Jaycees Concentrate On Business Clean-Up

Clean-up, fix-up, paint-up chairman Mrs. Joe Pat Wagon announced Wednesday that local Jaycees have accepted responsibility of urging all businesses fronting on highways to concentrate their job in cleaning up all highway approaches in and through Muleshoe. Weeds, trash, litter are not only an "eye sore" and safety hazard to passing tourists, potential customers and prospective residents, but to all localities, the campaign chairman pointed out.

"Look what service stations, for instance, can do to reap customer gratitude (and business too, incidentally), Jerry Hutton and Henry Landers are good examples of that 'extra pride' in their business as their service stations are not only free of litter and weeds but have small attractive flower beds to add to customer appeal," she continued.

Division clean-up workers and responsive citizens-businessmen were praised. Both workers and the chairman have received suggestions and problem-complaints, which, Mrs. Wagon stated, relates to one goal of the campaign, to act as liaison between parties concerned.

All suggestions and/or legitimate complaints of needed improvement areas are solicited by the committee and should be given directly to a division chairman, Jerri Nell said.

One frequent complaint given is in regard to litter and trash originating from drive-in restaurants where there are not litter cans.

A suggestion from several is that owners of rent property buy paint for tenants who are willing to paint and fix up the rent property.

Dust from unpaved roads or streets has been mentioned to division workers. The particular street mentioned most often, several blocks of Avenue B around the lake-bed, is on the city's agenda for paving.

Richland Hills Fails In Fire Evacuation

Two teachers and two entire classrooms were lost in a simulated fire drill at Richland Hills School Tuesday morning.

Each year during Fire Prevention Week, the Bailey County Volunteer Fire Department makes an unannounced, surprise trip to the local schools to conduct a fire drill.

This year, Richland Hills Elementary School was caught by surprise in a 10:15 a.m. Tuesday visit from members of the fire department and two classrooms failed to evacuate when the fire bell was sounded.

A mix-up, due to the absence of Richland Hills Principal Milton Oyler and school personnel who were not familiar with the operation of the fire bell system caused the regular fire bell not to go off. It was near recess time for the classes, and two teachers assumed the bell was for recess and did not clear the school.

After all the youngsters were herded outside by their teachers and members of the fire department, a second try was made a few minutes later. At that time, it took two and one-half minutes for total evacuation.

There are 432 students enrolled in the school.

At 10 a.m., the members of the fire department who made the same trip to Mary DeShazo Elementary School for the fire drill, timed total evacuation of the school at four minutes. Enrolled in Mary DeShazo are 470 students.

Fire Chief Earl Ladd headed a group in fire drills at Muleshoe Junior High and Muleshoe High School. Ladd reported that it took 55 seconds to clear 541 students from Junior High and 50 seconds for the 526

Football Contest

That veteran football forecaster, L.C. "Shorty" Roddam came up with most of the answers this week, but, so did Paul Wilbanks. The duo tied for first place in the weekly "Back the Mules" football contest as each missed the UCLA - Syracuse upset, and each had a six point spread in the tie-breaker.

Ruth Briscoe was right in there as she won second place in the contest. Mrs. Briscoe missed the UCLA - Syracuse game also, but had a 21-point spread in the tie-breaker Muleshoe-Denver City game.

David McVicker was close. He missed only the North Carolina State-SMU game, but had a 22-point spread in the tie-breaker.

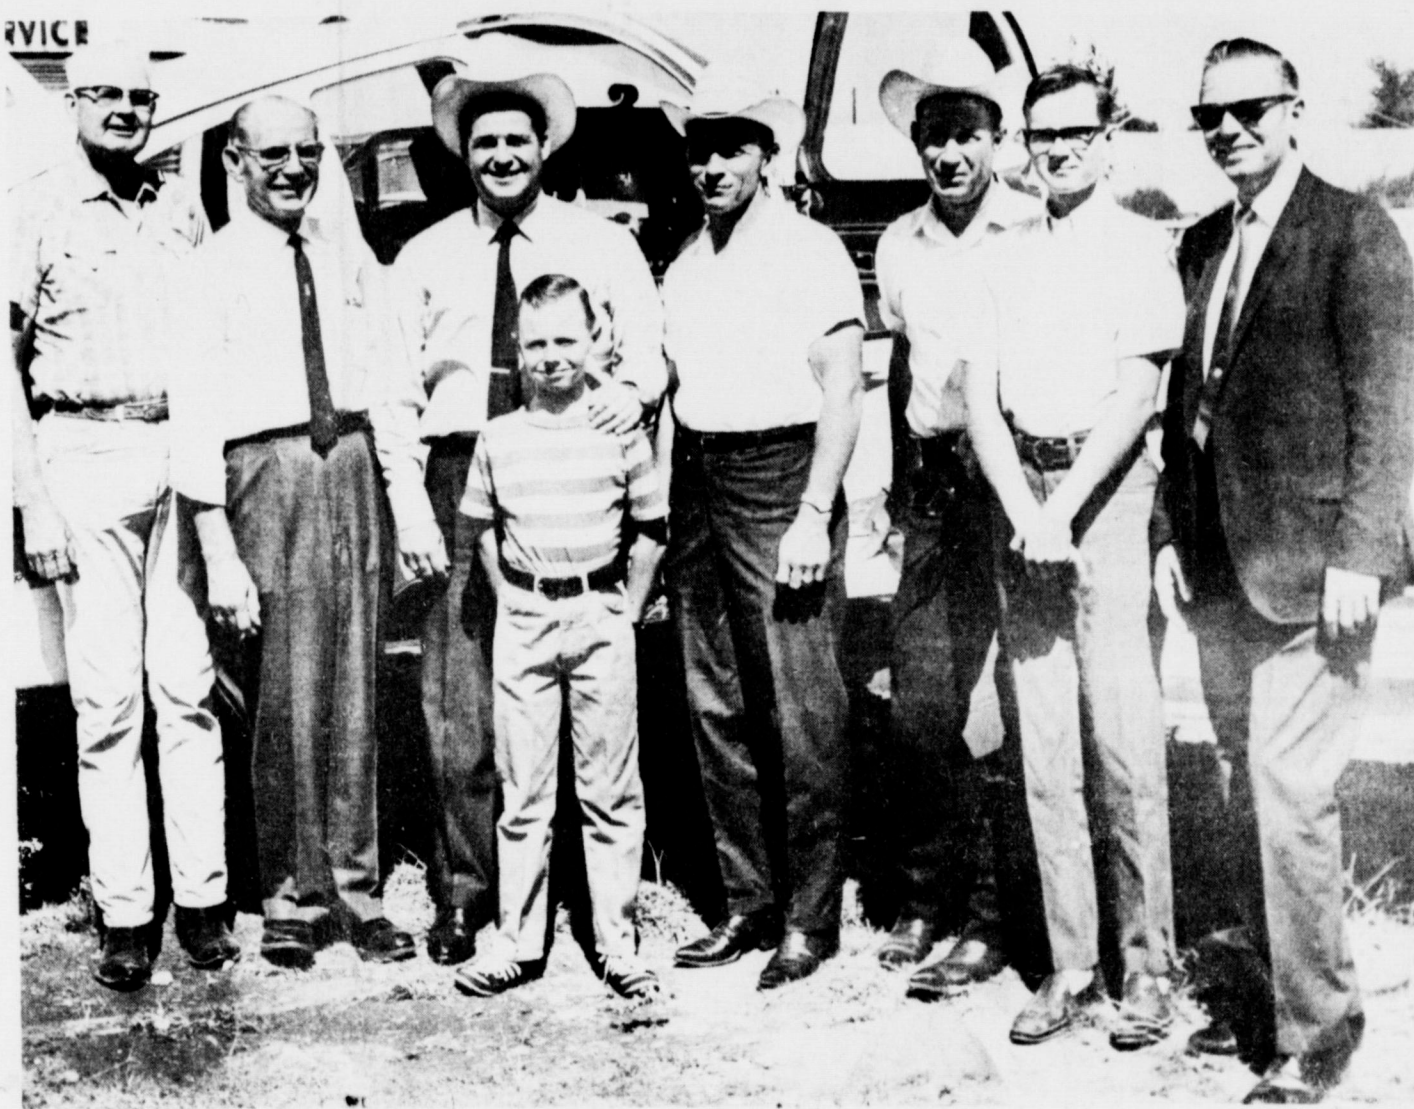

Twenty-two contestants in this week's contest missed two games.

Mules Host To Portales

Muleshoe's Mules, with a season record of 0-4, will play host to Portales Rams Friday night.

Game time is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. CST in Benny Douglass stadium. At 8:10 p.m. festivities will begin at the stadium with players and their parents being introduced on the field at "Parents Night." Traditionally, the players and their parents are honored one night each year during the season.

At this stage of the season, the Mules have lost to Dimmitt, 12-0; Abertathy, 6-0; Olton, 49-7 and to Denver City, 36-0.

Portales defeated Fort Sumner in their first game of 1968 by a score of 39-7. Richie Hinderliter, tailback for the Rams, started the scoring off right with an 85-yard jaunt, and was followed by runs by Keith Williams and Joe Riley. Eddie Finch and Carl Denham both scored on passes and Gary Griffin got Portales' last TD for the game.

Unice, N.M. defeated the Rams in their second game on September 20, by a score of 19-10. Carl Denham, kicker for the Rams, put them on the scoreboard with a 22-yard field goal in the first period. The other Portales score was in the third when Ronnie Brian plunged over from the two-yard line and Randy Fowler added the extra point.

In Portales third game of the season on September 27, they were belted by Clovis, 46-6. Portales lone touchdown was by tailback Gary Griffin in the third.

Following two defeats in a row, the Portales Rams roared back last Friday night and blanked Belen, 21-13. The Belen Eagles held a lead at halftime of 13-7, but the Rams poured it on in the second half. Halfback Eddie Finch bolted over the line for the first Rams TD in the second quarter.

Portales was held scoreless until the fourth when early in that quarter, Keith Williamson added another TD for the Rams and Denman made the extra point.

Ricky Painter made the last Portales TD and again Denman made the extra point with his kick.

Kickoff time for this one game, due to a time change between New Mexico and Texas, will be 8:30 p.m. Central Standard Time, or 7:30 p.m. Mountain Standard Time.

Bob Price Visited In Muleshoe Saturday

Bob Price was in Muleshoe last Saturday and was met at the Muleshoe airport by local friends and supporters.

Price was asked by the Journal if he felt LeMay's acceptance to run as Wallace's vice president would have a great deal of political import and Price said "LeMay was respected as having protected his country and had been efficient during our country's missile gap situation."

"LeMay," Price said "also has respect as a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Price said our present farm program needed to be overhauled and if this isn't done our present program will destroy American agriculture.

Price pointed out the present administration is attempting to keep food prices low at the expense of the farmer. Packaging, handling and hidden inflation have been affecting food prices.

"We should go ahead and win the war in Vietnam," said

Future Water Importation Vital to Area

Robert Hooten, president of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, urges all Bailey County residents to attend the water meeting here tonight (Thursday) in the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Hooten asks "Do you plan to make this area your home for life? If so, I am sure that you know the importance of water in achieving this goal."

"Did you know that by 1985, hydrologists predict that farm production on the High Plains will be cut in half?" he continued. "As a farmer or businessman in one of the richest agricultural regions in the world, I am sure you are interested in preventing the above-mentioned forecast from coming true."

Water, Inc. will have the public meeting to put the drive for water importation program on a local basis.

Water, Inc. is a non-profit organization composed of farmers and/or businessmen with a common goal... importation of water. "Only through a united effort by progressive-minded people, will a continued supply of water be assured for our area," continued Hooten.

Interested individuals and representatives from the Bailey County area joined an estimated 500 persons who attended the Texas House of Representatives Interim Water Study Committee's public hearing Saturday in Hereford.

The eight provocative agenda items scheduled for the grassroots question-answer session were unanimously agreed upon in principle.

About two dozen persons who testified at the daylong hearing agreed that it would be economically feasible to import water, that it is vital to do so, and that both rural and urban elements would when the time arrived willingly finance the $4 to $7 billion dollar project.

A price tag of "approximately $20 per acre foot plus possible a 10 percent increase in all property taxes in the area of benefit would be in a reasonable range," they agreed.

C.H. Chamberlain of Lubbock, executive director of Water, Inc., said that there is no doubt

State Highway Patrolman Gene Sisemore, who assisted Farmer County Highway Patrolmen in investigating the accident said "The white paint on the windshield, (seen above) may have been a contributing factor to the accident." Patrolman Sisemore went on to say "This tragedy is something that should be remembered in the future when anyone thinks of painting the windshield of a car."

Several have received comment on the several vacant lot property owners who need to take more responsibility in mowing their own property of weeds and thus clear hazardous weed growths and other unhealthful litter refuges afforded by such "ill-kept" vacant lots. Directed at City of Muleshoe are suggestions of various types of anti-litter ordinances and enforcement; another for clearer non-domesticated animals within city limits regulations, and more specific domesticated or lease (dog and cat) ordinances rulings.

Mention has been made to the committee of "some" property owners who don't mow their vacant lots and who are charged by the city for the service, and then are delinquent in paying the city for service which inances their own property. The complaint also commented that some of these same people do not pay their delinquent taxes, much less the mowing charge, and that this did not seem "honorable" when others paid their bills.

In reply to the latter problem, City Councilman Alex Williams quoted to the Journal figures from the Aug. 31, 1968 city audit that $23,705.42 was the amount of uncollected delinquent taxes of that date. In addition to delinquent taxes collected since April 1, 1968 in the amount of $1,506.69 penalty and interest received from delinquent city taxpayers amounted to $507.09.

It is noted that all records of the city are open to public inspection upon reasonable purpose, to those who wish to take time to study same.

Also noted are requests for paving other access roads (suggested to be either Avenue I or Avenue J) from Richard Hills area, so that some traffic might be diverted around the school zone and away from walking children and parents transporting children to and from the school. Although this is not a clean-up area, it was suggested to be a "fix-up" problem for the city.

The correct process for citizens desiring such projects, paving or other improvements, is that they petition or make their desires known to the official governing body (city council, county commissioners court, etc.) The number of interested citizens and their desires is pertinent to all such considerations.

Another suggestion made to a committee member was that unpaved streets, particularly in the north, east, and north-west sections of Muleshoe, should be kept free of large chugholes. These should be filled up following rains or heavy traffic and periodically checked by the city, several persons felt. It is realized that citizens should notify or call attention to such chugholes or bad depressions in streets so that the city may remedy such traffic conditions.

Fire Marshal Owen Jones was assisted by firemen Curby Brantley, Jack Rennels, Bob Copeland, Edd Edmiston and Don Prather in the fire drills at the elementary schools. Fire Chief Earl Ladd was assisted by Captain Earl Ladd Jr., Captain H.L. Reeder, Captain Dallas Kinard and members of their teams at junior high and high school.

Jones adds some thoughts in connection with Fire Prevention Week, which is October 6-12 this year.

"If fire strikes your property, where will it start? What will likely cause it?" he asks. These aren't just idle questions to ponder during National Fire Prevention Week, reminds Jones.

More than $190,000,000 worth of farm homes, buildings and other property go up in smoke each year, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates. A substantial portion of the 6,500 deaths in home fires reported for 1967 occurred in rural areas.

Keep deadly, destructive fire away from your home by not giving fire a place to start. Prevention, says the Fire Marshal, is always the best answer.

that the economic benefits of import water would exceed costs."

The majority of those present were from West Texas-High Plains towns, cities and communities ranging from Abilene, El Paso, New Mexico, to Dumas-Dalhart bounds and from other sections of Texas.

Attending from Bailey County were Joe Harbin, Virgil Nowell, Bill Millen, Leldon Phillips, Ross Goodwin, Frank Hinkson, Ed Little and others.

Bailey County farmer Bill Millen testified at the hearing of the interest in obtaining additional water supplies and this county being included in the project.

Both the cities of Lubbock and Amarillo (in a record-shattering "first-time agreement") testified to the fact that "water import is needed, vital, as fast as possible, and that both cities will pay their fair share."

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, chairman of the committee receiving testimony, told the Journal that his committee members were "impressed" by the enthusiastic, unanimous, harmonious hearing. "They were sold on the larger impact of this area's economy on the state's economy than they had dreamed of, as well as the necessity of this West Texas area being part of the state-wide water plan."

"There was quite a bit of comment on the 160 acre limitation put in the 1902 Reclamation (Federal) law," he said, Clayton has been appointed chairman of the new all-state Water Association Committee which will work with other Western states, to study the repeal or increased acreage size problem. The committee meets today (October 10) in Austin, for organizational planning.

All groups testifying supported private ownership, not state-wide control, of underground water, and that economic benefits of importing water justifies reasonable costs to this area. Bill Cleavinger of Wilderade, speaking with and for water associations of Farmer, Castro, Deaf Smith and Oldham counties, said "We believe our farmers will contract for water in advance of deliveries and that our taxpayers, including the nonfarming segment of our business, will vote affirmatively for the taxation as required to support the project."

Most felt non-irrigation water users will be willing to pay the 10 per cent increase in property taxes as the benefit to community-area developments for municipal, industrial and domestic useage is vital to all in West Texas.

Also favored was a master plan, agency or authority needed to coordinate with federal and state governments and local authorities, along the terms with federal and state governments and local authorities, along the terms of private ownership principles. A High Plains area territory with county representation to tie in to Texas Water Board and master district, was recommended as county-territory to be included.

Gov. John Connally asked for the future water plan for all of Texas over a year ago, thus recognizing the impact of many million dollars of 6-7 million acres of irrigated crop production in this area, spokesmen pointed out. Tom McFarland of Lubbock, manager of High Plains Underground Water Conservation District of which this area is a part, told that a study just completed by Texas Tech on irrigation pumping costs on the Plains shows "we already are paying over $15 per acre foot just to life water to the surface. This production generates about $3.9 billion annually to the state's economy. It is tied in with hundreds of industries and new developments that would move into Texas - and we hope many would locate here in West Texas - once a water supply became visible..."

He added that many urban residents of this area still "have to be sold on the idea of importing water to maintain the economy from which they make their own money."

U.S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa said that water importation is just as important to businessmen and industry dependent upon agriculture as to the farmer and rancher.

Price pointed out that studies by U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and Army Corps of Engineers indicate the lower Mississippi River hold "the greatest promise as a source of supplemental water for West Texas. And that is why a water import plan must go forward as rapidly as possible and why it must be supported by all segments of the economy of West Texas and by all government agencies - local, county, state and federal." Price told the committee.

Commenting on the Water Quality Act covering pollution problems created from feed lots and other agri-business industries, state employee Hugh Yancy testified that the state was maintaining a "good quality of water, was working and research continuing," and that feedlots were coordinating on the problem.

The woman's view of future West Texas economy and development of area economy was entered as testimony by Mrs. Argene Draper, Deaf Smith Home Demonstration Agent and wife of a farmer. She represented several H.D. clubs, women's group of chamber of commerce, and speaker's bureau of that county.

Local comment, upon return from the meeting, included the frequent references to C.B. Ray of El Paso, representing Valley Cotton Growers Association, and "sparse rainfall, drought, dust bowl and when Indians roamed. Cook of Week

Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, who lives three miles north of Muleshoe on State Road 214, took time from her busy schedule this week to submit her favorite recipe for Journal readers.

Mrs. Heathington, the former Beverley Casey, moved to Muleshoe from Haskell in 1948. She married Aubrey Heathington while a student at Muleshoe High School.

Beverley is the mother of two children, Donna, 16, who is a junior at Muleshoe High School and Don, 14, a freshman. Don is a Muleshoe Freshman football player.

Mr. and Mrs. Heathington are members of the Athletic Boosters Club, Babe Ruth League, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers organizations.

Mrs. Heathington has submitted a recipe for Asparagus Casserole, which is one of her favorites.

ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE

1 Large can Shurfine Asparagus
2 sticks margarine
10 slices bread
Velveeta cheese (to taste)
Salt and pepper

METHOD

Melt margarine over slow flame to prevent burning. Tear up bread, crust and all, into small pieces. Put bread in bottom of shallow rectangular casserole. Pour melted margarine over bread to saturate. Drain liquid from asparagus and set aside and arrange asparagus on top of buttered bread. Slice velveeta cheese, overlap over asparagus. Pour liquid from asparagus over mixture. Salt and pepper to taste. Bake at 350 degrees until cheese has melted and browned. Serve while hot.

A new style this season is that of long pants worn under dresses. The garments may be made of satin in a color combination with a sash the color of the pants. This is strictly for evening wear. If one owns a jeweled belt it may be used to dress up such a costume in place of the cloth sash.

Capes are being shown in a variety of fabrics and styles. They may be short capes of fur or velvet or they may be long capes of plaid or checkered wools.

A note from the Russians is the very long coat which may reach to the mid-calf length.

The younger Cub Scouts in (one-hundred and two) packs during the same month will be preparing for their monthly pack meeting with the theme, "Ghosts and Goblins." Tied to the theme will be skits, costumes, games, and other activities for the pack Halloween party, plus participation in fire

Explorer posts with their high-school age members have a variety of suggested activities for October. These include a Career Clinic that brings in top industrial, business, and professional men for a question-and-answer session on vocations; a Family Court Night when Explorers learn firsthand from consultants related to youth and law about some of their basic responsibilities as citizens in their community; and planning for next year's superactivity which may be a trip to one of the national Explorer camps or a trip out of the country. Other suggested activities include a Halloween party and a prospect party to recruit new members.

The Boy Scout survival trek, the highlight of each troop's October program will be an opportunity for study and practice of survival techniques. For example, suggested tests include building patrol shelters, preparing ground beds, building a fire without matches, preparing a meal of edible wild foods, and demonstrating how to attract help in case a plane flies over camp. Fact, Fiction Planetarium

Computers are really still in their infancy, but although they are only a scant dozen years in existence, they already exceed the ability of humans in the performance of many functions.

To project this phenomenon into the future, man finds that ultra - intelligent computers which will be capable of performing every intellectual activity better than man himself will be doing much of the problem-solving of scientists.

In ancient Greek legend, Pegasus was a winged horse, long before man dreamed that flight into space might someday become a reality. Pegasus, the Winged Horse, in an ancient northern constellation which can be seen in October skies.

These and other topics of "Science Fact and Science Fiction" will be discussed each Sunday in October at 3 p.m. at the Planetarium.

Admission to the Planetarium lectures is 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for students. Families holding membership in West Texas Museum Association are admitted free.

Parking is available at the Museum parking lot on the Texas Tech campus.

VALLEY SELF-PROPELLED SPRINKLER--A 16-tower, 1585 foot self-propelled sprinkler is irrigating 204 acres of Bonnell Rye with 1200 gallons of water per minute and will apply an inch of water in approximately 80 hours. Fertilizer is being applied to the water at the well head.

OPERATION FOREMAN--Bill Robinson, on the horse, Birdwell foreman on the Coyote Lake development, has the responsibility both of the irrigation and livestock. Here he talks things over with Calvin Jordan.

GRAZING CALVES--The calves in the upper left are grazing around a pivot point of a Valley Self-Propelled Sprinkler on the Birdwell Ranch. The sprinkler system operates in a complete circle and has been used successfully on marginal farm land.

New Galvanizing Doubles the Life of Valley Self-Propelled

Every new Valley is almost totally galvanized inside and out. Valmont built one of the nation's largest hot dip galvanizing plants to make this new, long-life Valley Self-Propelled possible.

save labor save water make money boom yields

Even long-time flood irrigators are switching. Valley Self-Propelled is a true, push button operation. You irrigate up to 180 acres with no more work than the push of a button. There are no stops, no re-hook-ups, no pipe to move, no constant attention. It works while you sleep. Count up the dollars you'll pay for irrigators and other labor over the next ten years and then see a Valley dealer.

Sprinkler irrigation gives you the means to save half your water and Valley Self-Propelled gives you the way to do it with even less labor than furrow-ditch systems. Think of the savings you can make when 1,000 gallons per minute does the same job that 2,000 gallons did formerly.

Drastic water and labor savings and increased yields are only part of the story. No land leveling. You pocket those savings, too. On new land developments, you can achieve the same kind of yields as farmers are getting on land costing ten to twenty times as much. Be sure you investigate Valley Self-Propelled before you invest in hard work.

Rain at the right time is the secret to those extra big yields of any crop. Many soils need frequent, light water applications and a Valley makes that possible. For example a Valley can automatically supply one inch of water every three days to 150 acres. Supply fertilizer at the same time and the right time.

Q -- I have designated my wife as principal beneficiary of my National Service Life Insurance policy, and selected the lump sum mode of settlement. Suppose that each of us was fatally injured in an accident and she survived me by a few hours. What would happen to the proceeds of the policy in this kind of situation?

A -- Since your wife survived you, even for a short time, she becomes the beneficiary under the policy. Since she did not live long enough to be paid these proceeds, the VA must pay the proceeds to her estate, and not to the designated contingent beneficiaries. Paying the proceeds to the estate subjects these funds to the delays and expenses incident to probate proceedings. This can be avoided through the use of a "Common disaster clause." An example of such a clause is: "I designate my wife, Helen, as the principal beneficiary if living 30 days after the death of the insured; otherwise the proceeds should be paid to the named contingent beneficiaries."

Thus, in the event such beneficiary fails to survive the specified period, payment of the proceeds of your NSLI policy will be made as if the beneficiary had died before the insured.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Everybody knows that the new surtax law raised the amount of income tax that you will pay (7 1/2% this year) by 10%. What a lot of folks don't know is that the rules for paying estimated taxes have also been tightened up. Most of us work for wages and our employers withhold income tax and social security tax from our wages and pay it to Uncle, and we don't have to worry about filing an estimated tax return. However, those folks who are self-employed or who have income outside of their pay check, do have a problem. This type of taxpayers have been required to file an estimated tax return in the past, but there were lots of good excuses that wiped out a tax penalty if you did not file and you met the exception. Congress decided to wipe out and tighten up these exceptions. If you are self-employed or if you have substantial income on which you have not paid any tax, you better review the amount of estimated tax that you are due to pay on September 15, or find out whether you have to file and pay because your good excuse is gone.

EMPTY HOUSE--"This vacant house, with trash and weeds, could cause a fire," warned Marshal Jones. "A rash of fires," said Jones, "could result in loss of life, or property and cause an increase in Muleshoe fire insurance rates. The city should take the steps to correct this by ordinance," Jones said.

JUNKED CAR--"Definitely a fire hazard," said Marshal Jones, "a combination of weeds, trash and old cars are certainly a fire hazard."

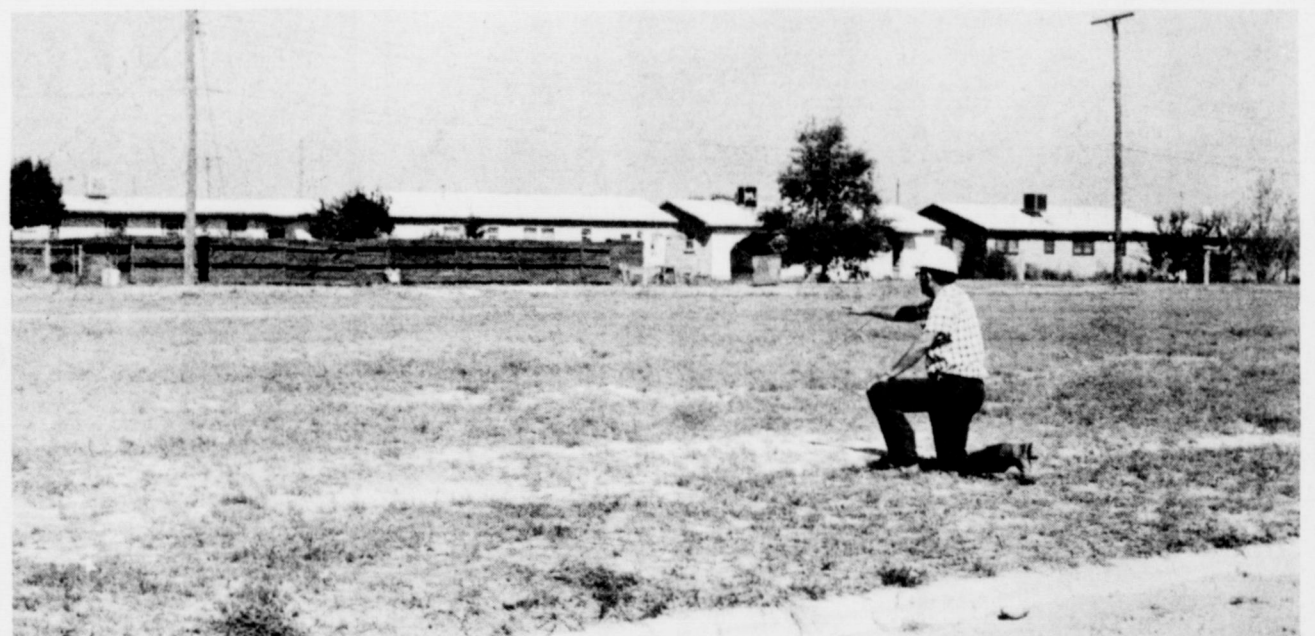

CLEAN-UP --"This lot being cleaned up will reduce the possibility of fire and remove unsightly trash," said Jones, "this lot owner is to be commended."

WEEDS--"Here weeds along the railroad right-of-way back of the Corral Restaurant could cause a fire that might burn the overhanging telephone lines," said Jones.

FIRE HAZARD--Here Fire Marshal Owen Jones points out a vacant house with windows knocked out and surrounded by weeds.

WEEDS MOWED--Jones looks at a lot in the Lenau Addition and commented that the weeds on the lot had been properly mowed and to reduce the hazard of fire, all lots should be mowed as the one shown.

WEEDS AND TRASH--Located on a main street through Muleshoe, this situation is very bad, said Fire Marshal Owen Jones.

GASOLINE HAZARD--"These two cars located next to weeds back of a filling station dispensing gasoline in the immediate area is not only a fire hazard but is very unsightly," said Jones.

HARMON'S HIGHLIGHTS

Boilermakers Riding High

It's much too soon for all the chips to be on the line, but there are a lot of marbles involved in some big conference battles this weekend: early title-ticklers like Georgia-Mississippi in the Southeast Conference... Kansas-Nebraska in the Big Eight... Purdue-Ohio State in the Big Ten... and Southern Cal-Stanford in the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Number One - rated Riveters, the Boiler-Boys from Perdue, should hold firm on all fronts with a 21-point win over 17th-ranked Ohio State. Runner-up Southern Cal might be in for a difficult afternoon against Scalp-conscious Stanford. Using an Indian appraisal from the East Coast, however, it looks as though the Trojans will notch another win, this one by 14 points.

All stops will be pulled out in Lincoln in a meeting between two Big 8 powers, 4th-ranked Kansas and 13th-ranked Nebraska. And at the risk of eating heavily salted Nebraska crow again, the Jayhawks will clip the Cornhuskers by nine points.

Ole' Miss was in the frying pan last week against Alabama, and Georgia almost had a coronary over South Carolina. They'll both be right back in the fire this week... the Rebels are #8 and Georgia is #10. Power quotients can't get much closer. Mississippi will pull it out in a squeaker by just a point.

And speaking of frying pans, fires, etc., last Saturday Miami battled the likes of Southern Cal... this week, it's 7th-rated Louisiana State. Everybody just gets tougher and tougher. So... the Tigers to quiet the Hurricanes by nine points.

Another battle of Titans takes place in Los Angeles where U.C.L.A. takes on Penn State. Penn is ranked 14th while the Bruins skidded all the way to 19th after their loss to Syracuse. The Uclans will try to bounce back, but we sorta think the Nittany Lions will bounce a little higher... Penn State by one point.

In the Southwest Conference, undefeated and 15th-rated Arkansas will continue to win, this time bumping Baylor by 26 points.

Elsewhere among the "favored few," it will be 12th-ranked California over Army by 14 points... Michigan State topping Michigan by 11 (the Spartans clumbed from 19th last week to the #9 spot)... Notre Dame, still in 3rd, ruining Northwestern by 26... and 6th-ranked Tennessee trimming Georgia Tech by 18 points.

Jerry Smith In Air Force

Captain Jerry L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Smith of Eva, Okla., is now on temporary duty with the 4133rd Bomb Wing at a forward base in the Western Pacific.

Captain Smith, a Strategic Air Command navigator, flies almost daily B-52 Stratofortress bombing missions against enemy targets in Southeast Asia.

He is permanently assigned to the 99th Bomb Wing at Westover AFB, Mass.

Ford Answers Bill Clayton

Frank Ford, Republican candidate for State Representative in this district, has replied to statements made in last Thursday's Hereford paper by Bill Clayton's Hereford chairman, R.C. (Dick) Godwin.

"Mr. Godwin knows very well that I support Water, Inc., the local water associations, and the importation efforts wholeheartedly," said Ford, but I am glad that he put his accusation that I oppose water importation in print as that statement and the one that I am not a member of Water, Inc. have been put out orally for several weeks." Ford added that he did not believe that Rep. Clayton was aware of these things, and did not hold him responsible.

"The greater part of the voters in this district who have been watching this campaign," Ford continued, "know that I have spoken out often for greater concern for water resources planning, including flood control dams, more conservation efforts, and importation plans. I have encouraged Congressman Bob Price to push forward feasibility studies bringing water to this area from the lower Mississippi River, as congress must fund both the studies and actual work on any importation."

"People who know the facts know that I have been very interested in this problem for 18 years, that I worked in the legal division of the State Board of Water Engineers, and that my brother, Dr. Davis L. Ford, a civil engineer, is Assistant Director, Center for Research in Water Resources in Austin." Ford concluded that he recognizes and appreciates Rep. Clayton's knowledge of water problems and would support him "As many others would if he should be defeated, for a state job where he could put his full talents to work for this district without the many pressures of dealing with the hundreds of other issues which confront a legislator."

Dear Editor

(Editor's note: The letter and clipping below were received in the Journal offices this week, Albert LaVigne was one of the early farmers in Bailey County following World War I and continued to farm here until 1941 when he moved to Washington.)

Dear Sir:

I am sending a clipping from the Okanogan paper. Albert LaVigne had many friends in and around Muleshoe, having farmed there for many years. He and Ben Richardson left together for World War I. Although I was quite young, I remember the party my folks (Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bearden) gave those two boys before they left. Ben didn't return - the local Legion Post is named in his memory.

I'm sure Ab's friends would want to know.

Price, "and use the forces we have available." Price also said "I do not agree with a 'War of Attrition'."

Price said one of the most vital problems for the Hi Plains is water and stated his opinion of the situation.

Importation of vast quantities of water into the Panhandle, West Texas, and Eastern New Mexico is no longer a question of whether it can be done, but rather a question of when and how.

Preliminary reports by the Texas Water Development Board and the Bureau of Reclamation leave no doubt about the disastrous effects not only on farming but to the entire economy of an area so largely dependent on agriculture, should a water import plan not be in operation by 1980.

Since 1940, when less than a million acres were irrigated in the High Plains area, more than 6.3 million acres now depend on water pumped from the vast Ogallala formation. By 1980, estimates put irrigated acreage at 8 million. But after 1980, at projected rates of withdrawal, a gradual reduction is expected until a low of 2.9 million acres is reached in the year 2020. But under the import plan, irrigation acreage could rise to 11 million acres by 2020.

Put another way, economic activity based on irrigation agriculture, including farmers, suppliers, processors and those activities providing all of the consumer goods they require, by 1970 will account for $2.1 billion. This, it is estimated, would increase to $3.6 billion by 2020. Without imported water and as irrigated farming declines as previously noted, this farm-generated economic activity would drop to $1.6 billion, an income loss to West Texas of $550 million annually.

Obviously, this cannot be allowed to happen. As a result of the planning and foresight that built Sanford Dam and created the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, eleven Panhandle and high plains cities have a guaranteed municipal water supply for many years. But these progressive and growing cities are all dependent principally on agriculture and without imported water for irrigation and future industry, they will reach a stagnation point and some of them would literally wither on the vine.

So this water import plan is just as important to the businessman and industries dependent on agriculture as to the farmer and rancher. And, that is why a water import plan must go forward as rapidly as possible and why it must be supported by all segments of the economy of West Texas and by all government agencies - local, county, state, and Federal.

Of the several possibilities for such a massive undertaking, preliminary studies by the Bureau of Reclamation and Corps of Engineers indicate that the greatest promise is from the lower Mississippi.

The conclusions of the Bureau of Reclamation progress report earlier this year point out that it is physically practical to transport the 2020 requirements if it is determined that there are surplus waters available. Congress has appropriated money for the continuing study which is scheduled for completion in fiscal year, 1972.

That report presented information on the import requirements of the High Plains area and a very preliminary evaluation of nine alternative routes for diverting water from the Mississippi River into the area. As indicated in the report, the southern routes appear to be the most promising and the study effort since that time has been concentrated in that direction.

The principal items of work now underway by the Corps of Engineers are determination of the volume, distribution, and quality of the surplus flows of the Mississippi River that may be available for export; an evaluation of the feasibility of improving the estuaries and wildlife refuges along the

FALL AND WINTER PASTURES

Good fall and winter pastures can make a tremendous difference in the dairy feed bill. Temporary pastures, say Texas A&M University Extension dairy specialists, are the most dependable source of grazing and that the use of adapted varieties, proper seedbed preparation and fertilization are most important in getting maximum plant growth.

Farm and Ranch Credit School Date is Set

COLLEGE STATION.--Two planning committees representing the Texas Bankers Association and Texas A&M University have set the annual Farm and Ranch Credit School for February 17-19.

The three-day session, designed especially for commercial bankers, will be held in the A&M University Memorial Student Center.

Program Chairman Tom Prater of the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department said the list of discussion topics has not yet been firming up but will cover a wide variety of subjects. Some of them are foreign trade alliances, cash flow and agricultural financing, agricultural policy, new deals in cattle, land and trust handling; farm corporations, contract pricing, credit sources, real estate loans, and investment requirements for full employment in agriculture.

Texas Bankers Association agriculture committee members are Chairman Tommie E. Stuart, vice president, First National Bank, Fort Worth; TBA President John F. Geis, senior vice president, First Security National Bank, Beaumont; Joel A. Hodges, executive vice president, Hereford State Bank; and John W. Jones, vice president, Commercial National Bank, Brady.

Others are Frank Kitchens, Jr., vice president, Citizens First National Bank, Tyler; G.E. Roney, vice president, McAllen State Bank; C.L. Schumcker, vice president, First Security National Bank, Beaumont; J.P. Taylor, vice president, First National Bank, Big Spring; and Leon Thompson, agricultural officer, Citizens National Bank, Waco.

In addition to Prater, members of the A&M planning committee are Coordinator Tyrus R. Timm, General Chairman Reagan Brown, Kenneth Wolf, Johnny Feagan, Don Moore, Houston Smith and James Mallett, all of the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department.

G.O.P. EUROPEAN BRANCH The Republican National Committee announced the creation of a European branch for the purpose of getting out the absentee vote among Americans living in Europe and to raise money. The national chairman, Bay Bliss, said it would function as a permanent organization.

Proper Harvesting Essential For Quality Cotton Harvest

With so much emphasis these days on the production of quality cotton, farmers in Bailey County should take a close look at their harvesting operations, says J.K. Adams, county agricultural agent.

The agent lists the following pointers as key factors for a proper harvest:

1. Lint moisture should be down to about eight per cent. This point is reached when the relative humidity in the field is 60 per cent or below. Moisture can also be checked by collecting a few locks of cotton and squeezing them together in the palm of the hand. If the cotton balls up, it is too moist. If it fluffs out, harvesting can begin.

2. Harvest-aid chemicals permit earlier harvest of mature cotton. For defoliation, at least 60 percent of the bolls should be open and a minimum of 80 percent or more should be open when desiccants are used. Use of these chemicals before enough bolls are open will result in reduced micronaire and lint yields and lower seed quality.

3. Proper timing of the harvesting operation after the use of harvest-aid chemicals or after frost also insures maximum lint quality. Cotton is at its maximum quality level as soon as bolls are open. Any change in quality will be in only one direction--downward--with delay in harvesting.

4. Strippers should be checked carefully to assure that they are properly adjusted and green boll separators should be operating efficiently.

5. Careful operation of the stripper is important. Driving the machine off-center on a row often results in skinning pieces of bark from the base of stalks. Excessive stripping roll pressure or too much speed can cause the same problem. "Barkly grades" will generally result and cotton so classed is automatically reduced a full

Soybean Harvest To Get Underway

If area farmers have done their jobs well, all that remains of this year's soybean crops are long rows of bushy, knee-high yellowing plants promising beans abundance at harvest time.

However, it takes care in harvesting to assure collection of complete soybean yields.

But rarely does this special treatment occur. According to one elevator manager, 75 per cent of this year's crops will be harvested incorrectly, leaving several bushels of profits in the fields.

Dr. Douglas Owen, oil seeds agronomist for the High Plains Research Foundation, urges necessary precautions to harvest all of the crop farmers have worked so hard to produce.

The primary objective is to get the soybeans when they are ready, Dr. Owen said. This is when the pods are mature and carry 13 to 14 per cent moisture. "If a farmer is in doubt, he should cut a sample to be checked at the elevator," Dr. Owen stated.

Delay in harvesting after the beans have reached the mature stage will result in serious losses due to shattering of the pods and combine damage such as splitting and cracking of the beans. "And," Dr. Owen cautioned, "moisture content can change rapidly especially in a hot, dry wind. A drop from 14 per cent moisture to eight per cent in less than 12 hours is not uncommon."

Other tips include slowing the speed of the combine to 2 1/2 to 4 miles per hour with a reel speed approximately 25 per cent faster. Dr. Owen said the greatest cause of field loss is cutting the soybeans too high. This is sometimes due to fast ground speed where the combine sickle pushed the soybean plant forward before completing its cut.

A slow cylinder speed from 300 to 400 revolutions per minute is necessary. "And combines should be operated with the widest concave clearance possible," Dr. Owen stated.

Reel bats should be set about one-foot ahead of the cutter bar.

For a check on crop loss, Dr. Owen suggests a count using a rule of thumb of beans per square foot equals a bushel of beans per acre.

He cautioned farmers about mixing beans and other crop seeds. "Japanese importers most vocal complaint is the contamination of our soybeans with other crops," he stated.

Specifically, Dr. Owen urged farmers with volunteer plants of corn sorghum or castors in soybean fields to remove the plants from the area before harvest. "You must remove the castor plant from the field after it is cut or the combine will pick it up during bean harvest," he stated.

Capsuling all information pertaining to harvesting of soybeans, Dr. Owen said, "Cut low and go slowly."

grade under USDA cotton classing rules.

6. Seen cotton should not be stored on trailers if the moisture level is above 12 per cent. Seed quality will also be reduced drastically if stored with a high amount of trash.

7. Seed cotton should be grouped or separated when any difference in quality is suspected. Grouping should be based on variety, irrigation or dryland, disease or insect damage, hail damage, lint moisture and planting date.

All these items make for more orderly, efficient ginning as well, points out Adams. Such problems as mix-packs or two-sided bales, over-drying and ginning at improper moisture levels can thus be minimized. Ginners, thus far, have been doing a commendable job with the block ginning program, he adds.

All in all, with farmers and ginners working closely together, the outlook for quality cotton production in Bailey County looks promising, contends Adams.

This information is provided by Dr. Bob Metzger, Extension area agronomist.

Mrs. Dorothy Rylander of Lubbock, president of the South Plains Genealogical Society, brought the program at the installation of officers of the Llano Estacado Genealogical Society of Lamb County and area Thursday evening when the meeting was held in Littlefield.

Sample charters were given members to be studied for the purpose of deciding to become a chartered organization. The issue will be voted on at the next business meeting of the LEGS.

Installed as officers were Mrs. Dwain Phillips, president; Mrs. Lyle Brandon, vice president; Mrs. John Stehlik recording secretary; Sara Wood, treasurer; Mrs. Abe Giles, historian; Mrs. R.E. Scott, Parliamentarian.
