SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY SUCCESS.

Many Phases of Sunday School Work Was Discussed—Many Workers Present.

By Convention Reporter
The Rally held by the La Salle County Sunday School Association last Friday the 29th at Rockwood, complete program of which was printed in full in the last issue of the Record, was pronounced by all who attended a grand success. The officers of the association expressed themselves as being very much gratified at the marked interest manifested by all the workers.

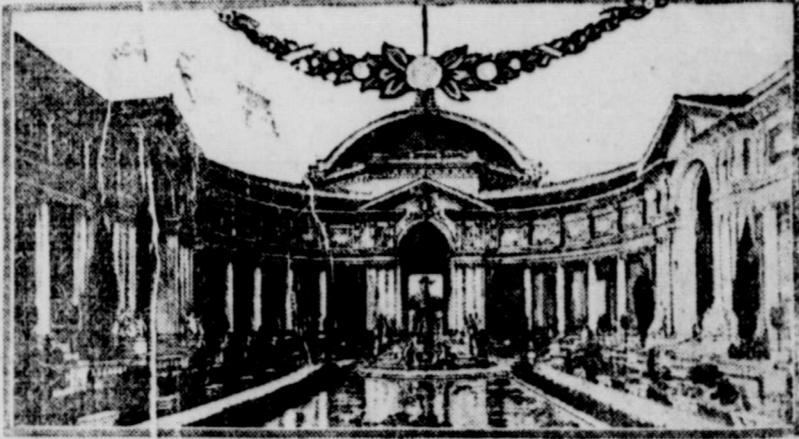

The day was a hot one, but the heat did not keep the crowd back nor take away the interest. The program was carried out in full except at night when with keen regret they gave away to the threatening weather.

While many phases of the Sunday School work were discussed for the purpose of education special emphasis was placed on the all important subject of Teacher Training and the Department for Children under twelve years.

Necessity of Trained workers everywhere and especially in the Sunday School was ably presented by Mr. W. E. Earnest of Millett and the crime of teachers attempting to teach without preparation was the subject of deep thought and careful consideration.

The teachers of the elementary grades [those under 12 years of age] in La Salle County are fortunate indeed to have as the champion of their department Mrs. J. H. Gallman, County Superintendent. She presented their work in a most intelligent, instructive and interesting manner. Mrs. F. I. Rock read a most convincing paper on "The Foundation"—lying emphasis on "The impressions of youth the key to man's character." Rev. M. L. Rone of Cotulla led the crowd to the very feet of the Master in his devotional work

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

Copyright, 1913, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

ONE of the minor courts that will open out from the great exposition city upon a vast tropical garden upon the south. This court, a marvel of tropical transplanting, is south of the Court of Four Seasons. It is designed by Mr. George W. Kelham. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will stand alone not only in its architectural treatment but in its setting at Harbor View, the exposition site, in the adornment of its huge interior courts and of its grounds, with hundreds of thousands of palms, flowers and rare shrubs and vines, and in the superb color plan created by Jules Guerin, world famous colorist. The theme of the exposition, the sculpture, and mural paintings will exalt the spirit of achievement through which America has completed the Panama canal. The theme of the great interior courts will suggest the meeting of the East and West.

both morning and evening.

Most of the schools in the county are represented, Millett, Gardendale, Artesia Wells and three schools in Cotulla all sent delegates making a total of seven schools reached. The officers of the Association claim this to be the largest number of schools, according to record, that have ever registered at any one meeting.

From the report made by their secretary the Rockwood School is far in advance of many of our schools with better equipment. The Association officers say they school now that they have received help on some phases of the work and show the best report at the annual meeting in January.

It was voted at the afternoon session to accept the invitation of the Millett School presented by Prof. Shanks to hold the next quarterly meeting Rally with them ninety days hence. This action must go before the Advisory Committee three weeks later for ratification or rejection.

The good ladies of Rockwood can always be depended upon for their part—and they played a great part in the entertaining of the convention delegates. The choicest springers were drawn from the flock and the gardens gave up their best fruits to these ladies. When we presented ourselves to the tables we found them groaning under their load of good things to eat and presided over with that grace and ease so in keeping with the daily lives of these ladies.

May the time spent be profitable to all and the bread cast upon the waters return to Him who gave His life for us increased an hundred fold showing the result of honest efforts. And may the time soon come when we can again meet in

BIG DECREASE IN ONION ACREAGE.

Number of Pounds of Seed Shipped in Indicate that Not Over 150 Acres Will be Planted.

If the onion acreage to be planted in the Nueces valley adjacent to Cotulla this fall can be judged by the amount of seed shipped in, it will be smaller than for the past ten years.

From information given this paper at the express office by W. Lacey, the total amount of onion seed received at this date up to date does not exceed 50 pounds. This amount of seed will transplant about 150 acres. The failure to successfully market the onions the last three or four seasons has had effect on the farmers of this territory, and they are planting other crops other than onions.

There will be a considerable acreage planted in lettuce for the winter market.

The acreage of this product will more than double the onion acreage in this section. Winter vegetables of all kinds will be grown but not on a large scale.

Heavy feed crops are being grown on all of the irrigated farms and some of them will erect silos for the fall crops.

DOCTORS MEET

The meeting of the La Salle County Medical Association at Pearsall last Monday was one of the most interesting and instructive meetings of the society yet held. Drs. Graham, Wichmann of Cotulla and Hale of Fowlerton were present, representing La Salle County.

One of the most interesting papers was read by Dr. N. A. Roth of Seguin on typhoid Bacterian. The reader urged that Bacterian be used in all cases. Dr. W. B. Russ of San Antonio, Dr. Beck and Dr. Hale of Fowlerton also read instructive papers.

After the business session the visiting medical men were banqueted in great style and the physicians who attended from Cotulla highly praised the Pearsall people for their general hospitality.

A SCHOOL FOR BOYS

The San Antonio Academy, Opposite Beautiful San Pedro Park, a Select and Particular School for the Young Man.

You expect a fruit tree to bear fruit; you are not satisfied with a fine display of leaves. It is an easy matter for a school to print a fine catalogue, to mark out a long course of study, to talk glibly of University preparation; it is a far different thing to stand after years of faithful toil, and present to the world the clear proofs of successful work.

Twenty-five years ago the San Antonio Academy was founded with the promise that, in addition to its primary and intermediate departments, and its business course, it would afford a thorough preparation for the best colleges and schools of science. How well it has kept this promise, let the following record testify:

Pupils trained in this school have entered or are to enter in September the following institutions:

- Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.; Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.; Columbia University, New York, N. Y.; McGill University, Montreal, Can.; University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.; University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.; University of Texas, Austin, Texas; Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.; U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.; Tulane University, New Orleans, La.; Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, La.; Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas; Philadelphia Dental College, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.; Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.; Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa.; Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J.; Michigan College of Mines, Houghton, Mich.; Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa.; Southern Illinois Normal University, Carbondale, Ill.; Leland Stanford, Jr., University, Palo Alto, Cal.; Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.; Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.; Rose Polytechnic College, Terre Haute, Ind.; Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.; Columbian University, Washington, D. C.; Nashville College, Nashville, Tenn.; Yale Law School, New Haven, Conn.; Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa.; Western University of Pennsylvania, Allegheny, Pa.; University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.; Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, Ill.; State School of Mines, Golden, Col.; University of California, Berkeley, Cal.; University of Alabama, University, Ala.; University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.; Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.; University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

This simple statement is enough to show the extent of our course of study, while the quality of our work is manifested from the fact that in these higher institutions our students have won high honors in competition with representatives from the most famous schools in the land. The instruction in this school is its thoroughness. The small classes render it possible to combine the best features of private drill with the stimulus of class room work, giving each pupil a large share of the personal attention of the teacher. The course of study is flexible, and each student is so classified as not to be held back through a deficiency in one or two branches. The teachers make every effort to teach the pupil how to study, to awaken a hearty interest in the work taught, and to promote habits of persistent work. The Academy believes in short lessons thoroughly mastered, and allows no one to be dragged on in his class with half-learned lessons. In short, the aim of the instruction is to give students individual power, and to make strong, self-reliant scholars.

There are three departments in the school—Primary, Junior and Senior—and the courses of study cover a child's school life from the beginning through the preparation required for entrance to our best universities. We wish to correct the impression that the school does not desire your pupils. On the contrary we prefer to lay our own foundations, for we meet with no more serious difficulty than the lack of thorough elementary training. From the primary department the student passes into the Junior department, where he is expected to master the essentials of a grammar school education. Here is one of the critical periods of a student's life. This is the age when mental habits are being formed and character is taking on its permanent shape. The best masters in the world, after a child is fifteen, cannot repair the mischief done by the careless teaching of his earlier years.

Upon the solid foundation of its work in the earlier part of the curriculum, the Academy rests its senior department. Here, in widely varying courses, the pupils take the higher work leading to the universities. The work is shaped to meet the requirements of the particular university the student wishes to enter. The length of time required will vary with the course and institution chosen, from two to four years.

You have a boy to educate and you want to do the best you can for him. You hesitate to trust your own judgment in selecting a school. You know in general what you wish, but you don't know where to find it. You are a business man perplexed with daily cares, and the proper education of the son of yours is not the least of your burdens. If it were a legal question to settle, how easy it would be; your trusted attorney would care for that. As it is, you're in need of counsel, of expert advice, and you know it. Counsellors-at-law are abundant; why have we no counsellors on education?

When counsel of the right kind is hard to find, patient investigation and careful thought must attack the problem. So, like the shrewd business man you are, you begin to consider the facts. Your boy is to go from home for the first time. It is the critical period of his life. At no time is he more impressive. The school will make or mar him. And as you think more carefully, the gravity of the question grows upon you and you determine not to make a mistake in your move. You must know all about the school to which you entrust your boy.

You make a long stride toward settling the question, as you decide:

(1.) It must not be a large school.

Personal care means much to you. You value the individual. Your boy must not be lost among the crowd, a mere unit on the roll of a large institution. And then you wish him shielded from the temptations and dangers that infect the crowded dormitories.

(2.) It must not be a cheap school.

Of course you value economy, but business has taught you that cheap things are often very dear. You don't give your legal business to the lowest bidder. The cheapest doctor in town is not the one you care to employ. Why should your boy have unpleasant surroundings, meager fare, inferior teaching, just because they are cheap. There is neither economy nor prudence in cheap teaching. A trained talent in any profession can never be had for a song.

You at last decide that the school you are looking for is a home school of the best type. Its number must be small enough for every pupil to have close individual supervision, yet large enough to stimulate healthy rivalry among the boys. In such a school and under the care of able teachers your boy may learn not only what books have to teach him, but how to become a manly man with clear perceptions of right and a keen sense of duty. Now, where are you to find the school? As you weigh the claims we present, the question is easily answered. You can find the school where many parents have found it during the past twenty-five years, in the San Antonio Academy.

The principal will receive into his family a limited number of boys as resident pupils. Under his immediate care they will enjoy the comforts and privileges of a well-ordered home. Our limited number implies selection. Not every boy will fit into the plan of the school, and we usually have to decline applicants. There are thirty places at our disposal and we frequently have two applicants for every place. The discipline is not military, but paternal; the school is not a barracks, but a home. We are not aiming to build up a large boarding school, but to develop high types of men and scholars. The attractive home life, the watchful care given our boys, the inspiring and restraining influences that surround them, have been reasons enough for the popularity of the school with thoughtful parents.

The Academy is a home school in the best sense of the term. There is a freedom the dangers so peculiar to the crowded dormitories of large schools, and manners and morals are considered as essential as good scholarship. While free from any sectarian teaching and not under control of any church, the school is distinctly Christian in character.

Resident pupils have access at all times to the principal's library and the Carnegie library. Additions are made to these libraries from year to year of books which are instructive and interesting to boys. We aim to cultivate a taste for good reading and have our boys become familiar with the value and use of a library.

The school also receives the leading magazines, reviews and illustrated papers, so that there is always on hand an abundance of timely and interesting reading matter.

The principal wishes it distinctly understood that the academy is not a reform school. We have no room for bad boys, nor do we care to receive those who require great severity and military discipline to render the obedient. Though there are few formal rules, we insist on prompt obedience, gentlemanly conduct, and faithful attention to study. The whole aim of the discipline is to produce self-governing, manly young men.

The use of ardent sp. its. The use of tobacco in any form. Visiting saloons or improper places of resort. Gambling in any form. Willfully marring or destroying school property. Leaving school grounds after 6:00 p. m.

Having read this catalogue thus far, you may feel inclined to send us your boy. Now, let us be frank with each other at the very outset; it will save trouble later. The school may suit you, but your boy may not suit the school. If he has been uncontrolled all his life, if he has the tobacco habit upon him, if he is unwilling to yield prompt and ready obedience to our regulations, we will not receive him.

As the pupils are received into a well furnished home, they need to bring with them only their own clothing distinctly marked, necessary toilet articles, a napkin bag for her soiled clothes, and a Bible. Every bed is supplied with double blankets, comforter, spread, sheets and pillow cases. If any extra covering is needed, it may be supplied by the pupil.

Every pupil is allowed twelve pieces in the wash each week; all over this number will be charged extra. Ordinary mending is done without expense to the pupil; but for all repairing other than ordinary, including coats, vests and pantaloons, a charge is made.

N. B.—No places are reserved without definite arrangements. Early application is necessary to be sure of a place.

All requests for catalogue, application for admission, and inquiries in regard to the school may be addressed to the principal.

GOOD LITERATURE.

A great deal is said and written upon the subject of good reading, and some wonder that so little reading is done among certain classes whom they aver have more time than other people. These thoughts are suggested from reading a letter recently received, in which the lady referred to the neglect of the farmer to provide good reading for the home. She contends that people living in the country have almost all their time at their disposal, as there is little visiting, no stores, no places of amusement, etc., on which to waste time. She suggests this as a timely subject for our consideration.

It is needless to say, that anyone who believes that country people have nothing to do has never lived in the country. The farmer himself has an all-year-round job, that keeps both hands and brains pretty busy; the farmer's wife has, we might say, several all-year-round jobs to keep her going from morning till night, sometimes from morning till noon.

While this is very true we fear. In many farm homes, reading is more or less neglected, and leisure time in many instances wasted which might be occupied with good literature. It is well we should put in all the time available in reading good books and papers and an effort should be made to have on hand enough of such matter to provide for leisure moments. The long winter evenings afford time and opportunity for much reading, for then the outdoor duties are less arduous and cheerful light and warm room invite the family to quiet home pursuits.

Rural delivery is of great benefit to persons living on the farm, by its means daily papers and late magazines are brought to the door, giving some extra time for their perusal, since no time is consumed in going to town for the mail. Good books are cheap, libraries are more easily acquired than ever before, and people in any station in life may be well informed on any subject through a judicious selection of books.

We know of some boys who carefully hoard their pennies, or small amounts of money that would do better be wasted on tobacco, confectionary and such things, to buy choice books, who are gradually gathering together a good library. We know one young lady who cheerfully sacrifices her love of pretty clothes, to buy books upon a subject in which she is greatly interested, heroically turns her back upon pretty hats, fancy ribbons and gloves, for light on the subject she has chosen for her life work.

There is no reason why the young people on the farm should not have good books and find time to read them when they have not previously done so.

COLLEGES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Only a few more weeks till schools, colleges and universities will open, then the young people who are now enjoying their vacation will resume their studies and begin preparation for the duties of citizenship. While the remaining days of vacation are doubtless full of pleasure and young people are still enjoying the fullness of summer, there is anxiety for and pride in entering college and preparing for a larger view and a fuller conception of life which a college education gives.

Parents who are to send their children to college for the first time may well regard the selection of a school as of much importance. The impressions made by teachers and strong factors in education and much depends upon the personnel of the faculty.

We have some splendid colleges and universities in the Southwest, although our country is comparatively new. We are building in education and much of this is due to patriotic, long-suffering and determined teachers. Their ambition is for suitable schools, efficient colleges and universities and educated manhood and womanhood. Their duties are exacting, their compensation meager, most of their satisfaction being in unselfish service to society.

F. A. Woofter, prosperous farmer of Millett section was in town on business Wednesday. Mr. Woofter said his cotton yield was fairly good this year, and he has about completed gathering his crop. Mr. Woofter moved to La Salle county from West Virginia about a year ago.

Have you seen that pretty chinaware on display at Windrow's drugstore.

A. J. Waddell left Monday morning for his home in Holcomb, Mo. Mr. Waddell is the father of Mrs. McClain, who with her husband was arrested in connection with the Caudel killing, and both of whom are under bond awaiting the action of the grand jury. Mr. Waddell during his two weeks stay in Cotulla made many friends by his straightforward gentlemanly manner and earnest desire to see the murder mystery cleared up, regardless who it fell on.

After a month's visit in our city, Mrs. Bee Thomas Coleman left on Thursday's North bound train for her home in Ft. Worth. Mrs. Coleman will spend a few days in San Antonio and then return to the Baptist Seminary in Ft. Worth, where her husband Mr. Frank E. Coleman, is studying for the degree of Theology.

Miss Josephine Stuckey arrived yesterday to assume charge of the millinery department of K. Burwell's store for the fall season. Miss Stuckey has had charge of this department of the Burwell store for the past two years and is well known by the ladies throughout this trade territory. She spent the summer at her home in Indiana. Prior to returning to Cotulla she visited St. Louis and selected the fall millinery stock for the store as well as studying the new and attractive styles in headwear.

Mrs. W. A. Tarver and brother J. W. Poole received a message last Sunday stating that their mother was dangerously ill with typhoid fever at Cameron. They left on the night train for her bedside. Mr. Tarver has received word from them several times this week, and the latest is the sick woman is out of danger and will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Swisher have returned from a three weeks visit to the Gulf Coast country and report a very pleasant vacation. They spent several days at Galveston and Houston; among the other points they visited was Angleton, where they saw Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Motheral, formerly of Cotulla. Mr. Swisher, said Dr. Motheral was doing a fine practice and both he and Mrs. Motheral were well pleased with their new location.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY SUCCESS.

Many Phases of Sunday School Work Was Discussed—Many Workers Present.

By Convention Reporter

The Rally held by the La Salle County Sunday School Association last Friday the 29th at Rockwood, complete program of which was printed in full in the last issue of the Record, was pronounced by all who attended a grand success. The officers of the association expressed themselves as being very much gratified at the marked interest manifested by all the workers.

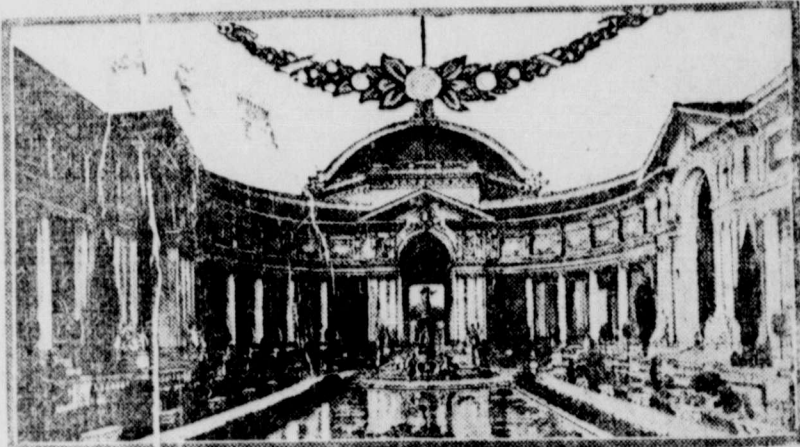

The day was a hot one, but the heat did not keep the crowd back nor take away the interest. The program was carried out in full except at night when with keen regret they gave away to the threatening weather.

While many phases of the Sunday School work were discussed for the purpose of education special emphasis was placed on the all important subject of Teacher Training and the Department for Children under twelve years.

Necessity of Trained workers everywhere and especially in the Sunday School was ably presented by Mr. W. E. Earnest of Millett and the crime of teachers attempting to teach without preparation was the subject of deep thought and careful consideration.

The teachers of the elementary grades [those under 12 years of age] in La Salle County are fortunate indeed to have as the champion of their department Mrs. J. H. Gallman, County Superintendent. She presented their work in a most intelligent, instructive and interesting manner. Mrs. F. I. Rock read a most convincing paper on "The Foundation"—lying emphasis on "The impressions of youth the key to man's Character." Rev. M. L. Rone of Cotulla led the crowd to the very feet of the Master in his devotional work

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

Copyright, 1913, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

ONE of the minor courts that will open out from the great exposition city upon a vast tropical garden upon the south. This court, a marvel of tropical transplanting, is south of the Court of Four Seasons. It is designed by Mr. George W. Kelham. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will stand alone not only in its architectural treatment but in its setting at Harbor View, the exposition site, in the adornment of its huge interior courts and of its grounds, with hundreds of thousands of palms, flowers and rare shrubs and vines, and in the superb color plan created by Jules Guerlin, world famous colorist. The theme of the exposition, the sculpture, and mural paintings will exalt the spirit of achievement through which America has completed the Panama canal. The theme of the great interior courts will suggest the meeting of the East and West.

both morning and evening.

Most of the schools in the county are represented, Millett, Gardendale, Artesia Wells and three schools in Cotulla all sent delegates making a total of seven schools reached. The officers of the Association claim this to be the largest number of schools, according to record, that have ever registered at any one meeting.

From the report made by their secretary the Rockwood School is far in advance of many of our schools with better equipment. The Association officers say they school now that they have received help on some phases of the work and show the best report at the annual meeting in January.

It was voted at the afternoon session to accept the invitation of the Millett School presented by Prof. Shanks to hold the next quarterly meeting Rally with them ninety days hence. This action must go before the Advisory Committee three weeks later for ratification or rejection.

The good ladies of Rockwood can always be depended upon for their part—and they played a great part in the entertaining of the convention delegates. The choicest springers were drawn from the flock and the gardens gave up their best fruits to these ladies. When we presented ourselves to the tables we found them groaning under their load of good things to eat and presided over with that grace and ease so in keeping with the daily lives of these ladies.

May the time spent be profitable to all and the bread cast upon the waters return to Him who gave His life for us increased a hundred fold showing the result of honest efforts. And may the time soon come when we can again meet in His presence.

HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY.

The Cotulla High School will open Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The teachers who have been attending the Frio-La Salle McMullen Counties Institute at Pearsall arrived here this morning. Among the new teachers were: Miss Ethel Louise Renick of Fayetteville, Ark., Miss Rosa Potter, of Waco, Miss Bessie Durham of Blanco, Miss Elizabeth Haile of San Antonio. Joe F. Willson arrived here two weeks ago. Local teachers that will teach are: Roy Lewis, Misses Fannie Woods, Alma Mendal and Adele Wildenthal. Mrs. Virginia Hodges will teach the negro school.

All schools of Texas will adopt a new lot of text books this year. This is the first change in books in five years and this series will run for six years. Old books in good condition can be traded in at the depository.

Wm. McClain, charged with conspiracy in connection with the Caudel killing, and bound over to wait the action of the grand jury, in the sum of $2,500 made bond this week and Thursday morning was given liberty.

The bond was signed by a number of Wilson county citizens where McClain was raised. The signatures on the bond were: J. E. Canfield, C. Z. Canfield, J. V. Wiseman, Joe McClain, J. A. Reed, E. T. Widner, G. A. Manly.

BIG DECREASE IN ONION ACREAGE.

Number of Pounds of Seed Shipped in Indicate that Not Over 150 Acres Will be Planted.

If the onion acreage to be planted in the Nueces valley adjacent to Cotulla this fall can be judged by the amount of seed shipped in, it will be smaller than for the past ten years.

From information given this paper at the express office by J. W. Lacey, the total amount of onion seed received at this point up to date does not exceed 50 pounds. This amount of seed will transplant about 150 acres. The failure to successfully market the onions the last three or four seasons has had effect on the farmers of this territory, and they are planting other crops other than onions.

There will be a considerable acreage planted in lettuce for the winter market.

The acreage of this product will more than double the onion acreage in this section. Winter vegetables of all kinds will be grown but not on a large scale.

Heavy feed crops are being grown on all of the irrigated farms and some of them will erect silos for the fall crops.

DOCTORS MEET

The meeting of the La Salle-Frio Medical Association at Pearsall last Monday was one of the most interesting and instructive meetings of the society yet held. Drs. Graham, Wichmann of Cotulla and Hale of Fowerton were present, representing La Salle County.

One of the most interesting papers was read by Dr. N. A. Roth of Seguin on typhoid Bacterian. The reader urged that bacterian be used in all cases. Dr. W. B. Russ of San Antonio, Dr. Beck and Dr. Hale of Fowerton also read instructive papers.

After the business session the visiting medical men were banqueted in great style and the physicians who attended from Cotulla highly praised the Pearsall people for their general hospitality.

If anyone doubts that the United States has a president with wisdom as backbone, just let him watch Woodrow Wilson.

Onion seed are coming in and the farmers are busy putting them in the ground. However, the crop will be lighter than for the past ten years.

The cotton crop is about all in—and now the price is soaring. However there has been no kick on the price all the season, as it has been above ten cents at all times.

School opens Monday morning Cotulla has had one of the best schools in Southwest Texas the past few years, and we hope it will not lose its standing this year.

It is said that Mexican agents are working among the cotton pickers in the territory North of here and that they are returning to Mexico by the score. It is said the agitators are telling the laborers that Americans are planning to massacre all Mexicans in Texas and it is time to flee for their lives. No doubt this is a scheme of the Huerta government to get the Mexicans across the Rio Grande and then press them into Military service.

Showers have fallen over the country adjacent to Cotulla for the past three days, and in the moisture put into the ground is sufficient for fall planting. Farmers are taking advantage of it and are planting forage crops. Heavy feed crops have been planted on all the irrigated farms and if there is a season the next two months there will be plenty of feed raised for winter use.

According to Hester's report just issued, the Texas cotton crop for this year is estimated at 535,000 bales over last year and the largest yet grow in the state. Yet, the crop of the South will be short nearly two million bales under last year. Hester puts the world's consumption of American cotton at 14,903,000 bales, an increase over last year of 338,000 bales, and an increase over year before last of 2,849,000.

John N. Garner, Fifteenth District Congressman has achieved another victory in the recommendation by the Government for an appropriation for the Inter-coastal Canal from near the mouth of the Mississippi to Brownsville. Mr. Garner has been working on this for many years and its success will mean a great deal for Texas. The Devine News, commenting on the Uvalde man's success says it should give him a lead for Culberson's place in the United States Senate.

The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Frank Rabb for Collector of Customs of the Laredo-Corpus-Brownsville district. The fight for this place has attracted state-wide attention. Rabb was opposed by James B. Wells a politician known all over Texas and formerly the "boss of the Lower Rio Grande," who sought to defeat Rabb, an active political opponent of Wells. Senator Culberson did not favor the appointment of Rabb and had never made any recommendation in the matter. The appointment was sent to the Senate during Senator Culberson's absence, and was held up until he could be consulted, but he did not interfere.

Pure Air for School Children.

Attention is directed by the city health department in its weekly bulletin to the importance of proper ventilation in schools. It is pointed out that "the average individual spends more days upon the sick bed, while of school age, than at any other period of life." Most of the diseases by which school children are afflicted might be prevented. Those who have investigated the matter need not be told that pure air will do more than other things to eliminate the danger of infection. In the schoolroom pure air tends to keep up the pupil's physical tone, thus enabling him to resist disease. A principal or teacher who overlooks the importance of adequate ventilation in the schoolroom is not only inefficient but a menace to the community in which he or she is employed.

There is a big sermon in the health department's statement that "in the open window lies the hope of the school child of today..."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A report from the Rhode Island Medical Society states that 120 sufferers of pulmonary trouble treated by Dr. Friedman last April with his turtle vaccine have shown no wonderful improvement but on the contrary about 17 per cent of the cases have shown an increased activity of the disease. Dr. Friedman was only one of the fakirs that happen along every day.

An anti-American demonstration was held at Nuevo Laredo last Saturday night. It is stated that one of the speakers commenting on the cutting off of arms and ammunition from the federals as well as rebels said that would make no difference, for if they, the federals, became pressed for either guns or ammunition, they would just march over to Ft. McIntosh and take what they wanted. And no doubt some of them believe that would be easy to do. They will never know until they try.

REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY.

At the 11:00 o'clock hour of worship the meeting begins at the Methodist Church. Rev. J. C. Wilson who is to assist in the preaching will arrive Tuesday to the close of the services. Hear Rev. Wilson once and you won't want to miss a service. We extend a welcome to everybody to come and take an active part in the meeting.

DON'T TAKE THE WRONG MEDICINE

If Your Liver Gets Lazy You Need a Liver Tonic, Not Merely a Laxative for the Bowels.

Many people take a simple laxative when their liver gets sluggish rather than take calomel, which they know to be dangerous. But mere laxative will not start a sluggish liver. What is needed is a tonic that will live on the liver without forcing it to stay at home and lose a day from your business.

You have such a tonic in Dodson's Liver Tone. Dodson's Liver Tone must be all they claim for it because they guarantee it to take the place of dangerous calomel and agree to hand back the money with a smile to any person who tries Dodson's Liver Tone and is not satisfied with the relief it gives.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a harmless vegetable liquid with a pleasant taste, and is a prompt and reliable remedy for constipation, biliousness, sour stomach, and the other troubles that come from a torpid liver.

Gaddis' Pharmacy give it their personal guarantee and if you will ask about this guarantee you will protect yourself against imitation that are not guaranteed. Large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone is 50 cents.
