RED SPELLS TROUBLE-- These red leaves showing up in grain sorghum means trouble, Darrell Rosenow, assistant agronomist at the South Plains Research station points out. Rosenow and County Agent J.K. Adams toured Bailey county fields and test plots Tuesday to determine the amount of the virus infection here and for information to determine which hybrid is most susceptible to the newly discovered disease. Rosenow is shown examining leaves and heads on the Ruthardt farm north of town.

1968 Wheat Acreage Allotment Cut 13 Percent

The new wheat program for 1968 has been made public by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, and there are few changes noted from the 1967 program, except for a drop in wheat acreage allotment.

Bailey County wheat allotment for 1968 is set at 18,714 acres, which is down 13 percent from the 1967 allotment, ASCS manager Charles Daniel said.

There is a $1.25 national loan rate on wheat, and there will be marketing certificates as were in effect this year.

Notices were mailed out this week to all Bailey County farmers telling them of the 1968 wheat allotment so that they can be making plans for fall seeding.

Domestic marketing certificates will be issued on an estimated 530 million bushels of wheat. These will be valued at the difference between full wheat parity and the $1.25 loan value. For the 1967 crop, these certificates were worth $1.35 per bushel.

Marketing certificates issued to cooperating farmers in 1968 will be based on 40 percent of the farm allotment instead of the 35 percent in effect this year.

There will be no acreage diversion program for the 1968 wheat crop.

Wheat may continue to be planted on wheat allotment acreage. Producers will be able to substitute wheat for oats and rye on the same basis as 1967.

The "excess wheat" option in the 1967 program will be continued in 1968. Under this

Agronomist Tours Bailey Farms

Darrell Rosenow, assistant agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Station near Lubbock toured Bailey county farms and test plots Tuesday to study the effects and extent of damage on the crops by Maize Dwarf Mosaic Virus.

The mosaic virus is effecting a great portion of the entire general area with Bailey County having its share of the plant disease discovered in the Plains for the first time this season. Called "Maize Dwarf Mosaic Virus, or MDMV, the virus is spread by an aphid. It was discovered for the first time in Texas last year, confined then to the southern, central part of the state.

Laboratory studies of a grain sorghum disease has proven the virus is causing trouble in many counties of the West Texas area. The virus has been found in the crops as far south as Muleshoe, Lockney and Hale Center.

The greatest concentration of infected plants seems to be in the Hereford, Canyon area, and the amounts of virus lessens to the north and south this center.

"We are concerned that public interest in the area affected may become too great, causing panic," Robert W. Berry, area plant pathologist said.

The problem is very serious, but there are no control or correction practices that should

Young Farmers Elect Officers

New officers for the coming year were elected at a recent meeting of the Muleshoe Chapter of Young Farmers.

They are Dan Throckmorton, president; Pat Vinson, vice-president; Robert Hunt, secretary; Aubrey Heathington, treasurer and Edward Wuerflein, reporter.

Bill Bickel and Keith Bray, Muleshoe high school Vocational Agriculture teachers serve as chapter advisors.

Regular meetings of the chapter are held in the Agriculture Department of the high school. Education programs related to problems of the farmer are presented by people representing Agriculture Firms, Experiment stations and colleges.

Membership in the organization is open to anyone interested in agriculture, however active membership is limited to those people under 36 years of age.

"Visitors are always welcome to the chapter meeting," Bickel said.

The chapter plans to attend the Young Farmer Field Day and Barbecue at the Weldon Mason farm at Brownfield August 19.

Mason is the 1967 Star Young Farmer of Texas.

Ten agri-business firms and the Texas Agricultural Experiment station at Lubbock have cooperated in setting up a number of educational demonstrations which will be viewed during the Field Day tour.

be applied for the 1967 crop. The research done in South Texas and presently underway in the area in the High Plains will give good direction toward the choice of hybrids growing next year. A great deal of difference is observed between various hybrids, and we feel that resistance is already being used in some of our commercial lines of sorghum," Berry said.

The most striking symptom of MDMV is a red leaf symptom, and die between the veins, and the plant has a scorch appearance. Some varieties are showing only the faint yellow chlorosis and green mottle in the newest leaves. The mottled symptom disappears as the sorghum forms the boot, but the red-leaf symptom will not disappear.

As previously stated, MDMV,

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Growth or Disaster?

One hundred and four towns the size of Muleshoe, now existing in West Texas, will completely disappear in the next 33 years! Muleshoe might well be one of that number.

This fact was recently published by the Small Town Task Force of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and is based on an in-depth study made by experts in community development.

On the other hand, an equal number of towns in West Texas which are the size of Muleshoe, will grow and become bigger, and provide more opportunities for man to share in the community's economic prosperity.

Progressive towns say to their citizens, "Lead, follow, or get out of the way! This is the choice we have in Muleshoe. Few could or would be willing to close up shop or move to another town.

Yet, that is the choice that faces us today.

The business people of Muleshoe have a Chamber of Commerce, through which they can work together and assure Muleshoe of a prosperous future. Our Chamber is ineffective for only one reason. We who make up the Chamber of Commerce, and that includes members and non members alike, are not working together, giving of our time, talent and money to make it the effective organization for growth that we know it can be and has been in the past.

Muleshoe must want to grow, want to have opportunities for progress, want to be considered for industrial development, want to have more tourists, and want to have access to technological improvements so that their businesses, professional and agriculture segments might keep pace with the times, and prosper.

The only way this desire can be created is to find the thing that will motivate us individually and collectively to bring about the things we desire.

The best motivator for an individual or a community is selfishness. We must be selfish in getting the things for Muleshoe that other towns are trying to get for themselves. We must be selfish in doing a little work, putting up a little money, spending a little thought to do things for Muleshoe that will ultimately be of direct benefit to us as individuals.

There is not a question but what anything that is good for Muleshoe is good for us personally.

We must think in terms of what is good for all of us, and this in turn will accrue to our direct benefit.

Re-organizing our Chamber of Commerce so that it becomes the vehicle through which we can funnel our efforts is the number one task of every person in Muleshoe. Without the Chamber of Commerce as a vital force in the town, the industrial Foundation will be lessened in its efforts to attract industry. Without the Chamber of Commerce we can only drift with the tides of time until we gradually disappear.

Our futures, our fortunes are here. We must fight for them.

The committee on re-organization of the Chamber of Commerce are: Alex H. Williams, chairman, Eddie Faust, secretary, Harvey Bass, M.D. Gunstream, Roy Whitt, Jim Cox, Don Harmon and Vic Benedict.

County's First Sugar Beets Look Like Bumper Production

Some 350 acres of Sugar beets are being grown in Bailey county and healthy specimens, too.

John and Byron Gunter have 250 acres of the beets on their farm just outside the city limits, west on FM 1760.

"The crops look exceptionally good," John Gunter told the Journal. "One of the outstanding things about these beets, with top measuring 34 inches and more in height and the beet measuring on an average of 14 to 20 inches in circumference with harvest more than two months away, is that this crop was HAILED into the ground. But, it doesn't show it now. They snapped right back and were on their way to producing," Gunter said.

"We do not know anything about the tonnage yet, or the sugar content," he said.

The beets are contracted to the Hereford plant and harvest will start in October and continue for about 60 days.

"We feel this is a crop Bailey farmers are going to be looking to as a regular crop in the future," Gunter said.

This acreage being grown by the Gunters and some on the Verney Towns farm is the first to be grown in the county.

Artist In Fiesta Bazarr

over-winters in the rhizomes of Johnson grass. When the young grass begins to grow in the Spring, aphids feed on the tender leaves, becoming infected and inoculates the plants as they travel about.

The virus destroys cells, stops osmosis, and the flow of protoplasm and in many cases dwarfs the plant from one to four inches in height.

Effects on the production of the plant ranges from slight to total sterility. A plant that is affected early may completely outgrow the symptoms, but the damage is already done. However, the damage is seldom as severe in total crops as may appear in the field. Fifty percent affected may cause only a 10 percent reduction in yield.

Corn is also affected by this virus. It is not as easily detected in corn as in sorghum, Rosenow told the Journal Tuesday. The mosaic pattern can be detected, however, the red color does not show up. The real damage shows in the seed corn, or lack of seed."

Accompanied by Bailey County Agent J. K. Adams, Rosenow gathered information from a number of fields in the area to determine the extent of infection in the county and the extent of damage which has been done.

This information will be used in determining which hybrids is most susceptible to the virus and which one withstands and has the best yield in spite of the infestation.

Sharron Hutton Named Farm Bureau Queen

Miss Sharron Hutton was named Bailey County Farm Bureau Queen Tuesday evening in Muleshoe high school auditorium. Miss Hutton, 17 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hutton, was chosen from among seven contestants for the title. She will be a senior at Muleshoe high school this year.

The beauty queen said she planned to attend college and expressed hope of entering the teaching profession upon completion of education.

This was her first time to win this title and is presently DeMoley Sweetheart. She was given a $150. scholarship for her college education by the Farm Bureau and presented a bouquet of red roses before James Warren, Bailey County Farm Bureau president, placed the jeweled crown upon her head.

She will represent Bailey County in District two queen competition. Date of this contest will be announced in the near future.

Miss Sue Frazier, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick

Howard, was named alternate. Miss Frazier plans to attend college this fall and also plans to teach English or biology when she finishes her college education.

"Fanfare on the Farm" was the theme of the contest here with Charles Bell, KSEL, as master of ceremonies. A little red barn, the windmill, hay and lambs encircled in a neat white fence entwined with climbing roses set the stage for the event.

Background music was provided by Susie Tanner at the piano. D.L. Thompson, minister of the Muleshoe Church of Christ gave the invocation.

James Warren led the Pledge of Allegiance and gave the welcome address. Warren also introduced the judges and Bell.

Escorting the queen contestants were Gary Little and Gene McGuire. Entertainment was provided by a musical group, "The Folksingers."

Members of the queen contest committee were Janelle Turner, chairman; Jaqueta White, Sue Bessire, Lou Ann Black and Nelda Hunt.

semi-vitreous or white ware, is produced from less coarse clay. Baked longer and at higher temperature than pottery, it is lighter in weight and color. "Ironstone" is a particularly strong earthenware.

"Stoneware" is fully vitrified, non-porous and not prone to chipping. It may be thinner earthenware but weightier, its most notable trait is translucency. "Fine china" is so named because it is made of powderlike ingredients. The term "fine china" does not denote quality. It is extremely delicate looking, but actually is very strong.

"Bone china" is fine china having 25 to 45 percent calcined bone ash, which fires to a dead white instead of ivory.

"Porcelain" is fine china made by reverse or "hard" firing, using cooler fire and then hotter, fusing the glaze deep into the clay. It is slightly more brittle and weaker than other fine china.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Mounts who live at 1534 Avenue C have only been living there about two years, but to look over the flowers and shrubs growing around the home, it seems impossible for so much to have been accomplished in so little time.

Mr. and Mrs. Mounts moved into Muleshoe from their farm on the Plainview highway, two years ago when Mounts retired from farming. They moved to Goodland in 1925 and then on to Muleshoe in 1934.

The Mounts have "always" had a beautiful flower garden and as Mrs. Mounts says, "I use nothing special in my flower beds, but lots of care, water and hard work." She seems to have that "green thumb," luck in growing things and to her the job, is a pleasure, not a chore.

The house they now live in has been repaired and several rooms added since they purchased the house in 1965. Mounts enclosed a garage, built a new one in a different place and added a very attractive patio at the back of the house. The rocks used in the floor of the patio, were gathered by the Mounts on a farm northeast of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Mounts placed each rock in place, and stained each one in beautiful soft tones of green, rose, gold and purple with a mixture of oil paint and kerosene, to make them like "nature."

The Mounts garden consists of several different kinds of flowers. They have such varieties as Dahlias, Roses, Marigolds, Verbenias, Canas, Petunias, Daisies, Chrysanthemums and Snap Dragons. Growing in the background of the beds is a very unusual plant called "Snow-on-the-Mountain," which makes a lovely background for flower arrangements.

Research has brought another convenience product to the homemaker - instant fruit. Peaches, strawberries and blueberries are reduced to a puree to which sugar and chemicals are added. The puree is frozen into pellets which are dehydrated by a freeze-drying process. This removes moisture without changing the fruit's physical characteristics. Fruits that are too mature for shipping may be successfully used in the process.

To remove a meat juice stain from a white or colorfast cotton table cloth, first sponge the stain with cool water. Or soak the cloth in cool water for 30 minutes. Then rub detergent into the spot and launder the cloth in hot suds.

Labor-saving devices mean that the homemaker spends less energy for her usual work, and needs less food. It used to take 240 calories to do the family wash plus 50 calories to hang the clothes on the line. Today it takes only 15 calories to put the clothes in the automatic washer and dryer.

To heat muffins, biscuits, or rolls, place them in a paper bag and twist the top lightly. Moisten the bag, then heat in the oven.

Total supplies of canned fruits are expected to be about five percent above those for last year. Increases in current supplies will be appreciable in canned peaches and pears. Current stock figures are available for only a few items at this time. Stocks of canned apple slices and apple sauce are up significantly, while red tart cherries are down.

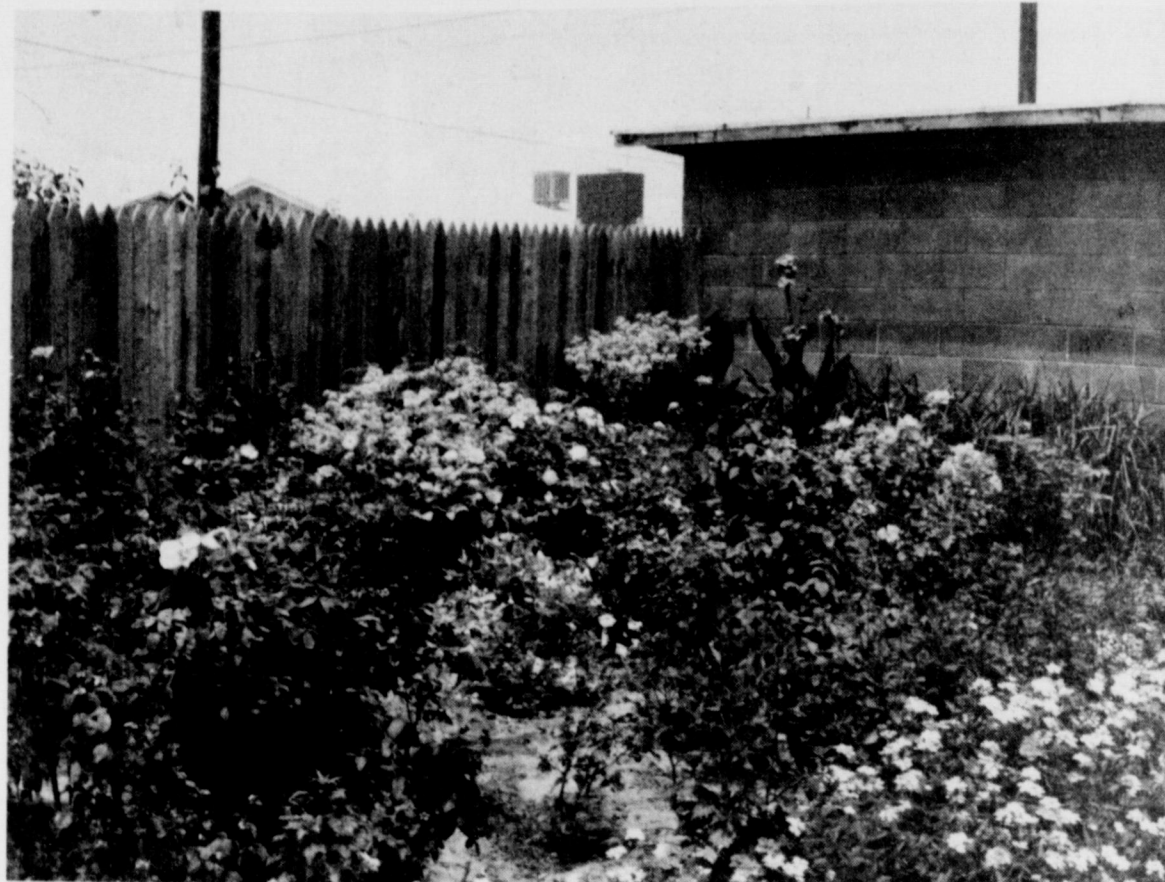

It's good training for the children to join you in shopping and to help you carry the groceries home. However, you as a homemaker should do the actual shopping in order to choose better quality and more economical foods.

Make mending before laundering a household rule. A

VICAR NOT PLEASED

WORCESTER, England (AP) -- The Rev. Malcolm Richards, vicar of St. John's, Worcester, is fighting a plan by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to build a Mormon temple in his parish. He claims that the land's former owner had wanted a hall of unity for the use of local Anglicans and others to be built there.

"I am astonished that the Mormons, who have a breath of Zane Grey and a tang of Salt Lake City, should be allowed to build a temple here," he said when told that the local council approved the project.

Shown here Mr. and Mrs. Leland Mounts whose hobby to some people is more work than pleasure, but to see their beautiful yard proves their work is pleasure.

The recent introduction in delete last line....

The recent introduction in both houses of Congress of leg-islation to restrict textile im-ports is being hailed by Don-ald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., as a significant development toward expansion of domestic markets for U.S. Cotton.

Imports of cotton in manu-factured form last year rose to over the equivalent of 1 million bales, up 39 percent from the previous year, and the PCG Board of Directors adopted a resolution in March of this year favoring legislation to pro-tect cotton producers from fur-ther increases.

On the Senate side, Senator Hollings (D-S.C.) has had the second printing of S-1796, which bears the names of some 30 other senators from both par-ties as joint sponsors.

More recently, Congressman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), chair-man of the House Ways and Means Committee, has intro-duced into the House H.R. 11-578.

There is substantial simi-larity in the approaches of both bills. Both would recognize existing international agree-ments covering textile trade, but would impose import quotas on textile articles of all de-scriptions in the event agree-ments are not consummated.

Quotas in each instance would be based on the average level of the 1961-66 period.

Senator Hollings bill has strong bi-partisan support, and is expected to attract more than its current 30 senators as co-sponsors, including Senator Thurmond (D-S.C.) and Senator Dirksen, minority leader of the Senate.

The Mills bill is considered especially significant in con-gressional, textile and cotton circles because all legisla-tion involving tariffs and trade must originate in the House Ways and Means Committee, of which Mills is Chairman.

In addition, it is generally conceded that Mills is the key to whether President Johnson can get his proposed income tax hike through Congress.

PCG study of the textile im-port situation prior to taking a stand on the matter revealed that very little of the manu-factured textile goods coming into the U.S. is made from cotton grown in this country.

"It is probably a fair estimate to say that imports of over a million bales in cotton textile goods in 1966 deprived U.S. cotton producers of markets amounting to at least 750,000 bales in cotton textile goods in bales," Johnson stated, "and we would be remiss in our duty if we failed to give full support to the bills now in Congress which would help to correct this situation."

Basically, the Mills bill would direct the President to negotiate agreements to reduce textile imports to a level not greater than that of any calendar year prior to 1967. There is a growth clause geared to the growth of the American market, and there is a provision that if the Presi-dent fails to achieve agreements within 180 days, a quota would automatically be set at the aver-age of textile imports for the years 1961-66.

The bill would also direct that existing agreements be en-forced and that imports be held to the minimum amounts such agreements provide, which would substantially reduce per-missible imports of cotton tex-tiles.

Johnson pointed out that for several months there has been a concerted effort on the part of the American Textile Manu-facturers Institute and other interested organizations to ob-tain support of the Executive branch of government for a program of reasonable import controls.

gress felt that legislation to limit imports should not be in-troduced until after the Kennedy Round negotiations, which were completed last month.

"Now, at least we have mea-sures introduced that would ac-complish the desired objectives and we hope to pursue the issue to a satisfactory conclusion," Johnson said.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, -- State Supreme Court has ruled that the constitutional amendment requiring annual voter registration in Texas is valid.

AFL-CIO challenged the amendment. They contended that voters did not get "fair notice" that the amendment provided for annual registration.

State labor officials pledged to take the issue to the highest federal court.

State Supreme Court agreed with ruling of the Third Court of Civil Appeals that the amendment -- approved by Texans last year -- to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting and substitute annual sign-up should stand. There was no opinion. Appellate judges had reversed the trial court finding.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones agreed that the full purpose of the amendment was not adequately described in the proposition on the ballot. It stated only that the poll tax would be knocked out as a voting requirement. Last April Court of Civil Appeals said it was unlikely any voter, in view of widespread publicity given the issue, failed to understand what he was voting on.

Roy Evans, Secretary-Treasurer of Texas AFL-CIO, said the State Supreme Court will be asked for a rehearing. If that is rejected, a hearing will be requested before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Texas election machinery and voter registration for the big 1968 election year will proceed under annual sign-up law as amended this year.

All voters, including those who live in cities under 10,000 population, must register between October and January.

In other cases, the State Supreme Court:

Left standing lower court decisions refusing cash judgments to two parties to the collapse of Billie Sol Estes' fortunes.

Reversed Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals and sustaining district court in holding that 49 strikers against the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation in 1964 could draw unemployment benefits due to circumstances of their joblessness. (Strikers had offered to return to work.)

Upheld Third Court of Civil Appeals' ruling that State Savings and Loan Commissioner was justified in denying a branch office application for down-town Houston of the Gibraltar Savings Association.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES Oil and gas produced on federal land at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station are subject to state production and pipeline taxes (except for 16-2/3 percent payable as royalty to the U.S.), Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin has concluded that:

A $1,500,000 appropriation to construct protective devices at railroad grade crossings is constitutional.

If a county commissioner is a director and stockholder in a bank desiring to receive bond issue funds, the county commissioners court does not have authority to designate that bank as a county depository.

HIGHWAYS--As July began, the State Highway Department had $618,899,810 worth of highway construction under contract. During June, contractors were paid $35,802,146 for work completed.

In 1919, only $273,000 was spent for road construction.

WELFARE--An audit of the State Department of Public Welfare reveals that $461,000,000 in federal and state money was used in Texas during the two years ending last August 31 on welfare programs.

Rate was $120,000,000 last year, of which $168,620,302 was in direct grants to the needy aged, blind, children and disabled, plus $41,431,797 for medical care for the needy aged. While aid to dependent children and those who are permanently disabled continues to rise, training programs are reducing the amount of aid needed by blind persons.

Distribution of surplus commodities also is handled by this department. In two years, 45,000,000 pounds of flour, 19,000,000 pounds of corn meal and 17,000,000 pounds of dry milk were distributed to needy families from federal surpluses. However, the amount distributed is declining as the government stockpiles are used up and high employment is reducing the

NUMBER OF NEEDY FAMILIES.

Payroll and other administrative costs for giving away $215,000,000 came to $12,708,278.

SCREWORM REPORT--Between May 28 and July 1, some 19 cases of screwworms were confirmed in Texas.

To prevent spread of the disease, Screwworm Eradication Program planes recently released 757,780,000 sterile screwworm flies in Texas. Some 106,144,000 were dropped over Trans-Pecos and the Valley portions of Texas.

HIGHER RATES AUTHORIZED--Texas Railroad Commission has authorized higher rates for shipments of household goods by specialized carriers.

No increase was allowed in packing charges, which had been requested by the van lines.

Rate changes, based on averages of 7,600 shipments, come to 17.3 percent higher than present rates. However, larger shipments are actually less and smaller shipments are more. New rates will take effect on August 5.

COLEMAN PARK GRANT APPROVED--City of Coleman will receive a $124,810 federal grant to help develop a 139-acre park site at Coleman Lake, 14 miles north of the city.

Grant is under the federal land and water conservation fund program. City will put up an equal amount to landscape the area and provide boat ramps, picnic units, camping sites, trailer units, playground, swimming beach, fishing piers, concession building, bath house, restroom and necessary utilities.

Dear Editor:

HOSPITALS AND YOU

By Eddie Faust
West Plains Hospital

At this very minute in Texas there are several thousand hospital related career vacancies that cannot be filled because qualified people are not available. Almost without exception, every one of the 559-member hospitals of the Texas Hospital Association have openings on their staffs for paramedical personnel including professional nurses, pharmacists, medical technologists, medical records librarians, dietitians, physical therapists, occupational therapists, social service workers, x-ray technicians and vocational nurses.

This represents millions of dollars in salaries annually which could be bolstering the economy of Texas if the positions were filled. Even more important, it would enable the hospitals of Texas to improve and upgrade the quality of patient care.

This critical shortage of paramedical personnel is not unique in Texas alone. It is nationwide. Once a young person has completed an education program in any one of the paramedical specialties and becomes licensed, he may find employment in almost any city in the nation and in some foreign countries. The quality of paramedical education in the United States is recognized throughout the world for its excellence. In Texas there are hundreds of paramedical education programs offered including pharmacy, physical therapy, occupational therapy, professional nursing, medical technologists, medical records librarians, social service worker, dietitian, x-ray technician, vocational nurse, surgical technician and psychiatric nursing technician.

The basic entrance requirements for paramedical programs offered by various institutions are generally the same throughout the State, however, each school may have a few local pre-requisites. Young people interested in hospital careers are invited to send inquiries to the Director of Health Careers Program, Texas Hospital Association, P.O. Box 4553, Austin, Texas 78751. Detailed information will be forwarded by return mail.

In addition to being a stimulating and rewarding experience in service to mankind, a paramedical career offers satisfaction almost unequalled in other fields of endeavor. Members of the hospital team work in pleasant surroundings in which a hundred human dramas are unfolded daily.

As our national health needs grow, so will career opportunities in hospital related careers. The future never looked brighter for young people who may qualify for any one of these prestige positions.

Have You Thought Of Keeping A Goat

So you've decided to keep a dairy goat! Will you buy a milking doe or start with a young kid? Or, a doe and her kid?

According to a Pennsylvania State University correspondence course on dairy goats, the animals you buy are determined somewhat by how much you wish to pay. A milking doe in her second to fifth lactations is the most productive age. It's also the age when does are highest in price. Kids a few weeks old aren't expensive. But you pay out money in feed to raise them.

Does drop in milk production when moved to new homes with different owners, says the correspondence course. It's better to buy them toward the end of lactations. This gives them time to become accustomed to new surroundings before kidding and milk production starts anew. You also have a kid to raise.

Goats like company of their kind. Loneliness affects them more than any other animal. So, keep two or more goats.

Do you want to learn more about dairy goats? Then study the Penn State correspondence course. Anyone can enroll by sending his name and address with $2.25 to Dairy Goats, Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16-802. Make checks or money orders payable to the Pennsylvania State University. A course copy comes to you by mail.
