THIS WEEK

2 Fred takes a look at the workings of basic human intuition.

4 A new "cub" columnist delivers the latest scoop in the Enterprise.

5 CC's president is honored by his alma mater.

8 And Clarendon athletes advance in track competition.

All this and much more as The Enterprise reports in this week's amazing edition!

Mulkey Block Party to be held May 24

The second annual Mulkey Block Party will be held Memorial Day weekend on Saturday, May 24.

"Insufficient Funds" will be back on stage to entertain for the evening, and a live auction benefiting the Mulkey Theatre Project will also be held.

Booth spaces will be offered for food vendors and activities with booth fees set at $50. Booth spaces will be available to both non-profit and for-profit groups, and vendors can have their booth fee waived if they wish to donate 50 percent or more of their proceeds to the Mulkey.

A car show will be held again, but organizers anticipate greater participation this year. The show will accept automobiles from the theatre's active life, dating from 1946 to 1986.

Entertainment activities for kids are being lined up as well, and organizers plan to show cartoons inside the theatre on a temporary projector and make-shift screen.

Like last year, sponsorships from individuals and businesses will be the key to a successful event that will benefit the Mulkey project.

For more information, to rent booth space, or to sign on as a sponsor, contact Chandra Eggemeyer at the Clarendon Visitor Center at 806-874-2421.

Downtown bat tests positive for rabies

Clarendon City Hall reports that a bat captured in the 100 block of S. Kearney Street on April 15 tested positive for rabies.

If anyone sees a bat - or any other animal - exhibiting signs of rabies, contact City Hall at 874-3438 during regular business hours or the Donley County Sheriff's Office after hours at 874-3533.

City officials say this case is just another reason why all city residents should have their pets vaccinated as required by law. Dogs and cats in the city are required to have a city tag showing proof of rabies vaccination. For more information, contact City Hall.

Trash to Treasures planned for June 7

Spring cleaning is in the air, and area residents are asked to mark their calendars for the ninth annual Trash to Treasures Garage Sale Event on Saturday, June 7, 2014.

Sign-ups will begin May 1 at the ENTERPRISE. Call 874-2259 or come by for more information.

Visitation day set for future students

Clarendon Elementary will be having Future Kindergarten Visitation on Friday, May 16, from 10-11:30 a.m. Future students will visit the classroom and be served a free lunch.

If you know a child who will be five years old by September 1, call the school at 874-3855 with their name and phone number.

District convention recognizes local Lions

The Clarendon Lions Club received high honors Saturday when fellow Lions from all over the Texas Panhandle congregated here for the District 2-T1 Convention.

District Governor Ryan Hodge presented the Lions Legacy award to the Clarendon club for its dedication to Lionism, community service, and help given to put on this year's convention.

DG Hodge noted that this is only the second time that the award had been given to an entire club.

The traveling trophy is a bust of a Lion on a tall wooden pedestal and is currently on display in the office of Boss Lion Ashlee Estlack at Clarendon College.

The Boss Lion herself was also recognized with district officers for their work on the district convention, and each received a handsome Boker knife.

DG Hodge also presented the Melvin Jones Fellowship award on behalf of District 2-T1 to Lion Roger Estlack for dedicated humanitarian services. Named for the founder of Lions Clubs, the Melvin Jones Fellowship represents a $1,000 donation by District 2-T1 to the Lions Clubs International Foundation. Recipients names are on display at Lions International in Illinois.

Approximately 150 people attended the district convention here over Friday and Saturday with the single biggest activity being the District Governor's banquet Saturday night with 126 people on hand.

The convention began Friday with a golf tournament at the Clarendon Country Club followed by dinner at the Bar H Dude Ranch with music provided by Ed Montana.

Saturday's activities were held at the Clarendon College Bairfield Activity Center and included the awards breakfast, the Vice District Governor's Luncheon, a District Queen's contest with 18 area participants including Clarendon's Minnie Buckhaults, and the banquet.

Clarendon preparing to launch RN class

Clarendon College will soon be offering a Registered Nurse program after receiving the green light from state officials last week.

CC officials made that announcement during the April 14 Board of Regents meeting and said approval is pending a site visit, which has been scheduled for May 2.

With final approval, Clarendon will offer an LVN to RN transition class this summer and then offer a full RN course in the fall.

CC Vice President Ray Jaramillo also announced that the college has secured a contract to again offer classes in the prison system. College President Robert Riza told the Enterprise this week that loss of the prison education system cost CC more than 180 students in the fall of 2011.

Clarendon College Regents also approved measures and heard reports on initiatives aimed at improving student satisfaction and student success.

Dr. Roger Schustereit praised mathematics faculty members Linda Rowland and Jeremy Sain for implementing an innovative program that seeks to move developmental math students into mainline college classes while supporting them with tutorial labs.

Regents approved a proposal presented by Ashlee Estlack and Annette Ferguson to contract with RunBiz to design and deploy a new college website that will meet the needs and expectations of today's college students, who more and more are using tablets and handheld devices to access the web.

The board also voted in favor of a new agreement with DirecTV to provide television services in the res-

CC signs deal with wind farm for $800k

A wind energy company will pay Clarendon College more than $800,000 in direct payments and other contributions in lieu of property taxes.

CC Regents approved the deal with Cielo Land & Cattle, doing business as Salt Fork Wind, during their regular meeting Thursday, April 17. The proposed wind farm will be located along Interstate 40 in the northwestern corner of Donley County.

CC President Robert Riza said the company had agreed to pay $800,000 cash in equal payments over a ten-year period. In addition, Cielo will cover any legal fees associated with the agreement and provide scholarships to CC students.

"There will be some say that we left money on the table, but we thought it was a good deal," Dr. Riza said. "I look at it as the first step in economic development and getting something going in Donley County. Anytime you have growth and development, it draws other things to you."

The company has already made donations of equipment to the college's wind energy technical program, Dr. Riza said, noting that he believes Cielo is a good company to work with because of their commitment to education.

Riza said the college will not put its wind energy gains in the operating budget but will instead put it aside in reserve for special projects or special needs in the future.

Cielo inked a $1.6 million deal with the county in November. While the county's agreement is based on the energy produced after the wind farm is developed, Clarendon College's agreement will begin as soon as construction begins.

Four defendants enter pleas in district court here

The District Court heard four pleas when it met in Clarendon on April 14.

District Attorney Luke Inman prosecuted the cases for the State of Texas with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

Jimmy Deforest Boyd was convicted and sentenced to 16 months in the State Jail Division of TDCJ for the state jail felony offense of unauthorized use of a vehicle.

Boyd, 57-year-old resident of Clarendon, was arrested in Donley County for the offense that took place February 22, 2014 by Donley County Deputy Vincent "Sonny" Marasco. Boyd plead guilty to a complaint filed by the State on April 11, 2014.

Pursuant to the plea agreement,

Boyd is required to pay $488 in court costs and $519 restitution.

Matthew Tyler Hanes was placed on probation for a period of three years for the second degree felony offense of burglary of a habitation. Hanes pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Hanes, 27-year-old resident of McLean, was arrested in Donley County for the offense that took place June 17, 2013 by Marasco. Hanes was indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on November 12, 2013.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Hanes is required to pay a $1,000 fine to Donley County, $488 in court costs, and $103 restitution. If Hanes violates probation, he could face up to 20 years in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Anthony Portillo was placed on probation for a period of ten years for the first degree felony offense of possession of a controlled substance. Portillo pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Portillo, 27-year-old resident of La Puente, Calif., was arrested in Carson County for the offense that took place April 10, 2014 by Danny Dawson. Portillo plead to a complaint filed by the State on April 11, 2014.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Portillo is required to pay a $10,000 fine to Carson County, $336 in court costs, $180 restitution, and successfully complete 400 hours of community service. If Portillo violates probation, he could face up to 99 years or life in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

The State also finally forfeited Portillo's vehicle, which was a 1997 Honda Accord that was used in the offense.

Gustavo Rangel-Serna was placed on probation for a period of five years for the second degree felony offense of possession of marijuana. Rangel-Serna pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Rangel-Serna, 28-year-old resident of Phoenix, Ariz., was arrested in Carson County for the offense that took place February 28, 2014 by DPS Trooper Ben Dollar. Rangel-Serna plead to a complaint filed by the State on April 10, 2014.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Rangel-Serna is required to pay a $5,000 fine to Carson County, $336 in court costs, $180 restitution, and successfully complete 300 hours of community service.

If Rangel-Serna violates probation, he could face up to 20 years in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

The State also finally forfeited Rangel-Serna's vehicle, which was a 2009 Volkswagen Beetle that was used in the offense. This plea of guilty also subjects Rangel-Serna to deportation to his country of origin, which is Mexico.

Back when breaking news was fragile...

The lesson, hammered by countless journalism teachers for century(s), was intended to be cattle-branded into minds of aspiring writers who would go forth to inform readers about what's going on in the world. And it was emphasized that "getting it right" was preferable to "getting it first."

In recent years, of course, so many new ways to "get it first" hog the spotlight, with accuracy often languishing somewhere in the shadows.

When our teacher's voice ramped up to bold face emphasis, we knew a test-worthy admonition followed. "When a person dies, for goodness' sake, spell the name right. It may be the third and last time it will appear in print." (The other two times, for those still reading, referenced birth and marriage.)...

Her eyes would cross, were she alive today, upon learning that names may appear in print gazillions of times, if one counts social media. Never mind they often are misspelled at best, and perhaps wrong on both first and last names at worst.

She'd be dizzy, too, about news dissemination— instantaneous here, there and everywhere.

Oh, she'd adapt, just as she did during days as a society page editor for a regional West Texas newspaper. During her tenure, the newspaper started noting births—as well as marriages—of minority group members. (A few years earlier, newspapers "plowed new ground," in reporting the deaths of such folks, but that's another story.)...

Providing evidence that progress has been made in social justice, an oft-quoted comment comes to mind. I'm not sure who first said it. It's worthy of consideration by every generation.

"We ain't what we want to be. We ain't what we ought to be. But, thank God, we ain't what we used to be."

Such reminds me of college years when I edited a country weekly newspaper during summers. I was editor/reporter/folder/ad guy/driver, uh, with "certain other duties as may be assigned by the publisher." (The word "folder" meant literally folding the newspapers—all 500 of them-- and getting them to the post office on time. All this for minimum wage of a buck an hour, a figure my dad thought might have been excessive.)...
*****

With a 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline, I prayed hard that no one would die that day, at least no one prominent in the community. If one did, I was in luck—I thought—if he were out of town. At such times, photographs did not accompany obituaries.

Running "pics" was a hassle. It meant driving 10 miles to Brownwood, standing in line at the daily Bulletin's engraving machine and forking over $5—a process that blew a minimum of four hours—on "press day" yet.

But if the publisher happened to be present, he'd insist on running a photo, whether or not he had the five dollars or I could spare the four hours. I learned much from this community leader who regarded signing a check as a promise to pay, sometimes sooner, often later. Yet, he was the most generous person I've ever known, giving everyone their due....

Today, we are all in the "news business" if we choose to be. And traditional media are adapting, hopefully without forgetting the importance of "getting it right."

Should we break the news to young folk that tweets and posts have been around for close to a century? In newspapers, they are called "personals" by editors and "fillers" by ink-stained folks in the back shop—the ones minding "p's," "q's" and all the other letters.

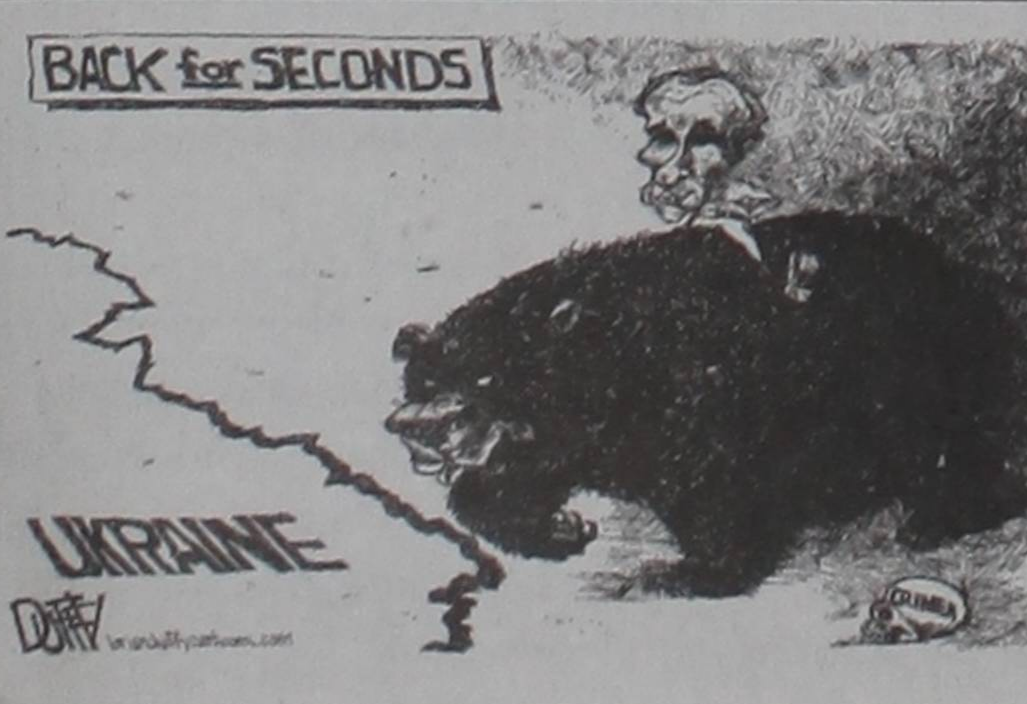

"Hard news"—then and now-- can be extremely fragile. Like all the letters, it must be handled with care, all the way to publication....

"Selfies," a word I couldn't define until recent weeks, can be beneficial. People of all generations crave significance; many think they've "arrived" when pictured with others believed to "have it made."

So, there now are lots of opportunities for people to have "brief and shining moments" to help them feel better about themselves. My small-tyke grandniece was photographed the other day with a couple of leading Duck Dynasty figures. To her, and others following their TV adventures, this was a very big deal.

Everyone matters. I'm glad late publisher Forrest Kyle taught me that a long time ago....

Don't ignore your human intuition

I recently read a book that has really distilled some ideas that I have about knowledge and the application of that knowledge in order to make my life, and the lives of those whom I love, better. The content of the book was so compelling that I feel obligated to share it with my readers in the hopes that it will make their lives better, too.

According to the late Steve Jobs, intuition is a bit of a challenge to define, in spite of the enormous role it plays in our daily lives. He went on to say it was, "more powerful than intellect." Regardless of how we put it, we still know, intuitively, just what it is.

At one time or another, everyone has experienced a gut feeling—that subconscious reasoning that drives us to do something without really knowing why. Over the eons, the essence of intuition has eluded us, and has inspired centuries of research and inquiry into the academic fields of philosophy and psychology.

Sophy Bumham, the bestselling author of The Art of Intuition recently said, "I define intuition as the subtle knowing without ever having any idea of why you know it. It's different from thinking, its different from logic or analysis...It's a knowing without knowing."

Cognitive science is beginning to demystify the strong but sometimes inexplicable presence of unconscious reasoning in our lives and thought. Often dismissed as unscientific because of its connections to the psychic and paranormal, intuition isn't just a bunch of voodoo about our "Spidey senses." The US military is even investigating the power of intuition, which has helped troops to make quick judgments during combat that ended up saving lives.

"There is a growing body of anecdotal evidence, combined with solid research efforts, that suggests intuition is a critical aspect of how we humans interact with our environment and how, ultimately, we make many of our decisions," Ivy Estabrooke, a program manager at the Office of Naval Research, told the New York Times in 2012.

People who are in touch with their intuition generally doing things differently than those who don't. They listen to their inner voice. "It's very easy to dismiss intuition," says Burnham. "But it's a great gift that needs to be noticed."

the quick, the dead, & fred
by fred gray

The number one thing that distinguishes intuitive people is that they listen to, rather than ignore the guidance of their intuitions and gut feelings.

"Everybody is connected to their intuition, but some people don't pay attention to it as intuition," Burnham says. "I have yet to meet a successful businessman that didn't say, 'I don't know why I did that, it was just a hunch.'"

In order to make our best judgments we need a balance of intuition—which serves to bridge the gap between instinct and logic—and rational thinking. However, intellectual bias against following one's instinct or intuition frequently leads to ignoring our hunches—to our own loss.

"We don't have to reject scientific logic in order to benefit from instinct," says Francis Cholle, author of The Intuitive Compass. "We can honor and call upon all of these tools, and we can seek balance. And by seeking this balance we will finally bring all of the resources of our brain into action."

Intuitive people take time for solitude. If you want to get in touch with your intuition, a little alone time may be the best way. Just solitude, alone, can enhance creative thinking; it can also deepen our connection with our inner wisdom.

Intuitive folks practice mindfulness. Contemplation and other mindfulness activities can be an exceptional way to tap into your intuition. Mindfulness can help you filter out mental chatter, weigh your options objectively, tune into your intuition and in due course make a decision that you can stand behind fully. Mindfulness can also unite you to your intuition by increasing self-knowledge. A 2013 study published in the journal Perspectives on Psychological Science showed that mindfulness—defined as "paying attention to one's current experience in a non-judgmental way"—may help us to better know our own personalities. Increased intuition, kindness, ingenuity and serenity are all wonderful side effects of meditating.

Intuitive people observe everything, missing little. They notice things first and keep a little journal to record the odd things that happen. You'll gain a better judgment for how often coincidences, surprising connections, and on-the-dot intuitions occur in your daily life—in other words, you'll start to tap into your intuition.

Intuitive people connect deeply with others. Mind reading may seem like the stuff of fantasy and pseudo-science, but it's actually something we do every day. It's called empathic accuracy, a term in psychology that refers to the "seemingly magical ability to map someone's mental terrain from their words, emotions and body language," according to Psychology Today.

Intuitive people pay attention to their dreams. Both dreams and intuition spring from the unconscious, so you can begin to tap into this part of your mind by paying attention to your dreams. If you're attuned to your dreams, you can get a lot of information about how to live your life.

Lastly, and perhaps most importantly, intuitive people enjoy plenty of down time. Few things stifle intuition as easily as constant busyness, multitasking, connectivity to digital devices and anxiety and burnout. We always get warnings from our mind and our sixth sense when they appear, but we are often too busy to notice.

If we heed our intuition, our lives may be greatly enriched and blessed.

San Jacinto: 18 minutes to victory

Each year, on March 2, Texans celebrate a uniquely Texan holiday—Texas Independence Day. It marks the signing of the Texas Declaration of Independence at the Convention of 1836 at Washington-on-the-Brazos. And while March 2 is indeed the day Texans declared their independence, it was in fact the 18-minute battle that occurred several weeks later, on April 21, that cemented that declaration and established the Republic of Texas.

This year will mark the 178th anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto, perhaps observed nowhere more closely than on the grounds of the San Jacinto Monument and San Jacinto Museum of History in La Porte, Texas. Hosted annually in late April, the San Jacinto Day Festival includes a reenactment of the battle, presented by hundreds of members of the San Jacinto Volunteers and other living history organizations from across Texas. The festival features a medicine show, archery lessons and presentations on Texas history by groups like the San Jacinto Descendants, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and Sons of the Republic of Texas. Visitors can also tour the San Jacinto Monument, the tallest monument column in the world—surpassing even the Washington monument by 15 feet.

The festival brings to life the sounds, colors and emotions of the late afternoon of April 21, 1836, when General Sam Houston's battle-weary soldiers waited, encamped in the woods at the convergence of the San Jacinto River and the Buffalo Bayou, some 1,000 yards away from the Mexican camp. General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, confident he had the Texans outnumbered and cornered, relaxed his defenses, neglected to place sentries outside the camp, and delayed his planned attack by one day. This was just the opening General Houston needed.

Major George Bernard Erath described the anticipation of the soldiers, who were anxious to avenge the fall of the Alamo and the defeat at Goliad: "We would have fought the whole world then. We had been marched from the Guadalupe in a roundabout, zigzag way through swamps and bogs; we had lived part of the time on half-spoiled beef... standing guard twenty-four hours out of forty-eight; and not allowed to go to sleep even at the guard fire. General Houston made us a speech at Harrisburg...he promised us that we should have full satisfaction for all we had gone through; and he closed his address by saying let your war cry be 'Remember the Alamo!'"

As described in The Battle of San

texas times
by sen. john cornyn

Jacinto and the San Jacinto Campaign by Louis Wiltz Kemp and Edward W. Kilman, "At the command, 'Advance' the patriots, 910 strong, moved quickly out of the woods and over the rise, deploying. Bearded and ragged from forty days in the field, they were a fierce-looking band. But their long rifles were clean and well oiled." A battle line formed from left to right beginning with General Sidney Sherman's regiment, followed by Commander Edward Burleson's regiment, the artillery under Commander George W. Hockley, the infantry under Henry Millard, and the cavalry under Colonel Mirabeau B. Lamar. Led by Sherman's men, the line advanced on and surprised the much larger Mexican army, yelling "Remember the Alamo! Remember the Goliad!"

The attack was so successful that the battle lasted only 18 minutes, and the next day Santa Anna himself was captured. By this victory, Texans won the independence they had declared less than two months earlier.

Monday, we celebrated the hard-fought victory of Texas' first generation of veterans under General Sam Houston. I am proud of our state's rich history of independence and success. And I'm reminded of the powerful words of our state song, "God bless you Texas! And keep you brave and strong, That you may grow in power and worth, Thro'out the ages long."

idence halls and also provide three channels for the college's own use.

Dr. Riza reported that the college will be moving away from having assistant coaches as dorm directors and return to having full time residence hall directors. This change will easily be paid for by improving retention rates from the fall to spring semesters by just one percent, the president said.

Dr. Riza also reported on the upcoming retirement of Dr. Paul Matney as president of Amarillo College and said that Clarendon will be signing updated memorandums of understanding with AC's Board Chairmain to secure the future of CC's cosmetology program in that city.

The board also discussed the student loan default crisis that is growing in the nation, and Dr. Riza announced that he is in talks with a default specialist company to work for the college and keep its default rate down. Clarendon College students receive about $3 million in student loans annually, he said.

Regents also voted to discontinue the college golf program, accepted the resignation of Workforce Development Coordinator Christy Brooks, and ratified the following faculty recommendations for the 2014-2015 academic year:

ONE ENERGY COMPANY
DEDICATED TO SAFETY...SMART DIGGING
MEANS CALLING 811 BEFORE EACH JOB.

Whether you are planning to do it yourself or hire a professional, property owners often make risky assumptions about whether or not they should get their utility lines marked, but every digging job requires a call—even small projects like planting trees and shrubs. Digging without calling can disrupt service to an entire neighborhood, harm you and those around you and potentially result in expensive fines and repair costs. Calling 811 before every digging job gets your underground utility lines marked for FREE and helps prevent undesired consequences.

Once you've made the smart call to 811 and waited for your underground utility lines to be marked, you are now officially ready to dig. Don't forget that with time, erosion or root structure growth may shift the locations of your utility lines, so remember to call 811 again, each and every time you are planning a digging job. Visit call811.com for more information about 811 and the call-before-you-dig process.

ONEOK, INC. ONEOK Partners, L.P.

ONEOK, Inc. (pronounced ONE-OK) (NYSE: OKE) is the general partner and as of Dec. 31, 2013, owns 41.2 percent of ONEOK Partners, L.P. (NYSE: ONS), one of the largest publicly traded master limited partnerships, which is a leader in the gathering, processing, storage and transportation of natural gas in the U.S. and owns one of the nation's premier natural gas liquids (NGL) systems, connecting NGL supply in the Midcontinent and Rocky Mountain regions with key market centers. ONEOK is a FORTUNE 500 company and is included in Standard & Poor's S&P 500 Stock Index.

In 2007, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) implemented 811 as the national three-digit number for "Call Before You Dig." With this new process in place, many One-Call Centers across the U.S. began to rebrand themselves with their state name followed by 811. This helped excavators living near state lines confirm they were talking to the One-Call Center in their state, as well as for excavators calling from out of state. Texas 811 is still staffed by the employees of Texas Excavation Safety System, and you can expect the same service you are accustomed to, simply with a new logo better suited for the future.

Glorious rain comes for Easter

What a glorious Easter we celebrated with moms, dads, grandparents, siblings, aunts, and cousins sharing prayers, food, and Easter eggs.

'wick picks
by peggy cockerham
Howardwick • 874-2886

The eggs were hidden on a hillside that is home to cattle and deer with the adults having as much fun hiding eggs as the children finding them. Everyone was in pretty bright colors, running to pick up the next egg when suddenly moms and dads are yelling and chaos is on the hillside because the not-quite-two-year-old is picking up deer poop and putting it in her basket. Well, after all, deer poop does look like black jelly beans. Another memory stored away to be pulled out and told next Easter.

One reason it was a glorious Easter was because we received some rain. Not much but it reminds us the Lord has not forgotten us and the rain showers were followed by a beautiful rainbow. Thank you, Jesus, for our blessings.

Residents of our little community continue to deal with illness and I request you put on your prayer list Anita Johnson who is hospitalized with pneumonia and Bill Purvis who is in rehab. Also include family members as they deal with travel and all the duties around the home. God bless all of you.

Almost made it

Tommy Goin recently attempted to eat the Five-Pound Hamburger at the Broken Road in Giles, Texas. He was the first challenger and ate half in 30 minutes. The Broken Road reports there have been many "talkers" but Goin was the first "walker." The first person to eat the whole thing gets it free and gets to name the burger. Golfer Tom Stauder shoots age

By Sandy Anderberg

Eighty-two-year-old golfer Tom Stauder won low gross last Wednesday in the weekly men's game at the Clarendon Country Club.

Shooting under his age by eight strokes, Stauder turned in a gross score of 74. Stauder's feat was witnessed by Gene Rogers, Norm Hagood, and Ellis Knight. Rogers won low net with a 67.

Eighteen golfers participated in the Friday night nine-hole scramble and the team of Joe Minkley, Michael Thompson, Gayle Rogers, and Gail Leathers took the top spot.

The CCC hosted a Member/

Guest Shootout on Saturday, April 19, to raise money for the equipment fund with 38 golfers making up 10 teams. A team was eliminated on each hole and after a chip-off with Jesse Lincycumb, Junior Rodriguez and Morgan Robinson. The team left standing was the four-person team of Robert Riza, Bobby Riza, Joe Minkley, and Mary Ann Sawyer. This was Sawyer's third year in a row to win first in the Shootout.

There will be a Century Tournament May 3-4. The combined age of partners must be at least 100 years. The nine-hole scrambles will be held each Friday night at 6:00 p.m.

Clarendon Elementary announces sign ups for Head Start and Pre-K

Clarendon Head Start and Pre-Kindergarten will be taking applications for the 2014-2015 school year on Tuesday, April 29 and Wednesday, April 30, 2014 from 12:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. both afternoons. You may make an appointment by calling the Elementary Office at 874-3855.

Children who will turn 4 years old on or prior to September 1, 2014 or who are 5 years old and not enrolled in Kindergarten (Pre-Kindergarten class only) and meet qualifications will be considered for the Head Start and Pre-Kindergarten classes. Head Start is a tuition free class for children who meet federal guidelines. Parents must fill out an application to see if they meet eligibility standards.

Pre-Kindergarten is a fee based class for children whose families are willing to pay the $1,600 tuition. This class is open to 4 year old and/or 5 year old students who are not enrolled in Kindergarten. The tuition fee is divided into eight $200.00 payments.

You must bring your child's birth certificate, income verification, immunization record, Social Security card. Documentation of disability (if applicable), and proof of public assistance.

Clarendon ISD Board of Trustees met

The Clarendon ISD Board of Trustees met April 10 with a full agenda of business

Trustees considered and approved a resolution allowing Salt Fork Wind (also known as Cielo) their request to extend the time period in which to take action on its application for an Appraised Value Limitation on Qualified Property for up to an additional 60 days.

The board voted to not raise the rate of the School Breakfast and Lunch Prices for the 2014-2015 school year.

A motion was approved to continue the Student Accident Insurance with Texas Kids First for the 2014-2015 school year and the Catastrophic Coverage with Zurich American Insurance Company for the 2014-2015 school year with a multi-year agreement as presented.

Trustees voted in favor of accepting a bid from Allen's Tri-State Mechanical for the $20,210.00 for the new walk in freezer in the cafeteria and a bid from Lone Star Windows & Siding for $15,335.00 to replace the windows in the Old Gym.

The board acknowledged the resignation letters from Melody Hysinger, Technology Integration, and Cheryl Koetting, Elementary Teacher, effective at the end of the 2013-2014 contract.

Riza recongnized as outstanding alumnus

Clarendon College President Robert Riza has been recognized as an outstanding alumnus by Texas A&M University-Commerce recently.

Dr. Riza was one of 21 A&M-Commerce graduates welcomed back as Alumni Ambassadors on February 27 by the university.

Each academic department selected an alumnus/alumna to represent its division as an Ambassador at the Alumni Forum. The official designation given to these individuals, "Ambassador," is the highest honor a department may bestow upon its alumni.

Dr. Riza was honored by the A&M-Commerce's Department of Educational Leadership. He began his career in 1999 at Hill College in Hillsboro, serving as Director of Student Life & Athletics and later serving as PHED Department Chair and Director of Athletics. In the fall of 2004, he assumed the position of Director of Athletics at Pima Community College in Tucson, Ariz. In 2007, he was named the Associate Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs at PCC. In the summer of 2009, he returned to Texas to become the Vice President of Student Services at Hill College, where he served until December 2013 when he was named president of Clarendon College.

Dr. Riza has served on numerous committees including Clarendon Lions Club, Hillsboro United Way, President of the Western States Football League and the Arizona Community College Athletic Conference, President of Cleburne Christian Business Club, and Chair-Elect of Cleburne Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to his graduate degrees from A&M-Commerce, he has an associates' degree from Weatherford College and vachelors' degree from Texas Wesleyan University. He is married to Cobette Lewis Riza, and they have two children - Bobby, a student at Texas Tech; and Cassidy, a senior at Joshua High School.

"We continue to be amazed by our graduates," said Derryle Peace, Director of Alumni Relations. "As these honorees come back to campus they give our students the opportunity to be inspired, impacting their lives, and encouraging them to strive for excellence in their professional and personal lives."

CHS runners move on to Regional Meet

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos and Lady Broncos made a great showing in the Area track meet in Panhandle last week with the top four in each event advancing to the Regional Meet that will be held in Levelland April 25-26.

Sarah Luttrell and Abby Johnson represented the Lady Broncos in a great way at the meet and earned the right to move on to the Regional meet. Luttrell was named a three-way Area Champion in the 100, 200, and long jump. She won the 100-meter dash at a time of 12.83 and the 200-meter champion with a time of 26.73. Luttrell jumped a distance of 16'7 1/2" in the long jump for the championship. Johnson is the 400-meter run Area champ and turned in a time of 1:01.49. Johnson also qualified in the 200-meter dash finishing second at a time of 26.78.

The Lady Bronco sprint relay finished second with a time of 52.27 and will be moving on. Running the relay was Amelia Weatherston, Taylor DeGrate, Taylor Gaines, and Luttrell. DeGrate also qualified in the 100-meter hurdles with a third-place finish at 17.57 and Gaines placed third in the long jump with a distance of 15'9 3/4". Weatherston placed seventh in the 200-meter at 30.08 and fourth in the 100-meter with a time of 13.19. She will run the 100-meter dash in Levelland. The mile relay finished sixth with a time of 4:40.46 and was run by Sarah Williams, Hannah Howard, MaRae Hall, and Johnson. Berkeley Alexander finished fifth in the shot put with a throw of 31'6", but will not advance.

The Lady Broncos finished

third as a team with 84 total points.

Broncos Charles Mason and Caleb Cobb both earned the right to move on in the long jump and 800-meter dash. Mason jumped 21'9 1/2" in the long jump for a second place finish and Cobb was third in the 800-meter dash with a time of 2:11.13. Also placing, but not qualifying were Cobb who placed eighth in the 400 with a time of 59.46 and Montana Hysinger in the shot put placing eighth with a distance of 36'7".

The Bronco team finished tenth as a team with fourteen points.

Clarendon Bronco Caleb Cobb advances on to Regionals in the 800m.

Lady Broncos come on strong in later innings

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos came up with a big win in Claude last week at 22-11. Head Coach Gary Jack knew the ladies needed to make big plays to get the win.

"This was a very close game," Jack said. "And going into the sixth inning we were tied 10-10. We came in and scored six runs in the sixth and they only scored one."

Jack knew they needed to put more runs on the board and the ladies responded by adding another six runs in the seventh inning. They were able to hold the Lady Mustangs in their at bat and earned the win they needed.

"After the second inning everybody in the line really hit the ball hard, and we were able to score every inning from there on out," Jack said. "Taylor Gaines hit a double that bounced over the fence."

Jack felt the pitchers did a good job with Briley Chadwick starting the game. Taylor DeGrate came in for a couple of innings and Brooke Martin finished the game. Haley Ferguson made some good plays from behind the plate at catcher. DeGrate caught some good fly balls at center, and Savannah Topper made some good saves at first base.

"The rest of our team played solid on defense," Jack said. "This was a huge win for our playoff chances."

On Saturday, the Lady Broncos played Gruver at home and won 15-0 in a short game.

"Brooke pitched and shut them out, with Camra (Smith) and Sterling (King) making good plays on defense," Jack said. "We hit the ball pretty well and made short work of Gruver."

The Lady Broncos finished their district season in second place all alone in the playoff race according to Jack. They will take on the winner of the Ralls and Tahoka in District 5 at a time and place to be announced. The Lady Broncos are currently 9-3 in District play, and 14-4 overall for the season.

Watson let down by putter

By Sandy Anderberg

Golfer Zach Watson competed in the Regional Golf Tournament in Lubbock last week. The two-day, thirty-six hole event netted ninety-five golfers and Watson finished in 10th place. According to coach Gary Jack, Watson hit the ball very well in less-than-desirable weather. The first day was cold and both days the wind blew 25-35 mph.

"Zach was only four shots out of going to state," Jack said. "He hit the ball really well and played well and if his putter would have cooperated he would be going to state. The putts just didn't fall for him over those two days."

Despite the weather conditions, Watson turned in two good rounds of golf in the tournament.

"He did very well, and we look forward to him making another run next year," Jack said.

Broncos' comeback falls short

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos suffered a heart-breaking loss to Gruver last week by just one run at 5-6.

According to head coach Brad Elam, the Broncos did not play up to speed against the Greyhounds.

"We didn't play very well in this game, but we gave ourselves chances to win," Elam said.

"Caleb Cobb pitched an outstanding game, but we made too many mistakes behind him. Offensively, we didn't capitalize when we had chances and struck out too many times."

The Broncos staged a comeback scoring four runs to cut the lead to one in the seventh inning, according to Elam, but it was not enough to get the win. Cobb played a big part in that comeback attempt when he hit a three-run blast in that inning.

The Broncos are finishing up their district race and will be moving into post-season play soon. They currently have a one-game lead for third place right now.

Increased Use of ADHD Drugs in Adults

A recent report by a pharmacy management organization showed that the use of attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) medications is growing rapidly in American adults. Although children still make up the majority of those who take these types of medication, the number of adults who started ADHD medications increased fifty-three percent in the five year research period. The report also shows that women between the ages of 26 to 34 make up the majority of the adults who are taking such medications.

Medicines prescribed for ADHD are broadly known as stimulants because they work by increasing chemicals in the brain that help increase focus/attention and reduce activity. Examples used for ADHD include methylphenidate (Concerta, Ritalin), dextroamphetamine (Dexedrine), dextroamphetamine amphetamine (Adderall XR), and lisdexamphetamine (Vyvanse). Antidepressants such as bupropion (Wellbutrin) may also be used to treat ADHD. Clonidine (Catapres) and guanfacine (Intuniv), commonly used to increase blood pressure, may also be used.

Peanut breakthrough involved Texas A&M AgriLife scientists

LUBBOCK— A Texas A&M AgriLife Research scientist said the recent release of the first peanut genome sequences to the public by the International Peanut Genome Initiative should have major effects on Texas peanut production for years to come.

"This release is important to both the peanut industry and consumers, because having the peanut genome sequence available will allow for faster and more accurate selection of peanuts with improved traits," said Dr. Mark Burow, AgriLife Research peanut geneticist at Lubbock. "This will help with releasing new varieties to improve grower profitability and consumer health."

According to an April 2 news release from the The Peanut Foundation and Peanut Genome Consortium chairman, the International Peanut Genome Initiative is a multinational group of crop geneticists working in cooperation for several years to successfully sequence the peanut genome that they've now released. Dr. Scott Jackson, director of the University of Georgia Institute of Plant Breeding, Genetics and Genomics, serves as chair of the initiative.

The International Peanut Genome Initiative brings together scientists from the U.S., China, Brazil, India and Israel to sequence the peanut genome, characterize variation in the DNA and traits of cultivated and wild peanuts, and develop genomic tools for peanut breeding. The initial sequencing was carried out by the Beijing Genomics Institutes, Shenzhen, China. Assembly of the genome was done at the Beijing Genomics Institute, the U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Research Service, Ames, Iowa and the University of California-Davis. Burow and his coworkers were part of that effort.

"Our contribution to the initiative has been to provide sequences of genes that are expressed in the peanut through collaboration with several institutions and individuals," he said.

The Texas A&M Peanut Breeding and Genetics Program has worked with a graduate student of Burow, Ratan Chopra, at Texas Tech University. Burow and Chopra, in collaboration with other faculty, the National Center for Genome Resources in Santa Fe, N.M. and the Agricultural Research Service at Lubbock, worked to sequence tens of thousands of genes in each of 22 peanut accessions, 10 wild and 12 cultivated, including varieties developed in Texas.

"These sequences are being used to help identify and understand the structure and function of peanut genes," he said. "These genes are only a small part of the whole genomic DNA sequence, but they make a major contribution to the traits of the peanut."

"The peanut genome sequence just released by the initiative deals with two wild peanut species, Arachis duranensis and Arachis ipaensis, which are thought to be ancestors of the cultivated peanut," Burow said. "Wild species are an important source of genes for resistance to disease, and some species even have tolerance to drought stress."

"For example, the Texas A&M AgriLife Peanut Breeding and Genetics program has released three peanut varieties resistant to root-knot nematode, a serious threat to peanut production in parts of Texas, through the introduction of resistance genes from wild species using crosses made by AgriLife scientist Dr. Charles Simpson of Stephenville," Burow said.

"DNA markers were used to select for resistance for the second and third of these varieties. Part of our peanut improvement program involves the use of markers to breed for resistance to pests and diseases, for drought tolerance and for improved oil composition, which can contribute to better consumer coronary health. Now, with the release of the genome sequences to the public, this work can be greatly accelerated." Along with Burow, the Texas A&M program includes Simpson, Michael Baring at College Station, several graduate and undergraduate students, and technical staff.

Their work was supported by funding from the Texas Peanut Producers Board, National Peanut Board, Peanut Foundation, Ogallala Aquifer Initiative and USDA Hatch formula funding.
