HOSPITAL ELECTION MAY 16

Why Do We Need A New Hospital?

Q. What will really happen if the hospital bond issue should fail to pass?
A. The way the present hospital is operating, within the next year, or less, there will be no hospital facilities in Muleshoe.

Q. Will we be completely without hospital and doctor facilities?
A. There is a great possibility we will be without hospital facilities and only the individual doctors can answer the question as to whether or not there will be doctor services.

Q. What facilities are we offering the present doctors to induce them to remain in practice in Muleshoe?
A. If you were a doctor with a promising future, would you practice medicine in a county without an intensive care unit; without a single surgery recovery room; without a complete cardiac care unit; without an equipped emergency receiving room; without an adequate laboratory; without enough x-ray and diagnostic equipment or without a general surgeon, a relief anesthetist, and other vital medical specialists? Presently, we offer our doctors, long hours and a minimum of working equipment.

Q. If the hospital bond issue fails, what are our school children to do if they are injured or become ill and our hospital is closed?
A. We would merely have to hope an ambulance is available to take them to Clovis or Lubbock.

Q. I have elderly parents here, one with a severe heart condition. What are they to do for medical care?
A. Make arrangements with the nearest neighboring hospital and the local ambulance service. The nearest neighboring hospital is at Friona, 29 miles from Muleshoe.

Q. What will happen when the surrounding hospitals necessarily limit referrals because of their own patient overload?
A. We will have no alternative except to call various hospitals until one is found which is willing to accept the patient.

Hospital Announces Possible Shutdown

As a result of a meeting of the Board of Trustees of West Plains Memorial Hospital Tuesday night, May 5, the following statement was issued:

"The Board of Trustees of West Plains Memorial Hospital, Inc. goes on record as wholeheartedly supporting the upcoming Hospital District vote and issuance of Bonds. "We feel compelled as a Board to advise the people that the present hospital facilities are facing an economic crisis. Each member of the Board will do everything possible to keep the present hospital open under any circumstances, but unless the economic condition of the present hospital improves there is a distinct probability that this hospital cannot continue to operate."

Rubella Clinics Slated Wednesday

Next Wednesday, May 13, is target day for the Rubella Clinics which are slated to be held in the area. Rubella a childhood disease, is more commonly called German Measles. However, Rubella has been responsible in the past during the epidemic of 1964-67 of killing or deforming more than 30,000 babies.

The clinics will begin at 8:30-9:30; Three Way, 10:15-11:15; Mary DeShazo School, 11:45-1:45; Richland Hills

School, 2:00-3:00; Lazbuddie School, 2:00-3:00 and at the Goodwill Center from 5:30-8:00 p.m.

Volunteer workers will be on duty in the Muleshoe State Bank community room from 8:30-6:00 p.m. to dispense information on the clinics.

The volunteers have been explaining the necessity of the immunization program to civic and service organizations, social clubs and individuals in an effort to secure necessary funds for the program. The state health department pays for vaccinating school children, but $1.40 is needed for the vaccine for pre-school children who need the immunization.

Mrs. Jimmie Black, chairman of the voluntary group coordinating the effort said approximately $1,500 will be needed in order to pay the state for vaccine which will be used during the day, and although many organizations and individuals have donated funds, more are needed at this point. Boxes will be set up at each clinic locations for donated funds, however, it is stressed that no one will be refused the vaccination for their child or children because of financial inability to pay.

Because of misconception about who needs the inoculations against Rubella, these are the words of Ralph W. Gause, M.D. Obstetrical Consultant, The National Foundation-March

Maple Mercantile Hit By Burglars

Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements and Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Petree are busy this week investigating a burglary which involved a grocery store owned by Precinct Three Commissioner W.H. Eubanks.

The Maple Mercantile, which is owned by Eubanks was entered through a pried open back door last Thursday night and the burglar or burglars absconded with an estimated $1,500-$2,000 in merchandise.

Missing in the burglary are five or six Timex watches; 100 packages of razor blades; $600 in cigarettes; four billfolds; nine cans of hair spray; two electric coffee makers; 24 bath towels and hand towels; five blankets and 20 pair of panty hose.

Local officials feel that this burglary, which happened at an unknown time April 30, perhaps has a tie in with a burglary just across the New Mexico line at Causey.

Deputy Sheriff Odell Smith of the Roosevelt County Sheriff's office reported a burglary of the Causey Hardware Store sometime during the night of April 30, where the burglars also entered that store after opening a back door.

Taken in the Causey burglary were $350 in cash ($200 in half dollars); eight pocket knives; 25 carton cigarettes; 12 pair of Buckskin gloves; one-three-eighths inch electric drill; one-quarter inch electric drill; four shop hammers, four car tools and one electric razor.

Although no charges have been filed, several suspects have been questioned and at least two of the suspects are presently under investigation in the thefts.

RUBELLA VACCINE PERMISSION SLIP
Mulshoe Civic Clubs and the Bailey County Health Department are jointly sponsoring a special "Rub Out Rubella" program for all children ages 6 through 10.

The Mulshoe Medical Society has endorsed this program and the Mulshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees has agreed to allow the vaccine to be given at school. There is no charge made for the immunization of children in school.

RUBELLA (GERMAN MEASLES) IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THOUSANDS OF BIRTH DEFECTS.

Which Children Should NOT receive Rubella Vaccines? Children who have already received rubella vaccine. Children who are sick with high fever on the day of immunization. Children who are sensitive to chicken or duck, chicken or duck eggs and feathers, or neomycin. Children being treated for cancer or leukemia.

I request that my child, _____ be given Rubella Vaccine. I have read and understand the above information.

of Dimes: "Many mothers are confused about the recent program to vaccinate children against German measles. They know their children already had a measles shot and therefore think they don't need this new vaccine. Unfortunately, this is a common but grave misunderstanding. The vaccination your children received against measles will not protect them from German measles. They are two different diseases caused by two different viruses.

"The medical term for regular measles is Rubella and is the more serious of the two infections for a child. German measles is called rubella. The measles shot your youngsters received protects them against rubella only.

"You can easily see the value of protecting your child from the dangers of a disease like regular measles, but you are probably wondering why he needs to be vaccinated against a mild illness like rubella.

"The real problem lies in the damage Rubella can cause in unborn children when a pregnant woman contracts the disease. A woman who catches Rubella early in pregnancy risks giving birth to a baby with one or more birth defects. Therefore, by protecting your child from catching Rubella, you prevent him from spreading it and infecting you and the mothers of his friends.

"You should also know that having once had Rubella does not absolutely guarantee that your child will not get it again. Also, you may not be sure whether the rash and mild fever your youngster had was really German measles.

"In addition to having your own child inoculated, you will also be doing your friends a great favor by telling them about this new vaccine. But make sure to fill them in on all the facts so that they will be aware of the importance of having their youngsters protected."

A girl and a handsome farm lad were walking along a road together. The farm lad was carrying a large pail on his back, holding a chicken in one hand and a cane in the other, and leading a goat. They came to a dark lane.

Said the girl: "I'm afraid to walk here with you. You might try to kiss me."

Said the farm lad: "How could I, with all these things I'm carrying?"

"Well, you might stick the cane in the ground, tie the goat to it, and put the chicken under the pail."

Hutton And Lamb Elected To Six-Town Committee

Jerry Hutton, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Gil Lamb were elected to represent Muleshoe on a six-town steering committee, Monday night, at a Farwell meeting sparked to form an Area Fine Arts Council.

Mrs. Emily Whitesides, Associate Director of the Texas Fine Arts Commission, and John Anderson, manager of conventions and special events department of Lubbock's Chamber of Commerce, toured Muleshoe, Monday afternoon. They inspected the auditorium and staging facilities, as well as met with people interested in breathing life into cultural and educational future that opened with a bang... a Pop Concert, that is.

Between 50 and 60 persons from Farwell, Friona, Bovina, Lazbuddie, Muleshoe and Three-Way attended a nuts and bolts forum at Farwell School auditorium that night.

Mrs. Whitesides and Anderson outlined different methods and goals to the group it might wish to pursue on a regional basis, to open the stage door on all types of entertainment, educational and cultural programs in this grass-roots region.

A temporary steering committee composed of two persons from each of six communities was elected by the group at large. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Messenger are posted for Friona; Marian McDaniels and Mrs. Ann Sowder for Three-Way; Mrs. Peggy Snider and Charles Aycock for Farwell; Don Spring and Mrs. Sue Naegle for Bovina; and Joe Moore and Mrs. Kitty Gallman will represent Lazbuddie.

Their job is to check area resources, determine the types of programs most desired and suitable for each community,

FAREWELL GIFT... to a helpful friend and loyal worker was presented by Mrs. Johnie Prater to Mrs. Ralph Douglas, as Mrs. Jay Weyer commends her. The WCS of the First United Methodist Church so recognized Mrs. Douglas, at its Tuesday luncheon-meeting.

From Congressman BOB PRICE

Congressman Bob Price (R-Texas) told the House of Representatives Wednesday that President Nixon should declare a new strategy in Vietnam designed to focus this Nation's military might on bringing the conflict there to a speedy close.

Price introduced a resolution calling on the President to "institute a plan of action of day and night bombardment that will assure the total destruction of North Vietnam's military and industrial installations, transportation and communications lines, Haiphong Harbor, and a total air, land, and sea embargo on commerce between North Vietnam and other Nations."

The Korean War fighter pilot also called for the President to send U.S. military equipment and supplies and military advisors to Cambodia.

Price called his proposal the "fourth alternative."

"The Paris Peace Talks have been marked with much heat, but little light. The second alternative, unilateral withdrawal, has been rejected because it would mean that great American sacrifices have all been in vain and would constitute proof that the United States is unwilling to live up to its commitments. The third alternative, Vietnamization, has worked much better than I originally thought it would. Recent events, however, have demonstrated that the enemy has not scaled down his activities in response to American troop withdrawal."

"The Communists do not want any peace except on terms which will allow them to enforce their will on millions of helpless Asians. Bitter experiences demonstrate that where dealing with the Reds is concerned, there is no middle ground. Accordingly, I believe that President Nixon should declare this new strategy in Vietnam."

"I think the military policies I have outlined would lead to the swift defeat of the aggressors, and a well earned peace could settle on the area for the first time in over twenty years. The Communists have demonstrated that freedom for Southeast Asia can only be purchased by force," Price said.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Work toward readying a farm bill for House consideration, although greatly slowed by the absence of House Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob Poage of Waco, has not stopped.

Poage left Washington April 25 on an official business trip to Australia and India after many weeks of trying to get a farm bill reported from his committee before that date. The Committee is now slated to reconvene almost immediately upon Poage's return May 11 in hopes of reporting a bill within a few days.

How quickly the Committee can act, however, will depend greatly on what the Cotton Subcommittee does in the meantime. Programs for wheat and feed grains, though far from being satisfactory to all concerned, are now said to be ready for a vote in the full Committee. But a cotton program is yet to be forthcoming from the Cotton Subcommittee, chaired by Representative Thomas Abernethy (D-Miss.).

A number of proposals and counter proposals have passed between Abernethy's Committee and USDA officials, but full agreement has not been reached.

Consequently there continues a round of conferences between Subcommittee members, USDA officials and industry representatives. These are likely to go on until May 7 when the Cotton Subcommittee is scheduled to hold one last meeting before Poage reactivates the full Committee.

Both Poage and Abernethy are of the opinion that a farm bill cannot be passed in the House without substantial support from the Administration.

Generally speaking, loan prices for the lower grade, short staple cottons are increased, while prices for the higher grades of medium and longer staples are reduced.

For example, Strict Low Middling Light Spot 15/16 inch cotton in 1970, if placed in the government loan, will enter at 15.95 cents per pound as compared to the 1969 loan price of 15.35 cents. Middling 1-1/16 inch cotton, priced in the loan last year at 23.80 cents, in 1970 has been reduced to 23.35 cents. A similar narrowing of differences between short and long staple cottons and between lower and higher grades is evident throughout the loan schedule for 1970.

There was no great change in premiums and discounts for micronaire readings in 1970. These, together with the 1969 figures for comparison, are as follows:

So, if interim negotiations and the May 7 meeting produce agreement between the Subcommittee and USDA, the full Committee might have a bill ready for the House by the end of May or early in June. Otherwise any thought of a time table for farm legislation this year would be wild speculation.

The base loan rate for Middling-inch cotton, Lubbock area, in 1970 is 20.20 cents per pound, same as in 1969. However, significant changes have been made in the price relationships between different grades and staples, reflecting supply-demand conditions that existed during the first eight months of the 1969-70 marketing year.

Generally speaking, loan prices for the lower grade, short staple cottons are increased, while prices for the higher grades of medium and longer staples are reduced.

Choir Sings Toward State Baptist Fete

The Junior Choir of the First Baptist Church travelled to Amarillo Saturday, May 2, for the State Junior Choir Festival. They had been rated "Excellent" in the Association Festival in February, enabling them to be eligible for adjudication on the state level.

After a brief rehearsal period, the group was adjudicated in the Sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo. Churches that were also judged were the First Baptist Church of the cities; Tulia, Floydada, Shallowater, Dalhart, Dumas, Borger, Perryton, Plainview, and the Monterey Baptist Church of Lubbock.

Each choir was to sing the anthem memorized for their respective Association Festival as their first selection. Then, the judges requested each choir to sing another anthem, chosen by the judge from five listed, and adjudicated on that selection as well.

The First Baptist, Muleshoe choir did a fine job! Their attentiveness to their director, Mr. Moore, spoke well for their hard work prior to the Festival. Ratings will be mailed to the churches participating sometime this week.

Following the Festival, the group picnicked in a city park and spent the afternoon in Wonderland Amusement Park. The, then tired but elated, group returned home about 6:30 p.m.

The choir membership is composed of: Rickey Grogan, Tommy Crow, Dean Northcutt, Mike Pool, Mark Harris, Trey Stoneham, Shawnda Turner, Denice Harrison, Nicky Barnert, Joyce Camp, Max DuBose, Karen Grimsley, Patricia Grimsley, Steven Grimsley, Susan Grimsley, Randall Hamilton, Royce Hamilton, Judy Precure, Mark Benedict, Lisa Payne and Judy Layne.

Sponsors for the day were: Mrs. Dorothy Turner, Mrs. Vic Benedict, Mrs. Carl Barnert, Mrs. Kenneth Precure, Rev. and Mrs. Douglas DuBose, and Mack Moore, director of the choir, with his wife, Huntcey.

This is Oldsmobile's year at Indy.

Isn't it your year for an Olds?

The knowing folks at Indy just named Olds 4-4-2 official pace car for this year's 500.

For good reason Olds is not only an excellent performer, it's a winner in looks and ride as well.

The fact is, every 1970 Olds is a pacesetter. And it goes far deeper than performance.

You find it in great engineering in exceptional comfort in ride and handling that are outstanding. And in the solid quality and dependability you've come to expect from Oldsmobile.

In fact, it's this quality that leads many people to believe that Olds is priced out of their reach. A mistaken notion that might keep you in an ordinary car instead of an Olds.

The truth of the matter is that many Olds models are priced right down with the low-price names.

Now that you have the facts, isn't this your year to go Oldsmobile? You can probably do so for no more than what you've been paying. See your nearest Olds dealer!

The Fatal Fad

IN RECENT YEARS it has become fashionable to speak of political violence as "the politics of confrontation."

Unfortunately for those who would follow this fashion and for the society that is fated to be the site of their dramatics, confrontation requires two sides. And though it never seems to occur to the advocates of violent confrontation until too late, the continued use of violence and force by one side sooner or later will provoke a violent reaction from the other side.

There is apparently an amazingly naive belief among the advocates of confrontation that the objects of their violence will remain forever quiescent and accept with saintlike patience the bottles, brickbats or bombs that the activists hurl at them. Having assigned some human beings the combined role of authority figure and target, the advocates of force usually display horror, outrage and surprise when the individuals they attack turn on them and answer violence with violence.

A student at Kent State noted after the riot that minutes before the gunfire began, "it seemed almost humorous to see a stone about the size of a golf ball bounce off a guardsman's helmet..."

During the Chicago riots of 1968, there were those who enjoyed the same sort of humor in seeing a barrage of bricks, stones, bottles and bags of excrement hurled at the Chicago policemen.

So long as somebody else is the passive victim of the violence, the politics of confrontation is a lark. There seems to be little if any awareness of the fact that the hurling of missiles and verbal filth at another human being is not at all humorous for the target - nor is there the realization among those who enjoy this sort of violence that the most likely reaction is that the victim will eventually answer it in kind.

For several years now, we have heard adult opinion leaders in government, the church and the academy praise the tactic of political self-expression through the willful breaking of laws and coercion. Though some have later denied responsibility, claiming that they were speaking of theories and symbolic demonstrations, their theories have been practiced in reality by activists who have attacked not symbols but other individual human beings.

The reaction of these human beings in turning on their tormentors was obviously not foreseen by the theorists of confrontation and it is difficult to understand why. Their short-sighted fad has now proved fatal to a number of Americans. If we do not work together to resolve the problems it has created, it may prove fatal to America.

Flaming Campuses Threaten Society

So now, five years after it all started at Berkeley, it has come to this: Four students, two of them girls, dead at Kent State University, a dozen other wounded, in the bloodiest confrontation of the student revolution.

And elsewhere across the greening springtime land, the flames of campus dissent are licking at the powder keg - a blazing American flag hauled up a flagpole in California... Richard Nixon burned in effigy at Austin... ROTC buildings attacked and set afire... A general student strike invoked against the American drive into Cambodia.

When the "free speech" movement began at Berkeley five years ago, few persons could foresee what lay ahead. But we see it now in all its stark ugliness - intemperate language and incendiary, provocation and ridicule, rioting and death. Let us face the issue honestly: We have been brought to the very sword edge of open, armed conflict between contending forces; if the current climate of hatred and fear is not mollated, and quickly, the fabric of our civilization may be torn beyond repair.

When a situation has come to the point that mature, law-abiding adults respond to a campus tragedy by suggesting that more of the radicals ought to be shot, one is brought face to face with what polarization is all about. It is the banishment of reason from both sides and an end to moderation.

No civility, no rationality, no moderation can exist when free speech becomes violence. Burning an ROTC building is not free speech; it is violence. Advocating more National Guard fusilades on campus is not free speech either; it is shouting "Fire!" in a crowded theater.

It is time for a moratorium on provocation. Let us have an end to the taunts and obscenities calculated to snap the patience of those with whom we disagree.

It is time for a moratorium on intellectual arrogance. Let us have no more of the brazen assertion, "We are right and you are wrong, and we are going to shut you down."

It is time for a moratorium on fashionable dissent for the sake of dissent. Let us have a respite from the modish, mindless posturing that obscures issues and nullifies the work of the conscientious critic.

It is time for a moratorium on scorn. Let us cease heaping calumny on tradition, epithets on authority and laughter on the common man and the things he loves.

And above all it is time for a moratorium on lawless campus violence, for it is sowing the seeds of untold tragedy and grief. It is sweeping aside all of the old sanctions to integrity - prudence, charity, religion, manners - and replacing them with a ferocious blend of terror and force, the only influences that govern a society when the old sanctions are gone.

The young men and women killed at Kent State may never have hurled a brick or stone, struck a match or shouted a provocation in anger. What can one say when an unarmed coed lies dead on an Ohio campus in the normally quiet countryside of Middle America?

Not much, perhaps except this: It need not have happened. But it will go on happening as long as the destructive student minority continues to mock and deface the symbols of social continuity to which we cling.

Mother Shipton's Prophecy

MOTHER SHIPTON WROTE THE PROPHECY BELOW MORE THAN 500 YEARS AGO.

A carriage without horses shall go,
Disaster fill the world with woe;
In London, Primrose Hill shall be,
Its center hold a Bishop's See,
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly,
Quick as the twinkling of an eye.

And waters shall great wonder do--
How strange and yet it shall come true,
Then upside down the world shall be,
And gold found at the root of tree;
Thro' towering hills proud man shall ride,
Nor hoss nor ass move by his side.

Beneath the water men shall walk;
Shall ride, shall sleep and even talk,
And in the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black as well as green,
A great man then shall come and go,
For prophecy declares it so.

In water iron then shall float
As easy as a wooden boat,
Gold shall be found in stream or stone,
In land that is as yet unknown,
Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England shall admit the Jew.

The British olive next shall twine,
In marriage with the German vine,
Men walk beneath and over streams--
Fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams.

All England's sons shall plow the land
Shall off be seen with book in hand,
The poor shall now most wisdom know
And water wind where corn did grow;
Great houses stand in farflung vale,
All covered o'r with snow and hail.

And now a word in uncouth rhyme,
Of what shall be in future time:
For in those wondrous, far-off days
The women shall adopt a craze
To dress like men and trousers wear.

And cut off their lovely locks of hair.

They'll ride astride with brazen brow,
As witches on a broomstick now,
Then love shall die and marriage cease
And nations wane as babes decrease,
And wives shall fondle cats and dogs.

And men live much the same as hogs.

In nineteen hundred twenty-six
Build houses light of straw and sticks

For then shall mighty wars be planned,
And fire and sword shall sweep the land,
But those who live the century through,
In fear and trembling this will do:

Flee to the mountains and the dens,
To bog and forests and wild fens--
For storms shall rage and oceans roar
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore,
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

NEWS NOTES

ASPHYXIATION

Washington--A carbon monoxide prevention kit has been distributed to the 54 state and territorial health officers by the Environmental Control Administrator to help minimize home heater hazards. Chris A. Hansen, commissioner of the administration, urged the elimination of unvented fuel-burning heaters from dwellings.

CAR POOL TEST

San Francisco--A one-day car pool experiment reduced one morning's traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge by nearly 1,000 cars and air pollution by 2.36 tons. Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge Highway and Transportation District, said that 16,226 cars crossed the bridge southbound from 6 to 9 A.M., against 17,200 on a normal day.

EXPLOSIVE FLOWER POT

San Bernardino, Cal.--While walking on a Southern California beach, Mrs. Beverly Duval and her daughter saw a piece of "junk" they thought would make a pretty petunia pot. Some time later Mrs. Duval heard a warning about explosives washing ashore and called the Navy. Their "pot" was a depth charge without the detonator.

John Tower

United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

We have all heard a great deal about the need for reforming our method of electing our Presidents and Vice Presidents. There are several inherent difficulties with our current Electoral College method established by the Constitution. The number and sophistication of American voters has grown to such an extent that there is no longer a need for faceless men, unknown to the people, to cast the actual electoral votes to elect the President. Every proposal for electoral reform would abolish the electors themselves and at least that much change is required.

But the Senate Judiciary Committee recently approved, 11 to 6, a Constitutional amendment calling for direct popular election and my colleagues in the Senate can be expected to take up this matter later this session.

While I support moderate electoral reform, I am opposed to direct popular election because I believe it is fraught with danger. There could be several adverse effects.

For one thing, it would encourage the splintering of our two-party system. Factions now vie within our parties for influence and control. Direct popular election would encourage these factions to establish themselves as independent parties. This has happened in a number of other countries. A proliferation of political parties would drastically reduce the possibility of a presidential candidate receiving majority support from the voters. In many countries in which a number of political parties exist, the result is that the candidate with a plurality of the vote is forced to go hat-in-hand to some of his opposition candidates and strike deals with them in order to form a coalition government. Such governments have often proved incapable of dealing with major problems.

Another possibility which poses danger in a direct election is that of fraud. Election fraud already exists to some extent. In local areas where the leaders of a single party control the election procedures without sufficient vigilance from the other party, the possibility of fraud is enhanced. In an extremely close presidential election, a late count of ballots from a significantly one-party dominated locality might decide the contest. Such a development might severely handicap the newly-elected president.

There are a number of proposals for electoral reform which I believe are preferable to direct popular election. I am a co-sponsor of a measure which would reform our electoral system in line with the tage of the vote total each candidate received in that state.

Another plan is even simpler. It would merely abolish the use of actual electors and elect the president who receives the most electoral votes under our present system in which the candidate who receives the largest number of votes on a statewide basis receives all of the state's electoral votes.

I would have no strong opposition to any of these three later proposals, indeed, I would support one or two of them. But I am strongly opposed to direct popular elections. I fear that they would tend to encourage a proliferation of political parties as well as make the possibility for election fraud even more devastating.

Another matter directly involving elections is an amendment to the Voting Rights Act to lower the voting age to 18. This amendment was approved by the Senate, although I voted against it, and the amended bill is pending in the House.

I am not opposed to lowering the voting age to 18, but I have always maintained that the power to establish voting age should remain with the states. Even if this action were to take place at the federal level, it should, in my opinion, take the form of a Constitutional Amendment, and not the form of a statute.

If the amendment lowering the voting age remains attached to the Voting Rights bill a statutory measure, that is, and becomes law along with the bill, 18-year-old suffrage would still be subject to serious court challenge on Constitutional grounds. If the Supreme Court ruled the law unconstitutional, the election which formed the basis for the case might be thrown into doubt. It would indeed be regrettable, and indeed possible chaotic, if that were a presidential election.

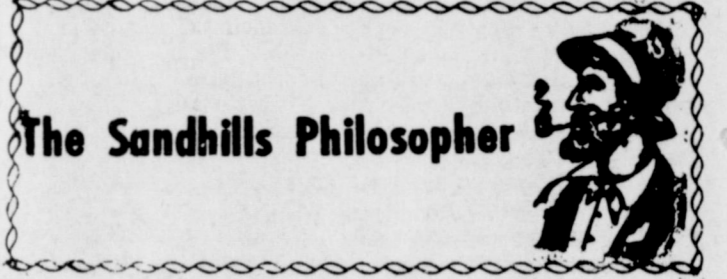

Your Affairs

It is good for the average citizen to keep up with national and international affairs, but it is a better idea for him to keep up with his personal affairs.

Among these, one would include business interests and also the development of personality, often neglected.

An individual can accomplish little in solving the problems that baffle statesmen, but can accomplish much in regard to his, or her, personal advancement and development.

Despite the elements of luck and fate, this is usually accomplished by hard work and the use of intelligence.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles inflation this week. It may have gotten away from him.

I have long known that a farmer, needing a rain, has to be careful where he says so out loud. His neighbor may still be planting and get mad about it, which underscores a sort of unwritten belief that wishing has something to do with the weather.

Of course farmers are just going on, but, I have found out, this isn't true of economists.

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night, some of the nation's leading economists are trying to wish inflation away. One of them, lighting his pipe with a match from a penny box of matches now costing two cents, said "the economy should emerge from the current dip on a path of sustainable growth, with inflation on the wane."

What this means is that if things pick up he was right and if they don't, let's talk about something else.

But about the best statement came from another economist who said: "The peak of inflation is past and prices soon will be rising more slowly."

That's a statement worth picking up in your hand and rolling around and looking at more closely.

If inflation is ending because prices, while still rising, aren't rising as fast as they did yesterday, that's like saying we're getting closer to dry weather because it didn't rain as much this week as it did last week. It's like a fat man's saying his diet is working because he gained two pounds less this month than the month before. It's like a lawyer's feeling good because he got his client 99 years instead of life. It's like a college student's teaching the administration a lesson in literature by burning down the library. It's like saying automobile pollution is lessening because we're having more wrecks.

I don't see why the economists don't abandon all their theories, get down to bedrock and state flat-footedly that rising prices cause inflation and that unarguably inflation produces rising prices and let's all hope the weather is better tomorrow.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Jealousy

Of all the emotions which afflict us, one of the most sinister is simple jealousy. Not a one among us is completely free of this reaction, although all of us realize it is the root of much evil, an unbecoming and unproductive emotion.

Generally speaking, we tend to be jealous of others who receive acclaim, money or success--especially at a young age. If we happen to have been a competitor, or to have sought success in the same field, sometimes the temptation to be jealous is great.

Jealousy often destroys those who are jealous. In so many cases jealousy is unjustified, and is the result of suspicion, envy or misunderstanding. It is always surprising how many people earn the laurels they receive.

The happiest citizens among us are those who have developed a philosophy which enables them to applaud the success of others.

DUBCEK OUT OF PARTY

Prague - The Czechoslovak Communist party disclosed recently it has removed from active party ranks Alexander Dubcek and Josef Smrkovsky. The demotions of Dubcek and Smrkovsky were coupled with renewed public denunciation of the leading reformers of the 1968 "Prague spring"-the Dubcek liberal movement crushed by the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia in August of that year.

Educator With-- A Purpose

by Mike Casey

"Education paves the road to success" is a phrase coined by many current day teachers but probably not one of them could mean it any more wholeheartedly than Everitt Maxwell of Lazbuddie High School.

Everitt or 'Mr. Maxwell' as he is more familiarly known by his students is a well-known face around the halls of Lazbuddie High School where he teaches Bookkeeping, Typing I and II, and seventh and eighth grade English. He is a teacher thoroughly interested in the well-fare of his students and their future.

Mr. Maxwell joined the Lazbuddie School system in 1958 and has been with it ever since and is not hesitant about stating he is "very happy" at Lazbuddie. "The people are so friendly it's just like a big happy family," says Mr. Maxwell with a grin.

Arkansas is what Mr. Maxwell calls his native home, having been born and raised there for the biggest part of his life. He was born in Witt Springs and graduated from the high school of that name in 1918. After graduating from high school, he immediately attended business college in Chillicothe, Arkansas and for a short while that was the extent of his schooling in the college level.

He started teaching school shortly after graduating from Chillicothe Business College and when asked how that was possible without any further schooling he replied, "Back then there weren't any certain qualifications that a teacher had to meet. Usually all that was necessary was for one to have a high school education. Of course as time went on and things became more complex, it was necessary to set some qualifications."

Some of the high schools Mr. Maxwell was associated with in his early days in the teaching profession were Piny Ridge High School, Allred High School and Center Ridge High School, all in the state of Arkansas. He was a grade school principal and teacher at Marvell, Arkansas High School for a number of years and in the Pottsville, Arkansas school system he served as high school superintendent for four years.

In 1952, Mr. Maxwell received his Bachelor's degree from Arkansas State Teachers College and five years later his Masters. He is a very well qualified instructor as he lays claim to having three majors; one in business, one in social studies; and one in education. His teaching experience is one to be envied, having had 47 years of experience in teaching and administration. His daughter has followed in his footsteps and is now a teacher in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Forty-seven years as a teacher and administrator is quite a record to have achieved, but as he says, "It's what I really enjoy doing and it is rather rewarding."

Mr. Maxwell is a valuable asset to the Lazbuddie School system and as many students at Lazbuddie will admit, he will always be remembered as an "educator with a purpose."

"I really am proud of Pearlene, Bob, and their adopted family. They're wonderful," said a most reliable source, Mrs. Blanche Volkman Alford, in regard to her daughter and family.

Mrs. R.L. (Pearlene) Chapman was presented a life membership certificate for outstanding contribution to Yucca P-TA, by Mrs. W.W. Harmon, president, of the Artesia, N.M. chapter. Mrs. Chapman will be remembered as the former Pearlene Volkman, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Bolkman Alford, and the late K.R. Volkman, of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Chapman attended Muleshoe schools, lived here all her life before marrying Bob Chapman, and was a beauty operator at Chubbie's and Jessie's Beauty Shop, located in Muleshoe several years ago.

Active in Girl Scout work in Artesia, as well as the P-TA, Mrs. Chapman has just finished a Girl Scout festival, with the winning booth. In P-TA, she was project chairman for the annual fund raising event for the past two years, and chairman for the carnival the past year. Bobby Lee Chapman, who attended Muleshoe schools, will
