Parade Shaping Up: Floats May Be Entered By Starting Time

The annual Christmas parade will be staged here Saturday, December 2.

Floats are to be in line at the Boy Scout grounds for the parade to start promptly at 3 p.m.

R. A. Bradley, parade chairman, said: "There is no deadline for entering floats in the parade, so long as they are in line by parade time."

All school, churches, civic and social groups are urged to prepare a float to make the parade bigger and better this year than ever. Prizes will be given. $100 will go to the first place winner, $50 to the second place and $25 for third place.

The floats are to be entered in two divisions, "fantasy" and "religion."

Santa Claus will make his debut this year in the parade. Santa will be waving and greeting children, for whom the parade is being held, from a one-horse shay being pulled by a Shetland pony. The shay will be driven by one of Santa's helpers, an elf, straight from the North Pole.

Miss Muleshoe, Diane Bryant, Muleshoe Ambassadors Vicki Henexson and Susan Camp along with Farm Bureau Queen Sharron Hutton will be adding beauty to the parade as they ride in a convertible in the parade.

Cannon Air Force Base Color Guard will be an attraction as will the Muleshoe High School Marching Band, the Cochran County Sheriff's Posse and the floats.

J. C. Gatewood Injured In Quail Hunting Accident

A day of hunting ended in near tragedy for a Muleshoe farmer, J. C. Gatewood.

Gatewood is listed in 'satisfactory' condition following surgery Monday to remove a .22 caliber bullet.

Four men had spent the day hunting quail and were at a pecan grove located approximately 12 miles east and 2 miles south, in Lamb County, when the accident occurred at approximately 4:30 p.m.

"One of the four placed the automatic .22 rifle on the pickup hood when it discharged. The bullet entered the left side of Gatewood's neck, just behind the ear and struck a bone near the center of his neck, causing

Appliance Store Opening Set

The Grand Opening of Wilson-Poyner Appliance begins Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Gordon Wilson, co-owner and manager of the store, located at 202 Main Street, said they would carry a complete line of Zenith, Maytag, Kelvinator, KitchenAid and Tappan appliances.

Other store owners are Haney and Paul Poyner, who are owners of Poyner White's Auto. They have been in business here for the past eight years and will continue to operate that store in the same manner.

At Wilson-Poyner Appliance Dusty Thomas has been employed as a salesman and David Canoy is serviceman-technician. Canoy has had 27 years experience in this field of work.

Wilson is a 1955 graduate of Muleshoe High School and was a member of the National Guard for six years. He has been employed by the Post Office for the past eight years.

He and his wife, Marilyn, have two children, Danny, 7 years and Kimberly, 3 years.

ANTIQUES---This will be one of the focal points of the Holiday Homes Tour sponsored by Llano Estacado Civic Club. The fireplace in the Don Cihak home is adorned with antiques and Christmas decorations will also grace the spot for the Sunday afternoon tour. Some of the antiques, featured in the Christmas tour as an added attraction are these oddities, a pipe chest, ship's lantern, kettle, candle sticks, pot lids, mandolin and bed warmer. There is a history behind these antiques which will be explained during the home tour.

RECREATION ROOM OPENS

Ceremony to Launch 'Project Youth'

"Something is replacing nothing!" Something is 'Project Youth' which is designed to take the place of the familiar and plaintive cry of today's youth, "There is nothing to do for entertainment."

'Project Youth' is being launched here at 7:30 p.m. Friday, December 2, and will be held in the Recreation Room of the First Methodist Church.

The program of entertainment is for all members of the student body of senior high school and local college students, their friends and guests. It is for all youths, regardless of race, color or creed so long as they conduct themselves in a becoming manner.

This program is becoming

Christmas is in the air. Many things are taking shape to usher in the holiday season.

As lights to decorate the town began going up along Main Street Monday, the snow began coming down. . . the first snow of the season. The temperature dropped to 26 degrees Monday night after the last of the flakes fluttered down during the evening hours.

Word was received Wednesday that Olin Burrows, John Shelton, Lindell Murray, Harvey Bass and Harold Cowan are attempting to get out of the mountains with the Christmas tree.

Their experiences have been many. First, they were snow-bound and were forced to wait for snowplows to clear the roads. Then they made it up into the mountains and loaded the huge tree on a Bailey County Electric Cooperative truck . . . but, it broke loose and disappeared enroute.

With Rangers, they returned to the mountains for the second tree, and, barring additional problems are to arrive today.

Once back, their story of bringing home the second huge tree to add to the splendor of Christmas decoration, should be a story within itself.

A lighting ceremony is slated for Friday, pending arrival of the tree, to kick off the round of events which will continue for the public during the coming days.

The annual Christmas parade will start Saturday at 3 p.m. on South Main Street.

GOING UP---City employees are pictured putting up downtown Christmas lights which will be turned on as soon as snow-hampered businessmen return from Cloudcroft and the huge Christmas tree is erected at the Mule Memorial site. Harvey Bass, Olin Burrows, Lindell Murray, John Shelton and Harold Cowan reported Wednesday that they were starting out of the mountains with the second tree and hope to be in with it Wednesday night or Thursday. They lost the first tree from the truck and returned for the second one.

Cary Henry Mauled By Australian Dog

Three-year-old Cary Henry, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Larry Henry, was hospitalized last Wednesday in Clayton, N.M., after being attacked by an Australian stock dog.

The Henry family were visiting relatives when the little girl was mauled.

Rev. Don Murray, in contact with the family, said she was bitten and scratched about the face and is expected to be released within the next few days if she continues to improve.

Rev. Henry is pastor of the Baptist Mission here.

Contest Winner

Winners of Thursday's football contest in the Journal missed three games each, yet claimed honors over runners-up who missed four or more games' predictions.

Donal Roddam, 616 Sunland Dr., Clovis, was first place winner, missing Dartmouth, Memphis State and Kansas victories, with a nine-point spread in the tie breaker.

Mrs. Jim (Lanetta) Small, missing the three winners, Kansas, Ohio State, and Washington State, had a tie-breaker spread of 11 points, and is second-place winner this week.

Runners-up who missed four or more games were Mike Perez Jr., Nona Blake Douglass, Marilyn Engelking, Jarrell Pruitt, Larry Calvert, Billy Wimberly, Francis Gilbreath, Lee Pool, Lamar Pollard and L. C. Roddam.

Money, toys, food and clothing is needed and those wishing to be a part of this worth-while cause is asked to make their donation by taking the items to City Hall.

Goodfellows Start Project

Goodfellows are asking the public to submit names of under privileged children of the area so they may have Christmas this year as other children do.

The Goodfellow organization is composed of a group of individuals who work anonymously each year to provide Christmas for those who would otherwise not be able to share in the joy of the occasion this year.

Jan still insisted that the object was really a UFO, but was somewhat dejected by the uncertainty of the thing.

Later, back home with her family and settled with the household occupants for an evening of television, she came alive again with the first news broadcast of the sighting of the object by others in the Panhandle area.

Jan reports that the object trailed off and disappeared between two clouds. Reports from farther north described the object in the same manner as Jan's report, except some reported it larger than was visible here.

"I believe in UFO's, but who can convince my father?" Jan said.

UFO's...Anyone?

Shortly before television stations began releasing spot news briefs Sunday on the sighting of an unidentified flying object in the sky to the west, a Muleshoe teenager was riding with her parents in the Progress community.

The youth, Jan Creamer, sighted the object which was moving across the sky in its blaze of silver glory, moving slowly in a jerking fashion.

Her father, W. F. (Buck) Creamer, sort of takes the attitude that UFO's are something of the nature of mass hallucinations.

So, while the young lady bounced with excited glee, her father cast skeptical glances at the object.

"Must be a helicopter. . . must be a plane. . . could be a reflection or weather balloon," he mused.

Lanell Lafon, Dean Ethridge Marry

Miss Wonda Lanell Lafon and Melvin Dean Ethridge pledged double ring wedding vows at 8 p.m. November 18 in the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rufus Gilbreath, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Ethridge.

Presented in marriage by her stepfather, Rufus Gilbreath, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over peau de soie, with a brief train. Her headpiece was of organza flowers with seed pearls and a silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and English Ivy.

Mrs. Don Glass was matron of honor, and Mrs. Jim Lokey of Houston and Mrs. Glen Chisum, were bridesmaids, and Miss Deana Glass, bridesmaid. They wore gowns in autumn colors and carried bouquets of mixed colors with English Ivy.

Barry Lewis Jr. was best man. David Douglas of Muleshoe, George Moraw and Gary Ethridge were groomsmen. Joe King, Don Glass of Lubbock, Darrel Burton and Bruce Little were ushers.

Dephena Glass and Jeffrey Glass lighted candles, Rhonda Chisum was flower girl and Corey Haggard was ring bearer. Wedding selections were presented by Mrs. Dwain Glass, organist, and Glass, soloist.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple will be at home in Richmond, Calif.

The bride attended Texas Tech. Ethridge is a 1967 graduate of Tech and is a graduate student in agriculture economics at the University of California at Berkeley.

Gift Coffee Honors Mrs. Mike Miller

Mrs. Mike Miller, the former Pamela St. Clair, was honored with a gift coffee Saturday morning, November 25, from 9:30 to 11:30 in the home of Mrs. Charles Lenau.

In the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Irvin St. Clair, and Mrs. John Miller. Guests were registered by Mrs. Bill Jim St. Clair, aunt of the bride. The serving table was laid with a cranberry brocade runner, centered with a copper bowl filled with giant and baby pink chrysanthemums. Copper and brass appointments were used. Presiding at the coffee service and punch bowl were Mrs. Pat Bobo and Mrs. M. D. Gunstream.

Assisting in the hospitalities were Miss Pam Kerr, Miss Ann Phelps, Miss Barbara Jones and Mrs. Ronnie Johnson. Hostesses were Mrs. Pat Bobo, Mrs. Harmon Elliott, Mrs. M. D. Gunstream, Mrs. Carl Bamert, Mrs. Eugene Black, Mrs. Ernest Kerr, Mrs. Myron Pool II, Mrs. Bernard Phelps, Mrs. F. W. Jones, Mrs. Vic Benedict and Mrs. Lenau. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. James St. Clair and Mary St. Clair of Morton; Mrs. James St. Clair Jr., Denver City; Mrs. Walter Martin, Littlefield; Mrs. Dwane Nelson, Arlington; Mrs. Bill Thomson, Kingsland; and Mrs. W. G. Perry, the bride's great-grandmother, Littlefield.

Senior Citizens Have Meeting

The Senior Citizens met for their regular monthly meeting in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church, November 28, at 2 p.m.

The program opened with Rev. J. Frank Peery presiding. He led the group in a number of old songs, such as "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean," "Old Virginia" and "Old McDonald Had a Farm."

At each meeting, Bill Moore presents "Poems of Inspiration." The poems presented at this meeting were requested by some of the members and were "God Knows Best," and "Some One Cares." The purpose of the meetings for the Senior Citizens is to entertain them with fun and laughter, but also for a bit of seriousness and soul-searching as Moore reads his poems.

Maude Young and Odessa Slayden entertained with a number of old selections, given on the violin and piano.

Due to the bad weather, only forty - seven members were present for the meeting. A larger group is expected December 18 when they have their next meeting.

Rev. Peery asks that each member bring a can of food to the next meeting to be given to the Goodfellows for distribution to the needy families of the Muleshoe area. The number of needy families has grown from five families, when the Goodfellows first started, to seventy-one families last year.

Madge Clements and I. W. Haney celebrated birthdays since the last meeting. Mrs. Clements was sixty-seven years of age and Haney celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday.

After the fellowship, the group enjoyed a film.

Muleshoe Jayettes were hostesses for the occasion. Cake, punch and coffee were served to forty-seven members.

Rumors are that "What's My Line" will be dropped from the CBS lineup next fall.

Presbyterian Youths Slate Meeting

The senior high young people of First Presbyterian Church, St. Paul's Lutheran Church and St. Martin's Lutheran Church will meet at St. Martin's in Littlefield, Sunday, December 3, at 4 p.m.

The program, "From Generation to Generation" is a film and will be followed by a discussion. The program is, by request, a carry-over from the November meeting.

The youth of these three churches meet regularly the first of each month. The next meeting will be Sunday, January 7, at First Presbyterian Church in Muleshoe.

All senior high young people are invited.

PAINTING---Mrs. Lee Amerson, a member of the Muleshoe Art Association Club has placed paintings for display in L. B.'s Cafe. They will be on display during the month of November and part of December.

PURSUE THE TOPIC FURTHER

Dear Amy:
I've been going with a real wonderful guy for about six months. He said he'd get my engagement ring in December and we would be married sometime after Christmas.
Since the time he proposed, he's never said anything more about it. I'm too bashful to bring up the subject. Could you tell me what to do?

Dear Bashful:
The 'Bashful Bride' went out with the horse and buggy. Pursue this topic further and find out there is a 'ring' of truth in what HE proposes.

Dear Amy:
We are a one-car family and my husband has to use it to go to work. However, I do have a neighbor who offers me a ride every time she goes shopping or to the beauty shop. One day a store downtown was having a terrific sale on chicken (my husband loves chicken), and my neighbor called me up and told me to be at her house by one o'clock and that we would go together.

Dear Amy:
I haven't spoken to my parents yet but I will eventually. I'll be graduating in 2 years and I could finish my last year after I'm married. Is there any reason why I shouldn't get married—Cheryl

Dear Amy:
Every year the married couples in my neighborhood throw a New Year's Eve party and we all chip in time and money to make it a gala evening. There is one couple that we are still trying to collect from for last year's affair. She was the first to call me up and ask where we are having this year's party. I told her that as yet it had not been decided upon, but actually I would like to discourage her from coming. How can I do this without starting trouble? Peeved

Dear Amy:
What you want to do will certainly create hard feelings. I suggest that you forget about last year's party and inform your friend that this year the party is on a "Pay-As-You-Go" plan. You pay as you go... IN!

Dear Disturbed:
No, I don't think so either. Perhaps your friend was annoyed at being held up by her neighbor so your remark added fuel to the fire and she exploded. By now she's probably as sorry about the incident as you are.
Unless you learn to become your own chauffeur or have hubby run you around, you must overlook a lot, accept even more

Lowry Mallory's Guests of WMU

Have you ever been to Africa, or had the desire to go? If you had been in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church on Tuesday morning, November 28, from 9:15 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. you may well have wanted to go. An entire program was presented on Africa, under the leadership of Molly Griffin, Mission study chairman of the WMU.

The program opened with the song, "America," led by Gerri Kennedy. Ann Little then gave a brief missionary report and read the prayer calendar for the day. She led in prayer, and turned the program over to the special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Mallory.

Mallory has been teaching in the Kijabe High School in Kenya, East Africa, for the past three years, under a government program. This particular program came to an end and the Mallorys came back to the United States, leaving their three children in school in Africa, to be appointed as missionaries by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention on December 7. The Mallory's children will join them here for the Christmas holidays, part of which will be spent at the E. O. Baker home, parents of Mrs. Mallory. Then Mallory will be assigned to a Southern Baptist School about 90 miles north of Nairobi.

For the program, Mr. and Mrs. Mallory showed colored slides, taken in and around the Kijabe High School. It depicted a typical year and a typical day in the lives of those connected with the school. The narration was done on tape by Peter, a 4th year student under Mallory. Several products of Africa were displayed on a table at the front of the room.

The last hour of the program was the book review of "Africa - Arrows to Atoms," by Molly Griffin, Corrine Grimsley, Gerri Kennedy and Frances Hamilton.
Those attending were Mrs. S. L. Jackson, Mrs. Mark Grimsley, Mrs. Cecil Osborn, Mrs. Vernon Jamison, Mrs.

Mrs. Howard Splawn Submits Recipe

Mrs. Howard (Irene) Splawn submits her favorite recipe this week.

Although she is well-known in the area, this brief resume highlights her life.
Mrs. Splawn has been a deputy sheriff for the past 11 years and has three interesting hobbies. Her favorite is collecting picture post cards.

She presently has around 1,550 cards from over the nation and foreign lands. One she treasures is from Portugess West Africa from Pat Campbell.

Although she values all her cards from everyone, another correspondent is one who supplies a variation to her collection. Mrs. Splawn saw a feature story in Grit magazine showing Joseph Wheat, Parsons, Tenn., with his collection. She sent him a picture card of Pete-The Muleshoe Mule, and the Courthouse and since then has corresponded with him, exchanging post cards.

Her other hobbies are sewing and maintaining a family scrapbook and another of the law enforcement profession.

Mrs. Splawn's husband, Howard, has been employed by Western '66' for the past 15 years and is an avid sports fan. The couple has three children, Arthur Charles Splawn, a jet fighter pilot stationed at Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam; Kenneth, a coach in the Olton school system and Mrs. Bill (Pam) Calvert, Clovis.

HUSH PUPPIES
2 cups corn meal
4 tablespoons flour

H-D Club Held Workshop

The Progress Home Demonstration club met in the home of Lucille Gross November 21, for a Christmas gift workshop.

Twelve members were present. Judy Roming presided over the business meeting and roll call was answered with "What I Want for Christmas." Myrtle Wells presented the program and gave a demonstration on how to make wool pillows and a number of other Christmas decorations. Mrs. Wells asked each member that brought gifts to show how they were made.

The next meeting will be in the home of Judy Roming, December 10, 10 a.m. for their annual Christmas party to exchange gifts and make a trip to Clovis, N.M. for dinner and shopping.

Cotton Harvest Reaches Peak

The South Plains cotton harvest reached a peak this week and the USDA Cotton Classing Offices at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa received samples from approximately 265,000 bales during the week ending Friday, November 24, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the USDA Classing Office in Lubbock.

The three offices classed 181,000 samples during the same period bringing the total to 332,000. At this time last year 664,000 samples of this 1966 crop had been classed.

The Lubbock office began operating on a two-shift basis last Wednesday and had sixty-four classers on duty last Saturday. The Lamesa office had four classers on duty and the Brownfield office nine classers.

Palmer indicated that twenty-three more classers will be on duty at Lubbock Monday and that all three offices have adequate personnel to remain current with the cotton received.

Estimates indicate that approximately one-half of this season's crop is now out of the fields.

Middling was the predominant grade at Lubbock last week with 34 percent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling made up 32 percent, Middling Light Spotted 26 percent and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted five percent.

Staple length continued to average between 31/32 and 1-inch. Forty-four percent of the cotton classed at the Lubbock office last week was 1-inch and longer. Twenty-four percent stapled 15/16, 28 percent 31/32, 21 percent 1-inch, 13 percent 1-1/32 and 10 percent stapled 1-1/16 and longer.

Micronaire continued the seasonal decline. Thirty-nine percent of the cotton "miked" in the Lubbock office was in the 3.5 and better micronaire category, 15 percent "miked" 3.3 and 3.4, 27 percent was 3.0 through 3.2, 16 percent 2.7 through 2.9 and 3 percent 2.6 and below.

Trading continued to increase on the Lubbock market and prices were generally $2.50 to $10 per bale higher.

Prices have advanced weekly since the harvest began and in some cases have advanced daily.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Middling 15/16 - 20.95; Middling 31/32 - 24.05; Middling 1-inch - 26.60; Strict Low Middling 15/16 - 19.95; Strict

Low Middling 31/32 - 22.35; Strict Low Middling 1-inch - 24.60; Middling Light Spotted 15/16 - 20.10; Middling Light Spotted 31/32 - 22.60 and Middling Light Spotted 1-inch - 24.65.

In the long staple varieties Middling 1-5/32 was bringing an average of 40 cents per pound and Strict Low Middling 1-5/32 was averaging 37.75 cents per pound.

Cottonseed prices also advanced and ranged from $52 to $70 per ton at the gins. Average price was $57 per ton.

Paxton Report

We Texans face a "Great Society - like spending binge" from the state legislature next year unless we speak out loud and clear against it in the runoff elections this month and in letters to our state representatives and senators before the special session next year.

As your state representative it would be my goal to find ways to reduce ALL non-essential government spending. I believe everyone is concerned about the cost of government with higher taxes at a time when the cost of living continues to rise.

Taxes for government at all levels are our greatest problem and biggest expense, and we are now facing tax increases at both the national and state levels because of reckless spending.

The individual citizen can no longer support programs that raise his taxes so much faster than his income increases. We are now paying a tax bill of $851 per year for every man, woman, and child in this country.

The special session next year of the Texas Legislature will undoubtedly be asked to raise the average tax for Texans by $20. I am concerned over the possibility that passage of a state income tax will be attempted.

As your state representative I would fight any such attempt. I think it is high time we started thinking, talking, and practicing economy in government, both state and federal.

We can and must meet the problems and challenges we face without saddling everyone with undue tax burdens, and at the same time preserve this state's traditional pay-as-you-go method of operation.

Services Set For Leala Burton

Services are being conducted at 2 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Leala Burton, 86, who died in Belinda Hospital, Port Huene-me, Calif., Sunday, November 26, at 7:20 a.m.

Mrs. Burton was a well-known resident of Muleshoe, living here many years before moving to California in 1958.

She was born in Iowa January 12, 1881 and moved to the Big Square community in 1918. From there she moved to Muleshoe.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Rev. R. H. Campbell, Olton, will officiate for the service being held in Singleton Chapel of the Chimes. Burial is to be in Muleshoe Cemetery under direction of Singleton.

Survivors include three daughters, Miss Polly Burton, Port Huene-me; Mrs. Ruth Needham, Port Huene-me and Mrs. Bruce Parsons, Tulsa; 9 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John, in 1934 and a son, Kenneth, in 1962.

Pallbearers are to be Hubert Elliott, Happy Elliott, Glen Scott, Elwyn Vaughn, Edmond Parsons and Darrell Burton.

Department Buys Three Whitewing Nesting Sites

AUSTIN--The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has purchased three parcels of native brush land, totalling 106.6 acres, in the lower Rio Grande Valley to be maintained as white-winged dove nesting areas, according to Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Department.

The sites were purchased to preserve as much of the native nesting habitat as possible for future generations of whitewing hunters. Two parcels, totalling 71.6 acres, were acquired near Grulla in the extreme southeast portion of Starr County just north of the Rio Grande between Rio Grande City and Mission.

The Grulla tract, supporting 65 pair of nesting birds per acre, is classified unique by Departmental biologists in that all nesting is in mesquite. "It's the only area I've seen where all nests are in mesquite," Mauermann said. "Normally, this type of habitat is not used by whitewings."

Duck Identification Is Very Important

AUSTIN---Since there are varying seasons and bag limits for different kinds of ducks, it follows that a hunter should be able to tell one duck from another.

For example, a special teal season was held in September, and it was illegal to kill any other duck during this season.

Also, the daily bag limit on ducks is four, not to include more than one wood duck, one canvasback, and two mallards. To kill three mallards in one day is illegal, and the hunter is subject to a fine.

If the hunter can identify the teal, wood duck, canvasback, mallard, and merganser, he can stay within the law. For information on duck identification the hunter may write the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Information and Education Division, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78703, and request the U. S. Department of Interior's "Know Your Ducks."

This brochure includes information on coloration, markings, habits, and sounds of 17 species of ducks.

Las Palomas Wildlife Management Area, consists primarily of brasil and granjeno brush is listed as good whitewing nesting habitat and also serves as a roosting site for mourning doves during the hunting season.

Mauermann said the sites were added to preserve the nesting habitat of whitewinged doves and for research activities. No hunting will be permitted on the areas.

The sites were purchased with funds made up of 75 percent Federal aid money derived from excise taxes on arms and ammunition, and 25 percent State matching money.

By Mrs. C. A. Watson

Flying in to Lubbock from the University of Texas, Austin, to spend Thanksgiving holidays with relatives were Debra Bullock, Bobby Jo Jones and Terry Bryant. Some Muleshoe students were also on the plane. They returned to Austin by plane Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burnett, Bart and Laura, visited Thanksgiving day in Hale Center with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Short. The Burnetts also went to Plainview during the holidays to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burnett.

Visiting the C. C. Graefs during the past holidays were Mrs. Gene Phillips and children, Chuck, Steven, Darrick and Sandy from Clovis, also, Mrs. Frankie Lile and sons, Sammie and Buddie from Fort Worth. The group had Thanksgiving dinner Thursday with Graef's sister and family, the Dean Myers in Dimmitt.

Thanksgiving visitors in the Alford Steinbock home were the David Whites, Oklahoma Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mitchell, Lazbuddie; Buster, from Amarillo and the Elmer Davis' from Muleshoe.

Johnnie Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Euel Mitchell, will report for duty in the U. S. Army December 4. Johnnie is a 1966 graduate of Lazbuddie.

First Lt. Don R. Watson is presently in jungle training near the Panama Canal Zone. He will return to Fort Benning, Ga. when he leaves Panama.

Sp/4 Benny C. Watson, M.P. BN, H.H.D. has new assignments which include DaNang, Plaque and Quinhon, Vietnam. He has been in Vietnam since last January 1. He has volunteered for three more months service there. He is expected to return to the United States in March, 1968.

Mr. and Mrs. Chunky Ivy and children, Roswell; and Mr. and Mrs. Junior Matthews and children were Thanksgiving dinner guests in the Olen Ivy home.

Gary Matthews from Oklahoma, was home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Matthews during the holidays. Gary is attending flying school in Oklahoma.

The James Harvey family spent Thanksgiving day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harvey, in Plainview.

Congratulations to Mrs. Wayne Moore on winning the large amount of saving stamps given by a merchant in Muleshoe Saturday.

Terry Parham, Bobby Gleason and Troy Steinbock flew to Colorado from Amarillo during the Thanksgiving holidays to visit Carrol Littlefield at Fort Collins, Colo. Carrol brought them home Sunday night. He will be here for several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lester and children from Lubbock visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Blackburn and other relatives in the area Thursday.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Splitting Heirs

The contesting of a will is one of the more exciting forms of courtroom melodrama. To the spectator, and to the newspaper reader, it may offer scandal, emotion, and suspense.

But to those who are involved in a will contest, the experience may be both grim and sorrowful. All too often, a court battle over the estate of a deceased has split once-devoted families into bitter enemies.

The reason is that the issues in such a battle ("undue influence"? "mental incompetence"?) are usually issues that touch the very vitals of family life.

Did Father love one daughter more than the other? Did a son pamper him in his old age out of kindness, or out of a secret mercenary motive? Was his brother just a friendly adviser, or a financial master?

Obviously a will contest is worth preventing, if only to avoid washing the family's dirty linen in court. The best way is to take certain precautions at the time the will is written—precautions which a skilled lawyer can tailor to fit the individual situation.

For example, it may be wise to avoid making unusual, "unnatural" bequests. Thus, a will that left more to a man's stepchildren than to his own children not only led to a court fight but also helped convince a jury that the man was incompetent when he made the will.

Another precaution may be to include explanations along with the terms of the will. Suppose a man wants to favor a daughter over a son. He may defuse the son's resentment by explaining that, while he loves them both alike, he fears that the daughter will need more financial help.

Still another possible precaution, when there might be a question of the person's mental competence, is to have evidence prepared—just in case. Medical examinations, extra witnesses, perhaps even tape recordings or movies may, by showing soundness of mind, some day discourage a will contest.

One fact cannot be escaped: the maker of the will won't be around when the will comes up for probate. Nevertheless, his care and foresight may still be the means of preserving harmony among his heirs.

To them, this can be the most important, and kindest, bequest of all.

DRILLING THE DEEPEST

Humble Oil & Refining Company's Rig 32 is shown here in the Gomez field of West Texas drilling the world's deepest producing well. The new ultra-deep producer — the Henry Willbanks No. 11 — was completed in the Ellenberger formation at 21,883 to 22,610 feet. The well, located in Pecos County about 10 miles northwest of Fort Stockton, flowed gas at a calculated open flow rate of 14 million cubic feet a day.

The Locninh Battle

One of the Vietnam War's most decisive battles might be that at Locninh. The Communists reportedly hurled one of their best divisions against the U.S. - defended outpost in the opening stages and suffered heavy casualties.

During the first week of the month it was estimated - by U. S. Major General John Hay - the Reds lost some 8,000 men killed and wounded in the fighting around Locninh. U. S. losses were put at 12 dead and 71 wounded. South Vietnam losses were said to be comparably light.

Hay's optimistic assessment was doubted by some. The General said his men had counted over 800 bodies. He then used a little mathematical estimating to reach the 8,000 figures. He guesses there were at least another 800 killed and carried away, perhaps 2,000 deaths in all. Then he said for every death there would have been three wounded enemy soldiers - thus 6,000 wounded, or a grand total of 8,000 dead and wounded.

The figure might have been much smaller. Nevertheless, the Locninh fighting shows what the enemy can expect in head-on battles with first-class U. S. fighting units like the 1st Division. Only such victories will force Communist die-hards ideologists to the negotiating table.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm broadens his field of worry, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

Recently I wrote you about a public opinion poll which went to great lengths to discover that most people say their number one problem is money, like it's always been and which I knew all along, but I forgot to add that I have taken a poll myself, mostly by wracking my brain, among the governments of the world and can report that money is their biggest problem too. You name me a single government, local, state or national, anywhere in the world, which isn't scraping the bottom of the barrel and looking out the cracks in the staves to find more money.

I didn't know how serious this was until I picked up a copy of a newspaper the other day and read that the British government had asked for a billion-dollar emergency loan from the International Monetary Fund to stave off bankruptcy. Came right out and said it was on the verge of ruin.

I didn't know anything about the International Monetary Fund, if it makes emergency loans to individuals please send me the address, I'd qualify, but what I got to thinking is, what happens when a country goes bankrupt?

Who re-possesses it. What do they do with it? I know what a bank does when it has to foreclose on a farm, but what can you do with an entire country?

Furthermore, say England, despite its loans which for our part will have to be secured by a second lien, or is it a third, still doesn't make it, goes broke, and its assets are put up for sale to pay off the creditors. Who's in the market for a busted country? The way countries are going nowadays, I can't think of many that could be called a sound financial investment. I'll tell you, I don't think England is going under, but the mere idea of a country taking bankruptcy certainly gives a man something to speculate about.

I can see the advertisement the creditors would run in the newspapers of the world, including the Journal in order to get complete coverage: "For Sale At Public Auction to the highest bidder, the British Isles, entire contents to go, including the fixtures, such as Dukes, Earls, all sorts of Lords and other items too numerous to mention. Terms Cash."

It's the last stipulation that's going to hamper the sale.

By the way, I believe if I was you, when they send that ad in, I'd ask for payment in advance. Yours faithfully, J. A.

VIET DRAFT AGE LOWERED
Saigon - Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu has lowered South Vietnam's minimum draft age from 21 to 18, but the maximum draft age will remain at 34. All deferments from military service were tightened in a decree of "partial mobilisation."

'Revolution' Makes Strange Theology

Guest Editorial

Certain religious elements in this country seem to be coming dangerously close to embracing a doctrine of violence as an instrument of social change. We have seen, as one example, a man of religion in Milwaukee spearheading nightly marches and demonstrations which at times have led to almost inevitable violence.

Now a paper prepared at the recent U. S. Conference on Church and Society in Detroit lays down the thesis that "the church needs a theology of revolution." In making this assertion the possibility that it may be a revolution of violence and bloodshed is distinctly recognized. The statement faces the issue squarely with these words:

"The question . . . emerges today whether the violence which sheds blood in a planned revolution may not be a lesser evil than the violence which condemns whole populations to perennial despair."

The group which prepared the paper seeks to justify its stand by picturing it as a matter of opposing one form of violence with another. It labels such things as repressive law enforcement, economic pressures and neglect which condemn some groups of the population to deprivation, and inadequate medical care as "systemic violence." Then it goes on to say that "when violence occurs, it ought to be defended, supported and interpreted in such a manner as will aid, hasten its end and serve to establish a greater measure of justice."

The concern of churches and affiliate religious groups over social and economic ills is understandable. Compassionate awareness of the nation's problems in that respect is growing, and is not the monopoly of religionists. Poverty and conditions of deprivation which lead to "perennial despair" are a great preoccupation of the nation's government. But so also are the rioting and violence which threaten to rend the social fabric before genuinely curative measures can be found and applied.

It is strange indeed to see any religious adherents embracing violence as an acceptable tool of social betterment, and difficult to perceive how the attitude can be squared with the teachings they supposedly espouse. How do they reconcile it, for instance, with the biblical admonition about turning the other cheek, even though that injunction has always been a hard one to interpret and apply?

Recent years have bred increasingly antipathy to war as an instrument of national policy, or even, in the case of some extreme exponents, of national defense. Increasing, too, is opposition to the death penalty as punishment for crime, often on the ground that society has no right to take the life of a human being regardless of his acts.

Religionists, and humanists, have been in the forefront of this opposition. How, then, can they decide that violence and bloodshed for one purpose are to be sanctioned and approved, while in other forms it is to be condemned?

Violence, once unleashed, is not subject to easy or certain control, either by those who instigate it or those who seek to oppress it. And violence out of hand can be destructive of all the aims of those who set it in motion. The sounders of the call for a "theology of revolution" had an inkling of this when they wrote: "It must be recognized that there is no guarantee that the actual results of the use of violence will be those intended, nor that violence, once released, can be controlled by its initiators."

The Bible puts it even more simply. It warns that those who sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind.

LBJ and new-old techniques

Guest Editorial

Those who saw President Johnson at either the Gridiron dinner at Williamsburg, Va., or at his big White House press conference a week ago, may well have decided that the Chief Executive has found a public stance, a method of presentation, that suits him exceedingly well.

This is the "real Johnson" in the sense that the President was behaving in public, on both these occasions, as he often does in private. If during the campaign next year he uses this less formal, wide-swinging technique in his jet whistle stops or TV presentations, Republicans should be on notice that he is going to be no push-over.

At the Gridiron dinner the President was relaxed, self-deprecatory, firm when he had something worth saying. Said one perceptive newsman afterward, concerning the nonirritated able performance: "Charming would be too strong a word for LBJ, but he was likable, and that is something."

At his Washington press conference before the TV cameras, the President employed a variegated style. He paced the floor, waved his arms, drew diagrams in the air, moved from smile to frown and from gentleness to anger. He employed humor, change of pace, Scriptural quotations.

In one small degree, LBJ has been mechanically "liberated." An electric cord ran from behind the podium to the President's waist, thence to a concealed microphone. An aide paid out or retracted the cord as the President walked freely about. This differed from past press conferences in that it was no stilted standing still, behind his podium, reading from a prepared text.

Those who have interviewed Lyndon Johnson in his office - particularly in pre-President days - recognized a famous technique. Even when walking with one or two individuals, this restless, energetic individual would walk up and down, sit briefly, stride about, grab the listener by the arm, all the while continuing a powerful monologue replete with facts, argument, mimicry, earthy humor - and persuasion. When this man set out to persuade somebody to do something, it was a "happening" all right.

Now the President has refined that performance, in the best sense of the word. Critics have since remarked that his press conference displayed a thorough grasp of fact, situation, urgency, to the last detail, over a wide range of topics. If he combines this virtuoso performance with his natural delight in combative campaigning, LBJ on the campaign trail might even seem effective to Harvard intellectuals.

Dear Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was received by the Chamber of Commerce and passed on to the Journal for publication.)

To Whom it May Concern:

Don't you think its about time somebody changed the Christmas decorations in town? I know its a little late this year but how about next year! The ones, right now, are nearly falling apart or they look it. Couldn't we have more decorations this year. You know even if the ones you have now are pretty the town still looks sort of bare and lonely.

We are just two students of MHS and could do nothing about it, so we thought we would write you in hope that you would DO something.

Thank you,

CLARK ON CRIME

Attorney General Ramsey Clark has denounced Republican attacks against the administration's handling of crime.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN---Everybody's talking about the 1968 governor's race. As of this writing, however, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is the only one who has formally announced.

Secretary of State John L. Hill says he wants to run -- and will, if support "continues to crystallize." Adds Hill: "I know the political realities are such that if I am going to run, I ought to announce soon, but I don't want to speculate when."

Uvalde rancher-banker Dolph Briscoe says he definitely is interested but has reached no firm decision.

Although he hasn't announced, former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr made a candidate-like move in demanding that U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, another potential candidate, resign his office should he enter the governor's race.

Austin attorney and former Congressman Joe Kilgore, a close friend of Gov. John Connally, says it is unlikely he will be a candidate but he did not close the door.

Other names have been mentioned but no statements have come from them, pro or con, as to their interest in the race.

COURTS SPEAK---Millions of dollars may be added to the Texas Permanent School Fund pending outcome of a suit by a San Patricio County man challenging private ownership of 12,068 acres of South Texas oil lands, says attorney general's department. Walter C. Atchley, in lawsuit, claims that the state never deeded away land to oil operators and is still owner.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld award of $117,456 to a six-year-old Austin boy whose leg was cut off by a power mower at a drive-in theater here.

State Supreme Court in a divided (five to four) decision held that a San Antonio detective investigator was dismissed on insufficient grounds, though he offered for sale a shot gun reported stolen.

High court rejected appeal of an Edinburg man for release from jail where he is held on order to pay $17,000 of his Mexican national lottery winnings to a woman who had purchased half interest in one of his "lucky" tickets.

Supreme Court concluded that a Travis County district judge should not have ordered a new trial of case protesting denial of a new savings and loan association charter in Llano.

Court of Criminal Appeals held that conviction of a man imprisoned for 28 years on forgery and other felony charges cannot stand because he did not have counsel in his 1939 trial.

SMITH APPOINTS---Lieutenant Governor Smith announced these appointments:
Sens. Charles Herring of Austin and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells to Multi-state Tax Compact Advisory Committee.

Sens. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, Criss Cole of Houston, William T. Moore of Bryan, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Ralph Hall of Rockwall to joint Interim Highway Safety Committee.
Sens. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, James S. Bates of Edinburg, Creighton, H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock and Murray Watson Jr. of Waco to special Committee to Study Governmental Immunity with request to recommend whether principle should be continued or abolished.
Sens. William N. Patman of Ganado, Watson and Hazlewood to special Parking and Traffic Committee to study congestion in the state capital area.
CITY SALES TAX SUCCESS CONTINUES---Five more Texas cities have given overwhelming approval to one percent city sales tax levies.
Huntsville, Uvalde, Seguin, Commerce and Llano voters asked for the tax by margins ranging from two-to-one to eight-to-one.
So far, 33 cities have approved the local revenue-raising method passed by the Legislature this year although it was believed to be highly controversial. Only two, Lufkin and Electra, have turned it down.
Next two elections--December 2 -- are in Galveston and Kilgore. Fifty-six cities will vote on December 5, including Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, and Fort Worth.
BOND PROGRAMS --- Two state agencies are busily planning how best to take advantage of $275,000,000 worth of authorization voted them by Texas citizens on November 11.
One of the constitutional amendments revived the Veterans Land Program and authorized the issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds to finance it. Another set up the Park Development Fund and provided for the sale of $75,000,000 in bonds to finance it.
Veterans Land Board, administrator of the land program, should be ready to begin its operations soon after the votes are formally canvassed on November 28. No friction is anticipated for this for two reasons.
First, the old Veterans Land Program expired only in 1965, so Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is experienced in operating it. Second, there are few complications to work out -- the state merely sells the bonds and acquires the money, then asks for applications from veterans. Sadler said veterans should locate tracts they want, then apply for money after January 15.
But Parks and Wildlife is facing a different situation. Bond experts met with department officials last week to give them a "short course" on securities.
Neither agency is planning to sell all the authorized bonds at once. Land Office is talking about $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in the first issue, and though the Parks and Wildlife Commission will have the final say-so, the most popular figure discussed at the meeting was $10,000,000.

Land bonds will be 40-year bonds. Parks bonds are limited to 10 years, and will be retired by revenues from entrance fees to state parks. Both have a four and one-half percent constitutional limit on the interest the state may pay, which could complicate their sale.

JOB CORPS PLACEMENTS --More than 14,000 Texas young men and women have been employed by the Job Corps.

Since the program began two years ago, about 13,000 male trainees from Gary Job Corps have accepted assignments. The McKinney Job Corps for girls, which began screening applicants in April, already has placed 1,132 on jobs.

LIQUOR BOARD SUSPENDS AGENTS---Coke Stevenson Jr., administrator of Texas Liquor Control Board, suspended two Dallas agents for "remarks" about board operations, and ordered them to a Tuesday, November 28, hearing here.

Action following distribution of a circular in the capitol area and in Dallas criticizing Stevenson and James E. Dale, Dallas LCB supervisor. Circular also repeated the Baptist General Convention demand for investigation of the Board. Stevenson called the publication "malicious slander."

Guest Editorial

The strongest political feeling in this country is the American's distaste for the extreme. Repeatedly voters have reversed the political trends that threatened the balance of power between institutions of society.

Such was the case with industry and the labor unions. Government stood behind the workingman in his drive to organize and bargain as a unit. As a consequence, his life was improved - as were society and the economy.

But no longer is the labor union primarily a voice of the workingman. It is a political tool used by professional politicians. And daily it faces mounting disfavor not only from the public, but within its own ranks.

A recent poll showed the majority of labor union members do not support the national political goals of the AFL-CIO. Another showed that 60 percent of the public believes unions are either large enough, or too large.

From this atmosphere of discontent could come meaningful and vitally needed labor law reform. Congress has shown a resistance to union leaders that has been lacking in past years. It refused to pass the unions' situs picketing bill which would have allowed one union to close down work by hundreds of other union men on an entire construction project.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce has proposed a 20-point program of labor law revision. It would put business on equal footing with unions, restoring a balance that has been out of whack for 30 years.

The public supports such a restoration of balance, and Congress has indicated a willingness to listen. It's now up to business to support the U. S. Chamber and bring the pendulum back to dead center.

Chamber Asks For Updating Of Membership Dues Structure

Washington Report

From Congressman BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS
1223 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. • 223-2704

A new dues structure was set up for businesses and individuals by the special board of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce in an effort to put the Chamber on a more adequate operating base. Some have indicated that they would increase their dues according to the new structure, six individuals have canceled their membership, one increased their business dues enough to remain a member, but not a voting member and two new members have been listed. Those who have not answered their letters of request concerning their dues, are asked to contact the Chamber office prior to the next meeting of the Board of Directors, December 7. Persons or businesses who have accepted the new dues structure to date are: Allison Brothers, Douglas Bales, H. L. Blackburn, Cobbs, Cross Roads Cafe, Neal Dillman, Farley Insurance Agency, First National Bank, Sam Fox, Fry and Cox, Joe Harbin, Henry Insurance, H. H. Carlyle, Johnson-Pool Tire Company, Robert L. Jones, KMUL, Marion J. McDaniel, Kerry Moore, Muleshoe Antenna, Muleshoe Publishing Company, Pool Insurance, Dr. B. R. Putman, Joe Sooter, Bob Stovall Printing, Ted Weaver, Western Auto, Williams and Merriman, Wellborn Beauty Shop, Carl's Meat Company, Pat Bobo, Roger Gorrell, Charles Isaac, Retail Merchants, L & H Grocery, Gunn Brothers Stamp Store, Brantley Service Station, Jake Diel, Bailey County Electric, Calvert Grocery, W. B. Little, Production Credit and Murrell Brown. If your name is not on this list, the Chamber of Commerce asks that they be contacted, either by letter or telephone to update the status of your membership as a voting member of the Chamber.

Recent press reports have been critical of Republican members of a House of Representatives Agriculture subcommittee, including myself, for defeating an Administration-sponsored strategic grain reserve bill. The Secretary of Agriculture, the Democratic Chairman of the subcommittee and Panhandle Democrats have accused me and the other five members of the subcommittee of denying farmers a rise in commodity prices by voting against what we considered an unsound proposal and one that could later have been used as a weapon against farmers. We were also accused of "hypocrisy" in that several members of the subcommittee are also members of a Republican Task Force on Agriculture. The Task Force has said that present farm programs have not been effective in providing the farmer with prices that can be classified as "fair returns" for their efforts. Either the programs were poorly designed or the administration of them has worked to the farmers' disadvantage, the Task Force contends. If the Administration and the Democratic chairman of the Livestock and Grains subcommittee were really interested in raising grain prices, why did they vote against a Republican amendment to insulate government-held reserve stocks from the market? The amendment would have prevented the release of any reserve stocks at less than 100 percent of parity but was defeated by the Democrats on the committee. Also defeated on a straight-party line vote of 8-5 was a Republican resolution which recommended that the Secretary of Agriculture take the following administrative actions under existing authority he now has to:

- (1) Establish the CCC release price on unrestricted domestic sales of feed grains and soybeans at 100 percent of parity plus carrying charges and of wheat at 100 percent of parity minus the value of domestic marketing certificates plus carrying charges; and
- (2) Permit co-operating wheat and feed grain farmers to have warehousing charges on price support loans paid by CCC as is presently the case for cotton; and
- (3) Provide diversion payments to both wheat and feed grain producers participating in the 1968 program; and
- (4) Increase the loan level on corn by 20 cents per bushel to $1.25 with comparable increases on other feed grains including grain sorghum.

With farm income down for the third straight month and now estimated by the Department of Agriculture to be one and one-half billion less this year than last, it would seem that the Administration would be interested in even Republican suggestions to raise farm prices. I and other Republicans have consistently supported measures to bolster farm prices. One of our bills which would help wheat farmers has just been approved by the full Agriculture Committee. This bill provides for advance payments to wheat producers on the same basis as now made to cotton and feed grain producers. But the Administration also opposes this bill. Great Society farm planners obviously place politics above parity for farmers. But it is ridiculous for the Democrats to attack me and the other Republicans of the subcommittee for opposing the Purcell stand-by grain dumping bill which they equate with being anti-farmer. Actually, without the guarantees we attempted to put into the bill, it was a political reserve and not a grain reserve -- an old "new error" political play.

with some changes of my own, may introduce it in the House. The comment made by Senator McGovern in introducing the bill certainly confirms what I and other Republicans said about the weakness of the Purcell bill. Senator McGovern said: "The provisions for farmer ownership and control eliminates the fear that farmers and some agribusiness quarters have over Government dumping or withholding for price control purposes." So it will be interesting now to see what support a bill sponsored by Senate Democrats containing the kind of guarantees Republicans wanted in the House bill will have from the Secretary of Agriculture and from the Chairman of the House Agriculture subcommittee who accused Republican members of his committee of "hypocrisy" in killing his bill -- with the help of two Democrats -- because the Purcell bill didn't contain these guarantees.

New 'Game' For Towns Seeking Industry

The Texas Industrial Commission, has announced the launching this month of a new feature in their continuing program of assisting Texas communities along the highly competitive road to industrial development. The new feature is a very serious game called "prospect simulation" or "PS" for short. In the "PS", a team of two or more Texas Industrial Commission staff men come before a community's industrial development committee just as though they were industrial site finders considering the community for a new plant location. They pose as specific industry representatives and put to the committee all the questions that the real industrial prospect would. Actually this "game" is a dress rehearsal for a community's industrial development committee before they entertain their first real out of town prospects. The Texas Industrial Commission team criticizes the performance of the committee on all points after providing professional assistance. The second step usually comes when a community shows the first elements of industrial development organization. Then a small group on the industrial development committee may arrange to come to Austin for an intensive one-day Texas Industrial Planning Seminar, or "TIPS." This is conducted by the staff of the Industrial Commission and members of other State agencies, such as the Tourist Development Agency or the Texas Employment Commission, which would have an interest in the particular community. The third step, with consultant's visits in between, is the Economic Development Clinic, which is conducted by the Industrial Commission in the community, with a broader audience of its residents present. In this clinic, a community's allies, the local electric power company, gas company or railroad are brought in to explain what they can offer to the industrial development effort. Now when the community is ready to begin prospecting for new industry in earnest, they may arrange the new "PS" session for a very realistic and informative dry run. Information on this entire program may be obtained upon request from the Texas Industrial Commission, Capitol Station, Box JJ, Austin, Texas 78711.

providing professional assistance. The first of these is the Community Consultant Visit. The Industrial Commission employs a staff of three full-time traveling Community Consultants whose total responsibility is the encouragement of industrial development programs. The consultant continues his calls throughout the program.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

The story of P. K. Wrigley and THE LOCOMOTIVE

One day P. K. Wrigley was riding on a train with a friend and the conversation turned to the chewing gum business. The friend, who had an eye for saving a penny, suggested now that Wrigley chewing gum was so well known and had such a large distribution that it might be wise to dispense with the advertising, save that expense and make that much additional profit. "I could ask the conductor of this train the same question," replied the financial genius, "This train is now going 60 miles per hour, so why not disconnect the engine? Advertising in merchandising is what a locomotive is to a train. It is the power which keeps it going."

Pronghorn Season Nets 1,196 in 1967

SAN ANGELO--A total of 1,196 pronghorns was harvested during recent hunts in the Trans-Pecos, Panhandle and Permian Basin areas, with hunter success 95 percent or above, according to Jack Parsons, wildlife supervisor of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Biologist Tommy Hailey in the Trans-Pecos area said that 985 buck permits were issued on 84 ranches. There were 754 permits utilized in harvesting 723 animals for a hunter success of 95.89 percent.

In the Panhandle, Biologist Richard DeArment said that success was 95 percent, based on an issuance of 237 permits to hunters and a kill of 225 pronghorns. A total of 291 permits was issued to ranchers.

Project leader George Litton reported an overall hunter success of 95.8 percent in the Permian Basin with a total of 248 pronghorns killed. A total of 434 permits was issued on 35 ranches; however, 175 permits were not issued to hunters by landowners.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK---The 23 High Plains member counties of Plains Cotton Growers Inc. have been assigned a total cotton allotment of 2,178,558 acres for 1968, up 12,686 acres from the allotment this year.

The weighted average projected yield for the 23 counties is set at 529 pounds, down 13 pounds from this year's 542-pound average.

County allotment and projected yield figures were obtained recently by PCG from the state office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service at College Station.

ASCS official report that individual farm allotments and yields will be mailed to producers between November 27 and December 1.

Both price support and acreage diversion payments under the Agriculture Act of 1965 are based on projected yields as opposed to actual yields. Average projected yield for Texas in 1968 is 400 pounds, up from 396 pounds in 1967.

State and county yields are figured on average production for the previous five years, then county ASCS Committees assign projected yields for individual farms based on the previous three year production.

For 1967 county yields were figured on the years 1961-65 inclusive. The first of these, 1961, was dropped from the 1968 calculations and 1966 was included.

The area's average per-acre production in 1961 was 487 pounds, but was only 449 pounds in 1966 as a direct result of an early freeze across most of the Plains, and this fact accounts for the lower projected yields in 1968.

Growers next year will have the option of diverting only five percent of their allotments or diverting up to 35 percent. On the five percent, which is mandatory for "cooperators" in the program, they will receive a payment of 10.76 cents per pound times their projected yield.

The additional 30 percent, if voluntarily left out, will be eligible for a payment of six cents per pound times projected yield.

The price support payment in 1968, made only on each farmer's domestic allotment (65 percent), will be 12.42 cents times projected yield.

Consequently the level at which the ASCS sets projected yields, has a direct, dollar-and-cents effect on producer income across the cotton belt.

In total pounds the reduction on the Plains for 1968 comes to almost 22 million. And Donald Johnson, PCG Executive vice president, calculates the area's loss in government payments will come to somewhere between $1.8 and $2.2 million, depending on the acreage diverted next year.

Johnson is quick to point out however, that this comparatively small loss of income to the area should be more than replaced by increased production and a continued strong market situation in 1968.

As of now the dates set for producers to declare their 1968 planting intentions are from February 5 through March 15.

But PCG has filed a request at both the state and national levels to have that deadline extended to give growers additional time to study markets and weather conditions before making firm acreage commitments.

Listed below are the 1967 and 1968 allotments and projected yields for Bailey and nearby counties.
