2013 property taxes are due in January

The Donley Appraisal District is reminding those who have not paid their 2013 taxes that those taxes are due this month.

Statements were mailed last Tuesday to taxpayers still owing 2013 taxes.

Taxes not paid on or before January 31 will incur penalty and interest of 7 percent if paid in February. The amount increases each month thereafter until the tax is paid. Accounts unpaid on July 1 will incur an additional 20 percent collection penalty in addition to the regular penalty and interest of 18 percent. Texas state law prescribes the penalty and interest amounts.

Delinquent notices will be mailed in May to those who still owe 2013 tax at that time. Partial payments will be accepted.

Taxes are payable to the Donley Appraisal District, PO Box 1220, Clarendon TX 79226.

City experiences brief power outage

Electric power service to Clarendon and nearby communities was disrupted briefly last Tuesday, January 14.

AEP/Southwestern Electric Power Co. spokesman Tony Barley said the outage was due to maintenance that needed to be performed by Xcel Energy north of Jericho.

Xcel, which interconnects with AEP/SWEPCO, found a transmission breaker that was low on gas and if the breaker tripped, they would not be able to close it back without a prolonged outage. It was determined that the best course of action was to take a short outage to allow Xcel to re-charge their breaker.

Barley said SWEPCO normally has an alternate back-up feed from the east from Childress, but it had been taken off-line Monday for routine maintenance.

The outage lasted about 15 minutes and affected Hedley, Clarendon, Lelia Lake, and Howardwick.

"We tried to call as many critical customers as we could in the short time window that we had," Barley said. "SWEPCO is sorry for any inconvenience that this outage may have caused our customers."

Ag conference to be held January 30

Texas Agrilife Extension will be hosting the South East Panhandle Ag Conference on Thursday, January 30, at 8:00 a.m. with registration in Memphis at the Kathy Fowler Insurance Building.

Producers will receive five pesticide applicator license CEUs at this training. Topics will include weed management, cotton and peanut management, and insect management. The conference should conclude around 2:00 p.m.

There will be a $15 charge for the meeting payable at the door. For more information please contact Leonard Haynes at 806-282-7680.

Here, kitty, kitty... Bzzzzzzzzt Cat electrocutes self, ignites grass fire

A fried cat is being blamed for a grass fire that threatened a residence in Howardwick's 600 block of Borger Street last week.

Fire Chief Joe Hall said the blaze that was reported at 7:01 p.m. last Friday, January 17, was caused after a cat crawled on top of an electrical transformer and burned through all nine of its lives before hitting the ground as flaming ball of fur and igniting the dry grass.

A quick-thinking neighbor began smacking the fire with a snow shovel and thereby averted any greater disaster.

Three units and six firemen responded from Howardwick assisted by one unit and two firemen from Clarendon. The fire was completely extinguished in about an hour.

An area more than 400 square feet was burned, but no damage was done to the residence or nearby out-buildings.

Donley County is currently under a burn ban during Red Flag Warning days, and local officials are warning residents to use extreme caution to avoid outdoor fires that could lead to wildfires. Keeping grass and brush cleared is one key to preventing disaster during these dry conditions.

"If you have grass more than three inches tall, get it down," Hall said. "We are in prime condition for wildfires."

Tall, dry grass was the perfect fuel when a cat-astrophe occurred at Howardwick last week.

City drafting rules on alcohol sales

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen began the process of finding common ground on regulation of alcohol sales during their regular meeting last Tuesday, January 14.

About a dozen citizens attended the meeting as Clarendon Economic Development & Tourism Director Chandra Eggemeyer addressed the board in public comments.

Eggemeyer said last summer's influx of pipeline workers to Clarendon bolstered the local economy and buffered the negative effects of losing visitors to the dwindling Lake Greenbelt.

"The decrease in lake traffic has not hurt us yet," Eggemeyer told the board. "Only the Lord can make it rain, but we do have some tools available to us to help our economy."

Eggemeyer said the alcohol election on November 5 was already producing positive results with properties being cleaned up and put up for sale, businesses making investments, and a sense of optimism about the future. She then encouraged the board to act on the alcohol sales issue and said the sales and business activity would result in a bigger impact than the permit fees will.

"The sooner we can finalize the details, the sooner we can realize the activity," she said.

Later in the meeting, the board took up discussion of the issue with Alderman Sandy Skelton asking for quick action.

"We have merchants waiting. Why hold them up? Why can't we grandfather existing businesses?" Skelton asked.

City Secretary Machiel Covey said the city needed to have its ordinance in place before any permits were signed.

Mayor Larry Hicks brought up the City of Claude's ordinance, which he said simply prohibits sales in residential zones, but Alderman Will Thompson preferred limiting sales to properties on US 287 and SH 70. Alderman Larry Jeffers also said he would not vote for any rules that would allow sales near a church.

Aldermen generally agreed that they would allow sales on US 287 and the Central Business District but within that area restrict sales within 300 feet of a church or school.

The board also agreed that they would measure distances from front door to front door rather than by property lines and that they would allow businesses to apply for variances.

City officials said the proposed rules would allow for sales at businesses that have already expressed interests in getting alcohol permits, specifically Allsup's, CEFCO, Lowe's Family Center, JD Steak Out, and Bar H BBQ & More; but it would give protection to churches downtown and on the highway.

Board members also generally agreed that they wanted to prohibit public consumption of alcohol at city owned parks and ballparks and on property owned by Clarendon ISD.

No action was taken last week, but city officials were planning to draft an ordinance based on these discussions and present it to the board at its next regular meeting on January 28.

Curbing plan at center of city street project debate

Clarendon Aldermen debated curbing plans for streets slated to be paved this year during their regular meeting last Tuesday, January 14.

City voters in May of 2012 approved a bond election that authorized $700,000 for street improvements, but the project was delayed when the board of aldermen later authorized an additional $700,000 in tax revenue notes to replace water and sewer lines under the targeted streets. At last week's meeting, Mayor Larry Hicks and city engineer Clayton Scales of KSA Engineers presented aldermen with plans for curbing for the street project. As presented, the project would narrow the streets down to 32 feet wide and use mostly "rollover" curbs to define the streets.

Scales said about eight feet of existing street in some areas would be left between the rollover curb and existing curbs. Hicks said that pavement would be left as intact as possible to let people continue to park there and that the city would repave that area at a later time.

Alderman Sandy Skelton balked at the idea of narrowing streets and focused his attention on Third Street leading up to the First Baptist Church.

"I want to please the citizens," Skelton said. "I think Third needs to be as wide as it is between Koogle and Allen streets. I want to keep that width with the curbs."

Hicks said wider streets will increase the cost of the project but said the decision was up to the board.

Alderman Doug Kidd also said he did not like the idea of narrowing the streets, and Alderman Larry Jeffers, regarding the plan for "rollover" curb on most of Third Street, said he couldn't imagine that those property owners would not want a full curb and gutter.

Asked if he knew of any other cities that had narrowed streets with rollover curbing and left old paving behind the curb, Scales said he had not seen this done before.

Skelton also raised concern that new paving on Sixth Street near the ballparks would not withstand flood-

CC now offering Amarillo class

Clarendon College has opened its Amarillo cosmetology center with its first group of students this month and will start a second group next month, according to information presented to the Board of Regents' meeting last Thursday, January 16.

CC President Robert Riza said he appreciated Vice President Raymond Jaramillo's work on the Amarillo center, and board member Jerry Woodard praised the efforts of college employees, specifically Gary Ferguson and John Havens, who worked hard to remodel the building for the Amarillo center.

Final fall enrollment numbers won't be available until next week, but Jaramillo estimated 40 students would start the semester in Amarillo.

In other business, regents acknowledged the resignation of Dr. Pat Westergaard as Dean of Instruction and ratified the appointment of Brad Vanden Boogaard as athletic director. Vanden Boogaard has been serving in an interim capacity the past few months, and Riza praised him for the work he had done and recommended removing "interim" from that title.

Regents considered and approved a $4,657 proposal from 1-800-Plumber to increase the capacity of sewer and water lines in a handicapped bathroom located in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center.

In his president's report, Riza said senior staff are working on a strategic plan that will take the college three years into the future and preparations are being made to get ready for CC's upcoming accreditation visit. Employees are also being surveyed for college planning purposes.

City should take its time on street plan

Life is often a matter of "hurry up and wait" with any number of subjects and in a wide array of circumstances. But in two issues currently before the Clarendon Board of Aldermen, city leaders need to both "hurry up" and "wait" but not at the same time.

Aldermen made good progress on an alcohol ordinance at last week's regular meeting, and board members seemed to pretty well be in agreement when they adjourned. Now they are set to meet again next Tuesday to finalize the ordinance. As Clarendon Economic Development & Tourism Director Chandra Eggemeyer told the board, the sooner this is done, the sooner Clarendon will start seeing the benefit of last fall's election.

To put it more simply, every day a local store can't sell beer is a day they are losing money. City leaders need to forge ahead without delay next week, finish whatever rules they are going to adopt, and authorize City Hall to begin signing permit applications.

But on another issue – the pending street project, the city needs to take its time and act carefully. An alcohol ordinance can be amended in the future if needs to be, but street projects are long term investments. When done right – like our brick streets, they can serve the citizens for decades. When done wrong or hastily, citizens will likewise live with those decisions for a long time.

Any way you slice it, the street project has changed substantially from what former city administrator Lambert Little sold citizens when they voted. At that time there was no talk of narrowing streets, but now that's what the plan calls for – reducing streets to 32 feet across mostly bordered by ribbons of concrete known as "rollover" curbs as opposed to full curb and gutter that we saw in the last project seven years ago.

Narrowing the streets is always done as a cost-saving measure, but city officials need to consider what that's going to look like and exactly what the plan is. In the case of Third Street, the plan is to essentially ignore up to eight feet of currently paved street that will be behind the new rollover curb. People will still be able to park there, and the city will repave that area "later." Unfortunately, "later" has a habit of never getting here.

In the last project, the city was going to go back and tie in cross streets like Allen, Sims, and others that were eliminated from the last plan to save money. That isn't on the drawing board. We were also going to see Seventh and Fourth streets from Google going east paved. That isn't being talked about. "Later" means "probably never." If a future city council has an extra $50,000 to spend ten years from now, they aren't likely to spend it behind a curb where someone is parking. Why not just keep the streets wider today and allow enough room to park on both sides of the street?

The city engineer admitted last week that he has never seen another city do what Clarendon is planning to do. We therefore have no idea what this is going to look like, but we can be sure that it won't be a proper street that might be seen in other communities.

Third Street in particular, again, is a major thoroughfare for local people and visitors to our city that connects downtown with Bronco Stadium and our beautiful college campus. When paved, it needs to be nothing less than professional and a source of pride.

The city also needs to think about timing. We've seen what a disaster occurred when the water and sewer project was going on during football season. It was a muddy, sloppy, embarrassing mess. And that will look like a walk in the park compared to what might happen if the street project isn't finished before school starts.

City crews are intended to do all the dirt work for the curbing and all the base work for the streets. Our city workers have plenty to do without being tasked with staying ahead of a paving contractor, who could probably more efficiently do the job themselves. This isn't to say our guys aren't capable of doing base work. It's simply pointing out that they already have fulltime jobs to do.

What thought, if any, has been given to how this project will impact activity around the ballparks this summer? What thought, if any, has been given to making sure this project is over and done with before school starts this fall so that we avoid the congestion and mess at Clarendon ISD that we've seen this school year?

And then there remains the idea of seal coating Clarendon Avenue and Regents Avenue on the college campus. How will the city time its work so that it doesn't interfere with activities at the college this summer or, heaven help us, after classes start in the fall? All of Donley County pays taxes to Clarendon College to keep up maintenance on college property. The estimated $50,000 the city proposes to spend on the college campus is really and truly needed elsewhere to make sure that city streets are paved in the same professional manner that we see with the college streets.

The Board of Aldermen needs to take its time on this. Ask the right questions. Get satisfactory answers, and above all, don't be rushed. Clarendon will live with these streets for a long time. Let's make sure we're happy with what we're getting and not just "poor boy" this deal for expediency and the sake of saving a buck.

Trend of rich getting richer continues

For many years I had the pleasure of working closely with some very talented people, people who have achieved the pinnacle of success in their various fields of endeavor. These people, Robert and Kim Kiyosaki of Rich Dad Poor Dad fame, Mark Victor Hansen and Jack Canfield of Chicken Soup for the Soul, and even the Donald (Trump), all made basically the same claim. The first responsibility of the President of the United States is to help the rich get richer.

They never backed off this outrageous claim. Almost as importantly, they also claimed that the role of the Congress is much the same, to help the rich grow richer. If you look carefully at the record for the last hundred plus years, there seems to be a lot of truth in their claims. Going back to the days of one of my favorite Republican presidents, Theodore Roosevelt, it is possible to see how easily the rich are able to manipulate the system to enrich themselves at the expense of the middle and lower classes.

Right here, right now, American financial inequality is growing worse and does not appear to be growing weaker anytime soon, at least with the current president and Congress. Since I graduated from college in the early 1970s, real wages for the bottom half of the work force have remained flat or decreased slightly, while the incomes of the top one percent have almost quadrupled (outrageously, the incomes of the top 0.1 percent have risen even more.) We desperately need to have a serious debate about this horrid state of affairs, yet the simple fact is – American capitalism as currently being practiced is now undermining the foundations of middle-class society. This is an absolute truth. Congress and the current administration are destroying the middle class – period. They have been doing so for over a century.

Like it or not, class warfare in the United States is now in full bloom, and the plutocrats are on the offensive and winning. The wealthy are not only lying about how well they are doing, they are outright falsifying the data cover up their greed and avarice. They are even creating myths about why the rich deserve to be rich, even at the expense of the middle class.

The rich have a long history of intentionally carrying out a campaign of statistical concealment. Consider a recent article by the Wall Street Journal. In his column Bret Stephens wrongfully accused the president of making a factual error (of which he has made many). However, Mr. Stephens then proceeded to claim that our rising inequality was no big deal, because everyone has been making big gains. He even claimed that the bottom 20 percent of the U.S. population has risen by 186 percent since 1979. Well, folks this is an outright lie. If you find the inflation corrected number, which is in the same Census Record table; it shows that the incomes of the bottom 20 percent have actually fallen. Yet, the Wall Street Journal has not yet corrected this falsehood.

Unfortunately, many tea party types seem fixated on the notion that poverty is basically the result of character defects among the poor. This may have once contained a modicum of truth, but for the past three decades or so, the main obstacle facing the poor has been the lack of jobs paying decent wages. So, the myth of the undeserving poor continues, as does its counterpart myth, that of a deserving rich.

The myth goes like this: America's affluent are rich because they made the right lifestyle choices. They got good educations; they got and stayed married, and were consistent in making good life choices. Basically, their wealth is a reward for following Victorian virtues.

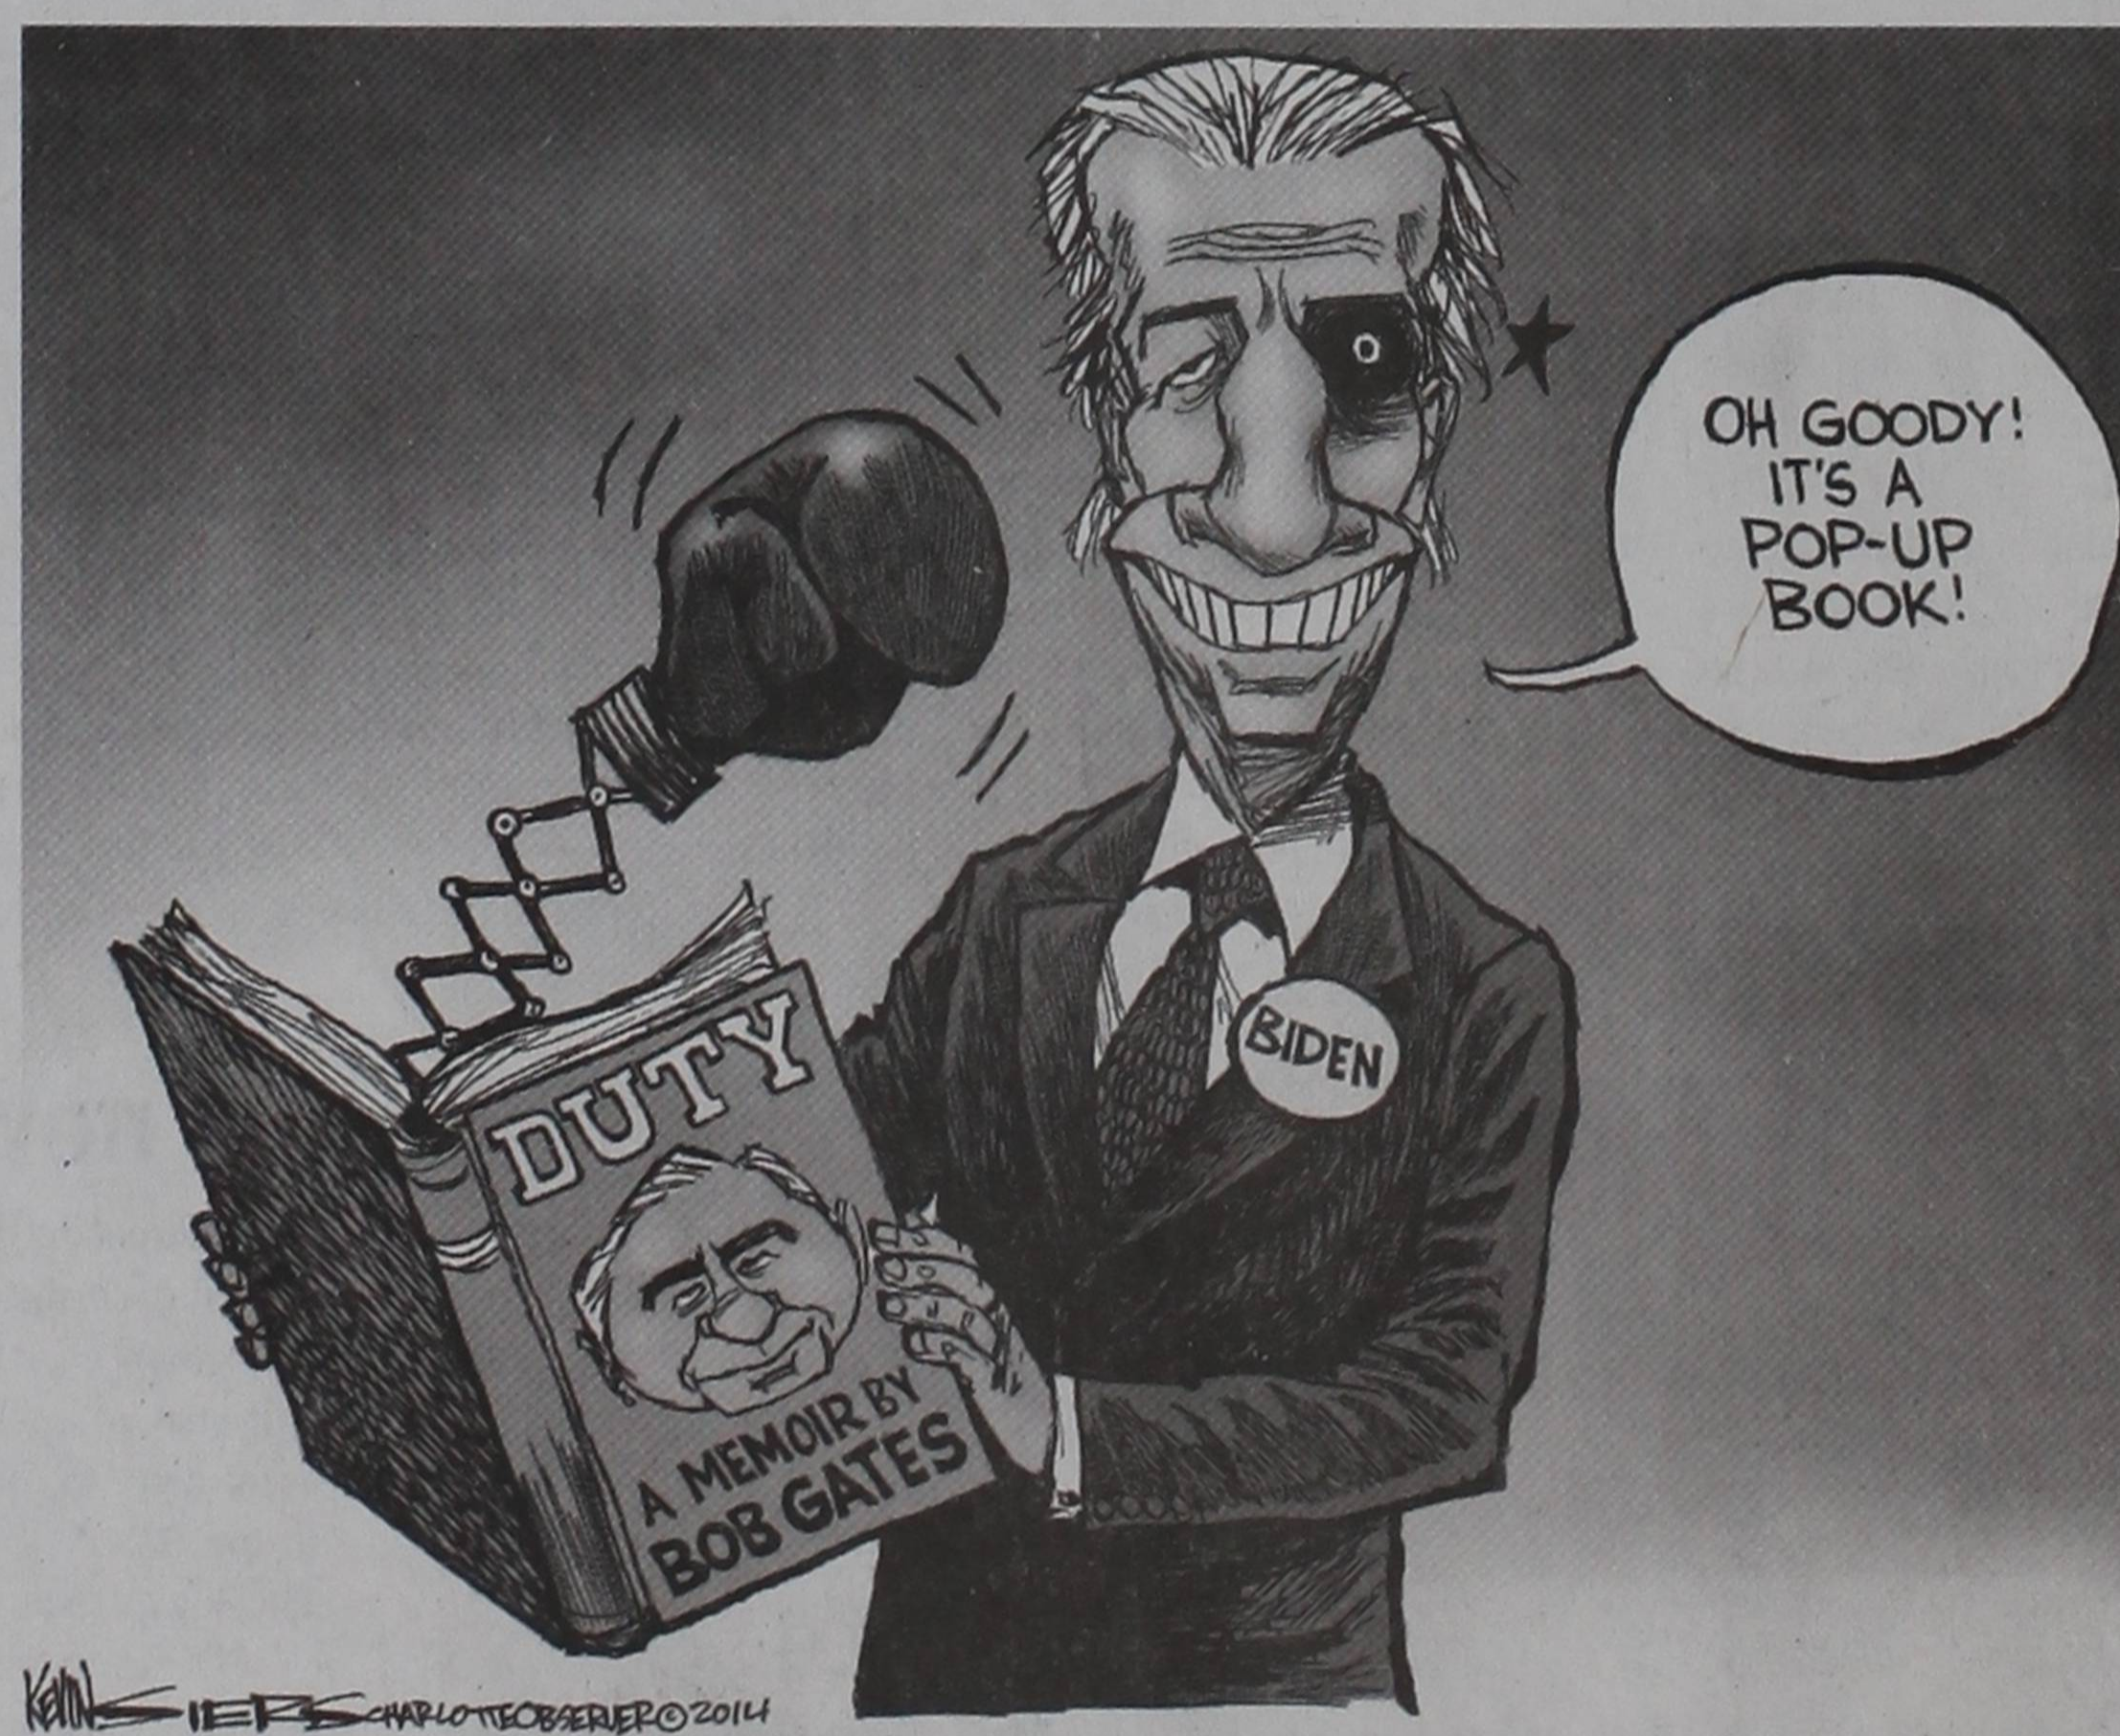

So? What is wrong with this story? Well, for one thing it suggests opportunities that do not exist. For example, how are poor children, or children of the working class, supposed to get a good education in an era of declining support for and sharply rising tuition at public universities and even community colleges? The resulting lack of employment opportunities takes an enormous toll on family stability and values, driving the family into poverty.

Most importantly, this myth misidentifies the winners from growing inequality. White-collar professionals, even if married to other successful, white-collar professionals are only doing just okay. The really big winners are a much smaller group. The Occupy Wall Street movement gave rise to the concept of the "1 percent," which is a good name for the rising elite. Even so, like anything, if the top group includes too many people; the real elite have grown even smaller – the top 0.1 percent.

Who are these people? Mostly, they are executives of some type, most often financial executives. They did not get to where they are simply by being prudent, clean, and sober. They are the wolves of Wall Street.

Reader has fond memories of Howardwick

Dear Editor,

I do not know who to thank, but someone paid my subscription last October. I have certainly enjoyed my paper.

I lived in Howardwick for seven years, and that is some good memories. I worked at the lake in the summer and remember fishing on Don and Helen Durham's dock.

I want to say congratulations to Diana Knight on her retirement – a job well done.

I really enjoy Peggy Cockerham's write-ups. I am getting good use of the paper. I just gave it to Maudie Barefoot, who lives on the same floor as I do in this apartment complex. She was recently in re-hab for two months with a broken elbow but is back with us now.

Hunter safety course at Copper Breaks

QUANAH – Changes in the law has made taking Hunter Safety easier; the course requirement has been shortened and can be done in eight hours or less. The state required Hunter Safety class will be offered at Copper Breaks State Park on Saturday, February 8, 2014, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. It is recommended that participants bring a sack lunch due to time constraints.

This basic hunter education class is required for all hunters born on or after September 2, 1971. The minimum age for certification is 9 years old. Hunters ages 9-16 must successfully complete the hunter safety course or be accompanied by an adult, while hunters age 17 and older must successfully complete the course, or purchase a one-time only exemption, or be accompanied.

The Texas hunter education certification is honored by all other states which require hunter education, but you must carry your card with you. Hunter education instructors Wendell Barberee and Carl Hopper will offer the course. Participation is by advance registration only. Children age nine and under must be accompanied by an adult.

To register, call 940-839-4331 during regular business hours. A non-refundable fee of $15 is required.

Military and Law Enforcement personnel and persons with concealed carry permits are not exempt and must take the hunter safety class.

“With today’s busy schedules the class is now done in one day instead of two, and certification is good for life,” said ranger Barberee. “So make your call today and get your slot in the class. We have a limited number of spaces.”

ing and said concrete paving should be considered there.

Scales said the city needs to finalize its plans soon in order to get the curbing in place in time for the paving season. The plan calls for city workers to do the excavating needed for the curbs and to do all the base work for paving of the streets. Hicks said the city will have to add more help to be able to stay ahead of the contractors.

The curbing plans presented last week includes Sixth Street from Koogle to Goodnight; Third Street from Allen to Bugbee; Allen Street, from Third to Fifth; Carhart Street, from Sixth to Fourth; and Wood Avenue from Jackson to Faker.

The project also includes seal coating Clarendon Avenue from Bugbee to its west dead end (along the south side of the Clarendon College campus) and Regent Avenue from US 287 to Clarendon Ave., up the middle of the CC campus.

Winter weather prompts return of utility scam

Hi gang, I am getting so many scam alerts that it is hard to pick out two each week. Election time is coming up so be sure you are registered to vote. Study the candidates closely, look at the issues. Vote your convictions, but VOTE.

Scammers are taking advantage of the cold winter weather by impersonating electric and gas company representatives. Scammers are threatening residents and business owners with deactivation of service... unless they pay up immediately. How the Scam Works: The phone rings, and the person on the other line identifies her/himself as a representative from your local electric or gas company. He or she tells you that you are late on your bill. You need to pay immediately, or your utilities will be shut off.

However, instead of accepting payment by credit card or check, the caller wants you to pay by prepaid debit card. The scammer instructs you to obtain one and call him/her back. This is a huge warning sign. Prepaid debit cards are like cash. Once you transfer the money, you will be unable to redeem it.

As usual, scammers are using a variety of ways to prey on utility customers. Scammers also claim that the electric meter is not working properly and must be immediately replaced - at the customer's expense - or the electricity will be shut off. Other scammers are using email to reach customers. Watch out for emails disguised as overdue notices from your utility company. Clicking on a link or attachment will load malware on your computer.

Tips for Spotting a Utility Scam: Because local gas, water and electric companies do sometimes contact their customers by phone, it can be difficult to tell a scammer from a real agent. Here are some tips: Prepaid debit cards are a red flag: If a caller specifically asks you to pay by prepaid debit card or wire transfer, this is a huge warning sign. Your utility company will accept a check or credit card.

Don't cave to pressure to pay immediately: If you feel pressured for immediate payment or personal information, hang up the phone and call the customer service number on your utility bill. This will ensure you are speaking to a real representative. Remember that electrical meters are the property of the utility company and would be the responsibility of the utility to replace or repair. Never allow anyone into your home to check electrical wiring, natural gas pipes or appliances unless you have scheduled an appointment or reported a problem. Also, ask utility employees for proper identification.

Protect Your Prepaid Debit Card

bob's whittlin' by bob watson

According to Katie Burgoyne at TODAY/Money, prepaid debit cards are great for a number of things, such as monitoring your children's expenditures, traveling, or gift giving. This method of ready money has become so popular that in 2012 alone, consumers put an estimated $77 billion onto these cards. But with the convenience, comes heightened risks and fees.

Banks charge varying amounts for issuing the card, reloading more money onto the card, and checking the balance of the card. As well, if the card is lost, you are likely to lose all the money loaded onto it. If the card is stolen, there are fewer protections under the law than credit cards. Prepaid debit cards are not linked to a checking account, and therefore are much easier to turn into cash than debit or credit cards. Even though there are risks, prepaid debit cards are still an easy and smart option for many consumers. Experts suggest the following tips for how to make the card safe and financially sensible: Pick a PIN. Use a PIN on the card and keep that PIN secure.

Read the fine print. Know the varying fees that the issuers of the cards are charging. Take the time to shop around to find the most reasonable. Know the rules. To minimize hassle and financial hit if your card is lost or stolen, know the process for replacing the card. Be sure to record the card number, security code and customer service number and keep it in a safe place.

Be return-ready: Do not dispose of your card until you are certain that you will not return any items you have bought. Some stores require money be deposited back onto the card during a return. Keep a lid on it. Manage your risk. Do not load more money on the card than you would be comfortable losing. Community celebrates Knight

A good sized crowd gathered Jan 14, 2014 at Howardwick City Hall to wish outgoing Secretary Dianna Knight a happy retirement. Mayor Mike Rowland presented her with a plaque commemorating her twenty three years of service along with a money tree.

We watched for money-tree seeds, but she wouldn't share. She has plans for travel with husband Ellis or at least a few rounds of golf. Good luck Dianna, slow down and enjoy this time in your life.

It was nice seeing Roy Monroe out after the brain surgery.

Our condolences to the family of Norma Waggoner who passed away Jan 16. Norma and Robert Waggoner moved to Howardwick 34 years ago where she spent time doing hand work such as quilting and crochet and making a lovely home for her family. She and Robert were married 59 years so please put them on your prayer list and God Bless you all. Keep our sick folks in your prayers ad also pray for rain.

Drugs in the News

New Treatment for Hepatitis C Approved
The FDA recently approved a new medication to help treat a chronic infection of the liver called Hepatitis C. Sofosbuvir (Sovaldi) is considered a "breakthrough" medication because, unlike other treatments for hepatitis C, it does not require additional interferon therapy to be administered at the same time. Interferon therapy has been the standard of care, but it is difficult to tolerate in many people. Sovaldi blocks the production of a specific protein that the virus needs in order to continue the infection. The safety and effectiveness of Sovaldi in combination with other antiviral medications have been demonstrated in six clinical trials in people who have never been treated for hepatitis C, those who did not respond to previous treatment and people who were infected with HIV and Hepatitis C. The results showed that hepatitis C infection was reduced in people who had taken the Sovaldi-containing medication regimens.

Hepatitis C is an infection of the liver that is caused by a virus which may lead to liver inflammation and failure. Some people may be infected for years before the virus is even detected.

Colts blast Mustangs

The seventh and eighth grade Colts hosted Claude last Monday night and made good on two big wins against the Mustangs.

The seventh grade kicked things off with a huge 52-11 win. Offensively, the Colts were on track as they converted several steals into points in the win. The Colts held Claude to only three first half points. They were so sharp on defense that Claude struggled to put points on the board. Only in the final seconds of the game, were the Claude Colts able to jump to double figures. There were not many free throws taken in the game, but the Colts netted 66% from the bonus line.

Three players finished in double figures. Bear Smith made good on several layups and led the Colts on the board with eighteen points. Noab Elam also took advantage of Claude's struggles and finished with fourteen points. Ryan McCleskey was sharp on both ends of the court and racked up eleven points.

"I really like the way this team moves the ball," coach Brad Elam said. "They are very unselfish and find the open man. I thought they played a really good game."

Also scoring: Preston Elam 6 and Cole Franks 3.

The eighth grade Colts had little trouble with Claude and defeated them 44-25. The Colts jumped on Claude at the beginning and gained the early momentum. Clarendon hung on to their rhythm and stayed focused on both ends of the court. Colt Wood was on his game and accounted for nineteen of the Colts' total points that included two three-pointers. Demarjae Cortez worked the ball from his guard position and netted fourteen. All the Colts contributed to the win and were solid on offense and defense.

"We were able to win big, but I didn't think we played as well as we did last week," Elam said. "We had moments, but we still have a lot to work on. Offensively, we have to be able to make our easy shots."

Also scoring: Nathan Shadle 7, Eastin Goodpasture 3, and Justin Christopher 1.

Both Colt teams will travel to Vega on Monday, January 20, beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Marshal Johnson, Clay Koetting, and Chance Lockhart play defense.

Lady Colts stumble against Claude

The seventh grade Lady Colts played hard, but were defeated 7-24 by the Claude Lady Colts Monday in the Bronco gym.

Offensively, it was slow going for Clarendon, as they were not able to score until the second half of the game.

"The seventh grade played very well," coach Johnny Nino said. "This game shows how far the girls have come. When we played them the first time, they beat us 66-6. They played very good defense and did a good job of breaking the press."

Scoring: Alandra Williams 3, Emily Johnson 2, and Brandalyn Ellis 2.

The eighth grade jumped out to the early lead and despite never giving up, fell 17-50 to Claude in the final game of the night. The Lady Colts never found a rhythm in the game and suffered somewhat from foul trouble and turnovers. "We started out playing very well and jumped out in front of them 5-0," Nino said.

"We are still getting in foul trouble and committing unforced turnovers that are leading to easy baskets for the opposition. I feel the girls are giving great effort and I do appreciate that."

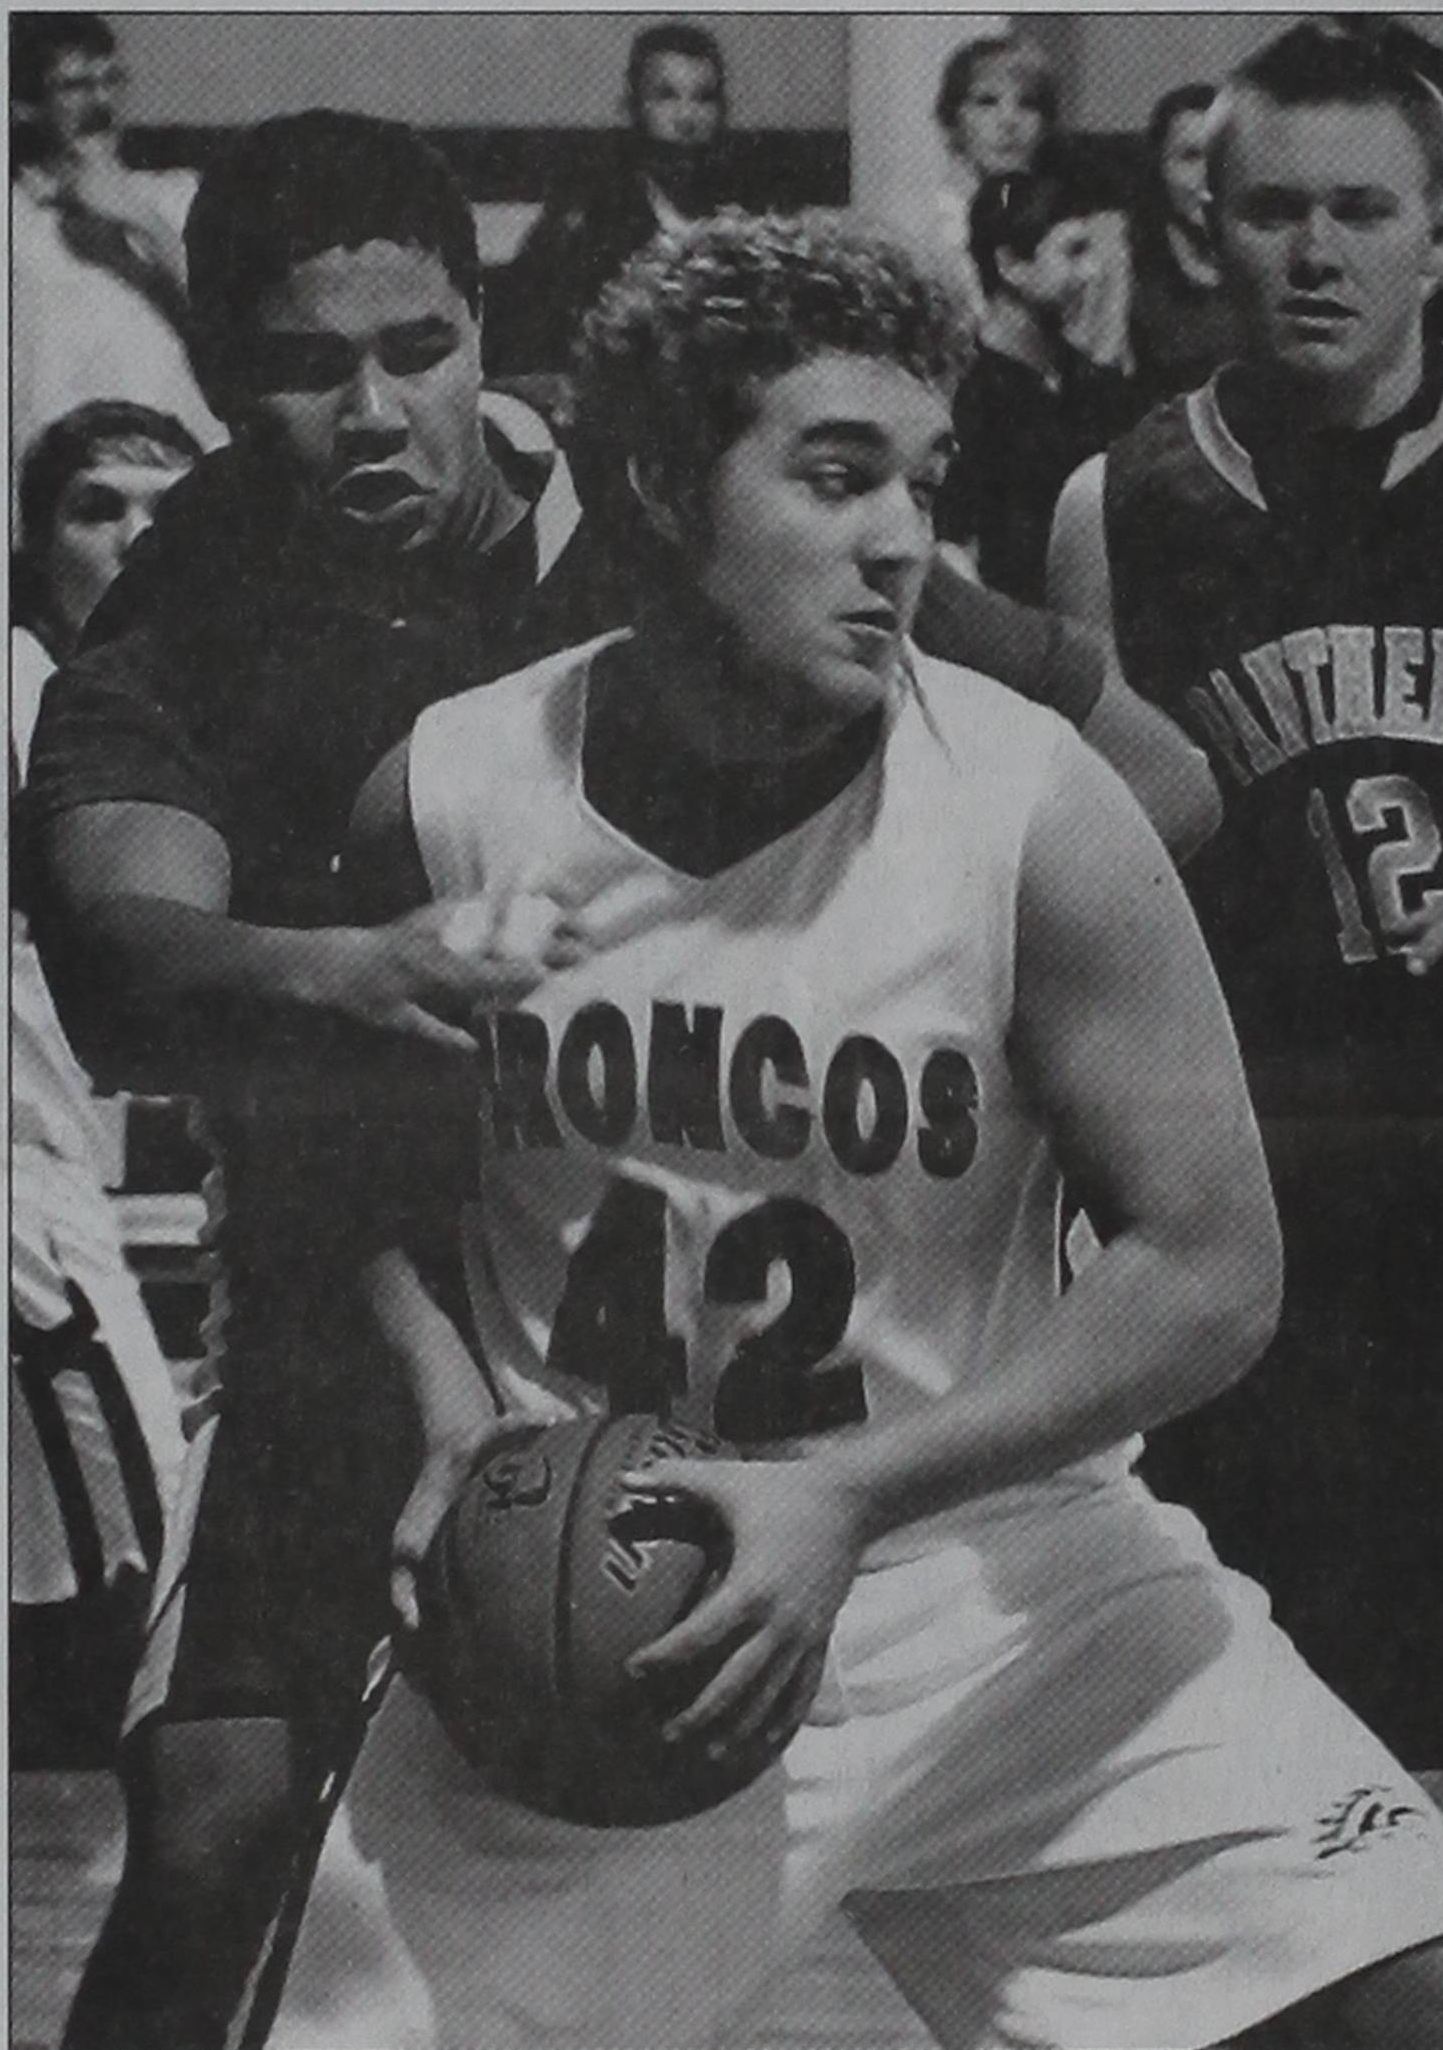

Scoring: Shaelyn Owiti 10, Whitney Laroe 3, Hannah Hommel 2, and Abby Ceniceros 2.

The Lady Colts will play Vega at home on Monday, January 20, beginning at 5:00 pm.

Bronco JV splits games last week

The Bronco junior varsity blasted White Deer 75-15 on Tuesday, but fell short by ten points at home against Panhandle at 37-47.

The Broncos owned the Bucks on Tuesday night as they destroyed them in the first half of play to set the tempo of the game. The Broncos executed offensively and were aggressive on defense in their huge win. Jr. Ceniceros, Chance Lockhart, and Marshal Johnson were on their game and finished in double figures for the Broncos. Clarendon was able to go to the free throw line several times and shot 57 percent.

Scoring: Ceniceros 25, Lockhart 17, Johnson 13, Riley Shadle 8,

Joseph Jaramillo 6, Clay Koetting 4, and Seth Greer 2.

On Friday night, the Broncos played hard once again, but could not overtake the Panthers in the second half. The Broncos and Panthers were tied at eighteen points each at the break, but Panhandle held the edge going into the last seven minutes. The Bronco JV stayed aggressive, but could never get things turned around in the last quarter of play.

Scoring: Johnson 12, Lockhart 12, Keandre Cortez 8, and Shadle 5.

The Broncos will take on Claude at home on Friday, January 25, at 5:00 p.m.

Lady Bronco JV lose to Panhandle

A three-point shot with only seconds left on the clock turned disastrous for the Lady Broncos in their contest against Panhandle at home Friday night.

The Lady Broncos fought hard the entire game and led by one with only ticks left on the clock when Panhandle made good on a three-pointer to steal the win and hand the Lady Broncos a 37-39 loss. They finished the first half of district at 3-1.

The game was back and forth throughout the first half of play with the Lady Broncos holding a one-point lead at the break. They came out after halftime and ran the floor on their opponent and increased their lead to seven after three quarters of play.

They were on track for a big win, but allowed the Pantherettes to get the big shot off before time ran out. Coach Kasey Bell knows her team played hard and hopes the team gained some experience from the loss.

"We had some tough breaks at the end of the game, but the ladies played hard," coach Kasey Bell said. "We will learn and build off of this experience for next time."

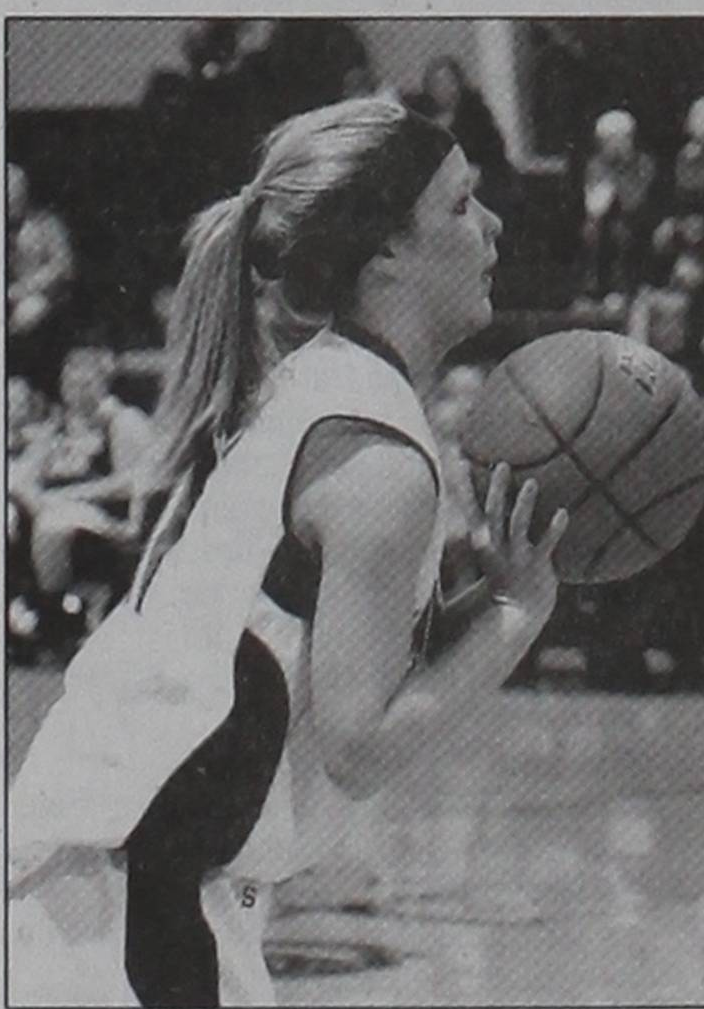

Scoring: Deborah Howard 15, Briley Chadwick 9, Briana Butler 8, Jensen Hatley 2, Myra Castillo 2, and Berkeley 1.

On Tuesday, the Lady Broncos earned a good win at White Deer defeating them 39-30.

The ladies jumped out to the early lead and held White Deer to single digits in the first half of play. They held a commanding lead after three, but the fourth quarter belonged to White Deer as they attempted a comeback on the Lady Broncos. But Clarendon stayed solid and got the win.

Scoring: Chadwick 13, Butler 10, Sterling King 8, Hatley 3, Howard 3, and Castillo 2.

The Lady Broncos will begin the second half of district on Friday, January 25, at 4:00 p.m.

Lady Broncos sitting on top of District race

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos pulled off a great win over their biggest threat in their five-team District last Friday night at home. The Lady Broncos survived all attempts by the Pantherettes to stop them and earned a 52-40 win to go 4-0 in the first half of District play.

The Lady Broncos actually trailed by one point after the first quarter, but put together a solid second quarter to take a commanding lead into the break. They were able to explode their offense in the second half and put together a great defense that stopped Panhandle from finding a rhythm. Several Lady Broncos stepped up in the game and added points to the board at crucial times and three finished in double figures. Taylor Gaines led the ladies with 16, Deborah Howard had 12, and Taylor DeGrate helped with 11. Ryann Starnes had seven, and Phara Berry, Camra Smith, and Skyler White added two.

Earlier in the week, the Lady

Broncos stomped White Deer on the road 63-40. They jumped out to an early lead and opened a twenty-seven-point lead at the break. White Deer could do nothing to stop them and the Lady Broncos breezed to the win.

Scoring: Gaines 17, Smith 10, DeGrate 10, White 10, Berry 5, and Brittney Braim 2.

The Lady Broncos will begin their second half of District play at home Friday, January 24, against Claude beginning at 6:00 p.m.

Broncos roll White Deer, fall to Panhandle

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos traveled to White Deer Tuesday night and earned their third district win over the Bucks by a huge 73-30. They finished the first half of District at 3-1.

The Broncos began the game in control of their opponent and remained in power throughout the game. They took an early seven-point lead after one quarter and turned it into a spread of seventeen points by the break. The Broncos were unstoppable and the Bucks were powerless to stop the Broncos' offense. Cedrick McCampbell put in twenty and JoJo Cartwright had ten to lead the Broncos on the scoreboard.

"We did a good job of passing the ball and getting good shots," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "We were also to get turnovers for easy points."

Also scoring: Chesson Sims 9, Chance McAnear 8, Bryce Hatley 8, Ashton Smith 6, Taylon Knorpp 6, and Charles Mason 6.

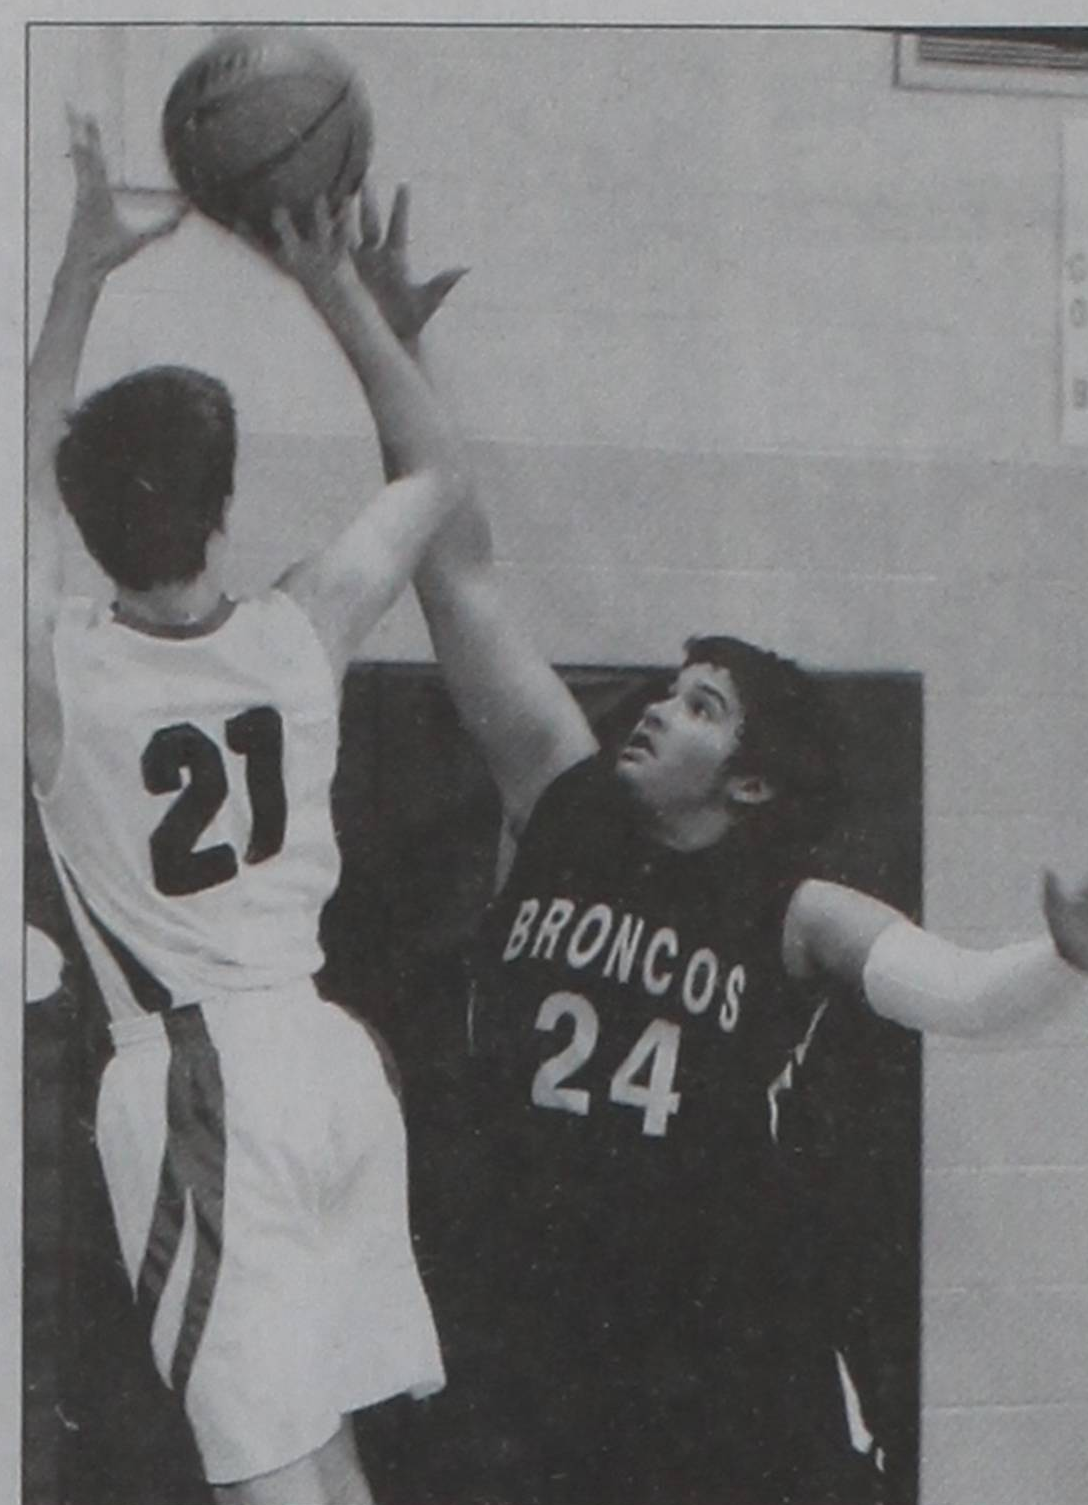

On Friday, the Broncos hosted a tough Panhandle team and after fighting hard, fell short at 48-70.

The Broncos took the tipoff and McAnear put in a huge three-pointer to get the game going. They stayed determined in the first half against Panhandle, but could never get the jump on the Panthers they needed. They had a four-point deficit after the break, but a slow-scoring third quarter cost the Broncos and they were unable to overtake their opponent.

"We played a good first half in a very physical game," Lockhart said. "In the second half we were unable to score in the third quarter and get stops in the second half."

Scoring: Mason 15, Cartwright 13, Smith 8, Hatley 5, McAnear 3, McCampbell 2, and Sims 2.

HE'S A GOOD MAN

One of the things I like most about living in Clarendon is that it is relatively a peaceful place to live. My children, as they were growing up, could walk the streets and go to the park without fear. A small population means that we all know or know of one another. That can be bad or good, I guess, but it is good in that we know if there are strangers around. It is also good in that we know our law enforcement folks by name. I've awakened in the middle of the night and stepped outside for a little fresh air and see one of the deputies or sheriff pass by. That makes me feel good that they are there.

Randy Bond is one of those deputies. I appreciate the man and his 30+ years of law enforcement experience. He put the fear of God in my daughter one night as she was at a party in which there was underage drinking going on. She wasn't drinking, but he chewed her out for even being there. I remember her waking me up at midnight with Ty Tubbs as her witness that she wasn't drinking. She woke me because she knew I would see Randy at the Outpost the next day and that Randy would tell me what happened. I appreciate that. Some would hide or cover it up; I want to know.

Randy is running for county judge and I support him because I think he has a lot to offer. I'm sure everyone that is running is a good candidate and I have nothing negative to say. We've had a good judge for so long, we take it for granted. I believe Randy can pick up right where Judge Hall left off.

These jobs are often thankless. Law enforcement or judge that is. Usually you see the judge or a deputy when you've done wrong. They then are the bad guys to some. But to those who are doing right, they are some of the best servants we have. God has said we must obey and respect them. (Romans 13:1) "Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God."

I hope that if you can, you will support Randy. One thing we need in this country now, is good men in positions of authority. It sure makes it easier to obey Romans 13 when there are.
