By Kitty Montgomery

The Texas Senate gave final legislative approval Friday to a proposal setting up a pay and ethics commission for public officials. The proposal will go to the voters in May as a proposed amendment to the State constitution.

It is incomprehensible that the legislative bodies of the state would set up a watch-dog commission to keep them on the straight and narrow. Therefore, one must come to the conclusion that the measure is strictly a gimmick to get a pay raise. The voters of the state have at least twice in the last few years refused to authorize a pay raise for state officials. This year the pay raise will be camouflaged with consolidation with the ethics bill and no doubt have a better chance.

In view of the latest happenings in Austin few would argue that some sort of enforced code of ethics is indeed called for. However, if these men were acting in good faith, would they really tag a pay-raise provision onto an ethics bill? How ethical is that? One must also question the fact that our senators and representatives think that the voters of this state are so naive as to vote for this proposal.

The people of this state were led to believe that the first order of business was to find the money to finance the already top-heavy budget. According to all press releases, very little has been accomplished along these lines, if anything. The people of the state might be more amenable to a pay raise for these public officials if they got down to business and got the job done.

The voters of this state approved a small sales tax to help finance state projects, and it was like letting a fence down to let one cow by and the entire herd came through. It has been raised and raised and will no doubt be raised again. I hardly think they will give the red-light to a commission to give pay raises as they see fit.

It has never been so cold to look so warm. Another dry cold front blew in over the week end and we've had reports of temperatures dipping to 8 and 10 degrees early Monday morning. However, we've had bright sunshine throughout the week and it will no doubt be a bit warmer by the time you read this even though I am shivering in my boots as I write it.

Don't forget the drama, "The Diary of Adam and Eve," which Ozonians will have an opportunity to see next Wednesday night at the high school auditorium. From all reports it will afford a most enjoyable evening. The show is being brought to Ozona by the Methodist Church in cooperation with most of the other churches in town. It features a delightful young cast and will offer you a golden opportunity to get away from the television tube for a night.

Men on the moon may be old hat to a lot of adults, but the kids still get excited about it. Young Diron Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Holt, went to bed the night before the moon landing with his mother's solemn promise that she would wake him in time to see the astronauts walking on the moon. When Mrs. Holt awoke Diron with the news that the moon walk was in progress, he jumped from his bed without a word and ran to his window to get a view of the moon. He was only a little less excited when he discovered that he would have to be content with watching the process on television.

Although I appreciate the many invitations I have to "come and bring your camera," (especially the latter, since I am such a lousy photographer) I try to make it a rule not to attend meetings at night unless the outcome affects the population.

Gas-Distillate Find Finaled In Crockett

Texas Crude Oil Co. Inc., Midland, No. 1-A-12 University Crockett County Ellenburger gas-distillate discovery, 17 miles north of Ozona, 5/8 mile west-northwest of the one-well Childress, East (Canyon oil) field, but separated by an 8,285-foot failure, and one location east of the depleted Childress (Ellenburger oil) field, was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 6.3 million cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 26,000-1. Gravity of the liquid was 65 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 7,808-881 feet, which had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

The following tops were picked: Co. Historical Committee Is Named By Judge

The Ozona (Canyon gas) field was extended 5/8 mile northeast with completion of Texaco Inc., No. 4-B A. R. Kincaid Trust, three miles southeast of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.98 million cubic feet of gas, with gas-liquid ratio of 48,076-1. Gravity of the liquid was 63.9 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 6,148-272 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 40,000 gallons and 160,000 pounds of sand.

Registration Period Extended

A check with the county tax office this week revealed that 1,427 residents of the county had registered to vote in 1971 elections.

Of that number 57 would not be 21 years of age before the 1st day of July 1971. These voters will be allowed to vote only in the national elections and not in local or state elections.

A recent act of the Texas Legislature has extended the voter registration period until February 28. However, those registering during this time will not be eligible to vote in an election until 30 days after the close of the registration period.

License plates for 1971 went on sale the first of the month. Officials reported sales brisk last week.

Dallas Players In Mark Twain Classic

Under the sponsorship of the Ozona United Methodist Church, the Alpha-Omega Players of Dallas, Texas present "The Diary of Adam and Eve," adapted from the short story by Mark Twain, on February 17 at 8:00 p.m. at the High School Auditorium.

As everyone knows, things were great in the Garden of Eden. Then there was the apple incident, and things quickly got worse. But whose fault was it really? Adam's? Eve's? Or was it that fast-talking snake? Mark Twain has the answer in this fast-paced enactment of the first two people in the world.

The play traces the lives of the first man and the first woman through the happy days in Eden, the sadness in leaving,

Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Miller of Ozona. His wife, Betty, is the former Miss Betty Baggett of Ozona. They have two children, Camille, 3, and Rhett, 1. Although Miller was born in San Angelo, he was reared and attended schools in Ozona. He graduated from Ozona High School in May, 1960. He graduated from the University of Texas with Highest Honors with a Bachelor of Business Administration Degree. In 1962 at the University he was recognized for Outstanding Scholastic Achievements as a Sophomore, and in 1964 won the Taylor Award for having the highest grade point in the University of Texas College of Business Administration.

Since moving to San Angelo and joining the staff at the San Angelo National Bank in 1966, Miller has been a tireless worker in the civic affairs of that city.

He was promoted to the officer status of Assistant Cashier in January 1968, as an installment loan officer. His next promotion was to the post of Assistant Vice President in June of 1969. by Dominick & Dominick of San Antonio. Members of the court were gratified at the widespread interest in the very low effective interest rate on the bonds. The $125,000 issue, approved by the voters in a recent election, will be sold to finance modernization and enlargement of the present county jail facilities. Work on the project is now underway by crews of Gabbart Construction Co. of Abilene, general contractor on the job.

The Commissioners also accepted the low bid of Rutherford Motor Co. of Ozona for a 1971 6-passenger Chevrolet station wagon to be used as an ambulance, and also the low bid of Stuart Motor Co. of Ozona for a 9-passenger Plymouth station wagon to be used by the county agent and the county 4-H clubs.

County Judge Troy Williams and Commissioner Glenn Sutton left for Bryan, Texas, Tuesday to attend the annual Judges and Commissioners Conference sponsored by Texas A & M University. They were accompanied by their wives and are due to return Thursday night.

Playoff Looms As Lions Falter In Second Half

After breezing to a 5-0 first half championship in 5-AA basketball, the Ozona Lions have won only one game in the second half of play and a play-off is almost a certainty.

The Lions were indeed fortunate to get out with a 53-46 loss to Crane last Tuesday night after ending the first quarter with a total of only three points and having a halftime deficit of 16 points, 27-11 in Crane's favor. The Lions were getting the ball down the court, but only hit for a dismal 17.2% of their shots and were not doing a good job of rebounding under their own basket. Of course, they were severely hampered by lack of height.

However, the Lions came bouncing back in the second half and outscored the taller Crane crew 14-8 in the third period and 21-17 in the fourth. When the final whistle blew the Lions were within five points of the Golden Cranes, but two free throws after the game left

"Every few weeks a news story tells about the 'defection' of a Soviet ballerina, musician, writer, diplomat, scientist or ditchdigger."

"Parade" Magazine newspaper supplement, under the heading of "Intelligence" recently noted that in the Soviet Union, which consists of 242 million people, only 14 million people are members of the Communist Party.

"They constitute an elite political group," commented Parade, "which organizes and controls, through an all-encompassing security apparatus, the entire Soviet social system."

Parade could have added that according to competent experts, at least one-half of the 14-million "Party members" in the Soviet Union are not Communists at all, in the ideological sense, but are members of the "Party" because it is the only way to get a decent apartment, an automobile, a living wage, and other "luxuries" which are denied to the workers and peasants in the U.S.S.R. Only one per cent of the world's population are members of the Communist apparatus; yet the communist international network controls one third of the world.

Communism, which always defends the commission of crime when it helps promote Communism, is going all-out worldwide -- in defense of Angela Davis, the Black Panther Communist firebrand who is charged with spearheading the slaughter of a judge and three others in San Rafael, California, last year. Presidents' State of the Union messages always get the spotlight. They normally point with pride and view with alarm. Rosey pictures are always painted, and broad outlines of new approaches are projected.

President Nixon's message was no exception. It offered nothing new other than a proposal to revamp executive agencies and functions. If such changes can be expected to promote efficiency and, hopefully, reduce duplications and costs, then the Congress should give the plan its approval.

Some eye brows were raised recently when it was reported that the World Council of Churches had donated $20,000 to the "Movement for the Liberation of Angola." This is a fanatic outfit, intent on overthrowing the status quo in that Portuguese province, and was recently credited with massacring 21 children, 5 women and 5 men, in pursuance of their revolutionary movement.

Comparable grants were made by the WCC to 15 other similar "racial justice" African and Asiatic organizations. And a news item reveals that the WCC is seeking $200,000 for food, clothing and counseling for U. S. Draft-dodgers now in Canada.

Two Crockett Fields Gain Four Extenders

Two Crockett County fields gained extenders, location was staked for an outpost to another and tests continued at a confirmer in still another.

Monitor Natural Gas Co., Midland, has completed three extensions to the Ozona (Canyon sand gas) field, approximately 35 miles southwest of Ozona.

The No. 1-61 Clegg (formerly 1-61 Ira Carson), one mile south, was finalized for a calculated absolute open flow of 2,45 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 64,420-1. Gravity of the condensate was 72.7 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 5,494-6,712 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons, 80,000 pounds and 3,000 pounds of salt. Amended location is 1,320 feet from the south and 2,450 feet from the west lines of 61-Q2-WTRR, Abst. 3008.

The No. 1-53 Clegg, 1/2 mile east in a southwest area, was completed for a calculated absolute open flow of 1.3 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 111,598-1. Gravity of the condensate was 63.2 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 5,648-6,102 feet, which had been fractured with 30,000 gallons, 75,000 pounds and 1,000 pounds of salt. Location is 1,320 feet from the north and east lines of 53-Q2-D&SE.

The No. 1-62 Clegg, 1/2 mile east of the nearest production, was finalized for a calculated absolute open flow of 1,375 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 27,405-1. Gravity of the condensate was 62.0 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 5,610-6,724 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons, 117,000 pounds and 3,400 pounds of salt.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and west lines of 62-Q2-WTRR.

The Crockett portion of the Ozona, Northeast (7,520-foot Canyon gas) field was extended 7/8 mile southeast with completion of the Fundamental Oil Corp., Midland, No. 2 J. R. Bailey Estate, 15 miles northeast of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3,85 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was through perforations at 7,502-7,717 feet, which had been acidized with 15,000 gallons and fractured with 50,000 gallons and 5,000 pounds of sand.

Location is 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of 4-EF-GC&SF.

Texaco Inc. Midland, will drill the No. 4 A. H. McMullan as a 1-3/8 miles northwest outpost to dual lower Canyon and strawn gas production in the DePaul field nine miles southeast of Ozona, and 5/8 mile southeast of 7,890-foot Pennsylvania gas production in the Davidson Ranch multi-pay field.

Location is 1,700 feet from the south and west lines of 19-KL-TCRR. Contract depth is 8,100 feet to test the lower Canyon.

It is also 1/2 mile northeast of Texaco's No. 2 McMullan, in 20-KL-Lee Henderson Granite, and active outpost to lower Canyon production in the DePaul field, which at the latest report, was drilling below 7,850 feet on an 8,100-foot contract.

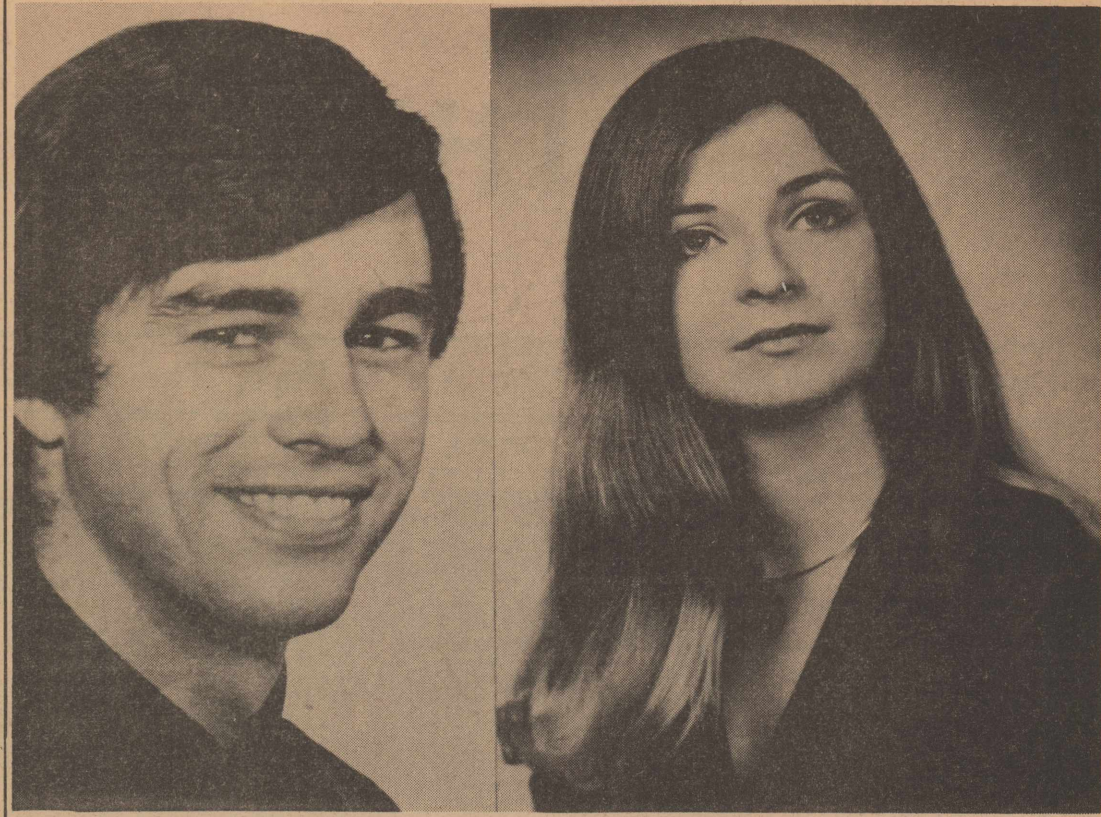

Texaco Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, No. 1 Fulton-University, in 3-33-University, second Devonian producer and 1-1/8 mile northeast extension to that pay and indicated third Simpson producer and a 7/8 mile east extension to that pay in the Perner Ranch field, 16 miles southeast of Sheffield, flowed gas from the Devonian at the rate of 1.7 million cubic feet daily and then died.

Flow was through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,502-524 feet, with tubing pressure of 1,675 pounds. The project has been shut in.

Simpson production was insicated with the flowing of gas at the rate of 750,000 cubic feet daily on a 1-inch choke while bottomed at 9,500 feet.

The Devonian opener, the firm's No. 1-A Perner Ranch, was finalized in July 1970 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2.65 million cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 8,697-807 feet.

SENSING the NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

SLOWDOWN ON THE JOB

Milwaukee, Wis. --- This great industrial city on Lake Michigan has been justly renowned as a center of American enterprise and skill. Machines and industrial equipment manufactured here are known worldwide for their excellence and reliability. But the success of manufacturers here -- and throughout the United States -- is being seriously jeopardized by a decline in worker productivity.

The problem isn't peculiar to Milwaukee or Wisconsin. A gradual slowdown of workers in plants and factories can be discerned in all parts of the nation. Those who are close observers of the industrial scene are aware that Americans aren't working as hard as they did in years past.

One businessman I spoke with noted that his company has more than a dozen plants in the United States, Europe and Asia. Worker productivity at the company's plant in Japan is two and one-half times as great as worker productivity at the company's factories in the United States. Even the plant in Great Britain -- a country many Americans regard as the land of the tea break -- has a better record of worker productivity than the plants in the states.

That's a shocking revelation. Americans have taken it for granted that they out-produce other countries. That assumption is no longer well-founded. Other peoples are striving harder for the good life and are aware that their national wealth depends on worker output.

Theoretically, Americans work an eight-hour day. But one company official said: "Today, we figure we get five hours of hard work out of the eight hours a man spends on his job."

One way to gauge worker productivity in a plant where a lot of electric tools are used is to plot the electrical load. At one plant, I was told, the load builds up very slowly after the work force arrives in the morning. The load begins to drop off about a half an hour before the regular mid-morning coffee break and doesn't get back to the normal level until some time after the break. In the afternoon, the load drops off again well before quitting time.

This thoughtless slowdown is n't the only manifestation of declining productivity. Many big plants have a critical problem of absenteeism on Mondays and Fridays. Some companies, faced with this problem, have hired college youngsters in their communities to work on those two days of the week.

Industrial managers also are very concerned about the apparent lack of interest on the part of many young people in skilled factory jobs. One official pointed out to me that new employes in their late teens and early twenties prefer a truck-driving job at his plant at $2.25 an hour rather than an apprenticeship in a skilled trade at $1.75 an hour, though the apprenticeship leads to lifetime employment at top blue-collar wages.

As a result of these developments in U. S. factories, the cost of American-made goods is rising rapidly. Many types of machinery are being priced out of the domestic market. A few years ago, a Japanese automobile was a rarity in the United States. Today, the Japanese are edging out the German automakers. The full extent of foreign competition isn't easily discernible. For instance, many supposedly American-made road-building machines consist of heavy forgings imported from Japan. Many U. S. farmers use tractors produced in Scotland.

The flood of foreign imports will increase as labor unions demand and get unreasonable wage settlements and as the productivity of American industrial workers lags behind the productivity of foreign workers. Declining productivity also is associated with carelessness. Many people complain of poorly constructed motor vehicles and appliances. The manufacturers take the blame for this, but much of the blame should be directed against workers who have lost pride in their work. Ralph Nader, the self-proclaimed "defender" of consumers, regularly condemns manufacturers but ignores the responbility of industrial workers and unions for shoddy goods. It should be borne in mind that even where a manufacturer recognizes poor workmanship, union rules often forbid transfer or discharge of the sloppy worker.

Unless traditional American productivity is restored and manufacturers are allowed to insist on quality work "or else," great numbers of American workers are bound to lose their jobs to foreign competitors. As a result of slowdowns and slipshod work, the United States is in danger of going the way of Britain -- unable to compete for business.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

From Kitty's Kitchen

Baked Fish Fillets
2 lbs. fresh fillets, fresh or frozen
2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups slightly crushed corn flakes

2 tbsp. melted butter
Dissolve salt in milk; dip fish into milk, then into corn flakes. Pour butter over fish. Bake on greased cookie sheet in hot oven (400° F.) 20 minutes. Serve with Tartare Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Oven Fried Fish
Oven fried fish is simple because it causes no odor and hardly any watching. Requirements are one pound of fish for each three persons.

Dip fish in heavily salted milk, then in dried bread crumbs, and place side by side in an oiled, shallow baking dish. Spoon a little salad oil or melted butter over the fish and bake at 425° for 15 or 20 minutes or until golden brown and easily flaked with a fork. Serve with a mustard sauce or other fish sauce.

Fish fillets may be used or whole small fish.

Clam Chowder
1 cup chopped clams, either fresh or canned

2 slices bacon
1 tbs. butter
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced onions
2 cups cubed potatoes
1/2 cup tomato sauce
2 qts. water, fish stock or consomme

Salt and pepper to taste
Put celery, clams, tomato sauce into liquid and simmer for 45 minutes. Saute the chopped bacon until a light brown then add butter and onions. Saute until onions are tender. Add to the clam mixture and cook slowly for another hour. At last add the potatoes cut in half-inch cubes, season and cook until done. The whole process should take about 2 1/2 hours.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

In a recent poll, nurserymen in eight southern states show gardening interest is growing and home gardeners are spending an increased amount of time and money on ornamental plants. Some of the items that have given the modern garden center its new look are container-grown plants, plastic containers, peat pots, garden furniture, statuary and a wide selection of containers for patio planting.

Again let me remind you to lose no time in completing the planting of all bare-root trees, shrubs and roses.

Also, all shrubs, hedges and small trees should be well-watered if you haven't attended to this. Many shrubs were damaged by the last severe freeze because of not having had sufficient moisture.

Trees, shrubs and vines that are espaliered against walls may be pruned now if they are kinds that flower on new growth. If they produce their blossom on last year's growth, delay pruning until after they have flowered.

House plants are not likely to require any protection from the strongest sun yet.

Asparagus ferns and other foliage plants may be repotted this or next month.

Watch bulbs of amaryllis carefully for signs of new growth - when this occurs top-dress or repot them, water them and bring into a sunny, warm location.

Air-layering is a good method of propagating such houseplants as Dracaena, Fatsia, croton, rubber plants, Dieffenbachia, particularly specimens that have grown tall and leggy. This is a good time to do it - The "tongue," made by cutting slanting into the stem is held open by a toothpick. The wound is dusted with a root inducing substance; under the tongue a little sphagnum moss is stuffed; and the entire area is covered with a fist-size ball of moss. It is then wrapped with sheet plastic, being careful to tie it in such a way that moisture cannot enter. Usually within three or four months, the plastic is removed, if the roots show good development, the moss is partly removed, being careful to avoid injury to the roots. The layer is cut off just below the root ball and the new plant is potted, placed in the garden, or in a cold frame. Shield from direct sun and severe weather until it becomes established or hardened.

Install gas air conditioning now?

You should be so foxy

Installing GAS air conditioning now means you'll beat the rush that always comes with the first hot or dusty spring day. While everyone else is waiting for the overworked installers you'll be cool, calm, and collected.

GAS air conditioning cools your whole house quietly and efficiently. You'll save on repairs, too, because there is no compressor to break down or wear out. And, GAS air conditioning cools your whole house for what you might have been paying to cool just two or three rooms before.

So, be foxy. Call Pioneer and tell them you'd like to find out more about installing GAS air conditioning in the winter. A representative will tell you what it will take to include it in your present forced air heating system. You may be able to use the same ductwork for heating and cooling. It costs nothing to get a complete survey of your home or business.

Motor Vehicle Registration Gets Under Way

Austin -- Now is the time for all good motor vehicle owners in Texas to come to their own aid by registering their vehicles early.

The registration renewal season opened February 1 at county tax offices and designated sub-stations. Tax collectors are obliged by law to begin selling license plates on February 1.

The "season" runs through February and March, although the wise motorist will save time and trouble by registering his vehicle early and by using the three-part form he received in the mail from the Texas Highway Department.

All one needs to do is to take the three-part renewal application -- being careful not to separate the three parts of the form -- to the county tax office.

Using the new form, it takes the clerk only a fraction of the time that it used to to process the form, collect the fee and send the motorist on the way with his 1971 license plates. For that reason, waiting time is trimmed drastically.

All that is required to order license plates by mail is to send the renewal application, the fee plus $1 for each vehicle to be registered to the local tax office prior to March 1. This allows 30 days for delivery of the plates in time for the April 1 deadline.

These are the wonderful years, when there is so much to learn - and hours enough in which to learn it.

Youth has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge; also the desire, the capacity and the energy to absorb - if given even a little encouragement. But today, perhaps more than ever before in history, youth does need guidance.

Be sure the young people in your life have the opportunity to examine the whole picture. But in their search for the stars, don't let them forget the miracle of this planet upon which they live and its Creator.

Let them know their church.

Goat Industry Threatened By USDA Ruling

Slaughter of goats in Texas packing plants will be brought to a virtual standstill unless the USDA relaxes its newly imposed policy of requiring meat processors to label the meat as "boneless goat," when converted into sausage or other saleable product.

That was the opinion expressed by San Antonio slaughterhouses at a Washington conference called by Congressman O. C. Fisher. About 90% of all Texas goat slaughtering is done by Alamo City packers, represented at the meeting by E. K. Melton, Richard Reyes and A. E. Leonard. About 400,000 Texas goats are slaughtered each year.

In attendance were Representative Bob Poage, Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, Bill Sims of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, Ed Whitesides, representing Texas Agricultural Commissioner John White, and two USDA officials—Dr. Kenneth M. McEnroe, Deputy Administrator, Consumer and Market Service, and Dr. John C. deHoll.

During the conference it was developed that meat labeling was not changed by the Wholesome Meat Act. Texas packers have in the past labeled meats sold in interstate commerce as "goat meat" but processors who have purchased it have traditionally treated it as boneless mutton when processed and marketed to consumers. The Department is now requiring processors to label it as goat meat, and this requirement has played havoc with consumer demand. Hence, processors do not continue to buy from packers, as has been their custom in the past. Fisher, Poage and Sims all insisted that there should be no change in labeling policies, that "boneless mutton" is an accurate label for goat meat, just as it is for sheep meat, they cited a history of this labeling policy being used in the past.

USDA officials agreed to explore the matter. A further announcement from that source is expected within a few days.

Congressman Fisher pointed out that as far back as the 1930's the Department of Agriculture acknowledged the use of the term "mutton" in reference to goat meat sales. He cited the official Department of Agriculture annual "Yearbook of Agriculture" for 1939, which on page 62 dealt with feeding goats for meat production and included the sentence: "Goat meat in the carcass form usually goes into the regular meat trade as mutton or lamb since there is only an occasional municipal restriction against such practice. The word 'chevon' has been adopted to designate goat meat."

The Lions won their first district game of the second half here Friday night in a wild game with the Coahoma Bulldogs. The score was 57-45, but the Lions did not have the game on ice until the fourth quarter. The Lions changed their tactics somewhat and concentrated on shooting out to compensate for lack of height and successfully eluded the Bulldog defense.

Collett again led the Lion offense with 18 points, Montgomery had 13, Pagan 11, Tambunga 8, Jenkins 4, Stuart 2 and McBroom 1.

The Lions were in Big Lake Tuesday night and will host Stanton tomorrow night in the final district game of the season. Play-off dates will be announced when the winner of the second half is decided.
