Veterans Q's and A's

Q--Shortly after I was separated from service I converted my G. I. insurance to a permanent policy. I have kept it in force all of these years. May I borrow money on this policy?

A--In a word, Yes. Here's the story.

You should contact the VA office to which you have been sending your G. I. insurance premium to find out the "cash value" of your policy. Through this same office you can then arrange to borrow up to 94 percent of the cash value of your G. I. insurance policy. The interest charge on this loan will be four percent. Of course, if there is already a loan on the policy for a lesser amount, you may borrow only the difference between the amount of this unpaid loan and the 94 percent cash value of your policy. The unpaid amount of a loan could be deducted from proceeds to a beneficiary.

Q--My son was lost at sea during World War II. I would like to have a memorial marker to put in a private cemetery. Will the Army furnish one?

A--Yes. Application for the memorial marker should be made to the office of Chief Support Service, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C. Application forms are available at all VA offices.

Q--I draw a disability pension from the VA. I have just received an unexpected income as an inheritance. Must I report this now to the VA or may I wait until VA sends an income questionnaire at the end of the year?

A--You should report the income promptly when received. This will allow VA to determine your correct payments for the balance of the year and will eliminate any possibility of an overpayment being charged against your accounts.

Accidents Plague Evins Family

A series of accidents plagued the family of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Evins Friday night.

Soon after a son, Derrel, Muleshoe high school student was admitted to Green Memorial Hospital after swallowing a pin, the family was notified that a daughter and her husband were involved in a car accident near Jacksboro.

During half-time activities at Friday night's football game, Derrel, in the process of pinning a corsage on Val Moore, had two pins in his mouth. He used the first one and reached for the second one and it was gone.

His father told the Journal that Derrel soon felt pains in his chest and in view of the fact that he did not know what became of the pin, went to the hospital to see if he had possibly swallowed it. X-rays revealed that he had.

He underwent surgery Monday and is showing slight improvement. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Black, Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Evins, Dallas, were enroute home in separate cars when the Black car, driving ahead of the Evins vehicle was involved in an accident with a car occupied by two Frederick, Okla. couples.

Black suffered cut tendons on the right hand and was hospitalized at Green Memorial Hospital after the cut became infected. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Black, Muleshoe. Three occupants of the Oklahoma car involved in the accident were injured. The driver was not injured.

Mrs. Black, the former Barbara Evins, was not injured. The couple had made their home in Fort Worth for a short time and were coming home prior to his joining a fertilizer firm in Dumas.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Evins were also coming to Muleshoe from Dallas to visit his parents before going into service. They are to return to Dallas where he will leave for basic training Friday.

Liquor Store Petition Circulated in Littlefield

More signatures than required were secured last week on petitions circulated at Littlefield seeking an election to decide whether or not the sale of all alcoholic beverages, for off-premises consumption only, can become legal within the city limits of Littlefield.

A spokesman said the number of signatures was more than enough, but petitions had not been checked to ascertain how many persons may have signed more than once or did not fulfill requirements for qualification.

The spokesman indicated the petition would be filed with the county clerk when a study of the petition signatures had ascertained that all was in order as required by law.

Based on 25 percent of all voters in Precincts 12 and 16 who voted for governor during the last presidential election, November, 1964, plus county-wide absentee voters, the safe maximum number of qualified voters needed to sign the petitions was set at 712.

If the petitions, which numbered more than 50, are found to be in order, next step is to file them with the county clerk who then is required by law to certify the eligibility and legality of the signatures. He then must present the petition to the County Commissioner's Court at its next regular meeting.

Next regular session of the Commissioners Court is scheduled Monday, November 13 -- the Commission meets the second Monday of each month.

Proponents of the election, under the election code, have 30 days from the date of filing application for petition -- which was October 20 -- to file the petition itself.

Should the election proponents file the petition prior to November 13, in ample time for the clerk to certify the signatures before November 13, the petition would be presented to the court on that date.

Upon receiving the petition in regular session, the court then is instructed by the code to call an election. Election date must not be less than 20 days nor more than 30 days from the date of the election order.

Should the petition be filed within the next week or 10 days, it might be within time to be presented to the court November 13. The election date then could be set at any time between December 4 and December 13. (The 20th day, December 3, falls on a Sunday, so December 4 apparently would be the earliest possible date.)

However, as the petitioners are allowed 30 days after October 20 (the date application for petition was filed) to file the petition, they still would be within the time limit for filing up to November 20, which would throw the petition being presented to the Commissioner's Court at the December 11 session. This could place the election in the first part of January.

According to the Code, "Said Court shall hold a specific session on the fifth day" after holding the election "or as soon thereafter as practical for the purpose of canvassing votes," and certifying results. (The votes, according to the Code, must originally have been counted by election officers and deputies within 24 hours after the election.)

When certification is made, a "wet" order is issued and the area immediately becomes wet. Within three days after the "wet" order is made, the county clerk must certify the order in Austin.

Hereford received a pass interference penalty on the next play, setting the Rangers up on the Whiteface 34. On pass plays, they gained the needed yardage and two extra points to bring the score to 20-0.

Fullback Donnie Fagman chipped on 17 yards as the Herd worked down to the Perryton 13. Tailback Elgin Williams picked up a first down at the Ranger 6. Bobby Burwick got two yards, moving the ball to the 4 and then Williams gained three to the one yard line. Burwick gained to the six-inch point then went in for the tally with 3 minutes, 30 seconds left in the game. Try for extra point failed.

Hereford then intercepted a Ranger pass on the Hereford 35. The Rangers, however, returned the favor by intercepting a Hereford pass on their own 39. They fumbled and Hereford recovered on the Perryton 32. Burwick quickly rambled to the Ranger 16 and then passed to Lenny Petree for a touchdown with 1:16 left on the clock, Williams raced around the end, adding two points to the scoreboard for the final tally of 29-14.

'T was...

two months before Christmas
I was tired of my car!
Besides being old
It had traveled too far!
The body was rusty...
The engine went "Klunk!"
in everyday words
It was just so much junk!
The fenders had fended...
The brakes would not brake!
That bucket of bolts...
Was just too much to take!

I lamented and groaned
I was ready to cuss!
I had to do something
About my old bus!

So I stopped out at BMG's
I'm not being funny!
Just like their ads say
I got more for my money!

Now driving is fun...
A real downright pleasure!
And what's more my new car is an economy measure!

'cause BMG's set up
An Easy Pay Plan!
My payments are low...
I'm a fortunate man!

No more problems for me
I'm no longer bored!
Come Christmas you'll see me
In my snappy new Dodge!

PRESENTED PLAQUE--Ann Douglass and Betty Harbin presented the Friendship plaque at Friday night's football game against Tulia. The plaque is presented at each home game to show friendship and good relations between the schools.

Today's Homemaker

COLLEGE STATION--Today's homemaker, if transported back to the supermarket of 1957, would have difficulty filling her 1967 shopping list. Many of the items just aren't there any more.

Mrs. Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas A&M University, reports that 82 percent of the frozen food items today would not be on display; 86 percent of the baking mixes would be missing, along with 66 percent of the wrapping materials and practically all of the patterned and colored papers.

Her children would be disappointed in the elimination of 43 percent of today's cereal section and 65 percent of the soft drinks. The household pet might even whimper when he discovered that 81 percent of today's pet foods are not available.

Progressive Grocer Magazine has reported that these changes have evolved as a result of better and more exciting packaging and entirely new products developed by manufacturer research and development, the specialist says.

But newness alone does not assure success for an item making a debut on the supermarket's shelves. In comparison to the hundred which survived in the past 10 years, thousands succumbed. Those which remained have the common denominator for success in careful test marketing, high quality, and elements of social research which fit the product to customer wants and needs.

Other items are likely to fall by the wayside, also, Miss Rea-

Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday, October 25 at 2:30 p.m. at the church with seven in attendance. This was a special program on "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial." Mrs. I. L. Clawson presided.

The program opened with call to worship, using Psalm 107 for the scripture reading, given in responsive reading. Opening song, "A Charge to Keep," followed by Mrs. Bahlman giving the opening prayer. Mrs. Simmons read a portion of scripture taken from St. John 10, and Mrs. Landers read a portion of St. John 21.

Mrs. Clawson brought the meditation. She also brought before the group information concerning the Sparford Home in Kansas and the Ester Hall Homes, one of which is in Indiana. These homes are supported by the Women's Society of Christian Service. There are needs for funds to train women in this field of work and leaders around the world.

The meeting closed with the group singing "Others." Mrs. Simmons gave the benediction.

In attendance were Mrs. Paul Young, Mrs. Tommy Kirk, Mrs. Mary Landers, Mrs. I. L. Clawson, Mrs. George Bahlman, Mrs. B. L. Blackman and Mrs. F. L. Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Medlin moved to Arkansas where they lived for several years and moved back to the area and built their home in Littlefield in 1963, where they would be near their old friends and they continued to attend the Methodist Church at Bula and owned land near Bula.

During the evening, refreshments of dips, potato chips and cokes were served by hostesses for the occasion, Jolene Cox and Paula Layton.

In attendance were Pamela Layton, Carolyn Turney, Donna

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Ginn, Amarillo and Mrs. Beulah Newton made a weekend colorama tour of approximately 1250 miles.

We left Amarillo at 3:30 p.m. Friday, October 27, drove to Oklahoma City, spent the night and left there at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. From there, we drove to Tulsa.

This was a pretty drive, the trees were dressed in their fall colors and made a beautiful picture. Please don't ask what kind of trees, having been in West Texas and Western Oklahoma all my life and 42 years on the Plains, I can't put a name to anything, but cottonwood, willow and elm.

The old cottonwood were beautifully dressed in yellow and brown.

From Tulsa, we went to Siloam Springs, Springdale and north to Rogers. Apples, honey and sorghum molasses were for sale on every corner. I wanted Arkansas Black Apples, but those people didn't know what they were. Wonder if I am so old that the apple like that is "no more."

We turned east, northeast from Rogers to Eureka Springs. This was a most picturesque scene of hills, rocks, trees and underbrush. Mother Nature paints the most perfect pictures, without a brush or canvas that you can find anywhere.

From Eureka Springs, we drove south, southwest to Fayetteville. The home of the Razorbacks. That you couldn't miss because of signboards all along.

The trees were taller and very vivid colors on this drive.

One thing I noticed so much all the houses had large front porches and everything was piled on them from rollaway beds, rocking chairs to wash tubs. What do they do with these when it rains?

From Fayetteville, we drove south to Van Buren and to El Reno, Okla. to spend the night.

The cows were all fat and the little patches of grass was good.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK--How many more acres will be planted to cotton on the High Plains in 1968 than were planted this year and last?

This is the question constantly ringing in the corporate ears of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. since Columbus Day when the 1968 cotton program was announced.

But the accuracy of any prediction made at this time would be about as precarious as was the outcome of Christopher's fabled voyage in 1492. Nothing short of divine omniscience could enable PCG or anyone else to give more than a wild guess at the answer.

There are too many unknown factors, like whether USDA will permit one or two rows skipped to be counted as diverted acres, provisions of the 1968 feed grain program, market prices for this year's crop, 1968 projected yields and other things.

Aside from these each grower will be taking into account his potential production per acre, expected price for the 1968 crop, availability of land, water and finances.

With these factors in mind they will calculate whether the six cent per pound payment on acreage voluntarily diverted will yield more, or less, net profit than the same acreage planted to cotton -- or some other crop.

The table below shows the cotton yields necessary to equal net operating revenue from diversion payments on the optional 30 per cent of an allotment at varying diversion payment levels, different costs per acre (above cost of farming a diverted acre) and at prices from 16 to 26 cents per pound.

The figure in parenthesis following the necessary "break even" pounds in each instance represents the profit realized

Ted Weaver Guest Speaker Of Administrators

Ted Weaver, candidate for State Representative for 75th District, served as guest speaker Wednesday night when Bailey County served as hosts for an Administrators' Association meeting in Texan Hall.

The five-county Administrators' Association includes Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties and each had several representatives from the smaller schools.

Weaver, who recently announced his candidacy for State Representative, has previously taught elementary school in Muleshoe.

During the luncheon, Weaver discussed six constitutional amendments which will be voted on in November. Also in his topic was Election Code changes and the need for a full-time state representative.

Officials felt that most had not studied the proposed amendments to the extent that they should have done and the address by Weaver gave them the opportunity to be updated on them and their implications if adopted.

actual production equals projected yield under the various conditions.

Each grower will have a different set of projected yield, productive potential, production cost and expected price figures.

But, assuming the figures chosen in this chart will fit the conditions applicable to a producer with a 500 pound project by the producer, above profit from diversion payments, if jected yield, it can be seen that if his actual production comes to 438 pounds he would have the same net return from planting as he would have had from diverting the optional 30 percent.

At the same price, if he produces a crop equal to his 500 pounds per acre projected yield, he would realize a net of $9.92 more per acre from planting. Anything over his projected yield, or any price above the 16 cents would bring an additional profit.

The concern of most producers on the Plains is the additional risk involved. And it is difficult to assign a dollar value to the risk incurred by planting the 30 percent of an allotment on which the farmer can guarantee himself six cents per pound by not planting.

One approach would be for growers to insure against the risk with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation or with a private company, assuming the potential gain in profit would justify the premium.

The immediate reaction of most producers with whom we have talked would indicate that they will still want to divert the full 35 percent of allotments under the 1968 program.

However, based on the chart above and on other calculations, our "wild guess" is that more producers on the Plains, and elsewhere, will plant 95 percent of their allotments than most are now predicting.

land was the luncheon speaker. William Hutmaker of Wayland was the general chairman. The meeting next year will be at Texas Tech.

Approximately fifty high school and college teachers attended this conference.

In order to increase bale production, improve appearance and provide uniform tare weight of wrapping materials, all 1967 cotton placed in CCC loan must be wrapped in specification bagging and ties, the USDA has announced.

Charles Daniels, ASC office manager here, says all gins in the county have received the new specifications, and aside from allowing the use of carry-over supplies from 1966, all new cotton must be bagged according to the new rules. ASC officials will make a periodic inspection to see that specifications are being followed.

Daniels said that any 1967 cotton that is placed under CCC loan and is later determined to be wrapped in non-specification bagging will be declared ineligible, and the loan will be called. The producer will be charged $5 per bale liquidation damages.

Producers who plan to place cotton under CCC loan will do well to check with the ginner to see if he is using specification bagging and ties before the cotton is ginned.

Don Anderson Named Plains Cotton Growers' President

L. D. "Don" Anderson, Crosbyton cotton producer and seedsman was elected President of Plains Cotton Growers Inc. following the organization's annual meeting on October 20. Anderson had served as Vice President of PCG since 1965 and was Secretary-Treasurer in 1964. He succeeds John D. Smith of Littlefield who held the top office in 1965-66 and 1966-67.

Smith, whose retirement after two years was mandatory under PCG by-laws, automatically becomes Chairman of the Board.

Elected Vice President was Donnell Echols, Lamesa cotton producer, and Ray Joe Riley, producer and seed breeder of Hart, was chosen for the post of Secretary-Treasurer.

Riley succeeded W. L. (Preach) Edelman, of Friona. Edelman continues to occupy an important position as chairman of PCG's legislative committee.

All three officers, in addition to Executive Vice President Donald Johnson and Executive Assistant Cotton Fanning, are graduates of Texas Technological College.

Anderson, already a well known figure on the High Plains, grew up in Dawson County. For the past four years he had headed up successful Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program being coordinated by Plains Cotton Growers, and he served last year as president of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association.

The Boll Weevil Program has effectively prevented migration of cotton's most dreaded insect onto the High Plains, and has received national acclaim as the nation's largest and most successful attack against boll weevils.

Anderson's degree from Texas Tech was taken in 1948 in Business Administration. Echols was graduated from Tech's school of Agricultural Economics, and Riley holds a Tech degree in agronomy.

Anderson presided at the morning session of the PCG annual meeting, and told the 500 plus cotton people present that he detected "a definite air of optimism" in the South Plains cotton industry.

Factors contributing to this optimism, he said, are "great improvements in the quality of the area crop, strong market prices, expanded programs of cotton research and promotion, and the possibility of increased plantings in 1968."

Bob Poteet, executive vice president of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, has reported to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. several complaints received from merchants and cotton mills concerning the "preparation" of this year's High Plains cotton crop.

Mix-packs, or two-sided bales, overdrying and ginning at improper moisture levels were among the preparation "sins" listed.

Norman Sloan, market news director for USDA's Cotton Division in Lubbock, confirmed that the quality of Plains cotton is not in every instance being preserved as it should be.

GAINING YARDAGE---The Mules Bobby Julian picks up yardage on a march down the field before being brought down by Hornets Mike McCullough and Neal Nelson. Julian managed to pick up enough yardage to help set up the Mules first touchdown of the game.

He said most ginners are doing an excellent job, but that the area classing offices are receiving some cotton that has been ginned too green, causing gin-cut, and some that has been over-dried.

Sloan also said the micro-naire average of the crop has begun to suffer from those producers who used defoliants or desiccants too early.

As of October 20 over 90 percent of the cotton harvested on the Plains had micronaire readings of 3.5 or better. Most of this cotton was either hand harvested or gathered by spindle-type machines.

But Sloan said that cotton received at the classing office from noon October 20 through October 24 contained only 77 percent which "miked" 3.5 or above. He attributed this to an increase in the amount of stripped cotton coming in during the latter period.

"It is probably too late this year for warnings against use of harvest-aid chemicals before cotton is fully mature," Sloan stated, "but losses sustained by producers this year should serve as a deterrent to such practices in the future."

Both Poteet and Sloan recalled instances of two-sided bales stapling 31/32 of an inch on one side and 1-1/4 inches on the other.

"This can be avoided if ginners will arrange long and short staple cotton on the gin yard in blocks and flush out the gin between blocks," Poteet said, "By doing this the ginner is helping his customers get fair prices for their production and at the same time helping the Plains to build a reputation for quality cotton."

Much can be done to eliminate ginning at improper moisture levels. Poteet believes, by widespread use of moisture meters at gins.

"And again, this is an area in which ginners can upgrade their service to customers while assisting the effort to have the Plains known as an area from which quality cotton can be bought," he emphasized.

Poteet has pointed out recently that markets and market prices for cotton on the Plains are greatly improved this year over any year in recent history, largely because of producer-ginner cooperation in putting better cotton on the market.

Good short and medium staple cotton so far this year has been selling from 100 to 300 points over the government loan price, and the longer staples have brought up to 1300 points over the loan.

In previous years some 65 to 75 percent of the area's crop has been tendered to the government at loan prices. In addition to better quality cotton, some of the drastic change this year can be laid to the fact that tight supplies exist in some qualities.

And Poteet says "If we are to have merchants and mills coming to the High Plains to fill their raw fiber needs in the future when supplies are more plentiful, every producer and every ginner needs to do the best job of preserving the inherent qualities of the cotton we grow."

TEXAS INDIANS---A pair of former high school standouts from the state of Texas are members of the 1967 varsity football team at Dartmouth College this fall. The Indians, under veteran coach Bob Blackman, were undefeated through their first four games and were well established in three different national Top Ten defensive statistics, total defense, rushing defense, and defense against scoring. The Big Green is defending its fifth Ivy League championship. Texas members of the INDIANS are (l-r) offensive end Tom Walker, sophomore, Corpus Christi; Coach Blackman; and defensive back and kicking specialist, Joe Adams, sophomore, Muleshoe. Dartmouth took a victory string of eight straight against Harvard last Saturday, October 28. This season the Big Green has defeated Massachusetts 28-10, Holy Cross 24-8, Pennsylvania 23-0, and Brown 41-6.

The girls invited their mothers, the Friona Chapter and their advisors, Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Osborn. Each girl brought salads and a program in keeping with the national program on morals and manners was presented by Mrs. Higgins, from the Smith Lawn Home for Girls in Lubbock.

Entertainment was furnished by Tamra Jennings, Marilyn Barnes, Connie Harlan, Lee Ann Harlan, Jill Mimms and Cheryl Ramage, who sang folk songs.

The Lazbuddie Longhorns celebrated Homecoming week last week with a bonfire Thursday night, a big pep rally Friday evening, and a barbecue Friday night before and after the game. Everything seemed to come off fine for the Longhorns, everything except the game. The Horns, having a bad night, suffered a 23 to 6 defeat from the Vega Longhorns. Vega scored in the first, third and fourth periods, and Lazbuddie scored in the fourth.

QUALITY COTTON

On a farm operated by Mr. Bill Boggs, who farms 6 miles north of Plainview and one mile off FM 400 on the Providence pavement to the east, you will see a field of fine cotton, which not only gives promise of considerable quality but also of high production. This is a field of Gregg 25V one of the newer cottons for the Plains. The seed of this cotton is glandless, free of gossypol making it possible to use the meal in the feeding of poultry and swine, and also can be used as a high protein diet in human nutrition. Gregg 25V was specifically bred to resist verticillium wilt, however, a majority of those who have planted it this season have done so, not because they have a wilt problem, but because of the other good qualities which it possesses, such as better micronaire, better grades (being a smooth leaf it cleans well), a little longer staple, and a better grade of seed. (Yes, Mr. Boggs managed this cotton according to special instructions.)

You are invited to drive out and see this field of cotton, or if you prefer just come to our place two and one-half miles east of the courthouse on the Lockney Highway, and we will not only show you Mr. Boggs' cotton, but also several other good fields of 25V. Gregg Seed Farms, 2700 Lockney Highway, Plainview, Texas. (Adv.)

Clifford Gray Completes School

Clifford Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Gray, has completed training in Austin with the Texas Department of Public Safety and will be stationed at Marshall as a Highway Patrolman.

After completing the course, Gray completed a three week special training school in Austin.

He was employed in Muleshoe before entering DPS training.

Gary is a 1964 graduate of Muleshoe High School and is married to the former Judy White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam White, Oklahoma Lane. The couple has a son, Gerald, age 2.

He assumed duties at Marshall Saturday, October 28 and the family is making their home at 705 Georgetown Road.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Wern Sanford

AUSTIN--Voter registration for the big 1968 election year is getting into full swing. Secretary of State John L. Hill already is busy sending out detailed instructions for county tax assessors.

As chief election officer, Hill discussed current problems with an advisory committee of tax officials (who are local registrars) and reviewed suggested ground rules.

He remains firm in his agreement with an attorney general's opinion that voters must bring or mail in their own registration applications or submit them through authorized members of their immediate family.

Bloc or bulk registrations are outlawed by an October 11 opinion. It brought critical comment from former State Sen. Franklin Spears, head of a liberal-backed drive to register five million voters.

Hill encourages house-to-house registration drives and says there is no restriction on the manner or the extent of distributing application forms. He is advising local registrars that:

There is no limit on reproduction of sample registration forms by third parties or purchase of those ordered by official registrars.

Solicitors may encourage individuals to register but must avoid inducing registration through false or misleading representation.

Assistance to the applicant is all right (including filling out forms), but the voter must supply the necessary information himself and sign the form or place his mark on it.

Drives may furnish envelopes and even stamps to voters, but the applicant or family members must mail the form.

Local registrars should provide blank, sample forms to all who request them, but each registrar must fix his own policies as to furnishing forms in large quantities to solicitors.

Spears has called on registrars to ignore the attorney general's opinion, and accept applications delivered by third party solicitors in bulk, or a group of applications sent in the same envelope. Spears claims the opinion is the result of a "plot" to keep the registrations low.

COURTS SPEAK--Texas Supreme Court heard Sun Oil Company arguments for the right to use fresh water from the Ogallala formation, for oil well flooding purposes on their Hockley County Lease. Lower courts have denied the Sun suit. A landowner and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 contend that use of the water would dangerously deplete irrigation supplies.

Houston finance company seeks a ruling from the Austin district court as to its rights under the Texas Regulatory Loan Act to buy discounted home improvement notes from their contractors. State Consumer Credit Commissioner Frand Miskell was named defendant.

Supreme Court knocked out contempt of court citations against three in a Denton County dispute over a 30-foot strip of land because the district judge failed to follow procedural rules limiting duration of temporary restraining orders.

State obtained a $34,952 judgment against a Dallas man by consolidating five cases involving slant hole oilwell drilling in Gregg, Wood and Rusk counties.

Court of Criminal Appeals divided 3-2 in upholding a Harrison County death penalty murder conviction, with the majority finding the condemned man had adequate warning of his constitutional rights six days before he confessed to the crime.

INJUNCTION ASKED--Texas Water Quality Board has asked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to seek and injunction to keep the Enchanted Oaks subdivision, just outside Houston, from making any more connections to new housing being constructed in the area until it complies with its permit.

A hearing revealed that the district had put in a temporary 19,000 gallon per day plant when its permit called for 60,000 gallons a day. Then it let contracts to build a 300,000 gallon per day plant without Board approval or a permit from the State Health Department.

Board wants construction on 18 new homes stopped along with the work on the unapproved treatment plant.

WORKMEN'S COMP PREMIUM CUT--State Board of Insurance has approved a 4.2 percent cut in workmen's compensation insurance premiums effective December 1. Slash, which is based on premium and loss statistics, should mean a $7,000,000 reduction in 1968.

Board Chairman Hunter McClean said cuts in insurance company expenses and fewer accidents made savings possible, despite rising medical costs and incomes. He said this emphasizes the importance of accident prevention programs.

Reductions by major classes included: All combined, 4.2 percent; manufacturing classes, 3.4 percent; contracting, 5.1 percent; oil, 4.2 percent; and all other classes, 4 percent.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES: Attorney General Martin clarified the state's complex, mandatory retirement provisions for Texas judges, as set forth in the constitution, with a new lengthy opinion (M-152).

In another ruling, Martin concluded that the Texas Department of Mental Health and ment against a Dallas man by consolidating five cases involving slant hole oilwell drilling in Gregg, Wood and Rusk counties.

Court of Criminal Appeals divided 3-2 in upholding a Harrison County death penalty murder conviction, with the majority finding the condemned man had adequate warning of his constitutional rights six days before he confessed to the crime.

INJUNCTION ASKED--Texas Water Quality Board has asked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to seek and injunction to keep the Enchanted Oaks subdivision, just outside Houston, from making any more connections to new housing being constructed in the area until it complies with its permit.

A hearing revealed that the district had put in a temporary 19,000 gallon per day plant when its permit called for 60,000 gallons a day. Then it let contracts to build a 300,000 gallon per day plant without Board approval or a permit from the State Health Department.

Board wants construction on 18 new homes stopped along with the work on the unapproved treatment plant.

WORKMEN'S COMP PREMIUM CUT--State Board of Insurance has approved a 4.2 percent cut in workmen's compensation insurance premiums effective December 1. Slash, which is based on premium and loss statistics, should mean a $7,000,000 reduction in 1968.

Board Chairman Hunter McClean said cuts in insurance company expenses and fewer accidents made savings possible, despite rising medical costs and incomes. He said this emphasizes the importance of accident prevention programs.

Reductions by major classes included: All combined, 4.2 percent; manufacturing classes, 3.4 percent; contracting, 5.1 percent; oil, 4.2 percent; and all other classes, 4 percent.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES: Attorney General Martin clarified the state's complex, mandatory retirement provisions for Texas judges, as set forth in the constitution, with a new lengthy opinion (M-152).

In another ruling, Martin concluded that the Texas Department of Mental Health and

Importance of Crop Residue Use

By Jonny Ohlenburg
Soil Conservation Service

crop residue protects the soil from the force of the rain drop. This prevents the top soil from being displaced where it can be carried away by the rain water.

The residue acts as a container to hold the water on the soil until it can be absorbed by the soil. This prevents runoff. Crop residue seems as an umbrella to protect the soil from the hot sunshine and dry winds that cause moisture loss by evaporation. By protecting the soil from the direct force of the wind, soil erosion by wind is prevented.

Six new viruses are linked to colds.

The importance of keeping the water where it falls cannot be over emphasized. There is no simple soil, water or plant conservation practice that will hold all the water where it falls and keep it for crop use. However, crop residues on cultivated lands probably comes closer to doing this than any other conservation practice.

The use of good crop residues helps conserve soil and water from the time the rains begin until the water is used by the crop. When the rain begins to fall, a good cover of AIR BOARD HEARINGS--Texas Air Control Board scheduled hearings this week to consider adoption of revisions to its rules and regulations to bring them in line with the Clean Air Act of 1967.

Three other key regulations will be considered, namely (1) those dealing with control of outdoor burning of waste; (2) establishment of air standards for sulphur dioxide, sulfuric acid and hydrogen sulfide; and (3) supplementation of controls for pollution from vehicles (generally applicable to 1968 and later model vehicles).

SHORT SNORTS--Texas Public Employees Association named these new officers: president, Don Kirby Miller of the Comptroller's Department; vice president, C. A. Shoemaker, Texas Employment Commission; treasurer, Rupert S. Gregory, Texas State Employees Retirement System; and secretary, Miss Evangeline E. Lane, Department of Public Welfare.

RETAIL RECORD DUE--While downtown Christmas decorations are being strung up, Texas retailers already are looking forward to record sales in most lines during the next two months.

Texas Bureau of Business Research reports that the 11 percent August to September decline in durable sales and five percent drop in non-durable sales shook retailers' confidence "more than was warranted."

More encouraging signs point to "surprisingly strong" apparel store sales this fall, and "substantial increases" are seen in furniture and appliance store sales.

Total construction index in Texas fell to 127.1 in September from an abnormal high of 245.8 in August. Mark was lowest for the year except for January's 106.6 reading. Despite this decline, the September index still was 16 percent above September 1966. Building permits totaled $131,700,000. Value of 1967 building

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Apparently filing a tax return wasn't as bad a task as most taxpayers claimed here in Northern Texas. Sixty-five percent of the taxpayers filing individual income tax returns during 1967 got a refund. The computer rolled out 987,000 refund checks amounting to more than $137 million. Brother, that's a lot of dough!

The good tax folks say that they still have several thousand refund checks that could not be delivered. If you haven't got your refund and haven't heard from it, either you made an error, or one of the processing employees gave the computer the wrong information, or else you hauled off and moved. If you still have a refund check coming and have not been notified of problems on the refund, sit down and write the Internal Revenue Service -- tell them when you filed, what your social security number is, and how much refund check you are due. You will probably get your check.

Water, Inc. Board Meeting Held Tuesday

The Board of Directors of Water, Inc. met Tuesday, October 31 at 10 a.m. in the office of Water, Inc. at 1613 Avenue Q, Lubbock.

Among items on the agenda which were discussed by the Directors were: (1) proposal by Ralph M. Parsons Company of California to conduct a regional study for Water, Inc. (2) heard a report by a representative of the Texas Water Development Board, concerning latest state plans and efforts, and (3) discussed a proposed tour by Board members of California to examine first-hand what that area has done on water development.

In discussing the Board meeting, John J. Kendrick of Brownfield, Water, Inc. President stated that "the regional study proposal by the Parsons Company would include a comprehensive look at the economic and social factors within the Water, Inc. area that will largely determine early response in Washington to our suggestions on importation of additional water supplies."

VIETNAM AND OUR NATIONAL INTEREST

This week the national discussion and debate about Vietnam has taken a new, and highly significant turn. For the first time the Administration has effectively stated the extent of American national interest in the preservation of Asian order.

This statement by the Administration came in remarks of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and in a speech by Vice President Hubert Humphrey. The message of each was clear -- the national security, self interest of the United States is indeed the major factor dictating our participation in the Vietnam war.

I was very glad to hear Administration spokesmen point this fact out. It is something I have been telling audiences all over our country for the last two years. And I believe much of the current confusion in our country over Vietnam has been unnecessarily stirred up because, up until now, the Administration has refused to articulate our national interest position in Asia; referring to the allegation that we are in Vietnam because South Vietnam asked us in.

It always has been clear to the American public that a simple request to help is not sufficient cause for the major commitment of life and resources that we have mounted. Therefore, it is not surprising that when given such a half-hearted reason for our being there, many Americans suggested that we get out.

But, the humanitarian desire to help never has been the key reason we are in Vietnam. The real reason is that it is in our own self interest to be there.

As Secretary Rusk put it this week: "Within the next decade or two there will be a billion Chinese on the mainland armed with nuclear weapons. . . It is not very attractive to think of the world cut in two by Asian Communism. . . with the billions of free Asians under the deadly and constant pressure of Peking, so that their future is circumscribed by fear."

Vice President Humphrey stated it even more clearly and forcefully when he subsequently said:

"The threat to world peace today is militant, aggressive Asian Communism, with its headquarters in Peking, China. The aggression of North Vietnam is but the most current and immediate action of Asian Communism."

If Asian Communism succeeds in conquering South Vietnam, the Vice President said, "It would add to the strength of Communism in both Asia and Europe. It would represent a defeat not only for America but for freedom everywhere. The entire power structure of the world would be destroyed."

These matters of American national interest are the Vietnam factors which have always most deeply concerned me -- the need for our country to keep its defense perimeters as far from our own shores and as close to the enemy's shores as possible -- a constant guarantee that a treaty entered into by the United States will be honored by the United States. With these things in mind, I made a major address to the people of Texas as long ago as February of 1966.

What I said then is what Administration officials have belatedly said this week. Let me repeat some of it for you. I said that:

"We want a peace lesson to be learned by the Asian Communists today -- in this small country -- just as it was learned by the Russians and in Europe and Latin America. By standing firm today, we are avoiding a bigger battle later. By standing firm today, we are doing all we can do to guarantee peace for the world's future."

"Vietnam cannot be divorced from the long-term, main-event struggle against communism. This confrontation with the Reds has been going on throughout the 20 years since the end of World War II. Vietnam is but an episode in a drama that previously involved Berlin, Iran, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Malaysia, the Philippines, Korea, Cuba, Lebanon, and the Dominican Republic."

"We continue to have such episodes because first the Soviet Communists and now the even more aggressive Chinese Communists have thought they can eventually have their way by fighting. They are wrong, but they certainly will not be convinced of that if we abandon Vietnam."

"The United States is not at fault in this battle, as some of the peaceniks and beatniks would have us believe. The United States did not attack across a sovereign boundary in Korea. The United States did not blockade Berlin nor build a wall, nor crush Hungarian freedom. The United States did not subjugate the Cuban people, or send guerilla terrorists into Venezuela, Columbia and the Dominican Republic. The United States did not break the Geneva accords by terrorist attacks in Laos and South Vietnam -- Hanoi did."

Many facets of reading were discussed in the interest groups. Mrs. Jamec Jennings, Muleshoe Junior High reading teacher, gave "An Exemplary Reading Program for Secondary Schools."

Miss Trula Maud Jetton, Elementary Supervisor of Lubbock schools, was chairman of the conference and Charles Kennedy was secretary treasurer. Over 960 persons registered during the two-day conference. Other features of the reading conference were the publishers exhibits; the reception at project Impact; the TEPSA and West Texas ASCD dinner at the Village Inn, and the noon luncheon at Coronado High School. Those attending from Muleshoe were Radie Bursleson, Elaine Davis, Owetha Finley, Judith Harlin, Edith Henderson, Loyce Killingsworth, Mary Mardis, Inez Middlebrook, Mary B. Obenhaus, Floree Peugh, Georgia Pena, Norma Jo Prather and Janet Schroeder. Also Jewel Scott, Aileen Siwert, Addie Mae Spence, Edna Willoughby, Gladys Everett, Betty Jennings, Katherine Sanders, Mary Sanders, Mildred Tanner, Bill Taylor and Elizabeth Watson.

Teachers, Administrators Attend Conference

The first Lubbock Area Reading Conference was held October 20-21, at the Coronado High School. Texas Technological College and Lubbock area public schools sponsored this conference. After two successful years, the LARC hopes to be eligible to be affiliated with the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading (TAIR). "Everyone Reads" was the conference theme.

Dr. Robert Karlin, co-ordinator of graduate English, Queens College, Flushing, New York, and Dr. Alice Brooks McGuire, librarian of Casis School, Austin, were the principal speakers.

Dr. Karlin gave "An All-School Approach to Reading Improvement," "Reading, Learning and Teaching," and "Materials for Teaching Reading." He gave the guidelines for a balanced reading program, (1) Word identification (2) Comprehension (3) Study skills (4) Appreciation of literature (5) Extending reading interests and (6) Flexibility in speed.

Dr. McGuire's topic was "Children and the World of Books." She showed a sound filmstrip of the Casis Library which was financed by a Knapp Foundation grant.
