

SPC Training Facility Named After Tahoka Man

Working steadily and diligently at Lyntegar Electric Cooperative for the past 35 years, and quietly behind the scenes for the past year to help build a new training facility for linemen at the campus of South Plains College in Levelland, Glenn "Bonzo" Anderson of Tahoka was surprised this week when a sign featuring the "Glenn Anderson Underground Training Facility" was unveiled in ceremonies at the Levelland campus Tuesday morning.

The Line Department Manager, who spent several years as a lineman before he was promoted to supervisory positions at Lyntegar, was only trying to help ensure that other linemen throughout the state would receive sufficient training to enable them to perform their jobs safely. He never considered that a part of the new Hot Line School facility at South Plains College would be named after him.

"This is just awesome," Anderson said during the unveiling ceremonies as Robert Bryson, Director of the Texas Electric Cooperatives' (TEC) Loss Control Safety and Training Program made the presentation. SPC President Gary McDaniel and other officials were also on hand for the ceremonies.

"The TEC Loss Control Safety and Training Program and TEC System Groups 4 and 5 has with great pride and honor named the electrical utility training facility the Glenn 'Bonzo' Anderson-Underground Training Field located at South Plains College in Levelland," said Bryson. "Mr. Anderson has been instrumental in the design and construction of the facility since its inception a year ago. This facility is regarded by utility professionals as being the best state-of-the-art training facility unmatched by any other in the nation," he added.

SPC's Hot Line School will accommodate 50-plus students at one time. The curriculum, created in a partnership between TEC and South Plains College, is offered in a unique two-year associate's degree program which will serve as a model for training linemen around the country. After nearly a year of planning, groundbreaking ceremonies were held last November, and this week the course was opened to students.

The Hot Line School provides training for linemen and commercial and residential electricians. The facility is built to exact scale, with 50 poles spaced 94 feet apart, including three-phase, single-phase and transmission type models for overhead hot-line (energized line) training.

College students, as well as employees from electric cooperatives, may enroll in any of the 24 basic and specialized technical and safety

Tahoka in January 1967, after a four-year stint in the U.S. Navy and six years in the farming industry, working his way up through the cooperative as a groundman and lineman until he undertook a supervisory position in 1976. He served as Construction Superintendent until 1982, when he became Maintenance Superintendent, and again took the Construction Superintendent position in 1998. In Feb. 2001 he was named Line Department Manager where he continues to serve.

Bryson estimates that there are 2,500 line personnel employed by electric cooperatives in Texas. "The benefits of this program will have a tremendous impact," he said.

Family and friends were on hand for the special ceremony which honored Anderson for his unstinting dedication and professional expertise in helping plan and build the training facility at SPC.

"Bonzo has been involved with the job training and safety program for over 35 years as both an instructor and coordinator for numerous statewide (See ANDERSON, page 3)

High Speed Chase Thru County Ends In Terry Co. Cotton Field

ONE OF THE advantages of living in West Texas may be that we don't have any mountains. How could this be an advantage? Well, I never heard of anyone breaking a leg skiing in Lynn County, nor do we lose many residents trying to climb mountains in the county.

Yeah, I know. God created Ruidoso and the mountains around it for the enjoyment of people from Lubbock and Lynn County. But, as I said above, there is a positive side to not having mountains.

If we had a big old 14,000-foot peak between here and Wilson, lots of folks would be seriously injured or killed trying to climb it. In the news recently was a story of several persons being killed trying to climb a mountain in Utah, Oregon or Bangladesh or some place a long ways from here.

Sorry, but I can't generate much sympathy for people killed or hurt climbing a mountain. Climbing a mountain is stupid, even if you are trained to get up there and risk your life. Mountain climbing is a really useless thing to do, along with such things as bungee jumping, beer-drinking contests, bull riding, racing cars or motorcycles, or growing turnips.

Vacationing in the mountains is fun, so long as you can come back to Lynn County in a few weeks. My wife doesn't like to stay in the mountains more than a week because, she says, she is used to the flat country and in the mountains, "you can't see anything." She feels shut in and develops claustrophobia (fear of Santa Claus).

It doesn't bother me that much, because my eyes are so bad, I can only see about 100 yards ("You mean there's another mountain over there? I thought my glasses were dirty").

Well, I guess mountain climbing would be okay once you have lived a long and full life. Maybe on our next trip to Ruidoso, I'll try that, but first I need to have the last little remnants of my brain removed.

Or maybe not. Most days I have trouble just climbing into the car.

I HAVE NOT yet been to Tech to see the art work from the Vatican, discovered in the 16th century and being shown outside the Vatican museum for the first time ever. It won't be shown again for another 23 years, we're told.

I noticed that so far, reservations for rooms in Lubbock by people journeying to see the art has been way down from expectations. The Lubbock media and officials are desperately promoting the exhibit, hoping to dispel the image of Lubbock and the surrounding area as culturally bankrupt. Meaning most of us are a bunch of clods when it comes to things like art, music and literature.

I admit to being a cultural clod. I don't like art exhibits (with some exceptions), opera, or ballet. I understand that I am supposed to, and I don't make fun of those who do like those things. In fact, I admire them for their tastes.

But I am just a lowbrow. I'm not especially proud of it, but that's the way it is.

A high speed chase involving Lynn and Terry County Sheriff's Deputies, DPS officers, and Tahoka and Brownfield Police officers following a 1999 Cadillac on US 380 exceeding speeds of 120 mph ended in a cotton field north of Brownfield Monday night.

Tahoka Police officers saw the maroon vehicle at about 11:30 p.m. as it approached Tahoka westbound on U.S. 380, clocked at 77 mph and then streaking over the US 87 overpass at 54 mph in a 30 mph zone. When officers turned attempted to stop the vehicle, the car accelerated quickly, racing through the residential section of Tahoka on Lockwood/US 380 at speeds of 120 mph and heading towards Brownfield.

DPS officers were quickly notified as well as Lynn County Sheriff's Deputies, who chased after the vehicle but were unable to stop the car before it entered Terry County. Terry County law enforcement however, had been notified and were waiting with tire spikes laid out on the road near Brownfield. The car ran over the spikes and turned off on a dirt road and eventually veered into a cotton field, where two males, ages 17 and 18, were quickly apprehended by a bevy of officers including Brownfield Police, Terry County Sheriff's Deputies, and DPS troopers.

Officers discovered the vehicle was stolen and both suspects were armed with handguns. According to the investigation report, a search of the vehicle also revealed knives, and a container of white powdery substance believed to be cocaine. Both suspects were arrested.

Tahoka Police were very busy during the week, arresting three for public intoxication, one for DWI, one for evading arrest/detention and criminal mischief, two on outstanding warrants, and one for criminal trespass. A case was reported and cleared in one day when a man reported his VCR missing, but saw the suspect walking off from his home with it and held him until officers arrived; and a report of family violence was investigated.

Lynn County Sheriff's officials investigated three reports of theft during the week, including a Jeep stolen from farm property in the county.

A 1947 Jeep belonging to Cecil Dorman was reported stolen last Thursday from farm land a half mile east of FM 179 on the north side of CR30. Valued at $2500, the Jeep was white with black interior, with no top or hood on the engine, and the letters "Willis" in red on both sides of the Jeep. A witness reported to officers that he saw three males in another vehicle towing the Jeep, and investigation is continuing.

Ronald Greer of Wolforth reported a chop saw taken sometime from 6:30 p.m. Saturday until 7 a.m. Sunday from a vacant house located a mile south of US 380 on FM 179, 1/2 mile east and 1/4 mile south. Entry to the house was apparently gained by kicking in a door. The saw, a Jepson Brand model #9115, was valued at $200.

And, Charles Garcia of Lubbock reported theft of a tackle box and clothing from a red Dodge van sometime in May, possibly from a location in Wilson where the vehicle had been left for repairs. The tackle box with lures, and clothing items, were valued at $300.

Principal Jerry Lee Resigns; Three Hired At Tahoka ISD

Tahoka High School Principal Jerry Lee has resigned his position here. Superintendent Jimmy Parker informed trustees at Tuesday night's board meeting. Lee, who was not present at the meeting, has been with the district for two years. His wife, Vanessa, who taught fourth grade at Tahoka Elementary, also submitted her resignation, as did fifth grade teacher Leslie Tatum.

Parker also informed trustees that since the last board meeting, long-time English/Drama teacher Leah Taylor notified him that she is retiring (reported in last week's News).

Three more positions at the district were filled at Tuesday night's meeting, with trustees unanimously approving contracts for Shirley Holloway, who formerly taught at Tahoka ISD, reportedly leaving in the early 1980's, who will teach middle school English; Tiffanie Garvin of Tahoka, who will teach at Tahoka Elementary; and Paige Rivas of Tahoka, who will teach elementary special education.

Board President Greg Henley told The News that as of Wednesday morning, five positions remain to be filled for the upcoming school year, including that of high school principal, head boys basketball coach/teacher, high school math teacher, high school speech/theater/English teacher, and one more elementary teacher. Trustees authorized Supt. Parker to fill these positions as soon as possible with the candidates who would best serve Tahoka ISD.

In other business, trustees voted 5-1 to hire MBA Architects to solicit bids for a new air conditioning system in the high school gymnasium. The motion did not authorize installing the new units, but merely to look into bids and cost expectations. Voting against the motion was trustee Frank McLelland, and voting in favor were Henley, Joe Calvillo, Carmen Chapa, Leighton Knox Jr., and Tommy Botkin. Trustee Math Bartley was absent from the meeting.

The lowest of four bids was accepted by trustees for a 2003 Ford F-350 4-door diesel pickup to be used in the Ag department. The bid of $26,094 from Smith Ford-Mercury in Slaton was unanimously approved.

The district's auditing contract with Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert & Moss was renewed, as was the contract with Four County Shared Services Arrangement. A resolution regarding signatures of board members with the district's depository, First National Bank of Tahoka, was approved, and trustees set a date of July 18 for level two board training.

Trustees met in executive session for just over an hour, regarding personnel, during the meeting. The next board meeting was set for July 11.

The meeting adjourned in just over an hour, with all four commissioners and County Judge J.F. Brandon present.

Each kernel of popcorn contains a small drop of water stored inside a circle of soft starch surrounded by the kernel's hard outer surface. As the kernel heats up, the water begins to expand, and pressure builds against the hard starch. Eventually, this hard surface gives way, causing the popcorn to explode.

underground and overhead distribution training schools, and is regarded as the best instructor in the industry," said Bryson. "His knowledge and expertise in many areas of the electrical utility industry is one that has been given the highest respect in Texas," he added.

Anderson also assisted with, and coordinated the construction of, TEC's first underground training facility in Georgetown last year.

"Because he is regarded as the best in the business, it seems only fitting to have him involved in the same type project in Levelland," said Bryson. "Through his efforts, and the efforts of Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, the TEC Loss Control Safety and Training Program has the best underground training facility in the nation," he boasted.

Just recently, in March, Anderson was honored as the first-ever "Unsung Hero" for the TEC Loss Control Safety and Training Program, in part because of his behind-the-scenes work involving the SPC facility. This honor was presented to him in front of his peers at the annual Loss Control conference in Austin, and a representative plaque will hang on the walls of the TEC office in Austin in his honor.

"This award was given for his many years of service to the safety and training of many young linemen in the electric utility business," Bryson explained. "Through his efforts a lifetime goal has been met — to train each and every linemen in a fashion that they go home each evening the same way they went to work ... with all their toes, fingers, hands and legs," he added.

For Anderson, the knowledgeable expertise and many hours of work he offered was all about teaching safety to other linemen, including the safety of his co-workers at Lyntegar, who will be able to take advantage of the SPC training facilities for many years to come.

And of those who will attend training sessions at the Hot Line School, many will glance up with pride at the sign proclaiming the name of the Tahoka man whom they have known for years simply as "Bonzo."

Free Guide On Yard Care Available

The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission is offering Texans a free guide to help care for their yard and the environment.

"A Green Guide to Yard Care" shows homeowners a simple four-step method called Yard Wise to help them maintain a healthy yard with less costs, less work, and less waste.

The guide includes information and tips on:

- Mowing
- Mulching
- Composting
- Green Landscape Design and Yard Care

To get a free copy of the guide, visit the agency's web site at www.nrcc.state.tx.us under "Publications." Texans can also order a free copy by calling 512-239-0028 and asking for publication number GI-28.

Open Scramble, Red Raider Day Set At T-Bar

T-Bar County Club will be busy June 22-24, with a three person open scramble and the annual Red Raider Day on tap.

The scramble is set for the Saturday and Sunday, June 22-23. Cost is $50 per person. Mulligans are $4. Tee times are 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Red Raider Day, originally scheduled for June 21, will be held Monday, June 24.

To enter either event, or for more information, contact Cherry at 998-5305.

NEW SOIL CONSERVATIONIST - Justin Corzine has been appointed as a GS-7 Soil Conservationist to the Tahoka Field Office of the USDA NRCS. His wife, Amber, will teach elementary school in Post.

BATTER UP - Matthew Ramirez has a swing and a miss on this toss, but zeroed in on the next one for a homerun at the Lynn County Summer Camp this week. The O'Donnell youth is one of many attending the free camp held this week and next, on Monday-Thursday, (LCN PHOTO)

Be "Water Wise" While Landscaping This Summer

Warmer temperatures are enticing homeowners to begin working in their home lawns and gardens. While homeowners are busy considering plant varieties for their landscapes, they should also give thought to water use efficiencies as well.

"During the winter, 90 percent of household water use occurs inside the home. However, in the summer, lawn watering and other outside water uses can account for 50 to 80 percent of home water use. Studies have shown as much as 50 percent of this outdoor water use is wasted due to inefficient watering practices," said Carmon McCain, Administrative Aide for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

The High Plains Water District encourages every home owner to use water as efficiently as possible in the landscape this summer.

Use native, drought-tolerant plants whenever possible. Even if a yard contains plants that require a lot of water, there are some smart things to do to save water and money:

- Don't water unless the plants need it. Far more plants die from over-watering than under-watering. To determine if it is time to water, dig down a few inches from the base of the plant. If the soil is dry, water.
- When watering, give the plants a deep soaking, rather than a shallow sprinkling. This encourages roots to penetrate deep into the soil.
- Watering in the evening may seem like a good idea, but leaf surfaces can stay wet through the night and create fungal diseases. The best time to water is between 5 a.m. and 10 a.m. The winds are calm, temperatures are cool, and water is less likely to evaporate at this time. Evaporation losses can be 60 percent higher during the day.
- Don't water if there is rain or high wind in the forecast. Also, rain sensors may be added to automatic lawn sprinkler systems which turn the system off when rain occurs.
- Check hose connections for leaks and repair them quickly. More water is lost here than you might suspect.
- Don't water the sidewalk! Check automatic sprinkler head direction and hose-end sprinkler placement to make sure the water reaches the plants or turf areas. Remember that fluctuations in water pressure can also cause fluctuations in sprinkler spray patterns. Watch the sprinkler particularly if it is placed close to a sidewalk or driveway.
- Use sprinkler heads or hose-end sprinklers that emit large water droplets. The droplets are heavier and will fall to the ground quicker, which means less water loss from evaporation and wind drift.
- Avoid runoff.

Justin Corzine Appointed To NRCS Post In Tahoka

Mario Avila, district conservationist with the USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service for Lynn and Garza counties, has announced the appointment of Justin Corzine as GS-7 Soil Conservationist to the Tahoka Field Office.

Corzine has served as a SEEP employee in Aspermont and San Angelo.

As soil conservationist, Corzine will provide technical assistance to farmers and ranchers in the planning and application of conservation practices of their land. Also, he will assist landowners with the administration of several cost-share programs and help manage an information program to keep the public informed on the latest conservation technology, research and government cost-share programs available.

Corzine also will receive training while serving in the Post and Tahoka field offices.

A native of Stamford, Corzine graduated from Stamford High School and received a BS degree from Angelo State University in San Angelo in May 2002. He and his wife, Amber, a Permian High School graduate and recipient of a BS from Angelo State, were married in March. She plans to teach elementary school in Post.

PUPPY PLEAS

I have noticed many starving, homeless dogs and cats in our small community. Not only do I feel sorry for an emaciated dog with his ribs and hipbones poking out, stray dogs and cats can be quite a nuisance when messing in your flowerbeds and digging into the garbage and spreading it all over your yard. I have a huge heart for sad, hungry dogs & cats. While I would love to adopt them all, my husband says we can't. To avoid having more stray dogs and cats I urge you to spay or neuter your own animals. As most of you know, I have three dogs and one cat and all (except for the puppy) are neutered and spayed. There are so many orphaned dogs & cats that need good homes in our community. Animal owners, please take responsibility for your pets.

VET CLINIC

Dr. Bud Farr and other staff of the South Plains Veterinarian Clinic will be in Wilson hosting a Dog & Cat Clinic at the south entrance of the City building on June 15th from 1-4 p.m. They will be offering the following shots for dogs and cats:

- Rabies - $6.00
- DHLPPC - $12.00
- DHLPPC w/ lime - $35.00
- Deworm - $10.00
- Heartworm check - $20.00

The Wilson Junior High & Varsity Cheerleaders will be having a Car Wash on June 15th from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Walmart parking lot on the Loop & Quaker. Tickets are $5.00. You may purchase them in advance from any cheerleader, Shelly Livingston, Halye Cunningham, Shayne Bowen, or Twila Rex.

If you would like to serve or contact a committee member, the co-chairpersons are Helen Stephenson, 628-6313, and Kim Lindsey, 781-3400. This is really quite fun and interesting reviewing our past classes and accomplishments. It should also make it easier to gather information when we celebrate our centennial in 2012.

The Richardson's will be at Faith Chapel Community Church on Sunday, June 23rd at 3:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to hear our local talent. This is their only stop in our area until December so you don't want to miss this free concert!

All children who have completed grades 1-6 are invited to attend Vacation Bible School at Wilson First Baptist Church, June 24-28, from 6-9 p.m. The theme is "Amazon Outfitters - On Expedition with the One True God," built around an Amazon adventure expedition. For more information, call 628-6202.

WVFD Tip of the week: Did you know that clothes dryers could easily cause house fires? Here are two quick tips:

1. Make sure you clean you dryer's filter between each load.
2. Pull your dryer out from the wall, and ensure that there isn't a dangerous buildup of lint behind the dryer or in the exhaust hose.
