Kathleen Norris Says:

The 'Dear Woman Friend'

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"Eddie discovered to her consternation that Russ and Nancy were falling in love."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

EDIE'S marriage took place in the first months of the war, and has gone on the rocks. It isn't her fault, unless indeed it was a fault to marry a man she had known only a few weeks.

However, she was not the only girl to do that in 1942, and she and Russ had some happy months together, before he was ordered away to the South Seas. Eddie settled down in her old home with her mother to wait for the baby; she did not see Russ again for almost four years. In the second of those years, her old chum Nancy came to board with her, and all three women adored and spoiled little Sonia. Eddie and Nancy had good jobs; everyone was happy.

Then Russ came home, to find that, first, he'd earn less money than Eddie, for a while at least; second, that his lovely little daughter didn't like him, and third, that he was more lonely at home than he had ever been abroad. Adjustments were difficult, and by the time they began to smooth out, Eddie discovered to her consternation that Russ and Nancy were falling in love.

"I had never suspected it, I had never dreamed it," says Eddie's heartbroken letter. "Russ and I had been talking of finding a little place for ourselves, but there was so little choice of places, his prospects were so uncertain, and my job still so absorbing that there seemed to be no hurry about it. To mother and little Sonia and me this time of reunion seemed heavenly. Then suddenly it all broke, and Nancy confessed that she and my husband were not only deeply in love, but that the baby she was expecting was his child. She was covered with shame and remorse but that was the situation, and what were we all to do?"

Nancy Manages Household. "A complication is that my mother has not been well, and Nancy, who is very capable, has been managing things at home and taking care of her, too. Mother has always been devoted to Nancy, and is shattered by this terrible revelation. Russ is sullen and silent. Nancy goes on about household duties with her face like a mask, and I feel frantic with despair. What on earth is the way out? If they have fallen in love, seeing each other every day as they have, living under the same roof, are they to blame? Am I to blame for going on with my $75 a week job, which with my mother's thousand a year is all we have? Surely it was not wrong to offer my friend a haven in my home, when she was widowed and heartbroken? I am an ordinarily nice-looking woman of 28, always neat and smartly-dressed, but not glamorous. Nancy is 24, tiny, very pretty, appealing. Please send advice for us all; they know I am writing you."

My dear Eddie, I wrote her in reply, this is no one's fault; it is one more result of the supreme folly of war. That Nancy should be widowed so young was a direct result of war. That you and Russ should have been separated in the first important married years is another. That Sonia should not have known her father in her babyhood, that you should now be the curiously-

Nancy's unfortunate baby...

EVERYONE HURT

A letter to Miss Norris reveals one of the unhappy aftermaths of war. Eddie married a man whom she had known only for a few months. He was away in service for four years. During his absence, a baby was born. Eddie lived with her mother, who cared for the little girl while Eddie worked at a well-paying war job.

Then Eddie's old chum Nancy came to board with her. When Eddie's husband was discharged, he had to come into the house with the women and the baby. He turned to Nancy for companionship, rather than his wife. Before they realized it, they were in love.

Finally Nancy had to confess to Eddie that she was going to have a baby and that its father was Russ. Eddie does not know what to do under these painful circumstances.

assorted family's chief breadwinner, and that the war hero should be humbly hunting a job—all this is wrong. The doubled-up family works an injustice on you all. Things have become pretty hopelessly complicated, and only infinite patience and time can work them out.

And over and above all these unnatural difficulties, surely the rights of Nancy's child deserve first consideration; whatever happens, this unfortunate baby enters life heavily handicapped. To divorce Russ, to have him rush into marriage with Nancy, would only be to mix things up further.

She Knew the Risk. So my advice is, first, that Nancy get out. She was no ignorant innocent child when she surrendered to the delights of a flirtation with Russ. She knew that Russ was, and is still, the husband of her best friend, the husband of the woman who stretched out a hand to her in her loneliness and need. Exactly how she betrayed that generosity is something that the months to come are going to bring home to this unscrupulous little woman. If Russ goes away with her, as he well may, Eddie is no worse off than before. It will give her time to breathe and to think everything over.

But Russ may not go with her. Russ is comfortable now in the old home, with his wife and child. Nancy is the outlaw, and Nancy will have to go to some city hospital, get a job in the kitchen or linen room, as women in her distressed circumstances often do, and give her baby home; or, any conscientious foster-parent will give it a better break than she can, and may she come back a wiser woman. And an honest one.

INVISIBLE FLAME Campers next summer will be able to cook hamburgers and coffee over an "invisible flameless" flame. At least, that is how Du Pont describes its new tablet fuel made from trioxane, a form of formaldehyde. The fuel, produced for the first time on a commercial scale, ignites instantly with a nonluminous flame not easily blown out by wind. It was used during the war experimentally in the search for a fuel to heat field rations without disclosing positions of troops to the enemy.

MARSHALL TAKES OVER . . . After conferring for an hour with President Truman, Secretary of State George C. Marshall, above, prepared to seat himself in the office at desk vacated by his predecessor, James F. Byrnes. Marshall has stated definitely that he is not interested in politics—and meant that he would not run for president, "and if elected would not serve." Both parties, as well as the world, were assured that his office would not be a political football.

HOLDS QUADS FOR FIRST TIME . . . Mrs. Charles Henn Jr., Baltimore, Md., finds that quads, even if only a month old, make a real arm full. She is shown at St. Agnes hospital as she holds her famous month-old quads for the first time. At left are Tommy and Bruce, while at right are Joan and Donald. The children are reported to be doing exceptionally well and to be growing fast. The parents have been offered homes from one end of the country to the other—and jobs for the father.

Mrs. Bowers Hosts Chuck Wagon Dinner

Mrs. Joe H. Bowers, teacher of the third grade at North Ward School, firmly believes in providing opportunities for children to develop their own initiative in planning and executing their ideas. Culminating the unit of study on the West, the pupils were honored with a Chuck Wagon Luncheon at the Activity Building Friday, January 31. Their parents were special guests, and all of the invitations, decorations, and favors were made by the children.

The boys made miniature covered wagons which served as table centerpieces. Small pots of cactus and other novelties of the West were decorated by the girls. The napkins, printed programs, and nut cups were designed with western insignia. Designating themselves at the 3R's Ranch, the group carried out the 3R brand throughout the decorations. All of the children wore western regalia, and the cowboy boots, spurs, ten gallon hats, plaid shirts, and jeans and levis, added to the spirit of the occasion.

The menu consisted of ranch style meat loaf, western spuds, round-up salad, lasso English peas, redco buns, milk, and cowpoke cookies. This was the regular luncheon menu for the day and was served to 400 other students as well. The occasion also served to acquaint the guests with the school luncheon program.

Don Oates, who was chosen by his classmates, served as toastmaster, and led the blessing which the class recited in unison. He announced the program that followed, and the luncheon ended with the singing of western ballads.

This same class was taken by hereinafter described, as defendants.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to-wit: Plaintiffs sue in trespass to try title, as well as for damages, for the title and possession of Lots Nos. One (1), Two (2), Three (3), Four (4), Five (5), and Ten (10), in Block No. Three (3) of the Highland Addition to the town of Haskell, in Haskell County, Texas, according to a map or plat thereof recorded in Vol. 37, Page 151 of the Deed Records of Haskell County, Texas. Plaintiffs specially plead the ten (10) years statute of limitations, as provided by Art. 5510 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, Vernon's Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, Annotated, as a basis of their title to said above described real estate, and pray for judgment against the defendants for the title and possession of said lands and premises, for writ of restitution, rents, damages and costs, and for general relief, etc.

Issued this the 21st day of January, A. D. 1947.

Given under my hand and seal of office, at my office in Haskell, Texas, this the 21st day of January, A. D. 1947.

Sewing Club Meets With Mrs. Florence

The Rainbow Sewing Club met at 10 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Leonard Florence Jan. 21 in an all day meeting.

The morning was spent in singing gospel hymns. Several quartets were arranged along with the group singing.

A table loaded with good things to eat was served buffet style at the noon hour. Mrs. W. E. Johnson gave thanks.

At 2:30 p. m. Mrs. O. W. Tooley called the house to order for a business meeting. The thought for the day was given by Mrs. Johnson, entitled "Life is too short to be little." Mrs. Josselot gave a book review on "Dagwood Bumstead's Life."

Games of Bingo were played throughout the afternoon. Before the good-byes were said, the song "Kneel at the Cross" was sung by the group and dedicated to Mrs. Ethel Bird and Mrs. Bill Pennington, as they both had offered their resignations from the Club.

The club enjoyed having as visitors Mesdames J. W. Medley, E. H. Denney and J. T. Bynum. Members attending were Mesdames O. W. Tooley, J. S. Chapman, W. E. Adkins, Floyd Lusk

Mrs. Bowers to the local telephone office where they saw executed the lessons they had learned on methods of communication. Like Mrs. Bowers in her psychology of teaching, Mrs. Hillary Stone, the 6th Grade Teacher at South Ward, believes in showing her pupils the things she teaches them. The sixth graders will go in a school bus to the Haskell Free Press, Thursday Feb. 6th, to watch the printing of a newspaper. These Haskell teachers are convinced that this method of teaching is satisfactory in that both the pupils and teacher enjoy the study more, and in that the learning penetrates deeper in the child's memory than it otherwise would.

Parents who attended the Chuck Wagon luncheon were: Mesdames J. E. Berryhill, Floyd Lusk, C. V. Oates, W. R. Pierson, C. B. Thompson, W. L. Brown, Belton Duncan, James Kennedy, Robert Hodges, W. H. Pittman, Thurman Rhodes, H. L. Renfro, Opal Rose, Jack L. Bale, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Byrd, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Bowers. Other guests included S. H. Vaughter, superintendent of Haskell public schools, Mrs. L. R. Burkett, principal North and South Wards, Mrs. Cretia Brooks, Art teacher of the class, M. L. Blohm and Miss Wanda Dulaney.

Soil District Lists Work Done in 1946

The Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation district board of supervisors, with headquarters at Knox City at their last board meeting compiled the accomplishments for 1946. Their annual report showed that 298 farmers and ranchers had made application for technical assistance in soil and water conservation on 248,625 acres. Approximately 139,275 acres were joined in the district in soil conservation movement, comprising 37 soil conservation groups, and are well on their way toward completing a coordinated soil conservation program which will in time contribute to permanent agriculture.

This annual report also showed accomplishments for the district. Farmers and ranchers cooperating in the district have turned in the following accomplishments by major practices: 12,685 acres of contour cultivation; 1,639 acres of cover crops which include mostly legumes, vetch, peas and clovers; 18,337 acres of crop residue management; this practice includes leaving stalks and stubble on or near the surface of the soil to assist in controlling erosion; 412 miles of terraces; and 30,200 linear feet of diversion terraces built.

A large number of farmers have planted soil improving crops of Madrid and Hubam clover, Austrian Winter Peas and Hairy Vetch. To give some idea of how the practice is growing: 560 acres were planted in 1945 on a trial basis and 1,639 acres were planted by district cooperating farmers in 1946. Most of the farmers applied phosphate to the legumes.

Weeping Love Grass is now being grown very extensively in the district. In 1944 the district board furnished enough seed for 2 acres to two farmers for seed production. This year there are over 200 acres of Love Grass planted. Love Grass does well on low sand soil and has been found to be a very good grass to tie down sand dunes and to overseed badly eroded areas. Farmers are finding this crop to be a very profitable crop for seed production.

District supervisors point out that range land is receiving attention as well as cultivated land. Ranchers cooperating in the district program have built 15 stock ponds for water distribution and better distribution of grazing of rangeland. 26,228 acres have been properly stocked or range grass stands improved, thereby controlling erosion and increasing production. 222 acres of rangeland and retired land have been overseeded to native grasses and love grasses for erosion control and for additional grazing.

In addition to compiling the annual report, Supervisors state that goals for next year have been set to assist 100 additional farmers and ranchers and to continue to assist those already in the district program. Soil conservation service technicians at Knox City will continue to assist the district board and farmers in the district program.

Beard members for the Wichita Brazos soil conservation district are: Jack Idol, chairman, Benjamin; H. W. Smith, Mattson, vice-chairman; H. D. Gammill, secretary, Rochester; Clay Grove, member, Munday; and C. C. Browning, member, Truscott.

Advices Culling Out Non-Laying Hens

Homer Campbell, former produce dealer here who sold his business about a year ago, recently re-opened a produce concern in his former location. He will carry a complete line of feeds, seeds, coal, etc., and will be in the market for poultry, eggs, cream, and all kinds of produce.

County Agent F. W. Martin says most Texas flocks could lose one of every seven hens, and with proper culling profits would increase. Until recently, he says, Texas egg production in 1946 exceeded 1945 for the same period, although the state reduced its poultry population to or below war numbers. This indicates a rise in production per bird.

While chick production in the spring was 20 per cent less than 1945, with good management an average number of pullets should go into production on Texas farms this fall.

The Church of Christ is a divine institution built by Jesus Christ upon the foundation truth that He is the Christ, the Son of God. The Plan of Salvation was revealed through the New Testament writer by the Holy Spirit and requires people to hear the gospel, believe, repent of every sin, confess Jesus Christ as Lord, and be baptized for the remission of sins. This one becomes a Christian and must live faithful to the instructions of the New Testament.

We speak where the Bible speaks and remain silent where the Bible is silent; we call Bible things by Bible names, do Bible things in Bible ways; we have no creed but Christ; no book but the Bible; no name except that authorized.

The Stage Door: Craig Reynolds, first actor to enlist (and the first to get hit with a Purple Heart), gets so few roles these days he has to take odd jobs to balance the budget. . . . Salaries are rolling back. The $200 a week comedians again are being offered $200, instead of the wartime bribe paychecks—and accepting them. . . . Profit on "The Jolson Story" now is figured in "excess of five million bucks." . . . The dog in "Lovely Me" has been ordered to move from his boarding house because he comes in too late (after curtain time) and wakes up the other dogs. . . . The role of the fencing champ (he appears only in the first act) of "Cyrano" is so strenuous he has to alternate with another. . . . And you have troubles? Two days after Helen Walker's producer announced she would dance "for the first time" in her next role, she was badly fractured in a crash.

Midtown Vignette: Norman Gordon is the 6' 4" basso of the Met. He is also the top male singer in the revived "Street Scene." . . . Norman believes in direct action. . . . Gordon went over, grabbed the nuisance in his arms, carried him to the street and dumped him into the gutter, saying: "You're spoiling my dinner, Adolf!"

The Press Box: Georgia offered a striking illustration of the methods used by Fascists to take advantage of confusion and strong-arm their way to power—completely disregarding the laws. Governor Arnall deserves support for refusing to be pushed around by the Talmadge hoodlums. The actions of those muscle-men gave America a chilling example of fascism in action. . . . A Bawstin gazette observed so many generals and admirals are getting top jobs, Washington is no place for a felt hat. . . . After giving the news from Dixie the once-over, you'd never think the Emancipation Proclamation was signed 84 years ago. . . . The Jersey Journal solved the mystery of the "J. He greets every corny line in a show with a cornier comment but thinks a guy is a celebrity when he has more wives than children.

The Late Watch: Those stratosphere salaries paid H'wood stars are coming down fast. Drop in box office receipts, curtailed production, etc., have studios pruning costly player rosters. Many stars, however, are willing to take a shave. Supply and demand, you know. . . . Sonora will market 20 million new black label platters at 39 cents retail. That 20 to 40 p.c. under current market and is the first price break in this field since Dec. 7, 1941. . . . Tropical Park track reports attendance was up 50,000 but the "take" is down 10 per cent. . . . The police have notified all night clubs they must be closed and empty at 4 a. m. This is very funny considering most joints are empty much earlier.

New York Novelle: Justin McCarthy, the young lone-wolf stick-up fool (who was collared recently), is well known to Broadwayers. . . . He sold several of them plenty of "shares" in an electronic and helicopter firm which flopped. . . . Most of his suckers are no little miffed with Justin because "he didn't at least apologize" with some of the loot he got away with—sticking up night club patrons in their cars—as they waited for lights to change. . . . He almost talked a famed radio star into starting a manufacturing company with him. . . . One of his stock victims was ready to tell the gardemas about him six months ago (which would have ended his career of crime before it started), but Justin talked him out of it. . . . The irony of it: Had he gone to the hoosegow then the term would have been short. Now he may spend his life in jail.

Truman's admiration for Sec'y of State Marshall amounts to hero worship. He is said to have referred to Marshall as "the greatest living American." . . . WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Tax Refunds to Cover Portal Awards; Study Enemy's Food Needs; Congress to Press Probes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PORTAL: Tax Relief

The burden of portal to portal back pay will largely be shouldered by Uncle Sam when, and if, union members are awarded their substantial claims against industry as a result of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's announcement that such outlays are deductible against taxes levied in the years affected. . . . Because portal payments to workers will be liable to taxation, however, the U. S. stands to recover some of the refunds in personal income taxes. In many instances, the portal claims run into hundreds of dollars per worker, leaving them open to a heavy bite under the high wartime rates. . . . Under Snyder's ruling that industry could claim credits on taxes paid in the years for which portal demands were granted, companies would be able to take advantage of high rates and excess profits levies of the war years. At the same time, they would be entitled to a 6 per cent interest on the money collected from them to cover their tax liabilities.

FOOD: Enemy's Need

Declaring that the U. S. could not afford to permit the American flag to fly over a gigantic Buchenwald, former President Herbert Hoover undertook another survey of food needs in the U. S. and British occupation zones in Germany. . . . In addition to providing for essential German relief, Hoover's plan was aimed at making the reich as self-supporting in food needs as possible. Improvement in the food situation would lead to a reduction in present U. S. relief costs of 300 million dollars annually. The former president had the assistance of two food experts on his tour, being accompanied by Dr. Dennis Fitzgerald, chairman of the international Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who aided him in World War I relief work. . . . At the same time that Hoover headed westward, Hallam Tuck, his associate on the famine study tour of last spring, headed eastward to survey food conditions in Japan, Korea and the Ryukyus. Tuck also will be concerned with the long—as well as short—range requirements of those Asiatic countries in an effort to boost their food output.

GANGSTER: Back on Page 1

Although he has been living in seclusion in his $100,000 villa on Palm Island in Biscayne Bay, Fla., for the last seven years following his release from federal prison, Scarface Al Capone still proved to be Page 1 news. . . . The former overlord of Chicago vice, whose name became a symbol of the gangsterism of the rib-roaring 20s, made the headlines the country over when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and lay near death. His wife, faithful as ever, prayed at his bedside, and the rest of the Capone clan hurried in from Mercer, Wis., and Chicago. . . . Secrecy continued to shroud the Capone villa. While sleek autos, filled with mysterious characters, whizzed in and out of the private grounds, reporters and photos waited outside to get their information second-hand. Capone had not appeared in public since 1941 and rumors persisted that paralysis had left him with the mind of a 12-year-old. On the other hand, it was said that his supposed debility was as hale as ever and running the gang's gambling and vice business at a distance, getting his cut out of the lucrative profits.

PICKLES: Enough for Everybody

Each American will have about 37 pickles coming to him this year, according to National Pickle Packers association. . . . The 1946 crop of 10,046,000 bushels of cucumbers for pickles was expected to be great enough to meet the new, growing demand for pickles, according to the packers. . . . An estimated 5,231,970,000 pickles of all varieties will be produced. Laid end to end the pickles would reach from the earth to the moon.

Flame Restores Sight

Already blind in his left eye, Richard Hebert, 22-year-old Purple Heart bearer of Chicago, had been told by army doctors that he might lose the sight of his right eye as well within 10 years. . . . At the front, Hebert's luck had been all bad. He had been hit in the leg by shrapnel in Germany and hospitalized before being blinded by a shell explosion upon his return to action as an infantryman. . . . Back home, Hebert kept a stiff upper lip and looked ahead cheerfully. He made himself useful around his father's business establishment and married a former schoolmate. Then one day, he went down to the basement to fix the fire. . . . Coal he shoveled into the boiler apparently caused gas to accumulate. When he stirred the fire, a ball of flame shot out of the boiler door, singeing his arm and the lid of his blind eye. When he came back upstairs he sensed a change. Putting his hand over his right eye, he peered out of the left: Hebert had two good eyes again.

CONGRESS: Busy Bodies

GOP congressional investigators prepared to dig deep into war expenditures and un-American activities with the full support of the first Republican majority in 16 years. . . . Senate Republicans beat down an effort of the Democrats to transfer duties of the war investigating committee to the inactive committee on expenditures in the executive department by a 47 to 45 vote. . . . The watch-dog over efficiency of the war effort under President Truman while he was still senator from Missouri, the war investigating committee widened its scope under Senator Mead (Dem., N. Y.) to probe irregularities in munitions contracts. In the wake of disclosures of the close relations existing between congressmen and army officers with war contractors, the GOP voiced its determination to dig deeper into wartime dealings. . . . Not always in favor during the liberal New Deal administration, the house un-American activities committee promises to enjoy smoother sledding under the Republicans. Now headed by Representative Thomas (Rep., N. J.) the committee laid plans for an early probe of Communism in government departments, labor unions, Hollywood, and colleges and schools.

COMMODITIES: U. S. Eyes Trade

In an effort to prevent serious breaks in commodities, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announced that the department's commodity exchange authority would be freed of other duties to permit full time policing of the markets. . . . Anderson disclosed the move in the face of growing speculation. Remembering the big break in cotton last October and the alleged manipulation of butter prices in New York, department authorities acted to check future slumps affecting prices. Studies are being completed on the factors in the cotton break, with Anderson ready to ask for additional regulatory authority if warranted by the investigation. . . . Meanwhile grain prices remained strong as the government announced it would increase its wheat export program by 50 million bushels in the current crop year to a total of 350 million.

Farm Quotes . . .

"Ride attentively through a man's farm and you will hear it preaching what he practices." — A. B. Bryan. . . . "Agriculture has multiplied its human productivity by hitching its labor to the gasoline engine and improved machinery and the electric motor. And I may say in passing that no boon to rural life has lifted greater burdens from the backs of farm women than the electric current." — A. L. M. Wiggins.

GERMANY: Polish Claims

Should the U. S. oppose Polish claims to the 40,000 square miles of former eastern German territory taken over by the Poles under the Potsdam agreement, this country faces a stiff fight with the Russian bloc. With the U. S. bringing the full force of its prestige into play, however, it may secure modification of the Polish claim or cede out other concessions from the Reds. . . . Poland served notice of its determination to permanently affix the new territory to the deputy foreign ministers' meeting in London, called to lay the groundwork for the Big Four conference in Moscow in March to formulate a German treaty. Since given control of the territory at Potsdam, the Poles said they have moved 1,383,000 Germans out and 3,500,000 Poles in. . . . Nub of the disagreement lies in the Poles' contention that they were led to understand they were given full sway over the territory at Potsdam. The U. S., on the other hand, holds that they were merely given temporary administrative control, with the question of Germany's final postwar borders to be settled at a peace conference. As matters stand, the Poles have a good chance to retain most of the territory.

BASEBALL: Big Feller

How times do change! In 1897, Denton (Cy) Young, the greatest pitcher of them all, signed up with the Cleveland Indians for $2,000 a year after a banner season the summer before when he won 29 and lost 16. . . . Almost 50 years later, 28-year-old Bobbie Feller, all-time strikeout king, came to terms with the same Cleveland Indians for 1947 for basic pay of $50,000 and bonuses based on attendance that could bring his net up to $90,000. He is to receive an extra $7,500 when adult home attendance reaches 700,000 and $7,500 for each additional 100,000 up to 1,000,000. After that, he will be paid $5,000 for each additional 100,000 up to 1,200,000. . . . Should Blazin' Bobbie pull down $90,000 this year, he will become the highest paid player in history, surpassing Babe Ruth's $80,000 in 1930-31. The great Ty Cobb never made more than the $50,000 he drew in 1926, and the colorful Dizzy Dean, outstanding pitcher and showman of the 1930s, only reached $30,000 in 1935.

BOBBIE FELLER
Due for a Nist.

After 100 years of federal supervision, the American Indian may be freed if congress acts favorably on a proposal of Senator Langer (Rep., N. D.) to abolish the office of Indian affairs in the interest of economy. . . . Five other members of the senate's civil service committee backed Langer's measure. Senator Chavez (Dem., New Mex.) declared that the Indian sought no special favors from the U. S. but only wanted educational opportunities, sanitation, water and land of his own. Senator Ecton (Rep., Mont.) backed Chavez' statement, asserting that progressive Indians chafed under the need to obtain permission for productive expenditures. . . . Ecton also agreed with Langer that the government would have to provide for aged Indians, probably through the social security act. In the meantime, Ecton urged that younger Indians be educated to assume full citizenship on reaching 21 and equipped to make their own way.

CHURCH AND LABOR

It hasn't been announced officially, but prominent church leaders are beginning an important behind-the-scenes study in connection with the government's efforts to maintain industrial peace. There have been several private meetings recently at which both Protestant and Catholic clergymen sat down and traded ideas with industrial and labor spokesmen on the question of labor relations. . . . While the churchmen deny that they are endeavoring to make religion a "bargaining factor" in the settlement of labor disputes, they feel that the church should play a definite part in improving work and pay standards. They also believe it is the duty of the church to inject a "greater sense of moral responsibility and understanding" in bargaining between employers and employees. . . .

CAPITAL CHAFF

Washington's poorest guesser is the Pentagon official who transferred General Marshall from a plush suite of offices at the Pentagon to a small, two-deck room just four days before the general was named secretary of state. . . . Henry Wallace has jacked the New Republic's circulation up from 40,000 to 100,000 weekly in one month. . . . Harold Smith, former director of the budget, may replace Jack Hutson as assistant secretary general of the United Nations. . . .

THE GEORGIA MESS

WASHINGTON.—It was carefully brushed up at the time, but the political mess in Georgia might have been avoided if the justice department had gone ahead with a secret probe it conducted of the Talmadge election. . . . Last fall, the justice department had FBI men making a thorough check of Talmadge intimidation and racial discrimination at the polls. This, under recent supreme court rulings, now is the direct concern of the federal government and can be prosecuted as a criminal offense. . . . The FBI investigation showed that Talmadge had sent instructions to the Georgia primary polls aimed at preventing Negroes from voting. Although the evidence was conclusive, the justice department finally got cold feet. The case was dropped. . . . One obstacle the justice department ran up against was the fact that Eugene Talmadge was sick and they couldn't get to him for interrogation. Also, Sen. Herman Talmadge outbluffed the justice boys and refused to answer questions unless a stenographer was present. . . . Final factor, however, was the fear that federal government intervention in Georgia would boom-boom, hurting the very same liberal forces the justice department wanted to help. . . .

MARSHALL'S WAR LEAK

One of the most significant things to watch regarding the state department under General Marshall will be whether he continues Jimmie Byrnes' policy of open diplomacy. . . . No secretary of state since Charles Evans Hughes has been as frank with the press as Byrnes. Hughes handled all press conferences himself, was a master at giving important background information, was generally frank and forthright. Byrnes, while not handling many conferences himself, went further than Hughes in making sure that a competent state department official gave newsmen a general picture of what was happening inside diplomatic negotiations. . . . Byrnes also didn't object to most news leaks; felt the American people had the right to know about foreign policy. . . . However, some of those allegedly close to General Marshall say he may tighten up on the Byrnes policy and crack down on news leaks. This, of course, may be unfair to the new secretary of state; for, based on his own past record, Marshall has been quite a "leaker" himself. In fact, one cable seized from the files of the German foreign office now reveals that General Marshall was woefully indiscreet in the early stages of the European war and inadvertently let out important secrets to the enemy. . . .

AIDS TAX EVADERS

Some of the nation's biggest black-marketers and on-the-make war contractors are getting away with income tax evasion, thanks to a snarled-up situation inside the justice department. . . . Around 300 criminal income tax cases are awaiting prosecution, with little chance of rapid action. Behind them is another 1,200 income tax fraud cases in the treasury, soon ready for transmittal to the bottlenecked justice department. Meanwhile, the black-marketers and certain war contractors have been getting away with murder. . . .

A Losing Battle

Recently your Home Town Reporter discussed the report of the house small business committee showing how ineffective had been the fight against trusts and monopolies during the past 50 years, and how this concentration of economic power had grown to effectively shut out competition. . . . President Truman, although aware of the conservative trend of the present congress, did not hesitate to back up this house committee report and, indeed, of a prior finding of fact by a committee known as the temporary national economic committee. Said the President: . . . "The second major policy I desire to lay before you has to do with the growing concentration of economic power and the threat to free competition in private enterprise. . . . to strengthen and enforce the laws that regular business practices is not enough. Enforcement must be supplemented by positive measures of aid to new enterprises. Government assistance, research, programs and credit powers should be designed and used to promote the growth of new firms and new industries. . . . we also should give special attention to the decentralization of industry and the development of areas now under-industrialized." . . .

Expect Little Action

Although this question of eradication of monopoly and concentration of economic power is considered by economists as ranking high in importance if the American capitalistic and free competitive enterprise system is to survive, there is grave doubt if this congress will take any action, either upon the President's suggestion or the bill which Senator Morse and his colleagues have introduced. It may be remembered that Senator Morse introduced this same bill in the 79th congress and it ran up against a stone wall of opposition. If possible, the present congress is more conservative, more inclined to let business alone than even the last congress, and although the anti-trust division of the justice department and the restraint of trade suits may be pressed by this and other agencies, there simply are insufficient funds and personnel to carry through on any well organized program, if not backed by further action from congress. . . . After reaffirming his belief in capitalism, Senator Morse declared: . . . "However, I refuse to blind myself to the fact that private property economy does not entitle great combinations to a license to make unreasonable profits and exercise unreasonable controls over the public at the expense of the rank and file of the American people. I refuse to ignore the fact that if we are to maintain this private property economy then the individual citizen who wishes to exercise economic initiative must be able to do it in a free competitive system." . . .

Monopolistic Practices Threaten Free Economy

FOLLOWING closely upon the heels of a house sub-committee report concerning the evils of monopoly and concentrated economic power, President Truman, in his message on the State of the Union to the 80th congress, held the correction of these evils in our system of free enterprise as second only in importance to curbing the power of labor unions. . . . Soon after the senate reconvened, Senator Wayne Morse (Rep., Ore.) introduced his "anti-monopoly act of 1947" making it unlawful for business firms to form a monopoly and prohibiting them from joining international cartels and providing a $3,000,000 annual appropriation for the justice department to enforce provisions of the proposed law. . . . Senator Morse was joined in introduction of the measure by Alken (Rep., Va.); Langer (Rep., N. D.); Young (Rep., N. D.); Murray (Dem., Mont.); Kilgore (Dem., W. Va.) and Taylor (Dem., Ida.). . . . Some provisions of the bill would eliminate discriminatory freight rates by directing the Interstate Commerce commission to prepare uniform class rates for railroad transportation; authorizing the justice department to participate in patent suits and prohibit patent licensing agreements which limit production or control prices; authorizing the Federal Loan administration to make long term capital loans at low interest to small and competitive business enterprises with emphasis on guaranteed loans handled through private banks; more adequate enforcement of the Sherman and Clayton acts, and amendments making officers and directors of corporations violating the acts liable to penalties; authorizing the Federal Trade commission to act as master in chancery in any anti-trust proceeding and to bring findings of fact and recommendations to the court; directing the President to review the operations of regulatory agencies. . . .

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

FIRST ELECTRIC SHAVE

We just got our first electric razor. Patient and razor are doing well. We found it under the Christmas tree and regarded it with apprehension. People had been shaving with electric razors for years. We knew that. But we had never been much of a hand with machinery. Electricity, we had always thought, was okay in dynamos, transformers, etc., but not among whiskers.

We read the directions and thought of submitting the whole business to our attorney in case of damages. Then we thought of Napoleon, of Wellington, of Old Pat, of Fremont and other brave men of history. We took the apparatus out of the box and cried — "Forward! Ours not to reason why! Ours but to plug and try!"

"First be sure the white dot is in the center of the dial," said the shaving orders. Dial? ... Was this a radio or a razor? ... Were we to get a shave or a quiz program? ... Stand your ground, men!

We fixed the dot. We made the necessary connections. We plugged in. The thing was really almost noiseless, but to us it seemed as if we had just started two airplane motors and a gasoline lawn mower. We dropped everything and read the directions again. Then we called down to see if there had been any short circuits.

It was too late to quit now. We thought of the men at the Alamo and pressed on. Our face was unscathed. So was our beard. It seemed we had failed to remove the glass protecting cover from the business end of the apparatus. Life is like that.

We took this off and went to work again. On we went in the spirit of the 49ers and the men at Concord bridge.

Everything WORKED! The beard came off swiftly. Our face remained intact. In fact it came out a better face than when it went in. No blow-outs, no knocks, no backfires. Anybody want an old tube of shaving paste and a brush? Science marches on!

Down the Hatch

Dr. E. M. Jelinek, director of Yale school of alcoholic studies (which we assume tried to trace all unjustifiable thirsts to Harvard or Princeton), says there was more drinking in America in 1946 than ever before. In fact, the people consumed more liquor in nine months than they had in the previous 12. Maybe the Republican victory in November has something to do with it.

But Dr. Jelinek says that despite the fact there was more drinking, there was a decline in drunkenness. That is easily explained by the fact that the bars chisel on the drinks so much that it is almost impossible to feel any effect until after the sixth or seventh.

Can you remember away back when the last thing a working man squawked about was the preliminaries to starting work?

It seemed to us that President Truman was really saying to congress "Do as little as I suggest, Heaven forbid!"

The Chinese are a hardy people. They have had chaos for years, they suffered from war longer than any other nation and they are exhausted and in distress. But nothing seems to annoy them as much as a chance to be rescued.

Sodium Chlorate Aids In Control Of Johnson Grass

Farmers interested in the control or eradication of small areas of Johnson Grass on their farms can successfully accomplish this by properly applying sodium chlorate to the infested areas.
Sodium chlorate applied to the soil either as a dry salt or in solution causes temporary sterilization of the soil and kills the plants. It is soluble in water and after each rain will penetrate deeper into the soil, burning and gradually killing the roots of Johnson Grass. It will usually leach completely out of the soil in 12 to 18 months after application, and the soil will then grow desirable crops.
For Johnson Grass control, sodium chlorate should be applied at the rate of 3 pounds per square rod. It may be mixed with equal parts of soil or sand to get better distribution and spread on the ground where Johnson Grass is growing. Rains will dissolve the weed killer and leach it into the soil and kill the roots. Quicker results may usually be obtained by dissolving sodium chlorate in water at the rate of one pound per gallon and then spraying or pouring this solution on the soil around the base of plants to wet the soil to a depth of at least one inch. Best results have been obtained when the chemical is applied directly to the soil rather than spraying it on the leaves and stems of the plant.

The areas treated should not be plowed or disturbed until a heavy, soaking rain has occurred and all the roots have been completely killed by soil sterilization. On sandy, porous soils, quicker kills may be expected than on heavy clay soils.
When sodium chlorate is mixed with water the operator should take precaution not to get his clothes wet because when it dries it unites with cotton or other organic matter to form an easily inflammable product. Smoking should not be tolerated when using sodium chlorate and all instructions on the container should be carefully observed. It is safer to apply sodium chlorate in a dry form and it can be applied much faster and without additional cost to the operator for spraying equipment.

Where a mixture of sodium chlorate and calcium chlorate is used, four pounds should be used per square rod to get the same results as three pounds of sodium chlorate. The above mixture is sold under the trade name of At-lacide, and seems to be more plentiful at the present time than sodium chlorate.

My, how she's grown!

This is the snow-suit that fitted Sally so well only two years ago. It was a little snug last winter, but still wearable. Now it's outgrown. Sally needs a new outfit—fast!

A lot of businesses are in the same spot as Sally. Their facilities are outgrown too. During the tight war years, they nursed old equipment along, patiently waiting for new materials and machines. And all the time they, too, kept on growing. But a lot of things they've been needing still aren't available.

That's why so many businesses—our own included—are like Sally, straining at the seams, waiting for the new materials we need.

This is a friendly apology to those folks who've asked to be added to the service lines. Though we haven't gotten around to you, we haven't forgotten you. We appreciate your patience, and want you to know that—as soon as the needed materials become available—we'll be happy to bring cheap, dependable electric service on to you, too.

LAST LOVER

BY Helen Topping Miller

Jill McFarlane, 26, has fallen in love with Lieut. Spang Gordon. Her mother, Julia, is upset as her own husband, Richard, disappeared during the first war and she had hoped to spare her daughter from being an army wife. Jill's brother, Ric, is involved with a divorcee and Jill goes to camp to investigate the matter. Ric tells her he is on duty and unable to see her but while she is dancing with Spang they see Ric and the woman in question, Sandra Calvert, together. Jill finds Sandra an older, hardened woman. Later she is accosted by Captain Mackey, known as camp as "old Cyanide." He tells her he knew her mother years ago. He looks vaguely familiar.

CHAPTER VIII

She might as well catch the afternoon bus, but she would have lunch first and then try calling Spang again to say good-by.

Few people were in the dining-room, a few commercial travelers, several lonely looking women whom Jill catalogued as officers' wives, a child perched in a high chair and being coaxed to drink milk by a wan-looking mother, and at a table secluded near a window was the blonde Mrs. Calvert.

Jill went straight to her table. "How do you do?" she said coolly. "I'm Jill McFarlane, we met last night. Mind if I sit here? I have a phobia about eating alone."

"Delighted, I'm sure," Mrs. Calvert was cool, too, and definitely unenthusiastic. "I'm practically finished, however. My lunch—" she made a little gesture toward the half consumed salad before her, "is usually unimportant."

"A few vitamins and no calories!" Jill took a chair. "You're one of the courageous women. I'm a farm gal myself, with an outrageous appetite."

"You're very fortunate to be able to indulge it. Few women can and keep the respect of their mirrors."

"I'll have the jellied soup, stuffed crab, and some coffee, please," Jill told the hovering waitress. Then leaned her chin on her palms. "You live here, Mrs. Calvert? In the hotel?"

Mrs. Calvert was studying her eyebrows in a little mirror, disciplining the curves with a long-nailed forefinger. "I'm a camp follower," she said. "I followed my husband here—my former husband. Then he was transferred back to the islands, and I decided that I couldn't endure being married to him any more. So I'm staying because when you're entirely alone places don't matter."

"And with all the boys at the field so near there's less chance to be lonely, of course?"

Mrs. Calvert's eyes sharpened a little, but her voice kept its cool smoothness. "They're such nice boys, all of them. I was an officer's wife, badly cramped by a lot of taboos and military procedure, but now that I'm free I enjoy being with these boys of my own age. My husband was ten years older," she added, "and definitely a home tyrant. I shouldn't talk about him, poor Win, he may be in some ghastly jungle now in horrible danger!"

Nice, safe danger, after being married to you! Jill was thinking with the crude brutality of youth.

Around she said, "Nice of you to give so much time to Richard. Ric has always been more or less of a family problem. My mother was terribly worried about him until he enlisted."

"Ricky's getting on well, I'm sure. Though, of course, military life is difficult for men with his background. Men who've been accustomed to freedom and having the best of course. But they adjust themselves beautifully. We have to admire their spirit."

"I hope Ric decides to stay on in the army." Jill salted the vapid soup, poked at rubbery lumps in it. "He hates our farm, and he hasn't shown any aptitude for anything else. And, of course, he hasn't any money."

"He told me about your farm. It must be a lovely place—quite a show place, he said. I was so interested in hearing about it."

Spang Calls to Say Good-By

"It's a pig farm," Jill was blunt. "Ric must have let his imagination get the best of him once he got away from it. When he's there he loathes everything about it. We have to work awfully hard to keep it going. My mother works all day in overalls and a man's shirt. I got this blister hoing beans." She exhibited her palm. "Our farm help have gone off to the army, and even my eighty-year-old grandfather has to work, so Ric has been embroidering tales to you about green lawns and pedigreed horses and stuff, just write them off as a homesick boy's wishful thinking."

Mrs. Calvert's eyes were masked behind carefully trained eyelids. She put away her lipstick and the little mirror. She reached for her check and picked up her purse with fingers that clutched a little.

"Nice to have seen you again. Good-by," she remarked, rising.

She walked away briskly, without looking back. Jill, watching her receding shoulders, felt a heavy sense of failure, a feeling that she had done a naive and childish thing. She's quite sure that Ric is a rich woman's son and that I'm a meddling sister with my knife out for greedy throats like hers, Jill told herself.

She put Ric out of her mind, grimly, and thought only of Spang, wondering if she would see him again.

Everything lovely that she owned she had put on this morning. She had turned a hundred times before the mirror, changed her lipstick twice, worried at her nails, and pinned and repinned her hair into exactly the right sort of halo so that every curl should shimmer with allure, when at last the telephone rang.

Spang said, "Hello, Jill, I was afraid you might have checked out."

"Oh, no—I may not go for hours. Will I see you again, Spang?"

"Sorry," he said slowly, while Jill's heart grew heavier, "can't make it today. They're running in Sunday classes on me, I'll be tied up all day. But I had a moment, Tennessee named Julia McFarlane."

"That's part of the technic, Jill." "But it could be true, you know. Mother was a belle before she was married, and it was war then, too, Spang. You couldn't by any chance be jealous?"

"Sure, I'm jealous! I don't trust Cyanide, for all his bars and medals."

Jill giggled delightedly. You're so funny, Spang. The poor old man looked entirely harmless to me. Just a lonely, unhappy old man."

"He's not so old. I don't trust him any, Jill. Stay away from the fellow."

"Oh, I'll be going home right away now, on the afternoon bus. You don't know when you're leaving, Spang?"

"No, I don't know, and even if I did, I couldn't tell you, Jill—and you know better than to ask."

"You'll be fighting, won't you?" "Gosh, I hope so! I'm tired of this academic stuff. The Japs haven't read any books, but look how they fight!"

"Will you write to me, Spang?" "If I have a chance, I will. Will you answer if I write?"

"How silly! Of course I'll answer. Pages and pages, all about the pigs."

"You can tell me what you're doing."

What would she be doing? Waiting! Hung up by the heartstrings, tormented by the inching of the hours! Oh, Spang, please let me have love to keep, a fire to warm myself by when the dark comes too early!

But though he said good-by half a dozen times, he did not speak of love. He hung up, with the same little flick as the salute he always gave when he left her.

She breathed, "I love you, Spang." But the click of the telephone being disconnected left the whisper hanging in air, unheard, unanswered.

After that she cried. Long and wretchedly, all alone, with the hot afternoon passing.

The yellow leaves began falling from the apple trees and the sumac burned red against the fences.

Jill crossed her booted leg over the saddle. The mare, Dave's new saddle mare, was warm and saltily moist and lazy.

"I hate September!" Jill said abruptly. "It's a stupid month, that doesn't mean anything. It isn't summer, and it isn't fall. It just sulks through thirty days. All the flowers are tired, but they won't die, and the whole world looks shabby. People look shabby, too, in fady summer clothes or fall things that show dust and are smothery. If ever I do something completely mad and unforgivable it will be because it's September and I can't bear it."

Dave did not look at her. Julia was worried about Jill, her growing irritation, her restlessness, her impatience with everything.

"That isn't the answer, Dave," Julia had said. "Not trumpeted-up jobs that she sees through instantly and does with that air of awful patience and thinly concealed contempt."

She knew so well that there was no answer to the problem of Jill. The bloom of love, fruit and glowing, was upon Jill now, she was ripe with it, gilded with it, and every nerve and vein were vibrant with readiness, and she had not been chosen. Her loneliness was made brackish by the bitter distillation of disappointment, and tears too fiercely contained canker into acid and weaken the strongest spirit.

"Take her places, Dave," Julia had pleaded. "I can't do anything for her. To a woman in Jill's state of mind other women are utterly obnoxious, even women they love."

Keep Hearts in Tune With Times (See recipes below)

Valentine's Day

If you get into a party mood around this time of year, one of the most festive occasions for a get-together can be on Valentine's Day. There are so many clever things you can do with food and decorations that it's just grand fun.

The occasion can be getting together with friends whom you like and hardly ever get a chance to have over. Or, if you want to honor an engaged or newly married couple the occasion is perfect.

Be as frilly as you like for this is a romantic day. Pink and white are your colors, and hearts your motif. Arrange furniture in pairs as much as possible to carry out the theme of the occasion, and for refreshments, select your sweetest dishes.

Here's a good menu for a simple supper party:

Ham a la King in Noodle Nest
Tomato Aspic
Heart Shaped Sandwiches
Devil's Food Cake
Beverage

You'll want to be certain to use pimiento to carry out the color scheme for this occasion, so make a memo to yourself to get a jar to use with this lovely-to-look-at main dish:

Noodle Nest.
(Serves 8)

1 pound noodles
3 eggs
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons catsup
1 cup grated cheese

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain. Beat eggs until light and combine with noodles and other ingredients. Pour into a well buttered or oiled ring mold and set in a pan of hot water.

Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 45 to 60 minutes until firm. Unmold and fill center with ham a la king:

Ham a la King.
(Serves 8)

3 1/2 to 4 cups diced, cooked ham
3 cups rich milk
3 tablespoons finely chopped pepper
3 tablespoons finely cut celery
1 tablespoon finely cut parsley
Salt to taste
1/2 cup butter or substitute
1/4 cup flour
1 1/2 cups mushrooms, fresh or canned
1/2 cup pimiento, cut in strips
2 egg yolks
Paprika

Fry celery and green pepper slightly with a little butter. Melt remaining butter, add flour and stir until well blended. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add ham, celery, green pepper, mushrooms, pimiento and parsley. Just before serving add the

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Creamed Oysters in Toasted Bread Cups
Buttered Broccoli Baked Potato
Combination Salad Bread Sticks
Orange Fluff Beverage

Tomato Aspic Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)

1 1/2 tablespoons plain gelatin
3/4 cup water
2 cups tomato juice
1 medium sized onion
1 stalk celery
3 sprigs parsley
2 tablespoons vinegar
4 whole cloves
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups mixed chopped vegetable, fresh.

Combine gelatin and water; let stand 5 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients except vegetables and simmer covered for 15 minutes. Strain and pour over gelatin. Let chill and when partially congealed, add chopped, fresh vegetables. Chill until firm and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Heart-shaped molds may be used.

Make a pretty devil's food cake for dessert, and frost with fluffy frosting. Use tiny red hearts for the design.

Devil's Food Cake.
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups granulated or brown sugar
1/2 cup shortening
Milk
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 squares chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla

With butter, substitute or lard, use 1/2 cup milk. With vegetable or other shortening, use 1 cup milk. Sift flour once; measure into sifter with soda, salt and sugar. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients and add 1/2 cup milk and mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes, add eggs, melted chocolate, remaining milk and vanilla and beat 1 minute longer. Turn into two 9-inch layer pans which have bottoms lined with paper and greased. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30 minutes.

This cake may be mixed by hand at low speed on an electric mixer. Count only actual beating time. Or, count beating strokes. Allow about 150 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and beater or spoon often while mixing.

Another type of party for this day may be made even easier. Use the tomato aspic with chicken or crabmeat salad, assorted sandwiches, and a heart-shaped mold of ice cream served with little cakes carried out in the heart motif.

Dry colored garments inside out, and hang them in the shade to prevent them from fading.

When storing linens, use a chest for them, and keep them away from radiators and pipes, or from dampness and heat.

Linens should not be starched before they are put away for storage. To prevent them from turning yellow, wrap in blue paper.

Save time washing dishes, if you are a right-handed person, by having the dishes go from right to left, say the household experts.

"I'm quite delirious about the army—hadn't you heard?"

and I thought I'd spend it with you. Nice of Mr. Alexander Graham Bell to have fixed that for us, isn't it?"

"We'll put up a plaque for him somewhere," Jill answered, making her voice light, not letting disappointment creep into it. "Sorry I have to go without seeing you, Spang."

"So'm I. Though I didn't know whether you could stand another dose of the army."

"I'm quite delirious about the army—hadn't you heard? Don't you know that all women run dizzily after uniforms, especially if they're all decorated up with brass and stuff?"

"I did hear a rumor, but I thought it might be propaganda. Morale stuff, keep the boys happy, keep 'em singing while they're marching off to war with blisters on their heels and shoulders."

A Warning Against Mackey

She said, "Spang, I ate lunch with that Mrs. Calvert today. I simply crashed in, and I know now that I was awfully stupid about it. I told her that Ric hadn't any money, and she looked at me with those cynical eyes of hers and didn't believe a word of it. It worries me, and yet I hate to tell Mother."

"If Ric gets himself into a mess let him wiggle out of it," counseled Spang. "Might be good for him. Maybe he's depended on other people too much already."

"But it might break my mother's heart. I have to think of that, Spang. And she has had enough heartbreak for one lifetime."

"I hadn't thought of that," Spang said.

"You couldn't do anything about getting him moved to another post, could you, Spang?"

"No, I couldn't, Jill. I'm only a technical officer here, and those things are handled by personnel boards with a lot of red-tape involved. Mackey's on that board, and he keeps the red-tape tightened up plenty stiff. I can't even talk to Ric, he wouldn't listen."

Jill said, "By the way, I saw that Captain Mackey last night after you left me, Spang. He came up and introduced himself. He thought that he once knew my mother."

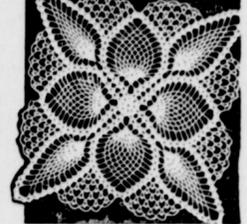

Spang did not speak for a breath. Then he said, soberly, "That's an old line, Jill. All the old he-wolves spring it when they get their eyes on a pretty young girl. Fatherly approach. Knock 'em off their guard."

"But he didn't appear to be interested in me at all. He merely said that he knew a girl once in
