

EXPLAINS PLAN---Ross Goodwin is pictured showing one of the Water, Inc. letters after he explained the plan to move water into this area from the Mississippi at the noon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday. With him is Troy Atkinson, program chairman for the day, who invited Goodwin to present this informative program.

Goodwin Explains Water, Inc.

Some time ago, facts formed a vision of waterless plains in the minds of a group of men. From this vision came a long-range plan to provide water for the High Plains ahead of the day which is expected to come for Plainsmen. . . from this grew an organization called Water, Inc., a group who are laying the foundation to bring water to this area from the Mississippi River.

The first leg of the move was a trip to California to visit the Central Valley where people had already experienced a coming water shortage and had also planned ahead to avoid the disaster.

There, members of the new organization and the board of directors of the High Plains and North Plains Water Districts, engineers and lawyers for the districts, saw water moving 444 miles and lifted 3,200 feet in places to reach the valley. One pump alone at Tecachapi Pump Plant, 35 miles west of Bakersfield was pumping 110 million gallons of water per hour over the crest of the mountain, an elevation of 1,926 feet.

The group saw an area of California where the people voted not to take the water when the project was being organized. Before it was completed, the property owners saw they had made a mistake and asked the water district to be included in the plan, but the water they could have had in the beginning had already been allocated to others and no water was available. Consequently, they are now a small desert in the center of the Central Valley.

This affirmed their belief that since no provisions were made for providing water for the West Plains, there should be some formulated. Time, money and men would be in demand, thus Water, Inc., was formed.

Ross Goodwin, director of the High Plains Underground Water District, told about the trip and the organization of Water, Inc., at the Wednesday meeting of the Rotary Club.

"To begin with," Goodwin said, "any project naturally starts with the local people in the area to be affected. After proper entree with the area Congressmen and the U. S. Senators, two things have to happen.

"First of all, a reconnaissance study has to be made, usually with a public hearing in the area of the project. This study is always based on very limited data and is financed sometimes by the Federal Government, but most usually by local people.

"If sufficient interest is shown, the Bureau of Budgets requests a feasibility study to be made and presented to the Public Works Committee of the Department of Interior. The feasibility study usually goes into great depth as far as economics, engineering feasibility is concerned.

"If the public works committee approves the project, then it goes to the division engineer for a review by either the Bureau of Reclamation or the Corps of Engineers, depending on the nature of the project and on part of the U. S. in which it is located. The Bureau of Reclamation never works east of the 94th parallel. "Cong. George Mahan has been responsible on two different occasions for about $400,000,000 each to the Bureau and the Corps of Engineers to make reconnaissance type study on the feasibility of bringing Mississippi and Arkansas water to West Texas," Goodwin said.

"The Corps is studying that part of East Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas border while the Bureau of Reclamation is studying costs for pumping, canal routing across Texas, Oklahoma and into Eastern New Mexico.

"When asked what we were considering time-wise, the Bureau made this statement: 'If our studies continue as they See Page 3, Col. 1

Election Day is Saturday

All indications point to a light turn-out of voters for the Saturday, November 11, election day, even though a special representative election has been called and six constitutional amendments are to be decided.

A total of four persons have cast their ballots by absentee voting which concluded at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Voters in Precinct 1 may cast their ballots at the Election House on West Second Street and at the City Hall for those voting in Precinct 1-A. Precinct 1-A includes those who live east of First Street.

Precinct two ballot box is at West Camp Baptist Church; Precinct Three at Longview Church; Precinct Four, Bula School; Precinct Five at Needmore Community House and Precinct Six at Three Way.

Election judges are Ernest Kerr and Mrs. H. O. Barbour, Precinct One; Myron Pool and Mrs. W. R. Bowers, Precinct 1-A; Lonnie Wilhite and D. O. Burelsmith, Precinct Two; Bert Seales and Bo Ethridge, Precinct Three; George Tyson and L. E. Warren, Precinct Four; Mrs. Rudolph Moraw and Mrs. Margaret Phipps, Precinct Five and Mrs. Eddie Wallace and Marion McDaniel, Precinct Six.

Candidates for the unexpired term of Jesse T. George are Teddy Mack Weaver, Bailey County; Eddie Paxton, Hockley County and John J. Kendrick, Terry County. Weaver lives in Muleshoe, Paxton in Levelland and Kendrick is a resident of Brownfield.

Amendment One will allow counties to put all county taxes into one general fund.

Amendment Two is a proposition to permit municipalities, other political subdivisions, and state-supported entities located within hospital districts to participate in the establishment, maintenance, support, or operation of mental health services, mental retardation services, or public health service.

The third amendment is to extend the Veterans' Land Program by authorizing the sale of bonds to increase the Veterans' Land Fund for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas Veterans who served in the Armed Services of the United States between September 16, 1940, and the date of the formal withdrawal of the United States troops from the present armed conflict in Vietnam. Which amendment would amend Section 49-b, Article III of the Constitution of Texas, and provide for an additional $200,000,000 in bonds, such funds to be expended in accordance with instructions and requirements that may be provided by law.

The fourth amendment will authorize each county in this state to pay the medical bills, doctor bills and hospital bills for all Sheriffs, Deputy Sheriffs, Constables, Deputy Con-

Paxton Expresses Candidate Views

Eddie Paxton, candidate for Legislature in the 75th District election Saturday, said this week that "with the campaign almost over I feel we're ahead."

Paxton, a Levelland businessman, said that he was "very encouraged by the response to my numerous visits around our district." The 75th District includes Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties.

"People are concerned about the need to develop more water resources, build our economy and improve education," Paxton said.

"There's also concern about the cost of government with higher taxes at a time when the cost of living continues to climb. There's a feeling that we should level off govern-

Mules to Meet Eagles

Muleshoe's Mules go to Canyon Friday night, game time 7:30 p.m. for the last game away from home and the next to the last game of the 1967 football season of conference play.

Perryton romped the Canyon Eagles 35-0 in last Friday night's game at Perryton. The Mules enter this game without a conference play victory to their credit and two wins for the season, the September 8 victory over Dimmitt with a score of 14-13 and again October 13, winning over Morton 12-10.

They have dumped conference games to Dumas, Tulla and Hereford to date.

Despite the record, Mule coaches see a great future for the Mules. They are young and inexperienced and a projected athletic program looks good for the not-too-distant future. Fans and backers of the Mules have been commended by the coaching staff for their support instead of criticism during their tilts with schools which have the seniors and players with experience under their belts.

Although the Mules have lost the games, they have never lost their spirit nor sportmanship which all goes to make up a future or a well-rounded athletic program.

Veterans' Day, November 11

Saturday, November 11 is Veterans' Day. All Veterans are welcome to attend a free breakfast at Ben Richardson Post here at 6:30 a. m. that day.

Speaker will be Bailey County Judge Don Cihak.

The following is reprinted and narrated annually in hundreds of magazines, newspapers and radio stations, and is a part of the Congressional Record. It is the Veterans which we honor this day which the author, S. L. DeLove gives credit for making possible his writing of this story which is America.

Weaver Speaks To Lions Club At Wednesday Meet

Ted Weaver, candidate for the office of State Representative, spoke to members of the Muleshoe Lion's Club at their noon meeting Wednesday.

The six constitutional amendments to be voted on Saturday November 11 were reviewed by Weaver and the election code was explained.

Weaver told something of his campaign and the 64 speeches he had made and the 6,000 miles he had traveled during the 13 weeks of work prior to election date.

"The people, numbering some 16,000 I have met, discussing issues, public appearances and the speeches have been an education within itself," Weaver said.

Weaver expressed his special thanks to the Lions and the people of the area for their warm response and encouragement in the election campaign. See Page 3, Col. 7

Contest Winner

J. K. Adams won first place in last week's "Back the Mules" football contest missing only one game, would you believe. . . Dartmouth vs. Yale and having a seven-point spread on the Muleshoe-Hereford score.

Bobby Nickels won second, missing the same game, however, he had a 14-point spread on the tie breaker.

German-Born Pilot Licensed; Tells of War

The Gunter Peters family likes the United States and especially this area.

From Nienburg, Germany, to Muleshoe, Texas, is a long-long trail a-winding, with no fiction to it. This week, Gunter Peters marked a milestone of accomplishment here as he was granted his Private Pilot's license at Muleshoe airport. They were issued to him by Federal Aviation Examiner Morgan Locker after he completed his check ride Monday morning. Little did he dream of getting his license in the United States, much less at a town named Muleshoe, but he and his family are so impressed with the people and the country that their plans are to settle in this area after he completes his tour of duty six years from now.

Peters is presently stationed at Cannon AFB with the Minister Returns From Bethel Baptist Church in Germany

Rev. Kenneth Coleman, who has been with the Bethel Baptist Church in Frankfurt, Germany for the past 37 months visited in Muleshoe this week while on six months leave of absence for the mission work.

Bethel Baptist Church has a unique origin. Two American servicemen enroute to Germany in July, 1956 decided they wanted a church established so that their children could attend service like they did at home. Once in Frankfurt, they began the work on what became the first English church. Since that time, 44 more have been organized.

Rev. Coleman became interested in the Bethel Church after a choir member of the Quemado church went there to work with the people. He then obtained the assignment.

"There are many interesting things about the work there," he said.

Lamb County Clerk Examines Liquor Petition

Lamb County Clerk Charles Jones and his staff continue to check petitions for names and numbers of signers on a petition calling for an election "for the sale of all alcoholic beverages within the city limits of Littlefield."

The petitions were filed at 8:30 a. m. Monday and the check began immediately.

In the third day of checking, Jones said Wednesday that he expected the check to take until sometime Friday as it was very time-consuming as names on the petition must be exactly the way they appear on the voter's registration certificate.

Jones said he expected to have the examination completed and certified to be presented to the next meeting of the city commissioners Monday, November 13.

The commissioners court will call an election and set the date for the vote.

Some 6,000 miles away from home, the people respond to services much like they do here. Services are held each Sunday with Sunday School followed by the worship hour. Training Union is held Sunday evening followed by the services and Wednesday mid-week services are held.

Bethel Baptist Church works with the Southern Baptist Convention and Sunbeams, Girl's Auxiliary and Royal Ambassadors are held as are revivals twice each year and a youth meeting each summer. Brotherhood for men and WMU for women are also part of the church work.

Approximately 1,000 members have joined the church during its 11 year history and the present membership stands at about 350.

Local Group To Attend Farm Bureau Convention

Several members of the Bailey County Farm Bureau are making plans to attend the Texas Farm Bureau's 34th annual convention November 13-15 at the Terrace Motor Hotel Convention Center in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bryant, and James Warren and others of the local group are making plans to attend.

Leading spokesmen for agriculture, industry and government will participate in the convention.

They will speak Monday afternoon, November 13, at special discussion conferences dealing with matters of particular interest to Texas farmers and ranchers.

Morris Atlas, McAllen, attorney for La Casita Farms of Rio Grande City, will discuss "Current Labor Developments in the Rio Grande Valley" at the Farm Labor Conference. Atlas represented La Casita in recent labor hearings by the Senate Sub-Committee on Migratory Labor at Rio Grande City and Edinburg.

Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White will talk on "Regulatory Programs for Texas Agriculture" during the Field Corps Conference. "Does the Formula for Allocation of Farm-to-Market Road Funds Need Updating?" will be the subject covered by DeWitt Greer, State Highway Engineer, Texas Highway Department.

Also at the Transportation, Communications and Utilities Conference, James A. Moriss, information director, Texas Electric Cooperatives, will discuss "Where Do Electric and Telephone Cooperatives Turn For Necessary Training?" During the same conference, "Problems in Transportation of Agricultural Products" will be discussed by F. P. Bohanon, Houston, Southern Pacific and Jack C. Bryan with the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

At the Livestock Conference, Dr. Paul Ludwig, Dow Chemical Company, will talk on grub control in livestock. A progress report on the Diagnostic Laboratory to be built at Texas A&M will be presented by Dr. Fred D. Maurer, assistant dean of A&M's Veterinary Medicine School. Dr. James E. Henderson, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, will give the current status of the Hog Cholera Eradication Program in Texas. Farm Bureau's Livestock Marketing Program will be discussed by Myron Hillman, TFB livestock marketing specialist.

At the service conference, William Hunter McLean, chairman, State Board of Insurance Commissioners, will talk on "Federal Encroachment in the Insurance Industry." Two progress reports on Farm Bureau service programs will be included during this conference. A. R. Grauer, TFB program development director, will report on Farm Bureau's Safemark sales service program. A look at Farm Bureau's marketing activities will be given by Walter Meyer, TFB commodity director.

Herbert E. Harris II, Washington, D. C. legislative counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation, will speak at the Dairy Conference. "Status of Current and Proposed Water Legislation" is the topic to be covered by Cliff Laywell, TFB assistant legislative director, during the Natural Resources Conference.

Poultry Conference speaker is TFB Poultry Specialist W. E. Pearcy. He will discuss Farm Bureau's activities in the poultry industry. W. C. Wedemeyer, research and education director for Texas Farm Bureau, will speak at the Research and Education Conference.

Fall Employment Outlook Bright

Opening of schools caused a sizeable month-to-month employment gain in state government and retail and wholesale employment in September while manufacturing employment remained at the August level, according to the Texas Employment Commission's Texas Manpower Trends released this week.

The outlook for employment this fall is bright in spite of sluggishness in factory and non-factory employment, the report points out. Employment estimates for October are expected to increase moderately. Non-farm employment is expected to gain by some 34,000 over September's 3,849,300 by November "if normal conditions prevail," the report predicts.

Recalls in transportation equipment manufacturing in September added 11,300 jobs to the August job total and had a major role in reducing unemployment of workers insured under Texas' Unemployment Compensation Act by 4,378 under August to 17,008 at mid-September for the lowest total since November of 1956. The heavy demand for clean-up and repair labor in the wake of Hurricane Beulah reduced insured unemployment beyond an expected normal seasonal drop triggered by the return to work of auto workers after a model-change lay-off, according to the report.

Nonmanufacturing industries added 122,000 jobs to last September's 2.5 million total, while manufacturing added only 19,100 to its 654,000 total last September. Retail trades added 18,600 to the September 1966 total, while service industries added 30,600 jobs to the year-earlier total.

Among manufacturing industries, transportation equipment showed the largest year-to-year increase with 13,500 over last September, while apparel and other finished textiles dropped by 2,400 to record the greatest year-to-year decrease. In nonmanufacturing industries, contract construction's loss of 2,400 jobs under the 213,000 recorded in September of 1966 led industries recording year-to-year declines followed closely by interstate railroads (-1,800) and mining, including petroleum (-1,900).

Naman Commends Secretary Freeman

Texas Farmers Union president Jay Naman of Waco commended Agriculture Secretary Freeman for his announced restoration of the diversion payments to the feed grains program for 1968.

Naman stated that he felt the Secretary's action was a "step in the right direction, although it will not accomplish the objectives of Farmers Union which is to assure 100 percent of parity to feed grains producers."

The newly announced program is intended to encourage feed grain producers to divert at least 10 million acres more than in 1967 by giving them the option to divert up to 50 percent of their base acreage. The 20 percent mandatory diversion continues in effect in 1968, but payments at a rate of 45 percent of the total support times the farmers projected yield will be paid for farmers electing to divert up to 50 percent of their base. The price support at $1.05 per bushel on corn and $1.61 a hundred on grain sorghum remains the same as in 1967, and the mandatory 20 percent diversion continues as during last year.

"With production payments (30 cents per bushel for corn and 53 cents a hundred on grain sorghum) continuing at 1967's higher level along with the restored diversion payments, farmers income will increase some $400 million over 1967 if there is sufficient participation in the program. Most Texas farmers will find it profitable to divert more acres in 1968, which should result in better markets in the coming year.

"Secretary Freeman has followed the recommendations of farmers at the 'shirt-sleeve' feed grains meetings and announced a program which is generally in line with farmer's thinking," said Naman.

The Texas Farmers Union leader made the announcement concerning feed grains before leaving for Rome, Italy on Tuesday, to participate as National Farmers Union advisor to the State Department delegation at the Food and Agriculture Organization meeting. The three-week conference is held biennially for the purpose of evaluating world farm production and food requirements.

are now, we can deliver six to seven million acre feet of water to West Texas in 12 years, providing, of course, that the National Congress sees fit to finance the project.

"I am told," Goodwin continued, "that Congressman Mahan, Cong. Persell, Wichita Falls and Dick White, El Paso, are prodding the Bureau and Corps to have something in their hands within the next 24 to 36 months as time is of great importance."

Ten storage sites in the northern part of the Texas High Plains have been studied, thus far by the Bureau in connection with the West Texas - Eastern New Mexico import study. Appraisals for these sites have been made within the past 60 days. Three of these are located in Armstrong county and others in Deaf Smith, Hansford, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter and Randall counties.

"Ten sites would provide 12,000,000 acre feet of imported water. The could also afford 180,000 acres of water surface and many miles of shoreline for recreation. Six playa lakes are under consideration in this area. Three of these are in our immediate area. They are Bull Lake near Littlefield and Monument and Coyote Lake in southern Bailey County.

"Preliminary engineering and geological appraisals are also being made of reservoir sites in New Mexico to store the State's share of the imported water."

"Plenty of water can be brought out of the Mississippi if the people of West Texas want it and will unite and go to work to obtain it," Goodwin said.

"The water board and the State of Texas has employed three of the largest engineering firms in the nation to study the imported water situation from the engineering standpoint. They relate that engineering will not be a problem. The problem will be legislative and financial. This will be the largest water moving project ever attempted and the legislative angle is due to the several states involved and the financial aspect due to the estimated cost of $5 to $7 billion. The estimated cost of importing water includes 60 to 70 percent for power costs.

"In a meeting with Jim Casey, Washington, D. C., director of Projects for the Bureau, we were told," Goodwin outlined, "that the most important asset we had was Congressman George Mahon as he is ranked as fourth or fifth most powerful man in the Capitol and is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee as well as being sympathetic with the needs of this area.

"We have been asked the question - What can a farmer pay for imported irrigation water?"

"The general feeling is at this time that imported water will cost in the neighborhood of $30 per acre foot, which sounds very high, but if we had asked a farmer 15 years ago this question: 'Do you feel you could pay $7,000 to $8,000 for a farm tractor in 1967, what do you suppose his answer would have been?'" he said.

Membership in Water, Inc. now totals 1,607 and paid-in dues stand at $83,077. Membership goal has been set at 4,000 with a budget of $200,000 per year. Dues are 10 cents per acre on irrigated land; 5 cents per acre on dryland and two cents per acre on grazing land. A minimum individual membership is $25.

Goodwin said "I personally would like to encourage everyone to become a member of Water, Inc. and pay dues and people from several countries visit the church during the same service," he said.

"Frankfurt is really much like a large American city and the people are friendly, once you get to know them.

"One of the most unusual experiences is conducting services in the stockade.

"Each Tuesday night, three of four men go to the stockade gate where from 100 to 125 prisoners are confined. The stockade is an enclosure surrounded by a twelve-foot fence. The men show their identity cards, sign in and are admitted to an outer courtyard. Cross in the courtyard and again show their identity cards and are admitted through the door into another open area. They then enter the building and present themselves at another control point.

"They will have two or three more guards to pass before reaching their destination, a Sunday School class," he continued.

"This is part of the ministry of the Bethel Baptist Church of Frankfurt. For many months, we taught Sunday School in the stockade. Meeting in the tiny chapel on the top floor of the building, the services consist of a brief song service, often led by one of the prisoners, the message is presented, then an invitation is extended.

"Following this service, the men are given the opportunity to visit with the prisoners, listen to their problems and give them what help they can and advise them when asked. Sometimes, I have been asked to visit a prisoner who was locked back the statement of Joe Moore, executive director of Texas Water Development Board, Austin, when he told board members that achieving unity in Texas will require restraint and sensibility on your part and understanding on the part of the citizens elsewhere in the state. It will require each of us whether we are from West Texas, South Texas, North Texas or East Texas to put aside inbred principalisms and accept the simple fact that the welfare of the state is paramount and each will benefit when the state benefits.

"If this project comes into being," Goodwin stressed, "there will have to be a master water district formed with authority to contract and pay for water delivered to West Texas. Also authority to distribute water to smaller districts, authority to borrow money, levy taxes, construct facilities and have power of eminent domain. "Of number one importance in order to get the organization into being is to work out differences which might occur locally before going to Congress, then take the proposition there as a united front," Goodwin concluded.

in isolation," he concludes.

Rev. Coleman came to Muleshoe to live with a brother, Leonard Coleman, who has since moved to Morton. He is a 1951 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

He will receive another assignment or enter another phase of service at the end of this six months leave.

Rev. Coleman traveled throughout Europe and visited numerous points of interest in many countries. He relates the experience of attending the Moscow Baptist Church where services consist of a two-hour period of time with three speakers. The membership is around 5,000 with an average of 200 being added to the rolls each year. Services are held on Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and the building is always filled. Even the aisles are filled. The Government keeps a close watch on the church, however, they seem to have a fairly free hand in operating the church. The people who attend are mostly elderly people. There is no Sunday School and they are not allowed to read the Bible. They are, however, allowed to attend services at will.

Rev. Coleman spent five hours at the church, two of which was in attendance of services and the remaining time in the private quarters of Michael Zidkoff which proved to be interesting and educational.

Isn't the flag a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best in us . . . for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy. *Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest, most sublime dream? Is it not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired? *Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us . . . for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American . . . to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded. *Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? ger when she was not working. The rest of the family was away most of the time.

"Just out of Syke was a junction for American aircraft. One day, I counted 967 planes in one formation. From the terminal point, they went to Berlin and other larger cities and I watched them peel off in formation going to their assigned points," he said.

"We were under almost constant alert and the warning sirens became routine with us. . . . We paid little attention to them after awhile. One experience stands out. My father was at home on leave. One night, the message reached Syke that a reconnaissance plane was in the area. As usual, we just went on to bed.

"An ammunition train had been stopped at the railroad station where 113 persons were inside the waiting room. Soon the blast hit. Fire from the re-con plane hit a tank on the train, there was no time to unhook it. The ammunition exploded and leveled a residential area for about three blocks around.

"Our home was on the outskirts of this area. I was sleeping in one room and my parents in the master bedroom. The concussion unroofed our house, not a single door was left and a large window was blown out, window casing and all. The splinters of glass covered the floor and my bed. My father said he called to me and when I did not answer, he ran over the glass, picked me up from my bed and ran down into the basement. It was not that I was injured. . . . I just didn't wake up. In spite of the glass my father ran through, there was not a single cut on his bare feet.

"One experience which I was awake for was the bombing of a German PT boat which some more youngsters and I were nosing around, looking over the guns. Bombs started falling from the planes in the sky and the sailors on the boat instructed us to run for cover. I made a mad dash for home, ducking in one doorway and then another. Shrapnel was hitting the buildings above me and the ack-ack was really active, I made it home, but scared.

"During war, you are not conscious of being scared at the time something is happening, you only think of reaching a place which offers the most reasonable amount of safety," he concluded.

Solos were played by each student. Roger Siewert and David Hardgrove each played a Bach number, David gave a short paper on the life of Bach.

Clay Pots Make Care Of House Plants Easy

Potted plants do well in the average home, but do better when a little care is given to their maintenance. The most important lesson to remember with your potted plants is to be sure that they're sold in clay pots. Your florist, garden center or supermarket will supply all quality plants in this natural container, and this will make care easy for you.

"Which would look the better. . . Rufus with the collar around his neck or another jacks wearing it?"
When the Gilbreath family moved to Muleshoe, Rufus was 17 years old. His dad borrowed a team from a neighbor and sent him after it.
The man said "the horses are in the lot, go get them."
He got the bridles on, but put on the collars upside down. An ole-timer, Uncle Johnny Broyles had to harness them.
After first learning to harness a team, he hitched four mules to a breaking plow and went to the field. He returned to the house shortly.
"Dad, these plow points are so dull they will not go into the ground. We'll have to take them to the blacksmith shop and have them sharpened."
Mr. Gilbreath looked at the land and said, "Heck, son, it is

A good fall and winter salad which doesn't require lettuce is this one I have copied from a standard salad served in northern Italy. It is appropriate in these days of meat and salad diets. Everyone seems to like it. The following ingredients serve three or four.

- 4 medium cold boiled potatoes, sliced
 - 3 or 4 medium tomatoes, peeled and sliced
 - 1 large green pepper, sliced
 - 1 small onion, sliced thin
 - 1/2 head raw cauliflower, separated into flowerets then sliced thin
 - 1/2 can small navy beans rinsed and drained
- Marinate in the following dressing for 1 to 2 hours--stirring frequently.
- 4 T olive oil
 - 12 T safflower oil
 - 4 T red wine vinegar
 - salt and pepper to taste
 - 1/4 t oregano
- * I find that after this marinates for awhile that I must correct the seasonings by adding more vinegar and salt.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

"FIRST NAME" IS UNCALLED FOR

Dear Amy:

There is a very prevalent trait that the very young are engaging in and that's "first name" calling. I have noticed it among my many friends' children. They address all adults by their first names.

What has happened to the respect youngsters used to have for older people, their parents' friends and such? Is it that children have changed so much?

Mrs. L. P.

Dear Mrs. L. P.:

No, children haven't changed. Their parents have! By spoiling, being too permissive, giving in to their wants rather than their needs and by permitting their offsprings to indulge in "first name" calling without correcting them. One reader told me that if that's the worst her children ever do, then she needs to worry.

Little does she realize that lack of respect from a youngster breeds that same lack of respect when children grow older.

Dear Amy:

Our son was 5 years of age when his father and I were married. At the time of birth, I listed on my child's birth certificate his father's name and said that my status was "married". Through the process of growing up, the boy went by my husband's last name. He went into the service and recently married under this name.

Shouldn't his name have been the same as my maiden name and could this marriage be termed illegal because of this? Since there isn't anyone to carry on my family maiden name, shouldn't he go by it? Legally, that is?

He is now 20 and I want him to go by his right name now.

Perplexed

In light of the fact that the father of your son has made an "honest" woman of you, forget the falsehoods of the distant past and take comfort in the knowledge that your son carries your husband's name . . . with no stigma attached.

True, your child's surname on the birth certificate should have been your maiden name . . . unless the father acknowledged the child as his at the time of birth. This, however, does not influence the legality of his marriage, nor the legality of your son's name.

As far as the perpetuation of your maiden name, that should have been the concern of your parents to provide themselves with a male heir. Apparently it meant nothing to your father, so it should mean nothing to you now.

Dear Amy:

I must act on my problem now before it gets the best of me. My boyfriend (21) has a very "sissy-ish" boss, who can talk anyone into doing anything. For instance, he asked us to paint his basement, pick his girl up and bring her home and help prepare for parties. Well, I personally cannot stand this "Kook", but my boyfriend has to put up with it so he won't be treated at work like a dog. I've just about had it with this boss of his, and if something isn't done soon, I'll

Explode

Dear Explode:

What your boyfriend wants to do for his boss beyond the call of duty is his business. If it disturbs you to the point of explosion, stay away from the site of the dynamite. If there's any blasting to be done, it's your friend's place to do it. Don't you set the fuse!

Dear M. & M.:

I don't feel sorry for women who admire another's outward appearance but don't have the initiative or stamina to improve their's. Your neighbor is actually doing you a favor by "looking good". Waste no more time. See a doctor. You may have a lot to lose . . . but much more to gain!

Veterans' Day

Veterans Day, November 11. Once again we celebrate an observance of significance to all Americans, and honor the memory of veterans of all wars.

We should reaffirm our pledge not to forget the dead who have served this great Nation. Their contributions can never be forgotten. And may the citizens of America remember the sacrifices and contributions of all living veterans who conducted themselves with gallantry and courage in wartime to preserve our heritage of freedom, and further that we pay tribute to those valiant soldiers who are still striving to attain the ultimate goal of world peace.

In the last week, fifteen thousand servicemen and women have become veterans, swelling the number of living veterans we honor today to more than twenty six million.

Have you ever counted up to twenty six million? Of course not. Undoubtedly, no human being has. Someone has estimated it would take twenty six weeks of eight-hour counting days, and no coffee breaks or weekends off, just to count to twenty six million.

Then how do you honor twenty six million veterans? Obviously not individually, much as we might like to salute each veteran personally, from the youngest veteran of Vietnam to the oldest campaigner of the Spanish American War, and give him our share of the nation's gratitude for patriotic services rendered.

We must never allow the figure of twenty six million living veterans to become commonplace.

Since we can never hope to meet and greet that many individuals, individually, let us study other ways of coming closer to them.

Our veterans live in all the 50 states and the District of Columbia. 130-thousand live in outlying areas of the United States: in Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Guam, . . . and in the Philippines. 41-thousand veterans live in other countries.

Three out of four of our veterans live in cities or suburban areas. One out of five lives in a rural, nonfarm area. One out of twenty lives on a farm.

With their families and dependents, veterans make up about half our national population.

If public concern expresses the heart of our democracy, how much more so do our veterans themselves? In all, since our founding days, some thirty eight million men and women have participated in our national conflicts, through September 30, 1966. A million and two thousand of them made the supreme sacrifice. The twenty six million we salute today remain the living symbol of the life pulse of our democracy.

To them, in the name of all who served, we can today stretch out the hand of gratitude. . . and we do that today.

And since all battles for freedom are in a sense the same battle we say thanks for Lexington and Concord. . . for Bunker Hill, for Valley Forge. . .

. . . San Juan Hill. . .

. . . Verdun. . . the Argonne Forest. . . Chateau-Thierry. . .

. . . Belleau Wood. . .

. . . Corregidor. . . Guadalcanal. . . the Coral Sea. . .

. . . Tarawa. . .

. . . Saipan. . . Anzio Beach, Cassino, the Bulge. . .

. . . for Inchon Landing. . . Pork Chop Hill. . . Heartbreak Ridge and Hill 409. . .

. . . for the fighting in the everlasting name of freedom, in Vietnamese rice paddies without names. . .

Our very democracy pulses with the stout hearts of the veterans who fought that it might endure. We owe them far more than this Day of tribute. We owe them this day, which we ourselves are living, and enjoying!

There is no typical veteran. He is a young man who perhaps has not voted yet, just back from his tour of duty in Vietnam. Or he is in his upper eighties, sitting on the front porch, dreaming of long ago gas lights and horse drawn carriages. He is a World War One veteran, citizen - extraordinary now retired.

He is a doctor, lawyer, engineer, merchant, salesman, policeman, statesman, mechanic, farmer, construction superintendent, teacher, social worker, barber. He is President of the United States, member of Congress, Supreme Court Justice. He delivers your mail and paints your house. He lives, as we have seen, in the East, the West, the North, the South.

Our veterans are preparing themselves for ever greater responsibility. . . on scores of civil life fronts. They are making their young but experienced voices felt in the deliberations of great national veterans' organizations. . . demanding peace with honor and a stronger America, too. They will yet see to it, I have confidence, that their fallen brother, of every conflict, shall not have died in vain. . . that their comrades among the twenty six million shall not have lived in vain.

Together, young and old, veterans are the stout heart of our democracy. Their hearts beat with the pulse of freedom fought for and maintained. They are very special citizens indeed.

Rural Revival

Guest Editorial

Cities will break down without rural-urban balance. That's the latest offering from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, lately become a public relations bureau cranking out multiple advantages of country life.

Freeman's most recent pitch was made at a symposium sponsored by the American Institute of Planners. He took sharp issue with what he termed the "urbanist school that believes the megalopolis is the wave of the future, with the countryside preserved as a kind of huge national park where urbanites rest their nerves before plunging once again into the maelstrom of the city."

"The future of American cities as workable environments fit for men to live in will depend in great part on the economic and social progress made in the small growth centers and towns and on the farms of the nation's rural areas," Freeman reminded. "We pride ourselves in America on the options and alternatives people have as consumers and as workers," Freeman continued.

"Let's work toward a pluralistic society in the realm of environment also. Let's give people a choice not only of the house they live in but also whether it be in the inner city, the suburb or the small town and rural community."

The choice will become possible, Freeman says, only when we exert as much imagination and effort to build progressive and workable town-country nonmetropolitan regions as we now invest in the big city and its sprawling suburbs.

Four requirements for rural region development were wisely enumerated by Freeman:

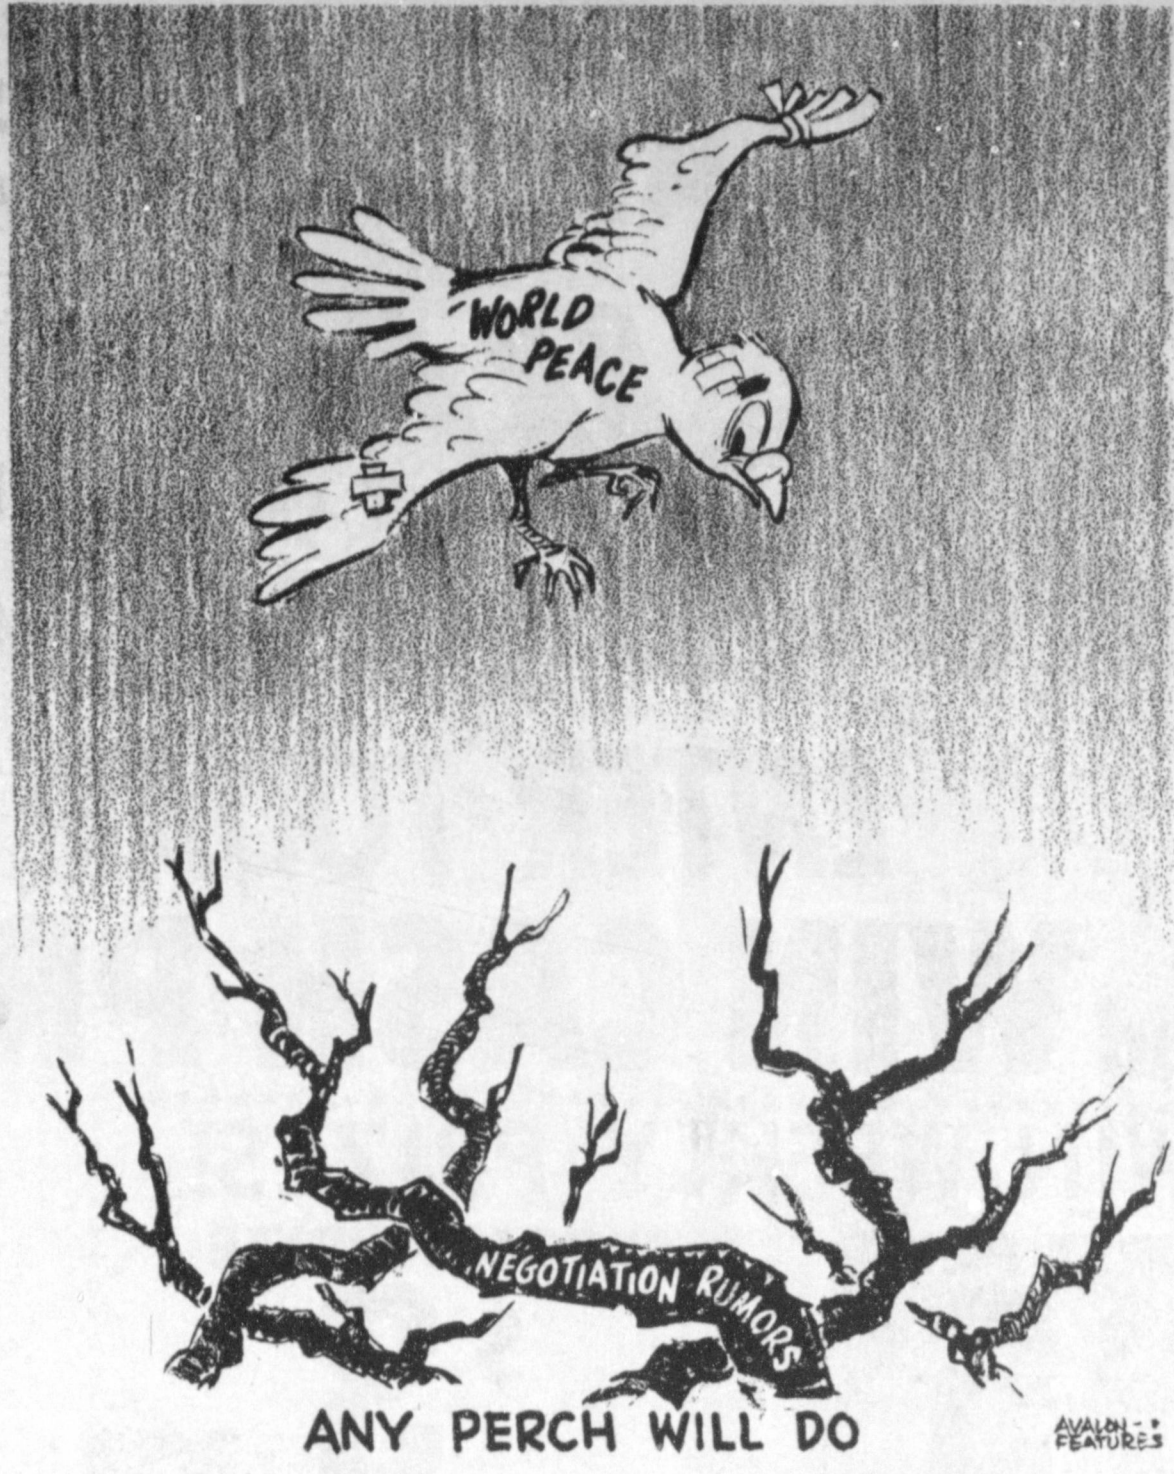

- Manufacturing and service jobs in the growth centers.
- Housing programs tailored to the small community.
- A larger investment in public services.
- Greatly improved public administration and planning.

Freeman's concern reminds us of the United States envisioned by Thomas Jefferson.

Jefferson saw the nation of small, independent farmers. He believed that those "who labor in the earth are the chosen people of God, if ever He had a chosen people, whose breasts He has made His peculiar deposit for substantial and genuine virtue."

The crystal ball used by Jefferson was cloudy. About 70 percent of the nation's nearly 200 million people live in cities and towns. And the farm population has dwindled to about 12 million and is declining by four per cent annually.

A Snort At Home

A 200-page government-sponsored report recommends a national policy which would promote drinking in a family setting. The National Institute of Mental Health sponsored the five-year study with a $1,000,000 grant.

The report, endorsed by the National Council of the Churches of Christ among other organizations, suggests a "total alcohol program" which would change American drinking patterns and help prevent development of problem drinkers. The Rev. Dr. Jon Regier, associate general of the Churches of Christ, said in supporting the report that any solution to today's alcoholic problems would tend to be "wet rather than dry" and said moderation rather than suppression was the path to progress. In brief, the report says education about alcohol in the home at an early age would not leave youngsters vulnerable to wrong or secret or unsound psychological drinking patterns that lead to excess and alcoholism.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is bound to be headed for trouble, if he's going to discuss women's fashions, as he does this week.

Dear editor: This is entirely out of my field, like a Congressman's voting to economize in his own district, but in a completely idle moment the other day I was flipping through the pages of a newspaper a man had handed me in Muleshoe the day before I think to get rid of me, and without realizing it got over into the woman's section and couldn't help noticing some of the current styles, which I understand are called mini-skirts. Like Dean Rusk when asked a question on a delicate phase of Viet Nam diplomacy, I have no opinion on this matter, but I got to thinking. Surely, I said, while everybody knows women will wear whatever the designers decide they should up to a certain point, what'd I'd like to know is can they be hornswoggled into buying mini-rain coats to match their mini-skirts? I'd no sooner thought of it than up jumped a fashion picture of a woman in a mini-rain coat. What in the world do they do when it rains, I wondered, stay half-wet? They thing was getting more preposterous. Then I looked again. You're not going to catch a fashion designer missing a sales area. The woman was wearing hip-boots.

The article under the picture explained what any clod-hopper should have guessed, the rain falls not only on the just and the unjust, but on the bottom half as well as the top half, and a mini-rain coat calls, if you want to be in the height of fashion and not half-wet, for hip-boots to match.

It's pretty hard to out-smart a woman, unless you're a fashion designer.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Only Then
"I would love to share your troubles," she cooed.
"But darling, I have none."
"Oh, I mean after we're married."

Weaver Speaks To Groups

Ted Weaver, candidate for the post of State Representative, spoke recently to the members of TSA MO GA Club in Plains. Weaver, a resident of Muleshoe, was introduced by Mrs. Alf Carpenter, club president and Mrs. Harry Cayce. His topic was the six amendments and the need to elect a Democrat. In his talk, Weaver expressed his belief that a Democrat could work on a team of 147 instead of three to obtain what this district needs and also explained the need for a full-time representative with legislative experience. The club which Weaver addressed meets twice monthly. In other activities, he spoke at South Plains Junior College in Levelland to the Young Democratic Organization and to the Whitharral Lions Club Thursday before returning to Muleshoe last Thursday for the "Womanless Wedding." Weaver attended the Whit-

Only Tank That Can Squat, Duck, Bow & Lean

This is the MBT-70, a revolutionary new Main Battle Tank designed and developed by the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany for production in the 1970s. The U.S. Army reports it can outrun, outshoot a and outmaneuver any known tank while at the same time providing unprecedented crew protection. Prototypes of the MBT are being fabricated by the Allison Division of General Motors, the U.S. contractor, at the Cleveland Army Tank-Automotive Plant. Representing the Federal Republic of Germany is the German Development Corporation. Unique features of the vehicle which can fire missiles as well as conventional ammunition include an air-conditioned capsule for the crew, a suspension system that can raise and lower the vehicle front and back or tilt it from side to side to conform to all types of terrain, a more powerful engine transmission combination, a more accurate fire control system, and greatly improved armor protection. Bill Voted Down Not Reserve Bill Cong. Price Says

A proposed strategic grain reserve bill which was voted down by an Agriculture Subcommittee this week was not, in fact, a reserve bill, according to Panhandle Congressman Bob Price.

Price, a member of the Live-stock and Grains Subcommittee that killed the Administration-backed bill, termed it "simply a device to further stabilize and manipulate the price farmers receive for their commodities."

"An amendment to the bill which would have prevented the release of any reserve stocks at less than 100 percent of parity was defeated," Price said.

"I supported that amendment which would have insulated government held stocks from the market and had a significant effect in raising market prices," Price said.

"The great majority of farmers are opposed to giving the Administration any further authority to manipulate market prices by 'dumping' surplus wheat and feed grains," Price said. "Rather the Secretary of Agriculture should act quickly to bolster presently depressed prices by using the authority he now has to establish CCC release prices at 100 percent of parity on unrestricted domestic sales of feed grains and soybeans plus carrying charges. Wheat should be released at not less than 100 percent of parity minus the value of domestic marketing certificates plus carrying charges."

Pilot Program For Students

The present and future opportunities of aviation will be demonstrated to the students of Muleshoe High School during an assembly program titled "In the Pilot's Seat" presented under the sponsorship of the Utility Airplane Council of Aerospace Industries Association.

A man and wife pilot team, Mr. and Mrs. Al Otto, will show films and discuss the operation of aircraft, career opportunities and the position of air transportation in the social and economic advancement of the students.

Otto served in the Air Force as a mechanic and crew chief and has been a pilot for 12 years.

The UAC is the association of manufacturers of airplanes and engines used in general aviation, the part of air transportation covered in the school program. General aviation is all civil flying except that of the airlines.

Joseph T. Geuting Jr., Manager of the UAC with headquarters in Washington, D.C., said the industry has undertaken the school presentations because "aviation is such an important part of the lives of young people that they should understand its full potential so that they may be prepared for it."

There are more than 50 times as many airplanes being operated today in general aviation as by all the scheduled airlines combined, Geuting said. More than 130,000 new pilots are expected to be trained this year.

A report by the Federal Aviation Administration indicates that the number of persons traveling inter-city by air in their own airplanes is about half the total number of passengers carried by all airlines combined. It further stated that when the many other uses of general aviation airplanes are taken into account - training flights, pipeline and powerline patrol, aerial application, fish spotting and similar careers, -- the number of persons using general aviation airplanes is about the same as those using the airlines.

Educators face a tremendous challenge, the UAC manager continued, in preparing today's students for the environment in which they will live. "As an industry we recognize the responsibility to aid these educators by sharing knowledge we have of a specific field." In addition to the tour by Mr. and Mrs. Otto, the UAC also has two additional programs covering other parts of the country. Approximately 1,200,000 students are expected to see the program during the 1967-68 school year.

Three Way

MRS. H. W. GARVIN

The Three Way Junior football boys played Whitharral Thursday night at Whitharral and won the game 8-0. Thursday night, the Three Way basketball girls played Pep at Pep, losing both games. Friday night the Three Way football boys played Cotton Center on the home field, winning the game. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dupler are the parents of a baby girl born Friday evening in Green Memorial Hospital in Muleshoe. The little girl was named Eugenia Ann and weighed five pounds and 10 ounces. She has a sister, Mary Jo, who is two years old. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eston Sowder of Muleshoe and Mrs. Minnie Dupler of Maple.

Mrs. Jack Hodnett and daughter were in Lubbock Friday. The community wishes to express its sympathy to Mrs. Don Lowe on the death of her father, O. F. Boykin. He passed away Wednesday in Fort Worth and was buried at Littlefield Saturday.

Mrs. E. A. Wright has returned home after a 12-day stay at West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe.

E. M. Lowe underwent surgery in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler and children from West Camp spent Saturday visiting his parents, the Johnnie Wheelers. George is helping his father pull cotton.

The grain harvest is still going strong in the community and cotton is starting to be pulled.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Powell and daughters spent Sunday afternoon in Levelland.

Betty Julian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Julian, a player on the Three Way girls basketball team, was injured in the game at Pep Thursday night at Pep. She was taken to a Littlefield hospital, kept overnight and released.

Three Way Lions club will meet November 13 in the school cafeteria. The ladies will serve a covered dish dinner. All members are invited to attend.

Dear Editor

The question is often asked, "Why should I pay more for a hospital room than I do for a hotel or Motel room?"

The answer is simple--people. A top-quality luxury hotel finds it needs fewer employees per bed; usually it's one employee for every five or six beds. In the case of hospitals, most have from two to three employees per bed and many of these are highly-trained and highly-skilled individuals.

At the same time, the hospital is paying more for its supplies just as the hotel and the homeowner are doing. For example, linen is up 10 percent over last year, food is up six percent, and medical, pharmaceutical and surgical supplies are 12 percent higher than a year ago.

Medical equipment being developed during this "explosion of technical knowledge" is another major contributor in increasing hospital costs. But could an administrator refuse to purchase a life-saving piece of equipment due to its cost?

The answer is "no" especially for the equipment in today's modern intensive care and coronary care units where lives are saved daily because doctors and nurses have the necessary equipment available when they need it.

Exemplary of today's costly equipment is an autoanalyzer worth more than $30,000 being added to many of the hospital's laboratories throughout the state. The machine performs 12 laboratory tests from a sample of the patient's blood and provides the physician with results never available at one time. And in most cases, the patients are receiving the tests for less than what 12 separate tests would cost.

This is only one example of how hospitals are trying to save the patient's money and at the same time give him the kind of care he deserves today -- 1967. Hospitals are in complete agreement with Mr. John G. Public who hates to see hospital costs on the rise and who wonders if hospitals are using any money-saving devices like industry.

The answer is "yes." Hospitals are conscious of their obligation to the public and through tighter management are doing their best. They are using such cost-saving ideas as disposable products, adding management and work simplification courses for its employees, making more volunteer-type work available, increasing the role of the computer and doing work measurement studies.

And what results can be found in today's increased hospital care? Just 20 years ago the death rate for newborn infants

QUEEN AND COURT--This is the queen and her escort of Muleshoe Junior High School Halloween carnival (center) surrounded by other candidates and their escorts. They are Marilyn Pool and John Bickel. was 63 out of every 1,000 births. Today the infant death rate is less than 25 out of 1,000. And the maternity death rate 20 years ago was one in every 165 deliveries; today it is only one in 2,000. The problem of hospital costs will not stop; but improvements in hospital care will continue and shorten the patient's hospital stay.

Top Authorities To Conduct Course On Fertilizer

Some of the top authorities in the field of education and research will discuss soil fertility and fertilizers at a Fertilizer Dealers Short Course to be conducted on the South Plains during November and December.

According to County Agricultural Agent, J. K. Adams, information on fertilizer needs for the area and pertinent research findings will be presented.

Featured speakers at the short course include Dr. Eugene A. Coleman, associate professor of agronomy, Texas Technological College; Dr. Arthur Onken, assistant professor of soils and fertility at the South Plains Research and Extension Center; and John Box and Jim Valentine, agronomist and area soil chemist, respectively, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Coleman will discuss nitrogen's role in crop production while Onken's presentation will center around phosphorus response and the reactions of phosphate materials in West Texas soils.

Information on soil-plant-water relationships as they affect production and response from fertilizer will be provided by Box.

Valentine's comments will concern how to diagnose nutrient deficiencies and a rundown of the secondary and micronutrient situation.

Schedule for the series of two meetings is as follows: Dimmitt, High School Cafeteria, November 13, 27; Plainview, Alcove Restaurant, November 14, 28; Levelland, Chat and Chew Cafe, November 16, 30; Lamesa, Forrest Park Community Center, November 17 and December 1.

Initial meetings at each location will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the second meeting starting at 6:30 p.m.

Adams encourages all fertilizer dealers, agency personnel, County Program Building Committee members, producers and other interested individuals to attend the short course at the nearest location. Registration fee is $5, adds Adams, and will be collected at the first meeting. The fee includes a notebook of the proceedings and a dinner at the final meeting.
