A 1968 graduate of Texas Tech University, Young holds a B.S. degree in animal production. In 1976, he received an M.S. degree in animal breeding from Tech.

After graduating from Tech in 1968, Young served two years in the Army, 13 months of that in Korea. He returned to Tech in 1970 as supervisor of the university's meats laboratory and coached the school's livestock judging team. He had been a member of that team as an undergraduate. Young then farmed in Swisher County for a year and a half before joining the Extension Service.

Young is past president of the Tahoka Rotary Club and president of the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department. He is active in the Texas County Agricultural Agents Assn., serving as district director, and in the National Assn. of County Agricultural Agents.

"He has provided outstanding educational programs for the agricultural producers of Lynn County and his 4-H members have consistently placed high in district and state events," Robinson noted.

Throughout his Extension career, Young has been active with the Panhandle-South Plains Fair. He has served as superintendent of the crops division for three years, superintendent of the steer show for eight years, and for the last two years has served as superintendent of the swine division.

NEW SCS EMPLOYEE—Mario Avila of Slaton, has been assigned to the Soil Conservation Service at Tahoka as a Soil Conservationist. Mario and his wife, Margarita have two children, Mario Jr., 15, and Sonia, 8. LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO

NEW SCS LOCATION

The Tahoka Soil Conservation Service has moved to the Federal Land Bank building at 1647 Ave. J. effective Sept. 30. Business hours will be 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

SCS personnel invites everyone to come by and visit or call anytime for assistance.

Barky Condition

Face Farmers

Cotton farmers across the South Plains are again facing the prospect of bark contamination which can reduce their payments for ginned fiber, cautions a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Because of the late crop, excessive moisture and rank growth in many fields, the problems of barky cotton could be serious again this year, said Dr. James Supak, Extension cotton agronomist.

One thing growers can do to minimize the problem, Supak said, is to pay strict attention to the way their strippers are adjusted before harvesting.

He said the Extension Service has a limited number of copies of a videotape which can help farmers combat bark and stick content which reduce the grade of the fiber. The tape, which runs less than 10 minutes, would be appropriate for use at gin offices or producer meetings, he said. It is available from Supak.

It explains basic adjustments and stripper modification developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture engineers. The modification has been shown in area demonstrations to reduce the stick content in stripped cotton.

It has been shown, in USDA and Extension tests with producers, that stick content is closely related to the bark content of ginned cotton.

"Reducing the stick content is a good way to reduce the number of barky bales," Supak said. In USDA tests, this modification reduced the number of barky bales up to 65 percent.

Lynn County boasts some 266 4-H members who are among more than 305,000 in Texas and 4.5 million across the country who will participate in the week-long celebration.

In celebrating National 4-H Week, we recognize that 4-H is truly a people development program, says Annis Brown, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. 4-H helps young people develop skills that will be useful in the real world. It helps them discover their strengths and weaknesses. It exposes them to activities in a variety of career fields and helps them to build positive self concepts for directing their lives. And, most importantly, 4-H'ers learn and have fun doing it. And families families can add to the fun by learning and growing together.

Learning doesn't stop with the 4-H member and family. Volunteer leaders learn new skills while sharing their expertise with young people, notes Brown. Through a network of volunteer leaders, state landgrant universities, state and local governments and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 4-H has been able to stimulate youth to develop life skills.

Some 170 adult volunteer leaders work with 4-H boys and girls in Lynn County through 4 different 4-H clubs.

4-H'ers can choose from some 70 different project and program areas designed to help them prepare for the future, adds Brown.

More information about the 4-H program is available at the county Extension office.

New Services Taxable Oct. 1

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said many new services will become taxable on Oct. 1, when the state's sales tax rate increases from 5 1/4 percent to 6 percent.

"The tax change will not only hit items which are now currently taxed, but a number of newly taxable items and services," Bullock said.

The expanded sales tax base was a major element of a $5.7 billion tax bill approved by the Legislature this past summer.

Middle-Aged Marriages Built On Changes

Typically, the shared activity of husband and wife decreases from the beginning of marriage onward, with some variations. Yet this increasing independence of spouses can be part of a close relationship. Mutual independence may involve separations that allow each spouse to pursue his or her special interests, or may require a change of household and childcare responsibilities. These adjustments may be strongly resisted in couples who have a division of labor that rests on sex-roles.

Couples may need to ask if they resist taking on the other's responsibilities because they are "bad at it," because it is "feminine" or "masculine," or for what other reason.

Similarly, some husbands feel inadequate to be the warm, sharing, caring person their wives may be growing to expect. And women may feel unable to put their needs on a plane with those of their husbands and children because of earlier training which encouraged them to attend to the needs of others.

What makes a good marriage in middle age? It seems to be one where there is an unusual degree of sharing of personal feelings and values, one that will survive even demanding changes within the relationship. It should have "stretching ability," enabling the partners to adapt to the stresses of change, including the development and growth of the two partners.

Guide To Clay Tile Flooring

Clay tiles give a cool feel and southwestern or Spanish look to homes. If you're selecting flooring for an entryway, kitchen or family room, consider the advantages and disadvantages of the different types of clay tile.

Quarry tile is a baked clay product, usually found in an unglazed or natural form for home use. Because it's extremely porous, it requires a oil-base sealer for stain resistance.

Quarry tile is durable and highly impact resistant, but will chip and crack if given a severe blow. It is installed with mastic, a thick, sticky paste, and can be put over almost any base.

The colors of quarry tile range from terra cotta to slate blue. You'll need to clean it with a damp mop and synthetic soapless detergent, rinse and sponge dry, then wax with a water base wax.

Ceramic clay tile is non-fading and very resistant to wear. It's available glazed or unglazed and doesn't stain from grease or chemicals, which makes it a good choice for kitchens.

Ceramic clay tile is available in many shapes and colors. Be aware that certain ceramic tiles are used only for walls, and others are used only for floors. Make sure you get flooring tiles, since wall tiles will not be as durable.

Wash ceramic glazed tiles with a synthetic detergent. If the tiles aren't glazed, apply a coat of water-base wax for protection.

Mexican clay tiles have a crude base with a smooth surface. They are durable and inexpensive, but available in only limited colors.

True Mexican tiles or "pavers" are still produced by hand with local clays and dried in open fields. Firing in primitive ovens leaves them porous. Although they are less expensive, you should order 20 percent more than needed to allow for tiles that break in shipment or those that are defective.

Mexican tile requires installation by a professional on a depressed floor, because they're about one inch thick, uneven, warped and dry.

For care, the Mexican tile requires regular dusting. Wash it occasionally with a synthetic detergent then wax it with a water-base wax.

OUT OF THE WOODS

By Juanell (Wood) Jones

ANYBODY WITH A million dollars can take a vacation out of this world ... literally. An American travel agency has offered a vacation among the stars and around the world — 16 times around the world, to be exact. That's right, or at least it was two years ago.

Maybe I'd better explain. Last weekend I picked up a 1985 magazine and came across an article which said Americans (rich Americans) could reserve a spot on the Space Shuttle, destination and departure date as yet unknown, for $1,000,000. The article predicted that by 1990 the shuttle would be re-designed with an interior to accommodate about 20 passengers and showed an artist's conception of how these passengers could entertain themselves while in flight (16 times around Earth) by walking on the walls and ceiling of the shuttle cabin, or exercise on a treadmill or various other equipment. The passengers would have to seat themselves when the shuttle opened the bay doors to allow photographs to be taken of Earth. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

The high hopes, of course, were shattered when the world watched the last manned space shuttle explode moments after liftoff last year, and mourned the deaths of all the crew members. Shuttle exploration has been drastically curtailed until new safety factors are examined.

I have always joked about the idea of a space vacation, but in truth the time may come in the not too distant future when we can don space suits and head for the "great outdoors" ... way, way outdoors. I don't know about that. Even if I had a million bucks (I'm a few dollars short right now), I have my doubt about rubbing elbows with the astronauts. My pioneering spirit was lost several generations ago, and my fear factor would be about 9.98 on a scale of 1 to 10.

Wouldn't it be exciting, though? The magazine article showed, at least, that some thought has already been given about the requirements of taking untrained civilians into space. The 3-day, 2-night trip would be preceded by about a two-month physical fitness program, with a doctor's consent necessary for acceptance in the program. Also, a psychiatrist would have to okay each applicant so there would be less chance of somebody going bonkers when he realizes he's actually in space with no way back to good old Earth until the pilot says so.

Oh, my. If I go, I want to be sure I'm on board the Starship Enterprise with Captain Jim Kirk and Mr. Spock to protect and guide me through the stars. They haven't gone wrong yet in their mission to explore the galaxies, and they have had lots of "close encounters of the weird kind" and still manage to come back in one piece.

On second thought, maybe I'll just get out my trusty road-map and look for a more conventional vacation spot. Space travel is not for me, with speeds faster than sound. I can, however, offer some simulation of space travel for those who are interested — all you have to do is ride in the car with my brother. He reaches speeds of Mach-1 in about 10 seconds. There have been times, come to think of it, when I have wondered if he is really "of this world" ... I think maybe aliens dropped him in our midst, but my parents just won't admit to it.
