Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

It was nice to have a week off and just drift through the days, but it's good to be home too. I did find that quiet place. Would tell you where, but then it wouldn't be quiet anymore. It rained everywhere we went, but it had been so long since we had seen rain that we enjoyed it. Even went fishing one afternoon in pouring rain. Didn't catch anything but it was fun anyway.

I don't think I've been out on the highways much since our trip to Las Vegas last year, and I was just amazed at the absolute boom in campers and bus-like vehicles. Campers may not in themselves be dangerous to drive down the highway, but they certainly present a danger to other motorists. For one thing, if you are behind a camper in an automobile, it is an impossible feat to see around it, and in a driving rain all you can do is trail along behind and watch the cars pile up behind you. I am surprised that Ralph Nader hasn't looked into this situation. And too, have you ever backed out from an angle parking spot with a camper parked to your right obstructing the view of oncoming traffic? There isn't a thing you can do but go slow and pray. Talk about insecurity!

By the way, we have had enough lost glasses turned in to this office to start an optical company and nobody ever seems to show up to claim them. Makes me think the wearers just get tired of them and leave them lying where the notion struck them.

Local History Appreciation Week is in full swing and you might call this paper our historical edition, since most of our picture space is taken up with historical type pictures. We fell heir to those of Fort Lancaster and Mrs. Ira Carson kindly loaned us the early-day picture of the first water well. Several events have been planned for the week which is sponsored by the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee. You'll notice several names mentioned as chairmen of various committees and committee members. I have not noticed Mrs. R. A. (Lucile) Harrell's name on any of the committees we have listed, but you may be sure she is hard at it. I feel certain that without her perseverance and hard work Fort Lancaster would still be a pasture with a few adobe bricks and an old chimney sticking up.

Golly, with all this cool weather and announcements about the beginning of school, I'm beginning to wonder where my summer wages went. I feel sure we will have many more hot days before the summer is really over, but it does put one in the mind of fall. I can't believe that Ozona's social season is almost upon us, and that is truly the case when school begins. It seems the whole town sort of comes back to life. The women's clubs get in gear, the Friday Bridge Club gets back in action, everybody comes back from wherever they have been all summer and things begin to get lively again.

The only depressing aspect is sending my favorite kids off to college, my own little chick included, for the first time. If they all come back looking and acting like creeps, I'm going to start a move to demolish institutions of higher learning. I see no point in paying good money to have your kid turned into an under 30 bore.

It is my personal opinion at the moment that what this country needs is more repair men and plumbers than statesmen and opinion makers. There are hundreds of people with all kinds of college degrees looking for work these days, but did you ever hear of an unemployed plumber?

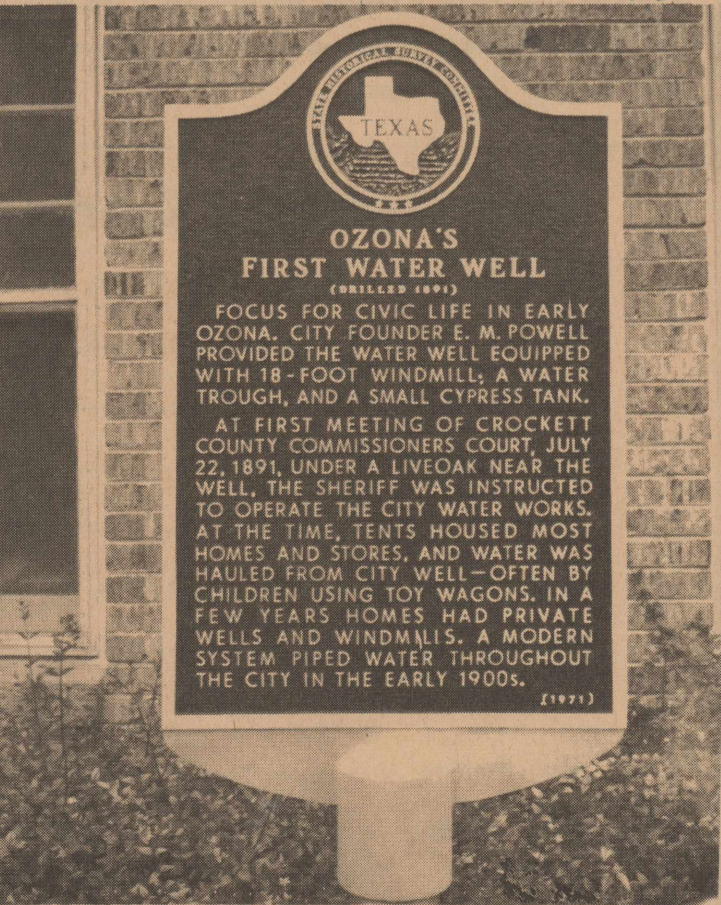

OFFICER'S QUARTERS UNCOVERED at historic Fort Lancaster in extreme west Crockett County as archeologists from the University of Texas under contract with the Parks and Wildlife Department began an archeological salvage project at the Fort under a matching grant from the Federal government. The officers' quarters, the Fort commissary and the hospital kitchen are three of the building foundations outlined and uncovered in the recent excavations. The mound around the fireplace in the center of the picture was composed of melted adobe and fallen adobe bricks. A test trench can be seen on the left side of the picture.

Site Of First Water Well In Co. Marked

The dedication of an official Texas Historical Marker during History Appreciation Week, August 1-7, will commemorate the site of the first town water well in Ozona. The marker, sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Crockett County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, will be located by the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee in the yard of the First Baptist Church, 901 Ave. D. This building covers the original site of the 18-foot Eclipse windmill, the trough and small cypress tank.

No record has been found showing with certainty who drilled the well which was offered by Mr. E. M. Powell as an inducement to make Ozona the county seat. Joe Moss, as his agent, contracted the drilling which was done by horse power to a probable depth of 345 ft. Some names connected with early drilling in Crockett County were A. W. Mauldin, Ed Stagg, Alex Puckett, K. B. Kendrick, Mr. Bradford, and S. W. Titus, who was also a prospector for oil and gold. Joe Moss contracted in 1884 with a driller from Penn-

HISTORICAL MARKER to be dedicated Friday at 7:30 p. m. is erected on the grounds of the First Baptist Church, site of Ozona's first water well.

The trench was excavated so that the diggers could locate the floor level and thus remove the mound of adobe to floor level without disturbing any of the artifacts on the floor. The excavators are, from left, William Westbury, Catherine Yates and Dessamae Lorrain, Miss Lorrain, from the University of Texas department of archeology, along with John Clark, also from the University archeology department, were in charge of the excavation work, assisted by some paid workers and some volunteer amateur archeologists.

Pecos Little Leaguers Stop Ozona Stars 7-5

Ozona's hopes for their second regional championship in Little League were dashed last Friday night when the Ozona All Stars fell to the Pecos team 7-5 in a night game at Pecos. Things looked bleak for the Ozona stars as Pecos scored two runs in the first inning on a home run and came back to score two more in the bottom of the second. However, Ozona took the lead in the fourth inning, scoring five runs on homers by Mike Fay and Blake Moody. In the top of the fifth inning Ozona loaded the bases with no outs and had an opportunity to blow the game open, but failed to score. Pecos scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth on two homers and that was the ball game. The Ozona Stars played their usual good brand of ball, having only 3 errors in both play-off games, but they were up against a very strong Pecos team and just could not hold on to the lead. Pecos defeated Big Lake 29-2 in their first play-off game last Monday night. John Galvan pitched for the Ozona team.

FIRST WATER WELL in all the vast reaches of Crockett County was located in the heart of early-day Ozona. The windmill on its wooden tower and the cypress tank and trough provided water for the entire population, for domestic and livestock watering. Note the dim road leading in from the west, upper center, winding its way directly to the windmill. The big tree to the right center of the picture is the then youthful liveoak tree under which the first Crockett County Commissioners Court held its first meeting after the county's organization in 1891. The big tree, now much larger, is in front of the Baptist Parsonage and is marked with a bronze plaque. The First Baptist Church is built directly over

Soaking, General Rains Over Area May Signal Drouth's End

The drought was broken in a big way in Crockett County the past week with an 11-day total of 7.62 inches of rain as recorded by the official gauge at the Water District for the city.

Lancaster Excavations Spur Visitor Interest

Fort Lancaster State Park, the historic site 35 miles west of Ozona, which recently was designated for a matching grant for further archeological development, has proven a greater attraction to summertime tourists than was ever dreamed by local promoters of the move to designate the site for historic preservation.

completed the installation of attractive signs over the ruins, designating the location of certain buildings, stables, etc. Exhibits of artifacts and materials from the fort's history are gradually growing in the visitors center, an attractive native rock building recently erected on the fort grounds. Latest in the development moves at the fort was a month long excavation work done by a group of archeologists headed by John Clark and Dessamae Lorrain from the University of Texas Department of Archeology.

Purpose of the archeological salvage project at the fort, Mr. Clark explained was to provide detailed architectural information for possible reconstruction of three buildings, an Officer's Quarters, the Hospital Kitchen and the Commissary Store, to provide artifacts and material for interpretive exhibits to be placed in the visitors center at the park. Foundations of the three buildings were uncovered by the archeological diggers during their stay at the fort. These excavations have been covered with plastic so that the results of the dig are available to the rain Sunday and Monday. The heavy weekend fall sent draws running in all parts of the county and some roads to the south were impassable Monday morning.

Weekend rains brought 3 1/2 to 4 inches of moisture to some ranches on the Pecos River and reports of up to 6 inches of rainfall were received from the south part of the county. Heavy rains fell east of Ozona and up to 2 1/2 inches was common in the northern part of the county.

Varied reports were received from individual gauges over town. T. J. Bailey's gauge recorded 5.9 inches of moisture for the period Thursday through Monday and the gauge at Mrs. George Montgomery's home had filled to the 3-inch mark at mid-afternoon Sunday after being emptied the night before. The month of July chalked up a rainfall total of 4.20 inches, all coming in the final week or ten days, to bring the total for the year in Ozona to 11.62. The first two days in August had a total rainfall of 3.42 to bring the yearly total for the city to 15.04.

Unseasonably cool temperatures accompanied the front which brought the showers and Tuesday was the first day to see the mercury climb above 70 degrees in over a week. Tuesday was also the first day Ozona residents had seen the sun shine in the same length of time.

Crockett Marks 80th Birthday

Activities for History Appreciation week are well under way in Ozona today. The annual event marks Crockett County's 80th birthday and is sponsored by the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee. Co-chairmen for this year's activities are Mrs. Pleas Childress and Fred Baker. Drawing a great deal of interest is the Hierloom Room which is open daily in the Buster Miller building, formerly occupied by Jim's Gent Shop. Many family treasures are on display, and the public is invited to visit. Mrs. Lindsey Hicks is chairman for the project and committee members are Mrs. Boyd Clayton, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr., Mrs. Jake

U.S. BATTERED BY DEFEATISTS

A very prominent columnist whose work is syndicated by a large American newspaper is now spreading the word that the United States has suffered its first great defeat, in Vietnam. And he deprecates American successes in other wars as having been the result of the fact that our allies were able soldiers and strategists.

This is pretty thin stuff when you recall that our allies in World War I were all but defeated when United States Marines stood off a mighty German bid to cut through American lines to get to Paris. American soldiers, sailors and airmen also gave a great account of themselves. Gen. John J. Pershing insisted that the Americans have their own, separate sector of the battle line.

In World War II our allies in Europe and Africa consisted chiefly of Britain and Russia. In the Pacific and Asia the Americans fought with little assistance but with a valor unsurpassed in history. No one would want to deny the great parts played by the British and Russians in winning the war in Europe, but neither can it be denied that without America our allies would have lost.

We did not lose the Korean War; we simply halted it at the 38th Parallel. Nor has the war in Vietnam been lost. We have kept South Vietnam free, as well as Laos and Cambodia. America will be around long after the journalistic defeatists have withdrawn into the isolation they are winning for themselves.

YOUTH IS HOW YOU THINK

We recommend the following thoughts on youth to those who may fear they are leaving it behind. They were written many years ago by Samuel Ullman, and are as true today as they were then:

Youth is not a time of life — it is a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips and supple knees; it is a temper of will, a quality of the imagination, of vigor of the emotions, it is a freshness of the deep spring of life.

Youth means temperamental predominance of courage over timidity, of the appetite for adventure over the love of ease. This is often more existent in a man of fifty than a boy of twenty.

Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years; people grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair — these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the spirit back to dust.

Whether seventy or sixteen there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the sweet amazement at the stars and the star-like things and thoughts, the unflinching childlike appetite for what next, and the joy and the game of life.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as old as your despair; as young as your happy.

CHANGE IS NOT ALWAYS PROGRESS

You are old enough to remember the good old days if you can remember:

- When you left your front door open.
- When you went to church and the preacher preached from the Bible.
- When a girl was a girl, when a boy was a boy, and you could tell them apart.
- When even the word "socialism" was a dirty word.
- When the poor were too proud to take charity.
- When a nickel was worth five cents.
- When you bragged about your hometown, your state, and your nation.
- When the flag was a sacred symbol.
- When this Government stood up for Americans.
- When everyone knew right from wrong.
- When things were not perfect and you didn't expect them to be.
- When people still had the capacity for indignation.
- When sick meant that you were not feeling well.
- When people expected less and valued what they had more.
- When everyone was not entitled to an annual wage whether he worked or not.
- When a man's word was his bond.
- When America was the land of the free and the home of the brave. — Anon.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

CANDIDATE WATCHERS are having a ball these days, crystal gazing and eagle-eyeing a handfull of U. S. Senators who, along with a few others, are digging at issues they think may be laden with political paydirt.

Presidential candidates are a dime a dozen, with a swarm of potentials waiting in the wings for the attention they longingly crave.

Pollsters say Senators Muskie and Kennedy are running neck-and-neck right now, with George McGovern, Eugene McCarthy, Birch Bayh, Fred Harris, Ramsey Clark, Mayor John Lindsey, Rep. Paul McCloskey, Humbert Humphrey, William Proxmire, Sen. Henry Jackson, Rep. Wilbur Mills, and others stringing along. One liberal Senator, Harold Hughes of Ohio, who had never announced, recently "withdrew" called on his crowd to back McGovern, but quipped the latter didn't have a chance and besides he didn't know what to do about George's hair and voice. He added that Muskie was bad because he - a rank liberal - would lead the party "too far to the right!"

Frontrunners Muskie and Kennedy have much in common, rarely ever disagreeing about anything. The former is often criticized for playing footsie with the radicals and being too wishy-washy and "me-too-ish," while Kennedy of Chappaquiddick fame leans heavily on professional laborites, anti-war protesters, more welfare, minority blocs, the Kennedy clan attachments, his $70-billion-a-year socialized medicine scheme - - and the Kennedy bank roll.

Sen. Birch Bayh, who has already spent over $600, 000 trying to get attention, fired a few pot shots from the hip at a half dozen Texas cities recently. In the Senate about his only claim to fame was his opposition to two Supreme Court nominees who were - of course - from the South.

Two aspirants who are out of step with the others are Henry Jackson and Wilbur Mills, who alone among the lineup speak out in favor of an adequate national defense.

Madison Avenue type image-makers top the payrolls of most of these men - pulling strings and projecting issues their hopes can ride into the arena. Apparently most image-makers don't think it's stylish anymore for their candidates to be plain Americans, devoted to God, country, and the flag.

Mrs. Joe Pierce is in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo recovering from surgery performed last week to repair a broken hip sustained in a fall at her ranch near here.

OFFICERS' QUARTERS KITCHEN begins to take shape as archeologists begin their excavation work at the historic fort site recently. That's Dessamae Lorrain of the University Department of Archeology, using the transit, Robert Stiba shoveling and Catherine Yates holding the stadia rod and taking notes. The crew of diggers did a tremendous job of careful excavation in the time allotted for the project and their work has added much to the enjoyment of visitors to the site.

Tips for Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

The recent good rains have given us a respite from daily watering, and we hope they will continue through the month of August and bring moisture to all.

August doldrums, summer listlessness, vacations, and the recent rains may tempt us to lessen gardening activities, but this is a critical period for shrubs, trees, and other plants. A lack of soil moisture now will weaken these plants, making them less resistant to winter, only a few months away.

Peonies should be moved as seldom as possible, but if your plants seem to be crowded and flowering has diminished each season, now and on through October is the time to move them to a new location. Dig and separate each clump into several divisions, each new one should have at least three, preferably five, growth buds or "eyes" on the root crown. Give them rich soil in a sunny spot and plant so that eyes on roots are one and one-half inches deep. Check your old clumps to see if they have been covered to deeply, for this causes a flowering failure.

The perennial ground cover, Ajuga, has proven to be a toughie, spreads rapidly to form a uniform ground cover with rich green leaves that turn purple-bronze in the fall. In the spring, six to eight inch spires full of fragile blue blossoms appear.

Another perennial that needs to be divided about every four years is the day lily. This will allow plants to become established before winter, and assures bloom for next spring if cared for properly.

If you haven't had the pleasure of planting a hanging basket and watching it grow, you are missing a treat. They fill open spaces and provide color and beauty for many different places. There are many varieties of containers you may use and a wide choice of plants. One potting mix that has been given is - two-thirds organic material (peat moss, compost, etc.) and one-third mineral matter (soil, sand, perlite etc.) These proportions should be adequate for proper drainage and ample air circulation to the root system. Because of frequent watering, the plants will need to be fertilized often. Liquid plant food can be added at the time of watering, and be sure to follow directions on label. Some of the most popular plants to use are coleus, Lantana, vines, geraniums, periwinkle, petunia, impatiens, begonia and succulents. Try to select plants for one basket that will require the same amount of moisture, sun or shade for the best results.

If you plan a fall garden, prepare the space now by spading, add new soil or soil builder if needed.

My sons, Jack and Freddie, are great surfboard riders. They can outride me any day, and because there's not much at which they can beat me (yet), they are tickled pink about it.

I don't mind. I remember how proud I was the day I beat my Dad at golf. He shook my hand and acknowledged that I was growing up.

I learned much from Dad. He was a lot of fun, and yet I valued just as much his serious moments. There was no doubt about his deep and abiding love for God. The memory of his quiet voice speaking of God steadied me through several rough spots in my life.

That's why on Sunday mornings I start to church with a boy on each side of me. I want God to be a reality in their lives as He has been in mine.

IT KEPT THE OFFICERS WARM -- This ancient fireplace was in the north room at Fort Lancaster, uncovered by the archeological excavation crew. The fireplace was above ground but the excavators removed a mound of melted adobe and fallen adobe bricks around it in their work of uncovering the foundation and remaining ruins of the officers' quarters at the Fort. The fireplace had a brick fire wall with two flues on a single chimney. To the left is a well preserved adobe wall in a 1/3 diagonal bond which is different from the bond of the other adobe walls which are built on the common running bond pattern. To the right is a door connecting the north and south rooms of the dirt floored quarters.

HUNTING THE FLAG POLE FOUNDATION -- Archeologists excavating at Fort Lancaster last month located definitely the site of the Fort flag pole. The approximate location of the flag pole had been determined from ancient maps of the fort but until the diggers went down about two feet and discovered the bottom of a round hole in which the original flag pole had rested the exact site was not known. It is located under the pile of large rocks in the foreground. The extreme care with which these experienced people went about the job is shown in this photo. The excavators are Dessamae Lorrain, William Westbury and Catherine Yates.

Water Well—

According to the hand-written journals of the late Mr. S. E. Couch, the second water well in the County was probably the Frank Lantz well in the eastern section and was drilled by Mr. Mauldin. The Couch well at headquarters, west of Ozona, was drilled August, 1888. The Emerald well was drilled in 1888 and J. W. Henderson drilled the first well on Howard Draw in 1888. At a picnic held at the Couch well June 25, 1891, it was decided to organize the county. The first election was held July 7, 1891 and Ozona and the proposed site of Eureka, 11 miles west, were voted on for the county seat with Ozona winning.

A later election was held to determine Ozona or Emerald and Ozona again won out. Thus the offer of E. M. Powell was accepted by the voters and in the Aug. 22, 1891 edition of the San Angelo Weekly Standard, Ozona was reported to be on a boom and the sound of the saw and hammer was heard on every hand.

At the first meeting of the Crockett County Commissioners Court, July 22, 1891 the sheriff was instructed to operate the use of the town well. The water was free to all who would come and haul it away. Everyone secured drinking water at the well but for a fee, water for household use was delivered and deposited in barrels by the back door.

In a recent interview, Mrs. Paul Perner, nee Elizabeth Odum an octogenarian with happy recall of the spirit of pioneer days told of helping her older sister bring the family drinking water each day from the well. The Odom family lived under the hill and the little girls went dashing home trying to keep the keg from overturning as the toy wagon raced down the hill. J. W. and Elizabeth Binyon Odum with their children, ended their westward trek from Callahan Co. in 1891 with permanent settlement in the new town of Ozona. Coming westward, they lived for short times in the settlements of Wentworth in Sutton Co. and in Emerald, the first settlement in Crockett County.

Another pioneer recalled the town well in Ozona for a different reason. In an interview in 1964 Mr. Walter Dunlap recalled his first job with horses. "I was just a kid," he said, "Ozona's first water supply was a cypress water tank by the community's first well. The tank had to stay full all the time or the wood would dry out and shrink, allowing the iron rings to slip and cause leaks. A pump jack was mounted on the well, and horses were used for power. It was my job to keep the horses moving, pushing and pulling the circular wheel."

Time has proven the wisdom of choice by the early voters in selecting Ozona as their county seat. Additional wells have produced abundant water from the same limestone formations as the first well. Today, under the able management of Mr. Bill Cooper and a Board of Directors of Crockett County Water Control, Ozona stands out as one of the more fortunate communities in West Texas. In some area towns, "happiness is" a drink of good water.
