Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

Spring arrived Sunday and along with it a great deal of the Texas Panhandle's top soil. However, it blew on before it could be put to any good use. Tuesday was a beautiful sunshiney day, but remnants of dust remained in the air.

We've had so many dust storms lately, we are all getting used to it. I'm afraid many of our number would die of the shock if we got rain from the skies instead of dirt.

Frayed nerves and clogged sinuses seem to be the order of the day. Optimists insist that it has to rain sometime, it always has. As for me, I have serious doubts. There is always a first time, and this may very well be it.

I heard an interesting story from Mr. Vic Pierce this week as he was praising the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department for its fine work during two grass fires on his ranch last week.

It seems that both fires were caused by oil well activity, gusting winds etc. Anyway the oil company sent one of its executives down to visit Mr. Pierce after the fires. They were discussing the efficiency of the local fire department and the oil man said the company would like to do something to show its appreciation for the local firemen and asked what Mr. Pierce thought might be most needed.

Mr. Pierce thought a minute and came up with a good answer. He suggested money. He said that through the years he had always given his children and grandchildren money on Christmas and special occasions, and written on the card, "If this doesn't fit, bring it back." He said he hadn't had any returned yet, so he felt it would fit most any occasion.

I am glad to note that the Texas Senate has passed an ethics bill and sent it to the house. That makes me feel much better about being very much against the proposed amendment to the state constitution which is an ethics bill wrapped around pay hikes for state legislators.

If the ethics bill passes the house, there will really be no need for an ethics commission. Will there now? And Texans needn't worry about finding themselves in the unlikely situation of having to vote against what members of the state body call an ethics law. And which is really a vehicle for unlimited pay raises for the members of the governing body.

After reading the proposed amendment one comes to the conclusion that it is something like putting the fox in charge of the hen house. The proposal is an insult to the intelligence of Texas voters and should be slapped down if for no other reason, the gimmickery of combining an ethics law with a pay raise.

Especially since the pay raise thing has been turned down repeatedly and overwhelmingly by Texas voters in the past. The general feeling among Texas voters is that our state government is spending more and taxing more with less return than ever before. Most find this an alarming trend.

There will be no lack of activity in and around Ozona this weekend. Many will be involved with the women's club convention, others in the golf tournament or following the track team to the San Angelo Relays. And I think every school organization has a meet or contest this weekend, in or out of town, so you can just about name your own spectator sport. Unless of course you'd like to watch a good movie on television. That, of course, is out, but you have your choice of professional sports and college basketball playoffs almost any time any station. And too, there is always spring cleaning to think about.

Some people would gripe if they were going to be hung with a new rope.

Lion Tracksters Place Second In Eldorado Relays

Ozona's Lions came in second at the Plateau Relays in Eldorado Saturday, after bringing home the championship in every meet they have entered this season.

Brady won the meet with a point total of 149, while the Lions had 96 for second place.

The Lions got off to a bad start early Saturday morning when they dropped the stick in the 440-relay, a race they expected to win, and failed to get in the finals. Illness and injury also slowed the Lions down.

However, there were several bright spots for the Lions in the relay. David Pagan won the Discus with a throw of 162'3" and came in second in the Shot with 49'5 1/2", his best of the year in both events.

Mike Schneider won a first place for the Lions in the 100-yard dash with a 10.1, his best effort of the year. He has won the event in every meet and each with a little faster time. He also came in second in the 220-yard dash with a time of 22.6.

The Lions' only other first place came in the pole vault. Chuck Womack won it with a 12'6" jump and teammate Will Collett was second with 12'6". Womack won on fewer misses. Mike Wellman came in fourth with an 11' vault.

Gerald Huff placed second in the 440-yard dash with 54.2, slowed with a foot injury. Ricky Crawford was third in the event with a time of 54.4.

NO LONGER UNDER THE BED

Editor Paul Sims of the DAILY CORINTHIAN, Corinth, Mississippi, recently commented, "Americans have been feuding over the question of Communist involvement in student disorders."

"Curiously," continued Editor Sims, "among Communists there is no such dissension." He then went on to point out that the Young Socialist Alliance, of the Trotsky-Mao Tse-Tung - Che Guevara variety of marxists, points with pride to its role in violence and rioting, and further gloat that "they are only rehearsals for bigger protests to come" — they hope!

The strategy call for "generating demands" and slogans with which college students and youth can identify; free education; end the draft; student control of education; end ROTC; "end racism"; end the war (in South Vietnam only; they support communist aggression elsewhere).

In all of this, pointed out Mr. Sims, the Communists concur. The Daily World, official mouthpiece of the comrades, has declared that such tactics, implemented through a "united front," are important to the eventual violent overthrow of the government, because "any victory that gives students more control over their lives is a victory for revolutionaries;" an activity in which, the Communists say, "we openly participate."

It is difficult, said the Corinthian editor, how Communist participation could be made more explicit.

"At least," Sims concluded, "we should all be spared the perennial accusation of seeing Communists under every bed."

Today the Communists are not under the bed; they are in bed, along with Dave Dellinger, Sidney Peck, Reanne Davis, David Hshin, Al Hubbard, Ron Dellums, Bella Abzug, and any number of others.

And how does one describe that relationship? Coexistence? Collaboration? Or cohabitation?

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

If you can grow weeds, you can grow vegetables with the right preparation of soil, care and water. Vegetables need five or six hours of full sun every day so select a spot to meet this need. If you are planning to grow vegetables for the first time, don't try more than you can manage without it being boring. However, you will certainly want to include some home-grown salad ingredients, lettuce, beets, tomatoes, onions, sweet peppers and radishes.

Begin watering new roses regularly and deep. If you planted bare-root roses, they may be a little slower showing leaf growth than established plants. Keep the soil moist around the roots if rainfall is scant and it surely is here at present. If some canes or stems die, cut each back to a point just above a healthy bud growing on the outside of the stem. Moistened peat moss packed around the base will help to prevent stems from drying out.

If some of the shrubs beside your driveway show no signs of life this spring, automobile exhaust fumes may be the cause, especially your evergreens. Avoid this damage by parking your car a few feet away from shrubs.

If you are looking for white glads to be used for a summer wedding or other event, here are some good varieties with approximate number of days from planting to bloom: Albania (72), Albatross (63), Chicago White (63) Catherine Coleman (77), Early Snowflake (73), Maid of Orleans (68), Mammoth White (69), and Helen Wills (70). Plant corns at two-week intervals until midsummer to extend the time of enjoying their blooms. Glads are seldom graceful in an accent garden, but can be planted in groups in a bed of annuals and perennials. To allow for good side cultivation which results in a better quality flower, plant glads in rows in the cutting bed or in rows between vegetables.

Peonies are showing new growth, so if you banked them with dirt in the fall, be careful when pulling it away. When growth is about six to eight inches high, feed with bulb liquid fertilizer for larger blooms. Protect if weather forecast predicts a freeze. If you have non-blooming peonies this may be caused by too much shade, a late freeze, too deep planting, spring transplanting or blight. An excess of nitrogen in the soil may cause small buds to dry through the plant looks healthy. The addition of phosphorus and potash (acid phosphate and woodashes) will correct this condition and probably be full of bloom next spring.

Widener wrote a front-page editorial for Barron's National Business and Financial Weekly, predicting ten days of radical violence on American campuses. This was the first major report on the notorious Students for Democratic Society. Before the end of April, the SDS plunged Columbia University into turmoil in the first of the revolutionary outbursts on college campuses.

In "Teachers of Destruction," Mrs. Widener tells of attending gatherings of socialist scholars at Columbia, Princeton and other universities. She explains how Marxist professors programmed students to hate America. Her reports are eyewitness reports. She attended the radical meetings, took notes and published her findings. But the television commentators and slick magazines who profess to be so interested in "extremism" paid no attention to her stories. They didn't bother to send reporters to cover the gatherings where a storm of revolutionary campus violence was planned.

Perhaps the most important section of Mrs. Widener's book is the section on the "Source of Funds." She reports that money for New Left activities came from the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif.; the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington, D. C. (which, in turn, obtained financing from the Field, Milbank, Samuel Rubin and Edgar Stern Foundations); from the Louis M. Rabinowitz Foundation (which originally subsidized the Socialist Scholars Conference), and

If Pulitzer prizes were awarded to reporters and editors other than members of the Liberal Establishment, Alice Widener long since would have been honored. She pioneered reportorial coverage of the New Left and accurately predicted in newspaper columns and in her own journal, USA Magazine, the course of radical disruption and terrorism in the cities and on college campuses. Mrs. Widener's new book "Teachers of Destruction: An Eyewitness Account" (Citizens Evaluation Institute, 62 Ben Franklin, Washington, D. C., $3) is the definitive account of the formation and operation of the New Left movement since 1965. Her brilliant work is deserving of a top journalistic prize.

Given the political orientation of the Pulitzer Committee, an award for Alice Widener's superb journalistic achievement would be a real surprise, however.

I have followed Alice Widener's writings since the 1950's, when she played a major role in revealing the true nature of the Castro regime in Cuba and in exposing the background of his publicists in the United States. She also has written brilliantly on monetary issues and on European affairs. With her knowledge of languages and the European scene, Mrs. Widener's work commands respect on both sides of the Atlantic. Her most important contribution, in my judgement, is in reporting on the new revolutionaries.

School News of the Week As Recounted By Sharron

By-Sharron Barbee
Saturday the tennis, track and golf teams of OHS were all on the road.

Donald Olson won the championship singles against Sanderon in the tennis meet in Iraan. Also in the finals were Stacy Dockery and Christi Davidson, winning a second place.

David Williams was tournament medalist in the District 5-AA golf tournament in Crane.

Monday the OHS band began rehearsals in the auditorium at 7:30 a.m. and worked until around nine o'clock on the three contest numbers. Johnny Butterfield, band director at Sonora, was on hand and gave his comments on improvement.

The Ozona tennis team was host to Big Lake Monday afternoon, resulting in an 8-8 tie. Winning for Ozona were Ginny Womack and Debra Clayton with a set of 6-4, Christi Davidson and Stacy Dockery with an easy 6-2. Donald Olson won with a set of 6-1 and Gerald Olson had a 6-2 for a win. Debbie Deaton and Kay McMullan had a win with a 6-1. Others participating in the meet were Tom Davidson, Bill King, Lida Tillman, Pat Sanker, Harvey Weant and Mary Jo Hayes.

A big "Thank you" from the senior class to Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Boy Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Deaton and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clayton, who gave a supper honoring the Senior Class Tuesday night at the El Sombrero.

Spirits picked up Wednesday, not only because it was the half-way mark of the week, but because of the assembly featuring the Ozona Lion Band. Tommy Sanders conducted the band in its three contest numbers.

Thursday the FFA team left at noon for a livestock show in San Angelo. Participating in the contest are Archie Elmore, Alton Everett, Jim Bob Bailey and Mark Tillman. The contest will begin at 2:30 this afternoon and is sponsored by the Angelo State University.

Friday there will be a "ghost town" look in the halls of OHS, for the band, golf team and track team will be absent all day.

The band will leave for contest at Cisco early Friday morning. It is scheduled to play at 11:30 a.m.

The track team will leave Friday for the San Angelo meet, and the golf team will host the District 5-AA golfers all day at the country club.

The Speech I and Drama Classes are in the process of selling tickets for the three plays, which will be presented March 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Elizabeth Jones Bride Of Randy Upham In Sat. Rites

Miss Elizabeth Jones, daughter of Mrs. Martin Brock Jones and the late Mr. Jones, became the bride of Randy Michael Upham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Upham of Jal, N. M. in a ceremony Saturday afternoon, March 20, at the Ozona United Methodist Church.

Rev. John Berkley, pastor, performed the ceremony in front of an altar decorated with a large arrangement of mixed white flowers, flanked by seven-branch candelabras, entwined with greenery and holding white tapers. Pews were marked with candelabras and white votive candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Martin Brock Jones, Jr., of Austin, wore a shimmering gown of ivory imported pure silk organza over peau de soie and re-embroidered Alencon lace. An overlay of re-embroidered Alencon lace, scattered with bridal pearls and sequins, enhanced the sculptured bodice, and skirt front and formed a cut out leaf contoured neckline. Long tapered sleeves embellished with seed pearls formed petal points over the hands. The softly pleated skirt was sashed with a band of pure silk organza and formed a Dior bow in back.

A full detachable chapel train flowed from the A-line silhouette.

An elegant bandeau of re-embroidered Alencon lace butterfly petals, enhanced with seed pearls and sequins, created the bride's headpiece and was attached to a bouffant veil of pure silk English illusion.

Musicians were Mrs. L. B. Cox, III at the organ and Jack Lumley of Austin, vocalist. Miss Nanette Bailey, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Beverly Upham and Teresa Upham, both sisters of the bridegroom of Jal, N. M., Mrs. John R. Jones, Mrs. M. Brock Jones Jr., Betsy Sikes and Diana Deaton.

The bride's attendants wore identical gowns of soft powder blue silk organza over peau de soie. Double ruffles enhanced the tapered sleeves and Florentine necklines. The formal length skirts were slashed with a deep blue satin band and self covered buttons. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

George Cox served as best man.

Groomsmen and ushers were Sam Attlesley of Sulphur Springs, Bruce Prine of Dallas, Fred Chandler, Ronnie Stocksberry of Jal, Derold Maney, John R. Jones, brother of the bride, Pon Seahorn of Sonora and Bobby Hicks of Jal.

A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall of the church.

The table, in the shape of a cross, was laid with a powder blue taffeta skirt covered with white lace. The centerpiece was a silver epergne holding mixed white flowers and silver candelabra. Other table appointments were in silver. The registry table was laid with a complementing blue skirt and centered with a single silver candelabra with pom mums nosegays.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Annie Armstrong of Goldthwaite, grandmother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Upham of Dublin, grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Gearhart and Mrs. Laquita Timmons, all of Stephenville, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Armstrong of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Armstrong of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Gary D. Also from Houston were Mr. and Mrs. Will McKenney, Mr. and Mrs. Will McKenney, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Madeley, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Madeley, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Madeley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Madeley, Miss Cheryl Madeley and Miss Claudia Madeley.

Others were Mrs. Sam Man of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holland and children of Fort Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Miller Henry of Post and Ned Henry.

MITY-NICE BAKERY

When Tom retired, it seemed as if his dreams had come true. For years he and Grace had been planning. There would be that little pink house in Florida and time to do all the things they wanted. They could keep in touch with their friends back home, and there would be occasional visits back and forth.

What they hadn't realized was how much they would miss their church. It had been such a part of their life! Now it seemed that no other church could fill the gap. In fact, they didn't go to another church their first few weeks in Florida.

But finally one Sunday they went to the little church they had been passing each day on the way to the golf course. True, it wasn't like the church back home—outwardly. But, when you got down to essentials, it was the same.

If you have moved to another community, find a new church/home. Regardless of its appearance, remember that it is God's House and in it you will be welcome.
