Farmers Flying To Washington

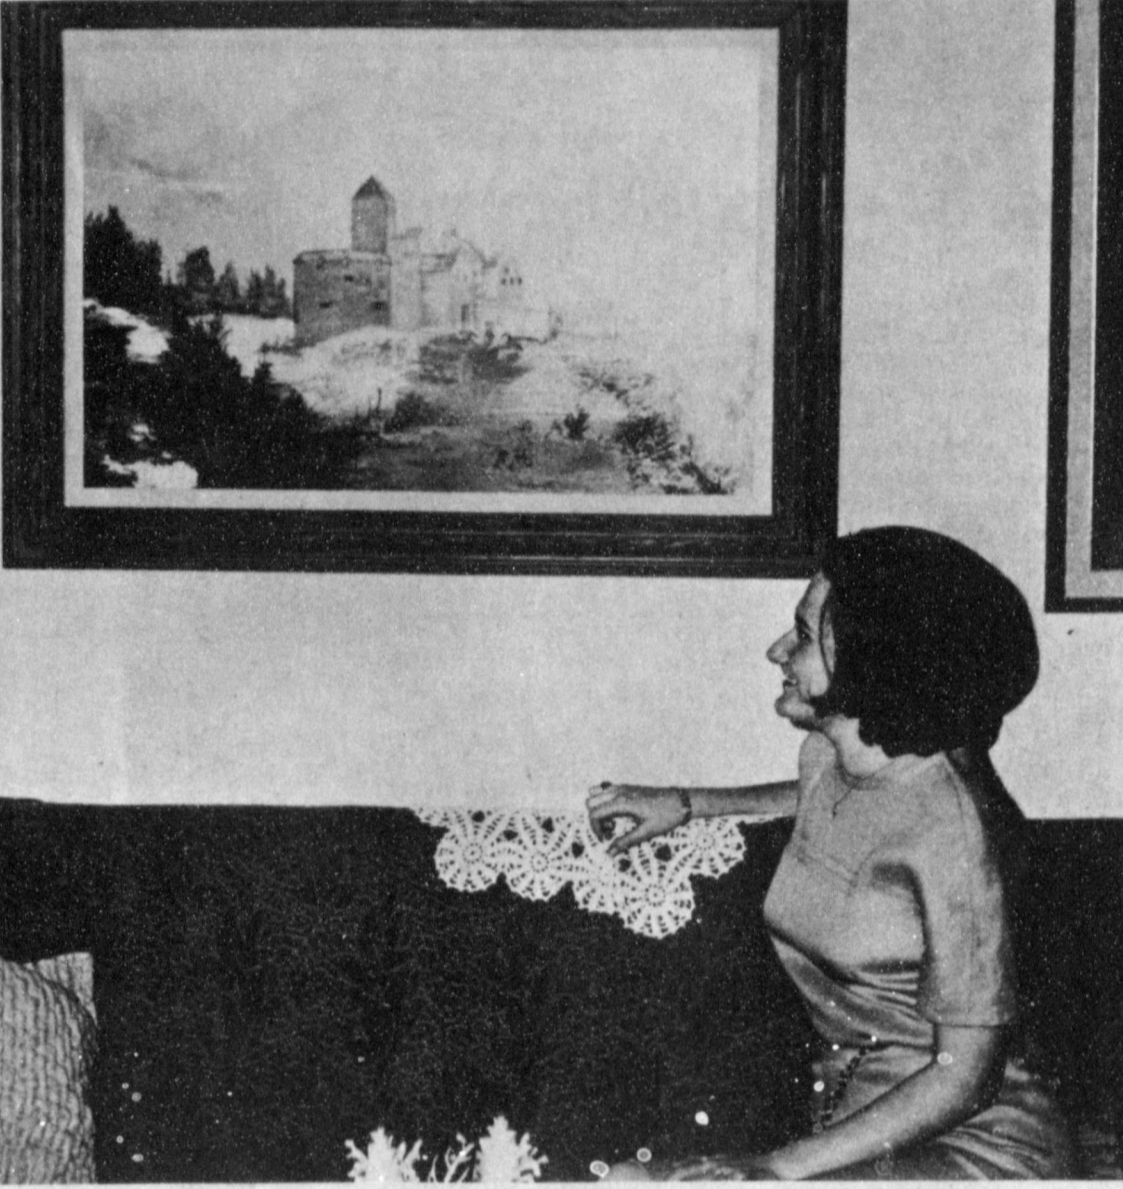

A chartered plane load of Texas cotton farmers will fly to Washington on April 4 to participate in the National Farmers Union Cotton Legislative Fly-in Program. They will join farmers from Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico for the two days of meetings with USDA cotton officials and members of Congress.

Area farmers who will be participating in the farmers Union Cotton Legislative Fly-in are Don McDonald, Route 3, Muleshoe and R. J. Sanderson, Route 1, Friona.

The "Cotton Fly-in" is one of the several "Legislative Fly-ins" called for by the recent National Farmers Union convention to dramatize the urgency of improving farmers' economic position.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco will lead the cotton delegation which will leave Dallas by chartered plane in the early afternoon on Tuesday, April 4, and return to Dallas on Thursday, April 6. Regarding the purpose of the "Fly-in" Naman said, "We are asking farmers to take a couple of days off their farms to speak up on the problems facing Texas' cotton growers where their words will directly reach those who are making the decisions"

Legislature Bills May Jeopardize Vocational Nurses, Hospitals

"If the bills which are slated for legislature are passed they will disqualify all Vocational Nurses and Waver Vocational Nurses, said Dr. W. F. Birdsong, West Plains Hospital co-owner and long-time physician.

A meeting of nurses was held Monday evening in Methodist Church Fellowship Hall for all nurses, Doctors and other interested people to examine the bills and discuss the result, if passed, and attempt to devise an organized method to help get them rejected.

"These bills would reduce the status of the Licensed, well trained Vocational nurse to the status of a nurse aide. "The LVN is under the supervision of a registered nurse and is trained to give medications whereas the nurses aides are not.

"A Waver Vocational Nurse," Dr. Birdsong explained, is a nurse who received training before 1951.

"Should these bills be passed, all schools like the one which has been in successful operation in training Licensed Vocational Nurses here at West Plains will be eliminated. The bill would force all those wishing to become nurses to attend schools of higher learning such as Texas Tech or University of Texas and become R.N.'s. Many of these Licensed Vocational Nurses do not have the financial means or other opportunity to attend such schools.

Criteria Changes Recommended For Establishing Junior College

Five definite recommendations for changes in the criteria for establishment of junior colleges have been made by the Special Task Force on Junior Colleges of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. B.F. Seay, Andrews, chairman of the study group, said that copies of the recommendations have been sent to the Coordinating Board of Texas Universities and Colleges.

The study group was formed because the leaders of the WTCC felt that West Texas areas were not being treated under criteria presently in use.

designed to fit those areas with high population concentrations and perhaps poorer in terms of revenue potential, according to the statement released by the group.

Anyone having seen such a vehicle is asked to contact the Bailey County Sheriff's office.

One person was arrested Tuesday and held for Dimmitt and Littlefield for felony theft and for Floyd County and Lubbock on worthless check charges.

Rotarians Hear American Challenge

"Challenge to the Youth of America" was the topic used by Crystal Rowell, Clovis, when she spoke to the Rotary Club at noon Tuesday.

"Here in the Southwest, we are blessed with many things. We often feel far removed from many of our nation's problems such as racial strife, communism, overcrowded cities, slums and general unrest . . . and yet, I know that you as young Americans know the problems that are facing our country, Mrs. Rowell said.

"I know that through your home, your church, your school, your own experience and a desire to protect all that is good in our country you are ready to take your place as citizens of today," she added.

"Our country has been compared to many things in many speeches, but to me, one of the clearest comparisons is that of a mighty superchief engine. Our states are the cars held together by the blood of freedom and the love of liberty. These are the strongest ties in the world and they hold our nation together in an indestructible bond," she said.

Favorable Outlook

A favorable situation confronts Texas castor producers as planting time draws near.

The demand for castor seed is great, says Dr. Raymond D. Brigham, research agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center here.

Only 15 per cent of the 158 million pounds of castor seed consumed in the United States last year were produced in this area.

LANDMARK

Somewhat of a landmark for Muleshoe is going down. This elevator was built some 25 years ago east of the Morton Highway now in the 100 block on First Street.

Rufus Gilbreath created the Feed and Seed Store in the building on the corner of N. First and Ave. B in front of the elevator for many years before moving to his present location. Gilbreath said he has no immediate plans for the site where the elevator has stood.

Lydia Wolfe is Bride Of Glen Dale Swafford

Miss Lydia May Wolfe became the bride of Glen Dale Swafford in a single ring ceremony read Saturday, March 25, at 8 p.m. at the Trinity Baptist Church. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Troy Walker, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wolfe, Route 2, Muleshoe and Mrs. Martha West, Bowie.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of brocaded satin styled with an empire waistline. The long sleeves came to points over the fingertips. Her floor-length veil of net was edged in bonded lace. She carried a white lace-covered Bible topped with a bridal bouquet of white lillies. The wedding tradition, "something old-something new" was carried out. As something old, the bride wore a strand of heirloom pearls belonging to her late great grandmother; something new was her gown; something borrowed was the white Bible belonging to Mrs. Lena Hite, Earth; and something blue was a garter.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Griswold. She wore a sheath styled dress of white bonded lace with a head piece of the same material and carried a single stemmed pink carnation.

Dale Griswold, cousin of the bride, served as best man. Us-hers were Paul Wolfe, Jack Griswold and Harry Wolfe.

Wedding selections were played by organist Lanell Spurgeon and soloist was Velma Evans.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall.

The bride table was covered with a hand crocheted cloth made by Mrs. Leonard Griswold and was centered with a cut glass service belonging to the bride's late great grandmother.

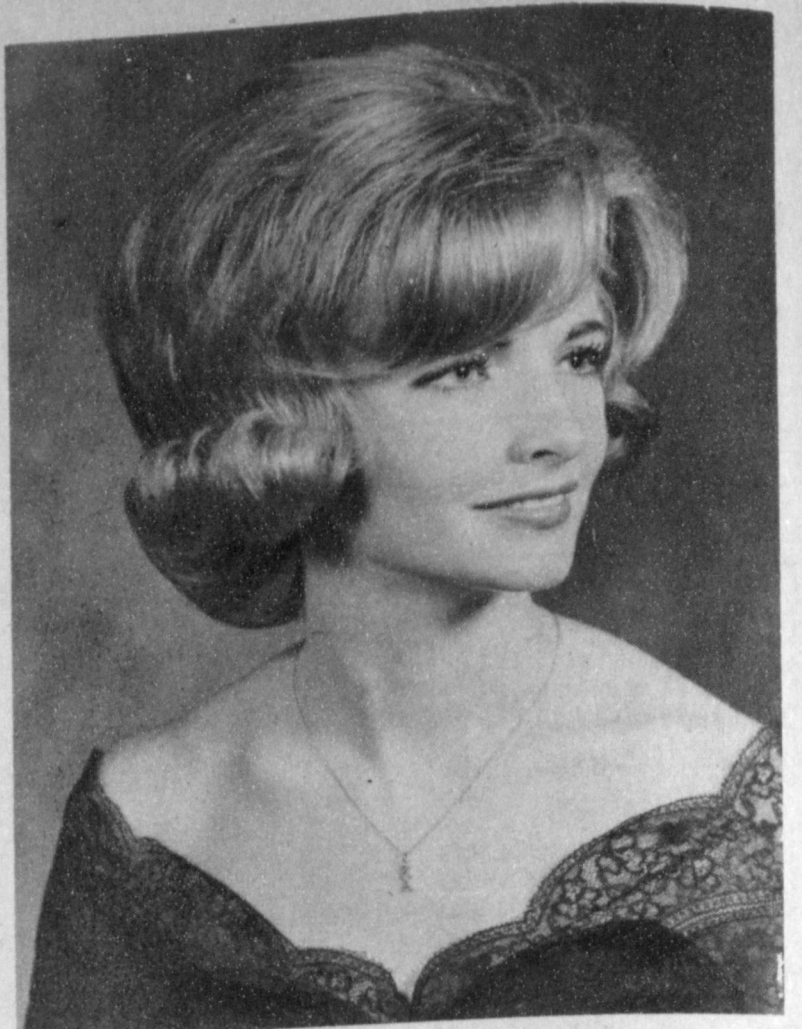

Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Ted Allen, Mrs. Donald Griswold and Imogene Hudson.

For travel on a wedding trip to Bowie, the bride chose a shift dress of old rose color trimmed in black accented with black accessories. Her corsage was from the bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Muleshoe school and the bridegroom attended Bowie school and served four years in the U.S. Army.

He is presently employed at King Feed Lot and the couple live at 213 West 8th Street.

NEXT YEAR HE WILL BE READING

Next year he will want his own reading lamp. Next year he will need an extra waffle at breakfast too, and there will be school clothes to be ironed. All of this will require more electricity which is why demand in rural areas doubles every eight years. In 1948, the average family served by BAILEY COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE used 150 kilowatt hours per month. Today, this same family requires 450 kilowatt hours. This constantly increasing demand calls for a constantly upgraded electric service requiring more money for improvements. BAILEY COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE is planning ahead now to provide this additional supply of electricity that is Helping Texas Grow.

Mrs. Jackie Ray Stallings

Kayleen Dirks is Bride Of Jackie R. Stallings

Mrs. Kayleen Ann Dirks and Jackie Ray Stallings of Hereford exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening at Windy Acres, home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gwen McFarland, Arney.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Dirks, who live south of the city, and Mrs. Addie Stallings, 409 Ave. J. The bridegroom is a former Muleshoe resident and nephew of Dudley Malone. The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First Methodist Church, conducted the double ring ceremony in which the bride was given by her father.

She entered the room down a winding staircase, and proceeded to the improvised altar arranged in front of a bay window. Yellow tapers burned in a pair of candelabra flanked by baskets of daisies and chrysanthemums. More of the flowers filled a cupid vase on the stairway.

Mrs. DeZane McFarland, her cousin, was her only attendant and the bridegroom's brother, Dean Stallings, acted as best man. A medley of wedding music and the marches were played by Mrs. Fred Ruland.

The bride's dress, street length, was a cage of English lace worn over a satin sheath. The lace was gathered to a circular band at the neck line and to similar bands at the wrists.

Layers of illusion fell over her shoulders from a cluster of white satin roses, their petals edged with seed pearls. Her bouquet was cascade of daisies. As an heirloom piece she carried a handkerchief which has been a part of the bridal costume of several members of her family.

Miss McFarland's dress was styled like the bride's, of chiffon over yellow satin, and her flowers were a small-scaled replica of the bridal bouquet. A reception in the home followed the ceremony. Daisies and other blossoms in white and yellow decorated the table which was covered with white linen over yellow.

Mrs. Dean Stallings served the wedding cake while Mrs. Jackie Rhodes of Stamford, sister of the bridegroom, ladled punch. Mrs. Bill Dirks, sister-in-law of the bride, also of Stamford, sat at the guest book.

Mrs. Stallings left for a honeymoon in New Mexico wearing a white linen suit with black patent accessories. Her corage was of orchids. The couple expects to spend about two weeks in Hereford before leaving to make a home in San Francisco.

Relive the Night of Your Debut

Remember how lovely you looked as you made your bow. Your dress - your hair - your skin so radiant and without a line. After all, you were only sixteen. Why not recapture that night and keep it. For 2nd Debut can give your face at least, an "ageless look"; a quality more fascinating than youth, beauty - or both. Regular nightly applications of 2nd Debut accomplish the "ageless look" by lifting, firming the facial skin... giving it the allure of a smoother complexion. And skin dryness is all but gone. Choose 2nd Debut (with CEF 600) if you are under 40 or 2nd Debut (with CEF 1200) if you're over 40. Price is $3 and $5 respectively at good department and drug stores. SOMETHING WORTH REPEATING.....

ACTION - NOT WORDS By Bernie Camp, Director of Information Nebraska Farm Bureau

Why do so many of us who are concerned about problems and issues of the world, the nation, the state, and the community get so little done? Could it be that we give "lip service" rather than action for the things in which we believe? Do we "talk" a good fight instead of act?

Do we vote in all elections? Do we inform ourselves about candidates and issues and really work to get honest and capable people elected? Do we accept public offices when we have something to give our communities?

When we are asked to serve on a jury, do we serve as if it is a privilege; or do we seek some way to avoid service because of inconvenience?

Do we respect the laws? Or do we take a sort of pride in finding ways to "get away with it"? Do we pay our taxes understandingly if not cheerfully? If we do not like a law or a tax do we organize with others who think as we do to get action; or do we only complain?

Do we contact our local and county officials, our legislators and congressmen to let them know how we feel about legislation? Or do we blame our lawmakers after laws we do not like are passed? Do we set a "bad" example by telling others to do as we say rather than work for what we believe?

Do we criticize without thinking without knowing what we are talking about, and looking for a better way to solve public problems?

Do we practice good citizenship in our own homes or do we just talk about it? Do we encourage our children to be good citizens and participate rather than discourage them and confuse them?

Do we join groups who think as we do to discuss alternatives and actions and then work together to bring about change?

Do we rant and rave about "communies," "left-wingers," "extremists," "far-righters," and earn a reputation for being a "little crazy"?

Have not too many of us inclined to "let George do it" in our activities in politics; and hasn't "George" worked for himself rather than for us? Finally, haven't too many of us overlooked the fact that we get the kind of government we work at and it reflects the amount of effort we put into it?

Families Fish Along Coast

by Mrs. C. A. Watson

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Broyles accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Rule of Friona returned the middle of the week from a tour to the east coast. They were at Brownsville, Corpus, Port Aransas, Port Lavaca and many more points of interest along the way. They saw lovely flowers in full bloom along the highways, crops were planted and corn up. At Corpus they visited relatives. Visited the Wildlife refuge near Port Aransas. The group fished at about every fishing resort along their way. They came back by Falcon Lake and Devils Lake to do some fishing. At Devils Lake they met up with the Frank Griffens of Friona. After making their big catches there the three families returned to the Lazbuddie, Friona areas and reported a very enjoyable trip.

Relatives and neighbors gathered at the J.W. (Indian) Crim at sunrise Tuesday morning March 22, to watch the very accurate Crim give the weather forecast for the following crop year. Dry land farmers were some encouraged as Crim stated the forecast signals gave a little better year than last year. J.W. Crim related some of his history to neighbors and it is very interesting to listen to.

A large crowd was on hand Sunday afternoon for the annual egg hunt sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clay near Clays corner. Children of the area really look forward to this occasion each year.

The Sam Barnes family was in East Texas visiting friends and relatives the past weekend. Dan Bridges from Littlefield was a guest in the home of Bobby Morris the Easter holidays. He also visited friends in Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Goodwin from Lubbock visited his sister, Mrs. Annie Cargile, Sunday. Other guests in the Cargile home were the Don McDonalds, the Dwan Meneffes from Friona and the P.E. Gargiles from Lariat.

Plant Construction To Begin at Hereford

HEREFORD-- The biggest addition to Hereford industry since Holly Sugar came this week with the announcement of a meat packing plant to be located east of Hereford.

Texas Meat Packers, Inc. will begin construction of a $2 million plant within thirty days, according to owner-operator Archie Sloane.

Sloane said in a telephone interview that his company expects to slaughter 150 head an hour and will employ 150 people for a one shift operation. "Later we could double the output and that would mean that we could slaughter 16,000 head a week," he said.

He explained that the two shifts would not double the personnel, however, since some would be administrative staff. "We hope to hire most of the workers from Hereford and the surrounding area," he said.

Texas Meat Packers, Inc. is owned jointly by Sloane and Joe Spiritas. The company has been operating for about 25 years with headquarters in Dallas. The Dallas plant employs 500 people and will do all of the processing and shipping of the beef slaughtered in Hereford.

The Hereford plant will be automated on the rail slaughter plant. Whole carcasses will be shipped by rail and by truck to the Dallas plant, Sloane said.

In conjunction with the slaughtering plant the company will construct and infeed rendering plant. This plant will be constructed at a cost of $250,000.

Sloane said that all they are asking the community to do is cooperate and supply enough labor to man the plant. He is building his own settling tanks to take care of sewage and will not run any untreated waste into Tierra Blanca Creek, the stream that has played heavily in state pollution discussions.

The plant will be unionized since the Dallas operation works with union labor.

Sloane said that this company had long felt that they were losing money by shipping live animals to Dallas for slaughtering and considered the building of the Hereford plant an economy move. He explained that shrinkage not only cut down on the profits, but on the quality of meat and that he could better compete with a plant located in the heart of the Panhandle cattle feeding area.

He said that the Hereford plant will cut operational costs by a substantial margin.

Presently, the company has five or six cattle trucks moving fat cattle the 400 miles out of the Panhandle to the Dallas plant.

"Now we'll have all the cattle we need right at our back door and save a tremendous packing bill," Sloane said.

Texas Meat ships beef to markets all over the world. Sloane said that nearly 100 percent of his current meat-processing operation is being supplied by cattle from the Panhandle feeders and he considers the quality tops.

"There was a time when eastern markets demanded Kansas City beef," he said, but during the last three or four years Texas beef has become acceptable throughout the world. In fact Texas beef is now being preferred over much beef coming out of the Midwest."

He attributes much of the improvement in quality to scientific methods of feeding. He said that the feeders in the Panhandle get more marbling and less fat in the higher-priced cuts.

Wilson and Co., Inc. had announced options on land here earlier this year and announcement of their decision concerning a Hereford location is expected at any time.

Criteria...

Another weakness of the criteria is that county assessed values are used to measure economic strength, according to a member of the Task Force.

"A county that meets its budget requirements with a 10% assessment ratio certainly has greater revenue potential than a county in which a 40% assessment ratio is needed," a spokesman said.

A report on these recommendations will be made at the WTC District IV legislative breakfast in Austin on Tuesday, March 28, when all members of the West Texas Senate and house have breakfast with WTC members. Godfrey, Task Force member, will make the report to the legislators and answer questions regarding the junior college situation in West Texas.

A REPORT BY THE SPECIAL TASK FORCE ON JUNIOR COLLEGES

CONCLUSIONS: Careful study of the Criteria that was being used by the Texas Education Agency and is now being used by the Coordinating Board of Texas Universities and Colleges for establishing Junior Colleges several facts become apparent:

1. In the last ten years, six formal applications were made for a proposed Junior College District. Further, eleven other inquiries were received which were discouraged from making further application from information furnished by the Coordinating Board, a Special Task Force on Junior Colleges found in this time period that formal applications for Junior College Districts in West Texas were received from the following seven areas:

In 1958, South Plains (Leveland), Scurry County; 1959, Midland; 1962, Scurry, Fisher; 1964 Gray; and 1965, Scurry.

The following areas made inquiries on proposed Junior College Districts but did not submit formal application:

1. Bailey, Farmer and Lamb Counties, 2. Castro, 3. Childress, 4. Culberson, 5. Dawson, 6. Deaf Smith, 7. El Paso, 8. Haskell, Knox, Jones, Throckmorton and Stonewall, 9. Reeves, 10. Winkler and 11. Young.

From these, only one Junior College election was allowed. From this election, the South Plains Junior College at Leveland was established. Other information leads the Task Force to believe there were others that made inquiries that were not included on the list. We realize that not all the denials were made by the present coordinating board, but were made by the Texas Education Agency.

II. The present Criteria is not being used in granting or refusing Junior Colleges in West Texas. For example: Proposed districts that meet all published material on Criteria have not been given approval to establish districts.

III. Criteria, now being used, tends to be contradictory. For instance: The requirement of 7,000 scholastics in a district is not consistent with the minimum of 400 students in the upper four grades.

IV. The current Criteria appear to be formulated to fit those areas that are more densely populated and perhaps poorer in terms of revenue potential. Several West Texas areas can far exceed the financial requirements, but do not have the required scholastic population within the taxbase area.

V. Another weakness of the present Criteria is the use of county-assessed values to measure economic strength. County assessments generally are a poor basis for comparison of counties because of wide variations in assessment rates. A county that meets its budget requirements with a 10% assessment ratio certainly has greater revenue potential than one in which a 40% assessment ratio is needed.

From these conclusions, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Special Task Force on Junior Colleges urges that new Criteria be adopted that apply fairly and realistically to potential West Texas Districts. The West Texas economy, population and geographical factors differ greatly from those in other state regions. The Special Task Force on Junior Colleges believes that the unique problems of West Texas warrant consideration and recommends the following revisions in the Criteria for new Junior College Districts.

RECOMMENDATIONS;

I. The entire service area, both inside and outside the tax base area, should be considered in establishing Junior Colleges. Student potential from throughout the service area should be considered. It should be recognized that West Texas students have the ability and desire to live at home and drive in car pools up to 100 to 150 miles round-trip daily.

II. Greater consideration should be given to the resources of a proposed district to financially support the Junior College. The population requirements should be lower in those areas that have the higher financial resources and facilities. Ability and willingness to finance a Junior College should be rewarded by concessions in the form of lower requirements for scholastics, population and graduating seniors, etc. The Criteria for scholastic population and financial ability should operate in inverse proportion. Within reasonable limits, as revenue potential increases, population requirements should decrease. This would lead to a more nearly ideal situation of a low student-instructor ratio.

III. Any future Junior Colleges should be established permanently as two year colleges, and heavy emphasis should be placed on technical and vocational training.

IV. Opposition from established Junior Colleges should be considered only where they have significant enrollment from the proposed district.

V. In complete agreement to the Texas Research League's 1964 suggestions, the Special Task Force on Junior Colleges recommends that a minimum of 900 students in the upper three grades be an adequate measure of potential enrollment for a proposed Junior College. This potential should be determined by the service area. In West Texas, the service area should include the adjacent region not being served by other Junior Colleges from which enrollment would be drawn.

country, Brigham points out. With the recent breakthrough in the use of castor meal as an economical, high protein livestock feed, increased demands for castor seed should result.

The price situation also presents a favorable front since oil prices were up in 1966 and appeared to be on the increase in early 1967.

Another enticing situation to growers is that this year they are allowed to plant castors on the 20 per cent mandatory diverted feed grain acreage, says the agronomist.

Furthermore, seed producers have a good supply of high yielding castor planting seed available in the form of six hybrids and two varieties. Brigham points out that these firms also will contract with growers to purchase their castor production at a guaranteed price.

Last year's yields in the state's castor producing areas were reduced by 20 to 30 per cent due to unfavorable weather conditions, says the agronomist. The cool, wet weather in late August and early September slowed growth and an early killing frost in mid-October shortened the growing season.

Yields in the Kress area on the top five farms averaged 2,083 pounds per acre while the top four farms in the Plainview area yielded 1,982 pounds per acre. One of the top per acre yields of this area was the 2,368 pounds produced by Jack Rhine of Hale Center.

In the Lockney, Muleshoe, Hereford and Dumas areas, yields ranged from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds per acre, reports Brigham.

The state's top yield of 3,150 pounds per acre was produced by Preston Underhill of the Higginbotham Community, Gaines County. Near that mark was the 3,000 pounds per acre produced by Stanley Ancinec of Loop, also in Gaines County. Brigham says the primary reason for the higher yields in this county was due to more favorable growing conditions.

According to the agronomist, the dwarf-internode hybrids produced higher yields than the open pollinated varieties.

Research is continuing at the South Plains Research and Extension Center to find high-yielding, disease-resistant hybrids which will increase yields and thus make castors a more profitable crop.

Brigham says that yields could be increased by 10 to 15 per cent if capsule mold diseases were effectively controlled.

Outstanding authorities in modern confinement housing and waste disposal systems will highlight the Short Course program. Arthur J. Muehling, Agricultural Engineering Department, University of Illinois, will present recommendations for planning a confinement system for swine. He will discuss new techniques and principles of temperature, ventilation, and sanitation control. Muehling, who has been active in the development of research facilities at the University of Illinois, will discuss the selection of building materials and the arrangement of buildings for efficiency in feed and manure handling.

Dr. W.H.M. Morris, Agricultural Economics Department, Purdue University and registered engineer, is internationally known for his work on the economics of various types of structures in livestock production and manure handling techniques. Dr. Morris will present information from his extensive travels in Europe and the United States to study farm waste disposal systems.

His recent interest in his European travels includes the use of oxidation ditches in waste disposal systems.

Rolland (Pig) Paul, formerly field secretary for the Iowa Swine Producers and noted swine judge, will discuss the function of the newly formed National Pork Producers Council. Paul is serving as Executive Vice President of the Council and will speak on the impact of the Council on the swine industry.

Another popular and interesting segment of the program will be the producers panel. Successful hog producers from Texas participating on this year's program are: Layton Black, Manager, Geeslin Swine Farm, Goldthwaite, W. D. Curbow, Feeder Pig Producer, Garrison, James C. McCormick, Production Manager, Miller Feed Company, Atlanta and Elmer McLaughlin, TMB Farms, Pampa.

Members of Texas A&M's Animal Science and Veterinary Medicine staff will contribute, too, with a panel discussion on initiating a new hog enterprise.

This program has been designed with all of the swine producers of Texas in mind—information for the veteran and the new or prospective producer.

County Agent J.K. Adams said a number of area farmers were becoming more interested in the swine raising and felt this short course would be of vital interest to those who are already raising swine and those taking the program under consideration.

that affect prices and costs." Referring to the recently announced changes in premiums and discounts in the 1967 cotton price support loan program issued by USDA, the state farm leader said:

"The announcement of changes in quality differentials on cotton is inconsistent with this Administration's frequent assurances that it seeks parity income for farmers, and was completely unjustified. It will cost Texas cotton farmers from $5.00 to $10.00 a bale on the 1967 crop, and might discourage rather than encourage the production of better quality fiber."

"Placing a greater premium on the better quality cotton might have achieved the objective stated, but with technological and weather handicaps determining quality most farmers won't be able to respond even under the whiplash of lower prices."

"The trip to Washington will give cotton farmers an opportunity to discuss this injustice along with other problems facing cotton growers with the people who can do something about them," Naman said.

Irvin St. Clair, Dr. W. B. McSpadden and Norman Thomas. Frank Ellis served as president for 1963 with directors Harold Allison, James Jennings and Bill Wimberly.

Bobby Airhart began 1964 as president and Roger Albertson finished the term after Airhart moved away. Directors were Spencer Beavers, Harmon Elliott and John Smith.

For 1965-66 Dr. Charles Lewis was president for two terms. Directors were Dr. W. F. Birdsong, Truman Lindsey, M. L. Red Simmons, Boone Allison, Earl Richards, Horace Hutton and Stan Barrett.

Many of these men have served more than one term as directors and on various other committees which were given wing by the Chamber of Commerce projects and are now standing alone as individual organizations helping to improve the community as a whole.

Gary Barbour, grandson of Mrs. Allie Barbour of Muleshoe, was scheduled to leave Viet Nam Wednesday, March 29 for home. He is expected to arrive here in a week and plans to marry Claudia Crane of Aztec in the near future. He still has one year of service but is not sure where he will be stationed when he returns to the states.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Blackburn had as guests in their home Sunday, their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hart and children, Bobby, Linda, Sandy, Denise, Bill and David of Farwell.

Five of the children stayed over with their grandparents until Tuesday.

Senate Approves Hightower's Bill

AUSTIN---The Senate Wednesday approved Senator Jack Hightower's permissive tax bill for cities and towns and sent the proposal to Governor John Connally.

The bill, designed to ease the growing financial problems of Texas towns and cities, would authorize municipalities --- with approval of its citizens --- to impose a one per cent sales tax.

Senator Hightower, of Vernon, pointed out that the sales tax could be levied only with approval of the voters.

The proposal drew wide support from city and state government officials from throughout the state.

In a report on the measure, the Texas Municipal League said that this new source of local revenue would also "slow the transfer of local responsibilities for social and other services to the state, and, particularly, to the federal government."

Senator Hightower said that he was "very pleased" that the bill had been approved.

"Recognizing that the ad valorem tax payer must have some relief from the skyrocketing cost of local government and the ever pressing demands for civic improvements, this sales tax is proposed as a method for broadening the base of city tax support with the hope that it may prove beneficial to those cities that choose to take advantage of it," he said.

Co-sponsor of the Senate bill with Senator Hightower was Senator Joe Christie of El Paso.

Doctors and nurses join together in asking the support of the people of Bailey County to do their part in this legislative matter.

"The Licensed Vocational Nurses in the State of Texas are fighting for their very existence," said Mattie Hicks, local registered nurse, and faced with hospitals closing due to passage of these bills Bailey County and surrounding counties are asked to take their liberty, to express their opinions concerning this matter.

Once nematodes get at your cotton, yields go down and so do profits. But with FUMAZONE® 86 soil fumigant applied at only 1 to 2 gallons overall an acre, you can take care of root-knot, sting, meadow and other nematodes—those microscopic, worm-like soil pests that attack plant roots, suck away profits.

FUMAZONE 86 soil fumigant increases yields up to 1/2 bale an acre. Many High Plains farmers just like yourself tell us that's exactly what happened to their yields after their soils were treated with FUMAZONE 86. It can be applied right from the drum. No mixing, no diluting, no nozzles clogged with foreign material. You can use the chisel method, the plowsole method or inject FUMAZONE 86 into your irrigation water. Could you ask for greater flexibility? Sure you could. So here it is. Apply FUMAZONE 86 before planting, at planting or after planting. It's the only type of soil fumigant that can be used on living plants. Ask your Dow farm chemicals supplier about it.

BOARDING FOR THE BIRDS
 KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixty-three-year-old Mrs. Myra Clear runs a boarding house that's strictly for the birds.
 For 100-year-old white, two-story house, she boards birds. For $2 a week, an owner can take his pet and some feed to the Clear house and go on vacation.
 As an added bonus, Mrs. Clear cleans the bird's cage. If it's in poor condition, she even gives it a new coat of paint.
 Said Mrs. Clear, "I just like birds. I've had some of my own and I know how to take care of them."
