Christmas Parade Planned, Lights Turned On Dec. 1

Securing a Christmas tree from the mountains and the annual Christmas parade were the main topics of discussion at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Businessmen's Activities Committee.

The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 3 p.m. Saturday, December 2. All floats are to form the parade line-up at the Boy Scout grounds prior to this hour.

All service, school and church groups are encouraged to plan now to enter a float in the parade. Two divisions are being featured, fantasy and religion. Prizes will be given for three floats judged best in the division. First place winner will receive $100; second place $50 and third place $25.

R. A. Bradley, parade chairman, said "We have to have at least 35 floats in the parade this year. Not only Muleshoe, but surrounding groups in the trade area are urged to participate in the parade and festivities planned for this holiday season."

The parade is being planned for the entertainment of children throughout the area.

John Shelton said groundwork is being laid for obtaining another large tree. Last year, a tree was brought in from Cloudercroft, N. M. and placed at the Mule Memorial site with the assistance of a number of businesses, Southwestern Public Service, Bailey County Electric and many other firms and individuals.

The services of these organizations will also be needed this year to make this season the success it was last year.

A report was given on the "Womanless Wedding" and a total of $683 less expenses, which was approximately $20, was made on the wedding and will be applied to the expenses of the Christmas events and parade.

Plans are incomplete for the hours and days when Santa's Workshop will be open for the visits from the small fry.

Bradley said "any one group wishing to build a float for Santa to ride in the parade should contact him or the Chamber of Commerce."

The businessmen discussed the possibility of a Monument to the Mule replica, a mobile, versatile replica which will have to be built to specification.

Paxton Led Race For State Representative

Votes were canvassed during the Monday meeting of the County Commissioners.

Ted Weaver, Muleshoe's Democratic candidate for the office of State Representative to succeed Rep. Jesse T. George carried the vote weight in Bailey County in a three-man race but came in third in the District 75 election.

Eddie Paxton, Levelland Republican candidate, nosed out Democrat John J. Kendrick, Brownfield, leaving the run-off between these two candidates.

In Bailey County, Weaver received 332 votes with 10 of those being absentee votes; Paxton was second in the county with 226 votes and Kendrick received 70. Three of the Paxton votes were absentee.

By Precincts the voting was tabulated for Weaver in Precinct 1 at 182; Precinct 1-A, 86; West Camp, 6; Mays, 7; Three Way, 5; Bula 23 and Needmore, 13.

Paxton received 119 votes in Precinct 1; 55 in Precinct 1-A; West Camp, 30; Mays, 5; Three Way, 5; Bula 2 and Needmore 7. Kendrick carried a lighter vote in the county with 35 votes in Precinct 1; 8 in Precinct 1-A; West Camp, 5; Mays, 1; Three Way, 9; Bula 11 and Needmore, 1.

Paxton received the total tabulation of 1,812 followed by John Kendrick with 1,737 and Weaver 1,085.

The 75-district is comprised of Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties. With the coming election, the district will change and Bailey county will again go into the district which Billy Clayton is representative.

Two of the six amendments failed to carry in Bailey County, however, were carried in the over-all voting. They were amendments five and six. Amendment five called for the amendment to the constitution of Texas adding a new section to be known as Section 49-e of Article III, authorizing the issuance and sale of $75,000,000 in bonds by the State of Texas to create the Texas Park Development Fund to acquire to advertise the city of Muleshoe at such places as the Cotton Bowl, Rose Bowl and other places where large crowds gather.

In explanation of this, Lindell Murray said the specifications for the replica to be placed in such places are strict and would have to be constructed in a manner where it could be dressed with cotton for the Cotton Bowl, roses for the Rose Bowl and things of various nature to fit with the theme where it would be shown to represent this city. Any ideas along these lines which might be helpful are welcomed by members of the Business committee.

The cost of the replica is expected to be high and funds would have to be raised through community unity for the building of it. However, businessmen feel that for promotion purpose, it would be well worth the investment.

Civic groups are also considering obtaining a replica of

Pilot Team Present Program, Compliments MHS Students

A man and wife pilot team, Mr. and Mrs. Al Otto, presented a program on the present and future opportunities of aviation to students of Muleshoe High School Monday.

The program entitled, "In the Pilot's Seat" was demonstrated by demonstrations and the showing of films. It was presented under the sponsorship of the Utility Airplane Council of Aerospace Industries Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto were highly complimentary of the behavior of the Muleshoe High School students during the program. Morgan Locker, Muleshoe Municipal airport manager said the couple talked at length during their visit at the airport after flying in to make the talk concerning the impression high school students made with their attentiveness and conduct going into the auditorium.

Otto served in the Air Force as a mechanic and crew chief and has been a pilot for 12 years.

The UAC is the association of manufacturers of airplanes and engines used in general aviation, the part of air transportation covered in the school program. General aviation is all civil flying except that of the airlines.

Joseph T. Geuting Jr., Manager of the UAC with headquarters in Washington, D. C., said the industry has undertaken the school presentations because "aviation is such an important part of the lives of young people that they should understand its full potential so that they may be prepared for it."

Educators face a tremendous challenge, the UAC manager continued, in preparing today's students for the environment in which they will live. "As an industry we recognize the responsibility to aid these educators by sharing knowledge we have of a specific field." In addition to the tour by Mr. and Mrs. Otto, the UAC also has two additional programs covering other parts of the country. Approximately 1,200,000 students are expected to see the program during the 1967-68 school year.

In Fashion

Skin shoes are in this season not dyed skins at that! Patent shoes in brown and other colors.

Fancy hose are still in the picture, and the weaves can be unusual when worn with sport clothes.

Pastel shades of wool are smart this season. A light weight cape suit in blue is lined with white and can be worn on either side.

Hats of felt with a mannish look are good.

- 1/2 Tablespoons all purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 3/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 2 Tablespoons butter

METHOD:

Line pan with pastry. Place apples in pie crust. Mix granulated sugar, spices, and flour and sprinkle over apples. Sprinkle on brown sugar, dot with butter on top. Place top crust over all this folding it under bottom crust. Bake in 450 degree oven for 40 or 50 minutes or until golden brown.

C. R. ANTHONY
The story of the C. R. Anthony Company is in effect the story of a free America. It is the story of that man, Charles Ross Anthony, a Tennessee farm boy who was orphaned at 13 and had to set out to make his own way. Anthony's parents were Tennessee tenant farmers. When he was but seven years old, he was chopping and picking cotton. At thirteen, orphaned, he was grubbing sassafras and splitting rails to earn money. When he finally accumulated $24 he rode the Home Seekers Special to Indian Territory (what is now Holdenville, Okla.) arriving there with a nickel in his home-spun jeans. He needed a job and applied at a general store owned and operated by a widow, Anthony, a born salesman, sold himself to her and it was there he apprenticed in the mercantile business. When the widow decided to sell the business, she wanted him to buy it. With a little cash and a $6,000 bank loan, C. R. Anthony, at eighteen, was in business for himself. The first year he cleared his indebtedness, but the next year the floods came and he was nearly wiped out when he granted credit until the financial strain was too great. He didn't go bankrupt, but barely got out with his shirt. Through the years he tried various jobs, but was determined to someday return to the mercantile business. It was forty-six years ago this year that this goal was realized and the first C. R. Anthony store was opened in Cushing, Okla. This was the beginning of what is now a chain of 302 stores located in 21 states and employing more than 3400 people. The principles upon which C. R. Anthony established all of these stores was to give everyday thrifty prices, dependable high quality, fashion's newest styles and friendly courteous service to all customers. To pay tribute to this man who has spent his lifetime building and helping others, the entire Anthony chain decided the best way would be to have a special Founder's Day Sell-a-bration based upon the principles that are so strongly adhered to by C. R. Anthony. And so beginning at 6 p.m.,

Friday evening, November 17, the local store will be open to give the public an opportunity to have a cup of coffee and join us in honoring our founder and the 46th anniversary of the C. R. Anthony Company.

Water Depletion Tax Claim Report

Recent information from the Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, revealed that they had processed 6,218 amended water depletion tax claims for the years 1962, 1963 and 1964. A total of $1,400,000 was refunded from these claims. The 1965 and 1966 water depletion claims were handled in a routine fashion, similar to the depreciation schedule allowed for tractors and other farm machinery. Revenue officials estimated that there were between 5,000 and 5,500 individual claims made for the years 1965 and 1966, which resulted in refunds of $1,000,000 to $1,200,000 per year to farmers filing these claims.

OF THE GREAT MULESHOE SCHOOLS

Editorials

Riot News

The Justice Department revealed recently it was studying news coverage given riots in American cities in recent months in an effort to learn what effect news coverage had on the disturbances.

There have been suggestions news media should withhold news of riots, in some cases, until police gain control of the situation to prevent the curious and troublemakers from converging on the affected area before order is restored.

Several American cities already have "news moratorium" plans for crisis worked out in detail, for such reasons. The plans depend upon the voluntary cooperation of the press and it is said news media in Detroit delayed reporting the beginning of the Detroit riots recently in an effort to help police.

Certainly the police need all the help they can get these days. While it's true not every law enforcement officer is a restrained diplomat, who makes no mistakes, by and large the nation is served well by its law enforcement officers - who are often poorly paid.

The country cannot achieve permanent progress through rioting, lawlessness and mob action. The lesson all citizens must somehow learn is that law and order must be maintained, that it constitutes greater protection for minorities than anyone else. Officers of the law, who must maintain that order, need every form of assistance fellow Americans can give them.

Bridge that gap

Guest Editorial

That "credibility gap" seems a phenomenon not merely the White House but of politics in general and Washington in particular - and it appears even in London.

Overseas Lord Chalfont recently suggested, in an off-record session, that Britain might have to withdraw from Berlin or Germany or NATO, if it didn't get into the Common Market. When outcry arose, Prime Minister Wilson assured that "most of" the points attributed to Lord Chalfont came actually from the press itself.

And in political America? Republican candidate Romney remarked "what a phony!" in commenting on President Johnson's economy strategy. Later he insisted that the word "phony" referred to the administration's budget, not the President.

Later California's Governor Reagan denied to newsmen that he had discharged two staff members as homosexuals and that his press secretary, Lyn Nofziger, had given out such a story. Subsequently it became clear that Mr. Nofziger had indeed given out this story, apparently because one discharged individual was still passing himself off as influential in the Reagan camp.

And as for New York's Governor Rockefeller, he is saying that he is not at all interested in the presidency. Political reporters somewhat doubt this protestation.

Adding up the American record, Alan Otten of the Wall Street Journal suggests that some Congressmen could make a name for himself by sponsoring a "truth-in-politics" bill. These are complex times, and people speak inaccurately and off-the-cuff. But truth and credibility are as essential in politics as elsewhere in life.

"IS IT TRUE ALL TEXANS HAVE A BIG HEART?"

Drawbacks REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Guest Editorial

We have no sympathy for young men who burn their draft cards or, by unlawful conduct, seek to disrupt the business of Selective Service offices.

However, there are serious objections to the policy outlined by Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis B. Hershey to draft antiwar protestors who violate draft laws or disrupt the drafting process.

First there is the objection on legalistic grounds that such would substitute draft boards for courts of law, since some cases would continue judgment of the legality or illegality of certain actions. This might threaten court action against the entire Selective Service system.

But there is a further objection: By equating the draft with punishment for illegal acts, would we not be doing an injustice to the thousands of brave men serving with distinction in our armed forces?

The draft is not punishment, nor should it be considered such. It is a means the country has adopted for filling the ranks of its armed services in order to defend ourselves and our allies. Certainly we should not allow the slightest stigma to be attached to inductees, nor burden the army with impressed soldier of dubious value.

Washington, D.C.--Michigan's George Romney keeps plugging away in speech after speech, traveling the length of the country, to further his cause. Yet not yet has he caught the imagination of enough voters to become the C.O.P. favorite.

His recent meeting with the 1964 nominee, Barry Goldwater, was a "must" for the Michigan Governor. He had refused to support Goldwater in 1964 and this cost him support among conservatives, even some not so conservative who feel strongly on the party loyalty issue.

Romney's supporters have acknowledged for some time that he had three highly sensitive hurdles to overcome in his nomination bid--the "native-born" constitutional requirement for Presidents (he was born in Mexico), the Mormon priest and 1964 anti-Goldwater issues. They think he overcame the Goldwater issue with his recent Arizona meeting.

Goldwater was gracious and friendly and said--even though noting he supported Richard Nixon--he found little in Romney's position to disagree with him on. That was as much as Romney's camp could expect. The Romney entourage thus thinks their man has scaled the "native-born" and Goldwater barriers. The Mormon priest issue is not taken too seriously. Based on the church barring Negroes from higher office, it's said Romney's political record is clear enough on the race issue and that he, like John Kennedy before him, cannot be responsible for his church, or rules and orders of its governing bodies.

With all that said, Romney is still facing an undertaking. He must convince Republican delegates he would poll a massive vote across the nation. But as of right now the majority of delegates, and perhaps of Republicans, incline toward the 1960 nominee, who almost beat Jack Kennedy--Richard Nixon. That seems to leave Romney squarely up against a make-or-break situation in next spring's primaries.

And if neither Ronald Reagan nor Nelson Rockefeller should upset the applecart, the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries appear to be the decisive tests for him. If beaten handily in these states by Nixon, such a turn might well set off a migration of backers to Regan, or even Rockefeller.

In a sense, Romney and Nixon are alike in that they both promise, potentially, to unite the party, to draw support from both extremes. Regan would frighten certain liberals and Rockefeller some conservatives. Thus there is a logical factor working for the Michigan Governor, which also makes him the man Nixon must defeat. This factor also being one of Nixon's key assets.

Statesmanship

Guest Editorial

How can national leaders deal with those who claim the privilege of breaking laws they don't agree with? How can they handle the advocates of violence and treason that now roam free? Washington should take its cue from Gov. John Connally who laid it on the line in a recent speech.

"Those who would attempt to foment revolution," he said, "are doing a great disservice to our state and to the nation. I feel I have an obligation to speak out against those who would breed distrust. Each of us has a responsibility to speak out - to lift the vision of the decades ahead and make it clear that progress will be made in the framework of the Constitution and law and order.

"Coddling criminals and condoning lawbreaking in the name of social justice is an outrage and an injustice to this democracy."

Frankness is not thought by many to be smart politics. An unwillingness to cater to organized minority groups coupled with an expressed high regard for the silent (and often nonvoting) majority, cannot be considered political finesse in these days of bloc voting.

But each of these qualities is necessary for statesmanship. The nation would benefit if some of the blunt truths expressed by Gov. Connally were heard more often from Washington and from 49 other governors.

Bill Introduced To Protect Citizen Privacy

WASHINGTON--In an effort to protect the privacy of the individual, Congressman Bob Price introduced a bill, Thursday, designed to limit the categories of questions required to be answered in the 1970 census to seven. These would include name and address, relationship to head of the household, sex, date of birth, race or color, marital status, and visitors in the home of each individual.

Price commented that under existing regulations, the Census Bureau can ask you anything it wishes about yourself and will require you to answer it under penalty of existing law. If a person refuses to submit to these interrogations, it may cost him as much as $100 in fines or possibly 60 days in jail.

"The Census questionnaire has grown from a simple five questions to fifty, far beyond the number necessary for the constitutional requirements of enumeration for Congressional redistricting," Price said. "The Congress has allowed this number to increase over the years and I think that it is time to draw a line between the permissible and the mandatory. Should the Bureau feel that it does need additional information, they may ask for it on a voluntary basis, but the individual should not be penalized by law for refusing to allow his privacy to be invaded."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm declines to worry about a new problem, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: Some people never can seem to get enough things to worry about.

For instance, I read in a newspaper I found wrapped around a fresh batch of tins cans somebody threw in the ditch alongside the road by my house yesterday that space scientists are now worried about contaminating other planets. They said "an earthy space probe sent to a planet such as Mars could contain within it enough biological organisms to contaminate an entire world," and consequently they are studying ways to sterilize all their spacecraft.

I have thought this over and while it beats worrying over Vietnam and next month's bills, I can't seem to get steamed up over it, although I can see how it could lead to some weighty problems.

For example, say we're going to colonize the moon. Who would decide which insects and which germs we ought to haul up there? If we decided none should be brought in, how long would you have to boil an astronaut before you could call him germ-free?

By the time Congress got through debating what would be a fair proportion of white to red corpuscles we ought to put on the moon, not to mention good insects like ladybugs, Russia would already have the moon settled and owe as much money as the rest of us.

Come to think of it, and while this might not be very scientific, I can get a certain amount of fun out of the idea of shipping say a batch of mosquitoes to the moon and imagining them flying around in circles on that barren wasteland trying to find somebody to bite. Or gnats, or flies, or chiggers, or a bad cold virus. You can figure out your own list during the half at Sunday's football game.

On the other hand, I understand the Russian probe of Venus has discovered that the temperature there is over 500 degrees, hot enough to melt metal. That's the place to colonize. Wouldn't have to sterilize anything, although you might have trouble eating, what with your fork melting in your hand every time you lifted a bite.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Bula Homecoming Spoiled By Eagles

At the Bula school, the sign over Superintendent Marion McDaniel's door reads "Welcome to Bula land, the closest place to Heaven on earth. When you dwell in Bula land, you have one foot in Heaven. . . the other on good Texas terra firma." Saturday, November 11, was homecoming for Ex-students and teachers of the Bula school and that image was spoiled just a little by the Three Way Eagles who won the homecoming football game with a score of 57-0.

Festivities got under way at 3 p.m. with the homecoming program in the Bula High School auditorium. Dennis Newton, student council president, presented an award to Mrs. Earl (Susie Jones) Shields of Lelia Lake for traveling the farthest for homecoming. County Commissioner R. P. McCall, commissioner of Precinct Four, who graduated in 1934 from Bula High School was present for the homecoming activities.

At 4 p.m., the business meeting was conducted by Robert Claunch, president of the Bula Ex-students. Mrs. Earl Shields was elected ex-sweetheart. A 4:30 pep rally was well-attended by past and present students of Bula as was the barbecue dinner at 5 p.m. in the cafeteria. More than 150 people were served at the dinner.

The Bula school presently has 139 students enrolled; when it was established in 1927, there were nearly a hundred students enrolled for the first year.

At 7:15 p.m., just preceding the Bula Bulldog-Three Way Eagle football game, the homecoming queen was crowned on the football field. Barbara Clawson was named as 1967-68 homecoming queen and she was escorted by Dennis Newton.

Other candidates were Joyce Sowder who was escorted by Rodney Claunch; Linda McCamish who was escorted by Mike Richardson and Sheryl Medlin.

whose escort was Tom Newton. The four candidates for homecoming queen are all Bula cheerleaders and all are seniors. The escorts for the queen candidates are all members of the Bula Bulldog football team.

The convertible used to convey the queen candidates to and from the field was furnished by Tommy Lemons of Muleshoe.

Before two minutes had gone by in the game Shorty Hale plunged over the goal line to score for the first time for the Three Way Eagles. Monte Toombs raced around the end to add two points and make it a fast 8-0.

The Bulldogs came back and worked their way deep into the Eagle's territory before losing the ball to the Eagles on downs. The next Eagle tally came on a seven-yard pass from Bruce Pruitt to Monte Toombs. A conversion run added two more points and the score was 16-0. A long pass from Bruce Pruitt to Lindell Williams put the next Three Way tally on the board. The PAT was good and the score was 24-0.

The ill-fated Bulldogs again lost the ball to the Eagles who took advantage and scored again shortly when Bruce Pruitt threw a pass to Mike Roberts who dashed 25 yards for the fourth Eagle touchdown. Lindell Williams ran the extra point and the score was 32-0.

A Bula pass from Mike Richardson and intended for Mitchell Autry was intercepted by Eagle Bruce Pruitt. Pruitt passed to Monte Toombs who dashed downfield and scored after a 60-yard run. The PAT attempt failed, and the score at half-time was 38-0.

Three Way scored again early in the second half when Monte Toombs slipped quickly to his left and into the end zone. The conversion attempt failed and the tally was 44-0.

The young, inexperienced Bula Bulldogs fought back, but to no avail. The ball went back to the Eagles who added points to points when Ronnie Ferguson pushed his way into the end zone from the one-yard line. Mike Richardson blocked Lindell Williams' kick for extra point and a score of 50-0 was posted.

The Bulldogs didn't give up against the hard-hitting Eagles and fought long and hard to keep the pigskin in their possession and maintained a good defense against the Eagles in the closing minutes of the game.

Charlie Abbe made the last touchdown of the evening for the Eagles on a long run down the field. Lindell Williams kicked the extra point and the game ended with the score 57-0.

As the dejected Bulldogs walked off the field to their dressing room, it was noted that most of them walked over to the victorious Eagles and held out their hand in a gesture of sportsmanship.

Unfavorable Weather Slows Cotton Harvest

The South Plains cotton harvest continued to gain momentum early last week but was slowed by the unfavorable weather during the middle of the week, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

Samples received at the Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa Offices had reached a seasonal high of 10,000 daily when the rain and fog slowed harvesting operation.

Despite the unfavorable weather conditions, volume of samples classed was still the highest for any week this season. The three South Plains classing offices classed 50,000 samples during the week ending Friday, November 10, bringing the season's total to 101,000. This year's harvest is now behind the pace of the 1966 harvest. Through November 10 of last year, 144,000 samples of the 1966 crop had been classed.

Cotton received at the Lubbock Office last week was slightly lower in quality than during the previous week.

Strict Low Middling was the predominant grade and made up 57 percent of the total classed. Middling made up 16 percent, Middling Light Spotted 14 percent and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted six percent.

Average staple length declined slightly. Average staple during the week was 32.1 thirty-seconds, compared to 32.8 thirty-seconds the previous week.

Forty-six percent of the cotton classed at Lubbock last week stapled one inch and longer, compared to 51 percent the previous week. The Lubbock Office continued to receive cotton having excellent staple, and 16 percent of all cotton classed last week had staples of 1-1/8 and longer.

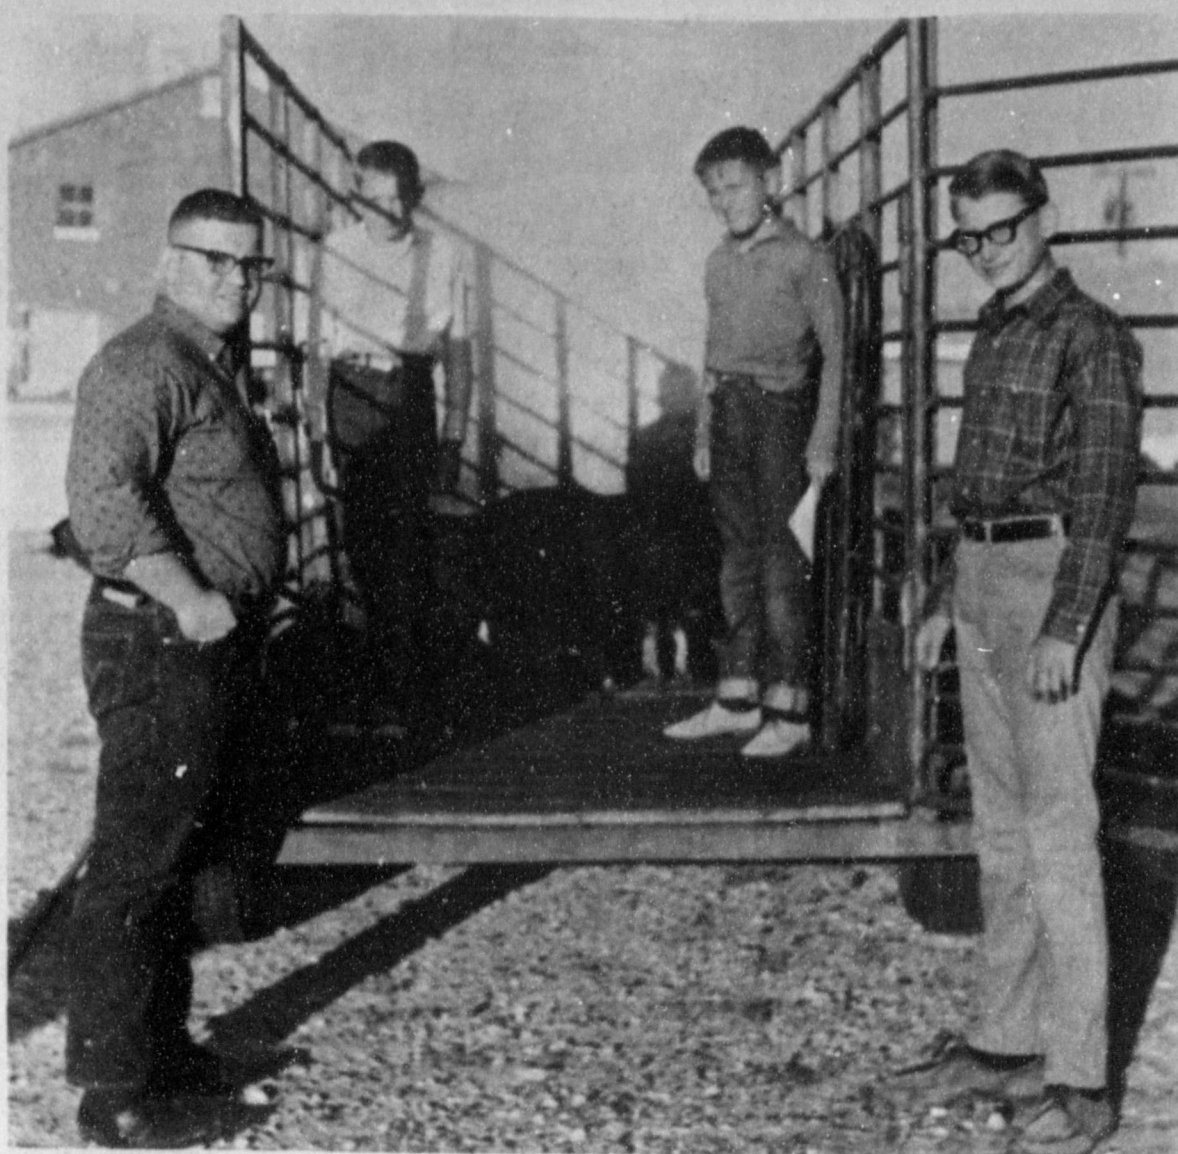

Micronaire continued to decline slightly. Sixty-six percent of the cotton classed at Lubbock last week was in the desirable category of 3.5 and better. The previous week 71 percent was in this category.

Fifty-six percent of the cotton classed at Lubbock last week had Pressley ratings of 80,000 pounds and higher, compared to 64 percent the previous week. Pressley is an indication of fiber strength and the most desirable Pressley reading is 80,000 pounds and above.

Trading increased in the new crop cotton on the Lubbock market and prices were $5 to $10 per bale higher.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Middling 15/16 - 19.80; Middling 31/32 - 21.15; Middling 1-1/8 - 23.60; Middling 1-1/8 - 37.50; Strict Low Middling 15/16 - 18.80; Strict Low Middling 31/32 - 19.45; Strict Low Middling 1-1/8 - 21.60; Strict Low Middling 1-1/8 - 35.30; Middling Light Spotted 15/16 - 18.95 and Middling Light Spotted 31/32 - 19.70.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $50 to $57 per ton.

WINNERS--Four young men were winners of the Sears pigs to be show pigs. They were presented by County Agent J. K. Adams. The boys who will be caring for them are Benny Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Floyd; David Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Watson; Dennis Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Newton and Bryan Brady III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brady.

Some Grain Sorghum Better For Sheep Feed

WASHINGTON, D. C.--Grain sorghum yield increases ranging from 10 to 30 percent have resulted from narrow row and double row spacings in recent trials conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The project was described by M. J. Norris of the Livestock and Forage Research Center near McGregor, a speaker during the annual meetings of the American Society of Agronomy, Soil Science Society of America and the Crop Science Society of America on November 5-10 in Washington, D. C.

Norris, an agronomist at the center, said there were no important differences in grain sorghum yields due to planting rates, but there were highly significant differences due to row spacing.

"Narrow rows and double rows resulted in grain yield increases ranging from 10 to 30 percent," he said.

Row spacings of 10, 20 and 40 inches at planting rates of four, six, eight and 10 pounds per acre were used with grain sorghum during a three-year period. Other row spacing experiments were made using a uniform planting rate of seven pounds per acre, including comparisons of single rows on lister beds 40 inches apart; double rows spaced 12 inches on lister beds spaced 40 inches apart; and grain sown on a flat seed bed with a grain drill spacing of 14 inches between drill openings.

Norris said the work was done on dryland, upland soils of the Grand Prairie near McGregor.

Representative Mahon Predicts Reduction Of Budget By Congress

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL--November 16, 1967--Representative George Mahon predicted today that Congress at this session will reduce the President's request for funds in excess of six billion dollars.

Mahon reported that the present Congress has devoted a great majority of its time to the battle of the budget. In his capacity as Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Mahon has been in the thick of the spending battle since the President submitted his budget in January.

He pointed out that during the past two years Congress has approved many new and expensive programs--too many according to Mahon. He thinks the present Congress deserves credit rather than criticism for its decision not to embark on extensive additional ventures in government programs.

A number of programs have been renewed and some have been expanded, but on the whole Mahon feels this Congress can be characterized as an appropriations Congress.

Appropriations approved by the Congress this fiscal year will be less than were provided last fiscal year. This is good, Mahon indicated, but he cautioned that spending will be higher than last year. This results from the current expenditure of large carryover funds for the war in Vietnam.

Buford Narramore Gets Promotion

FT. HOOD--Buford A. Narramore, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie A. Narramore, Sudan, was promoted to Army sergeant October 21 at Ft. Hood, where he is serving with Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison, Troop, a custodian of classified documents.

His wife, Nancy, lives in Killen.

"I'm sorry, madam," said the attendant at the movie. "but you can't take the dog into the theater."

"How absurd," protested the woman. "What harm can pictures do a little dog like this?"

MF 57 Mounted Plow
The 3-and 4-bottom reversible Plow for irrigation and contour farming.

This efficient reversible plow can turn three or four, 16' or 18" furrows every trip through the field. Reverse the bottoms at the end of the field and go back in the same furrow. Leave the field without dead furrows. Mount it on the 3-point hitch of your Massey-Ferguson tractor for fuel and time saving automatic draft control. MF 57 is a high clearance plow with excellent vertical and fore-and-aft clearance. That means smooth trash flow. Plow 6" to 16" deep. Hydraulic cylinder reverses the plow at the end of the field. This is ideal for irrigation farming. Throw soil the same direction on contoured or hillside fields. Make sharp, fast turns even on narrow headlands. Reduce time loss.

Lifts high for transport
This fully-mounted plow lifts high on the 3-point hitch for turns at the end of the field or for transport. Here's the only mounted reversible plow which can be used with a Rapid Coupler for easiest, safest, on-the-seat hook-up.

Sealed bearing coulters
Single arm coulters reduces trash interference. Rolls on sealed tapered roller bearings—lubricate once a season. Plain or rippled discs. There's plenty of space to use 17", 18", or 20" coulters, and each one is adjusted individually.

High trash clearance
Dirt and trash don't pile up in this plow. Vertical clearance of 28 1/2" invites smooth flow. There's 24" fore-and-aft clearance with forward sweep design of the beams.

Hydraulic power reverses plow
Standard 8" stroke double-acting cylinder rotates the beams and bottoms. Hydraulic hitch lifts plow, then rotation takes only seconds.

Built to plow deep
There's strength and clearance to go down as deep as 16".

TCA Set Vocational Rehabilitation Course

AUSTIN--"Cooperative Approach to Alcoholism," a conference to be presented by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, November 26-29, in the Gondolier Hotel in Austin, will be an orientation base for the newest Texas development in follow-up care of treated alcoholics.

Until now, the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, Texas Department of Mental Health, Mental Retardation, and local councils on alcoholism have been able to provide or secure hospital and clinic care for victims of chronic or acute alcoholism.

But their hands were tied when it came to follow-up assistance once the alcoholic was discharged. The hope that the discharged patient would answer letters inquiring about the success of his, or her, rehabilitation was usually the sole link to the "recovered" alcoholic.

And in many cases, the "recovery" was only temporary. If readmitted, the patient's condition was found to have been aggravated by frustrations in employment seeking or similar attempts to readjust to his environment.

Late last summer, the Commission on Alcoholism and Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation entered a unique contract with the Texas Education Agency's Vocational Rehabilitation Department, which became effective September 1. "Unique," that is, for the State of Texas, which became with the contract signing one of the 12 states that offers this type of "continuing care" for the alcoholic.

Commission on Alcoholism counselors working in alcoholic sections of state mental hospitals qualified as "vocational rehabilitation specialists," under the contract, which also provides for follow-up work by T.E.A. vocational rehabilitation counselors stationed in 90 Texas cities.

The "Cooperative Approach to Alcoholism" will feature talks by T.C.A. Executive Director Macon W. Freeman; State Director of Vocational Rehabilitation Doyle Wheeler; State MH-MR Director of Hospital Development Dr. Gary Miller, and Dr. Melvin Sikes, clinical psychologist for the Veterans Administration Hospital, Houston.

But cooperating agency planners are keeping formal discussions down to a minimum in this seminar for T.C.A. counselors, Vocational Rehabilitation counselors and executive directors of the 20 local councils on alcoholism throughout the state, and representatives of several state agencies who meet the effects of alcoholism in their work.

"The people coming to the conference are coming to learn what they know to be a vitally-needed approach to alcoholism rehabilitation," explains R. E. Hendrix, Education Director for the Commission on Alcoholism.

"We don't want to waste a minute of time. We want them to have a chance to discuss their problems and air their feelings about rehabilitation techniques while they have all the 'experts' right at hand," Hendrix said.

The conference will begin at 6 p.m., November 26.

ON RELATIVE HIRING

The House has taken a step to halt the oft-criticized practice of federal officials hiring relatives. Representative Neal Smith has a chance of victory after a six-year fight. This would include all three branches of the government including Congress.

Supply Needed Information To VA Offices

Some people who get the fastest replies from the Veterans Administration may be disappointed, according to Jack Coker, Manager of the Waco VA Regional Office.

Coker said that his office receives an average of 500 letters per month that can't be answered fully because the writer failed to include enough identifying information.

To deal with the problem, Coker said that his office will endeavor to get the needed information by sending a form letter to the letterwriter, specifying the details needed to act on the original request.

A blank form is included in the VA letter so that the letterwriter can give VA such information as: name of veteran, service number, social security number, dates of service, date of birth, branch of service, and VA file number, if the veteran has been assigned one.

Coker explained that VA maintains more than 30 million individual case files, thousands with the same name. So that each can be located quickly when needed, a number has been assigned to each file. Once the veteran or other beneficiary of VA benefits is advised of this number, he should use it in all future correspondence with VA.
