Oil & Gas Discoveries For County

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, No. 1-A Massie West, Leonard oil discovery in the depleted Ozona, North (Ellenburger and Canyon oil) field of Crockett County, 10 miles north of Ozona, was finalized to pump 90 barrels of oil, gravity and gas-oil ratio unreported.

Production was through perforations at 2,796-824 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Drilled to 2,860 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing was set, it is plugged back to 2,818 feet.

Originally slated to 3,200 feet to attempt to re-open Ellenburger production it was amended to 2,800 feet and to test the Leonard.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and west lines of 21-AB-GC&SF.

Atlantic Richfield Co. No. 1-24 Ruby Helbing, link well one mile northeast and 5/8 mile southwest on the north-west side of the Hunt Baggett (Strawn gas) field of Crockett County, 6 1/2 miles southwest of Ozona, was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3,823,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Business To Observe Long 4th Weekend

Due to the Fourth of July falling on Friday this year, many Ozona businesses will be closed Friday through Sunday for a three-day holiday period.

All businesses will be closed to observe the holiday Friday with the exception of some of the cafes and service stations.

Observing the three-day weekend will be all county offices, all retail outlets with the exception of Morrison's which will be open Saturday, and all cafes and service stations.

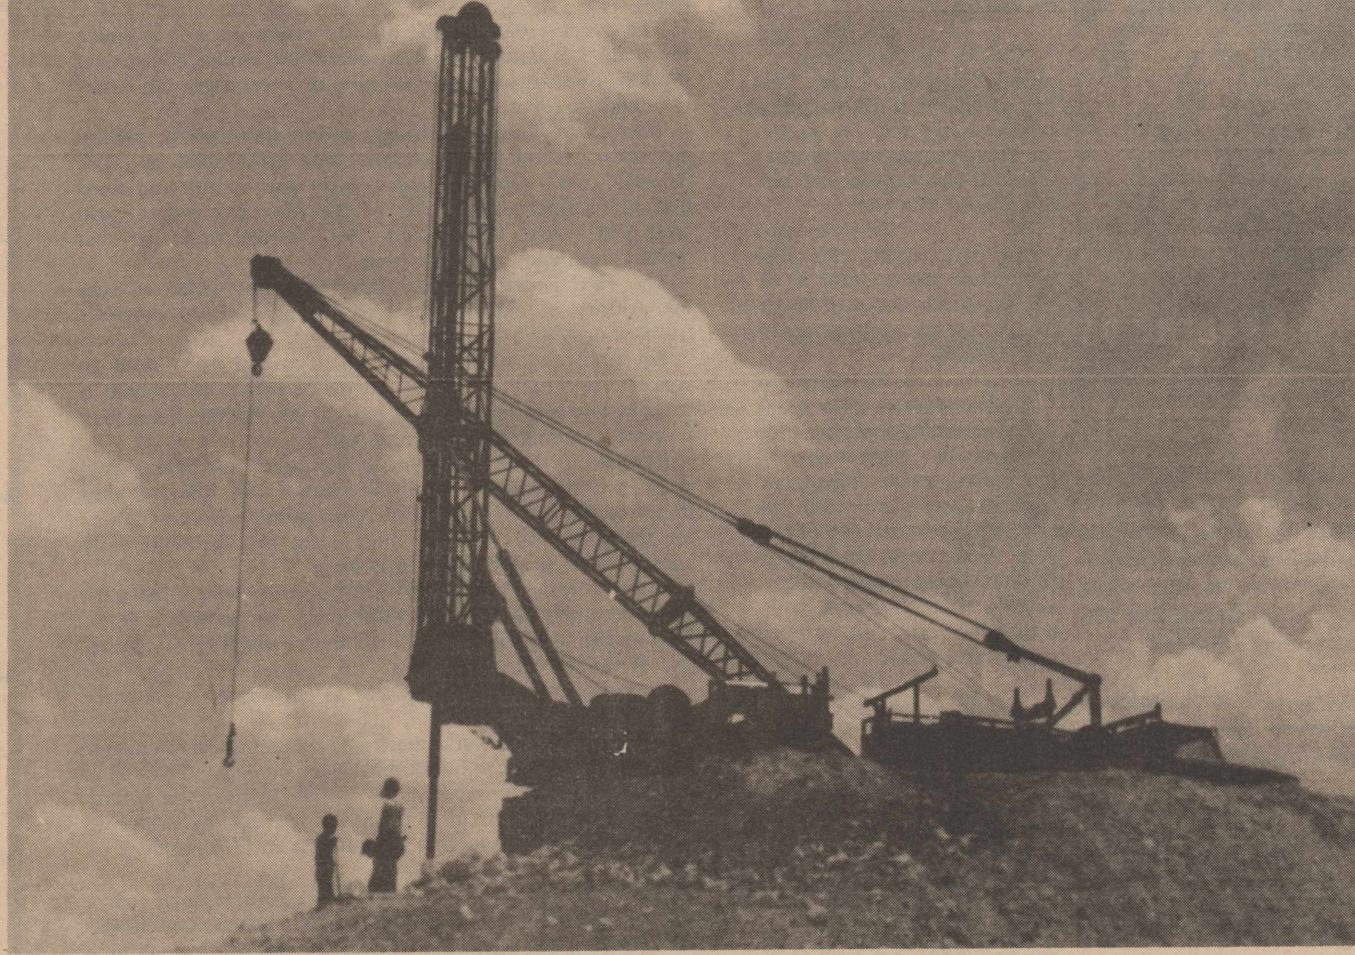

The Ozona Stockman will observe the three-day weekend for the first time in its history.

Stories Needed For History

Family stories for the History of Crockett County, a project of the Bicentennial Committee, should be turned in as soon as possible. All material is due by September 1, in order to get the book to the printer and out for distribution by July, 1976.

Each story will be edited, so those who wish to submit a family history need not be too concerned about grammar, punctuation, etc. Facts, dates and humorous aspects of family life are the main elements necessary.

Stories may be turned in to Mrs. Bill Cooper at the museum or to Mrs. Pleas Childress, chairman of the history book committee.

AT THE TOP OF THE MOUNTAIN - I-10 at Hwy. 163 rises to a height of 19 feet as machines prepare the roadway for the bridge which will be an interstate overpass over the highway. All roads running north and south will dead-end at the super highway with the exception of Hwy. 163. The bridge will be 200 feet long and have a vehicle clearance elevation of 16 feet, 5 inches. Most Ozonans have viewed the ever-rising roadbed with dismay, having gotten the idea that the highway would span Ozona with concrete bridges and trestles. There will be a bridge over Gurley Draw which will be an outlet for Martinez Street, and another over Johnson Draw. (Moran Photo)

18th Annual Ozona Junior Rodeo Set For August 1-2

The Ozona Lions Club will sponsor the 18th Annual Ozona Junior Rodeo Friday and Saturday, August 1-2.

The junior rodeo is the highlight of the summer for Ozona cowboys and cowgirls, as well as for spectators. Entry blanks may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office. Books close July 28 at midnight.

There will be one and a half go-rounds for each contestant. Shows begin at 7:30 each night. Saturday night's show will feature the top six contestants in each event and usually proves to be outstanding from the spectator viewpoint.

There will be the usual three age groups with a trophy buckle given in each event to the winner and a silver platter for best all-around in each age group.

Activities get underway with a street parade Friday, August 1. An old-fashioned western dance will be held on the platform at the rodeo grounds each night following the show.

This year music will be provided by Jimmy Fletcher and his Drifting Ranch Hands.

Events include bull riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, barrel racing, flag racing, pole bending and rescue riding. The latter proved to be a popular event last year.

The concession stand will be manned by members of the Lions Club and will offer the usual fare of barbecued hamburgers, hotdogs, soft drinks, etc.

Highlight of the show Saturday night will be the crowning of the rodeo queen. She will be selected by three out-of-town judges and will be crowned by reigning queen Deldyn Cain. The queen and contestants will be featured in the parade.

Age groups competing include 12 and under, 13 to 15, and 16 to 19. Married contestants are not eligible to participate. The age groups are the same for both boys and girls.

Windstorm Brings .20 Of Inch Of Rain

A blustery windstorm descended on Ozona about 3:30 last Friday from the northeast. The high wind blew limbs from trees, and lowered temperatures considerably.

Following the windy onslaught, rainfall was pretty heavy for about a ten-minute period. The official gauge at the Water District office recorded .20 of an inch of rainfall for the period. Cooler weather held on for most of the weekend, however, and it was late in the day Sunday before summer really returned to Ozona.

OPEC Blackmail

The decision by the OPEC nations to raise the price of oil once more on October 1 may have more than mere economics behind it. There is a strong suspicion that the two principal members of OPEC, Iran and Saudi Arabia, have now forged that oil cartel into a political weapon that could have ominous implications. If the U.S. cooperates with the Arabs in bringing pressure for Israeli concessions, the price rise may be only a small one. If it does not, a larger increase may be levied. If that does not do the trick, a new outright cut-off is threatened. In the latter case, U.S. unemployment could soar above 15% and a devastating depression could occur.

The key to what is happening appears to be the recent settlement of long-standing disputes between Iraq and Iran. This included the Shah's abandonment of his previous support of the rebellious Iraqi Kurds. This new solidarity between Iran and the Arabs can only increase the pressure on Israel.

The more disturbing thing is that OPEC has evidently decided that it is in the driver's seat and that there is nothing that oil consumers can or will do about it. The same conclusion was drawn by the North Vietnamese about the United States when they felt safe in sending their entire army into South Vietnam for the culminating offensive of the war.

This state of affairs only reinforces the need for U.S. energy self-sufficiency at the earliest possible date. Environmental considerations may in some cases have to give way to the overriding national interest in freeing ourselves from this foreign stranglehold on our economic life.

But the crunch may come over the shorter run, while OPEC enjoys maximum leverage. In this connection we were sorry to see the President seemingly withdraw, at a press conference, even the threat of U.S. military action. There are some situations, such as oil embargos, which might damage the U.S. to an intolerable degree. If OPEC knows that such an action would be unopposed, it might be more tempted.

As for Middle East peace prospects, we cannot believe that a weak U.S. response to Arab oil diplomacy can be a positive factor. If Israel is ever to withdraw to her 1967 borders, as the Arabs demand, she must be able to count on unequivocal U.S. support for those borders. If the U.S. displays too much softness now, Israel is more likely to decide that war from her present position is a less unattractive option.

The Need For Intelligence

Before the hungry critics of the CIA set about to devour the agency, they would do well to ask themselves how this nation could fare without an intelligence apparatus. Because, as James Madison noted, "a popular government without the means to popular information is a farce or a tragedy, perhaps both."

It is baffling how critics of the agency can deride it for alleged "unethical conduct" without so much as mentioning the dirty deeds of such foreign rivals as the Soviet Union's notorious KGB.

Chapter two of the Rockefeller Commission's report on the CIA documents the intensity of the Communist intelligence effort. "The Communists invest large sums of money, personnel and sophisticated technology in collecting information — within the United States — on our military capabilities, our weapon systems, our defense structure and our social divisions," reads the report.

"The commission has received estimates that Communist bloc intelligence forces currently number well over 500,000 worldwide," the report continues. "The number of Communist government officials in the United States has tripled since 1960, and is still increasing. Nearly 2,000 of them are now in this country — and a significant percentage of them have been identified as members of intelligence or security agencies. Conservative estimates... raise the level to over 40 percent."

Coupled with the human espionage agents, adds the report, is the fact that "these countries can monitor and record thousands of private telephone conversations. Americans have a right to be uneasy if not seriously disturbed at the real possibility that their personal and business activities which they discuss freely over the telephone could be recorded and analyzed by agents of foreign powers."

Those who would argue that these massive efforts don't represent a clear and present danger to individual American citizens are whistling in the dark. We submit that those who are so diligently investigating the CIA should instead train their guns on the KGB and its sister agencies.

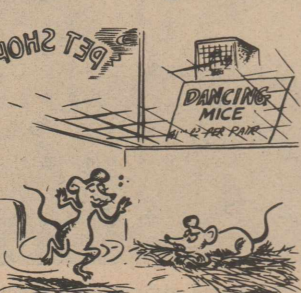

Instead of being hounded, the CIA should be praised for the vital role it has performed in keeping our country secure and free.

Japanese Live Longest

A 1974 United Nations report charts the average life expectancy of Americans at 71.4 years, up from 70.8 in 1971. According to the study, the Japanese have the record longevity — 73.3 years. The shortest life span cited, 41.3 years, is the average length life for Western Africans.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance!

John Adams

GOOD REASON TO CELEBRATE

Late one night in July, 1776, a young man from the Massachusetts colony, exhausted from the day's labors but too emotion-charged to sleep, took quill pen in hand. Writing to his wife Abigail by candle light from stifling boarding house quarters, he described a momentous event which had just taken place in Philadelphia. In years to come, he predicted, that day would be remembered as "the great anniversary Festival."

The man? John Adams.

The event? Adoption of the Declaration of Independence, which he hoped would be commemorated as "the Day of Deliverance, by solemn acts of Devotion to God Almighty."

His vision was indeed prophetic.

One year from now, Americans across the land will celebrate the bicentennial of the American Revolution. Traditionally, we have celebrated Independence Day with gaiety mingled with solemnity. This year, as we prepare for the Bicentennial, a joyous yet reverent, prayerful and dignified celebration is in order as never before in our history.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's veto of 136 college building projects (which he estimated would cost more than $1 billion) may be the subject of a court case.

University of Texas Board of Regents Chairman Allan Shivers said UT regents will defy the veto and go ahead with at least two of the rejected projects.

Shivers claims the veto is unconstitutional. He said the attorney general long ago held the governor cannot veto appropriations bill riders which do no call for specific expenditures.

The chairman further contends that UT projects will be financed with constitutional funds which cannot be controlled by an act of the legislature.

Briscoe maintains that UT, like other schools, must get College Coordinating Board approval of its construction projects under a new law — or specific legislative approval. He voted the projects, in the first place, because he interpreted them as an effort to bypass the new statute by a subterfuge prior legislative approval through the appropriations riders.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has indicated he will approve none of the UT building project vouchers in controversy without an attorney general's opinion. It has been hinted regents may seek a declaratory judgement in court to uphold their position.

Campaign Begins Campaign for adoption of the proposed new state constitution November 4 already is shaping up. Former Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert will lead the drive for voter support. Top officials who are supporting the new charter include Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Atty. Gen. John Hill and Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill. Governor Briscoe did not attend the initial meeting to kick off campaign plans. He made clear later that he has not made up his mind whether or not to support the revision. He has never been a supporter of annual legislative sessions, Briscoe reminded. The new constitution would provide for annual legislative sessions. It also would broaden powers of the governor considerably.

Committee Recedes

Truckers' $363,646 breach of contract suit verdict against the Houston Chronicle was affirmed by the Supreme Court. At issue was an agreement to transport newspapers.

An Austin district judge stopped Austin and Dallas commercial colleges from enrolling new students until they refund $230,000 in tuitions to former students. The judge also restrained an Indiana truck driving school from violations of the propriety school act.

AG Opinions Atty. Gen. John Hill held records on suspension or revocation of alcoholic beverage licenses, except those excepted by statute, are public and should be disclosed. In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: Information submitted to the Board of Insurance to fix workmen's compensation coverage rates is public. An applicant for an occupational driver's license must offer valid proof of having an auto liability insurance policy.

Bill's Scribbings By Bill Morrison, Minister Ozona Church of Christ

One of my favorite past-times is watching the area weather forecasts on television. The weathermen will point to a certain area on the map which has an "L" on it and will say, "Here is a low pressure system and it is bringing into our area strong, moist winds. Therefore, there is a good possibility for thunderstorms in our area today or tomorrow." This is the principle of cause and effect! There is a cause — a low pressure system — and there is an effect — thunderstorms.

With this principle in mind, a searching question about our nation and its condition is raised. Why have we as the most powerful nation in the world experienced such recent effects as anarchy, immorality, and evil? Perhaps the cause can be found in our failure to obey the admonition of Proverbs 14:34, "Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a disgrace to any people."

Our nation needs a revival of the spiritual truths on which it was established. In the Declaration of independence, signed July 4, 1776, there are these statements:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and pursuit of Happiness." The final sentence of this document ends with this declaration, "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our Sacred Honor."

Evil in our nation can not be eliminated easily or quickly. However, it can be eliminated by righteous people who live righteous lives.

"Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a disgrace to any people."

POWER ALKS by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

Food Supply Threat

WASHINGTON—A recent ruling by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) presents a serious threat to the economy of the Southwest, and to America's ability to produce food for itself and the world in future years.

The FPC has the authority to set the wellhead price at which natural gas may be sold in the interstate market, and to establish who shall have priority in the use of natural gas.

The purpose of the FPC priority rating system, in which there are five categories, is to determine which natural gas users will be cut off first if supplies of natural gas fall below the demand for it.

There have been increasingly severe shortages of natural gas since federal price controls were established in 1954. An FPC staff report released early this month indicated that net supply deficiencies in the interstate market will total nearly three trillion cubic feet this year, a 45 per cent greater deficiency than last year.

The FPC issued an order last December which reduces the priority of natural gas used for agricultural purposes from priority two to priority three.

Up until the FPC ruling, which would be locked in concrete if a natural gas bill currently before the Senate is enacted into law, farm use of natural gas had been assigned a priority second only to home use.

Farmers in the arid regions of the Southwest have a vital need for a dependable supply of natural gas, which is used to power their irrigation wells. Alternative sources of power for the irrigation wells in most cases are technologically unfeasible or prohibitively expensive.

When a farmer prepares to plant in arid country, he must decide months in advance whether or not he will irrigate. That decision is contingent upon the availability of natural gas. Without dependable irrigation, farm yields drop, farm income declines, and food prices to consumers everywhere increase.

Nothing produced in America is more important to our own well being and to our foreign balance of payments than our agricultural commodities. If we are to have the wherewithal to trade with other countries for raw materials we need, then food production in America must be as high as possible.

The FPC's shortsighted action will have a ripple effect that will be felt by the housewife at the supermarket checkout counter, the international banker, and by the starving peasant in India. The fact is America has NO vital interest more important than that of the farmer. Agricultural use of natural gas should be restored to its former priority. I will support legislation to that effect.

Bob Krueger Reports

U. S. Representative 21st District

Patience is a quality that we hear little of these days. We take pills for immediate health, turn on TV for instant entertainment, and live in a society that often expects instant gratification and instant solutions. But government and legislation require patience and time.

People frequently and legitimately complain of regulations handed down by government agencies. Oftentimes representatives have drawn their legislation so hastily that they leave rule-making authority entirely to the agencies which then sometimes act in high-handed doctrinaire and obtuse fashion.

One check in our system against badly drawn legislation is the Presidential veto. Equally the legislative branch must act to control the excesses of the Executive Branch. Democracy is not a speedboat going swiftly and directly to its destination, but it avoids the submerged obstacles that can sink swifter totalitarian governments. Democracy is much more the raft which goes from side to side making its progress slowly, but which seldom sinks and can carry large numbers of divers and passengers safely.

This past week the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on which I serve reported out what is probably the largest bill dealing with energy ever written in this country. I voted against reporting out the bill from committee in spite of the fact that I had spent a good part of almost every day for the past five months working on this bill. It has some good provisions but it seems to me to have even more bad ones.

The oil pricing provision which is the keystone of the bill is one that I had written and which passed in subcommittee 8-7. It was defeated 22-21 in full committee and I will now need to work to restore it on the floor of the entire House. My provision would encourage exploration and development in this country. The provision that narrowly defeated mine, in my judgement, would guarantee higher imports. I believe we can defeat it on the floor and if not, it will be vetoed.

Tips For Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After many rainless days and most of them hitting 90 and above degrees, it grows more difficult to keep our flower and vegetable gardens from drying out so quickly. Plants need your help more in midsummer than at any other time of their lives. Without your thorough cultivation (shallow), fertilizing, watering, mulching and the control of insects and diseases, your plants have little chance of survival, much less full productiveness. When plants are mature, cultivation becomes a problem, especially in the small garden where you can't use a tiller, but a hoe will help to keep the soil from crusting over. Here a mulch helps.

Plants at their peak of growth now should have nutrients to draw upon. Use a good 5-10-10 garden fertilizer and water deeply. All sorts of insects and diseases are evident now, so use a dust or spray that will be effective for your trouble.

Another cultural practice often overlooked is the grooming of flowering plants, and the clean picking of vegetables. Removing dead or fading flowers encourages others to form. Annuals and roses are especially responsive to this care. Leaving fruit on vegetable plants is a quick way to slow down their production. Pick cleanly and your plants will continue producing over a longer period of time.

If you want compact, well-branched chrysanthemum plants this fall, continue to prune by pinching out a small portion of the growing tip each time new growth is 3 to 4 inches long. Do this until about the last week in July or early August. Cut back dahlias to about one-half their height after the first crop of bloom. The old plants will branch and produce a good crop of fall blooms.

July Almanac planting days: above ground crops: 8, 9, 14-18, 21, 22; root crops: 3-5, 28, 27, 31.

Krueger To Keynote TS&GA Annual Meet

Keynote speaker for the 60th Annual Convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in San Antonio July 20-22 will be Congressman Bob Krueger, according to Armer Earwood of Sonora, president of the sheep and goat organization. "The meeting will be at the Hilton Palacio del Rio, located in the downtown area on the picturesque San Antonio River," stated Earwood.

Registration will begin at 1:00 p. m. Sunday, July 20 and continue through Monday. TS&GA committees will meet throughout the afternoon of July 21. The annual meeting of the Texas Animal Damage Control Association will get underway immediately following the Association's Predatory Animal Committee meeting.

American Cyanamid Co. will host hospitality functions Monday and Tuesday evenings on the patio of the historic Cos House, located in the La Villita area — one prior to the dance Monday evening and the other prior to the annual membership banquet Tuesday evening.

Attorney General John Hill will be speaker at the Tuesday banquet. Several special awards will be presented at this time. Outstanding News Reporter and Outstanding County Agent will be recognized, and the recipients of the Bryan Hunt Scholarship Award and Fred Earwood Memorial Award will be announced.

Speakers in addition to Krueger for the Tuesday general session will include James T. Hunt of Sonora, president of the Mohair Council of America, and R. D. Biglin, executive director of the Denver-based American Sheep Producers Council. These men will bring producers up to date on activities of their organizations in the areas of advertising and promotion of lamb, wool and mohair.

Woman's Auxiliary president, Mrs. F. Scott Lanford of Blanket, has planned a style show for the ladies Tuesday, July 22. The Auxiliary Past Presidents will meet for lunch on Monday. The Advisory Board and general meeting will follow the noon luncheon.

Debra Says

by Debra Price H. D. Agent

Interest in Bicentennial celebrations and activities is growing as 1976 approaches. The effect is definitely seen in fashion.

Fashion forecasters from mills to manufacturers to retailers are strong on medium value, pure colors in the red, white and blue and "calico" yellow and green. Interesting fabric prints further depict the theme with country and historic scenes, artifacts and symbols. Pattern companies are introducing appropriate patriot and early American designs.

Economists predict a boom in dollar sales, units and a strong consumer demand for clothing and textile items in preparation for Bicentennial happenings. In considering activities appropriate for this celebration, also consider clothing and how it reflects the wearer's interests.

PLAY IT SAFE IN WATER
Water play is fun and educational for children—but only when they learn to "play it safe." Adults must closely supervise water play activities. Water that is two- to three inches deep is just as dangerous to your children as water two- to three feet deep.

When children congregate in the backyard to swim in washubs, play with the water hose or swim in the pool, be conscious of water safety.

Wading pools or larger pools should be fenced, insist that flotation belts or life jackets be used by all children. If a neighbor's child fusses about safety precautions, insist that he get out of the water—tell him it's a rule in the pool. Children learn much from water play—physical coordination of legs and arms, about textures and liquids, buoyancy, temperature changes, and concepts of up and down, in and out, forward and backward.

If a child is gradually introduced to water play, he is less likely to fear water. Being forced may cause fear or withdrawal.

FROM LAW COMES FREEDOM

When God gave Moses the Ten Commandments they were largely NEGATIVE rules. God's feeling for us! "Thou shalt NOT..." We should appreciate

For if you were privileged to rewrite the Commandments would you choose to make them POSITIVE? "You MUST..." Totalitarian is just the polite political name for that kind of programmed puppetry. God would have nothing of it!

Truly, every "thou shalt not" inspires earnest believers to find their own rightful expressions of conviction and commitment. Our secular Law with its protections of the rights of others does not restrict our moral freedom. It simply guides it into more constructive channels, more fruitful aims.

Never does the Law say "Thou shalt go to Church every Sunday." It does say "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy". REMEMBERING OUR SPIRITUAL NEEDS IS THE ESSENCE OF FREEDOM!

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

Brought to you By Lillian Brown

Oddly enough, many home makers forget to furnish one of the most appealing parts of a room. How many people think to put chairs or tables in the area immediately in front of a window-and yet this can be an ideal place because you can take advantage of natural light and a view of the outdoors, and add extra beauty and convenience to your interior decor.

What are some of the ways you could decorate this area? Here are several ideas.

This could be the perfect spot for a sewing table, a desk or game table. Or you might want to put a small table and chairs by the window for snacks or light entertaining. Or, even more simply, how about just one comfortable chair and companion table by the window as an ideal spot for reading or just sitting and day-dreaming.

We're speaking not only of the living room, but other rooms, too, such as the bedroom where you can use space in front of windows very imaginatively with various combinations of different tables and chairs. You might want to use a make-up table by a bedroom window, or a telephone table and chair where you can talk and look outside at nature's beauties at the same time.

And, for all your furnishing needs and ideas we invite you to shop here.

54 Fatalities Estimated For Holiday Period

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today estimated that traffic accidents in the state over the July 4th holiday weekend will claim 54 lives.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects travel will be heavy in Texas over the holiday period, "particularly in and around recreational areas" such as lakes and beaches.

He added that the estimate covers a 78-hour period starting on Thursday at 6 p.m. and counting until midnight Sunday. Last year during a 102-hour Independence Day celebration, 46 persons were killed in traffic mishaps in Texas.

Speir also pointed out that highway traffic deaths are about 25 per cent over the total at this time one year ago. "This is due to increased travel and somewhat higher speeds," he added.

In a concerted effort to help keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in the all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir said, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcide" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday. --0--
