Mules to Meet Mighty Whitefaces

Last year, on a bitterly cold night, November 3, the Hereford Whitefaces downed the Muleshoe Mules 28-14. This Friday night the Mules will have a chance to even the score.

Early in the season the Mules failed to score at all. During the first two games, with Dimmitt and Abernathy, they did not score, then in the Olton game, the first points went on the scoreboard. Again Denver City held the Mules scoreless but the Portales - Muleshoe game was close, with a score of 14 - 13.

The Mules managed six points against the powerful Dumas team but were a jubilant group following their first win of the season over the Tulia Hornets last Friday night.

Starting off slow, the Mules have shown marked improvement since the season began. Although the Mules' defense has been fairly strong since early season, offensively the team is just picking up steam. Most areas feel that the game outcome is a toss-up, especially with the new strength and vigor of the Muleshoe team. Fresh from their Tulia win, the team will be ready for another win to go along with it.

Last Friday night, the Whitefaces upset powerhouse Perryton 13-12. Going into the game a 28-point underdog, the Whitefaces outplayed the Rangers both offensively and defensively.

The Rangers were able to make only nine first downs, compared to 23 for the Whitefaces. Perryton handled the ball only 47 times offensively while Hereford handled the pigskin 80 times offensively. In the air, Hereford completed four passes in 11 attempts for 47 yards and Perryton also completed four passes of 11 attempts for 66 yards, Hereford is now 2-0 in conference play.

Muleshoe High School senior class will serve a chili supper preceding the game, from 5 to 7:15 p.m.

The Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club will serve hot chocolate, coffee and spudnuts in the high school cafeteria immediately following the game. President Darrell Turner invites everyone to come by the cafeteria, and reminds football fans that there is no charge on the drinks and spudnuts.

Turner also informed the Journal that the Athletic Booster Club will resume regular meetings on Monday night, November 11, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Films from two football games will be shown at that time.

Senior Class Will Serve Chili Supper

Commander Jerrell Otwell of Ben Richardson Post of the American Legion, Post 403 has announced that an organizational meeting for the American Legion Auxiliary will be held in Muleshoe Monday, November 18, at 7:30 p.m.

All wives, sisters, mothers and daughters of Veterans of World War I, World War II, Korean War or Vietnam War are invited to attend this important meeting.

Charlie Beamon and Deborah Williams were guests at the Tuesday Rotary meeting at the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

L.B. Hall had charge of the program where Mrs. John Watson, curriculum director of the Muleshoe Independent School System, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Watson spoke on American Education Week which will be next week. She also spoke on the fact that the Muleshoe school system is a pilot school for comprehensive planning in analysis of curriculum needs; to establish priorities; designate objectives; work on the migrant program and teacher aids.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. George Chambliss are hosting an open house in honor of their parents on their Golden Wedding Anniversary. The affair is to be held from two to four, Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Ramage.

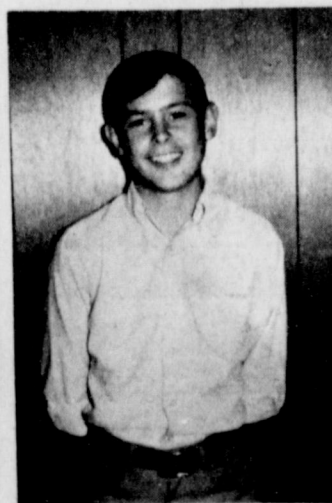

Mrs. Henry Malone, Jr. drove to Odessa Thursday to pick up her son, Henry III. He will be in Muleshoe until around November 19 when he will report to his draft board in Mobile, Alabama for a physical examination.

The Robert Holt family of Amarillo flew in Sunday to spend the day with his parents, the Horace Holts, and her mother, Mrs. W.F. Birdsong.

FIRST CASTOR BEANS OF SEASON--Baker Castor Bean Co. received the first loads of castor beans for 1968 Monday afternoon. Pictured Tuesday morning dumping a load are from left, Carl White, Sherrill Miller, Malaquias Torres and Kenneth Nesbitt, grower. Nesbitt farms six miles west and one mile south of Muleshoe and has 200 acres of castor beans. White said the local operation is a shipping point for Baker Castor Bean Co. of Plainview and that the acreage of castor beans in the county has increased from 600 acres last year to more than 3000 acres for 1968.

Sandhill Cranes Are Bountiful

Hunters from Illinois, Ohio, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and as far away in Texas as Houston, Brownsville, Abilene, the Fort Worth-Dallas area and many other points, are in the Muleshoe area at this time on the Sixth Annual Jaycee Sandhill Crane Hunt.

Bob Stovall said, "This is the biggest year we have ever had on the crane hunt. We figure that a conservative estimate is more than 115 in the fields on the beginning day, which was last Saturday."

In preparing for the event, it was publicized in the local newspapers and big dailies, including in Dallas, Fort Worth, two Houston papers and four different TV stations.

Irrigation Increases Texas' Water Needs

Clif Chamberlain, director of Water, Inc. says a survey of irrigated crops in the state of Texas has produced some interesting figures.

"Reliable estimates indicate that 56 percent of the total value of crops produced in Texas is produced on irrigated land," said Chamberlain. "Only about one fourth of land growing crops that are being harvested in the state is irrigated. Natural underground water bearing formations which are found under about half of the surface area of the state are the principal sources of irrigation water," he continued.

"Texas A&M University has reported that in 1965, 65 percent of Texas irrigation was located on the High Plains; 17 percent on the Rio Grande Plain, including the Lower Valley and Winter Garden area; six percent on the Coastal Prairie; four percent on the Rolling Plains; four percent in the Trans-Pecos area; two percent in stream bottomlands and two percent in other areas."

"Irrigation accounts for 100 percent of the rice and citrus production, 66 percent of the grain sorghums, 63 percent of the cotton, 54 percent of the barley, 46 percent of the wheat, and 20 percent of the state's corn production," added Chamberlain.

Crane hunting season began on November 2, with some Stovall did remind potential hunters that the Jaycees have leased all the fenced land adjacent to the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge which is not posted. In order to hunt on the land, a Jaycee permit is required. A Jaycee hunting permit can be obtained through the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce office.

Each year, toward the last of October and the first part of November, Bailey County residents can hear the call of the wild. That is the time of year that sandhill cranes are flocking to their winter grounds on the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge. Flying in groups of more than a 100 at times, they migrate from their Canadian summer grounds to the warmer south. Bailey County's Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge is one of a chain of refuges in the Central Flyway administered by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. It was established in 1935 as a wintering area for migratory waterfowl. It is the oldest National Wildlife Refuge in Texas.

At times, more than 100,000 sandhill cranes wing their way to the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge to winter in the area. Last week, Refuge Manager Bett Elair said more than 60,000 cranes are in the area at this time. The adult sandhill crane may weigh as much as fourteen and three-fourths pounds while the female will weigh around ten pounds.

Color of the bird is an overall gray, with the breast feathers edged with white. On many adult individuals, mineral salts in the waters of their nesting areas have stained some of the feathers with a rusty brown color. The rump of the head of adults of both sexes is bright red.

Both sexes of cranes are similar in their plumage and may not be distinguished, except by trained persons after close examination.

The diet of the crane is chiefly small grain and green feed from fall-planted cereal grains. The cranes do at times cause considerable crop damage, especially to grain sorghum.

Surveys Show Few Greenbugs Now in Wheat

Early fall surveys show only light infestations of greenbugs in wheat on the High Plains. This report comes from Norris Daniels, entomologist at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center, Bushland, and Lyndon Almand, Extension area entomologist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Center, Lubbock.

Present greenbug populations are light and most are in older wheat, says the entomologists. However, some small wheat is also infested.

Populations are generally one per linear foot of planted row or square foot of volunteer wheat or less. However, in

Larry Allison, MHS Graduate, In Who's Who

Larry Dale Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Allison of Route 4, Muleshoe, has been named in the 1968-69 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

He is a senior majoring in English at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene. His minor is speech. He graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1964, where he was a member of the National Honor Society.

At Hardin-Simmons, he is vice president of the Student Congress and a member of Tau Alpha Phi men's social club. He was elected favorite of his sophomore class, and served as varsity cheerleader in 1966-67.

Allison is one of 26 juniors and seniors elected by fellow classmates, administration and the faculty on the basis of academic achievement, service to community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Miss Texas Wins Miss America

It was a howling success... that is, the audience, plus the entertainers, were howling, laughing and thoroughly enjoying the entire production of the Muleshoe Miss America Comedy Hour.

Wolf whistles greeted the beautiful and talented performers who took to the stage Monday and Tuesday nights in the ever-popular all-male production.

Of course, when 'Miss America' was crowned, the contestants on the stage voiced their displeasure at the choice in high-pitched vocal dissent.

One highlight of the show must have been a hula dance, ably performed by Miss Hawaii. Her shimmy and shake delighted the audience from start to finish. Surely she won on talent.

Derrell Oliver Tournament Top Winner

The winner, Miss Texas, (wearing a pair of shiny new irrigation boots) did "These Boots are Made for Walking."

During intermission, between the introduction of the contestants, by Muleshoe's version of Bert Parks (Roy Whitt) and Bess Myerson (Kerry Moore), candy was sold to the audience. Prizes were in many of the sacks of candy, with more than one hundred prizes valued to $40, given to the lucky holders of winning tickets in the sacks of candy.

R.A. Bradley said "Many thanks" were due to the merchants who donated merchandise and gift certificates for the show. Those who donated for the show included: Dinner Bell Cafe, Morris

Price and Smith Lead County Votes

Bailey County residents turned out in record numbers Tuesday to cast votes for their choice in local, state and national government. With seven polling places in the county all reported a heavy turnout all day, with 2583 casting their vote. This exceeds the previous high in the 1964 general elections when 2561 voted. In 1960, 2471 voted in the general election.

Two Republicans carried the county in balloting. Richard M. Nixon - Spiro T. Agnew were top choice for president, polling 1174 total votes. Incumbent Bob Price, senator from the 18th District carried Bailey County, with 1395 casting votes for him, while J.R. (Dick) Brown, polled 981 votes.

In the only other area contested race, Incumbent representative Bill Clayton edged out his Republican opponent, Frank Ford, 1640 to 787.

Democrat Preston Smith, candidate for governor, had 1555 votes and his opponent, Paul Eggers, polled 940 votes.

Ben Barnes, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, carried Bailey County with 1807 votes, and his opponent, Doug DeCluit polled 636 votes. All county races were uncontested.

Only about 61 percent of the registered voters in Bailey County went to the polls. There are 3607 registered to vote in the county, and a record-breaking 2583 cast their votes in this general election.

In the past, Bailey County has traditionally gone Democratic, however, it is interesting to note that Republican candidate for President, Richard M. Nixon polled 1174 votes, as compared to 820 for Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey and 563 votes for Con't. on Page 2, Col. 4

United Fund Goal Short; 65% Complete

United Fund for 1968 in Bailey County now stands at approximately 65 percent complete, with incomplete returns in.

A total of $10,418.50 has been collected, with the goal set for $15,400.

Several rural workers have not made complete returns and United Fund officials hope to have the 1968 drive completed soon.

Police Activity Shows Increase In County

A sharp increase in activities of local law enforcement officers was noted during the past week, especially for the Bailey County Sheriff's department.

Last Friday night or Saturday morning the O.A. Warren house four miles west of Goodland was vandalized.

Sheriff Dee Clements was called to the home, which is the last house on the road west of Goodland before going into New Mexico. He found three windows broken in the front of the house and two kitchen windows broken. The television was torn apart, as was the telephone in the house. All mirrors and all dishes in the house were broken. Tables were broken up. Sheriff Clements said "Just about everything in the house that would break, was broken. It was the worst case of vandalism I have seen."

Two arrests have been made in the case, and two charges have been filed.

Deputies Bob Henderson and David Roberts investigated another break-in Monday morning. Lilly Mae Harris reported to officers that her house was broken into and a jukebox was destroyed.

Last week, sheriff's officers also arrested four for forgery, three of whom were juveniles; and one for drunk and disturbance.

City police logged four arrests for drunk and disturbance; Con't. on Page 2, Col. 8

HUNTER'S PARADISE-- But no hunting allowed. This picture was made late in the afternoon on the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge approximately one-quarter mile from the nesting grounds of the several hundred sandhill cranes shown flying in for the night. More than 60,000 cranes are on the refuge at this time. This weekend will wind up the 1968 Annual Jaycee Crane Hunting Contest, with hunters participating from several states.

Surveys...

Deaf Smith, Castro, Briscoe and Donley Counties, population ranged from one to five greenbugs per foot. In Swisher, Floyd and Randall Counties, some counts ran as high as 10 per foot.
The entomologists urge farmers to check their fields periodically, about once a week, as long as weather conditions are optimum for greenbug reproduction. Greenbugs can reproduce readily at temperatures down to 55 degrees. However, below 65 degrees the natural enemies of greenbugs, such as lady beetles, reproduce slowly and this can result in a greenbug buildup. Once the temperature dips below the 50-degree mark, greenbug reproduction and activity will almost reach a standstill.
Populations of 25 to 50 greenbugs per linear foot or row on young plants may warrant treatment, point out the entomologists. As the plant increases in size, it can withstand heavier populations. A guide to follow in determining the need for treatment is based on plant height (in inches) and the number of greenbugs per linear foot: 3-6 inches, 100-300 greenbugs; 4-8 inches, 200-400 greenbugs; and 6-16 inches, 300-800 greenbugs.
Insecticides recommended for controlling greenbugs are malathion, methyl parathion, parathion, and phosphamidon, according to the entomologists. More effective control of greenbugs is obtained when the temperature is above 50 degrees.
The entomologists will continue to make surveys from time to time during the season to keep a close check on greenbug populations.

Irrigation...

Increased irrigation has been a major change in Texas Agriculture since World War II. The greatest shift to irrigated farming has been on the High Plains.
Uneven distribution of water, both in annual rainfall and geographically, is a continuing problem in expansion of the state's agricultural and industrial base. Abundant rainfall in Eastern Texas causes surplus runoff into the Gulf. The Western portions of the state have suffered from inadequate supplies and frequent droughts. The statewide water plan now under study must find a way of evening out this mal-distribution.
U.S. Geological Survey, Gazetteer of Texas streams, lists about 3,700 streams with a combined length of 80,000 miles. These streams drain an area of 243,513 square miles within the state.
The large increase in the number of lakes and reservoirs in the state has improved water conservation and increased the usable supply. In 1913, Texas had only eight major reservoirs, in 1920 there were 32 reservoirs, 47 in 1940, 66 in 1950, and in October, 1963, Texas had 120 major reservoirs with 27,121,470 acre-feet storage capacity. In addition, 17 were under construction, designed to store 15,650,740 acre-feet of water. These figures are for reservoirs designed to store 5,000 acre-feet or more of water.
"The Water Development Board has a big task in putting together a statewide water program," concluded Chamberlain. "The program must make maximum use of existing water facilities and develop the available statewide supply so as to bring maximum benefit to the state and the nation. For maximum development of our land resources, water from outside the state must be brought in to satisfy the shortage from state resources."
"Working with all agencies to get additional water to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico is the job of Water, Inc. With your help we can get the job done."

Area Veterans Are Advised On Benefits

Disabled veterans and veterans dependants who are receiving benefits from the Veterans Administration are advised that their annual income questionnaire card will be received one month earlier this year November 1, instead of December 1 as in previous years. Any one having difficulty in filling out these cards are advised that they may take their cards to Joe Vaughn, County Service Officer at the Courthouse and he will give any assistance possible.
These Income Questionnaire cards are also required to be back in the office of Veterans Administration on or before January 15, or the check due at February 1 will not be mailed out and no checks due after February 1, will be mailed out unless and until the cards have been received in the proper office of the Veterans Administration.
It is very important you enter the exact amount of income from Social Security which you are receiving on the questionnaire cards, or the card may be rejected by the computer machine and will have to be mailed to the proper office for review which would require considerable time and create a delay in receipt of the next pension checks.
There are some changes being made in the amount of pension payment which are being received by these disabled veterans dependants which become effective January 1, and unless these cards are returned promptly and as fully filled out as possible, this also would create a delay in receipt of pension checks.
Please do not fold or bend or in any way mutilate the questionnaire cards.

minor success reported in shooting the wily bird. Patience is required to hunt the crane and stealth must be there as it is extremely difficult to get near the bird.
Hunters who have brought home a crane have found them to be suitable table fare. The young tender birds, of course, are easier to prepare and are more pleasing to the palate than are their elderly relatives.
Various methods of preparation have been advocated. Deboned portions may be marinated in red wine and spiced, and broiled. Or the bird may be roasted with bread stuffing. Those who have eaten sandhill crane differ in their opinions as to what other bird it tastes like. The majority say that the breast meat, which is dark, resembled that of a goose but is less greasy. The wings, legs and back are more like turkey.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

But Ed Dean, Field Service Director of PCG, says it would be difficult to complete all the preliminaries and get Mexican workers in time to help with this year's crop.

"The normal procedure for importing workers in the past," Dean noted, "has called for intensive pre-recruitment of domestic workers both interstate and intrastate, pre-approval by the Department of Labor of housing, establishment of a wage that will have no adverse effect on the wages being paid domestic workers similarly employed, and several other time-consuming prerequisites."

He went on to say "PCG and many others, including Congressman George Mahon, have urged Department of Labor and other officials to forego these procedures in order to take care of the current emergency, but to date we have had no luck at all."

While Dean holds little hope for getting foreign workers this year, he does believe there is at least a possibility such as a program could be arranged in future years if the labor shortage continues to worsen.

"But one of the things that will have to come first is a flooding of Texas Employment Commission offices with orders for workers," he said. "Unless those offices get orders for workers the Department of Labor is inclined to assume that no labor is needed."

He noted, for instance, that the Lubbock TEC office reports all orders filled. "Consequently it is difficult to get these people excited about a labor shortage," he said, and added "Even if they don't feel there is a chance for getting workers from the TEC, every farmer and every farmer who needs a hand should place an order."

of Lubbock and believes this may help to alleviate the shortage in that small area.

Many ginners, looking back to the days when the U.S. Department of Labor permitted the entry of Mexican Nationals under the old bracero program, are asking officials for foreign labor.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has notified Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. that there will be a meeting of the National Cotton Advisory Committee in Washington November 8.

Members of the Committee from the Plains are Johnson and Roy Forkner, also of Lubbock, who is a PCG past president.

Up for discussion, of course, will be provisions of the 1969 cotton program which the Department has stated would not be announced until after the November crop report, to be released on the day of the Advisory Committee meeting.

Major program details that remain to be announced include the percentage of acreage farmers will be required to divert, if any, in order to participate in the cotton program; the rate of payment on such acreage in mandatory diversion; the rate of payment, if any, on acreage voluntarily diverted; the level of price support payments to be made on the domestic portion (65 per cent) of each producers allotment, and the level of the loan.

Johnson emphasizes that the Advisory Committee exists at the discretion of the Secretary and acts strictly in an advisory capacity.

He said "We would hope our influence on the Secretary will cause him to keep both producer income and the long range future of cotton markers uppermost in his mind when these important decisions are made."

"It appears that U.S. production well above this year's million bales will be needed in 1969, and some changes in the program will be necessary to get that production."

This leaves the big question: "What changes should be made and how can they be made without jeopardizing either producer income or the future of the industry?"

Close Checks Are Urged For Screwworms

LUBBOCK. . . Screwworms are continuing to spread to the north and Plains livestock producers are urged to keep a wary eye open for the costly pest until cold weather sets in.

Latest reports from officials at the Mission Screwworm Laboratory show screwworm cases popping in several counties on the South and Rolling Plains. Howard County has reported 14 confirmed cases while Swisher and Mitchell County show two cases and Yoakum County one case. Motley County has reported one case and Fisher County, two.

Counties neighboring the South Plains and reporting cases include Andrews, Glasscock, Winkler, Ector, Midland, Coke, Nolan, and Sterling.

All livestock producers are urged to observe their animals closely and to use every preventive practice possible during the next several weeks. All animal surgery should be delayed until cold weather arrives and all wounds should be treated immediately. Livestock should be examined regularly and sprayed with a recommended insecticide.

Furthermore, samples of all worms in wounds should be collected and sent to the Mission Lab for identification so that areas with confirmed cases can be "bombed" promptly with sterile flies.

Officials at the Mission Lab say sterile fly production at present is more than twice the capacity for which the fly-rearing plant was designed. During the week ending October 12, 198,578,000 sterile flies were released.

Harvesting of the High Plains cotton crop is already at a peak in counties south of Lubbock and is rapidly gaining momentum from Lubbock north.

And despite expectations of the largest crop since 1965 most observers are anticipating one of the area's shortest harvest seasons.

The November 1 cotton estimate, jointly compiled by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., sets production from the 23

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

OUR MEN IN BLUE DO CARE

Dear Amy:
You sound like a smart girl, so here is one for you.

I am a policeman who lives on the west side. Well, on my way home a few weeks ago, I noticed a woman standing on the West Side Bridge. I thought I should stop to see why she was standing there. She looked at me and said, "Not today, Officer."

Now, Amy, if this woman jumps off that bridge, she is going to die. I saw this woman again Sunday morning about 11 am. She was wearing a tan jumper, white heels, had light brown hair, tall, pretty and about 30 years old.

It seems to me that she doesn't care much about living, and I was thinking that if you published my letter, someone would know her and give her some help. Perhaps her mother, perhaps her husband, or perhaps some friend.

I am a cop, and I . . . . . Care

Dear Care:
If I could award you a medal for caring, I would. I salute you for going beyond the call of duty, and if I may make a suggestion, I would appreciate that if you should see this woman on the bridge again, offer to take her to the nearest clergyman so that she can unload her problems . . . because I care, too!

Dear Amy:
I am 13 years old and I have a problem. My brother was killed in Vietnam and received the Navy Cross posthumously. Well, when I'm 17, I want to join the Marines but my father said he could stop me.

Can he?
D.M.M.

Dear D.M.M.:
Yes he can. As far as I know, a minor must have the consent of his parents to join any branch of the service. But don't fret, perhaps you—or dad—will have a change of heart by then.

Dear Amy:
I'm not very good in letter writing or getting my point across on paper, but I'll try.

My wife says that I have an air about myself so that when people see me, they think I'm a playboy or a lover. If I say "Hi" to a young lady, she thinks I'm flirting, and if I don't say anything, she thinks that I think that I'm too good for her. So, I go through the day saying "Hi" to all the ladies. Let it be understood that I don't walk around with my nose in the air ignoring young ladies.

My real problem is that some day a guy is going to take offense, so I'm told, and poke me in the nose.

R.B. Lover

Dear R.B.:
I think the word "flirt" is much more appropriate to describe you. A punch in the nose isn't so bad considering that you are asking for it.

Men with your ego usually fall flat on their face!

Dear Amy:
I'm a 16 year old girl who is very, very fond of a 21 year old boy. I've known him since April, and he's a confirmed bachelor. He doesn't want to go steady but he wants to see me every weekend and sometimes through the week.

He doesn't go out with anyone else, and I don't, either. Do you think he may be the type who doesn't express his feelings? What do you think I should say or do? Should I tell him how I feel about him?

Wondering

Dear Wondering:
A fellow of 21 is not a confirmed bachelor. You may think that 21 is old, but as a matter of fact, he is not ready to marry . . . or he hasn't met a girl he wants to make his wife.

In your age bracket, you are accustomed to having your friends tell you every thing on their mind, but as you grow older, you will find that it is not necessary to say everything you feel.

If you like the fellow, be pleasant, but it is not necessary for you to express your feelings for him at this time.

Engagement Is Revealed at Tea

Miss Sharron Hutton

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Sharron Hutton and Joe Putman was made at a tea Sunday from two to four o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hutton.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Hutton, the honoree, and Mrs. B.R. Putman, mother of the prospective groom.

Presiding at the bride's book was Mrs. Ronald Young of Canyon, his sister.

A wide satin streamer of American Beauty red, lettered "Sharron - Joe, December 20" across the serving table told guests of the approaching event. The table was covered with white draped net over white satin and further enhanced by a large bouquet of American Beauty roses. Matchbooks lettered "Sharron and Joe" were favors.

Serving raspberry punch and cookies were Mrs. Terry Hutton and Mrs. Jerry Hutton, sisters-in-law of the honoree. Alternating were Mrs. Freddy Parkman of Baileyboro, her sister, Mrs. Jerry Bruns and Mrs. Gene McGuire of Lubbock.

Also assisting with hospitality were Mrs. Sam Darnon, Mrs. A.R. McGuire, Mrs. J.A. Nickels and Mrs. Dee Chitwood. Miss Susie Tanner furnished musical selections during the afternoon.

Turkey Day Foods Abundant

COLLEGE STATION, -- An abundant supply of traditional foods reflect a great deal to be thankful for this Thanksgiving, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Turkey heads the list of foods in big volume this month, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Although marketings probably will fall short of last year, large storage holdings should make up the difference.

Other plentiful foods include pork, split peas, prunes, potatoes, rice and apples.

Look for the second largest November supply of pork on record - down only slightly from last year's production. You'll probably find prices on dry split peas most attractive.

What a tasty addition prune bread can make to the Thanksgiving table. With USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reporting such plentiful supplies, prunes can be included in fruit salads, compotes and cakes, as well.

Rice makes a delicious stuffing for the turkey. Don't overlook rice in everyday use, too. Its versatility makes rice a favorite for every meal of the day.

Meal planning is easy with potatoes. They complement such an assortment of main dishes. Keep baked apples in mind for a special dinner treat. Serve them either hot or cold, with sweet cream, sour cream or whipped cream.

AAUW Told Values Changing

"The world is changing and, in some ways, values will have to change, too," Dr. Myrtle Higgins, assistant dean of women at Texas Tech, told AAUW members at their Monday night meeting in the community room of First National Bank.

Mrs. Neal Dillman, president, opened the meeting by welcoming visitors. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Eldon Davis, implementation chairman.

Dean Higgins, the wife of a Lubbock businessman, spoke of changes due to technology and said, "We are in a crucial time politically." Of the generation gap, Dr. Higgins testified to her faith in the youth of our country and said she felt there had been more publicity than is needed and that it is the adults whose values are confused.

The necessity for making choices each day is a large part of our lives, and particularly so where college youth are concerned, that 'cafeteria style education' makes choices necessary.

Dr. Higgins told the group that she has learned in the course of her work as a counselor that young people do want guidance. Addressing her remarks to the teachers in the group, she said, "The most important thing that will ever come into a classroom is the young person you will be teaching."

Expressing the feeling that she is happy to be a woman, Dr. Higgins stated the status of women has changed since early Bible days when women were regarded as little higher than slaves. She feels women are happiest when their position complements that of a wise man, either their superior in the business world or their husband, and warned that women sometimes abuse their heritage, thereby losing privileges which would be theirs. Women should be more concerned with making a contribution than being in competition.

In her closing remarks, Dr. Higgins quoted Charles W. Eliott, president emeritus of Harvard College, "When blocked or defeated in an enterprise, I always turn immediately to something else, bidding my time for a chance to resume the obstructed road."

A business meeting followed the social period, in which Mrs. Charles Lewis reported on City Parks and Recreation Committee. Mrs. Joe Costen, library chairman, sent a report of twenty-one people who had become members of the Friends of the Library.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Dillman, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. John Gunter Jr., Mrs. Lena Hawkins, Mrs. Robert Hooten, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. C.E. Moore, Mrs. A.J. Phillips, Mrs. Eric Smith, Mrs. Addie Mae Spence, Mrs. Wilson Witherspoon, Mrs. Jimmy Shafer, and Mrs. Jeff Ingraham. Mrs. John Watson and Mrs. Jane Rudd served delicious refreshments to the group and to the following visitors: Mrs. Larry Tunnel, Earth, Miss Gretchen English, Mrs. Waid Griffin and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, Muleshoe and to Dr. Myrtle Higgins, Lubbock.

African Speaker Heard

Mrs. Dorothy Beddingfield, social studies teacher in Muleshoe Junior High, and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson attended the International Relations Conference Banquet held at Wayland Baptist College, Friday, November 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Roy C. McClung, President of Wayland, welcomed the guests, faculty members and members of the West Plains American Heritage Association.

Ambassador Debrah from the country of Ghana, Africa, was the principal speaker and reviewed the present economic, political, and social conditions of Ghana and projected the important potential role that Africa could play in world affairs in the future.

WCS Hears MHS Panel Discuss Youth

THINK BEFORE YOU PREACH--John Woodard admonished Women's Society of Christian Service at First United Methodist Church Tuesday. L to r, panel members are Chester Beavers, Connie Julian, Lana Washington and John Woodard, students at Muleshoe High School.

Mrs. Robert Hooten moderated the program and quoted from a number of recent magazine articles on The Generation Gap, the subject under discussion.

Mature ideas from young people not yet having had time to learn by experience and yet showing a depth of insight that many of the older generation sadly lack, indicated the lack of frivolity sometimes attributed to the youth of today. The students responded to questions with clarity of thinking and evidenced a strong desire to disavow the much-talked-of generation gap.

Stating that she felt she and her parents were able to communicate, Lana said, "Children should understand that parents have problems and they, too, need understanding as well as youth needing the understanding of their parents."

The young people felt the idea of 'generation gap' is not well stated, that rather it should be called 'communication gap.'

Being too authoritative is a serious fault to children, Chester Beavers felt. An explanation of reasons for restrictions would make them much more acceptable.

Vicki Julian feels it depends upon the individual family whether or not there is a generation gap, and still more, from child to child. She underlined John's statement that the key to preventing a generation gap is 'responsibilities.'

John repeatedly said, "Without discipline in the home, children have to grow up too fast, that they have to make decisions alone without proper foundation. In a discussion of the hippie cult, the students felt these particular types are 'searching for a better way' and that the only thing to be done for them is to leave them alone, free, to find their way, illustrating this by saying that they are extreme just as some people embrace religion to an extreme degree, each searching for peace of mind.

"You gotta be honest", John told the women. "The main problem parents have to watch is being fake. Like breeds like - trust them and they will trust you."

Achievement Banquet Held

Bailey County Electric Cooperative hosted the annual Awards Night Banquet for 4-H boys and girls of Bailey County Saturday night at Fellowship Hall in First United Methodist Church, with nearly 200 attending.

A patriotic theme was used in decorations, with red carnations, flags, cotton balls and blue streamers on tables. The centerpiece at the speaker's table was of red carnations, flags, cotton balls and blue gladioli.

Mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Miss Diane Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Crawford.

Rev. Roy Ward, of YL Methodist Church, offered the invocation.

marks principally to the young people present, and inserting many humorous remarks.

She urged the young people to "have respect for nature, creation and God, in that order." "The world is in perfect order," Mrs. Blackburn stated, "and not in chaos as is so often heard, rather it is man who is in chaos and does not accept his place in the natural order."

Young people must develop a deepened appreciation of the values of life," she said.

Project leaders recognized for their assistance to the boys and girls were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ramm and Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler of the Progress Club; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Throckmorton, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Black, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lewis of the YL Club and Keith Bray of the YL and Muleshoe clubs.

Lenau Art to Be Presented

Marie Lenau, Muleshoe artist, well known in this area, will be presented in a one-man showing November 9 and 10. A tea and open house at the Art Loft from two to five o'clock will honor Mrs. Lenau and give the public an opportunity to view the more than forty works to be shown.

Mrs. Lenau, wife of Charles Lenau of Muleshoe, paints in all mediums but prefers acrylic and watercolor, as she feels they are most conducive to the understatement she tries to portray in her paintings.

Marie's works reflects a lighthearted approach, suggesting that painting is truly a work of love to her, done for the pure pleasure of creativity and satisfying an innate appreciation of beauty where ever it is found. She finds the southwest particularly pleasing for the type of painting she does, although understanding of those from other environments who are less enthusiastic over the beauty and wealth of color in our area.

Winner of numerous awards, Mrs. Lenau's most recent honor being first place in the "Tri-State and Mexico Watercolor Show", 1968, judged by Peter Hurd. She has exhibited in group and traveling shows, and solo. Her works hang in private collections as well as the University of Texas in Austin. She attended John Brown University and Institute de Allende,

Farm Bureau Queen to Compete in Dallas

Miss Gayle Ellison of Crosby County will represent District 2 in the state finals of the 1968 Texas Farm Bureau queen contest November 11 in Dallas. The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Ellison of Ralls was selected to represent this area during recent district eliminations.

At the state contest, which will be held in conjunction with the 35th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau, Miss Ellison will compete with 12 other district winners for the state title. The winner will receive $500 to cover expenses for herself and a matron escort to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in December in Kansas City.

Miss Ellison, a Ralls High senior, is an officer in the band, Future Teachers of America, Future Homemakers of America, the Quill and Scroll and the Student Council. She is editor of the school paper. Gayle is a member of Emma Church of Christ in Ralls and she also has helped with the United Fund mothers' drive.

The queen candidate is a member of the All-Region Band and has been chosen the outstanding band member in her school. She loves to cook, sew and work with children. After high school she hopes to attend college and major in English. Her ambition is to teach high school English.

The District 2 candidate is 5' 6" tall and has brown hair and green eyes.

USDA Testing New Chemicals To Shear Sheep

COLLEGE STATION, --Sheep have been successfully sheared at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Center, Beltsville, Md., without the use of clippers.

The innovation was made possible by biologist Dr. Ethel H. Dolnick and colleagues in USDA's Agricultural Research Service. The sheep was dosed with an experimental chemical previously used mainly in cancer therapy. Medical scientists found that the drug, aimed at stopping cell growth in tumors, also interrupted cell growth in hair roots, causing test subjects, including sheep to lose their hair or wool temporarily.

In sheep, Dr. Dolnick said, the chemical causes a ringlike constriction in each wool fiber beneath the skin surface. The constriction moves up from the bulb of each wool fiber as it grows, and in 5 to 7 days reaches a position just below the skin surface. At that point the fiber breaks easily and the entire fleece can be separated at the skinline leaving the sheep completely bare.

If the fleece is left on longer than 7 days, the constriction grows out above the skin surface, so that after fleece removal, a short coat of new wool protects the skin, much as in shearing.

Chemical defleecing, unlike shearing, leaves no nicks nor cuts on the skin. Wool has grown back normally on chemically defleeced sheep regardless of the interval allowed between dosing the sheep and removing the wool. But further studies are necessary to determine whether this type of defleecing causes chemical residue in the meat or alters wool growth or quality, say the scientists.

The cost of this experimental treatment has not been determined in dollars and cents but its practical advantage is indicated. With a few minutes of training a person can do a most satisfactory job. He grabs a handful of wool and rolls his wrist along the sheep's skin and pulls off the fleece without strain on himself, discomfort to the sheep, or wastage of wool.

Washington Report From Congressman BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS 1223 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. • 223-3736

The American businessman and his employees are being harmed by excessive government spending to the point that it has become totally intolerable, Congressman Bob Price told a group of Panhandle businessmen.

Price, speaking to a district-wide meeting of the National Federation of Independent Business at Amarillo's YWCA, told his audience that the irresponsible fiscal policies of the government had robbed Americans at the rate of four and one half per cent per year for three years.

"If the American businessman ran his affairs with similar irresponsibility, we would all be in the poor house," Price said. "And while government spending sends inflation to higher and higher levels," he said, "the government is making it harder and harder for the independent businessmen to stay in business or to garner a respectable, let alone equitable profit from goods and services."

"At the same time the businessman's employee is being robbed of the purchasing power of his dollar through the same inflation."

"Crippling interest rates, some of the highest in one hundred years, prevent millions of Americans from buying homes and small businesses and farmers from obtaining the loans they need," he claimed.

"In the past seven years, the national debt has risen from about $290 billion to more than $350 billion and in that seven year period, there have been seven operating deficits, totaling more than $54 billion."

"Inflation," Price said, "has added over $100 billion to the cost of living in the past seven years; has taken $32 billion from savings accounts; has diluted checking accounts by $10 billion; has drained $17 billion out of pension fund reserves; has eaten a $13 billion hold in life insurance reserves and has devalued government bonds and other bonds by $15 billion."

Inflation has cost $1,000 per individual citizen during this seven year period, the Congressman said, and with this happening, the businessman faces a rather bleak outlook even though, in many cases, the gross income figures are at high levels.

"In the first quarter of this year the cash convertible assets in this country took a $9 billion nose dive," Price told his audience.

Inflation in 1968, he said, will take a bigger bite out of Americans' purchasing power than the Federal income tax.

"I voted against a tax increase this year. I think this was a positive vote because the American taxpayer, the businessman and the laboring force, is already overtaxed."

"I couldn't see my way clear to take billions of dollars away from people already burdened with too much taxation and take the risk of that amount being added to needless government spending which would fan the fire of inflation to new intensity," Price said.

"It would have made much better sense to have given the American businessman on every level the opportunity to invest this amount of money in tax-producing activities which would produce just as much or greater government revenues and would have certainly brought about a much more stable economy," Price said.

Gun Registration Through December 1

Dallas, Texas -- Anyone having an unregistered machine gun, sawed-off shotgun, short barreled rifle or other gangster - type weapon, or a device such as a bomb, grenade or land mine, may register it with the Internal Revenue Service without penalty from November 2 through December 1, according to B. Frank White, Regional Commissioner, Southwest Region, IRS.

The Gun Control Act of 1968, signed into law last week, establishes a 30-day period for the registration of certain weapons and destructive devices. The registration requirement does not affect ordinary rifles, shotguns, pistols and revolvers.

The Gun Control Act Law provides that information or evidence submitted in registering a weapon during this period cannot be used against the registrant in any criminal proceeding arising out of a prior or concurrent violation of the law. However, this would not prevent prosecution for furnishing false information.

Firearms and devices covered by the registration requirements must be registered by filing Form 4467, in duplicate, with Director, Alcohol & Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C., 20224.

"Anyone with a weapon to register," White said, "should write or phone an office of the IRS and obtain a copy of Form 4467. Weapons and devices should not be brought to IRS offices for the purpose of registration."

Former servicemen should register any automatic weapon, pistols with shoulder stocks, or other national firearms act weapon they might have as a souvenir of their military days.

Anyone with a bomb or grenade should make sure it is de-activated. The IRS can make arrangements to have the device inspected and de-activated.

The registration requirement for gangster - type weapons dates back to the National Firearms Act of 1934. There is no federal registration requirement for ordinary rifles, shotguns, pistols and revolvers, although certain controls on the sales of these weapons become effective December 16, 1968, as part of the new gun law.

Firearms which must be registered under the act include shotguns with barrels less than 18 inches long, rifles with barrels less than 16 inches long and altered rifles and shotguns with an overall length of less than 26 inches, such as shotguns or rifles cut down to pistol size or shape.

Other firearms covered by the registration requirements: fully automatic guns, such as machine guns and pistols that fire more than one shot by a single function of the trigger, and firearm mufflers or silencers. In addition, registration is required of all weapons or devices, except for conventional pistols or revolvers, which are capable of firing a shot and being concealed on a person and weapons formerly classified as "DEWATS" -- deactivated war trophies.

Destructive devices, such as explosives, incendiary or poison gas bombs, grenades, rockets, missiles, mines and certain projectile firing weapons, namely anti-tank guns bazookas and mortars, also must be registered.

White said anyone who possesses a firearm or destructive device, as defined by National Firearms Act, and who fails to register the weapon between November 2 and December 1 as required by the gun control act, will be subject to imprisonment up to 10 years, a fine up to $10,000 or both for each weapon not registered. Under certain conditions, the law provides civil penalties and property forfeitures.

The Graduate

BY PAUL HARVEY

There are two kinds of protests going on among our young: overt and covert. It is a shame that a few spoiled brats with crude, rude and sometimes violent rebellion tend to discredit the behaving young people who have a legitimate beef.

I have much compassion for school-agers, maturing in a society which urges them to be useful--yet rewards the unproductive.

Winless wars are less than inspiring for those who are asked to do the dying.

The inconsistency of fighting Communists in Asia and tolerating them in Cuba constitutes hypocrisy.

So does the disparity between the way some suburban parents talk--and the way they act.

You show a youngster piety in church and adultery in suburbia and it quite rightly turns his stomach.

When he sees the love of money harvesting mostly misery, capitalism appears so unattractive he's likely to start looking around for some other ism.

Last year there was an award-winning movie making the rounds called "The Graduate." Everywhere, I am told, parents were urged by their children to see that movie.

Mostly it was a story about a sensitive boy whom a neighbor--a dear friend of the family--sought to seduce. There was more to it, there were other complications, but the high school and college-agers who sought, subtly or otherwise, to get their parents to go and see that movie were trying to close the "generation gap"; they were crying out to their elders:

"We know what's going on; stop lying to us!"

Al Neuharth is general manager of the Rochester, N.Y., newspapers. Recently he challenged the "gentlemen of the press" to close the communication gap.

Mr. Neuharth thinks that we of the press can translate the language of younger Americans so their elders can understand, and vice versa.

"Those of us in journalism or communications represent the very best--perhaps the only--real hope for closing the present communication gap and for convincing tomorrow's leaders that today's system and today's society are not all bad."

Let me say this about that: teen-agers have been categorized as teen-agers and, as such, mercilessly maligned.

Every school-age American is fed up to his burning ears with carte blanche castigation and criticism of "Teen-agers."

They know that lumping all teen-agers because of the delinquency of some is unkind, unfair and stupid.

So it is.

But what they, lashing back, are inclined to forget is that it is similarly unkind, unfair and stupid to lump all adults as phonies and hypocrites.

In our adult ranks--as in yours-- the faithless get more "press" than the righteous.

The press, preoccupied with perfidy, distorts your evaluation of us as it tends to distort our appraisal of you.

But until we can correct our perspective and yours, let the record read that the vast, nonvocal, unorganized, imperfect but mostly decent majority of my generation is holding your world together.

Until the vast, nonvocal, unorganized, mostly decent majority of your generation can get a grip on it.

LAZBUDDIE SCHOOLS' LONGHORN STAMPEDE

Steve Foster scampered 59 yards for another TD and Derrell Matthews again made two extra points.

Troy Steinbock then scored on an 80-yard return and the kick failed.

Matthews made the next long run, a 35-yard TD run, and again the kick failed.

In the third, Frank Hinkson had a 29-yard TD run with Matthews again making the extra point.

Derrell Matthews then intercepted a Nazareth pass and ran 21 yards for a TD. Kick failed.

In the fourth, Hinkson made his way eight yards for the final TD of the game and the kick failed.

In the game, Derrell Matthews carried the ball 14 times for 111 yards; Frank Hinkson carried the ball 23 times for 135 yards; Steve Foster carried 12 times for 126 yards and Troy Steinbock carried four times for 124 yards. A SUDDENLY SHY 'MISS AMERICA'--Muleshoe's own Bess Myerson, left, who in real life is Muleshoe High School teacher Kerry Moore, has just crowned a suddenly shy Miss America, who is none other than George Washington, at the annual all-male production in Muleshoe. Miss America was Miss Texas in the competition which was staged at Muleshoe High School auditorium on Monday and Tuesday night.

Olton Blanks Eighth Grade Football Team

By Chuck Smith

Olton blanked out the Muleshoe eighth grade football team Tuesday night by a score of 40-14.

The Olton team started off with a touchdown on the opening kickoff.

Muleshoe failed in a long drive on the second kickoff. Key plays were made by Dennis Parker and Gerald Bara. The drive ended with a fumble and Olton took over.

In the second quarter, Olton ran another TD and the extra point failed. They scored later when they recovered a Muleshoe fumble.

Dennis Parker scored Muleshoe's first touchdown on a hand-off from quarterback Raymond Davenport. David Faver made the extra point. This TD was as a result of a long drive with key plays made by Chuck Clemmons and Charles Ray Young.

Olton came back with another TD and at the end of the first half the score was 26-8.

Olton scored again in the third and the EP was good. Later in the third they scored again the EP failed.

In the fourth, Muleshoe blocked an Olton pass and got the ball. Dennis Parker scored again for the eighth grade team. The extra point failed.

Ahem!

Closer to the truth than he had realized was the schoolboy who wrote on an examination paper: "The Armistice was signed on the 11th of November in 1918 and since then every year there has been two minutes' peace."

Tax Man Sam Sez:

TAX RECORDS

Paying taxes is a part of our way of life. Most folks say it is a part that they don't particularly like, but since the things they require from their government cost, it is reasonable to expect to pay taxes a few more times before we find the perfect method. The amount of taxes that you pay often depends upon the kind of records you keep. There may be a few CPA's and other professional record-keepers who really love to keep records, but the average taxpayer doesn't. This costs him! Most folks working in the tax business join the Internal Revenue Service in advising you to keep good records. Maybe we should take the trouble. The sweat and frustration might be worthwhile.

A 1st Recon Bn. Marine carries an unusual "good luck" piece with him--the twisted remains of a hand grenade.

Cpl. William D. Nagel, 20, North Haven, Conn., of "A" Co., 1st Recon, carries the fragments to remind him of his luck when an enemy rifle round went through the grenade and it did not explode.

The 1st Division Leatherneck was walking patrol with his team in the Happy Valley area south of Da Nang. They were heading toward an objective when they came upon a large, rocky open area which had to be crossed.

The team began crossing the area. "Our radioman was having some trouble with the rocks," said Nagel, "so I stopped to give him some cover."

At the same moment the team took approximately 100 rounds of sniper fire from an unknown position. One round pierced a grenade hanging on Nagel's cartridge belt, tearing it to shreds. Fortunately, it did not explode.

"It felt like someone hit me in the stomach," said Nagel, who did not receive a scratch, "but at the time, I was worried about getting out of those rocks and into the underbrush."

The patrol made it to cover without casualties, but Nagel's call was a little to close. The round missed the grenade's blasting cap by an eighth of an inch.

Feigning unconsciousness to avoid interrogation, a North Vietnamese (NVA) soldier learned the wisdom of cooperating with his Marine captors.

The prisoner had been captured by a patrol of 1st Bn., Fourth Marines during operations in the demilitarized zone (DMZ) south of the Ben Hai River, and returned to the battalion area for questioning.

First Lieutenant Douglas P. Ryan, Bronxville, N.Y., battalion intelligence officer, and his Vietnamese interpreter took the prisoner to an isolated spot for questioning and to inspect his gear.

"He was faking unconsciousness to avoid interrogation and the torture he had been told we would use," said Ryan. "Once the interpreter convinced him he would not harm him, he sat up and began talking to us."

The prisoner revealed he was part of a four-man team which had been instructed to probe the Marines' lines after helicopters were spotted landing in the area the previous day. He was 16 years old, having been in the army only two months, and he came from a small village about 100 miles north of Ben Hai. He had an elementary school education and had been thoroughly indoctrinated in communist political beliefs. He had been working on a supply road to Laos and Cambodia before the Marines landed.

"The prisoner was able to tell us the names of small unit leaders," said Ryan. "He could not or would not reveal his company or regiment."

A search of the prisoner's gear uncovered rocket propelled grenades, ammunition, extra clothing, and an ample supply of food and medicine.

A big smile and a friendly greeting resulted in one Viet Cong (VC) paymaster missing his disbursing rounds recently near the village of Nui Kim Son.

During a combat patrol by members of "F" Co., 2nd Bn., First Marine Regiment, they held one side of a treeline prior to crossing an exposed rice paddy.

"It was a routine thing to do" recalled PFC Gary J. Ehrman, Cloquet, Minn., "while the platoon held up, I stepped through the treeline to check out the other side."

"When I stepped through, I was greeted by this guy squatting down. He waved at me and grinned from ear to ear . . . and then got up and started running through the rice paddy."

"I was so shocked by his abrupt departure, I just stood there grinning as big as he was. Then I noticed an NVA cartridge belt around his waist and an M-26 grenade hanging from it."

"The deep mud in the rice paddy seemed to be slowing him up, and he was jumping around a lot, but I finally got a bead on him and dropped him."

A search of the wounded enemy revealed a pay pouch with $880 worth of Vietnamese money in it and a list of local VC to be paid.

"It just goes to show you," Ehrman recalled, "a big smile can be disarming to a certain extent."

Breathalyzers In Operation Within State

Colonel Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced that 62 breath analysis instruments were placed in operation over the state on Friday, October 25.

The "Breathalyzers" are to be utilized in the highway patrol's driving while intoxicated enforcement program. The 62 instruments going into the field Friday were the first of 90 purchased by the DPS for use in 80 of the state's most populous counties where the DWI problem is greatest. The remainder are to be placed in service when delivered by the manufacturer.

Driving while intoxicated suspects who consent to the test will accompany the highway patrolman to an office where an instrument is located. There, the suspect will blow into a tube attached to the Breathalyzer and the percentage of alcohol in his blood will register on an indicator.

"Drivers who drink contribute significantly to the traffic death toll in Texas," Speir said. "We believe that use of the Breathalyzer will enable us to more effectively enforce the state's traffic laws," he added.

Local areas which have the new Breathalyzer include Lubbock, Plainview, Brownfield, Amarillo and Hereford.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Dear editor:
I was in town the other day to pick up another ten-cent bolt for a quarter and as I was finishing the transaction the store owner asked, "Well, how's the weather out your way? Need a rain?"
"Yeah," I whispered, looking around to see who else was in the store, "I could use a little rain."

"What're YOU WHISPERING ABOUT?" he asked, "YOU EITHER NEED A RAIN OR YOU DON'T." The whole store could hear him, and I got my bolt and cleared out.

What he doesn't understand is that among farmers the weather is a delicate subject and it's considered highly unneighborly, not to say rude, to hope for a rain out loud when some people around you haven't got their crops out yet. Speak not of rain in the house of those who still have hay on the ground.

It's not that anybody thinks hoping has any effect, but it's as risky as denouncing Baptists or Methodists or Catholics when you're in a cafe and don't know what denomination the people at the next table belong to.

After I got home I opened up the newspaper I had hauled off and bought when I was in town, if the price of newspapers was as inflated as tractor bolts and warfare they'd cost a dollar instead of a dime, and immediately ran into an article on weather control.

According to it, scientists are working on eventual worldwide control of the elements. Some day, it claimed, man will be able to decide when it'll rain, when the sun will shine, where we need snow and how much; will be able to eliminate tornadoes and hurricanes and will never have a ball game called off on account of rain.

In fact, it said, the whole world will be air-conditioned, winter and summer.

This will be fine, until some day in the dead of winter when everybody has thrown his blankets away, has his windows open and is running around in his shirtsleeves. . . the electricity goes off.

Personally I intend to keep a supply of firewood on hand, if I can get somebody to saw it for me.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
