Commissioners get moving on 2015 business

The new Donley County Commissioners' Court opened 2015 on Monday, January 12, with Judge John Howard presiding.

Among the items on the court's agenda this week, commissioners approved Sheriff Butch Blackburn's request to install a new generator at the county jail for a cost up to $25,000. Blackburn told the court that a grant from the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission will reimburse the county for this expense.

The court reappointed members of the Donley County Historical Commission for two-year terms. Members are Chairman Jean Stavenhagen, Temi Waddell, Mary Ruth White, Wayne Tubbs, Ferrol Shelton, Virginia Patten, Jim Riley, Jim Owens, Jack Moreman, Ruth Robinson, Lori Howard, and Kathy Hommel.

No action was taken on a proposal to purchase or lease the former law offices of the late Bill Lowe, which are located across from the Courthouse on Sully Street. Judge Howard told the Enterprise that the county does not have a clear need for the space at this time nor does it have the money in the budget for such an expense.

The county will, however, be conducting an assessment of the buildings and properties it owns to determine what it has and what it needs. Howard said the assessment will also include developing a schedule of maintenance for the Courthouse and other county-owned buildings.

The court approved the contract with the appraisal district for property tax assessment and collection services and also approved bonds for newly elected officials.

Sales tax revenue increases

Local sales picked up toward the end of 2014, according to sales tax figures released by Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar last week when he distributed January allocations.

The figures representing November sales of monthly tax filers show Clarendon's sales tax revenue was up 7.23 percent at $29,638.25 compared to $27,637.84 for the same period last year.

Howardwick was also up slightly this month with an allocation of $835.01, reflecting a 2.74 increase over last year.

Hedley, however, was down 23.05 percent at $237.98.

Statewide, Hegar said state sales tax revenue was $2.35 billion, up 4.3 percent compared the same period one year ago.

"Although moderating slightly, growth in sales tax revenues continues to be seen across all economic sectors," Hegar said. "Collections from the oil and natural-gas, construction, manufacturing, and services sectors rose, while remittances due to consumer spending in the retail trade and restaurant sectors also grew."

CISD super candidates cut to three

Clarendon ISD Trustees continued meeting this week for second round interviews with finalists for the job of superintendent.

The school board was expected last week to narrow a field of six candidates down to two, but instead they passed three men on to the finalist round.

Called meetings were held on Monday and Tuesday this week with another planned for Wednesday as the Enterprise went to press. One finalist each night enjoyed a meal with board members and other select individuals prior to the meeting. Interviews were then conducted in closed session each night.

The trustees will meet in regular session the evening of January 15 where they will deliberate in closed session again before announcing the lone finalist for the job.

In other recent school business, the board met in regular session on December 11 and approved the schools fiscal year 2014 audit as presented by Glenda McCrary of Swan and McCrary, PC.

Board president Wayne Hardin presented the board member continuing education from June 1, 2014, to the present as follows: Renee Mott, 8 hours; Robin Ellis, 8 hours; Wayne Hardin, 8 hours; Wes Hatley, 3 hours; Chuck Robertson, 8 hours; Weldon Sears, 8 hours; and Jim Shelton, 8 hours.

The board then met in closed session for nearly two hours to review the contract considerations of the Administration Team and Athletic Director. When the board returned to open session, it approved extending the principal contracts of Larry Jeffers, John Taylor, and Mike Word, and the current contract of Gary Jack, Athletic Director, for one additional year.

The board then met in closed session again for about 40 minutes to evaluate outgoing superintendent Monty Hysinger. No action was taken when the board returned to open session. Hysinger begins as the superintendent at Dumas this month.

Patrick plan shows little hope for Texas

Incoming Lt. Gov Dan Patrick released his vision for Texas last week, and it appears that not much of positive significance is going to happen while he's in charge.

Patrick's plan consists of 19 points in about eight areas that are keeping Republican leader of the State Senate and his followers up at night.

Going through all 19 of these points would be tiresome, so let's look at some of the highlights.

Patrick wants to "pass a conservative budget that includes significant funding for both property tax cuts, and business tax cuts." After more than a decade of Gov. Good Hair, I don't see how the state budget can get much more "conservative," but I'm sure there's a way to do it. I'm all for keeping spending in check and taxes low, but I also liked our roadside rest areas and having the rights of way mowed more than once a year.

Patrick's vision also calls for more funding for border security, which ought to be a federal issue, but we know how well that's working. Anyway, our new leader, in his infinite wisdom, wants more money to increase DPS personnel on the border. That sounds wonderful, but let's hope that these personnel are not just more of the current trend of sending Troopers from other areas of the state to patrol the border. Donley County is losing fine money because our troopers aren't here to patrol our highways. And local accidents often can't be worked in a timely fashion now because the nearest trooper is sometimes an hour away. But throw some more money at the border and stick out your chest, Mr. Patrick. I'm sure we'll be able to take care of ourselves somehow.

Another budget goal is to provide property tax relief. Of course, the state doesn't levy a property tax; local governments do. Patrick and his allies however want to interfere with local governments' abilities to raise and collect the money they need to operate by increasing the homestead exemption and sticking their foot into the appraisal process. The fact of the matter is state politicians have already messed with local tax collections enough by creating exemptions and tax freezes for almost anyone with a sob story.

And speaking of interference from the boys and girls in Austin, Patrick has some ideas on public education. School choice and expanded "accountability" – the great platform of conservatives for decades. Realistically our school choices in Donley County will always be Clarendon or Hedley, so Patrick isn't doing anything for us there. And I think we've had quite enough "accountability" programs to last us for a while. How about we just let teachers teach, let school board set policies, and let administrators discipline and administrate?

Patrick also wants a new reading program for our children. If you like the Accelerated Reader "how many books can your kid read before he explodes" program, I'm sure you'll love what a pinhead like Patrick comes up with.

On higher education, one of Patrick's "visions" has to do with tuition. He's apparently upset that college tuition has "skyrocketed" in the last decade, but he fails to talk about how state education funding is kind of a go-to source for budget cutters. If you don't provide funding for colleges and universities, they have no choice but to make it up on tuition and fees.

I read Patrick's goals twice for transportation, and it still sounds like nonsense to me. I think he wants more money for roads basically, but I'm sure most of it will go to the I-35 corridor, so it probably doesn't matter to us out here on the frontier.

I suppose it would be too much to hope that we might tackle real issues somewhere in all that. Like how will the state deal with a growing population and a dwindling supply of water?

Or how can we reform Child Protective Services to actually protect children in light of last week's report from the Austin American-Statesman which found that CPS "did not publicly report 655 child abuse-related fatalities, even though the department confirmed that those children had been mistreated prior to their deaths?" Maybe Patrick and his friends could stop worrying about abortion for just one legislative session and take a look at what happens to kids after they are born.

Texas has real issues, but I don't think we have a real leader in Dan Patrick. I think we have a guy with an agenda.

Wash day blues on the black list

I would never knowingly trivialize, minimize or in any manner denigrate the "trying times" Thomas Paine wrote about in 1776. Americans understandably felt very much on trial.

Our nation was wobbly at best, what with King George and his fellow Brits thinking ill of us. Symbolically, they were the cat, toying with a mouse. We were the latter, militarily capable of waging much more than a wiggle. For the Mother Country, it was a matter of when – not if – we'd wiggle no more....

Were Paine alive today, he might feel the same way about trying times – not necessarily about whale-sized military issues, but many other irritants in the sea of life.

He might feel like the guy who wakes each day unafraid of being swallowed up by a whale, but feels chances are good he'll be nibbled to death by a thousand minnows before sundown. This day, I feel limp – greatly diminished by three days of "nibblings." In retrospect, civil conversations are recalled; none seemed ill-spirited.

Most folks on the other end of phone lines were workaday folks – front-line reps for larger fish named Whirlpool and Lowe's, national chains I've long respected....

Do household appliances always fail on weekends? Or in the midst of holidays? Are 11-month old Whirlpool Duet washers likely to stop at mid-cycle, locking the door in the process? Probably such a perfect storm is a rare occurrence.

When one is in that tiny percentage of unfortunate households, however, it becomes personal. I smiled knowingly, realizing that the wheels of any "repair week" don't start until Monday morning, despite our crisis on a Friday night.

Still, I was cautiously optimistic, having purchased maximum five-year warranty coverage.

Like the feeble mouse cowered earlier, I mustered enough energy to take on Lowe's – the company that trumpets eagerness to "help us build something together" – and Whirlpool, hopeful it would feel committed to "helping us repair something together." (And don't get me started on what constitutes a "timely manner." This depends greatly on whose soggy clothes are locked in a broken washing machine.)...

Now, quick gusts and "diss"-gusts: First, repeated Monday morning calls to Whirlpool (multiple prompts, re-dials, etc.)...Finally, live person promises to dispatch repair guy the very next day.... Great, but hours later, received call from local repair place saying "no way Tuesday, how about NEXT Monday?".... Not acceptable....More calls to Whirlpool....even lengthier delays, aggravated by canned message urging visits to Whirlpool OUTLET store for next appliance purchase (guess it doesn't matter this might be interpreted as attempt to undermine Lowe's Whirlpool sales)....

This time, lady moves repair date up by one business day to Friday....Still not acceptable....Wife fears soggy clothes will be smelling soon....

Time to play "I'm-a-member-of-the-press" card....Calls to Lowe's and Whirlpool corporate wheels....No help....Friday still earliest. Whimpering, I call Lowe's sales guy, who says removal of three screws will open door; he'd call back momentarily with more instructions....Never heard from him again....

One day later, Hope's soothing voice from Guinco Service in Fort Worth provides welcomed balm. When I sobbed through my story, I could imagine tears rolling down her face, never mind how many lights blink back at her, all foretelling stories that might be equally sad.

"I'm going to work you in Wednesday," she chirped. And she did. Samuel, showing up during the promised three-hour window, was courteous, knowledgeable, cordial, and....well, my wife says he's the best repair person ever....

I know. We've all been there. Things break. Holidays complicate things. Personnel are stretched. Firms can't always live up to their advertising "come-ons."

Story shortened, I did all I knew to do to get help – high places and otherwise. Some comfort in all of this is that 49 months remain on warranty coverage, and we'll request service from Guinco. There, Hope offered exactly that – "hope" – despite a schedule that called for her to work during a holiday week. And Samuel – toiling away on New Year's Eve – has a wife at home soon to deliver their third son.

So I – toyed with by big fish – am rescued by fellow minnows who understand the need for clean underwear to begin the New Year. Had we been stuck with Whirlpool's proposed repair schedule, this treatise would not have a happy ending....

Rural mail will suffer with closures

By John Edgecombe Jr., President, National Newspaper Association

A friend of mine from South Dakota noted that the U.S. Postal Service delivered a lump of coal to many small towns last Christmas when it proceeded to eliminate overnight mail in most of the nation in 2015. That was a good description. USPS will slow delivery officially by one day for First-Class and Periodicals mail. Many members of Congress have asked it to hold off. But USPS is plowing ahead.

It is time for lawmakers to consider how rural and small town mail is suffering.

The USPS plans to close more than 80 mail processing plants in 2015. Smaller plants will be consolidated into urban plants. It has already closed nearly 150 plants in the past three years and says service was not affected.

That is hard to believe, at least in small towns.

Longer road trips for most mail, traffic delays in urban areas to get sorted mail back to the local post offices, post office closings and shorter business hours have made claims of good service hard to trust. There is also the upheaval while workers lose their jobs or have to be retrained. Now, according to the nation's mail agency, cost-cutting means admitting service will be even slower, even in urban areas, by at least a day.

What the public announcements do not say is that when America's mail sneezes, rural mail gets pneumonia. Cutting a service day is a big sneeze even in the metro areas. But rural and small town mail had already contracted the illness. Many subscribers who receive newspapers by mail have been disappointed by late deliveries. The scattered reports we may hear of delayed credit card payments and business invoices would be much louder if consumers felt there was any point in complaining.

Unfortunately for many – seniors without Internet capabilities, lower income residents, rural folks without good Internet service and people who just don't trust the Internet – the mail is a necessity.

The USPS inspector general last October chastised the agency for not fully analyzing the impact from its proposed plant closings and the Postal Service said it would do so – but only after its slower service standards go into effect. In other words, it will consider whether it can reach its goals after it has lowered them.

Even before the change, it has been hard to find out how well rural mail is delivered.

The Postal Service provides a public report to its regulator, the Postal Regulatory Commission, on how well it performs against its service standards. See Periodic Reports at www.prc.gov. USPS gathers information on speed of delivery from several sources, including its own digital scanning. The greatest volume of mail is in urban areas, so national statistics may look ok. But the law doesn't require USPS to report on how the rural mail is doing. That is something Congress should consider.

For a list of cities where changes in mail processing are scheduled in 2015 go to <https://ribbs.usps.gov/index.cfm>. Then open "2015 Network Consolidations."

Take time to thank school trustees

January is School Board Recognition Month and Hedley ISD is joining other schools in the state to thank these local leaders for their dedication and willingness to serve as advocates for our children in public schools.

Board members shoulder critical responsibilities and often make difficult choices. Their ultimate goal is always focused on the future success of the children in Hedley ISD. They are elected officials and represent the voice of our community concerning this school district. Our district benefits from the tireless work and countless hours contributed by these local citizens who work without pay. These board members work with the budget, student's needs, and the needs of employees as well as many other duties that go unrecognized.

We would like to take this opportunity to recognize the board members at Hedley ISD. Board President, Dana Bell; Vice-president, Ted Wright; Secretary, Lana Ritchie; and members Aaron Harper, Holly McCleskey, and Troy Monroe.

Thanks for your service.

West Texas A&M online programs earn U.S. News & World Report recognition

CANYON – U.S. News & World Report has released its 2015 Best Online Programs, and West Texas A&M University's graduate business program and M.B.A. program – both accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business – have earned recognition in the coveted rankings.

The U.S. News & World Report announced its 2015 Best Online Programs Wednesday, Jan. 7 as a resource for students seeking information about online programs for degree completion and career advancement. Only degree-granting programs were considered for the 2015 list, and rankings were based on student engagement, faculty credentials, student services and technology and admissions selectivity. This year's rankings include a category dedicated strictly to online M.B.A. programs.

In previous years, M.B.A. programs were included in the rankings for online graduate business programs, but high enrollments prompted U.S. News and World Reports to give online M.B.A. programs its own category.

Two other WTAMU programs – Online Bachelor's Program and Online Graduate Education Program – also were recognized in the 2015 rankings.

Online Graduate Business Program: WTAMU's online graduate business program ranks 11th overall in U.S. News and World Report for 2015. A total of 118 online graduate business programs were considered for the 2015 rankings and the focus on WTAMU's graduate business program was its Master of Science in finance and economics degree. Categorical rankings show the WTAMU program ranked ninth in faculty credentials, fifth in student services and technology, fourth in student engagement and 11th in admissions selectivity.

Online Graduate M.B.A. Program: The University's online

M.B.A. program is listed at number 32 overall in the 2015 rankings. Of the 195 programs ranked, WTAMU's program is 26th in faculty credentials, 11th in student services and technology and 15th in student engagement.

"We are pleased that U.S. News & World Report continues to recognize our online graduate programs," Dr. LaVelle Mills, associate dean of graduate business programs and professor of management, said. "Receiving this recognition validates our efforts and reflects well on our faculty, staff, students and business community partners."

The application deadline for the summer 2015 graduate business programs and M.B.A. program is May 1. To learn more about the graduate business programs at West Texas A&M University, contact Dr. LaVelle Mills at lmills@wtamu.edu or 806-651-3866 or Dr. Jonathan Shaffer at jshaffer@wtamu.edu or 806-651-2489.

Farmers can update yield history through Feb. 27

WASHINGTON – The Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Val Dolcini has offered farmers new information to update program payment yields that will help them better select protections offered by the Agricultural Risk Coverage (ARC) and Price Loss Coverage (PLC) programs. The new programs, established by the 2014 Farm Bill, are cornerstones of the commodity farm safety, offering farmers protection when market forces cause substantial drops in crop prices and revenues.

"The Farm Bill provided landowners with the option of updating their farm program payment yields. This is the first time that many producers have been able to update yields since 1986," said Dolcini. "We've worked with the Risk Management Agency to make available certified yield data that producers can use to better calculate how the new safety net programs can offer the best protection against market swings."

Producers can check with their local FSA county office to see if data is available for them. This data belongs to the producer and only the producer associated with the crop insurance records will be provided this service. Updating yield history or reallocating base acres can occur until Feb. 27, 2015.

FSA also issued a reminder that from Nov. 17, 2014, to March 31, 2015, producers will make a one-time election of either ARC or PLC for the 2014 through 2018 crop years. For more information, producers are encouraged to make an appointment to go into their local FSA county office.

To find a local FSA county office, visit www.offices.usda.gov. Additional information on the new programs is available at www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc.

Several scams active in the Panhandle area

Hi, gang! There are several scams running in the Panhandle area. One is that you receive a call from the IRS and are told that you owe a large amount of back taxes. You are instructed to send a check, money order, debit card to a certain address. If you receive this call report it to the IRS. Also remember the Donley County Sheriff's Office is not going to call asking you for money.

Below is information received from Amarillo Police Department about recovering a $46,000 dollar check. We have warned about the lottery scam before however this is a very good reminder.

On Monday, January 5, at approximately 1:00 p.m., APD Detectives received information regarding a scam. A family member from New York called saying that her mother in Florida had sent a $46,000 check to an individual in Amarillo thinking they had won a sweepstakes. The check was supposedly sent to cover the taxes on the sweepstakes winnings.

Detectives had obtained a name and address of the person in Amarillo and went to the residence in an attempt to intercept the check before it was cashed. Upon arriving at the residence, detectives located the individual the check was mailed to. They were allowed inside the residence and while speaking to the individual it was determined that this person was also a victim of a scam, in which he reportedly won a lottery. He was advised that with his winnings, he would start receiving checks from individuals throughout the country and he was supposed to cash the checks and keep a small portion of the check and forwards the remaining balance of the money on to another individual. The gentleman in Amarillo had reportedly lost about $10,000 of his money that he has sent to cover taxes in his lottery winnings. He did admit to officers that he had received a few checks in the past and did as he was instructed. He also told officers that he did have a $46,000 check from a person in Florida and that he was supposed to cash it and forward it to another individual. Detectives did recover the bob's whittlin'

by bob watson

$46,000 check before it was cashed. After explaining the criminal nature of the transactions to the gentleman, he agreed he would no longer accept, cash or forward any other checks. On the following day this same man came to the PD to turn in $5,700 in cash that he received from another individual. The woman in Florida is extremely fortunate that detectives were able to intercept her check before it was cashed; sadly many others are not as lucky. Scams like these are running rampant though out the country. NO ONE should ever pay money in advance for "winning" some prize.

These scams are extremely difficult to solve. With existing technologies, thieves can program their phone to show a different name and phone number, it could be local number or even a government agency. Just because the caller ID says IRS, or your local bank, do not blindly believe it.

Ask the person on the phone for their name, employer and a phone number to them call back. Then hang up and locate the phone number for the business or government agency in the phone book and call that number to see if that individual actually works for them.

Also don't be afraid to ask friends or family members what they think before sending money. Sometimes having someone else's thoughts can prevent additional scam victims. Also please remember to check with "older" friends and neighbors to make sure they are not victims.

Be safe out there!

Howardwick says goodbye to city leader

The year 2015 is not beginning on a happy note for our little community with the passing of another leader - Nancy Davis.

Charles and Nancy Davis moved to Howardwick part time while their boys were young, enjoying the lake, trails for off-road vehicles, and the golf course. With Charles' retirement from the Pampa fire department, they moved here full time and soon became enmeshed in community service. Nancy was elected as City Alderman, served as Mayor-Pro-Tem then elected Mayor. She was an artist and a visionary. She was the inspiration behind the Nativity scene that stood in our park at Christmas time for many years.

I watched as she looked at a sheet of plywood and with a piece of chalk free handed drew that perfect cow, sheep or camel that was needed to complete the scene. Her touch is evident everywhere; the bridge crossing Carroll Creek, park benches purchased with grant money, and many other projects that are taken for granted but increased the desirability of living in Howardwick.

Even though she battled cancer for a number of years the telephone was close by and everyone in the community kept her informed of activities. She loved discussing politics and was thrilled when an alderman or mayor stopped by to talk about a point of law. Needless to say, she will be missed.

Another reason for an unhappy note: my Dallas Cowboys lost to Green Bay. Well, a silly cockamamie rule contributed to the loss, and that is what hurt. It seems as though a receiver like Dez Bryant cannot bobble a catch like he did, but a runner like DeMarco Murray can. In other words, if the player had been Demarco they would have gotten the first down and the ball would have been on the two inch line with a good chance for a touchdown and the win. I have to say they had other chances, but I am very proud of the way they played this year, and I am still a fan. After all, there is always next year.

Please stay warm, check the propane level, and don't run out.

Keeping tabs on Mulkey project

This Tuesday, my Dad took me to the visitor center in the Mulkey downtown not far from the railroad track. And Leo is working on the Mulkey and the visitor center right now. And he is the one who put in the bathrooms and the lobby last year.

He is putting in a place where they can hang up artists' pictures in the visitor center with new lights. In a few days or weeks, he will tear down part of the wall to go into the Mulkey so we can get to a new bathroom which will also be for handicapped people.

I think the Mulkey will be a good success when it is done, and I think it will be awesome. Leo says someday it will look new but 1940s new.

Our program this week was provided by Flat Stanley, who arrived in an envelope this week at Clarendon College direct from San Antonio. Stanley is a representative of kindergarten student Esmerelda Valdes and is making the rounds this week with college administrators. The club was gracious enough to pose for a picture with Stanley.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

Drugs in the News

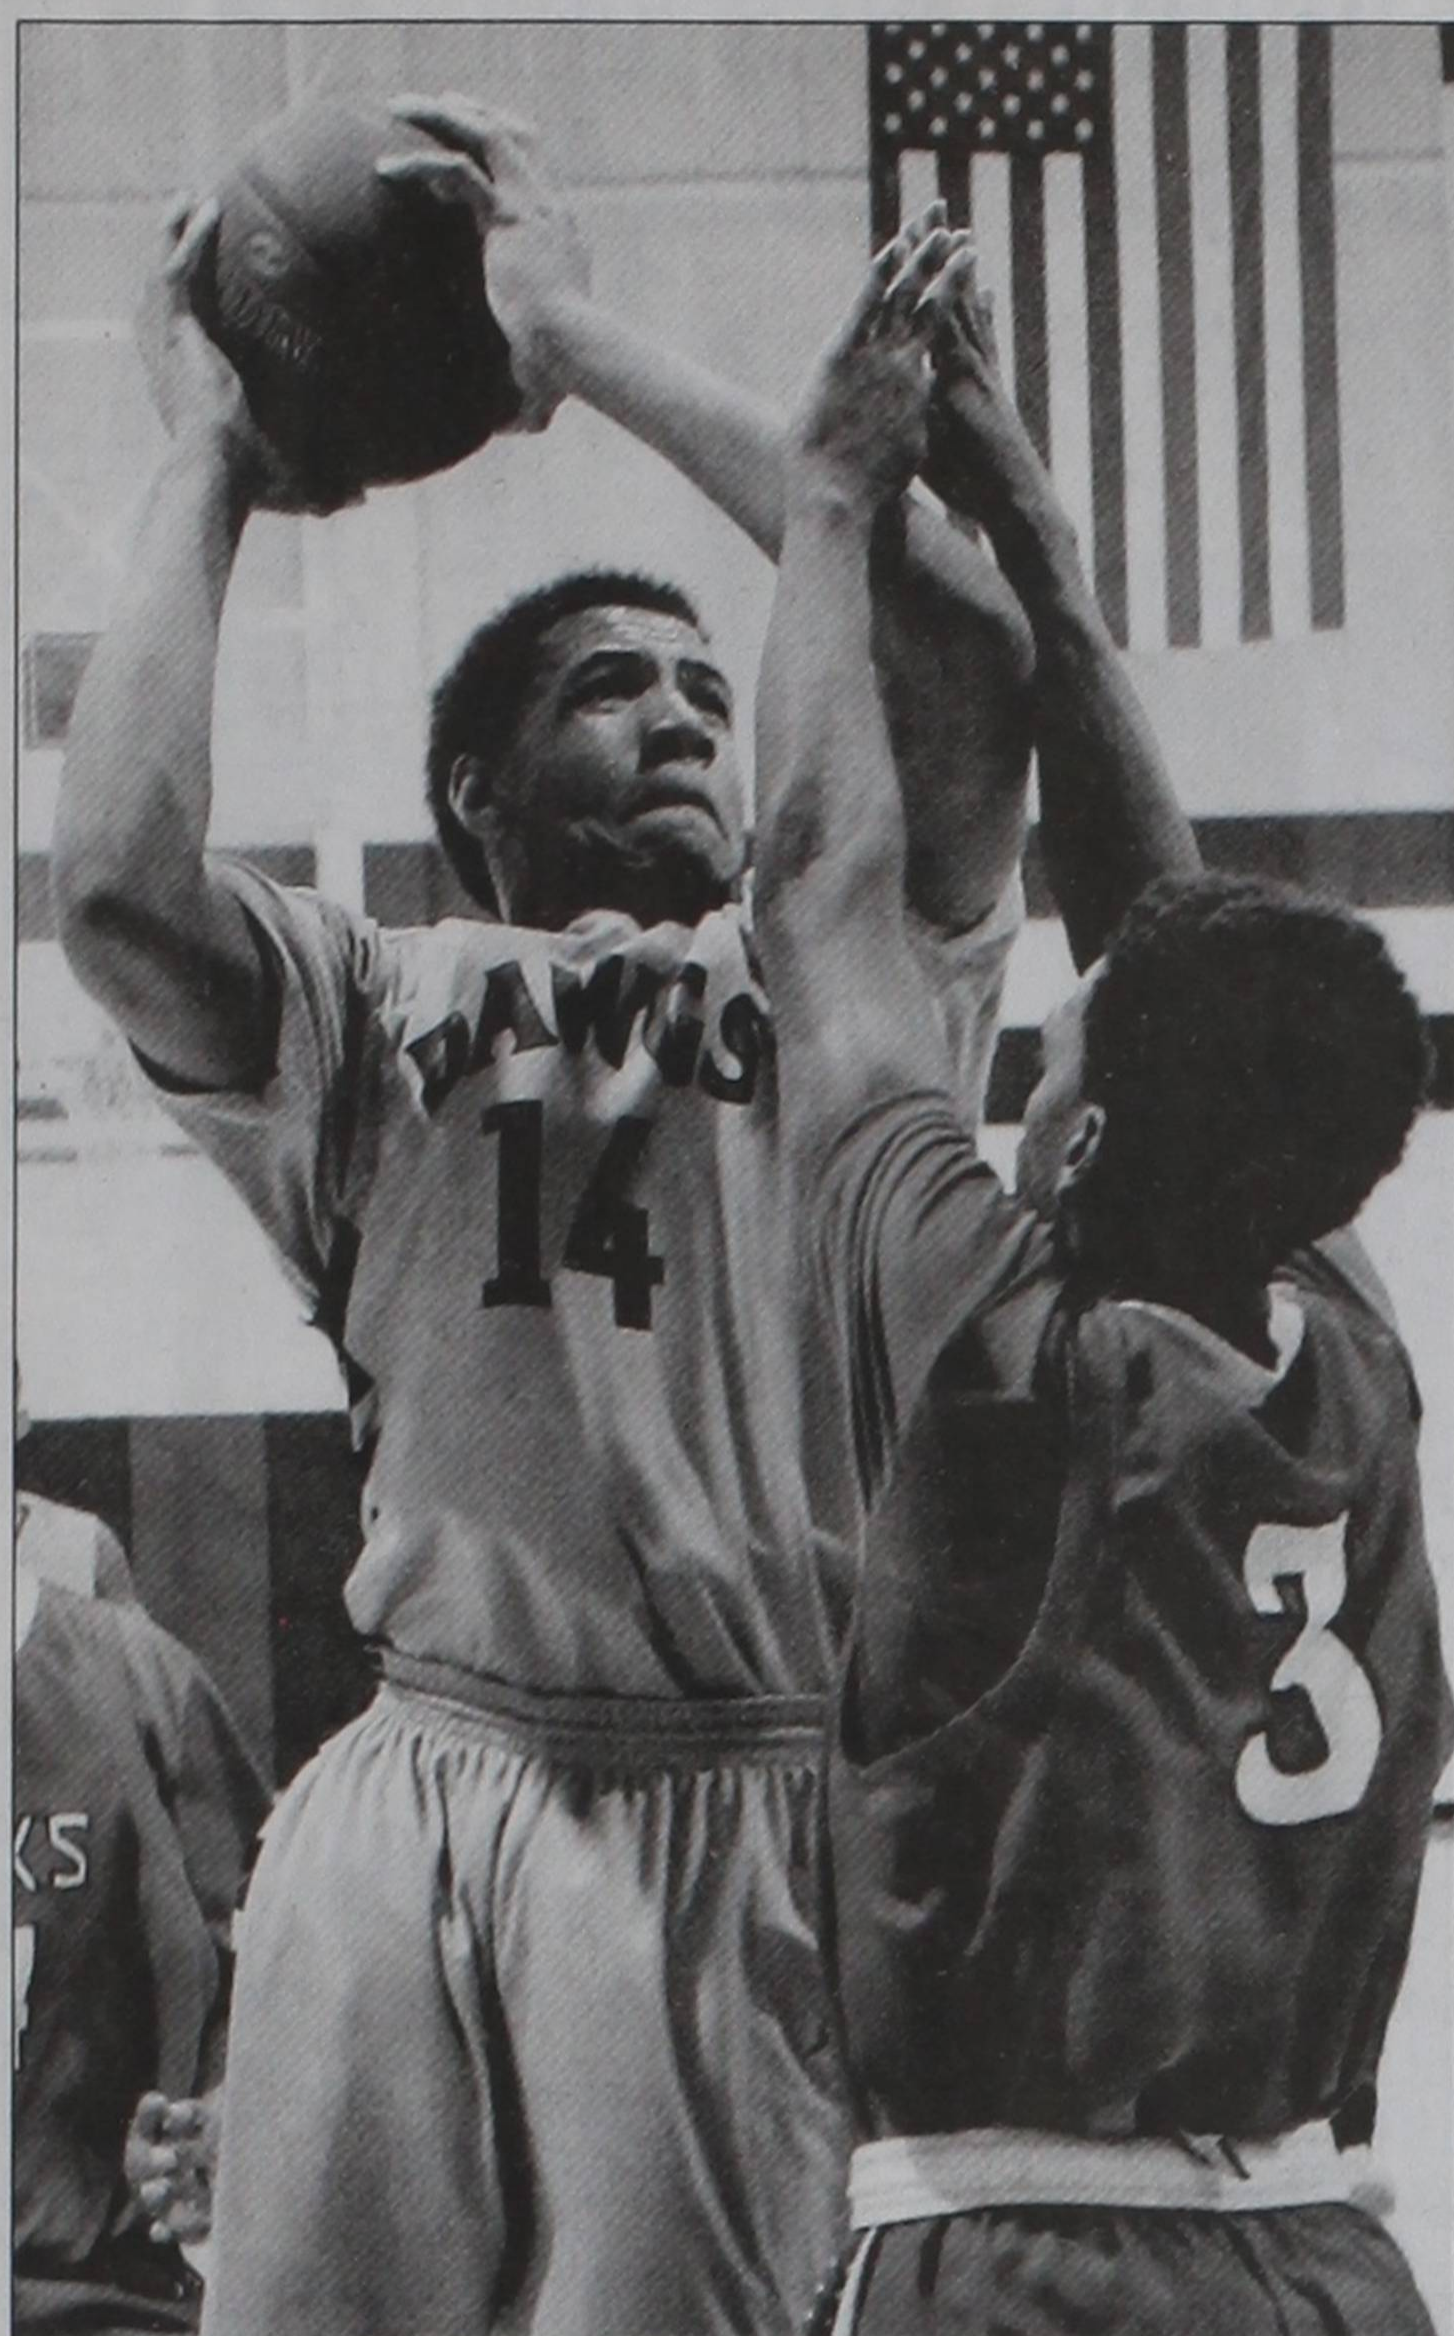

These Bone Drugs Reduce Cancer Risk

The medical journal Cancer recently published the results of a study that showed the risk of endometrial cancer may be reduced in women who take certain bone medications. Bone medications that belong to the bisphosphonate class that contain nitrogen in the chemical compound may help reduce the risk of certain cancers; some researchers believe that nitrogen can help the body fight cancer. The recent study compared the medical records of over thirty thousand women. It assessed the risk of cancer in women who were taking a bisphosphonate and those who were not. Although more research needs to be conducted before placing every woman on a bisphosphonate, those types of bone medications may be a consideration in certain women who are already at a high risk of endometrial cancer. Endometrial cancer is a cancer of a layer in the uterus.

Bisphosphonates include drugs such as ibandronate (Boniva), risendronate (Actonel), and zolendronic acid (Zometa). They help make the bone stronger by blocking the actions of cells that destroy bone tissue.

A Dream, A Movement, An Inspiration to the World

Martin Luther King, Jr.'s dream of equal rights for all Americans inspired millions to challenge racism and change the fabric of a nation. A leader of the American civil rights movement, Dr. King encouraged progress through non-violent resistance to unjust laws. He created a campaign of dignity and discipline that spoke to people of all ages across America and around the world. His words and actions sparked a progression toward racial equality that truly let freedom ring for all Americans.

Today, Dr. King's dream continues to inspire positive change, the powerful legacy of a man committed to making our world a better place, with liberty and justice for all.

Lady Broncos earn win in district opener

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos opened their District season with a confidence-building win at home Friday night against the Quannah Lady Indians. The 53-31 win put the ladies at 1-0 in District play.

The Lady Broncos were on fire in the first half of play as they were consistent on the offensive side of the court. They were able to knock down several three-point shots and did a good job of driving to the basket. They held a 24-point lead at the break and were able to build on that in the second half. The ladies made 11 of 19 from the bonus line.

"It was a good night of basketball," head coach Kalen Grahn said. "Our defensive rebounding was the receipt for success. We were able to control the boards, which in return helped us get out and create some easy scoring opportunities. The girls played well on defense, which produced a good win."

Allyson Grahn and Taylor DeGrate took over the scoring for the ladies and put in 21 and 20 respectively. Grahn was five of seven from the free throw line and DeGrate was four of six. Carlee Johnson dropped two three-pointers and finished with six points. Jensen Hatley put in two free throws, and Skyler White and Hannah Hommel helped with two as well.

Earlier in the week, the Lady Broncos faced off against a good White Deer team and were defeated, 47-58.

The two teams were fairly even in the opening half of play and the Lady Broncos only trailed by three at the break. The Lady Broncos Does dropped everything they shot and the Lady Broncos struggled to come up with anything big in the second half of play.

DeGrate made good on 17 points and Grahn added 11. Taylor Gaines had five, Johnson and Hannah Howard put in four each. White, Hommel, and Briley Chadwick each helped with two.

The Lady Broncos will continue their District schedule at home on Friday, January 16, against Memphis at 6:30 p.m. They will play Shamrock here on January 20.

Broncos slam White Deer

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Bronco varsity basketball team made short work of the White Deer Bucks at home last Tuesday night defeating them, 82-32.

The Broncos totally dominated the Bucks from start to finish leading by 28 points at the break. The Broncos stood strong defensively and converted several turnovers into points. The Bucks struggled on both ends of the court and were helpless against a stronger Bronco team.

"We did a good job of passing the ball up the court," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "We were able to get turnovers and turn them into points."

Five players finished in double figures. Seniors Cedrick McCampbell put in 17 and 15 points respectively, Junior Cenicerros had 14, Chance Lockhart helped with 13, and Bryce Grahn added 10. Riley Shadle had six, Colt Wood put in four, and Chesson Sims had three.

Cenicerros topped the field with eight rebounds; Wood and Grahn each had five. McCampbell had five assists, Grahn and Lockhart had four. McCampbell also grabbed five steals and Shadle had four.

The Broncos will begin District play on Friday, January 16, at home against Memphis beginning at 8:00 p.m. and host Shamrock on Tuesday, January 20.

Lady Bronco JV pulls out one-point win with solid play

The Lady Bronco junior varsity remained composed and focused in their 28-27 win over a good White Deer team at home Tuesday night.

The ladies began the game trailing the Does, but the game was never out of reach for them. They stayed solid on both ends of the court and finished the first half trailing by only two points. The second half belonged to the Lady Broncos as they denied White Deer the lead several times.

"The girls showed a lot of determination," coach Kasey Bell said. "They stayed focused and determined. I was proud of the way they kept their composure, handled the pressure, and got the win."

Sterling King exploded offensively and racked up 17 points. Sarah Williams and MaRae Hall contributed four each, and Shaelyn Owiti put in three.

On Friday, the Lady Broncos defeated Quannah 22-13 at home. They turned in a good performance on both ends of the court as they stopped Quannah with everything they tried. The ladies were able to handle everything the Lady Indians tried.

"The ladies played another good game," Bell said. "Everyone had a hand in the win and several of the players scored. It was a good team win for us."

Briley Chadwick put in eight and King added six. Owiti had three, and Amelia Weatheron and Williams put in two each, and Karlee Adams added one free throw.

The Lady Broncos will play Memphis at home January 16 at 4:00 p.m. and take on Shamrock at home on January 20.

Clarendon academic teams compete

The 2015 Clarendon High School UIL academic teams are off and competing, and several students won medals at the West Texas Invitational Academic Meet Saturday.

Caleb Cobb placed first in both Ready Writing and Current Issues & Events, and the CI & E team of Caleb Cobb, Joshua Cobb, and Andy Davis placed third.

Chesson Sims won gold medals for overall Science score and Chemistry. The Science team of Sims, Cedrick McCampbell, Hannah Howard, Riley Shadle, Steven Johnson, and Aubryanna Powell placed first. McCampbell won the silver medal for overall performance and was 2nd in Biology, and Hannah Howard placed 4th high as an individual.

Other students who placed included Abby Johnson (4th in Spelling), Kendra Davis (6th in Literary Criticism), and Cire Jauregui (5th in Mathematics).

The meet was a large one with twelve schools competing, including Canadian, Sanford-Fritch, Dumas, Dalhart, Perryton, Borger, and Gruver.

Sponsors are excited about the results and begin preparation for the next invitational meet February 14 in Canadian.

Bronco JV posts two more wins

The Bronco junior varsity slammed White Deer at home last Tuesday night at 43-17. White Deer was not able to get anything going against the Broncos and were frustrated early in the game.

The Broncos stormed the court on both the offensive and defensive side and held a 26-point lead at the break. Everything the Broncos did worked and were able to cause turnovers by the White Deer team. Keandre Cortez finished the game with 11 points, Damarjae helped with nine, and Steven Johnson and Kenrick Addington put in seven each. Taylon Knorpp had five, and Payton Havens and Eastin Goodpasture each added two.

The week before, the Broncos crushed Fritch at home 65-29. Three Broncos finished in double figures with Marshal Johnson leading the pack with 20. The Broncos took command of the game early and denied their opponent of getting anything going.

Keandre Cortez had 14 and D. Cortez put in 10. Addington had eight, Clay Koetting put in seven, and Johnson and Havens each had three.

The Broncos will take on Memphis at home January 16 and host Shamrock on the 20th.

Powerlifters back in action

By Sandy Anderberg

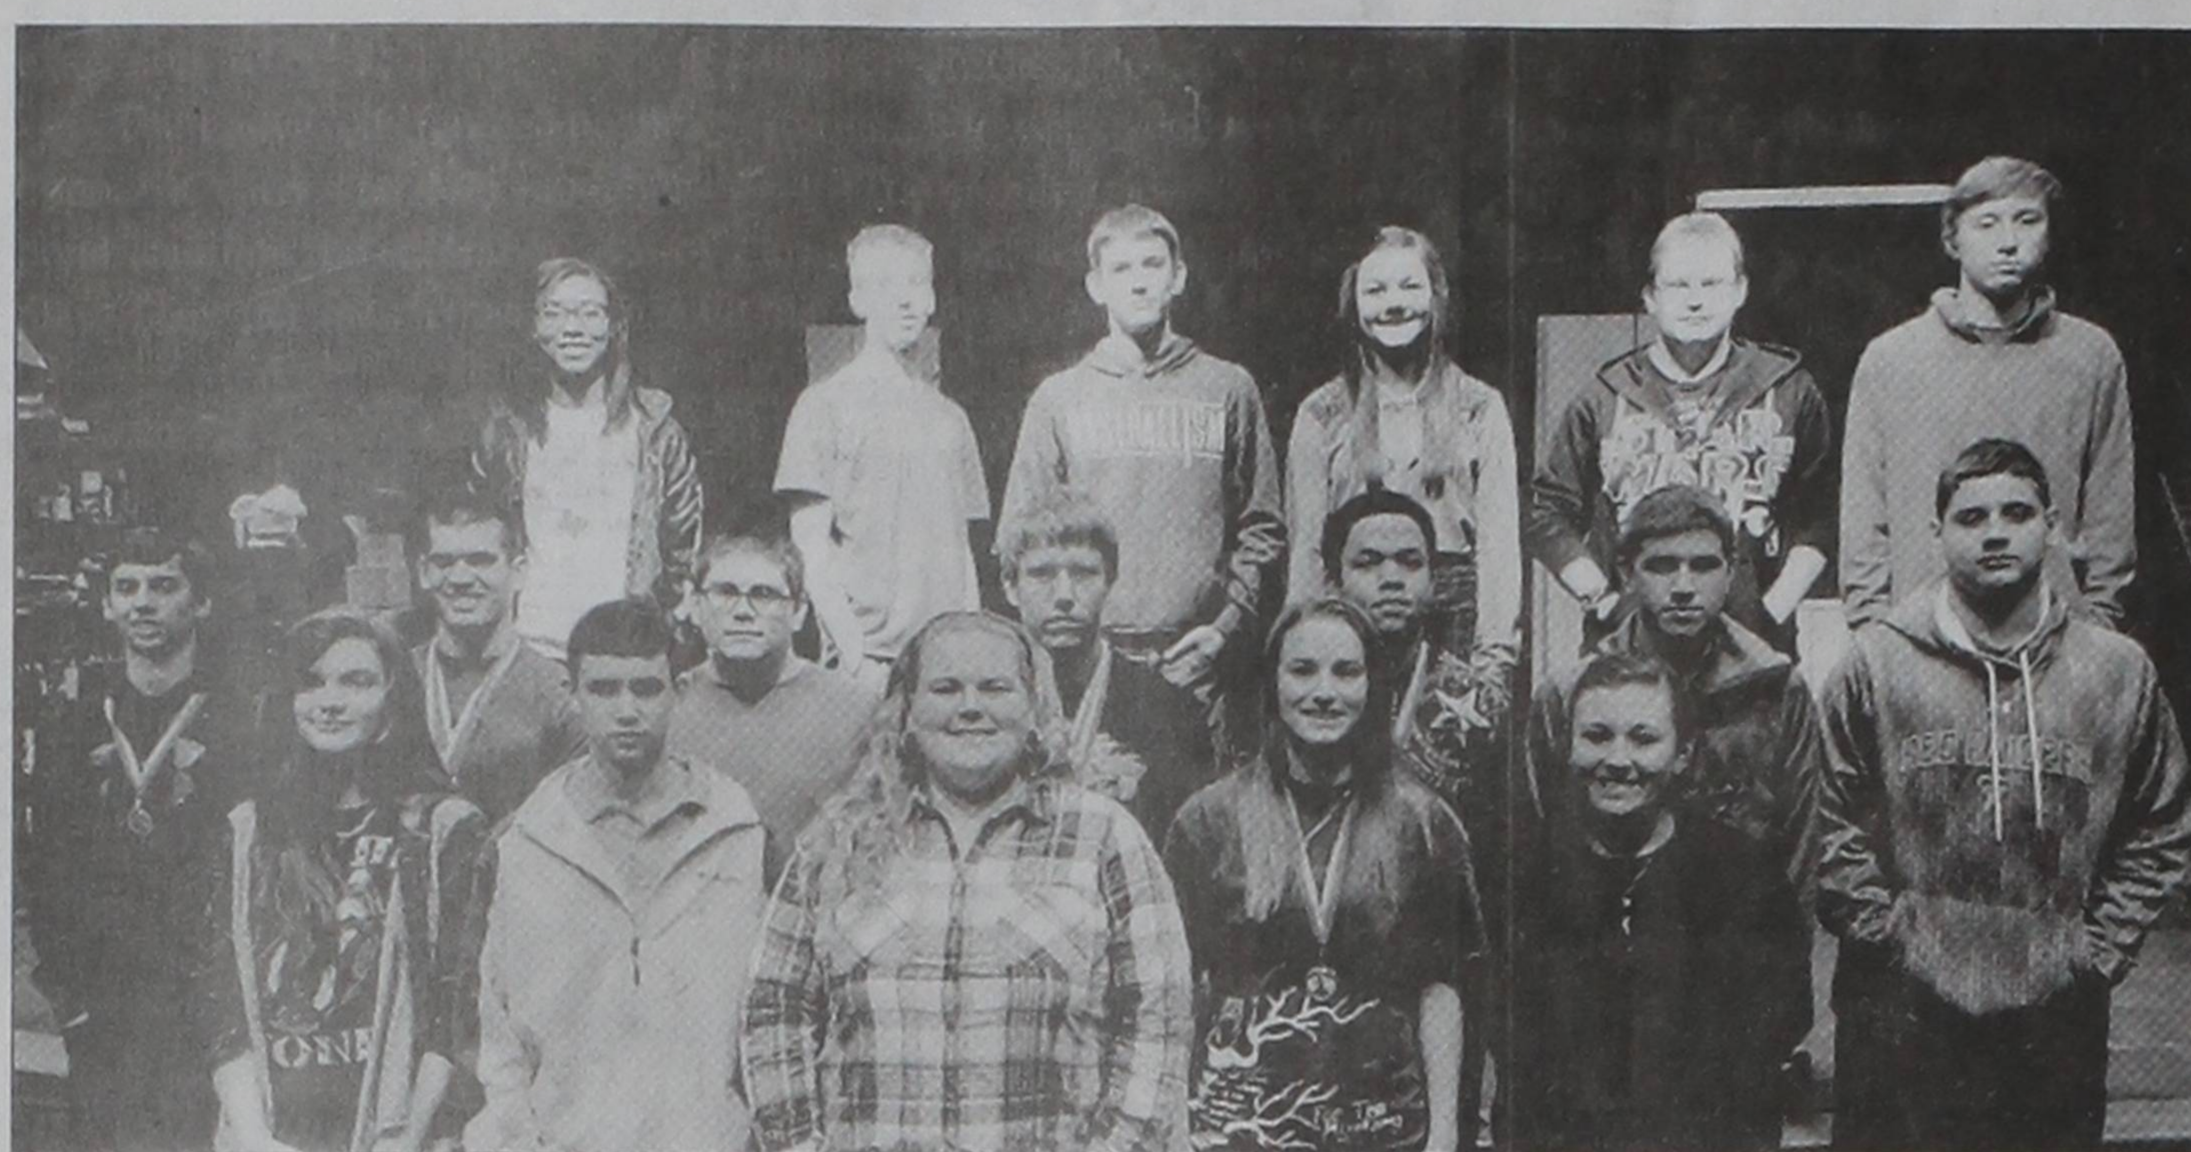

Chelsea Morris went right back to work this season after a great season last year in powerlifting. She competed in the Bovina powerlifting meet in the 198-pound class and won first in her weight class with a total lift of 625 pounds.

According to coach Johnny Nino, it all came down to the last lift.

"Chelsea won her division by five pounds and it came down to the final lift," Nino said. "In the dead lift, Chelsea had to get her lift at 275 pounds or she probably doesn't place in the top three. She competed very well on that last lift."

Nathan Shadle was in the 114-pound class and placed seventh with a total lift of 500 pounds. Nick Shadle was in the 165-pound class and lifted 655 pounds for 14th. Jack Moore had a lift total of 730 pounds and placed 15th in the 275-pound class. Justin Christopher was in the 198-pound class and finished with a total of 660 pounds for 13th place. Joseph Jaramillo also competed in the 148-pound class, and Emily Thompson had a lift total of 420 pounds finishing 15th.

"I am very proud of all the lifters," Nino said. "They competed very well for the first meet. This is the earliest we have been to a meet. Our next meet will be on January 31 at Highland Park. We now know what we have to work on to get better for the next meet."

Seventh grade Colts defeat Quanah

The seventh grade Colts put their hard work to the test Monday night and defeated Quanah 18-13 in their home gym. After a very low scoring first quarter, the Colts turned up the heat in the second period to take a commanding eight-point lead at the break.

The Colts played a solid third quarter, but allowed Quanah to get back in the game somewhat in the last minutes of the game. The Indians outscored the Colts in the fourth quarter, but their lead turned out to be enough and they got the win.

"I was extremely excited at how the seventh grade played!" coach Brad Elam said. "The kids got after it and played hard. I had told them after Quanah beat us last game that we would beat them at home and the kids did. They have been working really hard and it showed. Jamal Butler had an outstanding game scoring 16 of the 18 points."

Butler led the Colts with 16 points, and Clay Ward finished with two.

The eighth grade Colts continued their winning way blasting Quanah 46-23. Several Colts contributed on the scoreboard and the team worked together to get the win.

The Colts played their opponent fairly even in the opening quarter, but began to click offensively in the next six minutes. The Colts were able to execute their offense to score 13 points while staying solid on the defensive end to hold the Indians scoreless. Clarendon continued their dominance in the second half to get the big win.

"The eighth grade started off slow but were able to pick it up as the game moved on. At times, we worked hard and made plays. Isaac Dunham had 10 rebounds, Bear Smith added seven blocked shots, and Preston Elam had 10 steals and seven assists."

Dunham led the Colts with 10 and Smith put in nine. Brothers Preston and Noab Elam each had seven, Cole Franks made good on five, Caton Grahm had four, and Ryan McCleskey and Ryan Ward added two each.

The Colts will be on the road January 19 in Memphis and play Shamrock at home January 26.

Seventh grade Lady Colts handle Quanah Lady Indians

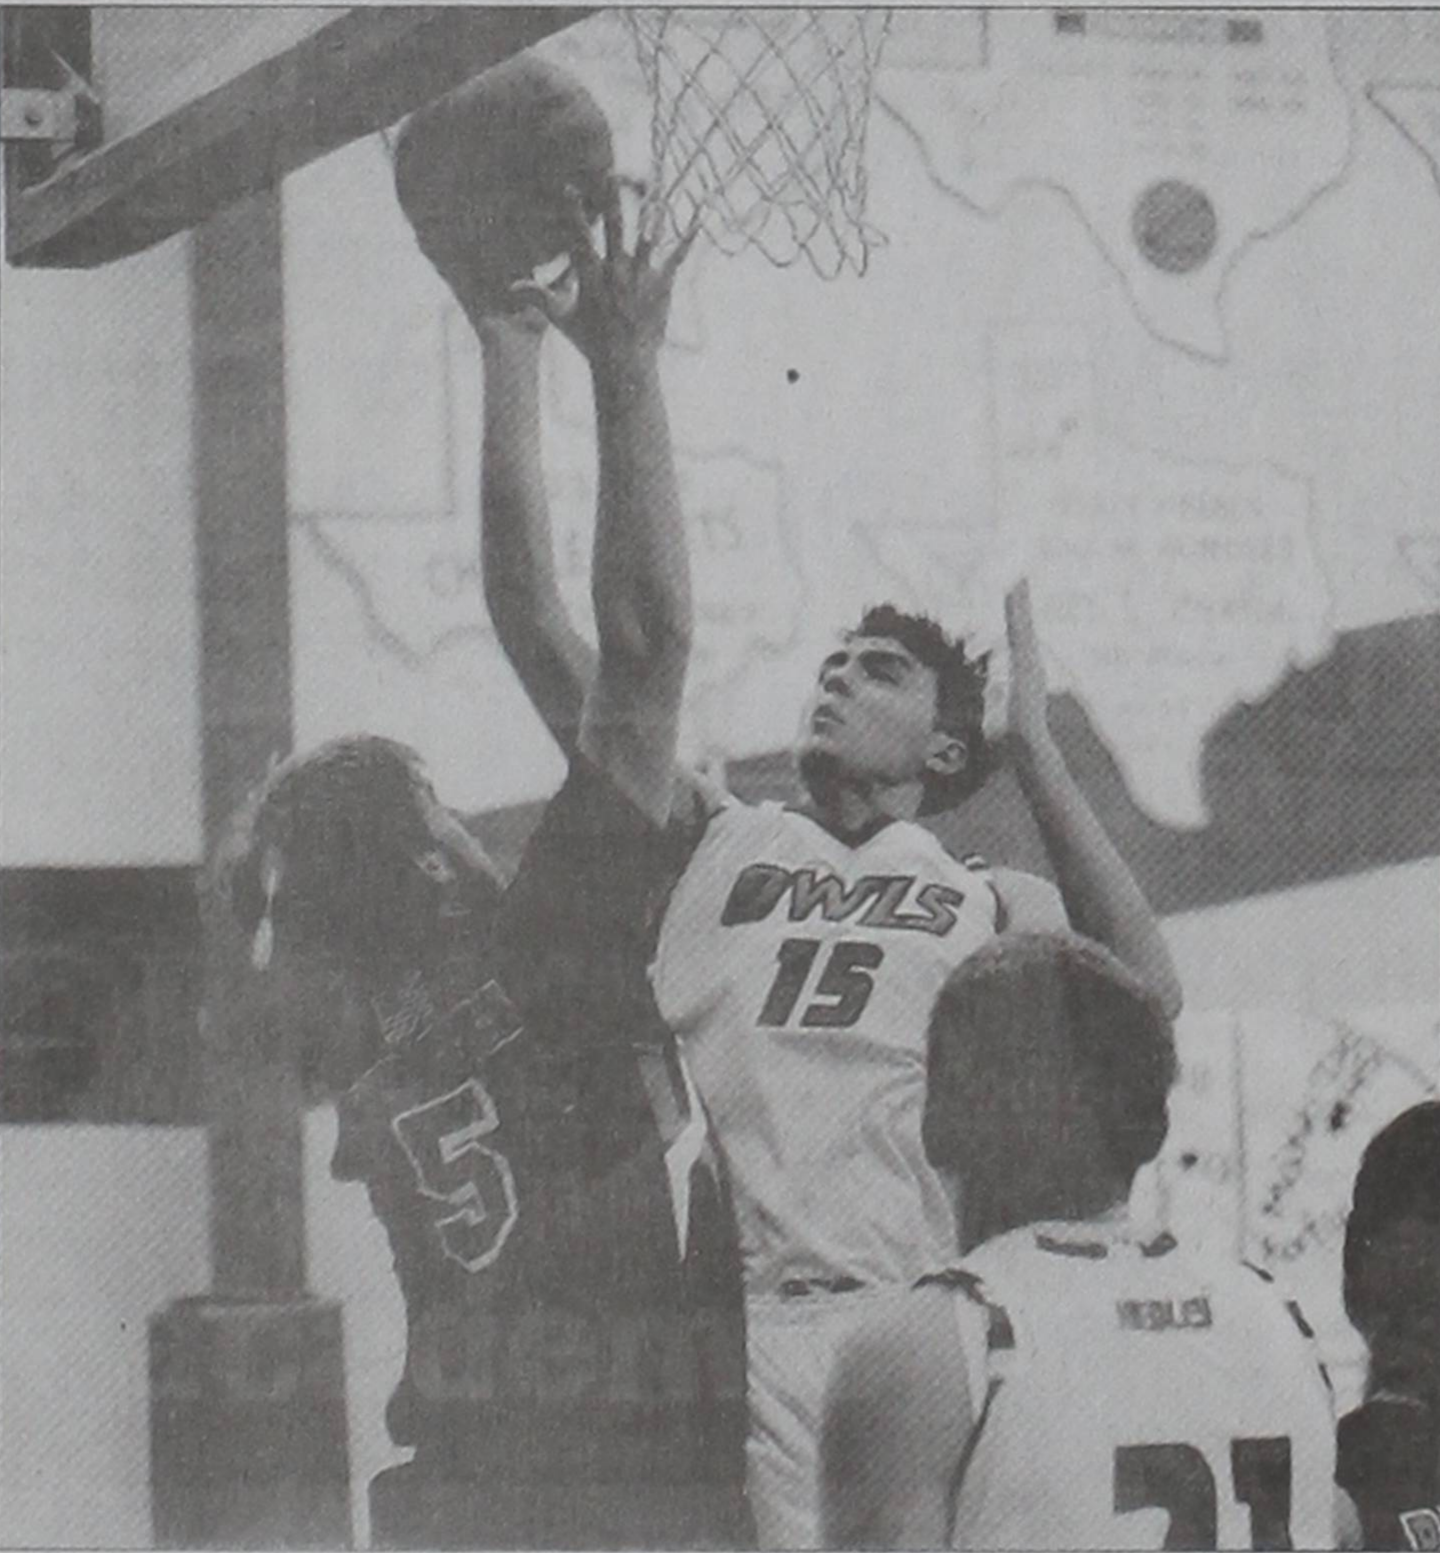

The seventh grade Lady Colts controlled the tempo of the game against the Quanah Lady Indians Monday night to come home with a big 24-14 win. As they wind down their season, the ladies are continuing to improve and stay solid in their execution.

The Lady Colts jumped on their opponent early and took an eight-point lead into the second quarter of play. They put their consistency on display in the next three quarters as they stayed strong on both ends of the court. The Lady Indians were helpless to respond to their quickness.

"The seventh graders played great defense and passed the ball well on offense," coach Sandi Johnson said. "It was a good win for us."

The eighth grade score was not available, but according to Johnson, the girls played hard.

Lane Cabler brings the heat against Lefors in Hedley's district opener. Hedley won, 59-38.

Madison Shelp looks for an opening to shoot in Hedley's district opener against Lefors. The Lady Owls won 70-7.

USDA funds to support new farmers available

WASHINGTON – US Department of Agriculture Deputy Secretary Krysta Harden today announced the availability of more than $18 million in funding to help educate, mentor and enhance the sustainability of the next generation of farmers. This support is available through the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program (BFRDP), administered by USDA's National Institute for Food and Agriculture (NIFA). Winning awards from last year's application cycle will be announced in the near future.

"The Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program is critical for cultivating the next generation of farmers and ranchers, who will be integral to sustaining America's agricultural future," said Harden. "Leading community and service organizations are on the front lines when it comes to identifying and training new farmers and ranchers. Strong partnerships with these groups are the key to our success."

The Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program awards grants to organizations implementing programs to train beginning farmers and ranchers, including workshops, educational teams, training, and technical assistance throughout the United States.

Fiscal Year 2015 applications for BFRDP are due March 13, 2015. Eligible applicants are collaborative, state, tribal, local, or regionally-based network or partnership of public or private entities, including state cooperative extension service; community-based and nongovernmental organization; colleges or universities (including institutions awarding associate degrees); or any other appropriate organization providing services to beginning farmers and ranchers.

At least five percent of the funds must go to projects that serve military veteran beginning farmers and ranchers, and at least five percent to projects that serve socially-disadvantaged, limited-resource, or farmworker audiences. All applicants are required to provide funds or in-kind support from non-federal sources in an amount that is at least equal to 25 percent of the federal funds requested.

Priority topics are:
Basic livestock, forest management, and crop farming practices; Innovative farm, ranch, and private, nonindustrial forest land transfer strategies; Entrepreneurship and business training; Financial and risk management training (including the acquisition and management of agricultural credit); Natural resource management and planning; Diversification and marketing strategies; Curriculum development; Mentoring, apprenticeships, and internships; Resources and referral; Farm financial benchmarking; Assisting beginning farmers or ranchers in acquiring land from retiring farmers and ranchers; Agricultural rehabilitation and vocational training for veterans; Farm safety and awareness; and Other similar subject areas of use to beginning farmers or ranchers.

NIFA will host a webinar for interested applicants on Wednesday, February 11, 2015, from 2:00-4:00 p.m. EST. No password or advance reservation is required. A recording will be posted on the NIFA website shortly after the event.

From 2009-2012, 145 awards have been made for more than $71 million through the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program.

Additional information about USDA support for new farmers and ranchers is available at www.usda.gov/newfarmers.
