The past week has been a tragic one for our small community as you will see in the pages of this edition of the paper. I can't remember when we have had so many reports of deaths in one issue. I think the entire community was shocked and saddened by the untimely death of Esequiel Flores. He was an asset to the community and we need more like him. It is rather unusual to describe such a young man as "a good person," but that sums him up so well. He was always willing to help out in any endeavor. He always had time to do a few chores for little old ladies and was patient and kind with kids. He was a tireless worker for the betterment of the community and in his church. Besides all that, orphaned at an early age, he took his younger brothers and sisters to rear with the help of his wife, Yolanda. He accomplished much to be so young in years, and he will be missed by all who knew him.

The weather has been pleasant, thanks to the nice cool front that drifted through the area over the weekend. The rain was most welcome. Perhaps Autumn really did arrive the 23rd like the calendar said, and just maybe the summer heat is behind us.

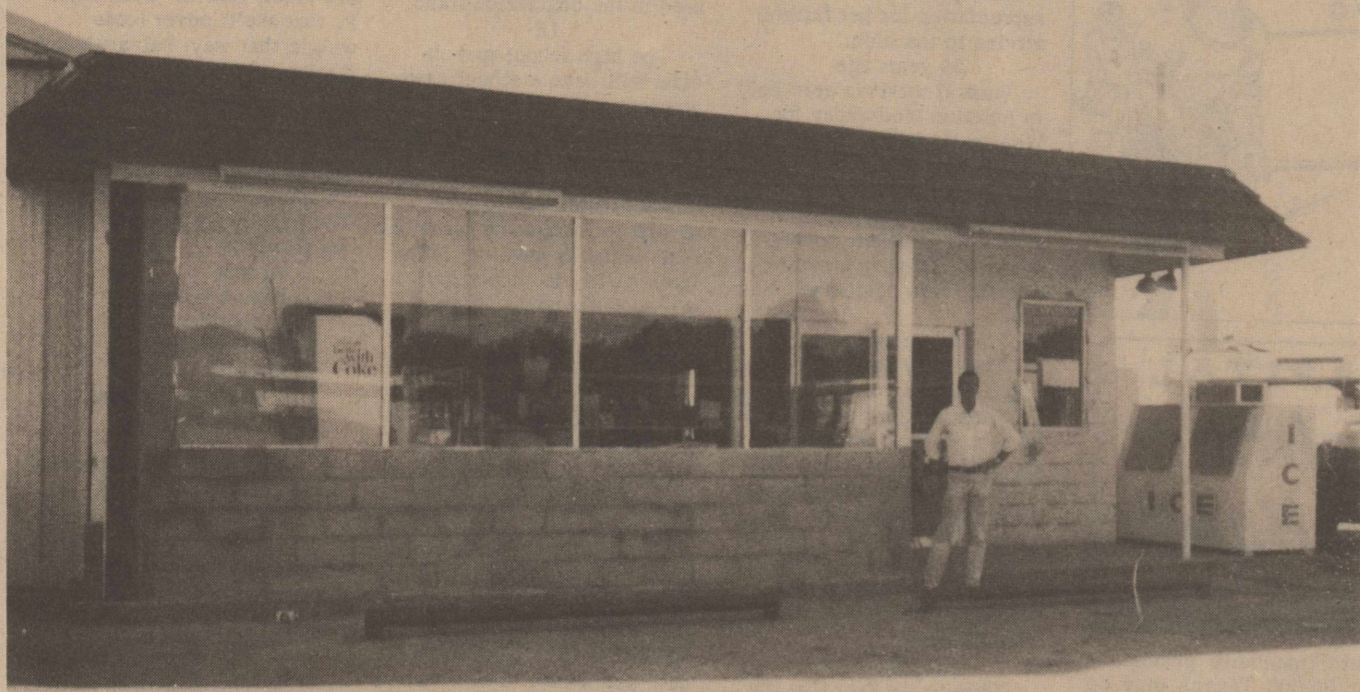

Well, national news events have been unfolding thick and fast during the past week. I'll bet no reporter on the national scene had to dig in anybody's garbage for a story this past week. Reports on Patty Hearst are somewhat confusing and contradictory. According to news reports, she wants to be reunited with her family, yet her actions seem as much the hard line revolutionary activist as ever. I'm sure the parents have been deeply hurt, as only a child can hurt a parent, but I believe if Patty were my daughter, I'd have a little trouble closing my eyes at night with her in the house.

The attacks on President Ford are certainly alarming. I believe execution on the spot would put a stop to this sort of thing. We've had more assassinations and attempted assassinations in this nation in the past decade than in all the other years gone before. We've also had more permissiveness and less discipline in the past decade than ever before in the history of the nation. I believe the two go together.

Locally homecoming is at hand. The homecoming football game with Iran will be October 3. Seniors are busy taking orders for homecoming mums and I don't know what else is on hand at school. I do know the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority's Spaghetti Supper is scheduled for that night before the game. The FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS abound in the West Texas Area. Here Tuesday to speak at the Rotary Club's noon luncheon was Gaye Davis, 18, of Durban, Natal, South Africa. Gaye arrived in the States January of this year. She is staying with the Les Capertons in San Angelo and attended Central High one semester. She is presently a freshman at Angelo State University. She will be returning home in January of 1976.

NEW LOOK FOR THE DRIVE IN GROCERY -- A new front was completed this week at Sonny's Drive In Grocery. Colorful red, wood shingles form the over-hang. The front of the store has been completely glassed in with glass door, and tile has been used below the glass. All that remains is a coat of paint for the tile. It made a complete new look for what was formerly Lewis Drive In Grocery, the first convenience store for Ozona.

Lions Suffer First Loss Of Season At Hands Of Bearcats

The Ballinger Bearcats came to town last Friday night and handed the Ozona Lions their first loss of the season, 31-6. Six turnovers by the Lions accounted for the lop-sided score. The Lions will be in Lakeview tomorrow, Friday, night for an encounter with the highly touted Chiefs. The Chiefs, Class AAA, downed the Ector Eagles last Friday night in an important pre-season game. The hard-hitting Bearcats bounded to a 17-0 lead in the first quarter and the Lions could never catch up. The Lions scored only once in the second quarter. The Lion score came when Vaden Aldridge hit right end John Galvan on the three and he raced in for the score. The PAT was no good. Ozona bested the Ballinger eleven in first downs, getting 12 first downs to the Bearcats 9. The Lions had a respectable 265 yards in total yardage, but the Bearcats racked up 319. The Lions were hurt by losing 4 fumbles and having two passes intercepted, and the Bearcats capitalized on every Lion miscue. In individual statistics, Gary Warren led the Lions rushing with 47 yards in 10 carries. Frankie Garza had 30 yards on 5 carries and John Galvan was the leading pass receiver with 3 for 60 yards and a touchdown. On defense, Clyde Bailey was outstanding for the Lions with 11 tackles and one pass interception.

Taliaferro Rites Sat. In Ft. Stockton

Services for Mark Lewis Taliaferro, 79, former Ozonan, were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Fort Stockton Funeral Home with burial there.

Taliaferro's death was ruled accidental by gunshot wound. The ruling was made by Peace Justice Thillie Cooke. He apparently died about 12:30 a.m. Thursday of a gunshot wound to the head. He was found in the kitchen of his home, along with a .38 caliber pistol. Handgun cleaning apparatus was also found on the kitchen table.

He was born March 29, 1896 in Sonora and lived in Ozona until moving to Fort Stockton in 1929. He was a retired rancher.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Mark Taliaferro of Odessa, Bill Taliaferro of Laredo and Jake Taliaferro of Brenham; two brothers, Fred Taliaferro of San Angelo and C. W. Taliaferro of Ozona; 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Historical Markers Dedication Sunday

Two Texas Historical Markers will be dedicated in ceremonies Sunday afternoon, according to Mrs. R. A. Harrell, Crockett County Historical Survey Committee Chairman.

The official Texas Historical Markers will commemorate the Ozona-Barnhart Trap Co. and the County's First Producing Oil Well, said Marshall Montgomery, Marker Chairman.

Both markers will be dedicated Sunday, Sept. 28, 1975, at 2:30 p.m. at the site of the O. B. Trap Co. marker at the state roadside park seven miles north of Ozona on State Highway 163.

All those interested are invited to attend. The marker for the county's first producing oil well will be placed at the junction of SH 137 and SH 29, twenty-two miles NW of Ozona.

The trap company was organized in 1924 by a group of ranchers to establish a corridor through which ranchers could drive their livestock from Ozona to the railroad crossing in Barnhart without trespassing on fenced pasture land. The main trail extended about 34 miles, from south of Ozona to Barnhart.

The first oil well was started in 1923 and proved successful in 1925 when the first well came in at a depth of 2647 feet and produced 25 barrels of oil a day. The strike opened up the World Pool, more commonly known as Powell Field, and it is still yielding oil.

The marking of local historic sites and landmarks is part of the Texas Historical Commission's program of preservation activities. These include archeological investigations, history museum consultation, and administering the National Historic Preservation Act in Texas. As of 1974 the Historical Commission had erected more than 6,800 official markers.

Rig Accident Fatal To Camp Wood Man

An oilfield accident 35 miles south of Ozona Wednesday morning, Sept. 17, took the life of a Camp Wood man.

Services were held Monday in the Nueces Canyon Church of Christ with burial in Barksdale Cemetery.

Graveside Rites Tuesday For Mr. Pridemore

Graveside services for R. B. (Pete) Pridemore, 68, longtime Ozona resident were held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Pridemore was found dead at his residence in San Angelo Sunday. Justice of the Peace Richard Self pronounced death due to natural causes.

He was born March 12, 1907 in Texas. He served in World War II and was a member of the Ozona Veteran's of Foreign Wars Post. He moved to San Angelo from Ozona about a year ago.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Earl Deland of Brady and Mrs. Rose Ingram of San Angelo, and one brother, Otist Pridemore of Ozona.

Pallbearers were Garland Allen, Bill Pagan, Nat Read, Bill Hoover, Roger Dudley, and Sam Willis.

Cool Front Leaves 1.44 Inch of Rain

Another front passed through the area over the weekend, dropping temperatures and leaving almost an inch and a half of rainfall. The official gauge at the Water District office recorded 1.44 inches for Sunday's rainfall.

By mid week fair skies and pleasant weather prevailed, giving some indication of an early fall.

SHERIFF MILLS HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Sheriff Billy Mills is home and taking it easy for a couple of weeks before returning to his duties. He is recuperating from heart surgery performed a few weeks ago in a Houston hospital.

140 Guests Attend Center Open House

A total of 140 persons signed the guest register at the Open House at the Care Center Sunday between the hours of 2 and 4:30 p.m. In spite of the cool, rainy weather, the event was counted a success.

The Auxiliary hosted the affair and the Girl Scouts catered the refreshments. A tea table was set for guests in the dining room and coffee was served in the day room.

There were at least a dozen members of the auxiliary working during the open house. Some had the new blue smocks which will be used by the volunteers of the auxiliary.

Another meeting of the auxiliary has been called for October 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Care Center.

Funeral Service Friday For Esequiel Flores

Funeral services for Esequiel Rocha Flores, 29, were held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church with burial in Lima Cemetery. Father James Plagens conducted the funeral mass.

America's Revolution Was Unique

"A genuine understanding of revolutionary ideals is what links Thomas Paine, Sam Adams, and Benjamin Rush, and the American people, with Lenin, Mao, Che (Guevara), and the struggles of all oppressed people in the world."

Baloney. America's revolutionary writers were about as similar to those Marxist hatermongers as novelist Louisa May Alcott is to novelist Erica Jong.

The significance of the above quote derives from the fact that it was uttered by Jeremy Rifkin - the same Jeremy Rifkin who today heads the so-called People's Bicentennial Commission (PBC). The Commission, which is hotly opposed to the official, government-sponsored "BUcentennial" because of its reliance on private industry, has emerged on the national scene as an alternative to the official celebration.

Rifkin, however, in an attempt to sell himself and the PBC to the American public, has toned down such Marxist rhetoric as the above, which appeared in the November-December 1971 issue of an underground newspaper called New American Movement.

"The 'People's Bicentennial Commission' poses itself as a nationwide citizen organization dedicated to restoring the democratic principles that shaped the birth of this republic," says Francis M. Watson, Jr., Dunn Loring, Va., who has made a careful study of the group's background and aims. "In actual fact, it is a propaganda and organizing tool of a small group of political extremists who seek to use the bicentennial to further their own goals."

One doesn't have to be an expert on the PBC, however, to know that if it started running in the wrong direction at the outset, it's going to be off base when it stops. And, for starters, Rifkin was dead wrong when he compared America's revolution to those in Russia, China and Cuba.

"The American Revolution was essentially conservative - a War of Independence from a foreign tyranny, not an internal class war or social revolution," writes the distinguished editor Eugene Lyons. "... It was led, and its purposes were articulated by men deeply committed to law and reason and religious concepts. ... The Americans were not radicals and the revolution had nothing in common with the revolutions of the present epoch."

The PBC has had remarkable success in selling itself as the "common man's alternative" to the Bicentennial plans of the official American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. Our citizens should be aware, however, that the revolutionary banner flown by the PBC is not really red, white and blue - it is all red.

Toward A Fascist State

Earlier this year Senator Barry Goldwater termed the present Congress as "probably the most dangerous" this country has ever had.

Almost as though they were out to prove the Senator correct in his assessment, extreme left-wingers and "liberals" in the 94th Congress are, according to reports from the nation's capital, plotting to get rid of the Corrupt Practices Act. The Act, originally passed in 1939, prevents government labor bosses from blackmailing, coercing, intimidating or otherwise forcing government workers to contribute to political campaigns, persons or parties.

Without the protection of the law, a corrupt government boss would be able to say to the government workers in his department or under his jurisdiction: "If you don't work for and contribute to the political candidate of my choice, I'll see that you get fired or frozen in your present job so that you will never get a raise in salary or an advancement in rank." The same corrupt official would, by the same token, be able to approach specific Congressional or Senatorial candidates with the proposition: "If you promise to vote additional millions of dollars in appropriations for my bureau or agency, I'll guarantee to produce X number of votes and X number of dollars for your campaign." Thus, a corrupt official would be able to dictate terms not only to the government workers under him, but also dictate to the elected representatives of the people.

It was exactly for that reason that the Corrupt Practices Act - commonly known as the "Hatch Act" - was passed by Congress.

There is only one reason why the powerful labor bosses now running government employees unions want the Hatch Act repealed; the law stands in the way of their gaining still greater power. Any such measure to add to the present power of the unelected bureaucracy in Washington would be a giant step toward fascism.

There is only one way to stop the drive for power, and that is for the people (meaning you) to notify their Senators now: "If you vote for repeal of the Hatch Act, we will vote you out of office." The time to send the message is now.

AUSTIN - Campaigns for and against the proposed new state constitution already are generating lots of heat.

Texas Press Association, Texas Daily Newspaper Association and Texas Association of Broadcasters got a broad introduction in a day-long pro and con seminar here last week.

A day later, Citizens for the Texas Constitution, leaders of the revision change, held their statewide kick-off meeting launching a six-weeks public information effort before the November 4 election.

The opposition group, Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution (the present one, that is), already was doing lots of kicking. Its statewide steering committee broadened steadily, picking up such members as former Gov. Preston Smith and Court of Criminal Appeals Presiding Judge John F. Onion Jr.

Former Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, head of the revision forces, summarized arguments for the new constitution.

Eight proposals on the November 4 ballot modernize Texas' basic laws and "provide benefits for the people which cannot be achieved under the old document."

Further, argued Calvert, the revision submitted by the legislature would "go a long way to stop wasteful spending in state government and provide equity and relief for the individual taxpayer."

Not so, countered Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler for the opposition. The new document would "lead to new taxes on an unprecedented scale," contended McKnight. Further, he maintained, it would give the legislature "power to do about anything it wants at the expense of the people."

Much opposition, as anticipated, centered on proposed annual legislative sessions and a commission to pass on legislators' salaries. Tax provisions also came under heavy opposition fire.

Highways Stated If costs keep going up and income doesn't, the State Highway Department says in another six or seven years it may have barely enough money to maintain the present 71,000-mile road system.

Major new construction could be out of the question if the state hasn't the cash to match federal building funds. Gasoline tax and motor vehicle registration income, which traditionally increased at six or seven per cent a year, is no longer growing much. Meanwhile, construction costs have doubled since 1967.

The Highway Department, as explained here previously, is studying its manpower needs with a view to reduced payrolls. Some districts already have reduced their work forces.

Mowing along highway rights-of-way also has been reduced to save money.

Discount Expiring Ten percent discounts on auto insurance premiums for 35,000 Texans may be lost this fall unless they re-take defensive driving courses.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

This month I hope everyone is enjoying the most spectacular display of the native purple eryngo. This is not a thistle, as is often called, but a carrot.

In Mary Motz Will's book she describes this plant as almost bizarre in appearance in August and September when its metallic coloring and iridescence becomes conspicuous. It has few rivals for its own peculiar kind of beauty in its late summer flowering period. In some places whole fields take on a violet cast. Although the rigid plants are easily dried for winter bouquets, the color soon fades. One year mine held its color all winter.

Eryngo is very difficult to transplant, but if seeds are sown as soon as ripe a colony may be established in the garden, with the expectation of flowers 2 years later. We used it for table decorations at the Layman-Ministerial Retreat last week end held at the Methodist Church. The lecturer, Dr. Lindsey Pherrigo of Kansas City, Missouri, was so impressed with its attractive beauty that he took a box to his wife. Many of our natives are so common to us in this area, that we fail to recognize their real beauty.

If you are carrying over the large exotic Christmas or Easter amaryllis in pots, you should follow a few directions. In late September or early October (before the first frost) take up the pot, scrape excessive soil off the top until the soil level is 4 inch below the rim of the pot and store in a dry place (60 to 65 degrees). Stop watering completely to allow the pot to dry out altogether. The foliage will gradually turn yellow and then it should be cut off about 2 inches above the top of the bulb. Leave the pot dry and undisturbed for 3 months. It is during this period of rest that the flowers form in the bulb. When the bud appears the plant can be placed in room (70-75 degrees) and may require water daily. Turn the pot regularly, as the stalks lean toward the sun. An even temperature day and night will give fastest results. When in full bloom, remove to a cool (45 to 55 degree) spot at night. Do not place in direct sunlight.

Check ornamental plants now for damage caused by spider mites. Damage appears as yellow or gray stippled patterns on the upper surfaces of leaves; the undersides may have fine silken webbing spun across them. Use pesticide as directed - Cygon, Kelthane or sulfur. Hosing off foliage also helps.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

Brought to you By Lillian Brown

People often ask if they should put their furniture diagonally.

Generally speaking, a room usually looks better if the big pieces run parallel to a wall. This seems to create more unity, it is more pleasing to the eye and is often more practical. However, like most rules of decorating, there can be exceptions based on personal preference or specific room situations, so there are times when major pieces could be placed diagonally, but most decorators prefer parallel placement in the majority of cases for the big pieces.

Small pieces, on the other hand, may often be turned at an angle to a larger piece. By doing this you can break up an over abundance of straight lines in a room, and give a room more interest and convenience.

Another thing to consider is that even though you are placing a big piece, such as a sofa, parallel to a wall, the sofa doesn't necessarily have to cling to the wall. You might want to try floating it—letting it stand free in the room—and still keep its lines parallel to a wall even though it is not close against that wall.

Whatever your preferences are, remember that we can help you select beautiful furniture—and give you ideas on how to place your furniture in the most beautiful way, too. Stop in.

MAIN DISH FOR SPECIAL DINNER PARTY--Texas beef and veal team up to make Scandinavian Meat Balls. Served over cooked rice, they make an impressive but easy to prepare main dish. A tossed green salad and French bread, and poached pear halves topped with ice cream for dessert round out the menu, Texas Department of Agriculture home economists suggest.

SCANDINAVIAN MEAT BALLS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 lb. ground veal
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/2 cup commercial bread crumbs
- 1-1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
- 1 egg, beaten
- Flour
- 3 Tbsp. lard or drippings
- 1 can (10-1/2 oz.) condensed mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup milk
- Cooked rice

Pour 1/3 cup milk over bread crumbs. Add beef, veal, salt, nutmeg, lemon rind and egg. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Coat hands with flour; shape meat mixture into 18 balls, allowing approximately 2 tablespoons for each. Brown meat balls in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine mushroom soup and 1/2 cup milk, mix well and pour over meat balls. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Serve over cooked rice. Yield: 6 servings.

WRITING HIS OWN NAME
Naturally, the first thing children want to learn to write is their name.

- Start with just his/her first name.
- Print it clearly, and say the name of the letter as you print it.
- Make letters large so child can trace with finger before attempting to make it.
- Have plenty of large paper on hand (don't use lined paper - it's too confining. He/she needs to learn how to make the letter first - printing in a straight line comes a good bit later.)
- He/she will reverse some letters - make some very large and some too small - don't worry about it.
- Take his hand and trace over the letters with the pen or crayon so that he will get a feeling of the motions required to make letters.
- Say the letters aloud as you make them.

SHOWING OFF HIS PROGRESS

- Once he/she has mastered the first name, go on to the last name, using the same method.
- If some of the letters are the same as in the first name, praise him for having already learned those letters.
- Learning to make letters and learning their names is hard work. There are 52 characters to be learned and some are very similar in shape. He/she needs time, and you need to give praise while mastering this skill.
- Display his work.
- Display of letters is as important as a display of pictures - the kitchen bulletin board, the refrigerator, the hall bulletin board are suggested places for display.
- Display the correct attempts. This is reinforcing accurate formation of letters.
- Emphasize accomplishment. Count how many letters are correct rather than how many are wrong.
- Give him/her opportunity to display these new skills. He can dictate a few words for a post card or note then sign his own name. (Leave plenty of space at the bottom for this because his letters will still be quite large.) Birthday cards, get well cards, or any opportunity to get his thoughts down in print will be an incentive to further learning.

THE SKIN GAME: Are you playing the skin game and cheating yourself of a lovely complexion? The answer is "yes" if you fail to cleanse, revitalize and protect your complexion each day. These basic steps to beauty will help your complexion look healthier and prettier, and it's as easy as one - two - three.

Begin by thoroughly cleansing away all make-up. If you live in one of our modern polluted atmospheres, you'll also want to clean away grime and irritants that become uninvited guests to your complexion. Choose either a cleansing cream or cleansing cream lotion, whichever your skin welcomes most. Cleanse face and neck in the morning - and again in the evening or late afternoon if you have a date. Certainly cleanse before turning in, no matter how tired you are or how late the hour.

An important second step to uncloud and clear your complexion and help keep it that way is to be practiced every other day, or more often if you wish, with the use of a liquid or creamy formula such as Merle Norman's Miracol. When you do this kind of thorough cleansing job your skin takes on a natural radiant glow that enhances the final touches of make-up. Apply evenly over the face and neck—avoid the hairline, lips and eye area. Leave on for 15 to 20 minutes; rinse off by splashing cool water over face and neck. Use hands rather than a facecloth. Then pat dry with a soft towel.

The third step to beauty should protect as well as enhance your complexion by using a powder base in a shade correct for you - either cream or fluid form. Dot your forehead, cheeks, nose, chin and under-chin, and blend powder base with fingertips. This protective step in complexion care is especially important.

For added complexion enhancement include a color toner in your make-up items. This not only complements the powder base; but also its color can be chosen to accentuate your own coloring or color-correct it. The right color toner also allows you to wear clothing colors that might otherwise be unflattering.

Whatever beauty ritual you're involved in, don't pull or stretch the skin with a heavy-hand technique. This is particularly important in that delicate eye area where we tend to age first. A light touch with fingertips is important. And remember, complexion care can't begin too early. According to statistics, the average woman may expect a life span of more than seven decades. So any time spent caring for good looks now can pay off in beautiful dividends later!

Dear Mrs. Robinson:
I love the creamy lipsticks that make my mouth look moist. But it embarrasses me to leave traces of lip gloss on cups and glasses. What should I do?

L.H.

Dear L.H.:
The creamy lip makeup that's in style today does give a lustrous look to mouths, and that's why it's so popular. When you're dining out or in company, blot your lips delicately with a napkin before eating and drinking. You can refresh your lip make-up later when the opportunity arises.

SEEING BEYOND

This is Basil. Much of the time he can't see beyond his nose.

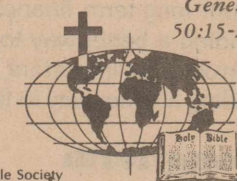

But with a nose like Basil's who needs to see!

Many folks have temporarily-impaired spiritual vision. But sometimes they can compensate in other ways.

... like the man who brought his youngsters to church recently: "Myself, I'm not religious," he said, "but I sense their need for character development."

Surprisingly, that father has returned to church. Now he is just as faithful as his children.

We used to say of Basil, the moment he shakes himself he's got "twenty-twenty" vision. The same is true of many people once they sense their God-given responsibilities.

OZONANS' GRANDDAUGHTER WEDS -- Miss Janis Clare Wilson, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Mayes of Ozona, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Wilson of Roswell, N. M. became the bride of Michael Jeffery Mercer recently in a ceremony at the First United Methodist Church in Roswell.

3. Rough winter the calves and sell them in the spring. With a cheap feed source, calves would put on weight at a low cost and cattlemen could take advantage of spring price gains. There is even a greater risk here due to weather and disease problems and these could greatly affect gains. Furthermore, feed will be expensive this winter unless a cheap feed source can be locked in. Large supplies of calves held over the winter will limit spring price strength.

4. Feed the calves to slaughter weight. Risk from weather and disease should be minimal and gain should be consistent and substantial. If the feeding is done in a custom feedlot, expert management will handle the calves. On the negative side, high feed costs will force high break-even prices for finished animals. And there is price uncertainty in the fed cattle market. Holding the animals will cost money and will involve risk but could yield greater returns.

"Whichever decision the cattleman decides to make, it must be his decision and must be based on his own particular set of circumstances," points out Uvacek.

Cattlemen Have Alternatives For Cow-Calf Operations Now

Cattlemen are in the business of making a living by raising calves. But for the past year-and-a-half they've had more calves than the market has demanded, and prices have plummeted sharply. Calves are still abundant, and now cattlemen must decide what steps to take with the fall and winter months approaching.

What are the alternatives? Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, offers a few possibilities as to what the individual cattleman can do with his calves. He also discusses the advantages and disadvantages of each alternative.

1. Sell the calves right now. Calf prices are expected to move lower in the next few months, so current market prices are maybe tops for a while. With the calves gone, a cattleman could concentrate on culling his cow herd. On the other hand, holding onto the calves would yield heavier weights that are more desirable in the market; the price forecasts could be wrong. Total dollars are what really count--not the price per pound.

2. Winter pasture the calves and sell them in the spring. This would boost calf weights, and spring market strength should bring calf prices up possibly $5 to $6 from fall lows. Low cost gain on pasture should allow a fairly low break-even price for such feeders. With this option, cattlemen must risk both weather and disease problems. A large amount of winter pasturing of calves would probably keep down the spring price rise. Assuming that calf prices do dip in the next month or two, a cattleman may be ahead to sell his calves now and buy others later to overwinter on pasture. This option requires an immediate decision since winter pastures must be planted early.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

- ★ Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.
- ★ Important! Clean the lint trap and lint filter on both washer and dryer after each load or a full day's use of your home laundry.
- ★ Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing.

Brucellosis Hearing Results Told

A recent statewide hearing on brucellosis in Austin offered an opportunity for many livestock producers and market operators to voice their views on the present program and the changes proposed by the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC).

Many of the beef cattle producers and market operators felt that the proposed changes would pose undue economic hardship to the cattle industry, while several dairymen felt that the Texas animal health authorities should carry out a program to eradicate the disease as soon as possible.

The nine-member commission—representing all segments of the industry—voted not to adopt the proposed changes after evaluating the testimony presented. The present program will continue until industry leaders determine future changes that may become necessary, points out Billy Reagor, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In conjunction with brucellosis eradication and the current depressed livestock market, producers should attempt to cull low producing animals or those affected with diseases.

The present indemnification is $40 for grade and $80 for registered animals found to have brucellosis when tested on the farm or ranch. In addition, producers with livestock in areas where brucellosis is more prevalent should consider using the calfhood brucella vaccine in all replacement heifer calves. However, accurate vaccination records should be maintained, emphasizes the agent.
