THIS WILL hardly qualify as big news, but anyway, I'm telling you folks, there are a lot of weird people out there. And we in the newspaper business hear from most of them sooner or later.

Just in the last couple of weeks I have tossed aside several things which either came in the mail or were brought in to our office, some from well-meaning, but strange persons with some primary objective in mind. Here are a few I kept around: "Heaven's Grocery Store." That's the title of a chain letter I received from someone downstate. I really have no quarrel with the basic premise, that everything anybody needs is available from "Heaven's Grocery Store," and you can just choose what you want in your basket. But from there it got pretty strange, like any chain letter:

"This notice has been sent to you for good luck. The original is from the Netherlands ... it has been around the world 9 times ... You will receive good luck within six days of getting this letter if you send 20 copies to people you think need good luck (I shoulda sent one to the Dallas Cowboys). Joe Elliot received $450 million and lost it because he broke the chain ... Gen. Welch lost his life 8 days after he received the letter and failed to circulate the quote..." and so on, ad nauseum.

I didn't send it on, despite hints that if I don't, I'll die and my dog will have worms and my golf score will get even worse and my house will fall in and I'll win a vacation for two on Three Mile Island.

"Remember the Kentucky Bus." It should have read "Kentucky," but that's what it said at the top of the crudely written sheet left in our office by a strange man from Lubbock who comes here occasionally on his campaign to try to get people to quit using drugs and liquor. Again, I have no quarrel with the anti-drug and whiskey campaign, but the way he goes about it is to bug everybody about the situation until they either take up arms against the products or go get drunk themselves.

"Nebraska Couple Hears Chirping from Hard Boiled Egg." That's the headline, with a subhead: "Experts Say Spirit of Chick is Trapped Inside," on a publication called Astrology and Psychic News. I classify this along with the headline I saw recently on an Enquirer-type paper, "Statue of Elvis Found on Mars."

Anyway, it quotes this couple from Nebraska as saying they heard the chirping after boiling the egg for 10 minutes, and now she's afraid to open the egg because it might destroy "her friend." "I'm waiting for a signal or some sort of clue from the chick," said Mrs. John Bradley. "If my chick wants us to do something, I'm sure he'll let me know."

The whole thing is probably a cheap publicity stunt.

"This Is Your Last Chance." That is the heading on a letter received from one of our office workers from "Madame Daudet" of Hackensack, NJ. She has a "wonderful new life planned for you," and mentions great things that will happen to those who answer her letter (similar to the chain letter). She encloses an "Oath of Secrecy" to be signed and mailed back to her, along with a check for $19.95 or your VISA card number.

We urge any of you who have sent Madame Daudet $19.95 to send an equal amount to the "Dalton Wood Retirement Fund, Tahoka, TX" and wonderful things will happen to you. Or to me.

played well on both defense and offense at Crosbyton last Friday as the Dogs outclassed the Chiefs 38-7.

The district win evened Tahoka's season record at 3-3-1, with a 2-2 district mark. This week Tahoka will host Shallowater, which beat Seagraves 22-18 last week in what one Lubbock TV sportscaster said was the battle for second place in the district, counting out Tahoka, which could win second by winning all the rest of the games.

Rodriguez passed for two touchdowns and kicked five extra points and a field goal, and running back Mike Ramirez scored two touchdowns and averaged 9.9 yards per carry with 69 yards in seven efforts.

Running back Charles Jurden went over 100 yards again, gaining 112 in 16 carries, for a 7.0 average. He now has 483 yards for the year, an average of 5.9, to lead all rushers.

Rodriguez teamed up with Thomas Glisson on a nice 49-yard pass play with just 4:18 left in the first period Friday to give Tahoka a 7-0 lead after the point kick. Glisson broke behind the secondary and Rodriguez hit him in full stride.

After the kickoff, Crosbyton was forced to punt, and defensive lineman Mark Vega blocked it, giving the Bulldogs the ball at the Crosbyton 14. Two plays later, Rodriguez fired a strike to Jurden in the end zone from 5 yards out, and Tahoka fans were beginning to enjoy the game despite the way the Crosbyton announcer was pronouncing Tahoka players' names.

Rotarians To Welcome Governor

J.D. Cage of Muleshoe, governor of Rotary District 2T2, will pay his official visit to the Tahoka Rotary Club Wednesday and Thursday, speaking today (Thursday) to the noon meeting of the club.

Cage operates the Cage Ranch in Muleshoe and Earth. He runs registered and commercial Beefmaster cattle. He is a cattle feeder, a stockholder and director of Isa Cattle Co. Inc. in San Angelo and Eagle Pass Pens Inc. in Eagle Pass. He also has oil investments.

Born in San Antonio, Cage grew up bilingual on the Mexican border near Eagle Pass. After graduating from Texas A&M University in 1961 with a degree in agricultural economics, he served two years as an officer in the U.S. Army.

After his military service, Cage returned to Eagle Pass and the family ranching business. He ac-

Half-Day Kindergarten To Begin Here Soon

By JUANELL JONES

Tahoka I.S.D. school board members voted 3-2 Thursday night to restructure the Tahoka Kindergarten program from full day to two half-day sessions in order to alleviate overcrowding in classrooms.

Dr. Duane Carter, Superintendent, said school officials will be contacting parents in the next three weeks, and will try to notify parents by Monday, Oct. 31, of which session their children will attend. He hopes to put the half-day program into effect beginning Monday, Nov. 7.

Parents present at the meeting urged the board not to wait until the spring semester to change the curriculum, and Dr. Carter concurred, saying, "The sooner we can get a smaller classroom, the better it is for the students."

The decision was made following discussion between Dr. Carter, five board members, school personnel and several parents at the meeting. A spokesperson for the parents, Jody Longoria, voiced the opinion that the group supported a full-day Kindergarten as opposed to a one-half day program. Also, the group asked questions pertaining to the changes in curriculum offered in the half-day session, and working parents voiced concern over finding sitters for their children for the time they would not be in school.

"We have a shortage of licensing sitters here, and they are not taking any more (children). I have to find a place for my child to go the other half day," one mother said.

Board members also voiced concern for parents finding a place for their children. "We will work with parents to try to place their children in the session (morning or afternoon) which will work best for the parents," said Dr. Carter.

The morning session will begin at 8 a.m. and end at noon, and the afternoon session will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. In the one-hour period when all Kindergarten students are at the school, they will have lunch from 11-11:30 a.m., and P.E. class from 11:30-12.

The decision process for placing children in the two sessions will involve several considerations. Dr. Carter said school administrators will take into account the child's age, whether the child rides the school bus, if special education or special resources training is required, and family circumstances. "Any special resource training or education will take place outside the three-hour curriculum session," said the superintendent.

As to the curriculum, Minnie Lou Ash, assistant elementary principal, noted that in the five-hour session the children attend now, only three hours are actual instruction and the remainder is filled with story time, snack time, recess, and nap time to stretch the curriculum into five hours. "Three hours of basic instruction is all that the state requires for Kindergarten," Mrs. Ash added.

The superintendent did not present a time schedule as to how the curriculum would be divided into the three-hour sessions.

"I really think what is best for the kids is a half-day program," stressed Dr. Carter. "If I thought different I would be arguing for a different option."

During the discussion with parents, board president Joe Hays said, "Whatever decision we make, if it doesn't work out, this board will back up and look at it again. We will work with parents and school officials to do what is best for the students."

New Elementary Library Considered

In other action, board members considered plans for building a new elementary library/classroom/office complex between the two elementary buildings. The board voted unanimously to hire the firm of AC Associates to draw up architectural plans for the new library, with the idea of closing off the street between the two elementary buildings and forming a connecting building so children could remain indoors when crossing from one building to the other.

Board members also adopted a new policy of weighting classes, which will allow a seal denoting Honors, Advanced, or Regular program to be affixed to a student's high school transcript.

Courses are already designated in board policy as to what designates an honors or advanced course, and a notice as to what is required of a student to be classified in the advanced or honors program.

"The honors and advanced classes will carry 1 1/4 times the normal weight of regular classes," said Hays. "The point system is only for classifying the seal on the transcript. This policy will not affect the ratings for classifying valedictorian or salutatorian honors," he added.

The policy will go into effect with the sophomore class of 1988-89.

Dr. Carter reported to the board of the suspension of a student who had snuff and beer in a vehicle on school property. He noted that the old bus barn has been removed, and that enrollment at the school currently totals 712.

Board members present at the meeting were Joe Hays, Nedra Young, Billy Davis, Mike Huffaker and Richard Lopez. Absent were Thalia Burks and Delbert McCleskey.

Home Burglary Reported; Seven Persons Sentenced

The residence of Dean Cole, 7 miles north of Tahoka on U.S. 87, was burglarized Tuesday between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., with a tool chest and tools valued at $750 stolen from a garage. Crime Line, 998-5145, has offered a reward of $500 in the case.

Reports of other activity involving law enforcement during the last week included thefts, vandalism, two traffic accidents in the city of Tahoka, and sentencing of seven persons by District Judge George Hansard, who heard guilty pleas in 106th District court here.

Martin Edwards of Ince Oil

Co. reported to Tahoka police that someone had stolen two plastic signs valued at $175 from Ince Oil, 1900 Main, between 11 p.m. Sunday and 6:30 a.m. Monday.

Mike DeLeon of Mike's Tractor and Repair, 1303 S. 2nd, reported to police on Friday that someone had fired a small caliber rifle at some tractors on Friday between 12:15 and 3 p.m. Reported damaged included three side windows valued at $500 on an International tractor model 1466 and two front and rear windows valued at $650 on an International model 1086. Police apprehended a 16-year-old juvenile who confessed to this incident and received a six-month probation for discharging firearms in the city limits.

Ted Wiley reported to police on Oct. 12 that someone had cut a Safemark tire on his 1979 Buick parked at his residence in the 2100 block of Ave. P. This was reported to have occurred between 6:15 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday morning. Damage was set at $75.

Police investigated an accident on Friday at N. 3rd and Ave. M that involved a legally parked 1981 Chevrolet owned by Ester Green of 117 N. 5th and a 1986 Ford driven by Rickey Dewayne Stark of 2101 N. 1st. No injuries

Drug Awareness Contest Awards Night Set Oct. 24

The HealthMart HealthSmart drug awareness contest awards ceremony will be held Monday, Oct. 24 at 7 p.m. in the Tahoka High School gym. All entries in the county-wide contest will be on display for viewing at the gym from 7 until 7:30 p.m., and the program will follow.

The contest, headed locally by Dayton Parker HealthMart Pharmacy, has received entries from students in grades 1-12 in Tahoka, O'Donnell, New Home and Wilson. Several prizes will be awarded locally, and first place winners will have their work sent to Dallas to be judged in the national contest.

At the awards ceremony, several finalists will be named from each school in the county, and school principals will announce these students. Jewel Parker of Parker HealthMart Pharmacy will announce the three top winners in each of the four categories for the county.

Several clubs, businesses, organizations and individuals have contributed prizes and money for the contest. A list of these contributors may be found in an advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

"The purpose of the contest is to get our children thinking about how to use drugs responsibly," said Dayton Parker. "We want them to know there is something positive they can do in the campaign against drug abuse."

Four age categories are included in the contest. Children in grades 1-3 submitted coloring art; grades 4-6 created posters; grades 7-9 wrote essays and short stories; and grades 10-12 developed research papers on drug abuse.

In the first two categories, first place winners will receive a new bicycle; second place, dual cassette recorder player; and third place, scooter. In the two older categories, first place winners will receive a $200 savings bond; second place, $100 savings bond; and third place, $50 savings bond.

MRS. HENRY KURT VOGELER nee CHERI BRAGG Bragg-Vogeler Wedding Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Cheri Bragg of Tahoka and Henry Kurt Vogeler of Amarillo exchanged wedding vows in a formal candlelight ceremony Saturday, Oct. 15, 1988. The double ring ceremony was officiated by Dr. Danny Curry, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy R. Bragg of the West Point Community. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Vogeler of Amarillo. Grandparent of the bride is Mrs. Jessie Tomlinson of Tahoka.

Guests were greeted by Marva Lovell, friend of the bride from Eunice, N.M.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an Issa design gown from Phoenix, AZ. The top bodice was embedded with pearls and sequins which also enhanced the laced v-back and lined the entire cathedral train. The gown featured a fitted waist line which flared into a bubble v-ruffle front and back. Her veil was cathedral length also with scattered pearls and sequins forming a crown piece nesting on her head.

The bride's bouquet was made of 24 silk red roses and stephanitis with white illusions, rhinestones and pearls.

Toi Forswall of Eules, Tx., sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Melanie Tekell of Tahoka served as bridesmaid. Attendants wore dresses designed by Bill Levkoff of New York. Dresses were of full length design with black velvet fitted bodices and jeweled necklines with scooped back. Their dresses had a shirred dropped waistline of pewter iridescent taffeta accented with a cabbage rose with rhinestone at left hip. Headpieces were made with a black beaded forepiece that flared with black veil material in the back sprinkled with rhinestones. Their bouquets were of 16 red silk roses bordered by English ivy and stephanitis with illusions of black cascades with rhinestone accents.

Mark Koetting of Amarillo served as best man and Vance Ivie of Amarillo served as groomsman. Candelighters and ushers were Jim Bragg Jr. of Kansas City, Mo., brother of the bride, and Robert Bounds of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the groom.

Shelley Forswall of Eules, niece of the bride, and Lindley Turner of Horseshoe Bay, Tx., niece of the groom, served as flower girls. They wore matching dresses that were made of black debutante taffeta with a bubble skirt.

Mrs. Suzy Rhodes played classical gospel on the piano for the processional and accompanied her husband Carroll Rhodes in his solos of "The Lord's Prayer" and "One In A Million You."

The altar was flanked with 72 candles in five brass candlebras each intertwined with English ivy and accented with red silk roses. The aisle was identified with 12 brass hurricane candles with pew markers decorated with red silk roses, English ivy and stephanitis. All of the greenery and flowers for the wedding included bride's bouquet, attendants' bouquets, corsages, and pew markers were made by Toi Forswall, sister of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple and guests retired to the fellowship hall for a reception. The bride's table featured a four-tiered red velvet cake served by Amy Preston of Tahoka and Jennifer Rogers of Canyon, cousin of the bride. The groom's table featured a German chocolate cake served by Maria Bounds of Amarillo, sister of the groom. Each table was accented with brass accessories.

Assisting in the house party were Louella Rogers, Jolene Tomlinson, Sue Tekell, Margie Jester and Pat Hinson.

After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Amarillo.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Vogeler was held at the 50-Yard Line restaurant on Oct. 14.

Miscellaneous showers given for Cheri and Kurt were hosted by Dannette Hendry of Phoenix, Ariz. on Sept. 15, and by Loretta Tekell of Tahoka on Oct. 7. A lingerie shower for Cheri was hosted by Amy Preston, Melanie Tekell, Kellie Owens and Jerri Beth McKibben on Oct. 7.

Look Who's New

Ronnie and Mickey Harcrow, would like to announce the birth of their son, Cameron Wayne born Oct. 11, 1988 at 10:45 Tuesday at Lubbock General Hospital, weighing 9 lbs. 12 1/2 ozs. and was 21 inches long.

Grandparents are Ronald and Nadine Harcrow of Lubbock and Ernest and Viola Bertreaux of Tahoka.

Great-grandparents are Ida Bob Harcrow of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindsey of Tahoka; and Ruby Bertreaux of Midland.

Legislative Candidate To Visit Tahoka

David Counts, Knox City businessman who is running on the Democratic ticket for the 78th district state representative job, will be guest at a coffee at 10 a.m. Oct. 27 in the First National Bank hospitality room.

Counts was named by the Democrats to run for the unexpired term of Steve Carriker. All interested persons are invited to the coffee to meet Counts.

Counts and his wife, Mary, have two grown children. They are active members of the Baptist Church and he has been involved in many civic activities in Knox City. He is a graduate of Rule and has degrees from West Texas State and the University of North Texas.

He also is a licensed insurance agent and real estate agent, has served in the National Guard and Army Reserve, and farms cotton, milo and wheat in Knox and Haskell counties.

District 78 covers 12 counties, including Lynn.

quired part interest in the Eagle Pass Pens, an international border crossing point for livestock. He also bought an interest in a grain elevator dealing in grain crops grown by local farmers.

In 1968, Cage began a Beefmaster operation in Costa Rica. During the nine years that he and his family raised cows and yearlings in Central America, Cage was appointed by the U.S. ambassador in Costa Rica to serve his adviser from the American agricultural community.

The family returned in 1977 to the United States to buy their Muleshoe ranch.

Cage was president of the Muleshoe Rotary Club in 1984-85, was president of the Foundation Beefmaster Assn., president and chairman of the board of the Ranching Heritage Assn. He is a director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, director of the National Cattlemen's Assn., and is a director of and on the executive board of the National Finance Credit Corporation of Texas Livestock Marketing Assn., and a member of the Texas Cattle Feeders Assn.

Cage and his wife, the former Julie Alexander, have two children, J.D. III and Alexandra Carroll.

Take The Mystery Out Of Microwave

It's an electrifying idea: a new state-of-the-art cookbook that makes microwave cooking easier and more fun.

The Southern Living Microwave Cookbook is designed to take the guesswork out of microwave cooking. Margaret Chason Agnew, Senior Foods Editor for Oxmoor House publishers, in planning this book arranged recipes from the simplest, for beginning microwave users, to the more challenging. Each recipe has been kitchen-tested at least twice in a variety of 600 to 700 watt microwave ovens.

All the major food categories are covered. In the first chapter you will find details about cookware, coverings, power levels, rotating, stirring, venting, and shielding. Then comes mouth-watering appetizers such as Maple-Pecan Topped Brie or Vegetable-Stuffed Mushrooms. Microwave-to-grill specialties include spareribs and kabobs. In no time at all you'll enjoy breads, candies, eggs, seafood, sauces, soups, vegetables and desserts. Over 150 color photographs show how dishes can be prepared, garnished and served. Also included are close to 400 recipes plus reference charts and helpful tips. This new microwave cookbook is available at bookstores nationwide.

Mars "Invasion" 50 Years Later

Fifty years ago this month, panic seized the American public when simulated news bulletins of a Martian invasion of New Jersey in Orson Welles' broadcast of the radio drama "War of the Worlds" were mistaken for the real thing. The event established not only the influence of radio but Welles' reputation as a director. 11 were reported.

Police investigated an accident on Tuesday at Main and N. 6th involving a 1983 Buick driven by Verna Wilkins Brown of Tahoka and a 1966 Ford driven by Stina Marie Chapa of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

Police also investigated one family disturbance call during the past week.

Judge Hansard sentenced the following on pleas of guilty:

Jose Inez Flores, 55, of Tahoka, 10 years in prison for the murder of Luis Rangel, 27, of Tahoka in December 1987.

Felipe Santiago Morales, 51, of Lamesa, five years in prison, probationed, for felony driving while intoxicated.

Delvin Buchanan, 39, of Tahoka, six months in county jail for felony DWI.

Pedro Prieto Castenada, 40, of Tahoka, 7 years in prison, revocation of probation on aggravated assault charges in 1985 in Tahoka.

Lonnie Rogers, 25, of Tahoka, 10 years in prison for assault on a Tahoka policeman on Aug. 1.

Milton Washington, 17, and Darnell Wayne Washington, 18, both of Slaton, each assessed 10 years, probationed, in theft of hogs from the Southland area last month.

Others in jail during the week included one person each on charges of criminal mischief and application to revoke probation.

He is a 1988 graduate of Lamesa High School.

Students Get New Book On Self-Esteem

Students in the fourth grade at Tahoka Elementary School have received the gift-book entitled, "Feeling Good About Me." It is a bound book of stories about learning traditional values and self-esteem.

"Feeling Good About Me" contains eight stories about realistic problems young people might encounter and how, using traditional values, they are resolved.

Each story has a full-color illustration and teaches such lessons as right and wrong, appreciation of family, what it means to be a good citizen, living up to one's full potential, and why (and how) to stay away from drugs.

In the first story, "A Day With Granddad," young Wendy is angry. The most popular girl in school has invited her to a slumber party but SHE has to go to her grandparents house on the lake, a visit she usually enjoys.

During a conversation that takes place as Wendy fishes with Granddad, she learns the relative importance of the party and the visit (her values are put into perspective) and she feels good about herself and visiting her grandparents.

Other stories involve the meaning of friendship, family relationships, respect for others, loyalty and the importance of being your own unique self, lessons not always covered in school curriculums. They reflect positive influences that build a child's self-esteem.

Local News

Visiting last Thursday with Ava Lichey of Tahoka was her sister-in-law, Faye McCrary from Denver City, and Faye's daughter Joann Lobstein of Sparenburg. Mrs. McCrary has been staying with her daughter while recuperating from a fall in which she broke her arm and leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams of San Angelo were guests of Louise Smith for the weekend. The ladies were classmates and attended O'Donnell Homecoming activities.

Recollections ...

The Family Friend

(Editor's Note: The following story was written by longtime Tahoka resident Mabel Gurley, and is offered to provide some nostalgia for others who can remember those earlier times.)
By MABEL GURLEY

From the horse and buggy until the advent of that awesome vehicle, the Model T Ford, transportation was revolutionized. The country doctor truly experienced this transition. The Model A came later as somewhat an improvement; however, there was a cloud in this sunny picture.

If the doctor succeeded in getting that "Tin Lizzie" cranked, likely as not zooming down that dirt road at the top speed of 30 miles per hour, a tire blew out, a mesquite thorn penetrated that inner tube—another flat tire! Also, should it rain, he was struck in that muddy rut. A friend relates the time she accompanied her father in one of those vehicles when, alas, they were hopelessly stuck in the mud, and he, not being of a docile nature, simply reached in the back seat, got the 22 rifle and shot the tire several times. No doubt it relieved his frustration.

Back in the era when a hospital was inconvenient both geographically and financially, a call was made and the family doctor was on his way. Those house calls were not limited to Tahoka—that Model A was on track all over Lynn County. It was very doubtful if a hospital would have accepted a couple dozens eggs and a sack of sausage as partial payment for services rendered, anyway.

The absence of laboratories where chemical analysis could be made, and the lack of curative drugs such as sulfa, penicillin, and anti-biotics, often prevented a caring, knowledgeable doctor from saving a patient's life.

Remembering back, an epidemic of scarlet fever surged in Tahoka. A red flag denoted the quarantine of such families afflicted. I believe a yellow flag symbolized the dreaded smallpox disease, but in spite of isolation, treatment was sometimes futile.

This stage in time basically produced few specialists. The general practitioner had to know the whole human anatomy. The old fashioned family physician didn't pick out a left ear or toe to diagnose. To quote Will Rogers, "Probably the best doctor in the world is the veterinarian. He can't ask the patient what's the matter; he has to know." Thus doctoring was a challenging profession.

Certainly we would be remiss today not to acknowledge the specialist as one of significant talents. His ability to repair clogged heart arteries, deteriorated bones being replaced with alloys and plastic would amaze the old time medicos. So much achievement and advanced technology! The challenge continues.

But back to the "olden days." For this personal reference, my apologies. My memories are evoked as I look at my first-born son, remembering how Dr. C.B. Townes initiated the first slap on his posterior, as he was introduced to this world of wonders. I might add that this performance was repeated several times by his parents in years to come; not to make him cry out, but rather to instill the importance of respect and obedience. On that cold, frosty night, Dr. Townes spent the night in our home, with an occasional nap on the sofa, simply insuring himself and us that everything was alright.

Dr. Townes was special to this family, but there were two other fine, compassionate physicians in Tahoka in that early day period. Both Dr. Turrentine and Dr. Calloway Reid, were ready when called. How lucky we were to have all three! Lottie Jo Walker, Reid, and the late Charles Townes have shared interesting stories of their years growing up in a fun-loving, caring atmosphere of a doctor's home.

An instance recalled was the miraculous recovery of a man who had a knife thrust into his skull and removed by Dr. Townes. It seems he had engaged in a fight and he went to the doctor to get a wound in his forehead dressed. Two days later a headache persisted, so he again sought aid. The only X-Ray machine in town was in the office of Dr. K.R. Durham, across the hall from the office of Dr. Townes. Incidentally the two doctors shared the same telephone, since neither had an assistant nurse. One ring conveniently reached one or the other. An X-Ray was taken of the wound in the man's head, and it showed a knife-blade which had broken off inside the skull and which had been there for two days! The blade was removed and the patient left the doctor's office and encountered no further trouble. The X-Ray picture is displayed in Tahoka Pioneer Museum, and is an amazing picture.

An amusing story was told about the doctor before he began his practice in Tahoka. Since transportation was in a somewhat primitive stage, the doctor owned three vehicles: a Model T Ford, a buggy, and a two-wheeled cart. If it rained and the roads were not suitable for the Model T, the doctor made his call in the four-wheeled buggy, and if it was really muddy he took the two-wheeled cart. Witnesses say that when the cart or buggy was brought out the horse began to back up to be hitched. Now that's horse sense!

Reminiscing no doubt denotes age; nevertheless, it is good to remember heroes who evaded fame—those dedicated healers, the family friends, the country doctors.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to express my appreciation to the school, the community, and specific people in Tahoka who participated in organizing the Homecoming for 1988.

For those of us who graduated from THS and have much love for the town and its people, and yet no longer live in the area, the celebration was quite special. The school, the town, friends, and relatives opened their hearts and lives to you. And, it feels real good.

It was my 20th year reunion and I am so glad I came back to Tahoka to reunite with some friends that I haven't seen for 20 years as well as others I've followed more closely.

A special thanks to Dr. Richard White, who was our class president and worked so hard to organize a fun reunion and contact each person. He had other '68 graduates that helped him and to them I also say thank you.

Even though life has presented many changes to all of us who graduated in 1968, the love and friendship that grows between people who spend 12 years (or less) of their life together growing up, creates a special bond that is everlasting. I love the people with whom I shared school and the growth process of becoming an adult.

Growing up in a small town has its advantages. The relationships and friendship you create through the years of development has to be one of my greatest advantages.

Again, I say thanks Tahoka for making our celebration special.

Sincerely,
Elva Jo Edwards, D.C.

Diet Made Easy

Diets are no fun because they make us avoid eating, and our bodies know that we have to eat to survive.

The way to make our body happy and still lose weight is to eat and drink more—but make a point of eating the foods and drinking the beverages that will make us slim and healthy.

Get a Drink

I'll suggest two. The first is the easiest, best, and least expensive. Drink more water. In many places bottled spring water is your best bet. It's a good investment. You can lose weight pretty easily if you'll simply drink half a gallon of water a day.

If this sounds like too much, then you didn't listen in school when they told you to drink eight cups of water a day. Eight cups is half a gallon.

Expert Advice

The second recommendation comes from the Surgeon General. Eat more fruits and vegetables. You'll find they fill you up without filling you out. They may also help you live longer, a definite plus if it doesn't mean another fifty years of dieting.

EYE DROPS

Eye drops may not only medicate the eyes, but may affect other parts of the body as well. The drops may pass down the tear ducts into the back of the nose and then into the bloodstream, causing side effects of diarrhea, asthma, angina (heart related chest pains) or faulty heartbeat. One can prevent the drops from entering the tear ducts by firmly closing the eyes for 3 minutes after putting in the eye drops.

The 4-H Club met on Tuesday, Oct. 11 in the school cafeteria. Jamie Mankins, president, called the meeting to order. Casey Donald led the motto and Jamie Raley led the pledge. Mr. Ray Woodall from Tahoka gave a program on Halloween safety. 4-H will be hosting a sheep clinic on Nov. 5 and a swine clinic on Dec. 3 for those interested in showing animals at the Lynn County Show.

The Senior Girl Scouts met on Thursday, Oct. 13. Hope Flores took the roll and dues. Heather Nelson brought refreshments. The girls started their ceramic projects. They are making vases that they will clean and have fired. At the next meeting, they will paint the vases and later add silk flowers to be used as decorations at the Mother-Daughter International Banquet on Nov. 17. The girls also made a map of Mexico and colored in the Mexican flag which is the country they will be representing at the banquet.

On Saturday, Oct. 15, two Girl Scouts leaders from Wilson attended a leadership development training at Reese Air Force Base. They learned more about making a booth for the Girl Scout Fair, ideas for activities to use at meetings, and using puppets for meetings. Carol Holder and Serena Mankins attended the workshop.

Remember Wilson Elementary dismisses at 12 noon on Thursday, Oct. 20, so that teachers can schedule conferences with parents. These conferences are required and are a good way for parents to learn early in the year how their children are progressing in school.

Newspaper Article
Features H.B. Howell

Belton Howell, former Tahoka pioneer now living in Odessa, was subject of another Odessa newspaper article this month, having passed his 102nd birthday on Sept. 9.

Howell told Odessa American writer Kristi Glissmeyer that although he has lived a long time, "this is one little drop of water in a big ocean. It's too short."

In part, the article said: In 1902, a 16-year-old Howell traveled by covered wagon to the Panhandle city of Tahoka, where he lived as a farmer and stockman for 78 years. In 1986, at the age of 100, led the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train through his old hometown.

He was married nearly 71 years to the same woman, Birdie Walters Howell, until she died two years ago. He said he called her "Sugar" since the day they wed Nov. 28, 1915, in Brownfield.

Howell, who has one son, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, said he moved to Odessa in 1980 to be closer to his family. Ector County commissioners designated his birthday this year as "H.B. Howell Day."

"I've been involved in local politics all my life," he said. Howell's interest in the world around him has not dimmed over the years and he said he is always willing to share his opinion.

"One thing definitely wrong is this school business," he said. "When I went to school we had lots of fun. We sang out of songbooks and we talked. Now, school kids don't even say the Pledge of Allegiance. That's crazy."

Before Howell started to use a wheelchair to get around two years ago, he would sit out on the wooden porch in front of his mobile home and fix broken toys for children, according to his housekeeper.

Grandson Sam Howell II, 38, said his grandfather wasn't known as "grandpa" in his hometown of Tahoka, "but that's what we have always called him and everyone else out here has kind of adopted him. It just seems to fit."

The younger Howell remembered a time when his grandfather, then in his 70s, and the family drove in to his ranchland west of Tahoka.

"Grandpa said, 'There's a coyote.' But we didn't see a thing," the grandson said. "He got out his rifle and took a shot. We still didn't see what he was shooting at."

They moved on and soon discovered the coyote dead in its tracks. "Grandpa was so aware. We city slickers didn't even know what to look for," the younger Howell said. "He is very strong willed. He's got a lot of wisdom and foresight."

Howell said he has held to a hard-work ethic and to his Christian roots all his life. He still rises every day at 5 a.m. and said he doesn't take one day for granted.

"There's bound to be an afterlife," he said, otherwise, "life is too darn short to be worth living. Even after 102 years."

Smokers Win
Job Ruling

The Minnesota Department of Human Rights recently found that the "non-smoker only" hiring policy of a Minnesota firm violated the state's anti-discrimination law.

In the first ruling of its kind, Human Rights Commissioner Stephen Cooper decided that DCA Inc.'s policy of excluding smokers from employment because of a perceived disability violated the Minnesota Human Rights Act.

Managing Your Money

What Do You Want To Be When You Retire?

By BYRON ALLAM
While growing up, most of us thought about the question, "What do I want to be?" in terms of job titles, lifestyles and careers. But how many of us think about the question today in terms of "What do I want to be when I retire?"

Retirement financial planning is an ongoing process that involves identifying needs and goals. Today people are living longer, healthier lives. Many of us can look forward to more than 15 active hours a week to do whatever we want. Retirement, like life, happens only once. Careful, realistic planning can help retirement be a fulfilling, rewarding time of life.

Begin planning by examining five important financial concerns that will affect your retirement.

How much money will you need for retirement? To understand your financial needs for tomorrow, begin with where you are today. Record your monthly income and expenses for several months. Then, based on your goals, compare those amounts with what you anticipate needing in the future. And don't forget to include some of your special dreams-- travel, new hobbies and learning experiences.

Next, evaluate your potential sources of retirement income: Social Security, pension plans, IRAs, savings, investments and possibly some wages. You can discover potential gaps between your goals and your actual financial resources by investigating how much you'll receive from each source of income.

Avoid outliving your resources. Your retirement funds may erode from our changing economy, with its fluctuating interest rates, inflation and taxes. Careful planning now can help you avoid outliving your resources. Start by estimating how long your resources might last, given your goals for retirement. You may want to explore investment options that allow you to do something now for your future.

Minimize taxes before, and after, retirement. You may need to review and change some of your investment strategies in order to minimize your taxes while working to achieve your financial goals for retirement. To understand the full impact of tax reform on your financial situation, you should consult your personal financial planner, banker or accountant.

Arrange for the efficient transfer of your estate? There are two important issues in estate planning. The first concern is to help ensure that your beneficiaries receive their inheritance as you intended, with minimal complications and estate taxes. It is critical that you have a will, and keep it up-to-date and accurate at all times. A second concern is to provide adequate survivor income. It is especially important that both spouses be involved in estate planning.

Estate laws and taxes vary from state to state. If you plan to move after you retire, find out ahead of time how estate tax laws in your state differ from those in your present state. Then have your will changed accordingly.

Evaluate your insurance protection. Your insurance coverage should match your changing needs. The effect on your family of long-term illness, disability or death should be a critical concern for you, especially as you near retirement. Long-term health insurance can help prevent an illness from draining your finances during retirement.

Life insurance needs also may change at retirement, and you may have outdated coverage. Today you can purchase a variety of insurance products that combine protection with attractive investment advantages, options, safety, tax-deferral and estate planning features.

Check with your financial planner or insurance agent to be sure that your insurance policies are right for your needs.

The right time is now. Most of us feel overwhelmed by the task of retirement planning and consequently delay it. Professional guidance can help you with the process of planning for your retirement by developing a well-balanced plan that is the foundation you need for retirement security. A comprehensive financial plan takes time, but your commitment and discipline today may reward you with a retirement full of opportunities, independence and comfort.

SCHOOL AGE HEALTH PROBLEMS

Why does a seemingly normal child have difficulty in learning? The first thing to test is the child's hearing and vision. Poor hearing can go undetected at home because many hard of hearing children can hear deep sounds, but not those of higher pitch. They can hear "most" of what is said. Vision, if deficient can usually be corrected easily by the use of glasses.

Mental retardation and certain nervous system problems also can be determined and special education and medication arranged. Poor nutrition, anemia, lack of sleep and chronic infections can also interfere with a child's ability to learn.

New Home Teacher Attends Conference

LOIS LAVONNE SHARP
Lois LaVonne Sharp was in Austin Saturday, Oct. 15, for a Region President conference for the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE). Mrs. Sharp is the Region 17 president of that organization. ATPE is the largest unaffiliated teachers organization in the United States. Eighteen other presidents also attended from across the state. Information was received as to upcoming legislation bills that would be sent to congress that concerns teachers, as well as new rulings and changes by TEA and the SBOE. Also, discussed were problems concerning teacher retirement, career ladder and teacher evaluations. Mrs. Sharp teaches kindergarten in New Home ISD. This year will conclude twenty-five years taught at New Home.

Cuban Crisis Anniversary

The recent climate of good feelings between the United States and the Soviet Union is a departure from the days 26 years ago when our two countries stood at the brink of war over the Soviet Union's placement of nuclear missiles in Cuba.

On the night of Oct. 22, 1962, President John F. Kennedy went on national television and demanded the immediate withdrawal of the Soviet missiles from Cuba under the threat of a nuclear strike. A tense week followed as both countries refused to back down. It was not until Oct. 28 that the Soviets finally complied and announced they were removing the missiles.

King Tut

Nov. 4th marks the anniversary of the discovery of Egyptian King Tutankhamen's tomb. Considered one of the most important archeological discoveries of modern times, the tomb was found in Luxor, Egypt, by English archeologist Howard Carter on November 4, 1922, more than 3,000 years after Tutankhamen's death.

Egypt's child-king Tutankhamen became pharaoh at the age of nine and died, probably in the year 1352 B.C., at the age of 19.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Not Just for Jack-O'-Lanterns

A nicely carved pumpkin can delight children at Halloween, but these relatives of the squash family are delicious for autumn treats, too.

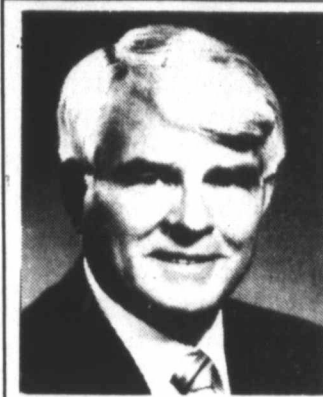

Smaller pumpkins, sometimes called sugar pumpkins, are the best for cooking, says the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. They have a fine-grained flesh which is neither stringy nor watery like the larger field pumpkins used for Jack-O'-Lanterns.

The small pumpkins are excellent for soups, stews, vegetable side dishes, desserts, and baked goods.

Fresh pumpkin can be microwaved or steamed. Cut into 1 1/2 to 2-inch chunks. To microwave, cook 2 pounds of pumpkin chunks on high for about 8 minutes. To cook, steam over boiling water for 15 to 20 minutes.

Cooked pumpkin can be pureed for use in breads, muffins, cakes, pies, and mousses. Allow about 2 pounds of pumpkin for every cup of puree.

Pumpkin season is short, so don't miss the chance for fresh pumpkin pleasures this fall. ✕

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A FREE PRESS

ONCE UPON A TIME IN TEXAS, there lived a newspaper that reported all kinds of things, from weddings to recipes to obituaries to local needs and deeds, to club and church news, to water and power rates, to local elections. And while the town worked hard to solve unemployment, crime, bad streets and all the other aches of the day, the newspaper kept at it to try to bring the town a promise of the best to come - - and to believe in itself.

A FEW YEARS EARLIER, the newspaper didn't have as many readers. But its merchants advertised a lot, and there were more available dollars to hire writers and advertising sales people.

THE TOWN PROSPERED and its population grew to attract new, bigger businesses that came in to compete for customers from throughout the entire region. But some of those bigger businesses- tried different ways of advertising, or reduced their own dollars for advertising when they took command of the market. Some small firms left.

TIMES GOT TOUGHER for the newspaper in spite of helping it's town grow. In just 18 months, the price of newsprint increased 30 percent, and it cost 20 percent more just to mail the same newspaper. The newspaper faced the same higher taxes, increased minimum wages and all of the other new challenges to business as did everyone else. Just the cost of keeping its doors open increased to $526 per day for every 2,500 circulation. *

The newspaper was forced to reduce its staff a bit, along with some of its local coverage because the dollars just don't have the same reach as prior years.

THE TOWN STARTED LOSING its close kinship and upbeat manner. And its citizens became less interested in ideas for the future of a town in which they were losing contact . . . and information.

BUT THE NEWSPAPER (every newspaper) kept plugging along, attending countless local meetings and events. And its staff worked long hours to find ways to produce a better newspaper for the town, and to provide businesses with a valuable means of selling their goods and services, and informing readers about everything from government to fashions and foods.

TEXAS NEWSPAPERS are always plugging, because they enjoy exercising "Freedom of the Press." But please understand, this freedom doesn't come cheaply. It costs lots of dollars to keep it going. So help to put a happy ending on this story for both your town and its newspaper. . . SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL NEWSPAPER, AND ITS ADVERTISERS, because they're truly helping your town!!

CARD OF THANKS

Life's heartaches are always softened and the way made easier by those who offer a helping hand. We thank those of you who contributed to the fund for us at the First National Bank and the benefit supper at the Grassland church to help meet our overwhelming medical expenses. We pray God's rich blessings for you. Thank you for sharing with us during a difficult time.

Joe and Dolores Webb

I would like to thank everyone who was so thoughtful during my recent stay in the hospital. Your phone calls, visits and prayers were appreciated so much. A special thanks to Dr. Wright and all of the wonderful nurses who took care of me.

Florence Stone
42-1tc

We would like to thank each one who has been so nice to Florine during her stay in the hospital and since she has been home. Thank you for the food, visits, flowers, cards and prayers. We could not get along without friends and we believe the best ones live here in this community.

George and Florine McCracken and dreams that help preserve our heritage."

In order to help people learn about their past and develop a sense of history and tradition, we are urging people to 'plant a family tree' Leonard Dunn, Tahoka Postmaster, said.
"Our post office will provide a fill-in family tree form to customers upon request to help trace their family's history Leonard Dunn said. Learning more about family history can help bind up more closely to our family, our past, and our country."

Family Tree Forms Offered At Post Office
