Lions Hear Talk On Post-War Bond Drive Survey

E. W. White of Washington, D. C., who is in Haskell County conducting a survey for the Treasury Department, discussed his work with Haskell Lions when the service club met Tuesday noon. White was invited to the club by Lion T. R. Odell. The local survey is being conducted in only two Texas counties—Haskell and Lubbock. Principal objective of the study, according to White, is to determine attitude of the public toward another bond drive. The drive is being contemplated by the Treasury Department to prevent depression in coming years rather than to help defray present governmental expenses. White pointed out that bonds bought during the war are being cashed at an amazing rate, and the government is urging people to hold bonds until maturity and also to continue regular purchase of bonds to fall back on during lean years ahead. Lion Bill Wilson was called on to explain steps taken by the Central West Texas Fair Association and the American Legion in connection with proposal of veterans to sell tickets to the fair. Lion Wilson declared a new car will be given away on final night of the fair, October 12. Tickets to the fair will be numbered and every ticket will be a chance on the car. A portion of the funds secured by sale of tickets by veterans will be used for construction of the American Legion Memorial Building. Wilson also declared that the building would be used as a community building—for gatherings of all groups when a large hall is needed. In the absence of Lion J. G. Vaughter, Lion S. E. Lanier was appointed tail twister for the day. Hobart Walling of the Veterans Administration, Lubbock, and Boyd Baird of the local veterans school also were guests.

Final Plans Mapped For Staging 1946 CWT Fair Here

Definite decision for carrying out all plans previously mapped for the Central West Texas Fair to be staged during the second week of October after having been suspended during the years the nation was at war, was voiced at a meeting of directors of the association Friday afternoon. Directors gave their approval to a program of new building installations and all repair work needed to place the exhibition buildings and grounds in shape for the 1946 exposition. R. C. Lowe was placed in full charge as supervisor of the grounds and building improvement project. Despite a summer drought, prospects are good for a full entry of excellent displays in the agricultural and Home Demonstration Club exhibits at this year's Fair, directors were told by F. W. Martin, county agent, and Miss Louise Newman, home demonstration agent. They expressed the opinion that above-par exhibits will also be shown in the individual farm sections at the fair. In the poultry division, Supt. W. P. Price held the opinion that entries would fill the complete score card, and pointed out that quality of birds should be the best in years due to the intensive work of breeders and poultry raisers to develop their flocks to a high production level during the war. Livestock exhibits will probably be on a smaller scale than in pre-war days, but the quality of animals shown will be better, directors were told, and in the 4-H and FFA divisions the animals competing for show awards will be far above the average entered in previous fairs.

Showers End Two-Months Heat Wave

Ending this sections' most severe heat wave in years, showers Monday night and Tuesday brought .10 inch of moisture, first rainfall since June 30 when .65 inch was recorded. The light precipitation here this week was exceeded in other sections of the county, with heavier rainfall reported north and northeast of Haskell. Beneficial rains were also reported over a wide section of West Texas, ending a summer drought which had prevailed generally over Central West Texas. Although moisture received this week was not sufficient to insure growth of cotton and late feed, resulting cooler temperatures will revive late crops which have a chance to mature if additional rain is received during the next few days.

Test To Palo Pinto In Spotlight of Oil Activity

Entry of a third operator in Haskell County oil development, the Calstar Petroleum Company's southern states division, and outcome of Thos. D. Humphrey's wide outcrop try the No. 1 W. C. Norton northeast of Haskell highlighted oil activity in this immediate area this week. The No. 1 Norton, three miles from production in the Lawson pool, was drilling Thursday morning below 5,000 feet, with operators expecting to pick up production in Palo Pinto lins around the 3,500 horizon, reported bottom contracted for the rotary test. Due for completion this week-end was Humphrey's No. 3 J. Z. Miller in the west extension area of the Lawson pool, where the Dallas operator has already completed six producers. Pipe was set in the No. 3 Miller on top of Canyon lime Wednesday afternoon in preparation for bringing in the well with spudder. Surface pipe was also set Wednesday in Calstar No. 1 A. W. Cox, scheduled as a 5,500 rotary outcrop southwest of the Lawson pool, with drilling due to start Friday. Paul Miller, vice president and manager of southern states division of the California corporation, has been here several weeks in connection with assembling the block and arranging drilling operations. Calstar's first venture in Haskell County is located 330 feet out of the northeast corner of the A. W. Cox tract in Subd. 10, H. O. Campbell Survey. The tract is in a block of approximately 2,000 acres assembled by the company in the Campbell and I. Ramos surveys. The acreage lies from one to one and one-half miles southeast of Haskell, and their first test is approximately three miles southwest of production. Interest in the projected extension try is held by R. O. Gould Co., on a farm-out from Calstar. Drilling contractor on the well is Thos. J. Carter of Dallas. Rig is scheduled to be moved in next week for spudding of Estes & Waggoner No. 1 Mrs. W. Bruestet in Block 25, J. Scott survey two miles northeast of Haskell. The test is scheduled in 3500 feet with rotary, and is the first drilling venture of the Amarillo independent operators in Haskell County. Leasing activity has continued brisk despite the fact that most of the area in a wide radius of production has been included in blocks taken by independent operators and several major companies. Several companies and operators with large holdings have within the past ten days taken leases on acreage property inside the city limits on the south and east sections of town, and in some instances have taken leases on individual city blocks. Leasing also has extended to the west and southwest sections of the county, with drilling blocks being assembled currently in the Rochester and Sagerton sections.

Haskell Soldier At Geiger Field, Wash.

Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash.—Richard Kingsbury of Haskell, Texas, has begun training as an Aviation Engineer of the Army Air Forces at Geiger Field, Spokane, Washington, according to word received today from Colonel Eric Dougan, Commanding Officer.

The many skilled subjects taught at the AAF Aviation Engineer School, such as repair and operations of automotive equipment, tractors and graders used in airport and highway construction, should prove of inestimable value as a future civilian occupation.

Drafting, surveying and carpentry are some of the other subjects taught at the Engineer Training School.

Upon completion of his training the new Aviation Engineer soldier will probably be assigned to an Aviation Engineer unit. These units are an integral part of the Army Air Forces and have as their mission the performance of all engineer work needed by the Air Forces in all theaters of operations.

Something new to military science, the Aviation Engineers' performance in this war remains to be fully told. It is a matter of recorded history, however, that the mechanical might of the Aviation Engineers in far-flung battle areas constructed our bases from which were launched the many knock-out punches against our enemies.

Former Haskell Man, G. I. Student In University of Texas, Blast's 'Regulars' And Urges Support of Homer Rainey

Austin, Texas, Aug. 17, 1946.

Friends and Fellow Citizens: My name is John Guest and I lived in Haskell for seventeen years. My father lived there as did my grandfather, who was a pioneer in that section. After four years in the University of Texas, and over three years in the Army, I do not feel that it is out of place for me to talk with you about a matter of importance to all of us—the Governor's race.

I was in the University of Texas when Homer Rainey was president, and since that time have come to know more about the man. I can say to you with all sincerity that he is an honest, practical Christian man, a GREAT TEXAN and LOYAL AMERICAN of whom we can all be proud. But I have seen the name of that good man dragged through the mud so long that I can no longer refrain from speaking out against this gross injustice and lack of fair play.

While we Americans and Texans were actively engaged in stamping out Fascism in Europe and Asia we had a gang of home-grown Fascists to spring up in our own backyard. They called themselves "TEXAS REGULARS," but they are neither good Texans nor Democrats. They tried to steal the people's vote at the Chicago Convention, and have stopped at nothing to spread their evil influence throughout our political and education system.

The gang of millionaire-lawyer-lobbyist Regents which fired Homer Rainey, and which promised that they would smear his name from one end of the State to the other if he should run for Governor, are examples of the political appointments made by the Regulars in power. The lengths to which power-mad and greedy men will go to accomplish their own ends is clearly shown. When the Regents tried to put their own Fascist ideas into practice in the University, Homer Rainey fought back, and received this commendation from the American Association of University Professors: "For his efforts in behalf of academic freedom at The University of Texas, Dr. Rainey has earned the gratitude of our profession and of the friends of education throughout the country."

MAKE NO MISTAKE—Homer Rainey could still be President of the University of Texas at a much better salary than that offered the Governor had not honor and the welfare of this State meant more to him than money.

The Regulars, through their political propaganda machine headed by Phillip Fox, have sought to cloud the real issues of this campaign and Homer Rainey's sound platform for Texas by spreading malicious rumors. They called this Christian gentleman a communist and an atheist, but common sense will tell you that a Christian can be neither of these. They said falsely that Rainey wanted Negroes in the University, and that he was leading your sons and daughters astray with bad books. Sellers and Smith talked LONG and LOUD about U. S. A. A BOOK WHICH RAINEY HAS NEVER READ, but which he had removed immediately after he found it on a reading list at the University, and after objection had been made to it. Of course, the "Gold Dust Twins," with their BEHIND-THE-BARN mentality, didn't tell you that U. S. A. is composed of three books, and that most of their "filth" came from the two books which were NOT on the reading list. They must be held morally responsible for this deception. AND YET THE SMEAR CAMPAIGN GOES ON. Backed by the BIG-MONEY BOYS of this State, the Regulars have followed Hitler's doctrine—if you make a lie big enough and repeat it often enough, the people will believe it. A lot of us G. I.'s were in Europe and saw the effects of Hitler's hate campaign. Perhaps that's one of the reasons the veterans attending the University are the strongest group for Rainey.

Rainey has a program of education, health, welfare assistance, farm-to-market roads and rural electrification which will make this a greater and happier State. The selfish interests don't want you to know of this program, since they do not believe in a just tax on their rich holdings. That is why they are spending huge sums of money in an attempt to defeat Homer Rainey. It is sickening that he has been forced to defend himself when he wanted to tell you how we could have a better State. But we must never forget that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Sweetwater Is Scene For Reunion of Turner Family

(Special to The Free Press)

On August 18 at the city park in Sweetwater, things were really buzzing, and Turners were all over the place. The Turner family was having their reunion, the first since all of the boys have returned home from the army and navy. I tell you there was a mess of them and everywhere you looked you could see another Turner or someone who was a branch of the Turner family! You have heard the expression, "enough food to feed Cox's army"—well that's just how much food they had there Sunday. My tummy still aches from all the fried chicken, chocolate cake and ice cream. I ate, not to mention all of the other good things.

In the afternoon they held a business meeting and elected officers. Homer Turner, Jr. was elected president of the group and Mrs. James Waggoner was elected secretary and treasurer. They voted to make a yearly affair of the reunion. The president appointed three to set the date and place for next year's reunion. I think that I will try to be around when all that happens because there was some discussion that they might bar-b-q a beef next year.

All were present except two—Mr. and Mrs. James Turner who live in California and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burt who live in New Mexico. Here's hoping that they will be able to attend next year.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Homer Turner, Homer Jr., Jack and Georgia Mae; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Smith and Ted; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Penick and David; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turner and Carolyn; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner and Sam; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson and Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Penick; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hullum and Edward; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, Donald and Kenneth; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Penick, Nancy and Pat; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith; Mrs. Maggie Lepard and V. W.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scoggins; Floyd Smith; Miss Josephine Warner; Moses Tubbs; Miss Ann Guest; Dick Carothers, and Mr. and Mrs. James Waggoner. These have been recommended by their high school principals and people of their communities for character, scholarship and ambition. These are named in honor of the late Mrs. Fannie Bredlove Davis, a former student of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, who was instrumental in founding the Baptist W. M. U. in Texas.

Liberalism—What Is It?

History tells us why. Every great war—and most certainly the greatest of all wars—blasts the old order out of what we believed was a sort of stability. Not only nations but social and economic classes are forced into new relationships, and people find themselves not only moved on the map but up or down the ladder and sharing the interests of groups strange to them before.

Such change sharpens the differences and widens the gulf between those who welcome and would hasten it and those who fear it. The ardor of the one group and the defensiveness of the other only serve to push them both farther and farther into extremes.

It is not too difficult to recognize the real extremists. Some of them have been speaking for themselves of late. Those to the far "left" would burn down the house to get rid of the rats. To those on the far "right" change looms as an evil in itself. They yearn for "the good old days."

The day can be saved, and will be saved, by those who neither fear change nor worship it, but who seek to understand it and to guide it toward constructive ends. We call them liberals. But just what is a liberal? Most everyone except the extremist thinks he is one.

The New Republic asked nine in public life who so class themselves for definitions of liberalism. Their replies serve only to confirm further that liberalism, like democracy, defies precise definition. But they likewise suggest that while we may find it hard to define, concepts of such breadth and depth of meaning, they are less difficult to describe.

Certain adjectives and phrases stand out from these nine responses: "human sympathy . . . receptivity to change . . . willingness to follow reason rather than fixed ideas . . . objectivity . . . respect for individual dignity."

One reply stressed that liberalism is more an attitude than a doctrine or a platform—which, we think, just about hits the mark.—The Christian Science Monitor.

It's The Law

The following editorial appeared in the Houston Post, Tuesday, July 30:

There is one almost absurdly simple way in which Texans could reduce the annual traffic accident toll of dead and injured, and that is to observe the now archaic admonition of the old railroad crossing signs: "Stop, Look, Listen."

The most important third of that advice is "Stop," since every driver with normal vision and hearing presumably looks and listens as he drives.

There is a State law which requires trucks and buses to stop at every railroad crossing. Most bus drivers both in the cities and on the roads, observe this law. Some truck drivers ignore it.

That unfortunate habit of the truckers probably explains the numerous reports of crossing accidents, especially from the Rio Grande Valley, in which persons riding in trucks have been killed or injured.

The grade-crossing stop law should be enforced. It should be enforced by local and State authorities and by the owners of trucks and truck lines. Furthermore, stopping at rail crossings would be a good habit for all motorists, to form—at least when on the highway.

Remember, the crossing sign's warning applies to the man on the road, not to the engineer in the locomotive. He can't stop at every crossing. You can stop, and if you are operating a truck, the law requires you to do so.

Don't Build. Don't Buy

Because we are in the midst of as serious a real estate inflation as this country has ever seen, it is folly to buy or build a home in the present market, according to Miles Colean, former Assistant Federal Housing Administrator.

"Don't build. Don't buy," Colean declares in an article in the current issue of a national magazine which ordinarily encourages the construction of new homes.

Recognized as America's leading housing economist, Colean hits straight from the shoulder in his advice to prospective home builders or buyers when he states in the article:

"It's strange for a home magazine to recommend this. But if it's the truth, we should not be afraid to say so. No other advice makes any sense now. Except under the direst necessity, stay out of the housing market. You can't win except on the shortest of deals, and you are almost certain to lose in the long run."

Colean points out that any builder or buyer in the present market only adds to the pressure on prices and that not only will they lose but they will be forcing others to lose.

"If you buy or build now, you face the grim outlook of losing in dollar value and quantity value," he declares. "Hole in where you are, if you possibly can, till the storm sweeps by."

"Inflation—dangerous inflation—is here now. Watch, look, and stop. There is an old saying, 'To the starving man all bread is good.' Today's building bread is bad. Be sure that you are starving before you take it."

You traverse the world in search of happiness, which is within reach of every man; a contented mind confers it all.—Horace.

Prices are the only part of the nation's food supply raised by the middleman.

Once, price was an indication of value. Now days it's an indication of nerve.

Many people think that there will be no break in prices until the government applies the brakes.

If there is a prediction of an early fall, it will not mean the fall of prices.

Now days, even the price of a dress isn't modest.

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores here in Haskell County.

Alaskan Task Forces To Test Fibre-Glass Lined Garments

Washington, D. C.—Army field jackets, parkas, boots, and mittens lined with fibre-glass will be tested for their protection against extremely cold temperatures in the Alaska maneuvers next winter. The War Department announced today. This clothing will be tested by Army Ground Force winter equipment Task Forces "Frigid" at Faribanks and "Williwaw" at Adak.

Experimental types of arctic wearing apparel, designed by the Quartermaster Corps, employ a one-inch layer of fibre-glass batting in place of the wool and pile linings used in standard cold-weather clothing.

The fibre-glass batting is quilted in small squares on nylon mesh and inserted between the outer shell and inner lining of the garment. At present the lining is attached, although the possibility of a detached liner for cleaning purposes, is considered.

An experimental fibre-glass lined parka was worn by a Quartermaster observer during the recent Musk Ox operation in northern Canada last winter. The observer reported that it afforded complete comfort even when the temperature was 49 degrees below zero—the coldest experienced in the exercise. Some recommendations for minor alterations, such as increasing the depth of the parka hood, are being incorporated in the new designs.

With fibre-glass insulation, the parka weighs 1 1/2 pounds less than the combined weight of the standard Pile Parka and Parka Field Cotton O. D. and three pounds less than the Overcoat field parka type. At the same time the fibre-glass insulated garment is expected to prove much warmer, less hampering to body movements, and easier to put on and take off.

Experiments are also being conducted with sleeping bags employing fibre-glass as the insulating medium.
