SWPS Construction To Increase In 1969

A 1969 construction and improvement program which will add nearly $16,000,000 to the company's investment in its 45,000 square mile service area was announced today (Thursday) by Roy Tolk, president of Southwestern Public Service Company.

"1969 will be the 22nd consecutive year in which we have increased our investment in our service area by 10-million dollars or more a year, with the average annual investment during the last ten years being more than 20-million dollars.

This investment is made for two reasons, both of them customer-related. The first reason is to stay ahead of the demand for electric service, while the second is to keep that service as efficient and economical as possible. Ever-increasing inflation is making economy more and more difficult, but we are taking every step that we can to keep our expenses down," Tolk said.

Transmission lines and substations will account for a little more than 6-million dollars of the 1969 program, slightly less than 5-million will be for new distribution facilities, the lines and equipment which bring service to the customer, while a little less than 4-million will be for power plant additions and improvements, including the start of construction on a new generating station near Lubbock with an original capability of 210,000 kilowatts.

The major transmission line project will be construction of a 230,000 volt line from the Tuco Interchange, north of Abernathy to the South Lubbock Interchange. In addition to providing another major power source for the South Plains area, the new line will be constructed so that it can be used as the first transmission circuit when the new generating station near Lubbock goes into service in 1971.

The new generating station will be called Clifford B. Jones Station in honor of the West Texas civic leader and President-emeritus of Texas Tech, who has been a director of Southwestern Public Service Company for more than a quarter-century.

Once again the company will contribute to the water conservation efforts of the area by using sewage effluent purchased from the City of Lubbock as cooling water when the new plant goes into operation. Nichols Station, near Amarillo, was the first of the company's generating facilities to utilize sewage effluent for this purpose.

Highlighting the economy efforts of the company will be the installation of special equipment on two generators at Plant X which will make it possible to shut down the two units during the night hours of low power consumption and yet bring them back into service quickly for peak periods of power usage. "We anticipate saving about $30,000 a year on our fuel costs with this equipment, so it will soon pay for itself. Normally, you can't just shut down a generator when you don't need it, because it takes too long to get it back on the line when you do want it. So, normally, you keep the things running with a minimum load, which is the most expensive way of operating, until you need more production. With this new equipment we'll be able to completely shut down the two generators, load the units still in service at the most economical level and still, and this is the part that's important to our customers, keep adequate spinning reserves in the event that we lose a generating unit for one reason or another," Tolk said.

Speaking of reserves, the company anticipates a 1969 peak load of 1,462,000 kilowatts and will meet it with generating capability of 1,835,000 kilowatts, providing a reserve capacity of 373,000 kilowatts. The largest generating unit on the system has a capability of 210,000 kilowatts, so that the reserve capability is large enough to handle the loss of the largest unit and still maintain a 150,000 kilowatt reserve.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Unclaimed Pot of Gold

Assets worth billions of dollars, unclaimed by their rightful owners, are being gobbled up instead by assorted government agencies. The process, known as "escheat," is gathering speed as officials become more keenly aware of this treasure trove within their reach.

How does it work? The keystone is the ancient legal doctrine that property, if left unclaimed too long, passes over to the government. As one court explained:

"When property has ceased to have an owner, it should be held for the benefit of the community."

This wealth accumulates in many forms: forgotten bank accounts, dividends on mislaid stocks, utility deposits that are never picked up, insurance proceeds that are never collected, legacies for missing heirs.

In recent years the amount of such unclaimed wealth has risen into billion-dollar figures. And an estimated one billion more is piling up every year.

As a result, all states have enacted escheat laws which, in varying degree, hasten a takeover by the government. Sometimes property is seized outright. Sometimes it is merely taken into protective custody, subject to being reclaimed by the owner if he turns up.

In any event, once the state has taken possession of an asset, getting it back is not easy. A claimant must bring himself strictly within the statutory requirements. Take this case:

After a man died, his family discovered that for many years he had failed to collect dividends on a certain stock. By the time of this discovery, the accumulated dividends had already been taken over by the state.

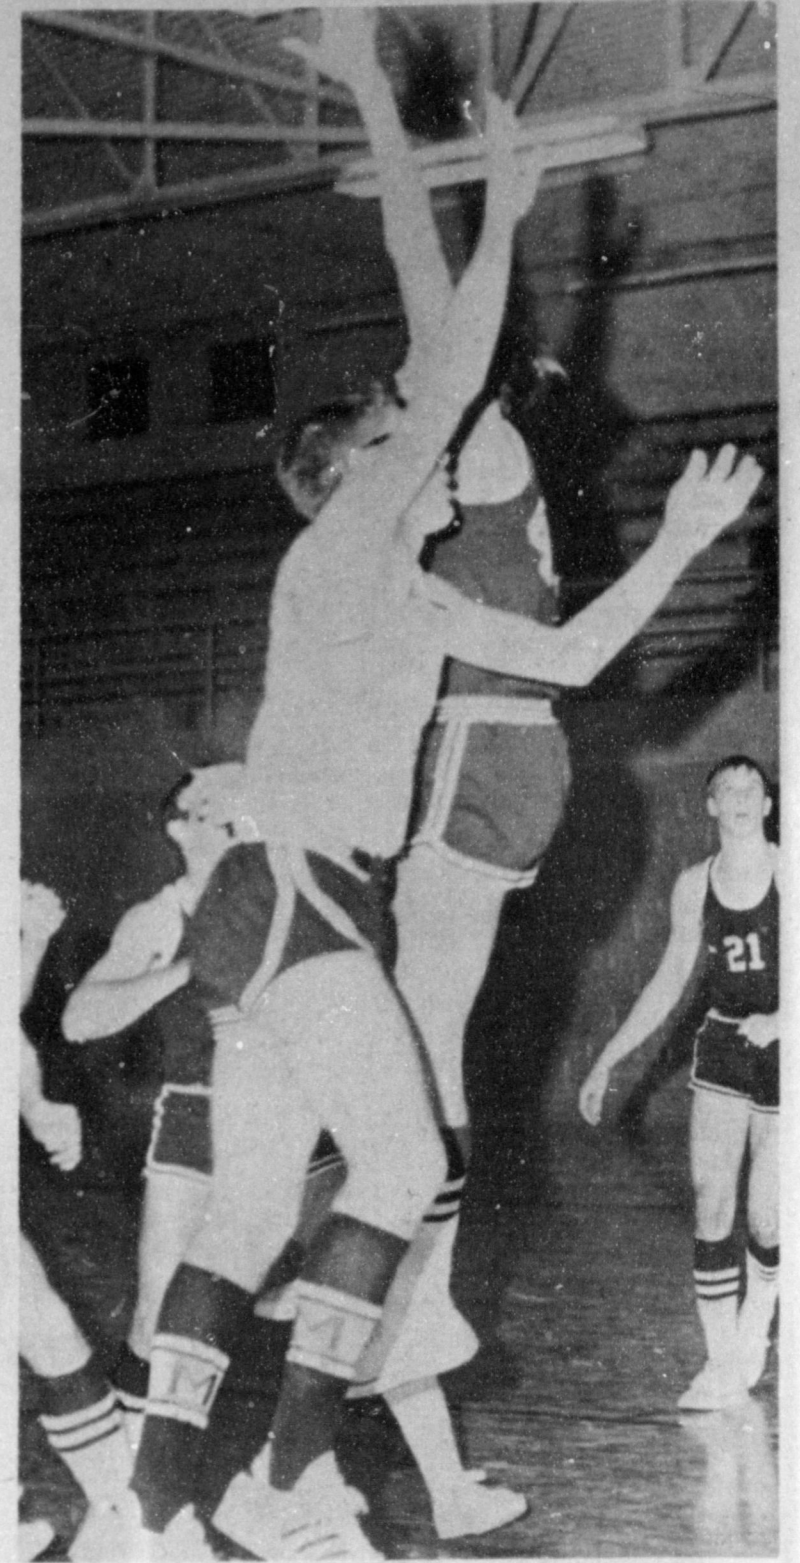

The family duly filed a claim for the money, but in vain. Under the local statute, a refund could be made only to the original owner of the stock—not to his heirs.

The best way to protect your assets from escheat is to be an "active" owner. That means keeping close tabs on investments, cashing checks promptly, giving notice of changes of address, leaving insurance policies where they will be found in case of death, having an up-to-date will.

Of course you personally might be willing, as a public-spirited citizen, to have your money go to the government. But if so, you might as well bring that about by an act of generosity, not just by neglect.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Wealth, in itself, is not wrong but there are differences of opinion about how far a man can go in getting it.

ON THE REBOUND--Lionel Patterson goes up on the rebound in an attempt to pick up the roundball for Muleshoe in the Muleshoe Tournament last weekend. Muleshoe defeated Abernathy in the game.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

NO DAD COULD BE MORE CANDID

Dear Amy: I feel sort of strange writing to you concerning something I feel I know the answer to, but my wife opposed my viewpoint so strongly that I may be wrong . . . but I doubt it. My view is based on the following: My son is a bum and is heading for trouble. He's 24 and not working. He had a job for $100 a week, but because it was too hard to get up in the morning (after staying up fooling around all night), he quit. He now stays home during the day and sleeps, but is up and about as soon as the sun sets and is gone.

When he is home, he never sits up; he is always lying down—except to eat when his mother serves it to him. She keeps the refrigerator stocked with all the things he likes to eat and thinks I am wrong in objecting to his taking the family stereo into his room permanently where it MUST play while he sleeps. (you can tell when he is in during the day because you can hear the stereo out in the street.) He leaves lights on everywhere and ruined my car by running it without oil and has made no offer to fix it. He's a school dropout, stayed four years in the army playing basketball and is not willing to take a job in any menial capacity . . . and is suited for nothing else.

I feel that by continuing housing, feeding and doing his laundry, furnishing him phone service to girls all over town and to his buddies in New York is only hastening his downfall.

If I'm wrong I'll apologize to my wife, but I don't think I am. There is much, much more but this will give you the general picture.

A Fed-up Father

Dear Fed-up: I've got the picture . . . and of course you're right! Your wife's coddling must stop if you ever hope to get your son to stand on his own two feet. See that he gets a job immediately—regardless of the hours or the pay, and that he pays room, board and the cost of every "service" he enjoys at home if he would have to pay for elsewhere.

If he doesn't see eye-to-eye with you, offer him the alternative of packing his gear and moving out! You may think these are strong measures, but at least he's been leading; this is the only action that will make a man of your 'boy'.

Dear Amy: I am eleven years old and I am taking piano lessons. My mother makes me take them and I just hate it. I hate practicing, too. What should I do?

Dear Joanne: It's a waste of money for your parents to invest in piano lessons when you object so strongly. Ask them to save their money for a few years until the time that you would like to resume. As you grow older, you may realize the importance of having a talent that can bring you popularity, fun, culture and happiness.

Dear Amy: I'm 22 and I'm in the service. When I left home a year and a half ago, I was going with a girl whom I loved very much and I'm pretty sure that she felt the same way about me. But about 4 months ago, she stopped writing altogether. I have written to her many times asking her why she hasn't written and why it has to end between us after all the plans we have made.

When I left home, I knew that she wasn't going to stay home all the time and I told her not to feel guilty if she ever went out with other boys. But by these words, I never thought that it would mean the breaking up of our plans for the future.

Would you please let me know what to do to get her back because I still love her very much?

J.K.

Dear J.K.: Your girl apparently has met another boy and doesn't have the heart to tell you. You're a man now and men must face up to a few disappointments in life. A one-sided correspondence is discouraging so cut out the letters. Write to others. This girl belongs in your past. There's another girl in your future. Find her!

Scholarship Fund Increased for Fair

Officials of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo have announced that the existing annual scholarship fund for the outstanding FFA or 4-H Club member has been doubled.

"Cognizant of the soaring costs of education, and realizing the great need for trained agriculturists in Texas, we have upped the scholarship from $2000 to $4000, paid at the rate of $5000 per semester," Louis Pearce, Jr. said.

At the present time, 14 boys are presently enrolled in college through the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo scholarship. These boys' scholarships will be increased from $250 per semester to $500 per semester, beginning with the 1969 spring semester.

The scholarship is confined to boys who enroll in a course which leads to a bachelor's degree in an agricultural field and the winner must attend a Texas college.

Any active member of the Future Farmers of America or 4-H Club, who is a graduating senior, is eligible to apply for the scholarship. Qualifications are based on outstanding leadership, scholarship, the applicant's supervised farming program while in the FFA or 4-H Club, and need. The applicant's scholastic rating for the first 3 1/2 years of high school should place him in the upper fourth of his class. It is mandatory that the scholarship winner attend college the fall term immediately following his selection. Selection of the winner of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo scholarship is made by the State FFA and 4-H Club offices. Applicants must apply through their Vo-Ag teacher or County Agent.

The three Cotton Classing Offices of the USDA in this area classed 103,000 samples of new crop cotton last week ending Friday, December 27, 1968. This brought the total for the entire season to 1,374,000. One million one hundred twenty two thousand (1,122,000) samples had been classed on the South Plains this time last year.

Predominant grades were Strict Low Middling, Middling Light Spotted, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, and Middling Spotted. These four (4) grades represented 75 per cent of the total classed.

The average staple length from the South Plains area last week was 31/32 of an inch.

Micronaire readings by percentages were: 3.5 - 4.9, 25 per cent; 3.3 - 3.4, 15 per cent; 3.0 - 3.2, 30 per cent; 2.7 - 2.9, 20 per cent; and 2.6 and below, 10 per cent.

Prices reported to the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA at Lubbock ranged from 0 to $7.50 per bale over the Government loan value for White grades, and 75¢ to $10.00 over the loan for Light Spotted grades in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range.

Average cottonseed prices paid to producers was $49.00 per ton.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, -- Just before the New Year dawned the Governor's Committee on Public School Education unfolded details of a controversial plan to shake up school district boundaries and dramatically revise finance formulas.

Indications are that it will have rough sledding in the Legislature.

Committee's reorganization plan to help make Texas schools better and more efficient would limit 219 of 254 counties to one school district each. General rule is that all operating 12-grade systems should be either countywide in size or contain at least 2,600 students in average daily attendance.

Exception would be sparse area districts stretching over a county or more with less than 1,600 pupils and 24 special-purpose units like that operated in connection with military bases.

Governor's Committee recommended that the Legislature adopt its proposed district maps for further study by special local countywide study committees charged with approving the new pattern or recommending something better to suit their own area needs. State Board of Education would compile the final reorganization plan by June 1, 1971.

Projected plan would slash the number of school districts from 1,218 to 354. All but 19 of 662 districts which now have less than 500 pupils would be eliminated. There would be 35 multi-district counties (those of larger population) with from two to 13 districts. All of the latter would have fewer districts than they now have.

Committee's proposals for figuring local districts' adjusted share of a basic foundation school program will also prove controversial, particularly in rural areas. Local share is calculated on the actual property taxing ability in each district.

In many counties the number of districts would be reduced drastically. They include the following:

Bowie from 14 to two; Cameron 14 to three; McLennan 20 to four; Williamson 12 to two; Grayson 14 to two; Collin 16 to three; Denton 11 to two; Tom Green nine to one; Hunt, Taylor, Henderson, Cherokee and Nacogoches 10 to one; Rusk nine to one; El Paso nine to three; Nueces 17 to four; Hidalgo 19 to eight; Fannin and Lamar 11 to one; Cameron 14 to three; Johnson 12 to two; and Ellis 11 to two.

APPOINTMENTS--Gov. John Connally named J.G. McDuff of Burnet to the State Board of Control . . . the purchasing and housekeeping agency for state government. McDuff succeeds veteran member E.E. McAdams of Austin. His term expires to August 31, 1973.

Connally picked Mack M. Stripling of Nacogoches and J.M. Haggard Sr. of Dallas for membership on the industry-hunting Texas Industrial Commission. Haggard fills the unexpired term of McDuff (extending only until next February 15) and Stripling succeeds William F. Farah of El Paso for a term expiring February 15, 1973.

Joe B. Finley Jr. of Encinal and E. Porter Halbert of Bronson succeed Steele Wright of Nacogoches and Norman Moser of DeKalb, also on the Industrial Commission. Terms run to September 7, 1973.

Mrs. Hazel Richardson, Bryan Carnegie Public Library librarian, will serve on the Texas State Board of Library Examiners, succeeding Mrs. H.L. McLaughlin of San Antonio. ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES Omission of a paragraph in a 1968 tax bill eliminated the exemption of non-profit corporations providing homes for elderly from franchise tax on debt. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin said in a new opinion.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

Establishment of a retirement trust for the president of Midwestern University does not constitute a supplement to salary and does not make the official ineligible for a $1500 raise provided in an appropriations bill by the Texas Legislature last June.

Petitions for a local-option liquor election, filled after November 5, must contain signatures of 25 per cent of voters for governor at the general election on that date.

A girl 15 to 18, or a boy 15 to 17, who is a first-time offender may be tried in a court that is other than a juvenile court, and can be sent to jail until he has paid his fine or served it out if convicted of possession, purchase or consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Martin also filed suit for an injunction against an Austin auto transmission repair company, alleging deceptive trade practices banned by the Consumer Credit Code. District court hearing is set for January 9 in Austin.

SUNKEN TREASURE -- Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler displayed the treasure salvaged from a Spanish ship sunk by a hurricane off the Texas coast in 1553. It's the first such treasure-trove found in Texas waters.

A gold crucifix, which Sadler estimated to be worth $100,000, plus a gold bar (showing a ragged end where the tax collector had cut off the crown's share), over 500 coins of Charles V of Spain and his mother, Queen Joanna "the Mad", and some 30-pound "plates" of bulk silver were among the items displayed.

Exact value of the treasure hasn't been set, but may run into "millions," Sadler said. Texas and the Indiana salvage firm working the wreck will split the treasure 50-50, which Sadler says is the best deal worked out for any government. Legally, the treasure--or the money from it--belongs to the Permanent School Fund, which owns the land on which the ship sank. Details on the exact sharing of the booty have yet to be worked out. And there are four other ships which sank in the same area during the hurricane that are expected to yield more "goodies."

CREDIT CODE STUDY--Texas Finance Commission is making a comparative study of the 1967 Texas Credit Code and the proposed Uniform Consumer Credit Code.

Study will be submitted to the Legislature for guidance in revising the code adopted two years ago.

Uniform code was drawn by National Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, approved by the American Bar Association and recommended for adoption by all states.

If adopted in Texas, uniform code would supplant the 1967 state code.

Consumer Credit Commissioner Frank Miskell said Texas is the only state which has a comprehensive code regulating consumer credit.

APPROVED--Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System allocated $3,500,000 in federal funds to Texas colleges for community service and continuing education proposals.

Thirteen institutions and 26 programs will be financed by the funds, plus matching state outlays at each school.

Institutions receiving the money were:

Texas A&M $58,847 for five programs; Texas Technological College $37,114 for one project; Lee College $14,901 for one project; Texas Christian University $34,847 for seven projects; The University of Texas at Austin $17,000 for one project; Southern Methodist University $3,519 for one project; Lamar State College of Technology $6,000 for one project; The University of Texas at El Paso $14,771 for two projects; University of Houston $40,820 for two projects; The University of Arlington $49,728 for two projects; Austin College $20,000 for one project; and Texas Woman's University $2,833 for one project.

PLANNING REGIONS ANNOUNCED--Governor Connally established 21 multi-county state planning regions to serve as a guide to state and federal agencies in developing service areas and to serve as a framework for coordination of planning activities.

Delineation is intended to improve communication and coordination among planning and related functions of state, federal and local governments.

Governor's Division of Planning Coordination developed the regions after two years' study and consultation with state agencies, consultants and officials at all levels of government. Regions represent natural social and economic groupings of counties reflecting shared interest, they will serve as master areas for state government planning with the aim of better coordination among all units.

Regions are Capitol, Alamo, Golden Crescent, Coastal Bend, South Texas, Lower Rio Grande Valley, Gulf Coast, South East Texas, Deep East Texas, East Texas, North East Texas, North Central Texas, Concho Valley, Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin and Upper Rio Grande.

SHORT SHORTS Texas crop output increased 18 per cent over 1967, led by a 26 per cent cotton production jump, according to the Texas crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Texas hospital employees' salaries rose seven to 14 per cent during the last year, Texas Hospital Association estimates.

On January 1, Texas gained two new high court judges: Sears McGee of Houston as Supreme Court Associate Justice and Leon Douglas of Vernon as Court of Criminal Appeals judge.

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR, former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam:

"The United States has been cautious in bombing North Vietnam for fear it might escalate and lead to a world war."

UFO's Get Official Scientific Recognition

BY PAUL HARVEY

The dreamers always must precede the doers across new horizons.

The ethical scientist has opinions, preconceptions, but dares not acknowledge them even to his colleagues. To the professional scientist all new ideas are theoretical until they are supportable with conclusive evidence.

There is no conclusive evidence about "flying saucers." Most men of science, therefore, have expressed either disdain or disinterest in the subject.

The handful of bona fide scientists who did want to speculate on UFOs found themselves in the uncomfortable company of pseudoscientists, commercial cultists, pulp booksellers and crackpots.

Last December's issue of the respected Journal of Aeronautics and Astronautics changed all that. In this technical publication the bigwigs of the esteemed AIAA subscribed to this very meaningful conclusion: "UFO phenomena cannot be resolved without quantitative scientific study; this matter merits the attention of scientists and engineers."

Suddenly the pooh-poohers were themselves refuted. Suddenly, officially, all Air Force and other studies conducted heretofore were adjudged inadequate.

Suddenly such men as Dr. James McDonald felt less alone. Dr. McDonald, physicist, head of the department of meteorology, University of Arizona, has been in the forefront of those few respected voices urging "quantitative study."

Inevitably now the evidence he and others have collected will be properly evaluated.

Dr. Allen Hynek, head of the department of astronomy, Northwestern University now freely confesses his own "conversion." Having previously rejected the notion of extraterrestrial visitations as preposterous, Dr. Hynek--a civilian consultant to the Air Force on this subject--now urges thorough scientific examination of accumulated documentation. He says, "I can no longer dismiss the UFO phenomenon with a shrug."

Other respected professional voices join the rising chorus. For Medical Times, Dr. Berthold Eric Schwarz, eminent psychiatrist, examined scores of UFO "observers," decreed that they are no psychotic, not suffering hallucination, not publicity-seekers. "More, on the contrary, fearing ridicule, are embarrassed to testify to what they saw."

Notably, Dr. Schwarz and his colleagues find among mental patients a total absence of any such "observations." So, concludes Dr. Schwarz, "These reports are neither conscious nor unconscious fabrication. What they say they saw they think they saw!"

For no man is this now-official recognition more rewarding than for Dr. McDonald. He believes "UFOs constitute the greatest scientific problem of our times." He believes this matter has been "mishandled for 20 years." Perhaps we are today where the French were just a few generations ago. Periodically, peasants had whispered or shouted stories about "stones from heaven!"

It took a handful of very brave scientists to coax the French Academy of Science properly to investigate the stories.

But the peasants' accounts proved correct and the very useful science of meteoritics was born.

Casualty and Theft Losses Are Tax Deductible

COLLEGE STATION.--Taxpayers who suffered losses from theft or casualties, such as hurricane, flood, storm, fire, automobile accident, shipwreck, lightning, airplane crash and freezing, may be able to claim their losses as an income tax deduction, reports James Mallett, Extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University.

The amount of the tax deduction is the loss in property value, but is limited to its cost or basis, and must be reduced by the amount of insurance or other compensation received or expected to be received, he says.

Proof of loss should be documented soon after the casualty occurs, says Mallett. You should be prepared to show:

1. Values before and after casualty (pictures, appraisals, and signed statements by persons familiar with the circumstances, before and after are pertinent evidence);
2. Nature of the casualty and when it occurred;
3. The loss was the direct result of the casualty;
4. The cost or other adjusted basis of the property, evidenced by purchase contracts, deed, etc. (improvements to the property should be supported by checks, receipts, etc.);

5. Depreciation allowed or allowable, if any;
6. The amount of insurance or other compensation received; and
7. You were the owner of the property.

Business or farm property damaged or lost is deductible as a business loss. Each item of real or tangible property damaged by casualty or lost by theft is considered separately in determining the deductible business loss. No deduction is allowed for the loss of crops, livestock or produce raised for sale. Costs of producing these items and the cost of livestock, crops or produce purchased for resale are ordinary business expenses and therefore deductible.

You may not deduct the first $100 loss to property held for personal use. Improvements to personal real property such as your residence, trees, shrubs and ornaments are considered as an integral part of the property. A single loss is calculated by comparing the fair market value of the property as a whole before the casualty with its fair market value following the casualty, even if several items of personal real property are damaged. Damage to tangible personal property like autos, clothes, furniture and household equipment is evaluated separately from personal real property, explains the specialist.

Deductible casualty losses do not include, (1) expenses incident to a casualty such as a temporary housing, travel, or moving expenses, (2) expenses incurred by reason of injury to yourself or others, (3) loss through misplacement of cash or other property, and (4) damages by rust or erosion.

Costs of cleanup, repair, replacement or restoration are not deductible. However, these costs may be used to measure the amount of damage suffered if (1) they are necessary to restore the property to its pre-casualty condition, (2) the amount spent is not excessive, (3) they do not more than take care of the damage suffered, and (4) the value of the property after repair is no more than its value before the casualty. You are not required to repair or replace the property to qualify for the tax deduction.

Get the proof and supporting evidence of your loss, says Mallett; your tax practitioner, accountant, attorney or Internal Revenue Service can assist you in claiming the deduction when you file your tax report.

Do clouds form by the same weather process as does fog? Why is fog seen more often in fall than in spring?

Clouds and fog both occur because of a cooling process. Both are the result of cooled air, and the lesser moisture capacity caused by that cooling, producing saturation of the air and visible moisture particles.

Spring produces less fog than fall because the earth is losing its stored-up heat, and the heat (warm air) on the surface is cooled by cooler air and turned into fog. In spring the opposite is more often true.

The earth is colder than the warming spring air, because of winter's effect, and, instead of being cooled, the surface of the earth is warmed—which does not produce fog.

Land Limitation Needs Review

There is no doubt that a serious water problem exists in the Western United States. Indications are that this water problem will grow steadily worse and will become critical in the years 1980 to 2000. It is doubtful that existing and proposed Federal water development will solve the water shortage problem. It is, therefore, imperative that new sources of water for the West be developed at once. One major obstacle to development of Bureau of Reclamation irrigation projects is the so-called "160 Acre Limitation," in the Basic Reclamation Law. This limitation is important to any area that contemplates sharing in a Bureau of Reclamation irrigation project. Importation of water to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico from any source will undoubtedly be a federally financed undertaking and will be administered under provisions of applicable federal laws. Many organizations are studying the Land Limitation provisions of the law and debating the action to take.

James F. Sorenson of Visalia, California, President of the National Reclamation Association, stated to the annual convention in Oklahoma City, "The NRA has long said that acreage limitation principles of the 1902 act should be modified and modernized to reflect the current agricultural conditions and technologies. Not enough people know that four-fifths of all 'farmers' in the nation receive off-farm income." He added, "We must keep in mind the fact that forty-three percent of the farms bring in less than four percent of the cash receipts. Flip the coin and you find that six percent of the farms account for 47 percent of the cash receipts. Examination of this data quickly indicates that economic farming operations can only survive on acreages large enough to permit capitalization and efficient use of modern techniques and equipment."

The Land Limitation Committee of the National Reclamation Association, whose chairman is Marvin Shurbet of Petersburg, Texas, passed a resolution at the NRA annual meeting in Oklahoma City requesting the U.S. Congress to adopt a joint resolution establishing a fact-finding commission to determine changes that need to be made in the Reclamation Act of 1902 as amended.

Raphael J. Moses, Chairman of the Western States Water Council, reporting to the National Reclamation Association November 22, 1968, reported that the Council adopted a resolution supporting a 640 acre limitation. The resolution states that the 160 acre limitation is economically outmoded in western farming areas, making it inefficient to operate in view of modern methods and costs of operation. In addition to the substitution of 640 acres for 160 acres as the limitation for individual ownerships, the Council resolution suggests that in areas of limited productivity, due to land, water and climatic conditions, the limitation be raised in keeping with what would be considered an economic farming unit. The resolution further recommends that water be furnished to land in excess of these limits if interest is paid on the cost of construction attributable to the lands within a project of private ownership in excess of the acreage limitation of 640 acres.

The Western States Water Council was formed by the Governors of eleven western states to foster cooperation among the states in development of their water resources. The Council will be meeting in Lubbock, Texas, March 3-4, 1969.

The Basic Reclamation Law of 1902, which was a carry over from the older Homestead Act declares in regard to limitation on private lands right to use water from a federal sponsored irrigation project, "No right to the use of water for land in private ownership shall be sold for a tract exceeding 160 acres to any one landowner and no such sale shall be made to any land owner unless he is an actual bonafide resident on such land."

This provision made it possible for land speculators to reap big profits and in 1914 the basic law was changed to include the statement, "No contract could be let or work begun for construction of any reclamation project until the owners of private lands under the project agreed to dispose of their excess lands upon terms and at a price to be designated by the Secretary of Interior."

Again in May, 1926, the Law was modified to include a provision: "that no water shall be delivered until a contract between the United States and an irrigation district has been executed by which contract the district agrees to pay to the U.S. Government the cost of construction and of operation and maintenance of the project works. Such contracts... shall further provide that all irrigable lands held in private ownership by any one owner, in excess of 160 acres shall be appraised in a manner prescribed by the Secretary of Interior and the sale price thereof fixed by the Secretary on the basis of its actual bonafide value at the date of appraisal, without reference to the construction of the irrigation works; and that no such lands so held shall receive water from any project or division if the owners shall refuse to execute valid recordable contracts for the sale of that land under the terms and conditions satisfactory to the Secretary of Interior and at prices not to exceed those fixed by the Secretary."

The 160 acre limitation has been extended by administrative interpretation to mean 160 acres each for man and wife.

There have been several exceptions made to this basic policy of limiting private ownership to 160 acres. The act authorizing some projects have either exempted the ownerships from any limitation or have placed a limitation considerably in excess of the 160 acres. For example, the San Luis Valley project in Colorado, authorized in 1952 has a land limitation of 480 acres. The Small Reclamation Projects Act of 1956 exempts lands on small projects and provides for payment of interest from excess holdings. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers irrigation projects have no land limitation. There are many other examples where exceptions have been made to the 160 acre limitation.

The Planning and Policy Committee of Water, Inc. is studying the effects of the 160 acre limitation on water importation to our area. The Committee will in turn make recommendations to the Board of Directors on action Water, Inc. should take either pro or con on this important question which is getting much attention throughout the 17 Western States.

The go-to-church drive can receive your personal support regardless of whether other people fall in line, or not.

Leonard Nash In Vietnam

U.S. Army, Vietnam--Army Private First Class Leonard R. Nash, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J.R. Nash, 1020 W. Third, Muleshoe, Texas, was assigned December 10 to the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam, as a mechanic.

When the umpires begin to work for their pay, the nation will really have a serious issue to discuss.

It's probably a good thing, after all, that some people can't see themselves as others see them.
