Merchants report solid Black Friday sales

Clarendon Merchants are calling last week's Black Friday promotion a success with several local businesses reporting heavy traffic in their stores.

The day after Thanksgiving is traditionally a busy day for national retailers, but this year local businesses worked hard to attract attention to their services. They also sought to capitalize on Small Business Saturday, a national effort led by American Express to get people to support small businesses across the country.

Terri Floyd at Every Nook & Cranny told the Enterprise that she had her best day Friday since she has been in business.

"Friday was awesome for us," Floyd said. "It was a record day, and we had quite a few people here from out of town."

Floyd said one lady from Howardwick did all of her Christmas shopping in Every Nook & Cranny.

She also said that television time purchased by the Clarendon Merchants Association had paid off. A woman who had seen the merchants' commercial stopped in the Nook on Wednesday and said she never realized how many shops Clarendon had available even though she comes through town frequently as a driver for FedEx.

As a Radio Shack dealer, Bill Stavenhagen at Stavenhagen Video said he benefited from national advertising in addition to local ads that his store ran and regional ads placed by the Clarendon Merchants Association.

"Sales were up by a third from Black Friday last year," Stavenhagen said. "I think having the whole town participating helped me. I had people come in at 6:15 Friday morning."

Stavenhagen said he sold a TomTom navigation system to a man just passing through town about 7 a.m. based on national Radio Shack ads, and he also got business from Facebook after a Clarendon woman, April Yankie, posted on her page that he had a great sale going on.

"I had two people come in my store from that," he said.

Cornell's Country Store also had a good day Friday and said they ran 25 percent more tickets than they did the year before.

"We were really, really busy," Deanna Cornell said. "Lay away was way up this year, and we had a lot of phone calls coming in also."

Cornell's said they had several sales come in from traffic on the highway, and they had a lot of business from hunters on Saturday.

Most merchants said Small Business Saturday was not as good as Friday, but they were still busy. Everyone appreciates the support that they received from shoppers over the two-day period.

Local shoppers also benefited from finding good deals all over town.

All the merchants interviewed by the ENTERPRISE said they intend to continue the Black Friday and Small Business Saturday promotion next year.

Clarendon merchants continue to be interested in your business and will continue to have sales and promotions through the holiday season. Watch the pages of the ENTERPRISE for ongoing specials.

Sandell to help raise funds for Mulkey

A motion picture with a message will raise money to help save Clarendon's Mulkey Theatre this weekend with a special presentation of "Courageous" at the Sandell Drive-In.

Drive-in owner John Morrow plans to show the movie Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, December 2-4, and says he will donate the proceeds to the "Bring Back the Mulkey" campaign.

"I want people to see this film," Morrow said. "This is God's message that people need to hear."

The movie is about four men with one calling: To serve and protect. As law enforcement officers, Adam Mitchell, Nathan Hayes, and their partners are confident and focused. They willingly stand up to the worst the streets have to offer. Yet at the end of the day, they face a challenge that none of them are truly prepared to tackle: fatherhood.

"Courageous" is the fourth release of Sherwood Pictures, the moviemaking ministry of Sherwood Church in Albany, Georgia.

Admission to the Sandell Drive-In is $6 each. The show will start at 6:30 p.m., and the gates will open one hour before show time.

Since last year, more than $17,000 has been raised or pledged to help Bring Back the Mulkey. The donations helped restore neon on the marquee this summer, which has been lit up on special occasions, and will help with further goals to restore the façade of the theatre. The Clarendon Economic Development Corporation is currently contacting architects to pursue developing a master plan for the theatre.

Donations are still being accepted to help Bring Back the Mulkey and can be made to Donley County Historical Commission, PO Box 905, Clarendon, TX 79226.

America a free speech forum for everyone

By John W. Whitehead

"Congress shall make no law...abridging the freedom of speech...or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."—First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution

The United States has historically stood for unfettered free speech, which is vital to a functioning democracy. Unfortunately, the tendency on the part of government and law enforcement officials to purge dissent has largely undermined the First Amendment's safeguards for political free speech. The Occupy Movement, and the government's response to its encampments in public spaces, perfectly illustrates the fact that there is no longer any such thing as unfettered free speech in America today.

speak truth to power
by John Whitehead

The very fact that protesters have had to resort to occupying various public spaces in order to open up a national dialogue about issues of concern says a lot about the state of the First Amendment, or rather the sad state of it. Moreover, the heavy-handed police response to the Occupiers shows the degree to which the corporate state will go to silence these protesters and discourage any further uprisings.

There was a time when communities had town squares—public areas where people gathered to exchange information, ideas, and do business. These served a vital function in America's history, allowing opinions and ideas—whether good or bad—to be aired and debated. Yet as areas once open to the public have been overtaken by state and corporate interests, traditional public forums for free speech have all but disappeared. Town squares have been replaced by private shopping malls and parking lots, neither of which are freely accessible to individuals hoping to voice their views. Consequently, protesters, even those not engaging in civil disobedience, are shut out, sometimes forcibly, from public areas, while attempts to peaceably assemble are overburdened by government regulations and permit requirements.

Furthermore, the court-sanctioned use by the government and private entities of so-called "free speech zones" to isolate protesters, even in public parks and college campuses, makes clear that the right to speak freely in public has eroded. Concentrating, monitoring and minimizing the effects of protests are the real reasons for using designated protest zones. Obviously, protesters are only perceived as dangerous because their message challenges the status quo. It's the message that is feared. Thus, efforts to confine and control the dissenters are really efforts to confine and control the effect of their messages, whatever those might be. This is true whether they're challenging environmental policies, free trade agreements or the political campaigns of candidates running for public office.

The right of political free speech is the basis of all liberty. It's the citizen's right to confront the government and demand that it alter its policies. But first, citizens have to be seen and heard, and only under extraordinary circumstances should free speech ever be restricted.

Historically, societies have always benefitted when the right to speak freely was secured rather than curtailed. These free speech forums provided groups and individuals of all political and ideological persuasions a physical space to be able to come together to speak their minds.

However, somewhere along the way, Americans lost touch with the impact and importance of these free speech forums. For example, Faneuil Hall, once the staging ground for revolutionary fervor, now requires individuals hoping to use the venue to submit an "Event Application" form at least thirty days in advance of proposed events.

No matter what your political persuasion may be, every American has a First Amendment right to speak their mind, gather together and protest against government programs with which they disagree. As such, there are really only three ways to deal with a government that doesn't listen to the voters: one, you can be uncivil—showing up at a controlled event and shouting, heckling, and creating a disturbance and otherwise raising hell; two, you can engage in civil disobedience—staging sit-ins, refusing to pay taxes, etc.; or the final option, which is no real option at all and which we don't want to see happen, is violence.

Unless we act now to preserve the freedoms enshrined in the First Amendment, not only the right to freedom of speech and assembly but the right to petition one's government for a redress of grievances—and by that I mean something as simple as picketing in front of City Hall, then I fear we will see the third option played out, outright violence, which will play right into the government's hands and the institution of police state tactics.

What can you do? Right now, the best thing you can do is sound the alarm. Form local citizens groups in your community. Educate your neighbors on their rights and inform them about the grave possibilities we face as the police state aura grows stronger. Continue to voice your discontent to your representatives at the local and state levels, and in Congress. Most of all, stay informed and exercise your right to redress your grievances with the government while you still can. It's fine to occupy public parks, but it would be far better to occupy city council meetings and congressional offices.

Constitutional attorney John W. Whitehead is the president of the Rutherford Institute.

Possible record turnover in Congress

By Martin Frost

Every few years, someone advances the idea that this will be the year that the public is so fed up with politicians in Washington that they go to the polls and vote against all incumbents.

It has never happened before, but this could finally be the year.

The failure of the supercommittee is just one more example of how totally dysfunctional Washington has become. Certainly the stage was set with the embarrassing "perils of Pauline" conclusion to the fight over raising the debt ceiling this summer. The debt ceiling was raised at the last minute, but part of the deal was to create the supercommittee to come up with additional deficit reduction by Nov. 23. Now that effort has failed.

Public approval of Congress has sunk to 9 percent. As my friend former Congressman Tom Davis of Virginia points out, this is down to family and friends. Or as the late Congressman Bill Lehman of Florida used to remind his colleagues, he was a used-car dealer before he was elected to Congress and didn't think he could fall any further in public esteem. But he did.

I remember 1994 – the year a very large number of Democrats were voted out of office and the Republicans took control of the House for the first time in 40 years.

I had spent much of the spring that year back in my district in Texas, talking to voters. I told my campaign consultant in May that it was time to do a poll. I could sense the discontent. He assured me all was well and that a poll could wait. I insisted.

The poll came back showing me barely ahead of a totally unknown challenger, 38 percent to 33 percent. We immediately ramped up my reelection effort, and I survived with 52.7 percent of the vote. Many of my Democratic colleagues never saw it coming and lost. However, every Republican incumbent on the ballot was reelected.

This year could be 1994, but with a twist – everyone is at risk, regardless of party affiliation. The public may finally have had enough. Not every incumbent will lose, but we could see a record turnover.

Add to the mix that this is a redistricting year with many incumbents facing significant numbers of new voters who never have called their congressman to help Grandma get her Social Security check or to help an uncle get into the local veterans hospital.

My advice to all incumbents – regardless of party – is to run a full-scale campaign even if you have been reelected recently by large margins.

And as a part of that campaign, address the real concerns of real people in your district. Don't spend a lot of time talking about abortion, gay rights or gun control. Tell people how you are going to help them or their adult children who have moved back home find a job.

Tell them how you are going to make sure Medicare is there for them when they retire. The cost of health care is real to people, and it scares the hell out of them. And tell people what you are going to do to help the economy so that their 401(k) plans don't fall through the floor.

Large swings in Congress usually occur when one party is voted out of office and replaced by the opposition like what happened in 1994, 2006 and 2010. The public goes into the voting booth to punish a particular political philosophy. This time, they just may want to punish everyone who has been there.

I have never supported arbitrary term limits for federal officeholders, telling people that we already have terms limits and they are called elections. This may be the year when term limits are imposed by the voters.

Martin Frost was a member of the Texas delegation in the House from 1979 to 2005 and was Democratic Caucus chairman and head of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

Deer season different 50 years ago

By Dr. Paul Kengor

This week hunters across America storm the woods loaded for deer. For yet another indication of how times have changed, consider this account of Deer Season a half century ago:

My mother's family lived in Emporium, Pennsylvania, as did dozens of their relatives. Emporium is a tiny town nestled in the mountains near the north/central part of the state. Back in the 1940s, when my mother was born, my grandmother had worked as a Rosie Riveter at the Sylvania plant. Some reading this article will remember owning a huge, heavy Sylvania TV—back when you got only three channels.

Sylvania employed half the town. Farming was another means of employment, which my grandfather and his parents and nine siblings had done down the road in Rich Valley.

Still, neither Sylvania nor farming nor anything else did much to populate tiny Emporium.

Once a year, however, the place was flooded with people. That time of year was Deer Season, when out-of-town hunters arrived like an incoming Army, loaded with rifles and bullets. "Army" is a good metaphor, given that a large portion of the hunters were World War II vets. They came from the mills and mines of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. They came to shoot a deer. During that special week, Emporium's streets were bustling, the bars were jammed, and churches had more people than usual, including St. Mark's, where hunters sought out the priest for a blessing before heading into the woods.

The lone hotel was full, leaving hunters looking for lodging. Some packed into makeshift hunting camps. Some slept in their cars. Sleeping in a car was no big deal to guys who had fought in Germany, France, the Battle of the Bulge. Nonetheless, they searched for a place with a roof, heat, a bathroom—which brings me to my main focus:

My grandmother always took in boarders during Deer Season. In fact, the whole town did. Up and down every street, hunters knocked on doors asking if the home was taking boarders. Bear in mind, these were complete strangers carrying guns and lots of ammunition. And yet, there was never any fear that they were a threat to a household.

"I never heard of any problems anywhere," recalls my mother, who was a little girl when the hunters stayed at her house. "There was never any concern about the safety of anyone, including the kids. Today you can't trust anyone. It was different then."

It was very different. There was also a general trust of hunters, a trust I believe is still merited and shared in those areas. My Uncle Carl, my mom's brother, says, "I still think that hunters are a special breed and even though they kill animals most are very caring, trustworthy, and law abiding."

My uncle remembers my grandparents taking in so many people that he lost track. "During hunting season our house was a zoo," he says.

For a few dollars per person, my grandparents hosted two or three hunters per night, giving them a bedroom and maybe the backroom. The hunters marched inside with all their gear. As evening fell, early in the winter, my grandmother made dinner for everyone. They all shared a meal. The hunters talked and played and joked with the kids. After dinner, they got their equipment in order and went to bed—snoring loudly through the night.

Around 5:00 a.m., my grandmother made breakfast for the hunters, typically bacon and ham and eggs.

The meals were special. "I enjoyed the stories at night and breakfast in the morning as much as the hunting," says my uncle.

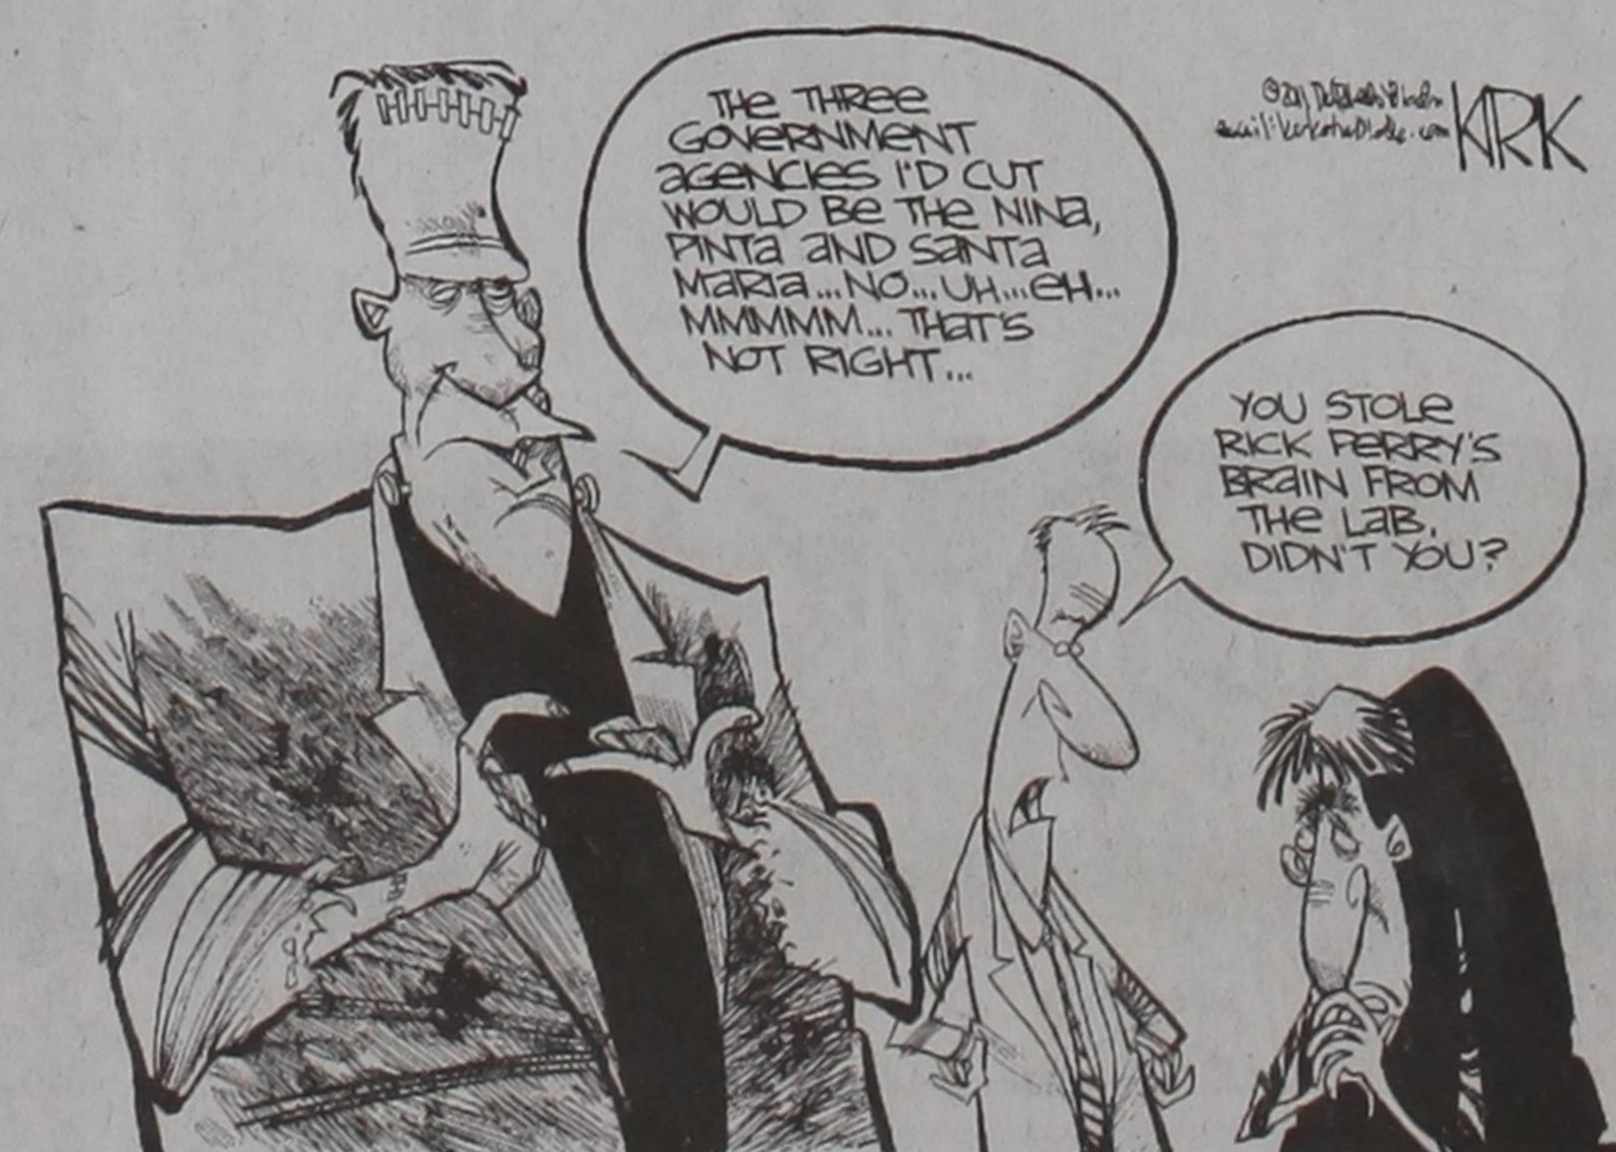

Then they were off to the woods. If they shot a deer early, some headed straight back to Pittsburgh, hoisting the gutted carcass atop the Oldsmobile. Others, if they got a deer late, might return to the house, where my grandmother cooked up some venison. If they had no luck, they stayed another night or two.

This scene was repeated in house after house in Emporium. My Aunt Della, who lived across the railroad tracks and river, took in boarders in an apartment above her garage. She tended to get the same guys year to year. I'm sure her Rigatoni and meatballs were a factor.

Can you imagine this today? Any of this?

Yes, the culture has really changed. America has changed.

WHERE ARE THE ADULTS?

I'm sure most of you have read in the papers or saw in the news the tragedies that happened at Syracuse and Penn State Universities. Both schools are under fire, and rightly so, because of the sexual assaults perpetrated on children by some of their coaches. Some of these things were done on school property. As more information continues to leak out, it is obvious that people knew what was going on, yet, it wasn't stopped until now. Where were the adults? How do these things happen and no one says anything?

There are a lot of underlying reasons. The biggest reason is that God has been pushed out of the school and the home. Of course we do it to ourselves as we become more materialistic and entertainment driven. Sports used to be and still can be a great influence on a youngster's life. He or she learns discipline, team work, leadership, and how to respond to authority. In the last few decades, sports have become such a priority to many people. A win at any cost attitude is prevalent in our schools and in the professional realm. People turn their heads when star players flunk in school, do drugs, involve themselves in illegal activities, etc. In that environment, is it any wonder that pedophiles or other abominable people can be found?

Sexual assault of our children destroys their lives often. But, there are other harmful things that we allow to happen to our children, all in the name of sports and competition. Their education and grades suffer because they are involved in activities at school that take too much time from them. A kid in sports will practice in the afternoon, come home and try to eat, bathe, do homework. There is little time leftover. Years ago it wasn't allowed, but now there are sports related activities that bleed into Wednesday and Sunday and take away from a child's spiritual growth.

In a nearby town, a young man was made to stay and watch game film instead of leave and get ready for church on Wednesday night. The boy's father did go and straighten the situation out, but his son was punished by the coach and playing time was taken away. Sadly, there aren't many yet willing to take such a stand.

In most schools now, a kid can keep playing until he has an F in a subject. At that point he or she must bring the grade up before playing. Why have we allowed this? Why isn't there some intervention when approaching a C? Why not have higher standards? Isn't the kid's education more important than missing a game of sports?

What does this have to do with the topic of pedophilia or other crimes against children? Because once you devalue the worth of a kid's life by ignoring bad grades, looking the other way when he drinks or does drugs, etc., you have sent a message to the world that their lives aren't worth much. When adults don't act as adults, bad things happen.

When kids are encouraged by coaches to miss important family or religious activities in the name of sports, we devalue them. When we take up all the time in a kid's life with practice and games until he is flunking school, we are devaluing him. It is using the kid as a pimp does with a prostitute. The colleges are full of ex-jocks who can't read and write above an 8th grade education. We have promoted sports to the point that many are willing to allow themselves to be taken advantage of to please everyone.

Where are the adults? Sadly, we are the driving force with what is wrong our children today. We must begin to reassess our priorities. We must value our children enough that we will take strong stands for their benefit. We must protect them and it starts with letting them know by our actions how much they really mean to us. We must show them we love them, even if it means taking away some of their activities so that better things can be promoted.

Let us all aim for higher standards for our children. I'd rather have a mediocre team to cheer for than a bunch of kids who are flunking in school and no morals who win a lot of games. I pray that we would love our children enough to do the best thing for them, no matter how much it might affect their sports involvement. Our children are so valuable, let our actions prove it!

Howardwick Mayor Essary resigns, Hubbard takes over

Thanksgiving is over, and what incredible food we had this year! Some years you miss, but this year all tasted wonderful.

What are the odds of three women looking for a new dessert, each finding it in a year-old Southern Living magazine and describing it to the others?

It was wonderful, a smooth, light, chiffon sweet potato pie with marshmallow cream in the meringue. Oh my goodness, so good!

We did not have a cooking disaster. You know what I mean. Those bags of giblets and neck left inside the bird or the marshmallows on the sweet potatoes catching fire and that dish is forever known as "Sweet Potato Flambé."

People begin telling of cooking disasters, and I am usually at the top of the list with the story of the stray dog stealing my beautifully cooked turkey from the car as we were unloading it. It was Ole Jim's first deployment during Vietnam, and we were all trying to be merry and bright, then came the stray dog. Lucky for us someone pulled a chicken from the freezer, and in the video sent to Jim, we are highlighting the laden table with the tiny chicken as center stage. When we speak of that dinner it is with humor not sadness, and it gets retold every year. Does God know what He is doing or what?

As we shop for food it is very obvious prices are going up, up, up; and it puts such a strain on people, especially with children. I read a long article regarding peanut butter and how expensive it is becoming for the food banks. Kids love it. It keeps forever on a shelf and is very nutritious. How many mothers say "go make a peanut butter sandwich" after school or any time. Well, according to the article that may become more difficult as peanut butter becomes scarce.

My point being this: as we go into the Christmas season, remember our local Food Bank, the Angel Tree, Salvation Army, and other reliable local charities.

Let us take care of our own in Donley County even if it is a jar of peanut butter.

We wish Del Essary good luck as he resigned as mayor and is moving to Corpus Christi. Good luck to Johnny Hubbard, mayor pro-tem, as he takes over our little community,

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting November 29, 2011, with Boss Lion Steve Hall in charge.

We had 20 members and Sweetheart MiKayla Shadle present this week.

Lions Monty Hysinger and Phil Shirley reported that the public school and college were both winding down as the end of the fall semester draws near. Lion Lambert Little discussed the burial of Abraham Lincoln, and the Boss Lion discuss the food basket before adjourning.

The Donley County Sheriff's Office would like to remind you that you can protect your belongings by not leaving personal property or newly purchased items in your vehicle.

Locking the doors may not protect your property, as thieves often break windows or damage locks to get into vehicles. Be alert for people on foot or in vehicles that seem to be prowling or looking into cars rather than looking for a place to park, and call the sheriff's office at 874-3533 to report the suspicious activity. If you observe a crime being committed call 911.

Refunds and Exchanges - What to Know Before You Go Shopping. Did you know that refund and exchange policies are not required by law?

Don't assume you can get your money back just by taking the unwanted item into the store and asking for it. Return policies should be specifically stated by the store, but it's up to the consumer to know what those policies are and to realize they can change from store to store.

The Layaway Process - It's Back in a Big Way. Once considered an old-fashioned method of payment, layaway services are back in a big way.

Buying items on layaway is different from putting them on a credit card because the buyer isn't charged interest on the purchase and can't take the item home until it is paid off. A down payment of 10-20 percent is typically required along with any fees the store charges to hold the item. Online layaway is available from some merchants. Ask some questions and get all terms in writing.

Safe Online Shopping This Holiday Season. While the online environment has become a thriving, trusted marketplace, e-commerce has also opened a door for scammers to set up shop online simply to rip people off.

Lady Broncos swat Hornets

By Sandy Anderberg

Aggressive defense helped the Lady Broncos to get a big win over Highland Park on the road Tuesday night, November 22. The 62-20 win put the ladies at 3-1 for the season.

Jentry Shadle had a big night from the three-point line as she connected with three-three-point shots, which accounted for six of her 23 points on the night.

The ladies took full control at the onset and held the Lady Hornets to single digits in the first half of play. Offensively, the Lady Broncos executed well and turned up the heat on the defensive end of the court. "I thought we played well," coach Molly Weatherred said. "We shot the ball good early, which helped get us going."

Scoring: Shadle 23, Lydia Howard 8, McKayla Cartwright 7, Deborah Howard, Trelva Dronzek 5, Marqueda Gaines 5, Ryann Starnes 3, and Anna Cenicerros 3.

The ladies will participate in the River Road Tournament December

1-3 and travel to Perryton December 6.

JV stuns Highland Park

Offensive execution and defensive intensity was key in the Lady Bronco junior varsity's 34-6 win over Highland Park on the road last Tuesday night. The 2-0 team has gotten a great start and is continuing to work hard.

Clarendon stopped HP easily in the first half of play, holding them to only two points, which were scored in the opening quarter. The ladies breezed through the second half and were able to get the easy win. Coach Kasey Bell was pleased with their effort. "The ladies did a good job and they played hard," Bell said. "It was a good defensive game."

Scoring: Phara Berry 8, Taylor Gaines 6, Camra Smith 5, Haley Ferguson 5, Savannah Topper 4, Jacy Hill 4, and Elizabeth O'Rear 2.

The ladies will play in the Arbor Academy Tournament December 1-3 and travel to Perryton December 6.

Jentry Shadle reaches to save the ball from the Miami defender during the Lady Broncos game on November 18.

Drugs in the News

Drug Prescribing for Adult ADHD Increasing

A recent report from Medco Health Solutions indicates that there has been a rapid increase in the prescribing of drugs for adult women with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). According to health statistics, approximately 4% of school age children have ADHD and a smaller percentage of adults struggle with ADHD. About 60% of children with ADHD continue to experience symptoms into adulthood. Adults may have trouble following directions, difficulty remembering where they put things, organizing tasks that need to be done and concentrating when they need to. They may be impulsive and easily distracted.

Adult ADHD has been thought of as primarily affecting men. However, the new report from Medco Health Solutions indicates that more and more adult women are being diagnosed and treated for the condition. The report indicates that of women 20 to 44 years of age, one in 50 took medicine to control ADHD symptoms. Those who care for women in this age group point to factors such as the possibility that the condition may have been overlooked in earlier years.

Broncos come up short against Highland Park

By Sandy Anderberg

Turnovers set the overtone for the young Bronco team Tuesday night at Highland Park and contributed to their 45-58 loss to the Hornets.

After a slow-scoring first quarter, the Broncos found a little rhythm and were able to come back in the second and third quarters of play and narrow the point spread to only three with eight minutes to go. But the Hornets were able to take control of the momentum and hand the Broncos a loss.

"We had good effort," head coach Brandt Lockhart said. "We have to cut down on our turnovers and finish our shots."

Adam Topper led the Broncos and finished with 15 points and 15 rebounds for a double double. Cole Ward helped inside as well and racked up 13 points in the game. Cody Woods helped with nine and Wes Williams, Trajen Johnson, and Tyler Burch each had two, while Jonah Sell and Diego Santos put in one point each.

Earlier in the week in their season opener the Broncos lost to Bushland 33-66. The opening quarter of play ended in a one-point deficit for the Broncos, but the Falcons dictated the momentum in the remainder of the game. Santos and Ward finished in double figures at 11 and 10 points respectively and Williams put in six. Johnson and Topper each had two. Also playing for the Broncos are Mitchell Perry, Jason Pigg, and Jacob Pigg.

The Broncos will participate in the River Road Tournament December 1-3 and travel to Perryton December 6.

Bronco JV narrowly defeated by HP

The Bronco junior varsity began their basketball season at Highland Park last Tuesday night and fell short at 34-40.

The teams were dead even at 26 points at the end of the first three quarters of play. But the Broncos fell behind in the final period and were overtaken by the Hornets. They only shot 50% from the free throw line, which hurt them on the scoreboard. Chance McAnear and Ashton Smith finished in double figures to lead the Broncos offensively with 16 and 12 points respectively.

"We didn't play bad for the first game," coach Alton Gaines said. "I thought the team played extremely hard. We just made a lot more mistakes than they did. The game could of gone either way, but we came up a little short this time. We will make adjustments to our game and be ready for the next one."

Scoring: McAnear 16, Smith 12, Brandon Miller 2, Charles Mason 2, and Zach Cornell 2.

The Bronco JV will play in the Arbor Academy Tournament December 1-3 and travel to Perryton December 6.

VFW winner

VFW spokesman George Hall reports that Clarendon High School's Kayla Elam was the winner of the local and district Voice of Democracy contest with her oral essay on pride in the military.

Seventh grade Colts clobber Wellington

The seventh grade Colts played aggressive and intense ball at Wellington Monday and came home with a 23-15 win.

"The seventh grade got off to a slow start shooting, but came out in the second half and used their defense to start scoring," coach Steve Reynolds said. Chance, Keanre (Cortez), Taylon (Knorpp), Riley (Shadle), and Clay (Koetting) work hard on both offense and defense. Playing Wellington is always a tough game."

Scoring: Lockhart 10, Cortez 6, Knorpp 6, and Shadle 1.

The eighth grade came close to a win, but lost 13-19. Wellington was able to take advantage of the Colts' foul trouble and win the game. "The 8th grade fell behind early and got into foul trouble," Reynolds said. "Those guys played until the end and didn't quit. I am very proud."

Scoring: Bryce Hatley 6, Caleb Cobb 4, Jr. Cenicerros 2, and Chesson Sims 1.

Lady Colts split with Wellington

The seventh grade Lady Colts fought hard and earned a big win over the Lady Rockets at home Monday night. The 28-24 win put the ladies at 2-0 for the season.

The Lady Colts led the Lady Rockets for the entire game, but play was intense on both sides of the ball. Berkeley Alexander had a huge game underneath the basket and pumped in 12 points to lead her team to the win. The team worked hard and made a cohesive effort in the game.

"The girls never stopped the entire game," coach Shanna Shelton said. "They worked together and got the win."

Scoring: Alexander 12, Briana Butler 6, MaRae Hall 4, Hannah Hommel 4, and Sarah Williams 2.

The eighth grade fought hard, but was unsuccessful against Wellington and lost 10-55.

Things did not go well from the beginning for the Lady Colts, but their continued to battle until the end.

"Wellington had a good team," Shelton said. "We struggled offensively, but the ladies fought until the end."

Scoring: Tessa Buckhaults 3, Kendra Davis 2, Damara Brown 2, and Karlee Adams 2.

The Lady Colts will be at home again Monday, November 28 against Memphis beginning at 5:00 p.m.

A funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, December 1, 2011, at Cox Funeral Home Benton Chapel with Bright Newhouse and Connie DeBord officiating. Arrangements are by Cox Funeral Home. Burial will be in Rowe Cemetery in Hedley.

Mattie was born in Donley County to Graham and Francis Brinson on December 14, 1919. She was the oldest of three children and attended school in Hedley and Giles, Texas. Mattie married the love of her life, W. E. "Tode" Hill at a very early age and they began their life journey together. They farmed and worked very hard all their lives. They shared their lives for 64 wonderful years. Mattie always loved life and the work that was set before her. She was never idle, but was never too busy when someone needed her help. She was a long-time member of the Church of Christ. After the passing of Tode in 1997, she left Donley County to live with her daughter in Amarillo.

She was preceded in death by her parents, one brother, Kenneth, a sister, Dorothy, her husband, an infant son, and her beloved son-in-law, Don.

She is survived by her daughter, Jane Ruth Owens; two grandchildren, Larry Owens and his wife Alta, and Karen Rogers and her husband, Eddie; four great-grandchildren, Laura Ann Owens, Donny Owens and his wife Colleen, Erin Rogers, and Chris Rogers and his wife Melissa; and was looking forward to meeting her great great-granddaughter, Riley.

The family suggests memorials be made to Rowe Cemetery in Hedley, Texas.
