Hosting the supper were Mrs. Marcus Austin, Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mrs. James Marshall, Mrs. Louis Stephenson, Mrs. Jack Clay and Mrs. Wilson.

About forty friends who have known Ann and Jay at Camp Sweeney, where they both have served as counselors, came bringing gifts cleverly wrapped in brown paper sacks and other amusing ways.

One guest sang an original song dedicated to and written about the couple, so well received he was asked to repeat it.

The crowd divided into two teams, headed by Ann and Jay, for charades. As the games were played, the winning team captain, either Ann or Jay opened the gifts.

The Upper Room

Read Mark 12:41-44. Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed.

—Matthew 13:31
It is surprising how small things help or hinder us in our earthly pilgrimage. For example, a generation ago a man walked from San Francisco to New York City. In New York he was asked what hindered him most in his walk across the continent. He did not mention the Rocky Mountains or the Mississippi River, but simply said: "The grains of sand that got into my shoes."

Our life is much like that. It is made up of doing little things, such as a pat on the back, a clasp of the hand, a smile, a word fitly spoken, a tear, a loaf to the hungry, a coat to the naked, a visit to the sick are all valuable elements making up a good life and strengthening the kingdom of God.

Whether the work we do is small or great, we can improve every opportunity to do good and glorify the name of God.

PRAYER: O God, help us to be ever mindful of the words of Jesus: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." May we improve every opportunity to do good; in the name and for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mrs. Allen Leads Study

"These people want our standard of living but not our religion", Mrs. Ted Allen told members of Progress Circle, United Methodist Church, at their Monday afternoon meeting. She explained that people of southeastern Asia neither understand nor want the Christian faith, but that when they do understand, they become staunch Christians. The percentage of Christians, compared to the indigenous faiths, is very low.

Mrs. Allen introduced the study on Southeastern Asia being taught to the circles of Woman's Society of Christian Service this year. She explained the importance to the Vietnamese people of preventing China and other Communist countries from reaching the sea.

A film produced for Shell Oil Company on the subject has been ordered and will be shown to the circles later in the study, Mrs. Allen reported.

Mrs. M.O. Stearns lead the prayer circle with a study on Epiphany.

Mrs. Gordon Murrah, hostess for the meeting, served sand tarts, glazed Mexican cookies

Methodists Hear Retired Missionary

Dr. Herbert L. Sloan, a retired missionary of the Methodist Church, showed slides of China and Malaya during the regular church school hour Sunday morning at First United Methodist Church. He also spoke during the morning worship service, explaining the work of the missionaries of the church. Dr. Sloan lives in Fort Worth, having retired after spending 32 years in China and 10 years in Malaya, representing the Methodist Church.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: God looks at the spirit behind our deeds as well as at the deeds themselves.

is sent in entirety to missions. Mrs. Ben Cockrell, treasurer, reported in full on the financial condition of the society. The annual Sweetheart banquet was announced for February 11, with Mrs. David Stovall chairman of the arrangements committee. She will be assisted by Mrs. Sam Fox and Mrs. Johnnie Prater. Esther Circle reported one new member as result of visitation program, Mrs. Robert Preston. Mary-Martha Circle will be responsible for visitation during January.

The program was provided by Edwin Cox, recently released from Service. He showed slides of his travels in Germany, Spain, Italy, Scandinavian countries and England and discussed the culture and attitudes of the people toward Americans. He stated he feels there is a "generation gap" between Germans and Americans, that most of the German people still feel resentment toward Americans as result of World War II. He commented that Germany has rehabilitated the country by being willing to live in cardboard houses while rebuilding industry.

COUNTRY RHYTHM—Members of the cast of the musical 'Oklahoma' enthusiastically beat time to the spirited dance performed by Jessie Clements, center, who portrays an Oklahoma farmer in the renowned play, to be shown January 9 and 11 at Muleshoe high school.

"ONE SOFT DRINK, PLEASE!"

Dear Amy: Recently my husband and I had dinner with new acquaintances. Before dinner, drinks were served. Nothing but an alcoholic beverage was offered to us. When we did not drink, we were given funny looks. It was quite embarrassing.

When are people going to realize that not every one likes alcohol. After all, a person might be allergic to alcohol or have a condition which warrants not drinking it (i.e. an ex-alcoholic).

Dear Non-drinker: I think people who entertain must be educated to the fact that soft drinks should always be included for those who do not include. If you find yourself in a similar position in the future, don't hesitate to ask for "One soft drink, please!"

Dear Amy: I am a 16 year old girl, a junior in high school and I am going out with a terrific guy the same age. We have been going out with each other for two months and we have enjoyed every minute of it.

My father constantly lectures me that I should behave and control my emotions. I am getting sick and tired of it because both my boyfriend and I understand that we shouldn't get serious. What should I do? I'm sure many teenage girls would like to know what to do with a nagging father.

Dear Amy: Your "nagging" father supports you, protects you, loves you and is responsible for you. How do you have the nerve to ask what to do with him!

Frankly, your intolerance prompts me to advise you that you have a great deal to learn before you can hold a candle to your dad's wisdom.

Dear Amy: Nothing I have read recently amused me more than the letter in your column about the three books of green stamps that were given as a wedding gift. Our women's division of A.J.C. met last week and that letter was the topic of conversation. It broke up the business of the day... but we sure had fun.

Dear Amy: Maybe I shouldn't even bother you with my problem, but I'd sure feel better if I got some encouragement from a stranger rather than my friends.

Well, things got carried away between the two of us and now I am pregnant. He has told me countless times of his intentions about marriage. We are supposed to be married soon.

I got angry 2 months ago and went to Juvenile Court and turned him in. Now he must pay support whether we get married or not. He says he's not mad, and he still acts the same toward me. This past week he promised to come over, but he never showed, and I haven't seen him since. I talked to some of his friends and they tell me that he's "out on a bender."

Amy, do you think I should quit worrying myself sick and go along with what he says or do you think I should try to forget him. I won't be able to forget him very well because there will always be the baby to remind me. I won't do anything until I hear from you.

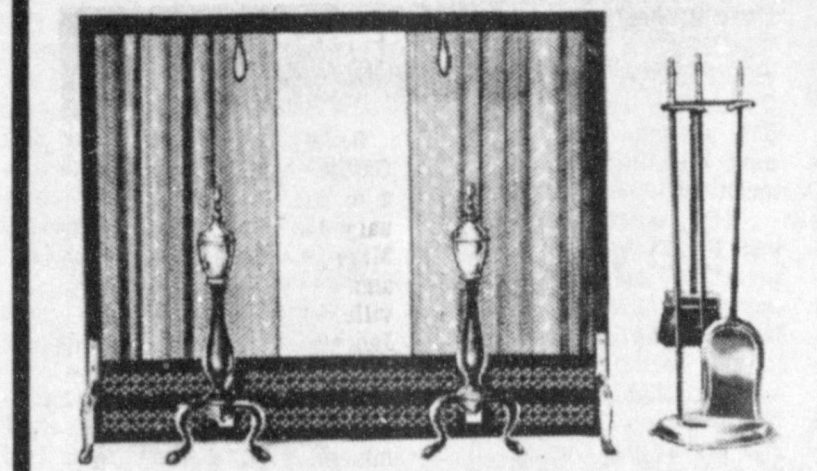

Dear V.W.: Quit worrying about your un-dependable friends; be content with the support money... and forget him. He is hardly the kind of man who you could depend upon to care for you and your children.

Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vera Sanford

AUSTIN.--Another legislative session is just around the corner.

Lawmakers are due back in town Tuesday (January 14) for their 61st biennial meeting, and most observers predict it will be a lively session.

Senators and representatives soon will be bickering mightily over the following, and probably hundreds of other less spectacular matters:

- *Spending and taxation. Nearly everybody is convinced there will be a big tax bill. But one of those who isn't is none other than Gov.-elect Preston Smith. He is hopeful that he won't have to be concerned with a tax program this year. However, there are demands for appropriations increases and school teachers want a $200 million pay raise.
- *Recommendations of the Governor's Committee of Public School Education, particularly those of district consolidation and tax burden equalization.
- *Liquor-by-the-drink legislation. What again? This time, apparently, proponents will try the constitutional amendment (let-everybody-vote-on-it) route.
- *Constitutional revision.
- *Increasing workmen's compensation from $35 to $49 a week maximum and broadening coverage to public employees.
- *Air and water pollution control measures.
- *Implementing the statewide water plan.
- *Raising the public welfare spending ceiling.

Incoming governor has indicated he will attach personal priority tags to these major program areas; education with emphasis on vocational and technical training, law enforcement, finance, pollution measures and water matters.

NEW BUDGET PLAN DRAWN-- Legislative Budget Board has recommended $1.1 billion in general revenue spending for 1970-71-- about $77 million more than the barebones minimum level estimated by Gov. John Connally.

LBB calculated its own modest version of appropriations needs would leave $60.7 million in unearmarked general revenue, but that takes into account no new major programs such as implementation of the governor's public school study or teacher pay boosts.

Board decided to order a stop to salary supplements for major college officials from private funds and to recommend the state pay whatever is needed to get top men. This would cost about $308,500 a year.

Under LBB proposals the governor would get a pay raise, too, from $40,000 to $55,000 a year. That would keep him ahead of lesser appointed officials, some of whom actually have been paid more than the chief executive considering their incomes from private sources.

Budget proposal also includes $8.2 million in state office building (to cut down on $1.5 million annual rentals paid by the state to house agencies in Austin) and an $850,000 state records storage center.

APPOINTMENTS-- Hawthorne Phillips, formerly of Harlingen, has been named executive assistant attorney general. He succeeds A. J. Carubbi Jr. who joined a Houston law firm.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin also named Pat Cain of Austin to serve as his administrative assistant, replacing W. E. Wells who will take a Houston finance job.

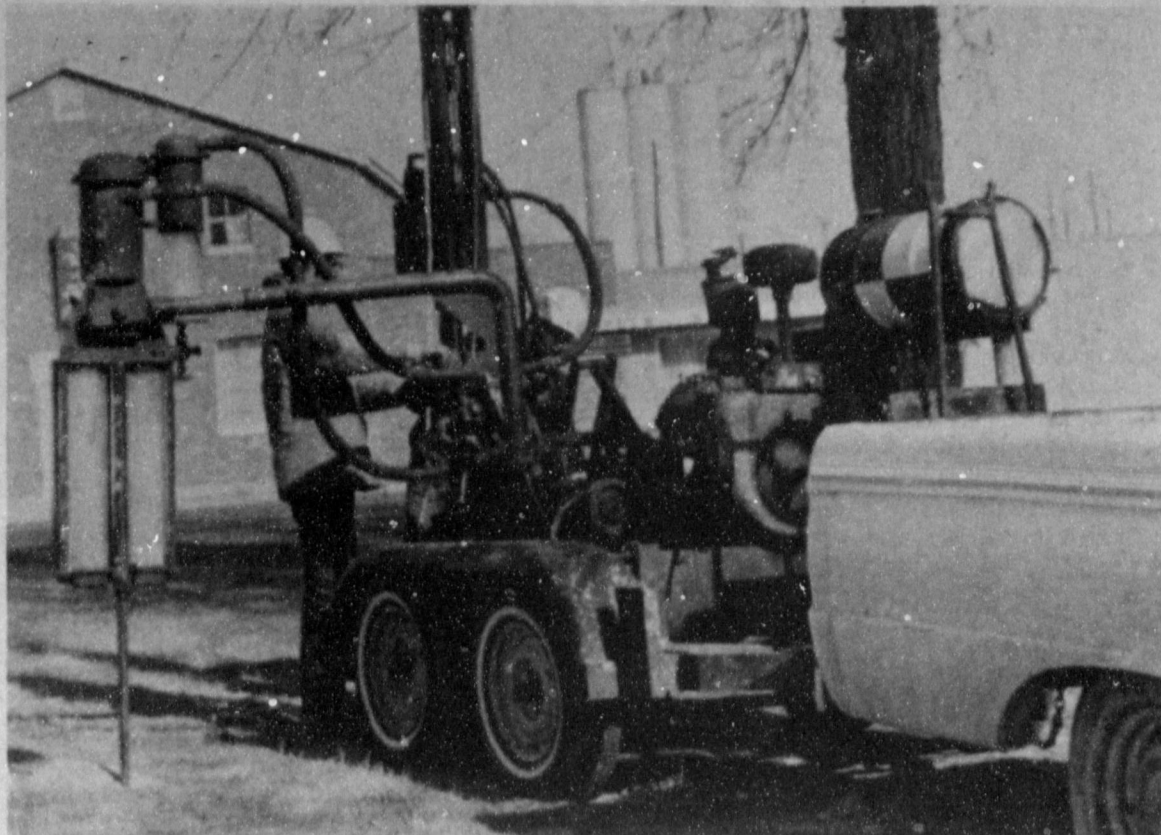

Martin said Odessa District Judge George Kelton will join his staff as co-chairman of the opinions division.

Robert Owen, former Crockett County attorney, will head the consumer protection division and Phil Warner will be assigned to the attorney general's insurance, banking and securities division.

Governor Connally appointed Paris attorney Henry Braswell judge of the Sixth Judicial District (Lamar and Fannin Counties).

Connally, moving fast to catch up on a backlog of appointments, also announced these selections:

- *William B. Blakemore 11 of Midland to Public Safety Commission replacing J. C. Looney of Edinburg.
- *James L. Luther of Burnet to the Texas Aeronautics Commission.
- *George Dillman of Dallas, Ed Hunter of Houston, Gene Lehmann of Kerrville and Don Russell of San Marcos to the Texas Tourist Development Agency. Reappointed to the same agency was John McCarty of Dallas.
- *Judge Peter M. Curry of San Antonio and Judge Raleigh Brown of Abilene, reappointed as presiding judges of the SOIL BEARING TEST--Richard Cheney and Ralph Flowers of Arnot-Cheney Engineering in Clovis were in Muleshoe Monday afternoon conducting soil tests on the site of the proposed law enforcement center. The center will be built on the northwest corner of the courthouse square and the Engineering Company was testing the soil to see what type of foundation would be necessary for the new building.

Fourth and Seventh Administrative Judicial Districts.

*Paul Fulks of Wolfe City, reappointed to the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

L.P. Sturgeon is the new executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association. This former Bew Boston school superintendent succeeds the late Charles H. Tennyson, longtime head of TSTA, who died last month.

Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop, adjutant general of Texas, has been reappointed a principle member of the Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee.

TECHNICAL TRAINING BOOSTED--House Education Committee has urged at least $30 million outlay during the next biennium for vocational-technical education in Texas.

HEC, which conducted study and 10 hearings, found that 16 vocational schools should be provided in 10 years to furnish 180 such facilities. It said all private technical and business schools ought to be regulated by the Texas Education Agency and that James Connally Technical Institute at Waco should be operated as a separate entity for training scarce vocation instructors and counselors.

WATER HYACINTH ERADICATION--A plant hormone called "2-4-D" will be used in the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department's campaign in the spring to eradicate water hyacinths in the Neeces, Frio and Atascosa Rivers.

Vietnam News

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by Gysgt. Bob Montgomery

Freddy is an 11-year-old Vietnamese boy who has adopted the Marines of "C" Company, 9th Engineer Bn., and Freddy has been adopted by the Marines.

Originally, Freddy became friends with an artillery unit at the Tam Ky compound, but when that unit moved out, Freddy became friendly with the Seabees.

Then "C" Company moved into the compound and Freddy began to hang around with his new-found Marine buddies. Soon he became accepted by the Marines.

Freddy's plight is not unusual in Vietnam but he was lucky to have found friends in the Leatherneck compound. Freddy comes from a large family that is extremely poor. Consequently, he couldn't attend school. When the 1st Platoon of "C" Company heard this they immediately made room for him "in their hearts", and set about remedying the situation.

Now Freddy eats with his Marine friends and through them is provided transportation to and from school.

However, the Marines don't stop at just providing Freddy with some of the comforts of life and the means to go to school. Each evening, six days a week, Freddie is tutored in the English language and the subjects he studied in school that day.

In return for the love and understanding the Marines give to him, Freddy returns his presence, his love and his trust and confidence in them.

A young Vietnamese woman from a small village south of Cua Viet is waging her own private war against the Viet Cong.

Hoang Thu Mai, who three years ago was forcefully inducted into the service of the Viet Cong, is now aiding American advisors and Vietnamese forces to search out the enemy, its hiding places and arms and supply caches.

Ma, 24, explained, "I was forced to join the VC when they came into our small village three years ago. They grabbed 15 of the younger women and told us that if we did not help them we would be killed and our families would suffer harm.

Her job with the Viet Cong terrorists was to pick up wounded or lost VC and serve as a guide and liaison for them.

When American and South Vietnamese forces moved in to her village she took the opportunity to turn herself in and for the past month has been actively helping to destroy the Viet Cong infrastructure in the area. Armed with the knowledge of VC hiding places and their habits, she now helps to hunt down her tormentors.

Army Capt. Ted L. Baldwin, Phoenix, Ariz., military advisor for the Vietnamese Regional Forces operating in the area, said, "Hoang Thu Mai was one of the first VC to come over to our side when we began operations in this area. She has guided us to innumerable VC food and arms caches and identified several members of the VC infrastructure living in nearby villages."

Asked why she left the VC, Mai replied, "I came over to the Government of South Vietnam because I finally saw the light. The government is really trying to give us material benefits while the VC just make a lot of fruitless promises."

"Dear U.S. Marines," wrote some of the students from Ybarra School, "I hope you are fine. What is your job in the Marines? I hope you will have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

The letters arrived at "C" Co., 3rd Tank Bn. in a large Manila envelope along with a letter from Mr. Ted Ritchie, the youngsters' teacher, who explained that the letters were written by his students as part of their studies.

Telling Her Size
He walked timidly into the store and announced he wished to buy a present for a young lady.

The saleslady showed him some silk coats but when she asked him the size, he was baffled. He gazed helplessly for a minute or so and then, spotting a dummy figure, a smile stole over his face. Walking up to it, he encircled it with his arm.

"About this size will do," he said, happily.

"Commodity Credit Corporation sales policies that interfere with the marketing of current crop cotton is a problem that's been with us for a long time and one of the first problems that will face incoming Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin."

This is a statement from Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., who says PCG will be in touch with the new Secretary on the matter soon after he takes office January 20.

His reference was to numerous times in the past when CCC sales prices and policies have made it more advantageous to merchants and mills to buy cotton from CCC stocks rather than from producers.

"When this situation exists," he noted, "current crop cotton is forced into the government loan, government costs are increased and producers are deprived of a market for current production."

Johnson doesn't blame CCC for the frustration producers have experienced to date in their attempts to market 1968-crop cotton.

"However," he says, "mills and exporters are going to need a great deal more of this year's crop than has been sold so far, and the CCC sales policies that should be announced early this year will have much to do with determining whether the cotton is bought from producers or from CCC."

He pointed out that there were only 6.3 million bales of cotton in the carryover at the beginning of this year and that domestic and export consumption for the year is estimated at 12 million bales. This means mills and the trade will need to acquire a minimum of 5.7 million bales from this year's crop just to carry them to August 1, when CCC will take title to any cotton unredeemed from the loan.

This cotton, Johnson assumes, will have to be bought from producers, either directly or in the form of producer equities in loan cotton, because CCC will not have the cotton to sell until after August 1 this year.

"But," he continues, "how much cotton can be sold between now and August 1 above this 5.7 million bales will be determined largely by the CCC sales policies that should be announced early this year by Secretary Hardin.

"And we will be urging the Secretary to announce CCC resale policies that will give a clear-cut advantage to purchases made from producers

Farm Bureau To Launch Austin Meeting

AUSTIN -- Texas Farm Bureau's 1969 legislative program will be launched here January 22-23 at a joint legislative-membership conference at the Terrace Motor Hotel.

More than 400 county Farm Bureau leaders -- including presidents, legislative and membership committee chairmen -- are expected to attend the conference which gets under way at 1 p.m. January 22 and concludes at noon next day.

Purpose of the bi-annual meeting, according to TFB President Sidney Dean of Victoria, is for Farm Bureau leaders to get a better understanding of state and national issues affecting agriculture and to discuss plans for implementing Farm Bureau policies. A membership report and awards program is also scheduled during the meeting. The TFB, which ended its 1968 year with 110,689 member families, is staging a state-wide enrollment campaign January 13-18.

Governor - Elect Preston Smith will address a banquet on the evening of January 22. All legislators and high state government officials have been invited to attend the banquet.

Roger Fleming, Washington, D.C., secretary-treasurer of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will open the January 23 session with a discussion on "County Leaders - The Key to Effective Participation."

Two key leaders of the House and Senate will speak to the group on the final day of the conference, according to Ed McKay, Waco, TFB legislative director. Senator William N. Patman, Ganado, will give pointers on effective contacts with elected officials. Rep. W.S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah will discuss the state's tax and spending problem.

Dean will open the conference on the afternoon of January 22 with a talk on the purpose of the meeting. Following this, McKay will discuss major national legislative issues and Farm Bureau's policies affecting these issues. Cliff Laywell, Austin, TFB assistant legislative director, will outline major Farm Bureau objectives in the 61st Legislature. Laywell is in charge of the state farm objectives in the state farm organization's legislative office at 307 East 14th Street in Austin.

A short membership report meeting will follow discussion of state and national issues. Counties with outstanding achievements in membership acquisition will be recognized, according to Wayne Litte, Waco, TFB director of organization.

Then, the county leaders will tour the State Capitol and visit with their elected state senators and representatives.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

OVER 65 EXEMPTION

The Statistics of Income indicate that many taxpayers who are over 65 years of age do not claim the extra exemption allowed them for age. Occasionally you hear of the little lady who didn't want the computer to know that she was that old -- but this can't be the real answer. A good "guesstimate" would be most of us feel so young (except when we want to fuss about feeling so old) that we forget all about being over 65, especially when we are in a rush to file our income tax return.

In case you forgot about having slipped past the 65 year mark last year, the Internal Revenue Service will still give you credit, adjust your tax bill, and send you a refund, if you tell them about it. (Simply send IRS a 104-OX). On that 1968 tax return, take a memory pill and remember your age and go ahead and fill out your return.
