IN DARING DAYLIGHT BURGLARY

St. Clair's Lubbock Store Is Looted For Over $3,000

A little over $3,000 in clothing was taken from the St. Clair Department Store in Lubbock Sunday afternoon by daring daylight burglars.

Irvin St. Clair of Muleshoe, owner, made a trip to Lubbock Monday to confer with store manager Arvel White on the loss.

"They must have just picked out the kinds of sizes they wanted said St. Clair, who explained that most of the small sizes in the store were taken.

All the size suits taken were sizes 36-37-38. The slacks taken were also of the corresponding small sizes.

White listed as missing 90 pairs of denim trousers, 27 men's suits valued at $880, 100 ties and a large number of trousers worth $560.

Also taken were 10 sport coats, lingerie, linens, underwear, shirts, dresses and socks.

The burglars also looted an adjoining jewelry store for goods amounting to at least $3,500. Entrance was gained by smashing the door of an office located between the two stores. Walls were then busted to gain entrance to the St. Clair store and the jewelry store.

An oval-shaped hole about 18 inches in diameter was smashed in the St. Clair store wall.

Cash totalling $50 was taken in addition to the merchandise.

Investigating officers said there must have been at least two of the burglars. St. Clair theorized there may have been a gang of five or six.

"They had to work pretty fast to have done the job in the time they had to do it," he said.

St. Clair pointed out that White checked by the store at noon, and discovered the robbery at about 4:30, when he returned to the store.

Lubbock police are still checking out leads. The store doesn't carry insurance to cover such loss, St. Clair said.

Group Discusses Civic Improvements

A meeting was held last week involving city and county officials along with officials of the Muleshoe Independent School District and discussed possible civic improvements for the mutual benefit of all.

Among the items discussed were the possibility of re-locating the F.F.A. pig pens south of the football field, and the building of a city park and recreation center on the area.

The re-location discussion brought up the subject of the need for adequate show barns which are needed for stock shows.

Also discussed was the need for a county library. No concrete plans were laid by the group, which has set another meeting for Feb. 22.

All of the parties represented manifested an interest in the various project proposals. The proposed city park would be available for school recreation, as well as for the general public during the summer.

Both the school and county officials are interested in the show barn idea, which has been a definite need for several years.

The group agreed to give the projects some thought, and hoped to lay some definite plans in the next meeting. It was the general thought that all of the needed projects might be taken care of at once, rather than piece meal.

Represented at the meeting were the school board, the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce, and Judge Williams, who was invited to represent the county.

Bailey County Kicks Off New Dimes Campaign

The New March of Dimes began its 1962 campaign in Muleshoe this week, and campaign manager Jeff Peeler expressed hope that area residents would respond with their dimes and dollars as in the past.

Peeler pointed out that the New March had as its projects the cure of birth defects and Arthritis, as well as treatment of polio patients.

"We know what the March of Dimes can do," said Peeler, in reference to the Salk Vaccine, which has practically wiped out Polio from the cradle that it once was.

Robert Garlington, Student Council President at Muleshoe High School, and Helene Beckaert exchange student from Belgium, are in charge of the teen-age program, with headquarters at MHS.

Norman Thomas is the County Chapter Chairman. Peeler stated that anyone wishing to contribute could mail his contribution to him and he would apply it to the fund.

Officials hope to wind up the campaign in a couple of weeks if possible.

DISTRICT CHAMPS AGAIN!

Third Straight For MHS Girls

The Muleshoe High School Mulettes are the District 2-AA basketball champions once again.

Coach Louis Powers' sextet clinched the district honors for the third straight year Tuesday night, when the Mulettes coasted past Floydada, 48-31. The win, coupled with Oton's loss to Abernathy, gave Muleshoe the title.

The Mulettes stand 8-0 with two teams in the district has lost at least six games.

It marked the third district title in three years for Coach Powers' Mulettes. His first year at MHS, 1959-60, the girls were co-champs with Abernathy, and won the crown outright last year.

In district competition in the last three years, the Muleshoe girls have won 27 of 28 games, the only loss being to Abernathy two years ago.

The win over Floydada Tuesday was really more impressive than the score indicates. Powers let his reserves play the entire final quarter, and Floydada cut a 27-point lead, to the final 17-point margin.

The Mulettes may have been a bit "tight" as the game opened. They gave their fans a few anxious moments as Floydada took the lead early and led at the end of one quarter, 7-5, Muleshoe having only one field goal.

Trudy Davis began to hit hook shots and jump shots from all angles in the second stanza, however, and Muleshoe shot ahead, 24-7, scoring 19 consecutive points before Floydada scored again, with just 50 seconds remaining in the half.

The second-quarter effort was also a tribute to the Mulettes defense, sparked by Brenda Melson, who controlled the boards and swiped several enemy passes.

The half time lead was 26-9, the Mulettes continued the pace in the third quarter, taking a 46-19 and the Mulettes continued the pace in the third quarter, taking a 46-19 lead at its close.

At this point, Powers inserted reserves, Miss Davis being the last starter to leave. The future Mulettes, mostly freshman and sophomores, gained valuable experience, but could dent the scoreboard for only two points the last quarter.

Davis led the scoring with 26 points. Mary Wedel had 14 and Ira Lee Inman eight. Jan Alexander's 14 topped Floydada.

The team had its winning streak snapped by Friona last Friday in a non-conference tilt at the local gym, 44-40.

The visitors came to town bent on the victory and the Mulettes "Seemed to be trying too hard for the win," in the words of Coach Powers.

Friona had a 14-11 lead after one quarter, but Muleshoe came back for a 27-26 halftime lead. The Mulettes fell behind again in the third quarter, and trailed by six points at one point, 35-29.

The quarter score was 38-36, Friona. The last period saw little scoring, with both teams making mistakes and losing scoring opportunities in their anxiety. Muleshoe tied the count at 38-all, but weren't able to take the lead again.

Davis scored 18, Wedel 12 and Inman 10, as all three Mulettes starters were in double figures. Susan Harper's 22 points led the victors.

Bambert Named To Head Sugar Beet Growers

The Muleshoe Sugar Beet Growers Association reorganized and elected new officers in a recent meeting. Carl Bambert will serve as president. Harmon Elliott is secretary-treasurer.

The new directors are Bamert Glaze, Bobby Airhart, Jack Little, W. W. Couch, Elliott and W. T. Millen.

Hoyt Pattison, president of the Curry County, (N.M.) Sugar Beet Growers Association talked to the group about legislation concerning the beet growers.

Phil Crystal, County Agent of Curry County, told about the procedure used in growing sugar beets in his area.

Approximately 30 Muleshoe area farmers attended the meeting at the First National Bank.

Recently several telegrams have been mailed from the Muleshoe farmers to the president and members of congress in Washington to encourage favorable legislation for sugar beet growing in the area.

Test beet samples by Carl Bamert are being sent to Helly Sugar Co. in Colorado Springs, for sugar content tests. Sugar beets grown locally have been proven to have a sugar content slightly above average.

IN LETTER RECEIVED HERE

Mahon Pledges Help To Bracero Problem

Elvon DeVaney, manager of the Western Texas Farm Labor Association in Muleshoe, received a letter this week from Congressman George Mahon regarding the legislation affecting bracero labor.

The letter said:

Dear Friend:

We had a meeting in the Capitol yesterday, Jan. 30 in regard to the bracero problem with Secretary Goldberg and other officials of the Department of Labor. Senator Hayden of Arizona presided at the meeting and the meeting was well attended by Members of Congress. We made the strongest possible presentation to Mr. Goldberg. I believe the meeting will prove quite helpful.

As you know, a short time ago we had a couple hundred farmers and representatives of user groups from throughout the nation in Washington for about 10 days. During this time we explored every possibility of being of assistance in connection with this serious problem.

I shall continue to work with others here in an effort to be of assistance in this important matter. Let me hear from you at any time. Best wishes.

Sincerely,
George Mahon

DeVaney, along with other interested parties in the area, is to attend a meeting featuring the Jerry Holleman, in Albuquerque Friday.

Area farmers may have an indication of what lies in store from them from the speech. A similar meeting is scheduled in Midland Feb. 28.

Funeral services for William Robert Gore, 79, were held at the First Baptist Church in Muleshoe last Friday.

Items Stolen; Then Returned

The E. A. Flatts of Muleshoe had an experience with a "reluctant burglar" this week.

Stolen sometime Monday morning from the Flatt residence, 1407 Austin, was a mink stole and a camera worth around $500.

Tuesday the items were found by Mr. Flatt, in the floorboard of a used car on his lot at S. & F. Sales, as the burglar apparently decided against keeping the items

Deadline Passes

Candidate "Rush" Fails To Develop

No one was hurt in the last-minute "stampede" as the deadline for political candidates was reached Monday at midnight.

Harvey Bass, County Democratic Chairman, said only two new candidates were registered, Bill Millen for state representative of the 91st District, and Woody Goforth, for commissioner, precinct four.

The Republican camp remained silent as far as county races were concerned. The only GOP candidate filing subject to county voters was John Zahn of Farwell, who has announced for state senator opposing incumbent Andy Rogers.

Millen will seek the nomination against another Democrat, Bill Clayton of Springlake. Announcing for the seat earlier on the Republican ticket was Frank F. Ford of Hereford.

Goforth will seek the commissioner's post against the incumbent, R. P. McCall.

Otherwise, the names on the ballot will be limited to the precinct chairmen. On the Democratic ledger, Tom Watson, incumbent in the West Camp precinct, is the only chairman with opposition—from Joe Simmacher.

Otherwise, those up for re-election are Morris McKillip (1A), Doc Goucher, (1) Lester Howard (Baileyboro), George Tyson (Three Way), V. C. Weaver (Bula), Ves Garner (Circleback).

The County party officials will also be up for re-election. Harold Sneed is the Republican County chairman, and Mrs. Gilbert Lamb will seek the vice-chairman spot, where Mrs. T. R. White will not seek re-election.

Gas Users Set Meeting Thurs.

A meeting is scheduled Thursday night (Feb. 8) at Cox's Restaurant (formerly Leigon's), for all irrigation gas users.

Gas Users Attend Plainview Meeting

Farmers representing twelve Panhandle and South Plains counties heard a report Tuesday night at the Hilton Hotel in Plainview from David Burgess, President of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association regarding the effort made by the group to secure legislation at the recent Special Session of the Legislature.

The legislation sought would have given to farmers the same right of appeal to the Railroad Commission as is presently enjoyed by incorporated cities.

The meeting was attended by over 100 farmers and businessmen, which was the largest delegation ever present at a Board of Directors meeting of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association. Burgess commended the group on the conduct of their effort to secure the legislation in Austin, and the group enthusiastically responded and without exception expressed determination that no effort would be spared until relief had been secured.

The Board of Directors was commended for the effort made at the Special Session of the Legislature, and many farmers present expressed gratification that the legislation went as far as it did, passing both the House and the Senate, and then getting bogged down in the closing hours of the Special Session.

Besides his wife and children (Douglas, Bill and Mrs. Dan Stone) of Farwell, survivors include his parents, William P. Roberts of Bodfish, Calif., and Mrs. R. A. Jackson of Ft. Worth.

Sisters surviving were Mrs. Frank Burnett, Bovina; Mrs. J. M. Hitt, Ft. Worth, Mrs. Raymond Powers, Andrews, Mrs. Clyde Rawdon, Levelland, and Mrs. Walter Williams, Lubbock. Another survivor was a grandson, Stephen Lee Stone.

Funeral bearers were Owen Burnett, Bob Burnett, Preston Powers and James Ussery.

REPORTS HEARD

Mr. Burgess reported to the group that more than 400 busy irrigation farmers and businessmen had paid their own expenses to Austin and devoted their time in a well-coordinated effort to obtain corrective legislation.

Reports from Lubbock, Lamb, Potter, Randall, Swisher, Castro, Floyd, Briscoe, Deaf Smith, Parmer, Bailey and Hale Counties indicated that the Plains Irrigation Group was rapidly growing in size and that farmers over the entire area had been convinced by the effort made at the Special Session that relief would be forthcoming and that by a strong united effort irrigation farmers could be given the right to have their gas rates reviewed so that they could buy gas at a fair price.

Those from Bailey County who attended the meeting were Wiley Baker, Ed Little, Bill Millen, Virgil Nowell, Leldon Phillips and Guy Austin.

CARL NEELY, left, who is Muleshoe's Chief of Police, had the honor of purchasing the first automobile tags this season, while Mrs. T. A. Miller, right, bought the first pick-up tags. Mrs. Lee Nowlin Speaks For Muleshoe Classroom Teachers

Mrs. Lee Nowlin, an elementary teacher in the Plainview School system, spoke on the theme "The Classroom Teacher's Role in Making Teaching a Profession" Monday night in the Muleshoe Junior High Library.

Mrs. Nowlin is a past president of the Plainview Classroom Teachers' Association; past president of the Gamma Iota Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society; a member of the Federated Club, the Delphi Club, the A.A.U.W., and the Knife and Fork Club. Mrs. Nowlin is now chairman of the Cancer Drive in Plainview, and was nominated as Teacher of the Year.

Members of the Muleshoe School Board and the administrators were guests at this meeting. Mr. Robert Sanders, president of the local association, presided during the business session.

Approximately forty people attended this professional meeting.

Since Mattie Ruth Nowlin has served two years on the Advisory Board of the State Classroom Teacher's Association, has been State Membership Chairman, and has appeared on the Regional Programs in Kansas City, Missouri; Lincoln, Nebraska, and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, she is a well-informed person and presented a very challenging message to the group. Mrs. Nowlin brought the following points on the selected national theme "The Role of the Classroom Teacher in Making Teaching a Profession."

"Classroom teachers must support their profession as it works for autonomy and toward improved teacher education and professional standards and as individuals, must be informed on issues involved and be willing to give of themselves their time and talents.

Classroom teachers must demand that their professional organizations take the necessary steps to secure professional autonomy and promote the raising of standards of preparation. This will come Mrs. Nowlin said, when teachers control their own affairs and are able to guarantee that all who practice the profession are competent and ethical—the incompetent and unethical must be eliminated.

Mrs. Nowlin relates the teacher's competence is hard to define and measure and to safe guard teachers in this area. The NEA Department of Classroom Teachers, the American Association of School Administrators and the National School Board Association joined in a publication of "Who Is a Good Teacher." The author, Dr. Nicholas Fattu, professor of education at Indiana University in a summary of research findings on teacher competence concludes that a great deal more research is needed on the subject and persons to conduct such studies must be trained educational researchers.

In conclusion, Mrs. Nowlin said that we have a responsibility to as teachers — our profession—and that we have a responsibility to add our strength to it. It challenges us to do our share to elevate and improve it.

City Manager Meets With Retail Group

City manager Albert Field met with the Retail Trade Committee of the Mulshoe Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning, to discuss mutual problems.

One decision by the group was to ask the city police to check the business doors each night in case some "forgetful merchant" leaves his door unlocked.

The committee believes that parking, as it is in many towns, is the number one problem for Mulshoe shoppers.

Field agreed to arrange a meeting with city officials to discuss the parking problem further. The committee also expressed concern with overnight parking, who make it hard for the sweeper to do his job at night.

Another point discussed by the group was the possibility of placing garbage cans on main street, to encourage citizens to help keep the town clean. They elected to enlist the service clubs in helping with this project.

The committee also discussed repairing two roadside signs advertising the city, which are in need of repair, and voted for a sales training course through the Texas Education Agency.

The next meeting for the committee is Feb. 27. The members are Gil Herndon, chairman, Douglas Haynes, Calvin Calvert, Gerald Priboth, and Curtiss Wellborn.

County Agent J. K. Adams and Mack Hall were in Littlefield this week to hear a discussion by Blueford Hancock on Pecan culture.

Ford On GOP Ticket For Representative

J. FRANK FORD, JR.

J. Frank Ford, Jr. of Hereford last week announced his candidacy for Representative of the 91st District of Texas, on the Republican ticket, with the statement "Democracy works for us only when we work for it."

"We have more and more direction from Austin and Washington, and it's time we directed those people more," said Ford, who is a comparative youngster as politicians go.

No stranger to the Austin A & M from the School of Agriculture in 1955, where he was named the A & M he was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Ford served as Bill Clerk for the 56th Legislature, having an opportunity to get acquainted first hand.

His statement read: To the People of the 91st District.

"I am asking for the opportunity to represent this district in order to do what I can to create a constructive, responsible two-party system in Texas.

"Our freedom was earned by men and women who were dedicated to a cause greater than their own immediate luxury, and it can be maintained only by the same dedication.

"The strength of any society lies in the individual, and while the coordination of this strength is the legitimate function of government, the coercion of it is not.

"Events of the past two years have convinced me that the Democratic Party, which for years stood on the principles of Jefferson, is now engaged in trying to create and perpetuate a government monopoly which I feel is destructive of human rights. This is the reason I have become a Republican.

"From what I can see, most of the vested interests, the powerful lobbies which benefit from Big Government, are now in the Democratic fold, while working men must labor more than four months per year just to pay taxes, hidden and otherwise.

"For years now, we have seen sky-rocketing tax budgets and government debt, and greater promises of more of the same, some politicians, attempting to buy our votes with our own money.

"This does not apply to many fine Democratic office-holders who have held to their principles through thick and thin in spite of Administration efforts. They deserve our support.

"Let's take a long look at where we are headed, use our reason, and do what we think is right, not just what is expedient. Many people have already done so, and we owe them a debt of gratitude for "holding the fort" while the rest of us woke up.

"There are concrete steps which can be taken to back up the thoughts expressed above, and through my experience as Bill Clerk of the 56th Legislature and later in one of the state agencies, I feel that I can help to take some of those steps.

Beyond this, I can only promise to serve you honestly for two years with the firm belief that sound government begins at home.

Sincerely,
J. Frank Ford Jr.

Five Area Telephone Sets Annual Meet Next Thursday

The Annual Meeting of the Five Area Telephone Cooperative, to be held next Thursday, Feb. 15, should be the "best yet," according to D. B. Lancaster, manager. The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School Auditorium.

At the Annual Meeting of the Members of the Five Area Telephone Cooperative in February, 1961, a Committee composed of B. H. Black, J. E. Embry, Elbert Nowell, Andrew Dutton, and Dick Chisholm was selected to meet prior to the 1962 Annual Meeting to make a minimum of two nominations from each district to be considered by the Members at the 1962 Annual Meeting to replace those Directors whose terms are expiring.

Present at the Committee meeting on January 9, 1962 were B. H. Black, J. E. Embry, and Dick Chisholm; nominations made by Andrew Dutton and Elbert Nowell who were unable to attend the meeting, were handled by telephone. Selected as Chairman of the Committee meeting, and also to act in that capacity at the Annual Meeting was W. E. "Dick" Chisholm.

Directors whose terms are expiring are: W. B. Harlan in District 1; O. M. Jennings in District 2; V. D. Coker in District 3; and W. R. Damron in District 4; all of these men however were chosen by the Committee as nominees for re-election. Others selected by the Committee were: A. E. Redwine in District 1; Frank Hinkson in District 2; W. O. Jones in District 3; and Garland G. Young in District 4.

These nominations, along with any that might be made from the floor, will be given consideration by the Members at their Annual Meeting (which will be held at 2 p.m. on Thursday February 15, 1962, in the Muleshoe High School Auditorium) in making their selections (one person in each district) to serve as Directors of the cooperative, meet regularly to discuss any problems that might arise from time to time and to review and direct all of the operations of the Cooperative including:

the Rural Electrification Administration for the construction of facilities to serve additional consumers.

From the 412 subscribers who were receiving service in April, 1956, the Coop has expanded until it now serves 1062 subscribers with modern dial service and is in the process at the present time of extending service to subscribers in areas where service has been limited or non-existent.

By continually striving to provide more and better service, the Coop has worked out contracts with connecting companies for toll-free dialing from several of its exchanges into nearby trade centers and is presently negotiating for further contracts. The aim of the Cooperative is to establish and maintain reliable telephone service as economically and feasible as possible.

OTHER BUSINESS
Also on the agenda for the Annual Meeting will be financial and progress reports, the selecting of a Nominating Committee for making nominations for Director to be voted on at the 1963 Annual Meeting, and the taking of any action necessary on matters that might come before the meeting. The Cooperative is furnishing $400 in door prizes to be given away to those members present who hold the "lucky numbers". Additional door prizes are contributed yearly by suppliers who call on the Coop. The Muleshoe State Bank has generously contributed four $25.00 savings bonds. Refreshments will be served after the Meeting by the Homemaking Classes of the Muleshoe High School.

January Unemployment Lower Than In 1962

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg testified before the administration announced that the revised seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in January fell to 5.8 percent, the first time since September 1960 that this rate dropped below the 6 percent mark.

"Unemployment, at 4,663,000 in January 1962, is 700,000 below January a year ago, and total employment, at 65,058,000 is at an all-time January high," the Secretary said.

"These data confirm what the President has said in his Economic report," Secretary Goldberg indicated. "We are in the midst of a vigorous economic recovery, with production and employment reaching new highs."

"However, long-term unemployment still poses a very serious problem," the Secretary continued. "The number of persons unemployed for 4 months or more still stand at 8 1/2 million, just about unchanged from a year ago despite the decline in the overall unemployment figure and the rise in the number of jobs over the year. Again, the President's recommendation for such legislation as the Manpower Development and Training Act is underscored."

Secretary of Labor Goldberg released the January employment and unemployment figures in testifying before the Joint Committee on the Economic Report.

NEED MORE JOBS
The Secretary added that, given the current level of unemployment, a total of 5.5 million jobs would have to be added during 1962 to reduce the unemployment rate to even a 4 percent level, and provide full-time employment opportunities for the new additions to the labor force, persons in jobs affected by automation and technological changes, and those now involuntarily on part-time work.

In his testimony, Secretary Goldberg emphasized the importance of training and retraining as one major pathway for improving the employment situation by making a better match between the rising job levels and the people available to take those jobs.

The Secretary released the first report on the Labor Department's experience in training and retraining under the Area Redevelopment Act. The report shows that 29 programs have been approved, covering 4,200 trainees in 9 states. "Already in the pipelines," the Secretary said, "are enough training proposals to use up all the available funds for the current fiscal year."

"Even more important," he added, "is the fact that 50 percent of the trainees now in these approved programs had been unemployed for half a year or more; one-third of them, in fact, had been jobless for a full year or more. A substantial proportion are older workers.

"Our experience so far indicates that this kind of program can make a significant impact on the hard-core jobless situation which the new unemployment figures show still continues to be a major problem."

Pro Baseball In Texas Is Dying A Slow Death

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 Associated Press Sports Writer

A look at the professional baseball situation in Texas shows just how the minor leagues have fallen.

Only five clubs will go to the post in April and Texas will have only six pro clubs all told, including its first major league entry—Houston.

The fall of minor league baseball in Texas appears to have come in cycles of seven years.

In 1948 Texas was at its all-time high with 36 minor league clubs—five in the Texas League, eight in the Big State, one in the Arizona-Texas, eight in the Lone Star, six in the West Texas-New Mexico and eight in the Longhorn.

Seven years later the total had shrunk to 21—a loss of 15. In 1954 there were five clubs in Texas eight in the Big State, one in the Arizona-Texas, one in the Evangeline League (Port Arthur), five in the Longhorn and one in the Sooner State (Gainesville).

Here seven years later there are four in the Texas League, one in the American-Association and Houston, which is in the National League. Thus 15 more clubs in the dust in the seven years that elapsed from 1955 through 61.

NO SOPHOMORE

This year there will be no sophomore League, which had two Texas clubs—El Paso and Alpine

HAVE TWO GAMES LEFT

Mules Continue Loss Streak As Friona, Floydada Win

The Muleshoe Mules weren't able to snap their losing streak during the past week, dropping a non-conference game to Friona Fri. and then running into sharp-shooting Floydada, which is gunning for the district 2-AA title, on Tuesday.

The Mules stayed with the Whirlwinds for most of three quarters, and hometowners thought they might have an upset in the making.

But Muleshoe hit a snag with about three minutes left in the third quarter, and that was all Floydada needed to run up a quick lead and go on to win, 73-54 and remain deadlocked for the district lead.

final period started, but Floydada was in the middle of a hot streak and could not be stopped.

Young and Allison topped Muleshoe with 16 points. Malone chipped in 13. Floydada's hotshot, Rodney Teague, captured scoring honors with 28 points.

START LATE

In the Friona game last Friday, it was just a case of getting started too late for the Mules. The Mules, playing as if the game was strange to them, scored only two field goals the first quarter.

and trailed, 15-7 as the buzzer sounded.

It was even worse the second quarter, as the home team mustered only five points, while Friona was going to town, building up a 29-12 lead at halftime.

Things picked up for the hometown five the second half. They pulled up to a 37-24 score after three quarters, and were within six points with four minutes left in the game, at 43-37, but never could bridge the gap and the Chiefs won, 49-41.

Young's 17 paced Muleshoe, while Malone scored 13. Bobby Daniels' 12 led Friona.

Just two games remain for the Mules, with Morton here Friday and at Olton next Tuesday. The Morton tilt is their last home game.

Trade Baskets

The teams traded baskets as the game got underway. Floydada had a six-point advantage at 18-12, but a pair of two-pointers by Jim Young cut the margin to two, 18-16 at the end of the quarter.

REGAIN LEAD

Things continued on an even keel during the second period, as the Mules actually gained a point on the visitors. The score at intermission was 32-31, Floydada.

Muleshoe appeared to be making its move early in the third period. They finally took the lead at 37-36, with 6:40 left to play in the quarter, but that was to be their final lead.

REMAIN LEAD

Floydada regained the lead at 38-37, and then made it three points, 40-37. Wayne Malone kept the Mules right behind with a lay-in that made it 40-39, and two free throws by Jerry Wiede-bergh left the score 42-41, Floydada with three minutes to go.

But something happened at this point. Floydada scored nine points before the quarter ended, and Muleshoe was scoreless, giving the Whirlwinds a 51-41 lead.

Dick Allison's hook shots kept the Mules within 12 points as the Local Boy Scouts History Traced On Scout Week

Boy Scout Week is a proper time to take a look back in the records of the local Boy Scouts movement to acknowledge some of the many accomplishments of the men and boys. Some have started in the movement and are now leaders. New leaders—both for the Community and Scouts—are in the training.

The first time a troop was registered in Muleshoe was in December of 1931, when it was called Troop 19, registered out of Roswell, New Mexico, according to the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts in Lubbock.

Oliver Moore was the scoutmaster that year, and H.E. Eckler was troop chairman. F. C. Skeeters and J. E. Adams were the other committeemen. The troop was sponsored by the American Legion, and had 16 boys as charter members.

The next year, 1932, the troop was called Troop 20, and was registered with the South Plains Council. Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, it had G. A. Garrett as scoutmaster.

C. F. Moeller was the troop chairman in '32, and Ray Griffiths and Clay Beavers were committeemen. There were 28 members.

Troops 20 changed sponsors to the Chamber of Commerce in 1936, retaining that number until 1960, when it was designated Troop 620. It is considered a 28-year veteran unit and is now sponsored by the Lions Club.

Former Boy Scout leaders have included Houston Harte, Ray Griffiths, Woody Lambert, Bozo Bowman (1940-1950), Ernest Kerr (1950-1953), Homer Curry (1953-1958), Horace Edwards (1958-1961) and Jimmy Dale Beller (1960-1961).

Troop 634 is relatively a new unit, being organized in September of 1960, sponsored by the Muleshoe Fire Department.

The present scout property was given to the scouts by the E. K. Warren family and was a part of the old Muleshoe Ranch. Before the present Boy Scout unit was built, the first troop, number 620, met in the old American Legion building, which is not presently in existence.

The Muleshoe Lions Club converted a G. I. barracks in 1951 and 1952 for the Boy Scouts' use, and placed it on the Warren property. The Lions Club has provided utilities for the hut continuously as a community service to the Scouts.

Former Eagle Scouts from the Muleshoe troops include Irving St. Clair, Ralph Ware, Gaylord Tate, Johnny Wilkins, Harland Curry and Herbert Blair.

The Explorer Post of Troop 620 consists of fifteen scouts, with G. A. Beddingfield, post advisor. These boys receive on the job training in various business fields, as well as have their special activities.

Owen Jones is neighborhood coordinator for the local scouts, and serves a liaison between the district office and the local scoutmaster. Institutional representatives now are James Dowe, Troop 620, which is sponsored by the Lions Club. Frank Ellis is the institutional representative of Troop 634, sponsored by the Muleshoe Fire Department. Both troops are members of the South Plains Council of Lubbock, and are part of the George White District.

Members of Troop 620, with George Haskins as assistant scoutmaster, and who are seeking a replacement for Jimmy Dale Beller who recently moved from Muleshoe are: Hal Anderson, Steve Akin, Herbert Blair, Rickie Bradley, Dwight Burkhead, Gary Bradley, Walter Denny, Gary Edwards, Luis Elizarraraz, Charles Elrod, Louis Flores, Corky Green, Jerry Don Haskins, Tommy Jones, Mike Legion, Jody Mills, Bruce Purdy, Clifton Purday, Joe Vela, Robert Vela, Donnie Thomas, Billy Kelley, and Ricky Boswell. They are 23 strong.

The roster of Boy Scout membership in troop 634 includes Anthony Rundell, Terry Trapp, Joe Don Ogletree, Weldon Phillips, Thomas Dearing, Ronnie McMillan, Mark Gerrard, Mike McMillan, Garry McClendon, Bobby Copeland, and Burl McIntost. Phillip Gillespie is scoutmaster of the eleven member troop.

Den mothers and the Den Chief who are First Class Boy Scouts, for each of the eight cub scout dens are: Den 1, Mrs. Neal B. Dillman, den mother, Paul Lenua, den chief; Den 2, Mrs. Jim Gardner, den mother, Mrs. Matt Street assistant den mother, Den No. 3 Mrs. Richard Puckett, den mother, Mrs. Wilma Magby, assistant, Charles Elrod, den chief; Den 4, Mrs. Bill Taylor, den mother, Mrs. Wilma Payne, assistant, Bobby Copeland, den chief.

Also for Den 5, Mrs. Betty Davidson, den mother; Den 6, Mrs. Vernon Bleeker, den mother, Richard Alsop, den chief; Den 7, Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, den mother, Mrs. Arroya Mata, assistant, Gary Sullivan, den chief, and Den 8, Mrs. Nicki Parsons, den mother; Donnie Thomas, den chief.

Troop 634 meeting night is Monday at 7:30 p.m. and Tuesday nights at 7:30 is the scheduled date for Troop 620.

Club Scouts are under the leadership of Richard Puckett.

The local scouts have summer camping facilities available at Tres Ritas, New Mexico, for a weeks camping. The alternate camping site is at Post, Texas. This year both troops are planning a camping expedition to Camp Post, Owen Jones reported.

THE GREAT PARTNERSHIP

When the founding fathers established Scouting in America 52 years ago, they decided to make the program available to boys use as part of their programs for boys. By so doing, scouting has been able to go farther, faster, and more effectively reached and served a larger portion of American boyhood. Appreciation to our institutional representatives, the past as well as the present sponsors of the Lions Club and the Bailey County Volunteer Fire Department—are extended especially during this week, February 7-13.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

During this week, the local Scouts will wear their scout uniform and attend church in uniform on Sunday.

Littlefield will be the scene of District Roundtables at 8 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, with separate meetings for cubbers, scouts and commissioners. Owen Jones plans to attend the Commissioners meeting of opera-

HERBERT BLAIR, who became an Eagle Scout in October of 1960, is currently Muleshoe's only active Eagle Scout. He has in addition merit badges earned representing an additional year's work. (Journal Photo and Engraving)

GOOD GAMBLE
 Hey, Mitter, very strange you are.
 Two dollars on a horse you'll bet,
 You'll take a chance upon a car.
 You'll throw the dice a meal to get,
 Since taking chances you enjoy—
 Why don't you take one on a boy?
 The field is large, the odds are long,
 The course is with temptations set,
 But shown the right way from the wrong,
 The poorest boy is worth a bet.
 Why don't you take a chance that he—
 Will when a man, successful be?
 Back him to win to show or place
 Train him how best to work and play
 He will run for you a thrilling race,
 And finish well, let come what may.
 What if the odds are ten to one?
 You'll have a winner later on.

Boy Scout WEEK FEB. 7-13

We all owe a debt of gratitude to the Boy Scouts of America, for it is through this fine organization that millions of young boys throughout the country are being trained to take on the responsibilities that will one day be theirs as American citizens. In the Boy Scouts, each boy is pledged to Build, Serve and Achieve, and to do his best always. Because of this excellent training in the formative years, we are confident that the Boy Scout of today will grow up into the kind of man who will someday provide the best leadership for our country.

Water Board Plans Mapping Program

LUBBOCK—The Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, during a business session this week at the District Office in Lubbock, entered into a cooperative program of topographic mapping with the Texas Water Commission (formerly State Board of Water Engineers) and the U. S. Geological Survey.

John J. Vandertulp, Chief Engineer for the Texas Water Commission, met with the District Board and explained at length which is being commenced in the High Plains by the Water Commission and the USGS.

He explained that the new mapping program will initially include work in nine counties within the High Plains Water District area; however, it will be extended to include the entire High Plains as the work progresses.

The initial counties within the High Plains Water District that are involved in the program are Lubbock, Floyd, Hockley, Lamb, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Cochran, and Lynn counties.

The portion of Deaf Smith, Randall, Potter and Armstrong counties within the High Plains Water District will be mapped as soon as possible.

Vandertulp said, "The State's funds for topographic mapping are to be used in conjunction with Ground-water studies as well as surface-reservoir studies require good topographic maps. These maps also serve many other purposes and are a distinct asset to the area."

There will be a total of 2,540,000 acres of land involved in the initial mapping program. The Texas Water Commission will spend $200,000 in the next two years as the State's part in the cooperative project in the High Plains.

Topographic maps include, among other things, the elevations to existing wells, elevation contour lines, lowest elevation in play lakes, roads, railroads, houses and permanent structures. Maps are most useful in planning by cities, towns, utilities, and those involved in water and soil conservation work and planning, as well as individuals making plans for irrigation systems.

Members of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water District expressed appreciation to Mr. Vandertulp and the Texas Water Commission for the work that has gone into initial planning.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Texas Native Directs Capitol Guide Service

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The average tourist visiting the Capitol usually enlists the aid of one of 24 guides who are captained by Calvin Kimbrough, a 43-year-old Texan.

Kimbrough came to Washington from Sherman with his wife after World War II. She went to work for Speaker Sam Rayburn and, after his death, kept his office going. She then set up operations for Rep. Ray Roberts, Rayburn's newly elected successor.

Hair Stylist Speaks at 4-H Richland Club

Miss Dena Kay Bruns, high stylist, spoke to the All American Girls 4-H Club at the Richland Hills cafeteria on February 2, at 4 p.m.

Her subject was the care of the hair—brushing, and shampooing hints, and the type of hair styles for various heights and face shapes.

Barbara Allen was elected club reporter.

A recreation committee was elected consisting of Carolyn Embrey, chairman Betty Harben Cindy Phillips, and Nanette Morris.

A valentine's party was planned for the next meeting, February 16, 4 p.m. at the school cafeteria. Mrs. Ann Graham, home demonstration agent of Bailey County will give a foods demonstration at the program.

There were 41 members present, with Mrs. Leldon Phillips and Mrs. C. W. Calhoun, guests. Hostess for the meeting was club sponsor, Mrs. Joe Harbin.

Currently under discussion in congress is whether the guide service should be free or continue the charge of 25 cents for the guided tour.

Kimbrough may influence those making the decision. Tours take about 40 minutes, with anywhere from a dozen to 30 or more persons in a group. The guide fee (15 cents for children) goes into a kitty to be divided among the guides—12 of whom are appointed by Senate officials and 12 by House officials.

The guides, predominately women, average $7,000 a year. A resolution has been introduced which would authorize a study by the Senate and House sergeants at arms and the Capitol architect to see whether the tours should be free.

Officials estimate free tours would add about $200,000 a year to the cost of running things on Capitol Hill.

Kimbrough is inclined to agree with those who think the guide service should be free.

Kimbrough said guides are indifferent as to whether or not a charge is made. If not they would be put on the payroll at about the same salary they now receive.

Kimbrough, an accountant, attended Austin College in Sherman and George Washington University.

DRUG INDUSTRY: ENOUGH SAID!

As a feature article in a recent issue of U. S. News & World Report observes all kinds of changes were aired in the Senate industry—There were allegations of fixed prices, of excessive profits, of monopoly on "wonder drugs," of gouging of the public.

An examiner for the Federal Trade Commission was appointed to make an exhaustive investigation of these extremely serious charges. The FTC file on the case—which covered six of the principal pharmaceutical companies—filled 1,200 pages, along with the transcript of hearings running to 11,000 pages of exhibits. This, it would seem, is about as thorough as one can get.

Result: The examiner recommends that all charges against the companies be dismissed. In his words, as quoted by U.S. News: "Under the economic system in our country, it is apparent that profit is essential for the survival of the system. Economically, a company or an industry cannot exist without profit. Consequentially it seems evident that a desire to make a profit, and unilateral decisions aimed at that goal, cannot justify an inference of price fixing or a conspiracy to eliminate competition."

Enough said!

Administration Tactics Hide Peril From Within

Davis Merwin, long-time editor, publisher and foreign correspondent, has seen combat with all four armed services. He twice covered wartime Korea and moved with forays into enemy territory, to report hostilities. He has dealt with the Communists at first hand.

cape their own responsibility by finding a simple solution, an appealing slogan, or a convenient scapegoat." In mocking sarcasm, Mr. Kennedy "illustrates" his point thus:

"It was not the presence of Soviet troops in Eastern Europe that drove it to communism, it was the sellout at Yalta." And "it was not a civil war that moved China from the free world, it was treason in high places."

"Men who are unwilling to face up to the danger from without are convinced that the real danger comes from within. They look suspiciously at their neighbors and their leaders," the President declared. "They find treason in our finest churches, in our highest courts, and even in the treatment of our water."

"They equate the Democratic Party with the welfare state, the welfare state with socialism and socialism with communism. They object quite rightly to politics intruding on the military—but they are anxious for the military to engage in politics."

Declaring that he and most Americans "take a different view of our peril," Mr. Kennedy continued: "We know that it comes from without, not within. It must be met by quiet preparedness, not provocative speeches."

Warning the nation not to "heed these counsels of fear and suspicion," the President added: "Let us concentrate more on keeping enemy bombers and missiles away from our shores and concentrate less on keeping neighbors away from our shelters."

"Let us devote more energy to organizing the free and friendly nations of the world, with common trade and strategic goals, and devote less energy to organizing armed bands of civilian guerrillas."

ACTS TO CONFUSE

Here the President was clearly referring to what looks like an abortive Ku Klux Klan—"Minuteman"—mentioned in an apparent move to confuse listeners by unjustified association with the Freedom Clubs and similar legitimate educational movements devoted to exposing the nature of the Red menace.

But let's return briefly to the earlier points:

As to "a convenient scapegoat," Mr. Kennedy laughs off one of history's rankest "sellouts"—the Yalta Agreement—as a fiction employed to explain European troops. Even the extensively-abridged State Department releases of official papers expose the insanity—or better, perfidy—of Yalta. And then the alleged civil war—rather than "treason in high places"—that sacrificed China. In these two statements Mr. Kennedy was protecting former presidents of his Party who were either present at or had a direct hand in these tragic events. If there was not treason in high places, who contrived to give formal American aid to the so-called "agrarian reformers" who had been trained in Moscow for the China take-over?

The Reds were abetted first through the treasonable acts of the State Department's hard core of Alger Hisses and John Stuart Services, Owen Lattimore and others, who either slipped the gimmicks into the Yalta treaty or the Combies into the conditionalist China cabinet of Chiang Kai-shek. The U. S. then cut off the ammunition of our ally and other wise crippled him fatally.

Do we really know our enemy?

Texas' Highway Toll for 1960 Paints A Grim Picture of Loss

In 1960 there were 2,254 human lives battered, smashed, torn and strewn upon Texas streets and highways. Another 127,980 were sent to doctors and hospitals, some of these injured are maimed for life. Some 400,000 automobiles were damaged or demolished. Our economic loss came to an astounding figure of $350,022,500. Our liability and collision insurance premiums came to a sum in excess of two hundred and thirty million dollars.

If the 2,254 dead traffic victims were stacked in a pile, the dimensions would be about 2 1/2 miles in length, 3/4 of a mile in width and four-tenths of a mile in height. The dimensions for the 127,980 injured would be 139 miles in length, 41 miles in width and 20 miles in height. The dimensions of the some 400,000 damaged or demolished vehicles would be 1,330 miles in length, 500 miles in width and 379 miles in height.

COST CITED
Now for a descriptive look at the three hundred and fifty million dollar cost of the traffic accidents. The playing area of a football field measures 300 feet by 160 feet, or 48,000 square feet. United States currency measures about 2 1/2 inches by 6 1/4 inches. If a football field was completely covered with one dollar bills, then a layer of two dollar bills, then a layer of five dollar bills, then a layer of ten dollar bills, then a layer of twenty dollar bills, then a layer of fifty dollar bills, then a layer of one hundred dollar bill then a layer of five hundred dollar bills and on top of these eight layers of paper money, dump 1,595 tons of silver dollars, this would represent the economic loss we suffered in Texas for the year 1960.

The three hundred and fifty million dollars would have bought 10,000 homes at $20,000 each; 10,000 refrigerators at $400 each; 10,000 cooking ranges at $350 each; 10,000 TV sets at $350 each; 10,000 dishwashers at $300 each; 10,000 automobiles at $3,000 each; 10,000 central air conditioning units at $1,400 each and furnish the head of each of the 10,000 households with a bank account of $9,202.

Dividends Must Be Reported On Tax Returns

Dividends received by taxpayers during 1961 must be reported on federal income tax returns, John J. Sloan, Administrative Officer, for Internal Revenue Service, Lubbock, said today.

He explained: "If you own stock in a corporation, the payments you receive out of the company's earnings and profits are called dividends and must be reported in your tax return."

"Usually, dividends are paid in cash, but if paid in merchandise or other property, they are taxable at their fair market value. You must report those dividends credited to your account as well as those which you actually receive."

"You also must report the dividends on your stock which is held in the name of your broker."

"Your distributable share of dividends from partnerships, estates and trusts must also be reported."

Turman In Race For Lieutenant Governor

JAMES TURMAN

James A. (Jimmy) Turman of Fannin County, Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, today announced for Lieutenant Governor.

Speaker Turman said, "Now that we have concluded the business of the 57th Legislature, I am announcing as a Democratic Candidate for Lieutenant Governor."

My decision is based on the sincere belief that my record as a legislator and as presiding officer of the House qualifies me for the duties required of the Lieutenant Governor — to preside over the State Senate in a fair, effective and democratic manner and to help preserve the God-given personal and political rights and liberties of all our citizens.

"I am the only candidate to announce for Lieutenant Governor who has had the experience and the responsibility for organizing a legislative house, for formulating a legislative program and for presiding over the daily affairs of a legislative body."

"I have a positive platform which will be announced in the very near future. Let me say at this time, however, I believe that the only legitimate forces in State government are the wills and rights of all our citizens deciding the issues through their elected state officials."

Speaker Turman added, "I pledge diligence to duty, integrity of purpose, and honorable service with fairness to all if elected Lieutenant Governor."

Turman, now in his fourth consecutive term, said that every ounce of his legislative knowledge and experience, his formal education and training, and the important lessons of life he learned as a sharecropper's son would be put to work for the people of Texas.

My announcement has been withheld until the close of the special session because I wanted nothing to interfere with the vital work of the session, and because I did not think it fair, either to my colleagues or to the people, to announce at an earlier date.

"I am asking the support of a Texas citizen in establishing fiscal responsibility in State government, and, at the same time, support in providing the protection and the services our people have a right to expect from our prosperous State with an ever-expanding economy."

"I want and need every Texan's support! I am asking the support of Texans from business and industry, labor, education, the profession, government, farming and ranching, and all other segments of our social and economic life. I will give my best efforts in return for your confidence, your vote and your support. This I pledge without reservation!"

Turman said his campaign will get underway immediately and added: "I hope to meet and visit personally with as many people as time, between now and the primary, will permit."

After graduation from Gober High School, Turman worked his way through East Texas State College as a bus boy, waiter, drug store clerk and bookkeeper, receiving the B.S. and M.S. degrees in Business Administration. He earned a Doctor's Degree in Education from the University of Texas.

As an educator Turman has served as an elementary and secondary classroom teacher, elementary and junior high principal, instructor at the University of Texas, and Assistant to the President of Texas Woman's University in Denton.

Turman was born on a tenant farm in Fannin County and lived with his parents in Gober, Glade-water and Bonham. He is a Navy veteran of the Korean Conflict, a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Gober, a member of the Texas Farm Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, other civic and professional organizations and fraternal orders.

Turman married his high-school sweetheart, Ira Nell Wigley of Gober. They have one son, Mrs. Turman is presently teaching in the Austin Public Schools. Turman and his family live on his 103-acre farm near Gober.

APRIL 15 IS DEADLINE

Less Than 30% Of Vehicles Inspected

Less than thirty per cent of the registered vehicles in this area have been safely inspected for 1962, according to Patrolmen L. W. Wilhite, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

With the April 15 deadline, for having the vehicles checked, rapidly approaching, this means there are approximately 2500 vehicles in Bailey County remaining to be inspected by the six approved inspection stations available.

Official motor vehicle inspection stations in Bailey County are Arnold Morris Auto Parts, Cayle Reed Buick Co., C. & H. Chevrolet, Green Butane Co., Muleshoe Motor Co. and Weaver Garage, all at Muleshoe.

Many motorists are going to find long lines awaiting them as the deadline draws nearer, due to the inspection stations not being able to cope with this large number.

The patrolman urged drivers to have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible to avoid this last minute rush. In addition, he reminded drivers that this time of the year is noted for adverse weather conditions which prevent the inspection stations from checking the vehicles.

"Passenger cars are inspected for brakes, lights, reflectors, horn and windshield wipers; while commercial vehicles are inspected for the above plus additional items required by law." Patrolmen Wilhite said. "All motorists not displaying a valid 1962 inspection sticker by April 15 will be in violation of state law."

Christianity And Congress-- Don't The Two Of Them Mix?

A large group of West Texas farmers returned from Austin last week. While in the state capital, these men got a first-hand lesson in how the legislature worked. For most, it amounted to a "short-course" in government. They returned a group of dejected men, since the bill they wanted passed, the proposal for putting irrigation gas under the auspices of the Railroad Commission, failed to become law. The group had a lot of good words for the representatives who "stood by their guns" and supported the measure, which might have meant a considerable saving to the farmers. They were not as complimentary to Congressmen who wouldn't support the bill, more especially the ones from the West Texas area. Those who were commended for their work included H. G. Wells, sponsor of the bill from Tulsa, Senator Andy Rogers of Childress, Representative Jesse Osborn of Muleshoe and the House Speaker, James Turman. The area men were more disappointed at the way they lost their battle, than the mere fact that they were defeated. "It's a shame," one of the men said, "that men can't vote on a bill on its merit, whether it's right or wrong, rather than having to conform to party lines, or 'liberal' and 'conservative' feelings." The proponents of the gas bill thought they had the battle won, prior to an elaborate party last Tuesday at Austin's Driskill Hotel. Wells said last Wednesday, "I don't know what happened at the party, but I had the votes yesterday and today I don't." "It's a sad state of affairs when a bottle of whiskey and/or a pretty woman can be used to change the future of a state or nation," said one localite who was in Austin. "We agree, I'm afraid we've gotten away from the Christian principles under which our government was founded. It's sad that it has to be said that a person can't uphold his Christian principles and be a member of Congress—and sadder still, when it's true.

Support For John Connally Is Growing

FORT WORTH—Three South Texas weekly newspapers, the Seguin Enterprise, the Waco Enterprise Home Paper and Mathis News have endorsed John Connally for the Democratic nomination as governor. This makes a total of 11 daily newspapers and four weekly publications that are supporting Connally editorially. The Enterprise and Home Town Paper said in their editorials: "John Connally's program for Texas looks like a good one, and we believe he will make a great governor." "John Connally has the knack of leadership. His candidacy deserves the careful consideration of every voter." The Mathis News said: "...no matter who else enters the race now, they will not be able to defeat John Connally." "We see no man on the state political scene who has the aggressiveness, enthusiasms, ability and progressiveness to lead Texas in the Sixties, other than John Connally."

Answer To Socialized Medicine

It has been charged that the medical fraternity and allied groups have little if any interest in the medical problems of elderly people in the lower-income brackets—and that, therefore, the federal government must provide medical care, preferably by adding it to the social security system. Those who have been misled into believing that should find much food for thought in a joint announcement made by the National Association of Blue Shield plans and the American Medical Association in mid-January. The announcement concerned a new, nationwide program of surgical and medical care benefits for all low-income people over 65. The cost is estimated at about $3 a month. No government subsidies are involved. Single persons whose incomes are $2,500 or less and married couples in the $4,000 and under categories will be eligible. The plan will pay all medical and surgical costs, along with the bills for X-ray, anesthesia, and various tests. People over 65 with higher incomes can also enroll, and in their case an additional charge can be levied by the physician concerned. Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, executive vice-president of the AMA, said the plan represents "another important step in the direction of achieving through voluntary, private initiative an effective solution to the problem of meeting health care needs of the aged." And the new plan is in addition to other effective programs—such as the Kerr-Mills bill, passed last year, which provides federal subsidies, through a system of joint federal-state administration, for elderly people in the very low income brackets. Also, there are many states and local welfare programs which provide medical services for people who cannot afford the pay. These are some of the answers to those who claim that we need socialized medicine, government dominated medicine, or a catch-all program of giving government-paid medicine to anyone drawing social security benefits whether they need assistance or not. —Industrial News Review

Unsatisfactory Reserves May Be Drafted

AUSTIN—Ready reservists of the armed forces who have enlisted under age 26 in the reserve or National Guard since October 4, 1961, and those who enlist in the future, are now subject to immediate induction by draft boards if they participate unsatisfactorily by the reserve of which he is a member. This is a provision of recently changed draft regulations, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, pointed out Wednesday. Draft boards do not act to induct the unsatisfactory reservist until he is certified in writing as unsatisfactory by the reserve of which he is a member. Public law 87-378, passed in the fall of 1961, authorizes this action. Prior to passage of this law, only men who enlisted in the six-month program under age 18½ were liable for immediate induction upon certification for unsatisfactory service. "Draft boards do not determine whether the reserve service is unsatisfactory," Colonel Schwartz emphasized. "That is a function of the armed forces reserve." When unsatisfactory reservists are inducted, they are inducted into the branch of the armed forces of which their reserve component is a part, he said.

"WE NEED REPEAL" ATLANTA (AP)—A speaker at an anti-Communism seminar in Atlanta has provided his own unusual formula for a capitalistic victory. We know that more people from Muleshoe would like to go out to Maple and Goodland as we did last Saturday night. And we certainly should—the hospitality is excellent. To kick-off the Cancer and March of Dimes drives in Bailey County, the ladies of the Three Way Home Demonstration Club sponsored a game night at the Maple Community Center Saturday. The worthwhile motive and the community spirit completed a full and entertaining evening. We hope to hear more and have more news from that area—and also to see them in Muleshoe more often.

POLITICS

Judge Glenn Williams and Commissioner Bill Eubanks were present for the evening in Maple too. And that just reminds us that politics seems to be the topic of conversation most mentioned—whether over early morning coffee with the men or at a neighborhood coffee gab with the ladies. The last day for filing for the elections was Monday—and we hear that some still are paying their poll taxes, though late and with penalty. We'll all be interested to hear more from each of the candidates, on their ideas and platforms, so we can judge "by the man, not the party."

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER CLAIMS

Weather Vital For Farming, Orbiting

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a look at space flights, his letter this week reveals. Dear editor: Like nearly everybody else, I was glued to a television set watching preparations for launching a man into orbit around the earth and like everybody else I too was disappointed when the launching had to be postponed. I was talking later with a man in town and he said, "Aw, I don't understand it, why should a few clouds get in the way when he's going to be orbiting above them anyway?" It's pretty clear that man doesn't understand the intricacies of space launchings or farming either. I don't know whether you're aware of it or not, but launching a man into space is almost exactly like farming—the weather has got to be just right before you tackle it. It can be too cloudy to orbit the earth just as it can be too wet to plow, or too windy to fish. Even if the weather is right, that's not the whole answer. On a bright, sunny day, a leak in a fuel line can stop Col. Glenn from orbiting and me from farming, and I think everybody ought to come to a fuller appreciation of the complex difficulties of both these enterprises. If a man is all set to orbit the earth or cultivate its surface, he's got to be philosophic about the situation and not rush into either unless everything is exactly right. Col. Glenn, as far as I'm concerned, crawled back out of his space cabin after the flight was postponed and said: "If not today, some other time. What's the rush?" Col. Glenn, you're welcome to visit this Johnson grass farm any time you want to. People have got to understand that it's impossible to say: "Next Thursday at 9 a.m. sharp we'll put one man into orbit and two million farmers to plowing." Us space and farming technicians have learned long ago that things don't work that way, and I'll be glad when the rest of you laymen learn it too. Yours faithfully, J. A.

New March of Dimes Sights New Goals

The New March of Dimes opened its 1962 campaign this week with the promise that "Your Dimes Will Do It Again." Do what again, you may ask. Well, we know what your contributions to this national voluntary health agency did to polio. With March of Dimes funds The National Foundation financed the development of the Salk and then the Sabin vaccines. Now The Foundation's nationwide medical research program is being applied to the prevention of two other disabling diseases, birth defects and arthritis. Actually, these two are even more formidable than polio ever was. Arthritis affects 11,000,000 Americans. Of these 30,000 are children and adolescents and 16,000 of these youngsters need medical care each year. And each year 250,000 children are born with a significant birth defect. That's one out of every 16 babies. The need is immediate and pressing. Often these diseases can overwhelm a family — both economically and psychologically. So the March of Dimes organization has expanded its traditional and unique patient aid program by authorizing aid to victims of all kinds of birth defects and financing evaluation clinics and special treatment centers at hospitals and other medical institutions in many parts of the country. These facilities offer the expert services of medical specialists working as a team to alleviate the medical, economic and social problems of the patient and his family. All of this will mean a greater demand for research and medical skills. Therefore, part of the funds raised in January will be set aside to train new hands in research and medicine under The National Foundation's program of professional education. Your dimes—and dollars too—will do it again if you say "Yes" to the New March of Dimes.

New F-M Road Bill Receives Praise

AUSTIN. — The Texas Highway Commission today praised the new Farm to Market Road Bill as a "constructive piece of legislation" and announced that the bill will pave the way for an eventual 15,000 mile increase in total Farm Road mileage in the State.

"The establishment by the Legislature, through this legislation, of a longrange maintenance program for Farm Roads will make increased new mileage possible," said Herbert C. Petry, Jr., Chairman of the Highway Commission. "The Texas Highway Commission," he said, "has this day passed

Princess Forms For Stock Show Are Available

Applications for the 1962 Princess Contest to be held as a highlight of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show have been mailed to county agents and vocational agriculture teachers in 29 counties.

The Princess Contest is slated for 10 a.m. March 17 in the Merchants Building on the Panhandle South Plains Fairgrounds, Raymond King, fat stock show general chairman, said.

The stock show will be held March 19, 20 and 21 on the fairgrounds.

Two girls are chosen as princesses, one representing the area's 4-H Clubs and the other representing the Future Farmers of America Chapter.

To enter a girl must be single, at least 14-years old and be sponsored by either a FFA Chapter or 4-H Club. The sponsoring organization must have at least one member entering an animal in the stock show, but the girl contestant is not allowed to enter any animals in competition or in the sale.

The Two Princesses will receive a $200 western outfit, including boots, a shirt, trousers and a hat, which they will wear during the fat stock show events.

The girls will present awards to winners and help with the stock show publicity.

ed a Commission Minute Order expanding the objectives of the department for the present 35,000 mile system of Farm to Market Roads to a 50,000 mile system."

It was pointed out that this is in accordance with the agreement made by the Highway Commission to all of the interested road development groups to coordinate with the new legislation. "The increased mileage will be developed over a period of years, logically balanced among the various areas of the State," Petry said. "Such a system of roads will be selected for the over-all benefit of the road system and the areas involved and with the objective of developing all areas of the State up to the 50,000 mile system as uniformly as possible."

A total of 34,294 miles of Farm to Market Roads have already been designated.

"We are confident that we can secure under the new Farm to Market Road Bill more miles of newly designated Farm Roads than we have been getting in recent years," he said.

Chairman Petry added, "This new action of the Legislature will have the effect of relieving the growing pressure on the funds available for Primary Highways and urban traffic facilities. These funds have heretofore borne the total burden of maintenance of the Farm to Market Roads. The new law provides separate maintenance program for these roads, thereby relieving the tensions on the Primary Highway Fund, in which a deficiency has long prevailed."

Speaking for the Highway Commission, Petry expressed gratitude they have displayed in the Highway Department in the passage of this legislation.

Bulletin Tells Results Of Cotton Tests

Several dozen named cotton varieties are offered for sale in Texas, and the cotton producer's success may be greatly influenced by the variety he selects.

To provide the producer with information that will help him make the best choice, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has been actively engaged in the testing of cotton varieties for the past 60 years. A recently released bulletin, the fourth in a series of 3-year summaries, summarizes the data obtained from tests conducted during 1957-59.

Because of the great diversity of soil types, climate and production practices in Texas, variety test sites have been established in practically all land resource areas of the state. The entries included in the various tests differed from year to year, although certain designated varieties were included in all years to provide a consistent basis for comparison.

Data reported in the new bulletin, B-983 "Performance of Cotton Varieties in Texas," include yield of lint per acre, lint percentage, boll size, staple length and fiber fineness.

In order to present a comprehensive summary of varietal performance, the data have been summarized for various cotton production areas in Texas. These areas are closely related to the land resource areas of the state, although certain production areas have been combined. The area summaries given include only those varieties which were grown at all locations.

For a complete report on these tests, see your local county agent and request a copy of this bulletin. Ask for it by name and number. It is also available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EULER

Maybe we shouldn't ever even think of it, but we can remember the time when, if an employee got too sorry for his job, and there was a fellow anxious to make a good hand, the sorry one was fired and the new one hired. Now, however, if a fellow gets a suggestion for improving his efficiency or increasing his output, he runs to his union boss and insists on a raise, or improved working conditions, both of which he usually gets, thus teaching his employer that he should not be meddling in the area of his employee's business.

On January 19, 1962, the President of the United States issued an executive order okaying unionization of federal employees. Since nearly all of them already have immunity to being fired under Civil Service, they will probably be quite brave in their demands they make to their employer for more pay and less work.

If the U. S. Labor Department has its way, farmers will soon be required to ask when he may hire a new man, put him to work, and at what pay for how many hours. The regulations already in effect in some truck farming activities require the farmer to be prepared to pay a minimum of two hours wages if he so much as asks him employee to get up in time to report to work and then finds the weather has changed enough to prevent beginning of the work. Of course, if they get to work a few minutes before conditions develop to stop them, they get three hour's pay.

As you all know, the Irrigation Gas User's association bill failed to become law. We believe it should have succeeded. We hear there may be some new legislators in some of the districts because of some of the happenings. This is one instance, but every voter should watch the vote of his legislator in Austin and Washington so he will know whether he is the right man to keep in come next election time.

It's no secret, Farm Bureau opposes the new administration farm program proposal. Farm Bureau has a plan that its members believe would give farmers more freedom and net income with less cost to the tax payer. People who are learning what Farm Bureau people stand for are beginning to join voluntarily.

Under regulations for 1961 and earlier crops, skip-row cotton planting was permitted provided the skips left idle or planted to other crops were equal in width to the four rows of cotton. If the skip rows were any narrower, the entire acreage was counted as planted to cotton for acreage allotment and marketing quota purposes. Under this arrangement many growers planted a four-and-four pattern—four rows to cotton and four left idle or planted to other crops.

MORE LATITUDE The change, Secretary Freeman said, will provide the cotton grower with more latitude in planning and carrying out his operations. Under the new system, on land actually planted to cotton will be counted as cotton land in determining compliance with acre allotments and marketing quotas. Each grower will determine for himself the pattern best suited to his operation. It is expected that many will shift to a two-and-two pattern, that is two rows of cotton and two rows left idle or planted to other crops.

The decision to end limitations on the skip-row planting is in line with recommendations of the Cotton Advisory Committee and many members of the cotton industry, USDA officials said, and is expected to result in improved income for cotton growers through increased efficiency in production.

The January 2 announcement applies only to cotton and does not change skip-row determinations in effect for other crops. Details on the new regulations are available at local ASC committee offices.

College Station.—The four-row limitation on "skip-row" planting will not apply to the 1962 cotton crop, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Muleshoe FFA Judging Team Places Sixth

The Muleshoe High School F.F.A. Livestock Judging team placed sixth in contests at Lubbock Saturday.

The team, composed of Dean Ethridge, Jerry Killingsworth and Myke Murrain, judged Hampshire Breeding Swine in the contest.

Vocational Agriculture instructor Bill Bickel accompanied the boys to Lubbock. Their score was 486 out of a possible 600.

Farm Facts

The 1959 Census of Agriculture reported that there were 3,704,000 farms in the United States. This is the smallest number (for the 48 states) of any census since 1870.

There were 1,079,000 fewer farms in 1959 than in 1964. About 232,000 were no longer counted as farms because of a change in census definitions.

To be considered a farm, a place must have a minimum of 10 acres of productive land as compared with a minimum of 2 acres under the old definition. If it has less than 10 acres, sales of agricultural products must add up to at least $250 annually.

Even without a change in the definition of a farm, changes in farm size and number were great between 1954 and 1959.

Total farm acreage dropped from 1,138 million in 1954 to 1,120 million in 1959. The average size of farms increased from 242 to 302 acres.

Results of the 1959 census are evidence of a further concentration and specialization of agriculture in the United States.

There was a 30% drop in the number of farms selling less than $2,500 worth of products and a 36% rise in the number selling $10,000 worth of products or more.

In 1959, there were 136,000 farms of 1,000 acres or more. This compares with 63,000 in 1955.

U.S. farms are fewer but larger.

Crop Rotation Will Help Control Disease

Methods of disease control in crops have been getting fancier and fancier in recent years, but the practice of crop rotation is still one of the most effective, says Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist.

Continuous cropping of the closely related crops year after year will result in increased plant disease troubles, Smith points out. A disease of only slight importance the first year may carry over in the soil and become more serious each succeeding year.

Many disease organisms, such as those causing downy mildew, wheat rust and tomato or potato late blight, are wind-borne. Others are carried on or in the seed.

All of these diseases may occur on new land. After a disease organism is introduced into a new field it may linger until the infection finally reaches serious proportions. Corn smut is a good example of a fungus that is carried to a new field by wind-borne spores, and then survives in the soil for several seasons.

Newly cleared woodland or recently plowed grassland is usually as free of soil-inhabiting plant disease organisms as any land that can be found. Smith says farmers and ranchers should make every effort to keep such soil disease-free.

A plant disease already established in a field often can be avoided by planting a crop that is not susceptible to that disease, Smith advises. Farmers should learn to recognize diseases, and when they occur, should plant a different or resistant crop for several seasons. Some disease organisms may live in the soil for years, even when a susceptible crop is not grown. Others can be controlled after the land is planted to non-susceptible crops for only a few seasons.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By COY A. GARETT

The hunting season is over and it is time to clean the guns and put them away until next year. Many memories will remain of the hunts this year. In the area around Muleshoe many quail and ducks were killed this season. It is time to start thinking about next year's crop of birds.

Many of us are interested in finding places that are suitable for birds, such as quail, to live and nest. In this immediate area are places that could be used providing the landowner or operator of a particular farm or ranch was interested in developing these areas into a place of refuge for wildlife.

Small pieces of "waste" land that can be changed into wildlife land area are called "odd" areas. These are pieces of land not suitable for grazing or cultivation. They include small eroded areas in crop fields, bareknobs, sinkholes, small sand blowouts, large gullies, abandoned roads, or even bits of good land that are cut off from the rest of the field.

'Ben-Hur' And Its Religious Aspects

Tickets will be sold from 2 p.m. through 8 p.m. Sunday and the box office will be open from 7:15 until 7:45 p.m. Monday through Wednesday for the four-day showing from Feb. 11 through 14 for "Ben-Hur," Mrs. Heartha Walker of the Moeller Theatres announced this week.

In filming the Academy Award-winning "Ben-Hur," MGM has made certain the religious aspects of the noted classic have been emphasized and carefully visualized. As was General Lew Wallace's wish during his lifetime, the new film—most expensive ever produced—bears the subtitle "A Tale of The Christ." This phrase, identifying the story as a deeply spiritual account of the early Christian era, from the birth of Christ to the crucifixion, has been used in advertising and on the screen.

When the novel was published in 1880 and soon became a worldwide bestseller, its impact on the religious communities of the world was deep and lasting. "Ben-Hur" became a subject for discussion in Sunday schools and many a church sermon found its inspiration in the story of the Jewish boy who defied pagan Rome and fell under the spell of Christ. Amateur pageants and recitation based on the book, were inevitable items on church programs. All denominations found in "Ben-Hur" a message of brotherhood and Faith that they could endorse. The fact that the story-as-a stage play and as a silent motion picture—provided a background of popular, spectacular drama and heroic action, added to its power as a wholesome message to the masses. Millions came to be entertained by the play and the movie and remained to feel its spiritual uplift.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

NO WILL? WHO INHERITS PROPERTY?
What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, your mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that person is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it—but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Bula Graduate With Division In Hawaii

Army Specialist Four Curtis P. Green, 24, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Green, live in Sudan is receiving three weeks of training with other members of the 25th Division's 14th Infantry at the Pohakuloa Training Area in Hawaii. The exercise is scheduled to end Feb. 10.

The 14th is being tested on its ability to fire its weapons accurately and effectively and its ability to live in the field under simulated combat conditions. The training will culminate in a three-day live-fire exercise in which the 14th will be supported by tanks and artillery. This tactical maneuver will test the ability of 25th Division units to work together to accomplish their common mission.

Bolevy arrived in Hawaii in July 1960 and is a truck driver in the 14th's Combat Support Company which is regularly located at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii. He attended Bula High School and was employed by C. H. Holt before entering the Army.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Job's Faith in the Redeemer

"For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth." Job 19:25.

Job's Confidence in His Redeemer

There is only one Redeemer of guilty men, and that is Jesus, the Son of God, the only Saviour ever revealed to our world, in whom the pious and believing have trusted in every age.

And it must be observed that he is represented:

First as a Divine person, possessing the true and proper nature, titles and perfections of the Godhead. Immanuel God with us. Then secondly represented as being possessed of perfect humanity, in all things made like us, except being sinless. He was therefore Divine and human, God incarnate, God manifested in the flesh, God enshrined in our humanity—Truly God.

BOY HELPS FARMERS

WILLIAMSON, N. Y. (AP)—W. John Knapp is an inventor at 14, and the State Agriculture Department says he's licked a problem which has bothered farmers for years.

Farmers spraying their fields have a tough time telling what part they've sprayed and what part they've missed. John filled a cylinder with chalk and attached it, by means of a special rod, to a farmer's spray rig. Every time the wheel of the spray rig turned, a measured amount of chalk dropped out of the cylinder. Marking the field to show where it had been sprayed.

The agriculture department tested the device and said it saved them more than $500 in labor costs in 27 days of spraying.

FORMER MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER, left, raises his hand to take the required oath as he filed as a candidate for governor in the Texas democratic primary in May. Administering the oath is Clyde Johnson, executive secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Walker flew from Dallas to Austin to pay the $1,000 filing fee in person. (AP Wirephoto)

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

How does one go about producing a best seller? Luck, pure luck. At least, that was my experience.

In the Spring of 1943, I was in Austin as a newspaperman covering the session of the legislature. The lawmakers recessed for the weekend so I thought it would be pleasant to visit San Antonio and bask in the romantic atmosphere of sunshine and palm trees.

But when the bus arrived in San Antonio, rain was pouring down. "When does the next bus leave for Austin?" I asked and the ticket agent replied, "It'll be two hours." Wondering what I could do during that interval, I thought of Joe Naylor, the book publisher. I had heard him speak at a State Historical Association meeting in Austin but had never met him. If you are a writer (I had at that time written one book and it was out-of-print), it comes in handy to know a publisher.

So I phoned Naylor and he invited me to come by. I had nothing in mind—just wanted to get acquainted but when I was about to leave the office after a pleasant visit, I thought of a manuscript of mine.

Now this manuscript had really gone the rounds. Ten big Eastern publishing houses had rejected it. The manuscript was so soiled from so much handling that I had re-typed it. Finally, a publisher accepted it and then changed his mind. I had about given up, deciding that the manuscript was finished.

But when I described the contents, Naylor said, "Send it on; I'll be glad to look at it." When I returned to my home in Fort Worth, I mailed it. After several months, he wrote a letter saying, in substance, "I am inclined to publish your book."

So we met for luncheon and a conference in the St. Anthony coffee shop.

"How many copies do you think I should print, if I print it?" he asked.

"A thousand copies are a lot of books but you couldn't very well print any less if you printed it at all" was the anxious author's reply.

He nodded in agreement. But he had not definitely said he was going to publish it. So I did a little mental arithmetic. There were relatives and business associates to whom I should send a copy and perhaps, occasionally, someone, happening to hear of the book, would order a copy from me—so eventually I could use a goodly number.

"Joe," I said, "if you'll print the book I'll buy hundred copies. 'Bayer,' he said, 'I'll print the book.'"

The first edition was 2,000 copies and his supply was gone in a week. A second printing of 2,000 copies was ordered. Parents, wives and sweethearts were buying the little book to send to Texans in the armed forces all over the world. As the sales of "I Give You Texas" soared, the two most surprised men in Texas were the author and the publisher. It was months before I received my 100 copies but you may be sure there was no complaint at the delay.

The total on "I Give You Texas" has reached 200,000 copies and every now and then somebody goes into a book store, even yet, and buys one.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Gov. Price Daniel's long fight over reporting unclaimed property to the state for escheat has ended at last.

So has the argument over rural roads policy.

But the scrap over the question of what to do about regulating loans, interest rates and lenders is not yet settled. And it may not be for a long, long time.

The Legislature has settled the escheat and road policy questions. Also it has partially solved the advertising program for tourists, juvenile parole and repair of the San Jacinto Monument.

Money problems were eased estimated that the escheat reporting law passed last year will yield at least $300,000 during the next 20 months. He put no estimate on the bank reporting law just laid on Governor Daniel's desk for certain signature into law.

When the Legislature meets, growing Texas brings a pack of problems to Austin for it to solve.

High Plains' irrigation farmers are quarreling with their gas company. They want its rates regulated. Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress and Rep. H. G. Wells of Tullia tussled a bill through both houses to the farmers appeal to the Railroad Commission, just as cities can do, if the gas company increases its rates.

San Angelo and Edinburg got favorable reports from the Commission on Higher Education on making San Angelo College and Pan American College, now locally supported, part of the state system of colleges in 1965.

They came to Austin to get the Legislature to pass the necessary laws, and make the state take over support of colleges. House of Representatives went along with both proposals.

But Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan, down in A & M country, thinks Texas has enough state colleges already. So, he used the filibuster to fight the two new college bills to a standstill.

WAY TO ROADS PAVED—State Highway Commissioner Herb Petry Jr. complimented the Legislature on passage of the Farm-to-Market Road bill. He announced new projects as soon as Governor Daniel's signature was on the bill.

L. E. ROBERTSONS VISIT IN MAPLE Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Robertson and three-year old daughter, Greta Pearl of Roswell, New Mexico, were guests in the home of Mrs. Carrie Huff at Maple last Sunday.

THEFT IN FANTASYVILLE PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies are searching for a thief with a yen for fancy street names.

... signs were taken from a subdivision during one night's raid. The signs read: Breathless Drive, Mule Train Road, Up and Down Place, Nonchalant Avenue, Elbow Road, Easy Street and Carefree Drive.

Santa Fe Shows Business Gain

Total carloads moved over Santa Fe System Lines for the week ending February 3, 1962 were 35,197 compared with 32,424 for the same week a year ago.

On-line loadings were 24,117 compared with 22,511 for the corresponding week last year. Cars received from connections totaled 11,087 compared with 9,913 for the same week a year ago.

Goldberg Defends Equal Job Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, testifying before the Administration before the Special Subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, told committee members that he supported the principles underlying the proposed legislation concerned with equal employment opportunity, but that he had not studied in detail the language of the bill which had just come to his hand.

He assured the committee that he would study the legislation carefully and that he welcomed the opportunity to work with the subcommittee and full committee "toward the achievement of the full objective of equality of employment opportunity."

The Secretary stated that the continued advancement of the Nation's sound economy required the use of all available skills of our workers, aside from the very real social and moral implications involved. "We cannot match the manpower of the Soviet Union and Red China; we must compensate for the deficiency in numbers by the skill of our workers and by making the most effective use of their talents." He said the Nation cannot afford to indulge in reckless waste of manpower implicit in discrimination for any reason—age, sex, race, color, or national origin.

Mr. Goldberg stressed the fact that he favored not only equal opportunity for employment, but equality of opportunity in unions as well. He also reminded that while some aspects of the "broad civil rights front" have been "a

Off The Runways

Taking off in his PA-18 from a strip near his home South of Texico, Leon Jones saw a clump of weeds in his path and as his plane was clearing the ground the clump struck the landing gear of the plane tearing it up.

Jones, a student pilot flew the plane on to the local airport where he made a perfect one wheel landing. Jones set the craft down on the one good wheel maintaining the balance almost the length of the runway to a point where that wheel collapsed under the weight.

The plane eased down on the ground with little damage done. Other than the gears, the propeller was damaged.

Scarborough Is In Germany For Training

Army Specialist Four Jerry C. Scarborough, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Scarborough, 407 Cleveland Ave., Friona, is participating in the 3rd Armored Division's month-long winter training exercises in Grafenwohr, Germany, which were to end Feb. 7.

High point of the Spearhead division's annual training cycle, the training includes day and night tactical exercises emphasizing cold weather training, mobility and chemical, biological and radiological warfare. An essential part of the training is range firing of individual and team-served weapons, including Army's new M-60 machinegun and the 105 and 120-millimeter tank guns.

The 3d, a major element of NATO forces in Europe, plays an essential role in maintaining world peace.

A mechanic in Headquarters Company of the division's 32d Armor in Friedberg, Specialist Scarborough entered the Army in January 1959 and was stationed at Fort Devens, Mass., before arriving overseas in October 1960.

He is a 1956 graduate of Friona High School and attended Texas Technological College. His wife, Mary, is with him in Germany.

March of Dimes Helps Dry Youngster's Tears of Pain

Anthony Ryan wasn't normally a crybaby. But at 10 months he began crying almost incessantly, and at times even screamed.

His loving parents in Philadelphia were nearly out of their minds. With four other small children, the household was pandemonium. No one appeared to know precisely what was causing the infant's dreadful paroxysms of pain.

Eight months and countless tears later, the cause of Anthony's agony was at last diagnosed as rheumatoid arthritis, seemingly afflicting every area of his tiny body.

It's 11 years now since Anthony was stricken. He will limp the rest of his life; he cannot play baseball today with the other boys in the block, and he is still in a great deal of pain. As a matter of fact, until just a short time ago he couldn't even turn his head.

ON EAST COAST, Dr. John D. Bridgers, director of March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center at Children's Hospital, Philadelphia, examines Anthony Ryan, 12 years.

Science has not yet licked the problem of Anthony and thousands of children like him. There is still no simple, accurate test for the early diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis, although the outlook is hopeful. But many rheumatologists would agree today that modern diagnostic tools were available to him, and had Anthony been examined immediately by a "team" of specialists in the medical and allied professions—the group of orthopedists, pediatricians, laboratory research scientists, physical therapists and others now available in March of Dimes-financed treatment centers in many parts of the nation—Anthony today might be skating with the other kids on the frozen pond at the bottom of Prince Circle where he lives.

Although much of the injury done to Anthony in past years is irreparable, doctors at a new arthritis treatment center at Philadelphia Children's Hospital, sponsored by five March of Dimes chapters in the area, check him regularly to ease his pain and avoid further damage.

This same "team approach" is also employed by the ever-growing number of National Foundation-March of Dimes chapter-sponsored clinics for treatment of birth defects, another area in which the health organization is concentrating. Infants with any of hundreds of major birth defects are now examined by as many as 12 specialists at each clinic, working together as a team that might include a pediatrician, neurosurgeon, urologist, orthopedist and internist as well as others.

For instance, consider the perils from one birth defect that surrounded Cathy and Carol Gile, identical 8-year-old twins of Vancouver, Wash. From birth, the children have been seriously ill with a succession of maladies—pneumonia (each six times), ear infections (again, each six times) and other disorders which have meant prolonged hospitalization. Both were found to be afflicted with an inherited lack of antibodies, the substances in the blood which combat bacteria.

At the University of Washington Hospital, Seattle, where 36 March of Dimes chapters in Washington, Idaho and Alaska have financed a birth defects clinic, the attractive little girls twice monthly are given injections which literally keep them alive.

The Seattle "team" at the March of Dimes clinic watches over the twins devotedly.

There are tens of thousands of Anthonys and Cathys and Carols in the United States today. One reason The National Foundation-March of Dimes turned to these diseases three years ago is that almost 700 babies are born each day in this country with significant birth defects, accounting for more than 21,000 deaths each year. Crippling rheumatoid arthritis affects 30,000 children and adolescents—apart from the overall toll of 11 million American victims of rheumatic diseases.

An increasing number of sufferers from these two cruel handicaps are receiving treatment from the specialist "teams" at March of Dimes-financed chapter clinics. As more funds become available, additional centers will be established to provide medical care for even more victims of chronic crippling disease.

Blanchard Predicted To Top Maris' Mark

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—John Blanchard, New York Yankee catcher-outfielder, "will hit more home runs than any of them including teammate Roger Maris who hit 61 in 1961.

This is the opinion of cattleman Horace M. (Hod) Lisenbee, the right-hander who served up Babe Ruth's 26th and 58th home runs in 1927, the year Ruth hit 60. Lisenbee, now 90, likes to reminisce about his "baseball days," but he also likes to dwell on current events of "the great game."

And he'll discuss a controversial topic that made headlines last October—MARIS, in a 162-game season—BREAKS RUTH'S RECORD.

"The comparison of Ruth and Maris is not a valid one," says Lisenbee. "They didn't walk Maris in 1961 as much as they did Ruth in 1927. Ruth drew 138 passes; Maris 94.

"Ruth had more pressure on him. He didn't have three men of the calibre of Blanchard, (Elston Howard and (Yogi) Berra hitting behind him. Usually Ruth had only one real threat (Lou Gehrig); Maris had three. (Seems Hod forgot Mickey Mantle.)

"They've got fellows today who hit the ball harder than Maris does. Mickey Mantle is more of a slugger, but (Jim) Gentile of Baltimore and Blanchard are the hardest sluggers of all, from what I've seen on television.

Gentile's hits, with 46 home runs in '61, produced 141 runs batted in. Blanchard had 21 homers and 54 RBIs in only 93 games Maris, in 161 games, drove in 142 runs.

At 43, Hod hurled a no-hitter for Syracuse against Montreal in the International League in 1944.

The Lisenbee major league career nurtured several notable achievements. As a rookie in 1927, he won 18 and lost 9 for the Washington Senators. Lisenbee received some votes for the American League's 1927 Most Valuable Player award, which the Yankees' Lou Gehrig won. It was Hod's only winning year in the majors.

Later, Lisenbee saw duty with the Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and Cincinnati.

Hod's last year as a big leaguer was 1945. He ended his career with a 37-58 record in the majors at age 41. Three years later he won 6 and lost 5 for the Kitty League team which he and his wife owned here.

Thinking Of Redecorating? Here's a Tip

Thinking of redecorating all or part of your home? If you are, you would do well to read a recent publication of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This bulletin, B-971, deals with the beautification of windows and glass walls, important parts of any room.

There are few set rules for window decoration, but window treatments should help control light and heat as well as enhance the beauty of the room in which they are used. Each window or group of windows challenges its owner to make it contribute to the comfort, utility, beauty and joy of the home.

How is this accomplished? By utilizing the basic art concepts of harmony, proportion, balance, rhythm and emphasis.

When choosing draperies, consider the room, proportions, exposure, view, walls, floors, furnishings, accessories and the amount of surface which needs to be draped. Remember that the walls and floor form the background, which is the basis for pattern and color selection. A room's location also plays an important role in the selection of color. South and west rooms are usually more pleasant when done in cool, quiet tints, while north and east rooms are better in the warm colors.

Valances or cornices can make windows that are too tall or too narrow seem shorter. They may also be used to cover and conceal the rods and fixtures at the top of draperies. Lighting fixtures may be installed behind them to add soft lighting to the room.

There are myriads of combinations for decorating rooms and each person must choose the one that is most pleasing personally. Before you make your choice, however, see your local county home demonstration agent and get a copy of B-971.

Special Science Courses Planned At Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION, —(Sp1)—Three special science training programs for high school boys with high academic ability have been scheduled at Texas A&M College next summer.

Sponsored under grants from the National Science Foundation, the math, biology and physics programs are designed for boys between their junior and senior years in high school, said Coleman Loyd, coordinator for NSF programs at Texas A&M.

The programs include a math course for 30 high-ability boys from June 4 to July 13, and a biological sciences course for 16 talented boys from July 16 to Aug. 24.

A special physics course June 4 to July 14 is scheduled for 30 high ability boys who attend smaller school systems not offering high school physics.

The National Science Foundation is providing $8,650 for instructional expenses and stipends for the math course, $5,760 for the biology program, and $9,400 for the physics course.

Students selected for the three special courses will pay as much as they can toward living expenses. Those selected but unable to provide living expenses will receive stipends to meet necessary costs.

All applications from residents of Texas must be submitted through the offices of high school principals. Out of state applicants may apply directly to the NSF coordinator's office at Texas A&M. Dr. W. S. McCulley, A&M College associate professor of math, will direct the math course. Directing the biology program will be Dr. John J. Sperry, professor of biology. The physics program will be directed by Dr. Melvin Eisner, professor of physics.

Neiman Marcus Reveals Plans For Expansion

The Neiman-Marcus Company today announced it would build a $4,000,000 (M) suburban store in Northpark, giant regional shopping center planned for construction at the intersection of the Central Expressway and Northwest Highway in Dallas.

The location is only two miles from the company's present suburban division at Preston Center and approximately five miles from its downtown store.

Mr. Stanley Marcus, President of Neiman-Marcus, said the Preston Center structure will be vacated upon completion of the North park store.

Mr. Marcus said construction on the Neiman-Marcus structure is scheduled to begin sometime in 1963—the year in which the company will open a new $3,000,000 (M) suburban store and shopping center in the Redglea area of western Fort Worth.
