Sheriff's office asks for tips on break-in

The Donley County Sheriff's Office is seeking the public's help in identifying two thieves who struck a local business earlier this month.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn says surveillance pictures show two subjects – a white male and a black or Hispanic male – burglarized a shop owned by Morrow Drilling on April 4 at about 1:30 a.m. The pair took numerous tools from the building.

Authorities believe the pair are likely the same people who broke into the shop in March, stacked up several tools, and then were apparently scared off before they could carry off the loot. With Morrow's permission, the sheriff's department set up a game camera which captured the images of the suspects when they returned this month.

Blackburn says the images have been distributed to all area law enforcement agencies, but so far no one has been able to identify either man.

If you think you recognize one of these subjects or have any information about the crime, please call the Donley County Sheriff's Office at 874-3533.

Bands to battle it out here next Friday

Nine bands are scheduled to take the stage at Clarendon's first "Battle of the Bands" at the City Park next Friday, April 29.

The first band will take the stage at 5:30 p.m., and two local bands – Product and Whiskey Marinade – are scheduled to perform during the evening. The lineup is as follows: Product, Secrets For The Dead, Conviction of a Ghost, Humans Haunting Ghosts, Shm Bears, Wrecking Romance, Whiskey Marinade, Collision, and No Sugar Added.

Watch next week's ENTERPRISE for more details.

Elementary seeking possible Pre-K kids

Clarendon Elementary will hold a meeting for all parents and guardians who are interested in their child attending pre-Kindergarten for the 2011-2012 school year.

The meeting will be held April 28 at 6 p.m. in the Clarendon ISD Videoconference Room. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the pre-K program, schedule, fee structure, and other pertinent information.

Please contact other parents you know who might be interested in their four-year-old or five-year-old (if not enrolled in Kindergarten) to school.

Elementary students receive free lifejackets

Lifejackets are now in the hands of 287 Donley County students from HeadStart through 5th grade thanks to the combined efforts of the Associated Ambulance Authority and Greenbelt Water Authority.

Hedley elementary students received their jackets last Thursday, and Clarendon students got theirs on Monday. Both sets of students learned about water safety from EMS, volunteer firemen, and representatives from the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.

Ambulance director Anna Howard said the project began last year when the ambulance service received a $1,190.90 grant from the Panhandle Regional Advisory Council for injury prevention.

"We originally were just planning to have some lifejackets on hand and pass them out when we felt it was appropriate, but I mentioned it to Greenbelt and they matched the grant – and probably went over – and got jackets for all the elementary kids in the county."

"Next month is water awareness month, but we figured we would go ahead and do it now since May gets so busy," said Renee Betts of Greenbelt Water Authority.

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Dept. Dive Team, Texas Parks & Wildlife, the Department of Public Safety, Greenbelt, and the ambulance authority visited both schools. Students got a close up look and explanation of diving equipment, an ambulance, a state patrol car, and a game warden's boat.

The kids were fitted with their jackets and reminded that they need to be worn tightly so they don't slip off in the water.

"We were thrilled to do it," Howard said. "The kids were excited, and hopefully it will help save a life."

Twenty-four people have drowned in Greenbelt Lake since it opened in 1968. Betts said they hope that these jackets will help prevent that number rising. No one wearing a lifejacket has died at Greenbelt.

"We hope that our efforts help raise awareness on water safety," Betts said.

Howard said the ambulance service intends to apply for the grant funds again next year if they are available to try to prevent future drownings.

And the wind blew...

The famous Panhandle wind took its toll on property in Clarendon last Friday with gusts clocked at more than 70 mph. In addition to blowing dirt and broken tree branches, two local businesses suffered perhaps the worst damage. Dollar General lost part of its cement block facade and Sonic Drive-In's sign fell partway over, forcing the restaurant to close one side of its parking lot to traffic.

City may increase trash fees

Trash rates may need to be increased by 30 percent City Administrator Lambert Little told the Clarendon Board of Aldermen at their regular meeting last Tuesday. But he says citizens can keep that from happening if they step up and help the city save money in its sanitation department.

Little says the current municipal budget planned for the sanitation department to run a deficit of 6.3 percent but the actual loss is going to be between 10 and 15 percent. To get the department back in the black would take a rate increase of 15 percent. To earn enough money to purchase much needed equipment would mean increasing city trash rates by 30 percent, he said.

There are alternatives to higher rates – reporting and recycling.

"If we could stop theft of service, we would not have to do this," Little said, referring to rural residents who bring their trash to town and fill up city Dumpsters. "It's out of control. There are enough folks using our Dumpsters from out of town that we could keep our rates low if we could stop them."

Little says he doesn't want to pit city folks against county folks, but he also says the situation is out of hand.

City Hall encourages anyone who sees people improperly using a Dumpster to report those individuals to the city or the sheriff's office. Illegal dumping is a violation of city ordinance and carries a fine of up to $2,000.

Little said it would help also if citizens would recycle more. The city pays for trash going to the Memphis landfill by weight, so recycling and keeping leaves and grass clippings out of Dumpsters cuts costs for the city.

In other city business, the board approved a new policy for leak adjustments on water bills. If a citizen has had a leak and proves they have fixed the leak, City Hall will charge that customer's water usage from the same period the year before and then charge the city's wholesale cost for the excess water.

CC names three distinguished alumni

The Clarendon College Ex-Students Association bestowed its Distinguished Alumnus Award on three former students during the 71st CC Alumni Reunion last Saturday in the Bairfield Activity Center.

Carl Irlbeck, Dr. Keith "Buddy" Hudson, and Leon "Bud" Schaffer, were each recognized for professional and personal achievements, civic responsibility, and continuing support of Clarendon College.

Carl Irlbeck of Plainview graduated from Happy High School before playing guard on the Western Junior College Conference championship team at Clarendon College in 1959. He graduated from Clarendon in 1960 and then received his Master's degree in PE and math from West Texas State University.

He coached basketball at Nazareth, Clarendon, Abernathy, and Plainview. He also coached at Plainview Christian, Monterey, and Hart. He was known for his crew-cut hair and cowboy boots, which he used to stomp the floor and get players' attention. Irlbeck had 25 teams advance to regionals with 1058 wins to 489 losses, and he has been inducted as the 138th member of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame. Irlbeck had 25 teams advance to regionals and coached nine state champions in four sports – three in basketball, three in tennis, two in cross country, and one in volleyball. He took the Clarendon Bronchos to the state tournament in 1971, which was an event that did not happen again until this year.

When Carl coached in Hart in 2001 he influenced Emmanuel Barron, a 2002 Hart graduate and now student at Clarendon College. Barron stated: "He took Hart farther than we had ever been. I'm going back to college because of him. I was able to run cross country at Clarendon because of one phone call from him. He changed my life. He was a legend who took an interest in me – a little nobody. But he won't admit that he's an icon."

Dr. Keith "Buddy" Hudson of Goldthwaite attended Clarendon College in 1961 and was voted "Most Likely to Succeed" by his classmates. He was the founding president of the Clarendon Country Club and was elected to the CC Board of Regents at the age of 28. During his works and lectures as a dentist, Keith gives credit to Clarendon College. He tells people Clarendon is one of the most educated small towns in What is next for US space program?

In less than a single lifetime, space exploration has broken through unthinkable barriers. Fifty years ago, Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin became the first human to journey into outer space. He was followed only weeks later by astronaut, Alan Shepard Jr., the first American to travel into space.

Shortly after these historic ventures into the new frontier, President Kennedy laid out his imperative to the American people when he said, "I believe that this nation should commit itself to achieving a goal, before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to Earth."

capitol comment
by sen. kay bailey hutchison

The Cold War space race was full steam ahead, and less than a year after JFK's famous charge, John Glenn became the first American to orbit Earth. In 1968, America surpassed the Soviets in space exploration by sending the first manned spacecraft beyond Earth's orbit when Apollo 8 orbited the moon ten times before returning home.

And so it was, before the end of the decade, in 1969, American astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin of the Apollo 11 crew became the first men to walk on the moon.

In 1981, 30 years ago this April, America launched the inaugural space shuttle, Columbia, the first winged spaceship to orbit Earth. In the three decades since, 356 men and women, including pilots, engineers, scientists, and teachers, have flown aboard shuttles, the world's only reusable human spacecraft and rocket system. In 1986 and then later in 2003, we were reminded that even technological marvels like the space shuttle are not immune from the inherent risks of human space flight when we lost the Challenger and Columbia orbiters and the 14 courageous crew aboard. Our nation will always be grateful for their sacrifice.

The space shuttle program is inextricably linked to Texas's own Johnson Space Center. Throughout its 30-year history, the shuttle program has been managed in Houston, each mission has been controlled by the talented professionals at Mission Control, and all astronauts who have flown on shuttles have been trained in the community. NASA's current human space flight mission, the International Space Station, was completed using the shuttle fleet and is also managed at Johnson Space Center. As we celebrate this incredible anniversary, Texans should be proud that Houston has been, and will remain, the heart and soul of America's human space flight program.

Space exploration has inspired the American people to redefine our view of the possible, sparking young men and women to pursue careers in math and science. It has led to advances in numerous fields, improving our lives and moving us forward as a nation. Through the innovations achieved in space, we have made great scientific advances, enabling us to better tackle challenges on Earth. Key advancements in modern medicine, national defense, meteorology, surveillance, communication, navigation, imaging, and remote sensing for chemicals have all been made possible because of America's push toward the heavens.

But today, our leadership role in space exploration faces a critical turning point. For the first time in 50 years, and after the last shuttle launch this summer, America will lack the capability to launch a human into space.

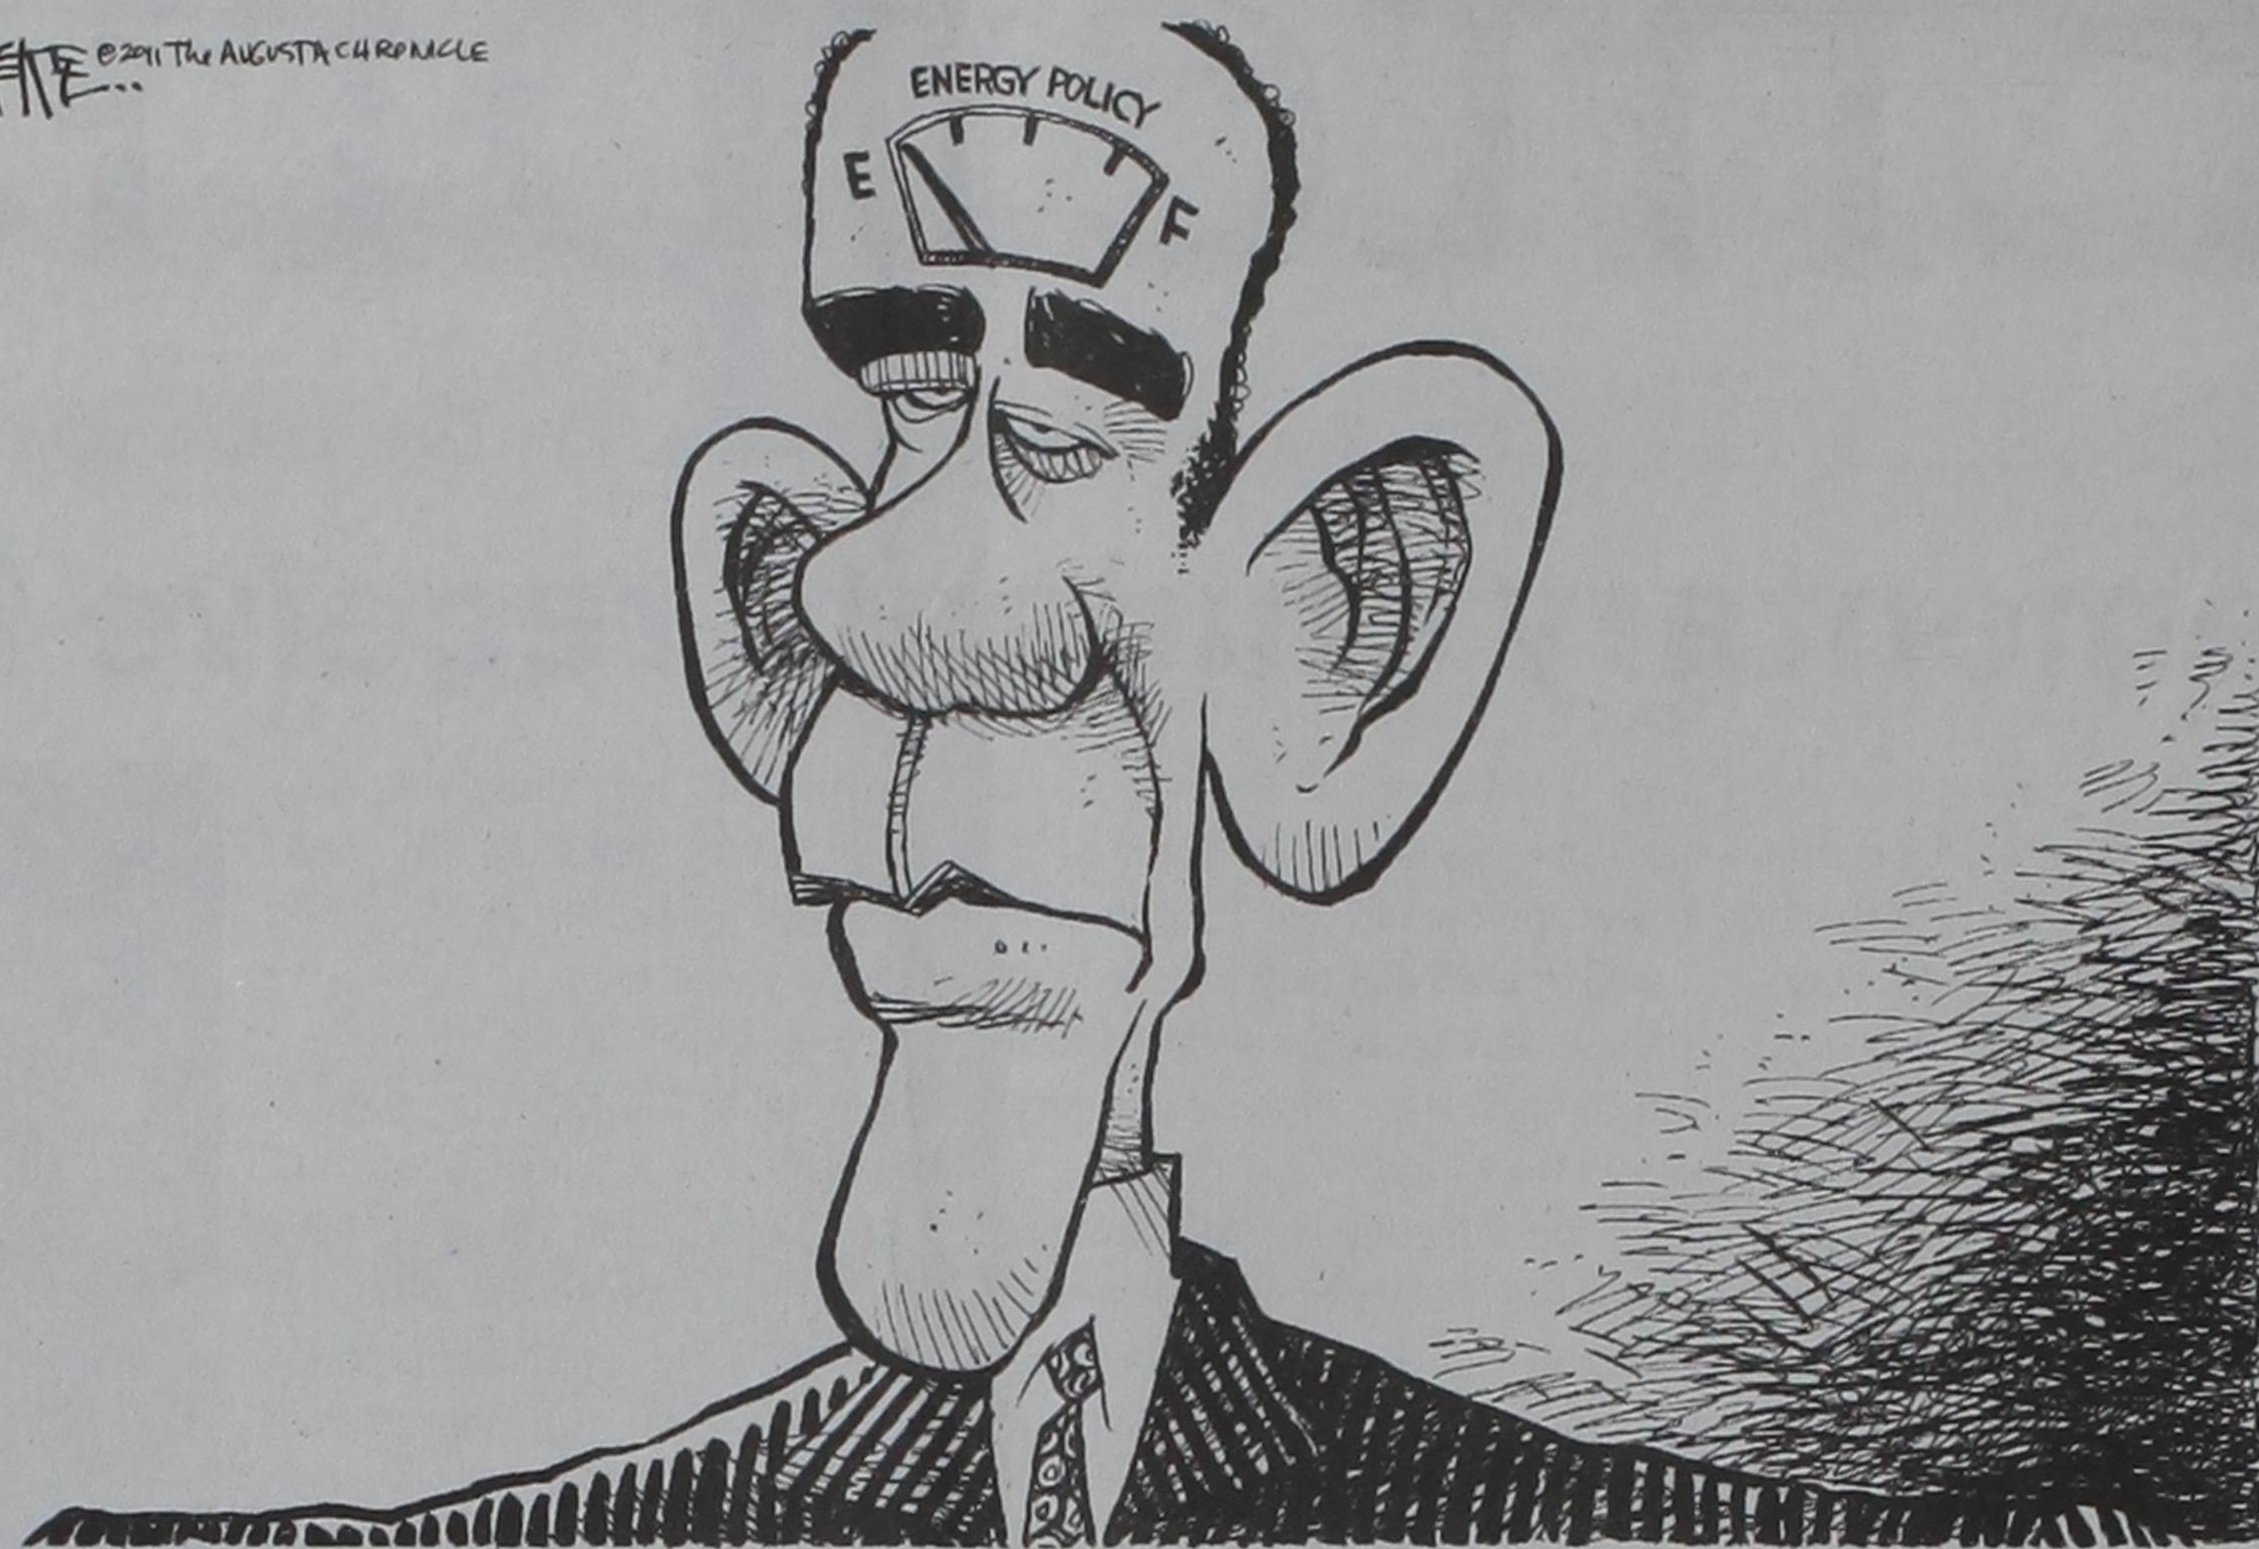

To prevent that devastating setback to half a century of achievement and investment in NASA, Senator Bill Nelson of Florida and I negotiated a bipartisan NASA Reauthorization bill to safeguard America's human space flight capabilities while balancing new commercial space investment with a robust mission for NASA. The compromise also prioritizes scientific research and protects our sizeable investment in the International Space Station.

Despite this bill being overwhelmingly passed by Congress, the Obama Administration has dragged its feet in implementing the law. My message to President Obama and NASA Administrator Charles Bolden remains that the framework we passed last year was not merely a suggestion, it is the law. It is also the blueprint to preserving our preeminence in space as a nation. This is strategically important for national security and to achieve the research results that will spur medical and energy innovations. NASA, like many federal agencies, faces budget constraints in this current fiscal climate. Nonetheless, Congress has provided the agency with a strong mission and the priority designation to tackle the next chapter of American space exploration.

Our nation and our space program have always confronted challenges and obstacles to new discoveries and new frontiers of innovation. As President Kenney famously said in 1962, "We choose to go to the moon. We choose to go to the moon in this decade and do the other things, not because they are easy, but because they are hard, because that goal will serve to organize and measure the best of our energies and skills, because that challenge is one that we are willing to accept, one we are unwilling to postpone, and one which we intend to win, and the others, too."

With the 50th anniversary of manned space flight, I hope this will be a turning point for NASA to once again recapture America's imagination; to reach for the dream and make it possible.

Farmers, ranchers stewards of the land

While we appreciate the significance of April 22nd as Earth Day, we need to remember to protect and conserve our natural resources each of the 365 days of the year.

Working for the USDA Farm Service Agency has strengthened my appreciation for everyone involved in the agriculture industry - those who practice the year-round, lifetime commitment to protecting our natural resources. As a society, we have made many advances since the first Earth Day in 1970. Thanks to the numerous technological advances in agriculture, we learn, on a daily basis, improved ways to protect the land, water and air that has been gifted to us and for which each of us is responsible during our short time on this Earth.

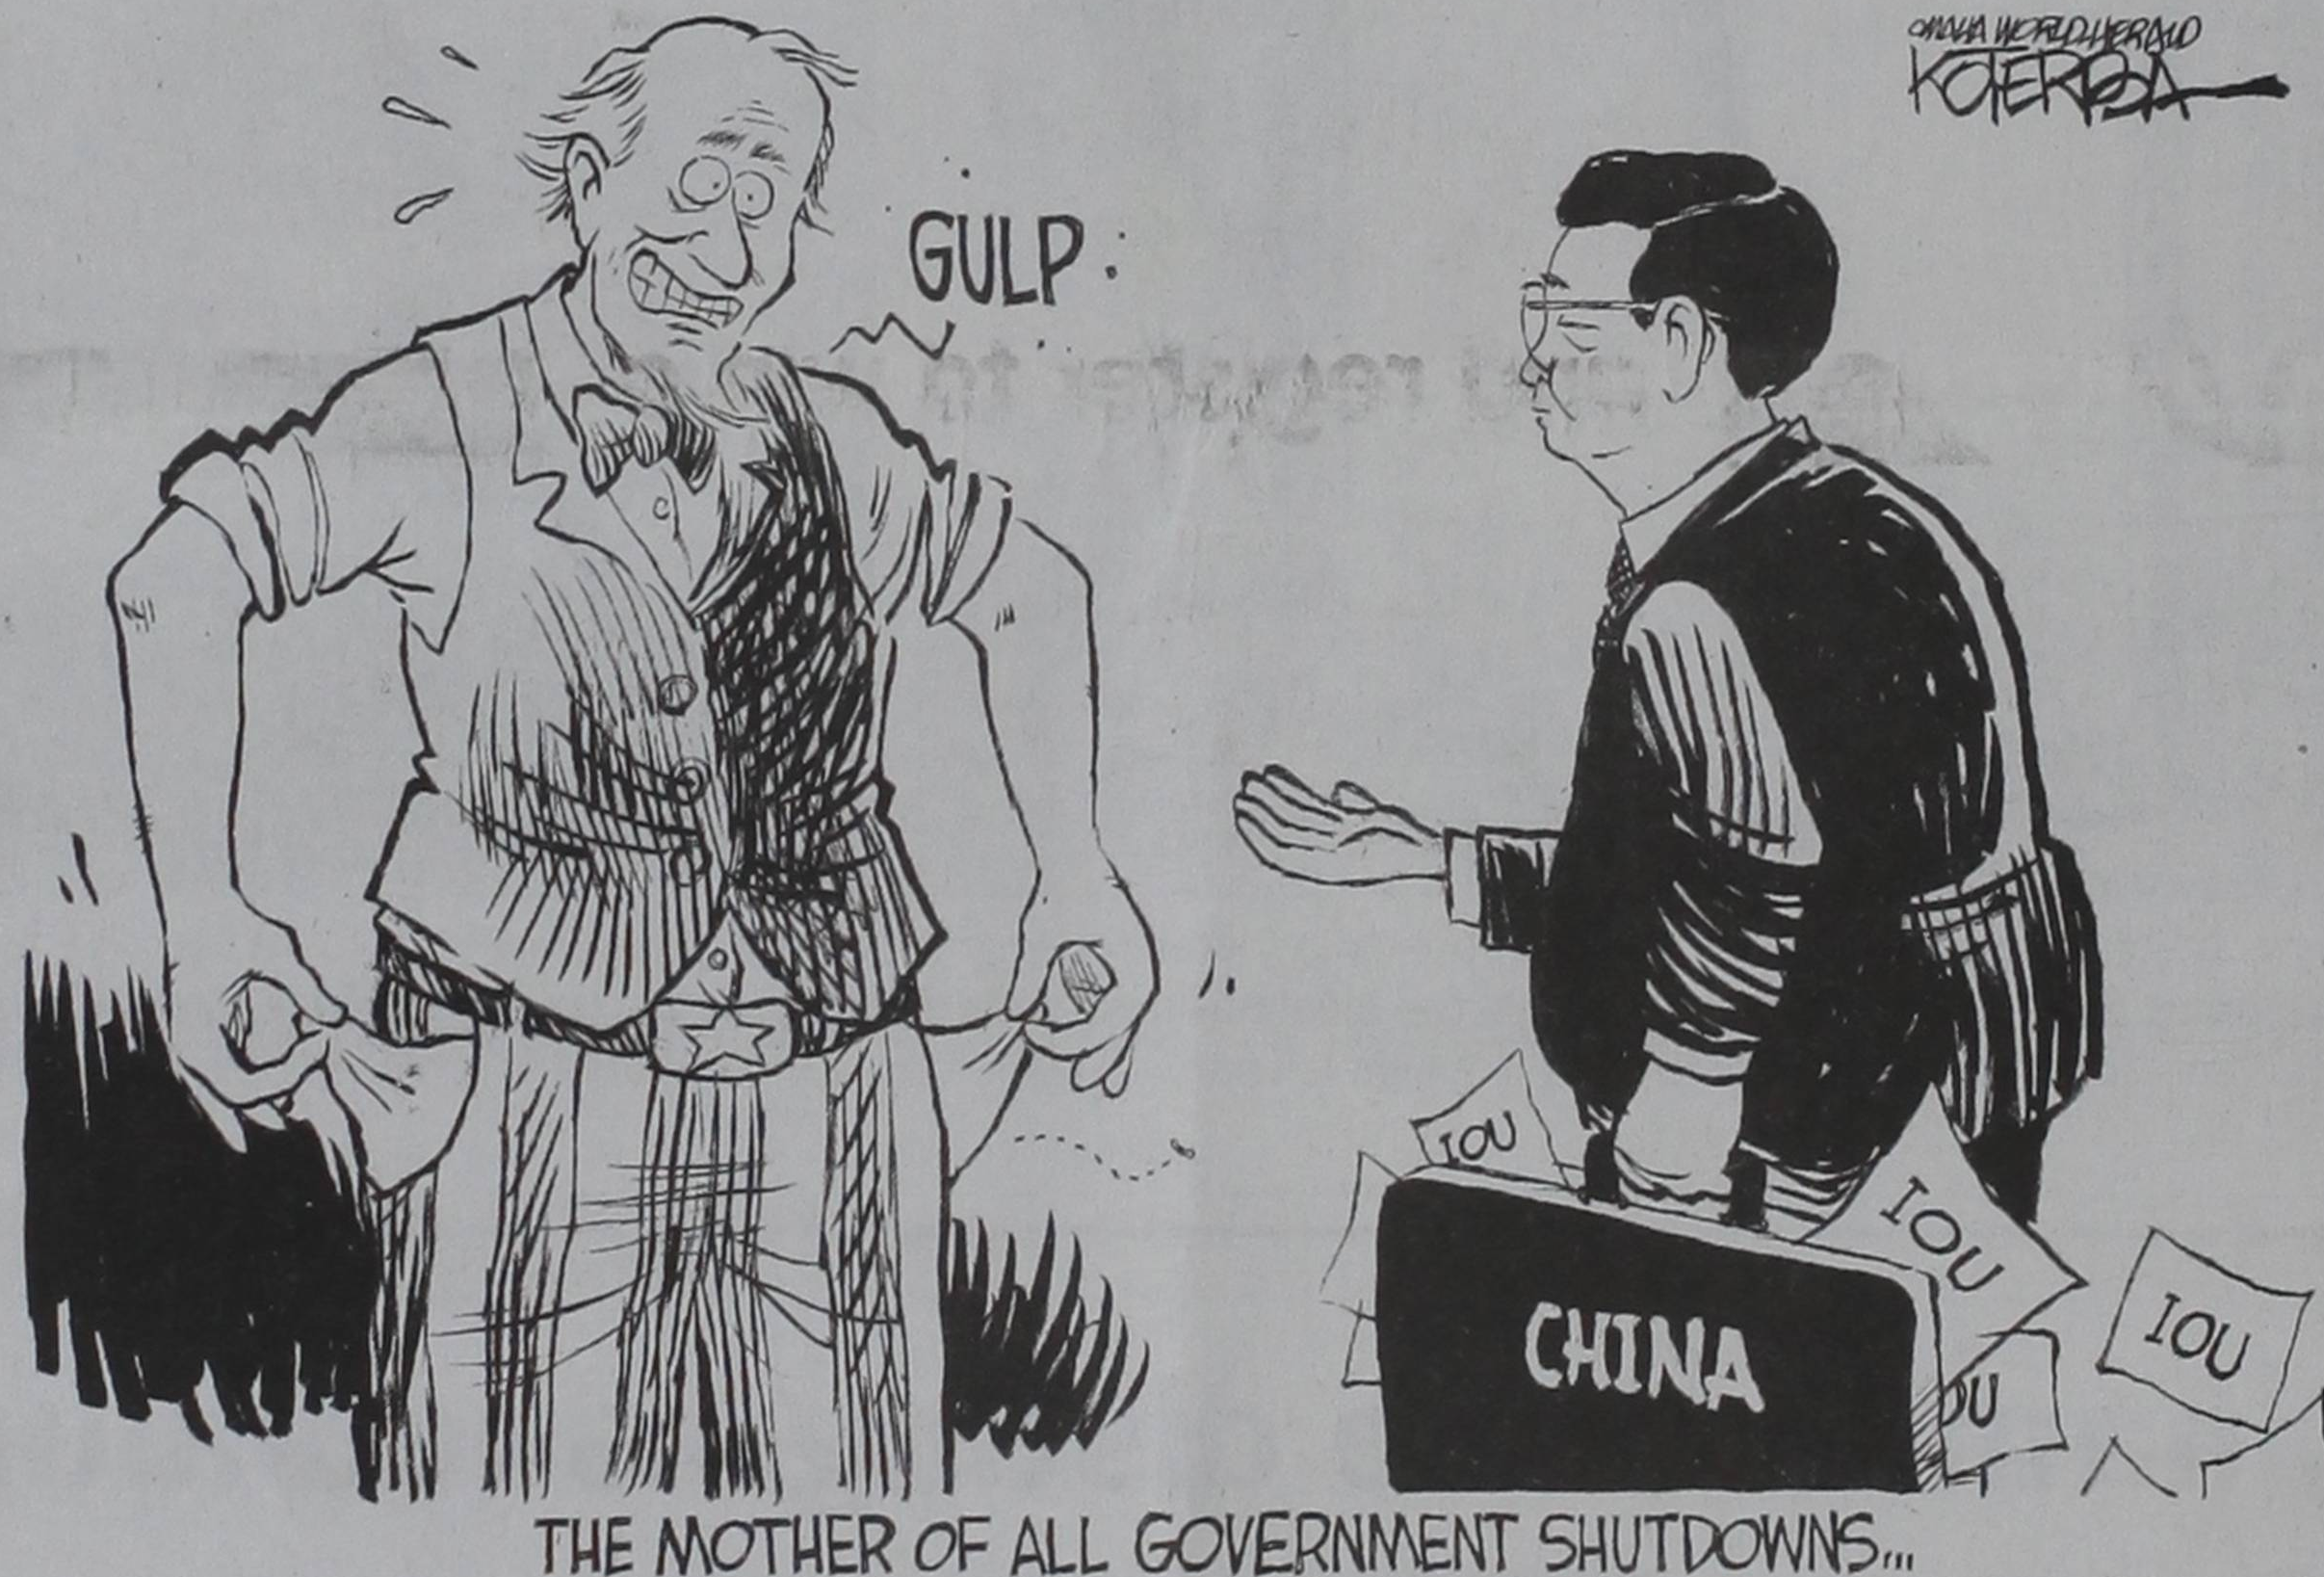

Since that first Earth Day, forty one years ago, Americans from every walk of life have joined forces to encourage proactive stewardship of our natural resources. But even before that first Earth Day, American farmers and ranchers, "walked the talk," when it came to conservation... constantly and willingly adopting management practices that reduce soil erosion, improve water quantity and quality, reduce air pollutants and increase wildlife habitat and related populations.

America's farmers and ranchers depend on the earth's productivity to support their families and to provide the food, fiber and bio-fuels for the entire world. For these agriculture producers, resource stewardship is not a one-time, once a year obligation, it is their livelihood, tradition and a way of life that spans generations.

Farmers and ranchers are the foremost stewards of the land - they have learned enhanced ways to grow crops and implemented improved methods for raising livestock. They appreciate and respect the fragile nature of our natural resources and know it is important to safeguard the environment today, tomorrow and always. On Earth Day 2011, FSA salutes the American farmer and rancher...our nation's original conservation stewards.

THE MOTHER OF ALL GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWNS...

How 'radical' is Rep. Ryan's plan

By Dr. Mark W. Hendrickson

Question for those of you concerned about the size of federal debts and deficits: Would you endorse a plan which would add another five or six trillion dollars to the federal debt over the next decade while increasing Uncle Sam's annual expenditures by $1.1 trillion? If so, you're in luck. House Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan (R-WI) recently unveiled just such a plan.

Naturally, Democrats immediately denounced Ryan's plan as "radical." They think the increases in spending and debt should be much larger. It shows how far the goalposts have been moved in American politics that adding multi-trillion-dollar of debt is the most conservative proposal anyone in government has made. How would you like your government debt, Mr. or Ms. Citizen—gargantuan or astronomical?

The Ryan Plan, if implemented (more on that in a moment), would cut $179 billion from President Obama's planned spending in 2012 and another $241 billion in 2013. Why is it not "radical" to raise spending by $787 billion in one year, like Obama did in 2009, but "radical" to propose a decrease of $179 billion?

Ryan proposes to reform Medicare and Medicaid so that they don't bankrupt the country. Why is that demonized as "war on the elderly and poor" (the phraseology of Illinois Democrat Jan Schakovsky), but nobody talks about waging "war on the young" by saddling the rising generation with trillions of dollars of debt?

Ryan's plan is bold in comparison to the status quo in Washington, but it isn't radical. You want "radical?" How about getting government out of the medical field entirely? Since the creation of Medicare and Medicaid in the 1960s, medical costs have soared far beyond the rate of inflation. More than that, market competition has been diminished and fraud and inefficiency have ballooned apace with the growth of these two medical bureaucracies. (Why do liberals rant and rave about the Pentagon's inefficiencies, but remain silent about the similar inefficiencies of Medicare and Medicaid?) Ryan's plan is statist to the core, promising seniors large government subsidies with which to choose from a slate of government-regulated health care plans.

At this stage, Ryan's plan is academic. Its combination of spending cuts, tax cuts, and devolution of administration of government programs from the federal to the state level—while a significant improvement over the fiscal insanity of recent years—is dead in the water until at least 2013.

If you doubt that, look at the recently concluded "government shutdown" soap opera. The government is going broke, the Republicans were asking for a giveback of less than 10 percent of the Obama/Pelosi/Reid spending increases, but the Democrats—famous for extolling bipartisanship—threatened to shut down the government rather than make such a modest compromise.

It will be interesting to see how long Ryan's fellow Republicans in the House stand by his proposals. The coming vote is largely symbolic. The real test will be when Republicans have to face the voters in close re-election races next year. A majority of Americans may say that they favor reduced federal spending and smaller deficits, but when push comes to shove, how many will vote for a legislator who actually shrinks programs from which voters benefit?

Even if Ryan's plan, by some miracle, were to be enacted, nothing fundamental would change. Uncle Sam will remain a gigantic, meddling nanny, interfering with our lives and progressively eroding our liberty, entangling us in a corrupt network of special privileges that murder justice and bury the rule of law.

Ryan's plan is a futile attempt to square the circle. He is trying to find a way to preserve an inherently flawed system—a democratic transfer society—whereby government somehow takes care of all of us without eventually spending itself into bankruptcy.

The Ryan Plan is not radical; that is, it doesn't get to the root of the problem. It never questions the legitimacy of government redistribution of wealth. The mechanisms, rationale, and justification for Big Government remain unchanged. Although a significant step in the right direction (i.e., less federal spending), Paul Ryan's plan ultimately is not a cure for what ails us.

— Dr. Mark W. Hendrickson is an adjunct faculty member, economist, and fellow for economic and social policy with The Center for Vision & Values at Grove City College.

CC Alumni: Three receive honors Saturday

America thanks to the opportunities Clarendon College provides. He has received numerous honors through the dentist profession and has been recognized for civic contributions as well.

Through his interaction with young people, he tries to teach them one simple rule – “Do the right thing, tell the truth, and you won’t have to remember your story.” And also, “Every person in your life can teach you something.”

He has touched countless lives and made young people know that they do matter. Among the letters of recommendation that “Dr. Fuzzy” received was one from legendary cowboy poet and close personal friend Red Stegall, who organizes the Cowboy Gathering in Ft. Worth, which Hudson participates in. For years Hudson setup his chuckwagon and taught youngsters the dying art of Dutch oven cooking. Stegall says Hudson considers it “of vital importance to educate and perpetuate the lifestyle of his roots.” He goes on to say: “The fact that Clarendon College played such a pivotal role in Dr. Hudson’s education is something for your institution to be extremely proud of. I cannot imagine a more worthy individual to be recognized by your college than my friend.”

In addition to his professional accomplishments, Hudson was also recognized for his unwavering commitment to his bride, Olivia, and his family. Schaffer grew up near Groom and graduated from Clarendon College in 1957. He worked for Celanese in Pampa for 38 years and spent many years farming and ranching. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church in Groom where he has served for many years as the president of the board of trustees.

More than 25 years ago, Schaffer was asked to serve on the board of the ex-students association. And he served for seven years as the association’s president during the 1990s and later served another three years as president, including this past year. Without fail, he would make the trip to Clarendon for board meetings where he was known for his big grin, his warm heart, and the politeness of what singer/songwriter Alan Jackson calls “a small town Southern man.”

Due to health reasons, Schaffer was unable to attend Saturday night’s reunion. Former association president Roger Estlack presented the award to Schaffer in Pampa earlier that day.

In addition to the Distinguished Alumni awards, the Association presented a Platinum Diploma to Esther Morrison Bowers of White Deer, who celebrated her 100th birthday last Friday and who graduated from Clarendon College in 1929. Her granddaughter, Susan Bowers – a third generation CC Ex-Student, accepted the award on her grandmother’s behalf.

Aldermen authorized the purchase of a used trash truck for $15,000.

Resolutions of Agreement with the Texas Department of Transportation were approved to replace the bridge on Rosenfield Street and the Seventh Street Bridge at City Park.

Little says the old bridge at the park likely will not be demolished but might be moved to a new location for pedestrian traffic, and Mayor Larry Hicks has inquired about the possibility of putting the new bridge next to the old one. The bridge design has not been finalized, city officials said.

The board discussed and approved spending $1,500 to $2,000 for a facilitator to help aldermen do a long-range planning session for future city goals.

The board conducted a six-month evaluation of the city administrator.

The resignation of Alderman Jeremy Powell was accepted with regret. Powell moved outside the city limits.

Aldermen discussed the need to replace a fire truck that was totaled when it was wrecked while responding to an accident earlier this year. The volunteer fire department will hold a fundraiser later this year to purchase a new truck, and the city will support those fundraising efforts.

The Clarendon church of Christ will be hosting its VBS on Monday, June 6th through Wednesday, June 8th. From 9:00 a.m. until about 1:00 p.m., we will register the kids, have an opening skit, sing songs, have our classes, crafts, and then a meal.

The ages for the VBS are from 3 year olds to 6th graders. Our theme this year is: “UPSIDE DOWN UNDER”. A life transforming outback adventure! With an Australian outback theme the lessons are to show how Jesus can transform and change a person. The lessons will show how Jesus can turn your life “Upside Down.”

The three lessons each age group will have are: “From Helpless to Hopeful”, Jesus Meets a Crippled Man (John 5); “From Terrified to Trusting”, Jesus Meets Peter on the Water (Matthew 14); “From Selfish to Selfless”, Jesus Meets Zacchaeus (Luke 19).

We ask that you have your children here by 8:45 - 9:00 for registration. They will start the day after registration in the auditorium with skits and or singing with “Booster Rooster.” Our large, friendly chicken will help them get in the mood for the day by “boosting” their spirits with songs. Afterwards they will go to class for about an hour. Then, depending on the time, they will eat and have their crafts or vice-versa. The day should be finished by no later than 1:00 p.m.

We are located on 300 Carhart ST. Our phone number is: 874-2495. We extend an invitation to any child between 3 years of age through the 6th grade. Your children will be well taught and well cared for. We will remind everyone of the date in the Enterprise one more time before VBS starts. Please come and allow us to share God’s word with your children while they have a lot of fun at the same time.

If you have any questions, call the number above or contact Chris Moore at 205-0181. We hope to see you there.

Recipe: Cheeseburger Meatloaf: 1 pound ground beef, 1 onion, chopped, 1 green bell pepper, chopped, 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 cup sour cream, 1 cup crushed buttery round crackers (such as Ritz), 1 (10.75 ounce) can, condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese.
Preheat an oven to 350 degrees F. Mix ground beef, onion, bell pepper, 1 cup Cheddar cheese, Worcestershire sauce, sour cream, and crackers together in a bowl. Wind bursts clocked at 74mph

Oh, this relentless wind! Clocked at 74 mph in Clarendon on Friday, April 15, there was some damage to outbuildings, fences, and signs but no injuries and so far no fires.
The humidity is about zero, and everyone complains of headaches and allergies, but on the bright side no one suffers from oily skin or hair.
Mr. and Mrs. Cardinal are back, and a hummingbird made an appearance, but the wind had done a number on the feeder, so we couldn't offer him a good dinner. He rested in the olive tree, then left heading south. Some apricots have survived the wind. Maybe a fresh apricot cobbler is in Ole Jim's future; he deserves it.
Around 20 brave souls fought the wind and dirt and came to Friendship Club Friday night.
It was good to see Boog and June Elliott back from wintering in the south. As June said, there's no place like home, wind and all.
Danny Mullin entertained us with some good music. Lee and Treva Jackson and Carol McWilliams did a good job setting everything up.
Hope to see more people next time. Remember the third Friday of each month.
Dorothy Arnold moved Monday to Oklahoma, and she lost a storage shed to the wind. It made a valiant stand but, when emptied, that old shed just gave up.
Good luck with your move, Dorothy, and God Bless. We will miss you.

McAfee, Thomas win balsa tower contest

The physics classes at CHS recently competed in a tower building project to see which group could hold the most weight compared to the weight of the tower.
Towers were to be composed of only balsa wood and glue and have a mass under 40 grams. Brandon McAfee and Mckaelie Thomas (pictured above) won the contest, building a tower that weighed 1.04 ounces and held 168.5 pounds.
This tower held up nearly 2600 times its own weight before collapsing.
Jerami Johnson and Cody Hill came in second in the contest, holding up 178.5 pounds, but the mass of their tower was 1.26 ounce and held up 2275 times its weight. Gage Nelson and Mikayla Shadle finished third in the contest.

Keys to successful weight-loss plans

By Andrea Stelting, Donley County Extension Service
Maintaining weight-loss can be very challenging. However, it is not hopeless. About one in twenty individuals who lose weight will keep the weight off. Ever wonder why some who 'diet' are successful while others are not? What is their secret?
The National Weight Control Registry is a database of over 6,000 successful weight-loss maintainers. Researchers use the Registry to see if there are commonalities among the participants that can help us better understand weight loss.
According to the National Weight Control Registry successful weight-loss maintainers: get plenty of physical activity, limit sedentary activities such as television watching, have a consistent eating plan, consume breakfast and monitor their weight.
Weight-loss maintainers get at least 200 minutes a week of moderate intensity exercise such as walking or swimming. They also limit television viewing to about 10 hours a week. "Another trait of weight-loss maintainers is consistency; they do not 'splurge' because it's the weekend, a holiday or because they are eating out," said Dr. Sharon Robinson, Nutrition Specialist and Registered Dietitian with the Texas AgriLife Extension Service. Sometimes when people want to lose weight they will stop eating breakfast. However, we know from the Registry that weight-loss maintainers eat breakfast daily. Also they monitor their weight by weighing themselves weekly and tracking their food intake daily.

Drugs in the News

Hepatitis Treatment Improved with Drug

According to two new clinical studies, adding the drug boceprevir to the current standard drug treatment (interferon and ribavirin) for hepatitis C infection significantly improves what health experts refer to as the rate of cure for this infection. According to the results of these two studies, which are published in the New England Journal of Medicine, boceprevir provided a sustained virologic response in persons who had either relapsed or did not respond to standard therapy. One study researcher indicated that the response in those studied was a dramatic and rapid improvement in antiviral therapy.

Hepatitis C is an infection caused by a virus that reportedly affects over 3 million Americans. Many infected with this virus are symptom-free and are not aware that they have it. The most commonly occurring strain of the hepatitis C virus is called Genotype 1. This type is usually referred to by health experts as the most difficult to treat. Currently, there is no vaccine available to prevent this type of hepatitis. Treatment, therefore, has become the most important way to manage this infection.

Lady Broncos stun the Lady Kiowas

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos stopped Booker at home 13-5 to increase their overall record to 14-5 on the year and 5-1 in district play.

The ladies scored four runs in the first and three more in the third to get the momentum going. Booker managed three runs in the third inning, but that was as close as they could get to the Lady Broncos.

"Danielle (Ford) pitched a good game for us and we had several good hits," head coach Gary Jack said. "We did have five or six errors in the third inning and they were able to score four of their five runs off of them."

But the ladies regrouped and overcame the mistakes to get back on track. They were able to hit well enough in the final innings to increase their lead and take away any chances Booker had.

Jack gave credit to several players for the way they hit the ball in the game.

"Jentry Shadle, Trevela Dronzek, Jency Burton, Miranda Miller, and Erin Moore hit the ball well for us."

Jack also mentioned Audrey Shelton as hitting the ball well after coming off of her injury early in the season.

"It was good to see Audrey hit the ball so well," Jack said.

The Lady Broncos have several big games coming up to end their regular season according to Jack. They will take on McLean at home Friday, April 22, at 4:30 p.m. This game is a must-win for the ladies to even things up as the Lady Tigers won the first matchup. They will travel to Claude on Saturday, April 23, and play at 10:00 a.m. and then travel to Follett on Monday, April 25, to finish regulation.

Broncos storm Cyclones, shut out Wellington

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos slammed home five runs in the opening inning in the District contest at Memphis last Tuesday afternoon and only needed five innings to do so.

The 11-1 romp kept the Broncos perfect for the year. Senior pitcher Johnny Gaines earned the win with Brayden Phillips behind the plate.

After building the big lead early in the game, the Broncos stayed with the fundamentals on both sides to keep the Cyclones under control only allowing one run in the first. Clarendon kept up the momentum and added five more runs in the fourth to squelch any comeback attempt by Memphis and get the 10-run win.

"Offensively, we struck early scoring five runs in the first," coach Brad Elam said. "After a Brayden Phillips single, Johnny Gaines hit his eighth homerun."

David Roberts, Dusty Rice and Bradley Watson each hit a pair of doubles to knock in runs to add to the score.

On Saturday, the Broncos played great baseball and shut out a good Wellington team 9-0 with Troy Chambliss (7-0) on the mound. After a scoreless first inning, the Broncos added five runs in the second and third innings.

"Our bats were a little quieter as we really didn't hit the ball hard until the sixth inning," Elam said. "We struck for three in the second on multiple Wellington errors and scored two more in the third when Troy Chambliss drove in Gaines and came around to score later in the inning."

Elam noted the Broncos' big inning came in the sixth with two outs. Caleb Mitchell reached base on an error and scored on a Watson triple before Phillips drove him home, and Gaines connected on his ninth homerun of the season.

"Our defense was outstanding against Wellington," Elam said. "We had zero errors and many great plays. I was really impressed with our pitching and defense against the second place Wellington team."

"They were the keys in both victories. Johnny and Troy gave up only one unearned run in two games striking out 20 and only walking two. They gave up only four hits in 12 innings."

The Broncos are at 13-0 for the season and 8-0 is District play.

The Broncos have very few regular season games remaining. They will begin to prepare for post-season play.

The Bronco JV will play Saturday, April 23, at Boys Ranch at noon.

Junior Historians adopt old gym for project

By Chelsea Covey,
CHS Junior Historians Reporter

The Old Bronco Gym was chosen by the Clarendon High School Junior Historian Chapter for the 2010-2011 Adopt-A-Building project.

Brooklyn Bailey helped take photos of the exterior and interior of the building to submit with the end product, and Secretary Maegan Hysinger researched the information about the McLean POW camp. Historian Kelsey Thomas conducted the local research, and Vice President Dominique Brady served as the project's committee chair.

The project was submitted to the Texas State Historical Association on April 1, and it was announced to the chapter that the project won first place on April 6. The chapter appreciates all those who contributed to the research and production of this year's Adopt-A-Building project, especially Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Elam and Ms. Betty Mays for sharing their memories.

On April 8 and 9, chapter members President Kelsey Floyd, Thomas, Brady, Hysinger, Representative Chanda Reynolds, and sponsor Lyndal Gillen took an end of the year trip to Waxahatchie to attend the Scarborough Faire Renaissance Festival.

There the senior members shopped, got henna tattoos, watched a bagpipe player perform, and attended a jousting tournament. They also had the chance to dress up in costumes and experience the cliché of LARP-ing (Live Action Role Play).

Donley County livestock team heads to state

By Leonard Haynes,
Donley County Extension Service

Twelve Donley County 4-H members braved the 65+ mph winds and traveled to compete in the District 1 4-H Livestock judging contest held at the West Texas A&M University Nance Ranch on Friday, April 15.

All though the dirt continued to blow in their faces they rose to the top in the contest amongst 220 other participants in the contest.

In the Senior Division Jayson Pigg, Jacob Pigg, John Pigg, and Austin Adams made up a team of four, and Tres Hommel judged as an alternate.

They placed second overall qualifying them for the State 4-H Livestock Judging Contest to be held at Texas A&M University during State 4-H Round Up in June.

Jayson Pigg was also eighth high individual, and Jacob was ninth high individual over all in the Senior Division, and as a team they took many more awards home in the beef, swine, sheep, goat, and reasons divisions.

Donley County Junior team one made up of Kati Adams, Blaine Ellis, Brittney McAnear, and Jacob Hewitt placed third overall as a team in the junior division with Kati placing seventh high and Blaine placing 11th high overall as individuals.

Also as a team they brought home numerous awards in the beef, sheep, swine and goat divisions of the contest.

Donley County Junior Team 2 made up of Kelsey McAnear, Casey McClusky and Trey Wright placed 24th overall as a team out of 42 teams that competed in the contest.

Senior team takes third

Donley County Sr. Horse Judging Team Annie Patten, Kylie Phillips, and Kolt Stevenson (not shown) placed 3rd at the Clarendon College on April 2.

CJH Students Win 2nd at Contest

Four Clarendon Jr. High Students raced their way to the top this weekend as they took second place in the annual B&W Pantex Fuel Cell Car Competition.

The contest encourages student innovation and engineering. Students won $250 for their school and each received a trophy. The students also won a certificate for Outstanding Achievement in Problem Solving and Reflection for the obstacles that they overcame while building their car.

This year's contest challenge was to build a car powered by a Hydrogen fuel cell. Students were given a motor, a fuel cell and an electrolyzer. The remainder of the car had to be engineered by the students.

Twelve teams participated in the event held Saturday, April 16, at the Amarillo Area Center for Advanced Learning (AACAL).

The contest format is double elimination, with students racing in heats of four.

Team members were Lauren Medina, Madison Carr, Briana Robinson, and Xavier Neal. The team was coached by CJH Science teacher Kamy Whatley.

Clarendon school nurse Debbie Thompson and local Masons Carey Wann and Larry Hicks teach first graders about tooth decay last week.

First graders receive kits to fight tooth decay

All first graders at Clarendon Elementary were given free prevent tooth decay kits last Wednesday, April 13.

The project, called the Fantastic Teeth Fan Club, is a program of Masonic Children & Family Services (MCFS) to prevent children from suffering with toothaches, reduce missed school days due to dental problems, and cut costs for dental treatment.

Grett Betts, secretary of Clarendon Lodge #700, organized the project. Lodge members Larry Hicks, Carey Wann, and Roger Estlack delivered the kits to the students with the help of school nurse Debbie Thompson.

The kits contain: a toothbrush, toothpaste, dental floss, healthy teeth sticker, two minute timer (optimal brushing time).

"Tips for Healthy Teeth At Any Age" educational flyer for parents in both English and Spanish, and a summary of MCFS services and grant opportunities.

According to Oral Health In America: A Report of the Surgeon General, tooth decay is the single most common chronic childhood disease—five times more common than asthma and seven times more common than hay fever.

Poor children are affected by this epidemic more frequently than other children, with nearly 12 times more restricted-activity days due to dental issues than children from higher-income families.

A recent study from The Texas

Kids Count Project showed more than 1.5 million Texas children living in poverty—another indicator of the great need for this type of program.

In addition, dental problems directly affect success for children, with more than 51 million school hours lost each year to dental-related illness.

Pain and suffering due to untreated dental disease can also lead to problems in eating and speaking.
