Rev. Walter Bartholf of the First Christian Church announces a Fellowship Dinner to be held at the Church, Sunday, July 27, following morning services.

In the afternoon, a planning session for next year's programs will be held.

In recent action by local law enforcement officers, several arrests have been made, with drunk charges leading the list of offenses committed.

The Bailey County Sheriff's office has listed one drunk, one simple assault and two vagrancy charges.

Muleshoe City Police officers charged four with drunk and disturbance, one with drunk and contributing to the delinquency of a minor and one for no driver's license.

Texas Highway patrolmen jailed three for drunk, one for minor consumption and one for violation of driver's license restriction.

Overnight visitors in the home of Mrs. Mary Finley Friday night were her granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Boutz of Dallas. The couple were enroute to Albuquerque to visit Mrs. Boutz' parents, the Cecil Spences.

Mrs. Ada M. Morgan of Austin has been visiting in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weyer, since July 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Gardner and children, Mike and Patricia visited Sunday in the home of Gardner's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. They were enroute home to Dallas from Red River, N.M.

Gardner is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Gardner and grew up in Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Waggoner visited last week in Tulsa with their daughter and family, the R.L. Clarks, Mrs. Clark is the former Ida Pearl Clark.

Adios, amigo! Muleshoe's recent mystery boy did not even stop to say those two traditional Spanish words of goodbye when he left town.

Last seen in West Plains Memorial Hospital Sunday night, the youth disappeared sometime between 11:30 p.m. Sunday night and 5:40 a.m. Monday, when his disappearance was discovered.

On two occasions when nurses looked in his door during the night, he had carefully arranged pillows in his bed to resemble a covered, sleeping human. As his illness had lessened to a certain extent, the nurses apparently felt he did not need as close a check as would be normal for someone in the hospital. It is thought that he possibly left the hospital during the rush emergency around 2 a.m. when a fatal heart attack victim was brought to the hospital.

Local officers were waiting for Border Patrol officers to come to Muleshoe on Monday to pick up the youth for possible deportation to Old Mexico. Border Patrol officers had questioned the boy at the hospital on Friday night, and were certain that he was in the county.

Water Program Scheduled At YL Church

Lloyd Throckmorton of the YL community, has announced a vital water meeting will be held at the YL Methodist Church tonight (Thursday).

Dean Rhea of Water, Inc. in Lubbock will be at the 9 p.m. meeting to show a film on water and explain the vital necessity of obtaining water for the High Plains area, said Throckmorton.

Rhea will also be available to answer questions following the film. Throckmorton said the meeting is for the general public and urges all persons to attend the meeting as water is urgent for this area for everyone.

Two Persons Hospitalized From Accident

Two persons, a daughter from Lubbock, were hospitalized at West Plains Memorial Hospital following an automobile accident Sunday night. They were released Monday night.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. on one and three-tenths miles east of Muleshoe on Highway 84 when a 1955 Oldsmobile driven by Gene Robert Carter, also of Lubbock, struck the rear of a stock trailer being pulled by Wanda Peveler and Judy Peveler, both of Lubbock.

The Peveler vehicle had pulled off the highway onto the shoulder of the highway to change drivers when the accident occurred. Dr. Jerry Gleason was summoned to the scene to treat two horses, a AAA mare belonging to J.L. Rhodes of Odessa and a horse belonging to the Pevelers. Dr. Gleason kept the horses overnight for treatment and observation.

Neither Carter, nor his son, who was a passenger in the Carter vehicle, were injured.

Anywhere... "The Good And The Bad"

"Anywhere you go, you find the good and the bad. I find a lot of friends here, especially in West Texas," said Ahmed Omar, 22, a native of Tripoli, Libya.

"I think of these people as my family here," he said, in speaking of the Henry Malone family with whom he visits often.

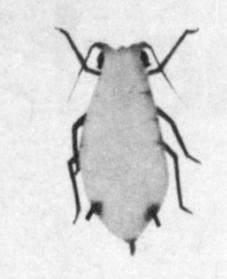

Ahmed, a petroleum engineering major currently enrolled at Texas Tech, is in United States on a scholarship from an oil company he worked for in the summer of 1966.

He first attended a six months school at the University of Texas in Jan., 1967 to "learn the language" and orient himself to American customs. After this he enrolled at Odessa Junior College and it was here he met "Hank" and Donna Malone, daughter and son of the Henry Malones. He was invited often to their home and the friendship has developed now into such a close relationship that he now calls and asks to be invited.

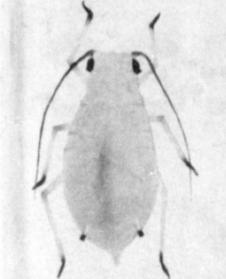

Ahmed plans to transfer at the fall term to LSU at Baton Rouge, La. because more petroleum engineering is offered there, particularly for a master's degree.

The tall, personable young man plans to return to his homeland when his education is completed and was reluctant to discuss the politics of the Arabians. Libya, one of the fourteen Arabian countries, is an

Farm Safety Week Still in Progress

President Nixon, in signing a proclamation designating July 20-26 as Farm Safety Week, noted that although American agriculture has made great strides in production it nevertheless remains the nation's third most hazardous industry.

Nixon stated that "the strong hands, and management skills of our farm people have dramatically increased farm production," and observed that "American agriculture has advanced more in the past 50 years than in all prior history."

"A third as many farmers," Nixon noted, "are feeding twice as many Americans today as in 1920."

"In addition, America is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products, and our abundance is a powerful force for world peace."

Area Attorney To Explain Lending Law

M.D. Gunstream, president of the First National Bank, invites all businessmen and interested people to attend a meeting which will be held Thursday (today) at 7:30 p.m. at the bank.

The meeting will be a complete, detailed explanation of the Truth-in-Lending Law which went into effect on July 1.

Gunstream said the meeting will be conducted by Elmer East, a Lubbock attorney and banker, who has studied the new law in depth and is fully qualified to explain the law and what it will mean to the businessman who either extends credit or uses credit.

He has been holding meetings at the bank for those businessmen who need to know more about the law, but in view of the seriousness of the law, he has secured the out-of-town attorney to go into the law in detail.

One Conviction In Recent Court Action

Recent action in county court had one conviction and two dismissals.

Maurillo Valero Jr. was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and fined $500 and sentenced to two years in Bailey County jail.

Two cases were dismissed. One case was for transporting liquor for sale and the other for bootlegging.

County Attorney Roger Gorrill said that for the past two years, worthless check charges have been declining. He indicated that this shows a trend in that money is getting tighter.

Spraying Services Kept Busy

Greenbugs have been reported heavily infesting young grain sorghum in all directions from Muleshoe. Last year, the buildup damaged thousands of acres of grain sorghum before farmers had time to realize the seriousness of the infestation.

Morgan Locker of Muleshoe Flying Service said, "greenbugs are definitely on the increase. Not only in the immediate area but a great increase has been noted during the past two weeks all over the South Plains."

"The greenbugs are not as bad yet as last year," he continued, "but from all indications they will be if something is not done, and soon."

Locker said that in many fields the bottom leaves are already turning brown as greenbugs are gathering in thick clusters on the underside of the leaves. He continued that the greenbugs are moving on up the leaves to the heads and multiplying as they move.

He emphasized that although the buildup has been tremendous during the past two or two and a half weeks, that at the present time, it is not big enough to be considered the epidemic stages of greenbug infestations.

"However," said Locker, "all farmers should be concerned and should be closely checking their fields. Presently, the bugs are nearing the stage they were in last year when some farmers lost up to 3000 pounds of grain per acre."

"No telling how many millions of dollars were lost from greenbugs in the crop last year," Morgan said.

He reported a lighter infestation in dryland grain, and commented that the heavier buildup seems to be in irrigated fields.

Another word of caution issued by Locker is the fact that everytime they go into a field and spray, that it is impossible to get a 100 percent kill of the bugs. He said it will continue

Bill Leigh

Sales Expert To Speak Here

Bill Leigh, well-known lecturer and author, will be the speaker Friday, July 25, when salespeople and businessmen of Muleshoe meet to hear him conduct a capsule course in selling.

The dinner meeting, to be held at the Corral Restaurant at 8 p.m. is part of a program sponsored by the Muleshoe Publishing Co. to help in promoting Muleshoe as the trade center of this area.

Muleshoe's progressive merchants and courteous salespeople are undertaking the program to better relations within the business community and within the trade territory.

The campaign is a new approach to improving the image of Muleshoe as a friendly, progressive community with emphasis on its complete shopping facilities.

Leigh has a background of many years experience in sales and sales training programs, working as well in advertising and community promotions.

For the past 15 years he has been an advertising consultant and designer and director of sales promotion programs. He has now held retail sales promotions in more than 2,000 communities and he has been highly acclaimed for his interesting and informative lectures.

Texas Water Plan First 'Major' Plan

AUSTIN -- The Texas Water Plan is the first major water plan in the United States where substantial provision is made for maintaining the ecological balance, declared a 45-year old veteran of water engineering in Texas.

S.W. Freese of Freese, Nichols and Endress, Fort Worth based consulting engineering firm, said the plan is essential to the welfare of the state and added "the framework of the plan is sound."

"The passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on August 5 is a first step toward carrying out the plan," he said. The noted water engineer and his associate R.S. Gooch in a prepared statement dealt specifically with comments made by University of Texas Professor Daniel E. Willard criticizing the plan. The biology professor's main field of research is in the metabolic processes in cold-blooded animals, according to his own testimony before a state agency recently.

Professor Willard reasons that providing more water will cause a substantial growth in population and he does not consider this a worthwhile objective of the plan.

Freese said the growth in population will take place with or without the water plan. "All that the Texas Water Plan does is to help insure that the water will be provided in a timely, economical and equitable manner," he added.

"The Texas Water plan deals specifically with the maintenance of desirable salinity gradients in Galveston Bay," said Freese. About 1.5 million acre-feet of additional fresh water will be provided the bay annually from the Texas Water System. "The plan attempts to maintain and enhance the ecological balance and appears to be an improvement over continuation of the past un-planned policy in this respect," he added.

Freese said one of the main purposes of the Texas Water Plan is to maintain the High Plains irrigation economy by use of imported water. Professor Willard contends the moving of more water in this region would simply aggravate

The Agriculture Appropriations Bill, together with the suspenseful controversy over a possible limitation of 1970 farm payments to producers of cotton, feed grains and wheat, is, in a word, nowhere at the moment.

Its next scheduled stop is the Senate-House Conference Committee where differences in the two versions are supposed to be worked out before the bill is again presented to both houses.

But as of Friday, July 11, neither house has appointed its Conference Committee members, and no one seems to know when they will be appointed.

Moreover, it's almost a cinch the work of the conferees, whatever they do, will be strongly questioned in at least one and possibly in both houses.

The House in May adopted an amendment to the Appropriations Bill stipulating that the funds could not be used for payments in excess of $20,000 to any one producer under 1970 cotton, feed grains and wheat programs.

At the time some observers voiced the opinion that if the Senate turned thumbs down on a payment limit the House-Senate Conference Committee would accept the Senate version and the issue would be closed.

But such does not now appear to be the case. The Senate did, in fact, vote against payment limitations July 7. And it is still thought that the Conference Committee sooner or later will turn out a bill without a limitation of payments. But if this happens, Congressmen Conte (R-Mass.) and Findley (R-Ill.), the amendment's original sponsors in the House, are bound and determined to see the bill sent back to conference committee with House conferees instructed to reinstate limitations.

House leaders at the moment think it's nip and tuck as to whether or not a motion to recommit would be successful.

There is also another factor that may cause trouble. The House voted $340 million for the food stamp program. The Senate upped that amount to $750 million, despite the fact that the Food Stamp Bill passed by the House in 1968 specified a maximum expenditure of $350 million.

Consequently, if the House-Senate conferees go along with the higher figure set by the Senate, someone in the House is sure to yell "point of order" and say the House would be violating its own rules by legislating on an appropriations bill if it accepted a food stamp appropriation above the $350 million statutory maximum.

On the other hand, if the conferees cut the food stamp appropriation back to the House figure, the Senate is sure to kick up dust.

The final outcome is anybody's guess. But it's certain the Agriculture Appropriations Bill is not yet out of the woods. Nor is the issue of a payment limitation on farm programs for 1970.

The advancement of $45,000 by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. to Texas Tech in 1959 for the construction of 4,000 feet of floor space to be used for a "Pilot Spinning Plant" has blossomed over the years into a full-scale Textile Research Center with 45,500 square feet of floor space, worth $2.5 million.

The Center, which began with the bare capability of small-scale yarn spinning operations, now has the capacity to carry any raw fiber through the complete spinning, weaving, finishing and dyeing processes on a scale closely simulating conditions in a commercial mill. Its research and product development studies are carried out mainly in cotton and the other natural fibers of wool and mohair, including blends of the three.

Where its original research projects were almost exclusively those supported by Plains Cotton Growers, the Center now draws research funds from USDA, the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, Cotton Producers Institute and others in addition to the work it does for PCG.

Planning for months has been underway for an Open House and International Textile Research Symposium on the college campus October 30 and 31 of this year. Invitations are being mailed to some 5,800 people in the textile industry of 38 countries around the world.

The Symposium is being developed around the theme of "Marketing through Research," and it has been said that the Textile Research Center will become a "window to the quality of fibers produced in Texas." Expected at the Symposium are fiber processors, apparel makers and other textile manufacturers, all of whom will be made aware of this area's quality fibers and textile industry potential.

A committee of some 50 people, mostly West Texas agriculturalists and agribusinessmen, has been selected to assist with planning for the October affair, and this committee will be given a preliminary "walk through" tour of the Center's facilities on July 17 following its first meeting. Also on hand for the July 17 meeting will be Texas Representative Bill Heatley, Chairman of the State Appropriations Committee; John White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture; members of the farm press and various other dignitaries.

Texas, and especially West Texas, is fortunate that agricultural, business and educational leaders a decade ago had the vision and the faith in the area to make a start toward the magnificent textile research facility located on the Tech campus today. Its contribution to the economy of this area and the State will far, far exceed its cost.

"If there had been an easy way out (of the Veitman War) the previous administration would have found it."

Auto Insurance Rate Increase Hits Teenagers

COLLEGE STATION.-- Parents of teen-age drivers, especially boys, should be prepared to pay up to triple their regular rates for auto insurance. The cost of an under 20-year-old boy who is the principle driver of a second or third car in the family runs about three times the adult rate, even though the car is registered in the parent's name, according to an Extension home management specialist.

The rate is about double the adult cost if he merely drives the family car "with permission," Linda Jacobsen adds.

Records show that youthful drivers are more careful of the family car than their own, and during this period they can build up a good record which will be an advantage with later rates.

Girls aren't quite as expensive; a policy covering a 17-year-old girl as principle driver costs about 50 percent more than the standard adult rate, going down to 10 percent excess at age 20. But surveys indicate that girls are getting more careless at the wheel, the Texas A&M University specialist says.

For boys, penalty premiums start to drop at age 20, decreasing annually to 10 percent at age 29. Miss Jacobsen adds that teenagers who have taken an accredited driver education course save about 10 percent.

Governor Smith named six legislators to attend the Southern Regional Educational Board's legislative advisory council meeting in Hot Springs, Arkansas. Senators named were Bill Moore of Bryan, Jim Bates of Edinburg and Jack Hightower of Vernon. Representatives were Hillary B. Doran of Del Rio, Don Cavness of Austin and Frank Calhoun of Abilene.

Ralph Rettig of El Paso was named by the Texas Water Development Board to fill a vacancy on the Board's weather modification advisory committee. He replaces the late C.E. Ray of El Paso.

try illegally. He was tentatively identified as Leobaldo Martinez Carillo by the border patrolmen who questioned him. First clue to his identity came Friday afternoon when officers contacted a Lubbock woman who came to Muleshoe. She said the youth was one she had formerly worked with at the El Dorado Restaurant in Lubbock. The Lubbock woman, Mrs. Doris Sparkman, said the youth was from Old Mexico and that he had been returning to Old Mexico every four months to renew his visa. She said he had apparently gone to renew his visa sometime in May, but did not return to Lubbock. Mrs. Sparkman said she did not remember the youth's name, but verified that she had worked with him. The mystery for Bailey County officers began last Wednesday morning when City Police Officer Forist Williams stopped the vehicle the youth was driving after watching him driving and acting in a suspicious manner. When the boy told him he had no driver's license or papers for the out-of-country vehicle he was driving, Williams filed no driver's license and investigation charges against him and jailed the youth at the county jail. At the time, he gave the name of Robert Martinez, his age as 18 and his address on Big Spring Street in Brownfield. Checking with Brownfield, officers found that there is no such street as Big Spring Street in Brownfield. He had given his birthdate as January 18, 1951 in Monahans. The Monahans County Clerk's office showed no birth on that date in 1951. When Deputy Sheriff Ken Petree went to the jail to feed Wednesday morning, he found the boy unconscious in a pool of blood. All efforts to revive the youth failed, so Singleton Ambulance took him to the hospital. He was treated Wednesday and released to officers again early Thursday morning. When the deputy started up the stairs with him, the boy collapsed in Petree's arms, unconscious. The ambulance was called again and he was again hospitalized for treatment. Dr. B.O. McDaniel said the youth was suffering from malnutrition possibly compounded by another ailment. When he left the hospital, he left without his billfold at the county sheriff's office and the 1960 Chevrolet he was driving when he was arrested by city officer Williams. The vehicle is still impounded at Dallas Kinard's Car Lot. Sheriff Dee Clements expressed the thought of all those who have worked diligently on the case attempting to identify the mysterious youth when he said, "I would like to find him as I am afraid he would have another of the bleeding spells out in a pasture and we couldn't find him in time to save his life."

the ecological imbalance that exists. Professor Willard also charged the system of reservoirs in East Texas would cause atmospheric imbalance and actually result in West Texas getting less rain than now is received. "I am not a weather expert, but it is likely that the evaporation from planned reservoirs in East Texas would be about the same as present transpiration from the moist, lush forests in the reservoir sites," said Freese. Gooch contended in his statement that the crux of the argument over the water plan is whether it is better to have a plan for the future or to operate without any plan whatsoever. "The choice is not between having the Water Plan or turning the Panhandle back to grass and buffalo," he said. "It is one of trying to be prepared for future events on a statewide basis versus confronting the same future requirements piecemeal," he added. "It won't make life in Texas better to deliberately fail to provide the water needed to sustain our economy," Gooch concluded.

Governors Want Water

Three former governors--John Connally, Allan Shivers and Price Daniel--have been named by Gov. Preston Smith to head a campaign for adoption of the $3.5 billion bond authorization for the Texas Water Plan. This proposal will be the second constitutional amendment on the ballot Aug. 5. Acceptance of this responsibility by these leaders so familiar with Texas' needs is evidence of the urgency of this proposal. These former chief executives grasp the broad needs of Texas from Texarkana to El Paso, from Brownsville to Daltart. It is significant, though, that none comes from West Texas, where the water need is most acute. Shivers is from Woodville and Daniel from Liberty, deep in the Piney Woods. Floresville in South Texas is Connally's ranch home, while he now lives in Houston. This geographical fact suggests the need of all sections of the state for water in the future and indicates the benefits that all Texans will enjoy. From July 11, 1949, when Allan Shivers became governor of Texas upon the death of Beauford H. Jester, until Jan. 20, 1969, when Gov. Connally retired from the office, the men heading this committee directed the affairs of Texas. These were years of great growth and sound, businesslike government, reflecting the good judgment of the state's top leadership. Now that wisdom is telling Texans that the state's future calls for adoption of the constitutional amendment which will permit the issuance of bonds to provide interim financing for water importation, with the bond costs to be repaid by water users.

Texas voters will do well to follow the advice of former governors Shivers, Daniel and Connally and the man who appointed the, Gov. Preston Smith. Amendment No. 2 on the Aug. 5 ballot deserves approval. ---The Dallas Morning News

He is the first child for the couple. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Gunstream and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henry of Muleshoe. Gunstream is a bond salesman for Wilson White of Little Rock.

Barbeque Honors John Harris

John Harris was honored on his birthday with a backyard barbeque at his home Saturday night. Attending were Patrolman and Mrs. Gene Sisemore, Billy Gene Melissa and Anthony; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Hughes, Sandra and Dale; Dudley Harris of San Francisco, a cousin of Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Tamplin; Harris' father, Cleo Harris, his brother, Roy Harris, both of Portales; Mrs. Nonnie Porter of familiar West Texas surroundings. She even thought a sandstorm would be a pleasant experience after living away from Muleshoe 23 years... "when you get home only every six years." Six years ago Mrs. Herring and five small children had made the 14,000 mile round trip from Anchorage, Alaska "back home" and had wanted to take this souvenir back with her. Mrs. Herring, her eleven year old daughter Leslie and nine and one-half (that half is important) year old Danny have been visiting since Saturday in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T.L. (Red) Glascock. The Harrings have lived in Alaska eighteen years, where he is employed as a surveyor for an engineering firm. When asked what a surveyor could do in extreme weather there, she said her husband works in the office at computer work sometimes. He is at present working near Valdez, locating oil surveys, since there is an oil boom in that area. A most interesting time for them was during the summer of 1966 when Herring helped survey the entire town of Seward following the earthquake and the family lived there with him. At the time of the big earthquake the Herring family lived in a trailer house at Anchorage, a city of 100,000 and although they certainly felt it, they sustained no damage. In the eighteen years since they have lived there, the Herring family has seen a lot of progress and Mrs. Herring "wonders sometimes if it is all so good". True to its general reputation, there is still a lot of roughness among the people and she recalls that Bob Hope once quipped "Fourth Avenue in Anchorage is the longest bar in the world". There is now more culture, a more civilized atmosphere, than in 1951 when they moved there, with excellent schools, more paved streets, and, it seems to them, less severe winters than there used to be. Although thoroughly at home in Alaska, Mrs. Herring's roots are still deepest in Muleshoe... still "Home" to her. The pioneer spirit is not gone, however, and friendliness and acceptance of others is the general attitude. There is no problem of segregation officially, though native Eskimos have a status somewhat equal to Indians from a reservation. There has been a small amount of disturbance over unfair hiring practices between white persons and native Eskimos, but this, she felt, is declining. The majority of people living there are originally from the United States. Wages there are much higher than in the '48' but the cost of living there is correspondingly higher. Everything they have comes in either by air or by boat. There is one railroad, from Seward to Fairbanks, still in use since the earthquake. An oil boom of major proportions is being felt "up on the north slope". The first oil finds in Alaska were in the Cook Inlet area, near Kenai. Because of the similarity of climate, there are many Scandinavian people living there and, with the Army and Air Force both having installations there, there are Japanese and German wives. With the many different nationalities employed by airlines at the International airport there, it is "a small melting pot", which she feels is "beneficial to the children". "It is becoming quite the thing to fly to Japan for a holiday". "The people feel a kinship with their sister state, Hawaii and there is lots of travel between the two." Mrs. Herring spoke of their Polynesian friends and of borrowing costumes from them to wear to a luau on a night when snow was piled high. "There is a strong state pride," Mrs. Herring said, "On a par with Texans". Mrs. Herring, Danny and Leslie are making a wide swing on this trip. Her older sons, Kevin and Neal had gone to Laverne, California to be with her father, Jack Lawler. An older daughter, Eileen did not accompany them as she is employed at Valdez, Alaska. Born in Muleshoe, the daughter of Jack Glascock and the late Ila Mae Glascock Lawler, Mrs. Herring said she attended grade school in Dallas but returned to Muleshoe for high school, graduating in 1946 or 1947. She still speaks of Muleshoe as home and after so many years in Alaska is teased about it. Mrs. Herring and her children have attended a Lawler family reunion at Belton since being here; helped celebrate her Grandmother Herring's 92 birthday at Cross Plains; visited in Gainesville with Lawler's mother; have visited cousins in Austin and San Antonio, and have been in Dallas visiting Polly Glascock Cantrell. From here the Harrings will go to Albuquerque to visit another uncle, Woody Glascock and on to Portland where they will visit with a cousin, Margaret Hooten, daughter of Lela Glascock Foust.

Backyard Party Honors Miss Davis

Miss Linda Davis, and her fiancé, Gaylord Latham, of Earth were honored Friday evening at an informal backyard party and shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hutton.

Pat Wagon, Mrs. Don Harmon, Mrs. Eddie Faust, Mrs. Gid Howell and Chamber President, Don Harmon. A letter of thanks from Chamber of Commerce Manager Jerry Hutton was read to the group for their work during the Fourth of July celebration.

Ike Stinsons Moving After 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Stinson will be moving to Longview July 31 or August 1 after residing here twenty five years. Stinson, a long time Bailey County Commissioner, retired last year. The Stinsons will be moving to the Lakeport addition to Longview where they own some acreage. They have a daughter residing in Hereford and their other children live in Dallas. Sunday evening after church, the congregation of First Baptist Church honored Mr. and Mrs. Stinson with a reception in the church parlor and presented Mrs. Stinson with a love offering. She has been church secretary the past nine years. Nothing is more rewarding than church work and there is plenty of it to be done in every community.

Brighten Brass Hardware

COLLEGE STATION -- To remove dirt and tarnish from old brass hardware, unscrew it from the furniture and brush scrub it with salt and vinegar (mixed in a ceramic dish). Then wash it with soap or detergent suds, rinse and wipe dry. The next step is to oil the screws and re-attach brass to the furniture. This advice is from Linda Jacobsen, Extension home management specialist.

ANTI-MOTH PILLS

Skunks aren't the only small animals that will take offense at the sharp attack naphthalene or para make on their sensitive sinus tracts. Household and garden owners are discovering many new uses for mothballs, from protecting against mildew to keeping rabbits out of their carrot patches!

This Is... My Story

BY HARRIET GLAZE

When I was 8 years old, it finally dawned on me that I wasn't "right with God". I accepted Christ as my Personal Saviour, then, and let Him come into my heart. If I had not accepted Jesus Christ, there would be no reason for me to live. My life would have been useless without Him.

Since that time, I have surrendered my life to Him to use in a special way. I possibly will be a social worker, if He wants me to work in this capacity. I want to do only what He wants me to do.

In our forthcoming Youth Led Revival, I want to dedicate myself to God and His work. Won't you join me? God puts YOU first... why not put Him first? You'll receive a real blessing! THIS IS THE SIXTH ARTICLE IN A SERIES OF EIGHT, WRITTEN BY THE YOUTH MEMBERSHIP OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, MULESHOE. THEY HAVE EXPERIENCED "NEW LIFE" IN JESUS CHRIST, AND WANT MORE THAN ANYTHING TO SHARE THIS NEW LIFE WITH YOU. DURING THE WEEK OF JULY 27 THROUGH AUGUST 3, THEY WILL BE LEADING OUT IN THE YOUTH LED REVIVAL AT THEIR CHURCH. AS THEY SHARE THEIR TESTIMONY, WON'T YOU SHARE YOURS?

Older Houses More Salable

COLLEGE STATION, July 24 --Used or older homes in well-maintained neighborhoods are gaining in buyer appeal because of limited supply for sale and restricted competition of new houses, generally priced higher.

The combination of increasing demand and diminishing supply makes the climate highly favorable for the family selling a home, says Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist. Environment always has been an important factor, but it currently occupies a particularly prominent place in housing demand.

The average buyer of an existing home is often a previous owner, more sophisticated than his counterpart of the past, she says. Although scientific developments have increased comfort and reduced manual labor in the modern home, location continues to hold priority in home selection to most families.

According to recent report by the Department of Research of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, demand for older homes had risen substantially in 44 percent of the communities included in the survey. Less than ten percent of the communities reported a decline in the demand for the existing single-family home.

The volume of used homes available for re-sale was down in over 30 percent of the communities, adds Mrs. Berry.

Radiation Control Studied

COLLEGE STATION --What is being done to prevent possible harm by x-ray emissions from color TV sets? A new federal law, "Radiation Control for Health and Safety Act," indicates national concern and action. The Act passed by Congress and signed as a law in October 1968, gives the secretary of Health and Educational Welfare authority to establish performance standards (on health and safety) for all radiation-emitting electronic equipment.

Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist, says standards are being developed for color TV receivers, laser devices and microwave ovens by HEW radiological health experts. A technical committee representing government, industry and labor will review the standards before they are implemented. Some months will pass before the full impact of the new law is felt, adds the specialist.

A competent TV serviceman should check the receiver on older sets for harmful rays. Some sets might not have adequate built-in shielding, or the voltage settings might have been increased above manufacturer's recommendation to improve picture brightness, thus increasing the radiation hazard.

Dear Amy: I would like to know about french curls. What is the best way to produce your own french curls at home? What type of curler should you use and what is the best way to roll them? Hair Dispair

Dear Dispair: French curls can be arranged at home by using large, fat curlers and rolling them under in the same direction. Of course the hair must be the proper length to accept the roller. Comprenevous?

Dear Amy: Recently our son was married and since we were severely limited as to the number of people we could invite, we at first invited those who had to be invited (relatives and important business contacts). As returns were received, additional invitations went out to supplant the negative replies received.

Eventually everyone received an invitation up to three weeks before the wedding... and many of the late "invites" accepted. Several refused, and we could understand. One couple who refused later called and said they had a gift for the young marrieds and wanted us to come over and pick it up.

I don't think that it is our place to pick up the gift. They could have had it sent.

What do you think, Amy? The "Parents"

Dear "Parents": It is customary for a wedding gift to be delivered in person or otherwise, but improper to ask the parents of the newlyweds to "pick it up".

If you ignore their request, they will eventually see that the young couple get it.

SHE DON'T FIT THE BUCKET!

Dear Amy: My husband just bought a new car with bucket seats despite my objection. I told him I wanted a bench seat. But he didn't listen. Now I find my side very uncomfortable as the seat is not shaped large enough to fit MY seat comfortably. I won't tell you how much I weigh, but why don't car manufacturers take this into consideration when they design the darn car? Rosalia

Dear Rosalia: How true! Bucket seats don't always fit the bucket. Why don't you write the manufacturer and tell him. *

PERSONAL TO Corrine: Write me again on the double and include your address. Since your letter appeared in my column, readers of mail arrived for you from many readers who want to assist you with your problem. *

Dear Amy: My boyfriend and I have been going together for almost two years and neither of us date or want to date anyone else. We are both going into our junior year at college. We love each other and want to get married after he finishes law school.

We have opposing views on the subject of "pinning". I think the idea is great and he thinks the whole thing is silly. We're really as good as "pinned" anyway, so I can't understand why he won't let me wear the pin. I think the fact that we aren't "pinned" is silly because he loves me, doesn't want to go out with any other girl, and wants to eventually marry me.

He reads your column and respects your opinion so he said I should ask you what you think. Maybe you can make him see how much it means to a girl. He says if you don't think it's stupid to get "pinned" and if it means that much to me, then we'll get "pinned".

Please answer quickly. Unpinned

COLLEGE STATION -- Watermelon, cantaloupe and peaches, semi-cling and freestone varieties, steal the hot weather food market scene. Each, along with nectarines, plums, honeydew melons, oranges, Bing cherries, bananas, grapes, pineapples, is in good supply at the most economical prices.

Although hot weather is affecting most Texas crops, good vegetable buys are found in red and russet potatoes, cooking greens, purple hull and black-eye peas, tomatoes, carrots, dry yellow onions, squash, eggplant and corn. The report comes from Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Pork cuts continue to be featured in some markets. Examples are fresh picnics shoulder, Boston Butt roasts, smoked ham portions and country style ribs. Prices on most beef cuts remain about the same as last few weeks with best values found in chuck roasts and steaks, rib and round steaks and ground beef.

Prices are up a bit on fryers while eggs are an excellent protein choice. Refrigerate eggs promptly at home--large end up to help maintain quality. Remember to purchase eggs from a refrigerated case.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Tex., -It starts all over again Monday (July 28), Legislators will be back at the capitol, finishing up the finance chores they left dangling in their regular session.

Gov. Preston Smith, who called the special session after he rejected lawmakers' no-tax, one-year budget and insisted on adoption of a balanced biennial appropriations bill, apparently will spell out his recommendations on opening day.

Smith has been conducting a series of talks with business and industry leaders, exploring tax ideas. Legislators are expected to have to come up with a revenue measure totalling $300 million or more.

Governor abandoned the idea of waiting until after the August 5 vote on an $80 million welfare spending limit and other proposed constitutional amendments. Advisors and legislative leaders told him lawmakers will need every one of the 30 days allotted for the special session to complete the big money job at hand.

Kdy legislative leaders have done some spadework on a $5.6 billion two-year budget for the fiscal period extending through August 31, 1971. No major difficulties are anticipated here, although some hitches could develop.

New court bills also are being drawn in preparation for special session effort to enact a measure to replace the courts measure vetoed by Smith last month as reaching his desk too late.

The referendum and election will be held by mail ballot which will be provided to all eligible voters not later than 15 days prior to the election. Ballots must be mailed to the polling place at Gorman, Texas before midnight on the date of the election.

Any person within this state engaged in the business of producing, or causing to be produced peanuts for commercial purposes is eligible to vote, including owners of farms and their tenants and shareholders, if such person would be required to pay the assessment proposed.

Amendment 2 on the August 5 ballot to authorize $3.5 billion finance a master water plan for the state.

Campaigns for and against the proposed amendment are heating up as election date nears. Proponents led by the Governor's Committee to 500 argue that its failure would be "catastrophic" for the state and that the bonds will prove to be money makers for Texas as well as permitting orderly development of water resources.

Opponents, sparked by State Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, wildlife conservationists and strict-economy groups, contend that cost of the contemplated program would be tremendous and that delay for a year or two of added study is justified.

Nine amendments will be voted on August 5. Major interest centers on water bonds and a proposal to raise the welfare spending ceiling. Annual sessions of the legislature and higher pay for lawmakers are among other amendments to be decided. A "Nine for Texas Committee" is leading a campaign for the entire package.

INSURANCE PROBE ON--

Two tough critics of the insurance industry on occasion were named by the governor to his nine-member citizens committee which will investigate auto policy rate increases.

Smith named the panel after State Insurance Board staffers recommended an 11.4 per cent rate increase.

Chairman will be former Gov. Price Daniel, who took on the insurance companies in 1961 when claims arising from Hurricane Carla damage were being rejected. Another member is former Secretary of State John Hill, a Houston attorney, who frequently handles case against insurance companies. Other members include Highway Commission Chairman D.C. Greer of Austin; Harry Hubbard of the AFL-CIO staff (which has repeatedly challenged auto insurance rate increases); Odessa attorney W.O. Shafer (who defends insurance companies); Lubbock accountant Edwin E. Merriman; Austin editor Sam Wood; Dallas television newsman Eddie Barker and Dr. Alford R. Hazzard, an Austin physician.

OIL ALLOWABLE SLICED--

For the second consecutive month, Railroad Commission cut the statewide oil allowable, setting the August figure at 53.1 percent of potential.

Top production would be 3,310,997 barrels a day. Allowable was lowered from 63.5 per cent of potential in June to 54.7 per cent in July. Nine major producers requested the same allowable as July, three sought less and only two asked for more oil during August.

COURTS SPEAK --

Supreme Court affirmed a farm anti-picketing order which labor unions claimed blunted the strike of field hands in the Rio Grande Valley.

Court also upheld the Ector County District Court's decision that it did not have jurisdiction in a libel case brought by Nathan Curry of Odessa against Dell Publishing Company because a story in Front Page Detective said he was guilty of a murder after he had been found not guilty by a Palo Pinto County jury.

A former employee of Sears, Roebuck and Company had no good reason to wait 16 months before filing claims for on-job injuries, Supreme Court said.

Third Court of Civil Appeals overruled state cancellation of two Rio Grande Valley water permits (of 1918 and 1928).

Court of Criminal Appeals threw out the conviction of a San Antonio man who dressed as a woman in public because he was tried under an old Ku Klux Klan law prohibiting wearing of a mask in public.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

A Richmond State School employee who got tuberculosis as a result of a psychological exam of a tubercular patient is entitled to medical expenses from the school's appropriations, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Potter County officials can keep land granted in 1904 for a courthouse and jail though they plan to build on other property and sell the old tract.

New amendment concerning drive-a-way in-transit license plate applies only to movement of new house trailers, trailers and semi-trailers.

ACCREDITATION LOSS--

The State Commission of School Accreditation, under Texas Education Agency direction, has overruled appeals by six Texas school districts that have lost accreditation. The six districts' next appeal lies with the TEA.

The districts are: Center ISD, Shelby County, 2,201 students; Crosby ISD, Harris County, 2,108; Desdomona ISD, Eastland County, 96 students; Liberty Hill ISD, Williamson County, 255 students; and Timpson ISD, Shelby County, 650 students.

PEANUT REFERENDUM SET

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White certified Southwestern Peanut Growers Association of Gorman to hold a statewide referendum under the new commodity check-off law.

Referendum will determine whether peanut growers will make self assessments to promote sales, research, and insect and disease control measures. Peanut Association was first to be certified under new legislation.

Fred Neumann New Director

Fredrick S. Neumann, long time Texas businessman, assumed the post of director of the 86-county Lubbock region of the Small Business Administration (SBA) on Tuesday, July 8, 1969. Bailey County is included in the Lubbock region. His oath of office was administered by William R. (Bill) Keener, Washington, D.C., special assistant to the administrator, SBA, in ceremonies at Lubbock SBA office, 1616 19th Street.

Neumann succeeds Jack Teddlie, director for 10 years, who has retired from the position but who will remain in the office in an advisory capacity.

Neumann will supervise SBA activities in the wide West Texas area through a personnel force of about 30 staff members.

A native of Dallas, Neumann, 56, comes to Lubbock from Beaumont where he was president of Neu-Way Rug Cleaners, Inc., a firm operating on the Gulf coast.

He was a deck officer in World War II and later was general manager of a towboat firm in Orange. He is a Rotarian.

"LATEBLUE BERRIES"

A new variety of blueberries may soon be in the market place. Called "Lateblue," the new berry extends the blueberry fruit season by 10 days and it should be well suited to mechanical harvesting because it ripens simultaneously, say Extension foods specialists.

FIGHT BACK!

NITROMITE

Fight the price/cost squeeze on your wheat with NITROMITE, Shamrock's fine brand of anhydrous ammonia.

A preplant application of NITROMITE speeds early growth, producing lush, high-quality forage (and plenty of it!)—an important factor if you plan to graze cattle this winter.

And the cash crop? NITROMITE delivers the most usable nitrogen per dollar to help increase yields without increasing cost appreciably. So come harvest, even if prices are low, you make out. If they're good, you'll be the big winner.

Put down NITROMITE now. It'll give you a fighting chance in the marketplace.

ABM

The Senate is currently in the throes of debate over President Nixon's proposed Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

I strongly support this proposal and I would like to take this opportunity to explain why I believe the Safeguard system is so vital to this nation.

Safeguard would provide anti-ballistic missile defense for our nation's land-based deterrent force of inter-continental ballistic missiles. It is important for us to have this defense capability in order to keep viable our existing deterrent to nuclear warfare in the face of an ever increasing attack capability on the part of our potential enemies.

The measure now before the Senate would provide about three-quarters of a billion dollars so that we can begin the initial steps of ABM deployment.

That is all we are talking about at this time. We are not talking about an outlay of several billions of dollars, and we are not talking about an extensive ABM system designed to directly defend all our cities.

The question whether ABM will actually work is, as yet, unanswered. There is a group of distinguished scientific minds who say that it will work well enough to provide the necessary protection.

But the Senate is not being asked to commit itself irrevocably to one side or the other. Congressional approval of the Safeguard plan only means that we will go ahead and find out which scientists are correct. I believe it militarily sound to continue ABM deployment until we can know more about its technical effectiveness.

An effective ABM could lengthen the time the President of the United States would have to react to indications that a nuclear attack had been launched against this nation.

Right now, we depend upon our retaliatory capability to keep a potentially hostile nation from launching a nuclear attack upon us. If our radars were to detect an approaching incoming nuclear attack, however, our President would have two choices -- he could launch our retaliatory force, or he elect to refrain from retaliation.

There would be a limited number of minutes in which the President could ponder his decision.

With an effective and workable ABM, the President would be given a third choice. He would be able to choose to attempt to intercept the attacking missiles. If the ABM system then in operation was effective enough, he might not be required to face the choice of nuclear holocaust.

Obituaries

R.Q. 'Quint' Whatley, 60, was dead on arrival at West Plains Memorial Hospital at 2 a.m. Monday after apparently suffering a heart attack at his home at 914 West 2nd.

He had lived in Muleshoe since 1939, moving to Bailey County from Strawn, Tex. He was born April 18, 1909 at Indian Creek, Tex.

Whatley was a mechanic at Whitt, Watts and Rempe and a member of the Richland Hills Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Richland Hills Baptist Church with Rev. Clayton McMillan, minister, officiating.

Interment was in Bailey County Memorial Park under direction of Singleton Funeral home.

Active pallbearers included Gene Scarbrough, Vernon Blee-Genie Scarbrough, Vernon Bleeker, Ben Higginbotham, Jerry Berry, Alton Burton, Lawrence Dairymple, William Pagach and James Elder. Honorary pall bearers were Roy Whitt, Webb Watts, Don Rempe, George Burleson, Lowell Savage, Tommy Sullivan, Charles Hamilton and Johnny Estep.

Survivors include his wife, Susie; one daughter, Mrs. A.E. Farrell, San Antonio; three sons, Billy Bob Whatley, Ventura, Calif.; George Whatley and Tommy Whatley, both of Muleshoe; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Moon, Strawn and Mrs. Johnny Hanyan, Joshaway, Tex.; two brothers, Buddy Whatley, Cisco and Billy Whatley, Hico and eight grandchildren.

I want to provide the President with that third choice if it is at all possible.

Another reason for Congressional approval of the proposed Safeguard system is that it would improve our bargaining position in any forthcoming arms control negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made a recent statement which, on the surface at least, seemed to encourage arms control talks. I am hopeful that we can engage in a fruitful arms control discussion.

But we have seen Russian operations in the field of international relations many times before. If Congress decides to reject the proposed Safeguard, I for one will be very surprised if the Soviets do not harden their attitude towards arms control talks. On the other hand, I believe they will be further encouraged to begin such talks if the ABM system goes forth.

The Senate is being asked to vote $459.1 million dollars for continued development and initial deployment of the Safeguard ABM system.

For this money we will get a knowledge of the effectiveness of defensive missile systems, and we will get the groundwork for actual deployment of the missiles.

Deployment could provide increased protection against nuclear attack.

It may well be that the Safeguard ABM system will contribute to the prevention of a disastrous nuclear holocaust. It may then have saved the lives of countless Americans.

On the other hand, we could conceivably find in a year or so that missile defense systems do not represent the most effective deterrent to nuclear attack. We might find that we should abandon the ABM.

But we should not do so now when there is ample reason to believe that the Safeguard system will work. If we err, we should err on the side of safety by possibly having too much national defense, rather than too little. The American people, and the people of the world are certainly owed that much.

Colleges Endorse

Two Proposed Amendments

WACO -- The Independent Colleges and Universities of Texas organization has endorsed two of the proposed constitutional amendments, Propositions Six and Eight, to be submitted to the voters of Texas on Aug. 5.

Abner V. McCall of Waco, president of the association of the 40 private colleges and universities in Texas, announced the executive committee of the group unanimously voted approval of the two proposals at an Austin meeting.

McCall, president of Baylor University, said while the two student-loan proposals are primarily for the benefit of students in state colleges and universities, they are of great benefit to higher education in general in Texas.

Proposed Amendment Six would remove the interest limitations on all bonds authorized by the state constitution. At present, a maximum of four per cent interest may be paid on state's College Student Loan Bonds, which provide funds under the Hinson-Haxlewood College Student Loan Act. Experts say the interest limitation will make it difficult to sell the loan fund bonds in the future.

Amendment Eight authorizes the state's college and university system coordinating board to issue $200 million in college student loan bonds in addition to the previously-authorized $85 million in bonds. It has been estimated that unless the additional bonds are voted, the student loan program might end by the summer of 1971. Supporters of the amendment say the additional bonds would keep it going to the summer of 1976.

ROLLS-ROYCE RECALLED
London -- The British Rolls-Royce and Bentley automobiles manufactured in the last four years have been recalled for the correction of a potential defect in the steering system. Letters were sent to an estimated 5,000 to 8,000 owners. Of these, 1,350 are in the United States.
